Another Heat Wave.

Another heat wave struck this rt of Iowa Sunday, and temperures soared away above the hundred mark. All vegetation withd d the little evidence of rewed vegetation since the rains ring the past week has all vanied. A few blistering days like t Sunday will spell ruin to the n crop, and new seeding in stubfields. Pastures are as brown western deserts, and it will take long spell of rainy weather to ive them. Vegetables, like pooes and onions, are in danger being ruined if allowed to rein in the hot, dry earth. Perns traveling through western va, Nebraska, Kansas, Missouri l the Dakotas, report frightful ought conditions with almost ev- form of vegetation burned up. surely looks as if the governnt need not concern itself much h over production of foodstuffs, rather become concerned with prospect of a famine in this nd of plenty."

Former Well Known Citizen of County Passes Away at Hospital.

BURIAL WEDNESDAY

Erected Standpipe, Bridges, and Was Newspaper Publisher Here.

D. H. Young, a citizen of Manchester since 1857, died at the State hospital at Independence Monday, July 27, 1936, after an illness of long duration. Mr. Young's health had been failing for years, and recently it was deemed advisable to take him to the hospital where he might have the necessary treatment he needed. His condition became progressively more serious as the excessive heat continued.

Funeral services will be held at the Platt funeral home here Wednesday afternoon, at 2:30 o'clock. Rev. James McInnis, pastor of the Presbyterian church, will be in charge of the services. Burial will be in Oakland cemetery.

Daniel Hiel Young, son of Samuel R. and Sarah E. Young, was born in Manchester, Jan. 9, 1857. He was born in the house now owned by the Putnam estate and located on the corner of Fayette and Tama streets, then the home of his father and mother. His boyhood days were spent on his father's farm in Milo township. He attended the public schools of Manchester, and took a civil engineering course at the State university at Iowa City. After completing his technical training he formed a partnership with his brother, W. W. Young, and engaged in bridge building and road grading. He and his brother did a great deal of the work in grading the railway right-of-way for the Cedar Rapids branch of the Illinois Central railroad company. He erected the standpipe in West Manchester, and owned it for a time. Later it came into possession of E. H. Hoyt, and still later the city purchased the property from Mr. Hoyt. Mr. Young also built the old iron bridge across

Local Golfers Win Over Marion Team

Intense Heat Keeps Some Players from Participating in Match. Score 27½ to 23½.

In spite of the intense heat of last Sunday afternoon seventeen Manchester golfers went to Marion to participate in the last out-of-town inter-club matches of the season. One of the Marion golfers became ill from the intense heat before his match was completed, and Henry Klaus of the Manchester group found it difficult to finish the last two holes of the eighteen. Donald Dolphin, one of the young golfers from this place, was low medalist for the home boys, shooting an 83 for the eighteen holes; while three Marion men tied for low medal, with 81 for eighteen holes, for Marion. Manchester golfers won 27½ points to Marion's 22½ points. The scores made by the players who participated in the match Sunday follows:

Young, and engaged in bridge building and road grading. He and his brother did a great deal of the work in grading the railway right-of-way for the Cedar Rapids branch of the Illinois Central railroad company. He erected the standpipe in West Manchester, and owned it for a time. Later it came into possession of E. H. Hoyt, and still later the city purchased the property from Mr. Hoyt. Mr. Young also built the old iron bridge across the Maquoketa river on Marion street. This bridge has been replaced by the heavy concrete bridge some years ago. The West Main street bridge across the Maquoketa river was also constructed by Mr. Young. He did bridge work in eastern Iowa on a large scale.

Mr. Young was elected by the voters of this county to the office of state representative, and later to the state senate. After several terms in the legislature Mr. Young turned his attention and talents to the newspaper publishing business. He purchased the Delaware County News, and conducted it for some time here.

On Dec. 29, 1878, Mr. Young was united in marriage with Miss Laura Belle Robb, whose home was in Withamsville, Ohio. Two children were born to this union—Mrs. Bert C. Crosier, of this city, and Samuel of Cincinnati, Ohio.

Mr. Young had been a member of the Masonic fraternity for many years, and in his more active years he was a member of the local K. P. lodge, Modern Woodman and Odd Fellow orders.

He leaves surviving him the widow, the son and daughter named, and one grandson, Daniel H. Young, of Cincinnati, Ohio.

Mr. Young was a man of happy disposition and kindly nature, and was greatly beloved by the people of this community. For Mr. Young death came as a messenger of mercy, bringing release from hopeless suffering and distress.

The members of Mr. Young's family, who mourn for him, have the profound sympathy of many friends in their sorrow.
