Iowa Jobs for America's Graduates

Program Overview

Jobs for America's Graduates (JAG) is a state-based national nonprofit organization dedicated to preventing dropouts among young people considered most at risk. Iowa Jobs for America's Graduates (iJAG), the State-accredited JAG organization, is an independent, statewide 501(c)(3) private nonprofit corporation. The ultimate objective of the iJAG program is to provide participants with classroom and work-based learning experiences that result in a career after graduation, or completion of a High School Equivalency Diploma (HSED) and the HiSET exam.

The primary process objectives differ depending on the program type. The iJAG program has four types of program applications:

- High School Model: The primary objective is to keep participants in high school through graduation and improve the rate of success in achieving education and career goals.
- Middle School Model: The primary objective is to significantly increase the number of low-income students prepared to enter and succeed in postsecondary education.
- Out-of-School Model: The primary objective is attainment of graduation requirements or the completion of a HSED and the HiSET exam and the attainment of occupational-related skills.
- Early College Success Model: The primary objective is completion of a degree-seeking program at the community college level.

Iowa Jobs for America's Graduates programs are taught by a certified JAG Specialist, who is not required to be an Iowa-licensed teacher (school districts decide if they would like a licensed teacher in the position). The JAG Specialists provide individual and group instruction to 35 to 45 students.

Funding

Currently, the program receives an $8.1 million General Fund appropriation. The program also receives funding from the private sector and from participating school districts.
