He was united in marriage to Miss Belle Eliason, January 16, 1887 and the following year formed a partnership with his brother, Samuel Reaney and established a clothing store in Columbus Junction. He followed this business until 1891, when he sold his interest and purchased the lumber yard of Eckman & Baldwin in this city and soon afterward formed a partnership with his brother-in-law, Charles Eliason, which under the firm name of Reaney & Eliason, soon became one of the major business institutions of this community. In 1916 the business was sold to the Eclipse Lumber Company and Messrs. Reaney and Eliason both retired from active business although Mr. Reaney continued his business affiliations with the community by conducting an insurance business in the office of his son, Attorney J. E. Reaney until just a short time before his death.

In addition to his successful business enterprises Mr. Reaney was a man of unusual public spirit and for more than fifty years exerted a profound influence on the life of this community.

His first interest, next to his home, was his church. He was a lifelong member and attendant of the Methodist church. He served in every capacity open to a layman and at the time of his death was a member of the board of stewards. He also took an active interest in the Sunday School. He was one of the first superintendents and until failing health compelled him to relinquish some of his work, he taught the men's Bible class. He was unfailing in his devotion and until just a few weeks before his death, was a regular attendant at all services.

Mr. Reaney was also a sincere friend of education and served for a number of years as a member of the local school board.

No man took more interest in the welfare of the entire community than R. J. Reaney and in addition to his interests outlined above he was elected mayor of Columbus Junction at two different periods, served various times as a member of the town council; was one of the founders of the Columbus Chautauqua and served as president or as a director during the entire Chautauqua period; he also had a part in the establishment of the Columbus Junction fair, and served for many years as a director. He also took a leading part in securing the location of the button factory in Columbus Junction and served until a few years ago as the representative of the community in its connection with the factory. Mr. Reaney was also for Mrs. H. L. McRoberts received a telephone message this morning announcing the death Wednesday evening of her brother-in-law, John Dawson, at his home in Three Oakes, Michigan.

Mr. Dawson was ill sometime ago but seemed to be steadily improving and his death was entirely unexpected.

Mrs. Dawson, formerly Miss Lena Hanft of this city, has also been quite ill for sometime and is now a patient at the Niles hospital at Niles, Michigan, and was not informed of her husband's death until this afternoon.

Funeral services will be held at the home at Three Oakes at two o'clock Saturday afternoon.

A Mistake By Granddad

In reporting the weight of his new grandson, Marshall Davidson, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Davidson, of Sioux City, last week J. M. Marshall says he must have been too excited because the young man weighed seven pounds and eight ounces instead of ten pounds.

Mrs. John Lundquist Died At Sioux City

Mrs. John Lundquist, a former resident of Columbus Junction and a member of the O. E. S. in this city died at her home in Sioux City, Iowa, Sunday evening, following an illness of several months.

She suffered a paralytic stroke three months ago, soon after returning from a Sioux City hospital. She was again taken to the hospital and spent the past three months at her home and in the hospital, returning home about six weeks ago.

She was 52 years of age and is survived by her husband, John Lundquist, who operated for a time the electric light plant in this city.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon with interment at Omaha, Nebraska.

R. J. REANEY DIED SUNDAY AT HIS HOME ON SOUTH HILL

many years a director of the Louisa County National Bank.

Politically Mr. Reaney was affiliated with the Republican party but he was not narrowly partisan and twice was honored by the voters of this county with election to the state legislature as representative from this county.

His fraternal interest emphasized his desire to serve his fellowmen. He was a member of both the Masonic and I. O. O. F. orders. He was a member of the latter order for more than 64 years and of the Masonic order for more than 40 years. He filled all the chairs in both orders with credit to himself as well as to the organizations. He was also a member of R. A. M. No. 91 of this city and of the Commandery at Washington.

In all these associations it can be truthfully said that he was a man and he gained and held throughout all these years the esteem and cooperation of all who sought to elevate the moral, intellectual and spiritual standards of this community.

It would seem there would be little time for other pursuits but Mr. Reaney carefully planned all his work and while he seldom failed to attend a meeting or carry a part of the load in all his activities, he also found time to read good books, particularly history, both Biblical and secular.

He also found time to enjoy a trip now and then to various places of historic interest.

He is survived by his wife and one son, James E. Reaney, of this city and two daughters, Mrs. R. L. Clark of LeMars, Iowa and Louise at home and by one sister, Mrs. M. L. Blankenhorn of Letts and one brother, J. L. Reaney, of Waterloo. Also by seven grandchildren and one great grandchild. One daughter and one son preceded him in death, also several brothers and two sisters.

Funeral services were held at the Methodist church at two-thirty o'clock Tuesday afternoon and were conducted by the Rev. J. W. Poole of Burlington and the Rev. C. H. Hiller.

A quartette the members of which were Mrs. S. A. Dwinell, Mrs. G. W. Weber, H. Lee Huston and L. C. Hill, accompanied by Mrs. H. Lee Huston sang, "Oh Master Let Me Walk With Thee" and "Nearer My God To Thee".

were both born in Indiana, and emigrated to Louisa County, Iowa, in 1868, settling at Clifton, where Mr. Carr engaged in the lumber business until his death, which occurred Nov. 3, 1874. His wife survives him, and is a resident of Columbus Junction, Iowa. Mr. Carr was a Republican in politics, and a member of the I. O. O. F. He was also a consistent member of the Reform Church, and a worthy and highly respected citizen. His wife also belongs to that church, and is held in high esteem for her many excellencies of character. They were the parents of three children: Frederick, the eldest, died at the age of three years; William A., the subject of this sketch; and Thomas Ira, who is employed as salesman in the store of his elder brother.

Our subject received a common-school education, and in 1877 engaged as clerk with Louis Biedeman, a well-known merchant of Columbus Junction, and after a service of six years with that gentleman, established his present business in 1883, which he has carried on successfully since. He is an enterprising, energetic young business man, and is doing the largest exclusive clothing business in the county. Mr. Carr is independent in politics, and is a member of Columbus City Lodge No. 107, A. F. & A. M., of Columbus Junction.

On the 6th of September, 1888, Mr. C. was united in marriage, at Columbus Junction, with Miss May Jennings, of that city.

ROBERT J. REANEY, of the firm of Reaney Bros., clothiers, of Columbus Junction, Iowa, was born in County Tyrone, Ireland, July 21, 1856, and is a son of Joseph and Elizabeth Reaney. His parents were born in Ireland, of Scotch parentage, were married July 28, 1854, and emigrated to America in 1863. They are now residents of Concord Township, Louisa Co., Iowa.

Our subject received a common-school education, and came with his parents to this county in 1871. He was reared to farm labor, and also learned the carpenter's trade, at which he worked from his eighteenth year until 1884, and at intervals since. On the 12th of December, 1887, he was united in marriage, in Muscatine County, Iowa, with Miss Belle Eliason, a daughter of Levi Eliason, who is a resident of that county. Mr. Reaney formed the existing partnership with his brother Samuel in April, 1888. He is a Republican in politics, strongly in favor of high tariff, and at present makes his home upon the farm in Concord Township.

FRANCIS MARION BALDWIN, of the firm of Eckman & Baldwin, dealers in lumber, coal, etc., was born Feb. 6, 1839, near Crawfordsville, Ind. His parents were William C. and Cyrena (Dolton) Baldwin. The father, born in Hamilton County, Ohio, of Scotch and English descent, followed the vocation of farming, and is now living a retired life at Virden, Ill., at the age of seventy-eight. The mother was born and reared in Kentucky, though descended from an old Virginian family, and her death occurred July 3, 1880.

Our subject removed with his parents to Greene County, Ill., when thirteen years of age, and there grew to manhood on his father's farm, receiving such education as the district schools afforded. On the 16th of February, 1864, in Macoupin County, Ill., he was united in marriage with Miss Amanda Smith, who was a daughter of Thomas Smith, and was born near Roodhouse, Greene Co., Ill. One child graces their union, Edwin H., now twenty-one years of age. Mr. Baldwin was engaged in farming in Greene County, Ill., until 1875, when he engaged in the live-stock business, buying, feeding and shipping. Subsequently he formed a partnership with W. W. Eckman in the grain and lumber business, which was carried on in the two towns of Atwater and Virden, Ill., Mr. Baldwin having charge of that of the former and Mr. Eckman of the latter place. Until May, 1884, they continued business in Illinois, but at that time sold out and removed to Columbus Junction, Iowa, buying out the lumber business of Wilcox & Son, and continued business under their former firm name of Eckman & Baldwin. (See sketch of business elsewhere in this work.)

Mr. Baldwin is a Republican in politics, but not an aspirant for the honors of public office, one term
