S. L. GRAHAM DIES IN HOSPITAL HERE

PROMINENT OTTUMWAN WAS FORMER STATE REPRESENTATIVE.

S. L. Graham, 78 years old, 227 North Court street, former city commissioner and state representative from Wapello county, died in the Ottumwa hospital at 1:30 this afternoon.

Mr. Graham had been a patient in the local hospital since September 25. Heart disease was assigned as the cause of death.

Samuel L. Graham was born in Washington county, Pa. He attended the graded and high school in Washington and was a student at Washington and Jefferson college. He was graduated from Waynesburg college at Waynesburg, Pa., and later took a course in the Yale law school in constitutional and commercial law.

At various times Mr. Graham was principal of a graded school, superintendent of city schools and superintendent of county schools in DeKalb county, Ill. He came to Ottumwa many years ago and engaged in the retail clothing business. He was engaged in business about fifteen years here.

In 1920 he was elected state representative on the republican ticket from Wapello county and served continuously in the Iowa legislature until 1926 when he retired. In 1927 he was elected city commissioner of streets and public improvements, but was not a candidate for re-election in 1929.

Mr. Graham was owner of a considerable rental property in Ottumwa and during the past few years has devoted much of his time to looking after his investments in this line. He was a member of the local Masonic lodge, Shrine, Elks, I. O. O. F., W. of A., and Yeomen.

Survivors include his daughter, Mrs. Jesse Graham Ream of Ottumwa. Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

MISSOURI WEATHER.

of employing other examiners, Jenkins' answer was that they were unable to receive the information they desired from the state report. Jenkins also stated, under cross-examination, that he appeared before the Van Buren county grand jury in Keosauqua at the time the indictments were brought against Wiegner and other officers of the banking institution.

The state may rest its case today or Wednesday. At that time a motion from the defense for a directed verdict in their favor will probably be made. In event of overruling of such a motion by Judge George W. Dashiell, defense counsel will then proceed with the examination of some thirty more witnesses.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH SESSIONS BEGIN

The national convention of delegates of the Christian churches of the nation is now in session in Washington, D. C. Aside from being a convention for national delegations of the faith, several groups of foreigners will be in attendance at the meeting sessions. The conference is an annual affair, being held last year at Seattle, Wash. The place of convention for the coming year will be decided at the meeting.

According to local delegates, President Hoover will hold a reception for all the Iowa delegates to the convention October 21. Those going from the local First Christian church include: Rev. and Mrs. Eugene Beech and daughter; Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Mirgon; Mr. and Mrs. Herman Snow. The latter party will be accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Bellas of Blakesburg.

REPUBLICANS PLAN SERIES OF RALLIES

Local republican leaders are looking forward to large attendances at supper meetings to be held in Kirkville tonight and at Bladensburg Wednesday night. Supper meetings open a week's schedule that will be marked by the appearance of Congressman C. W. Ramseyer of the sixth Iowa district in meetings at Ottumwa and Eldon Friday and Saturday nights.

Candidates for county offices will attend the supper meetings and will be introduced. Several talks are on each program.
