The Capitol Building

The capitol building stands as a symbol of the state, and the center of its government, on an eminence east of the Des Moines River. Its golden dome, visible from the far reaches of the valley, surmounts a dignified structure of modified Renaissance architecture, typical for the style of the 1870's and 1880's, when it was built.

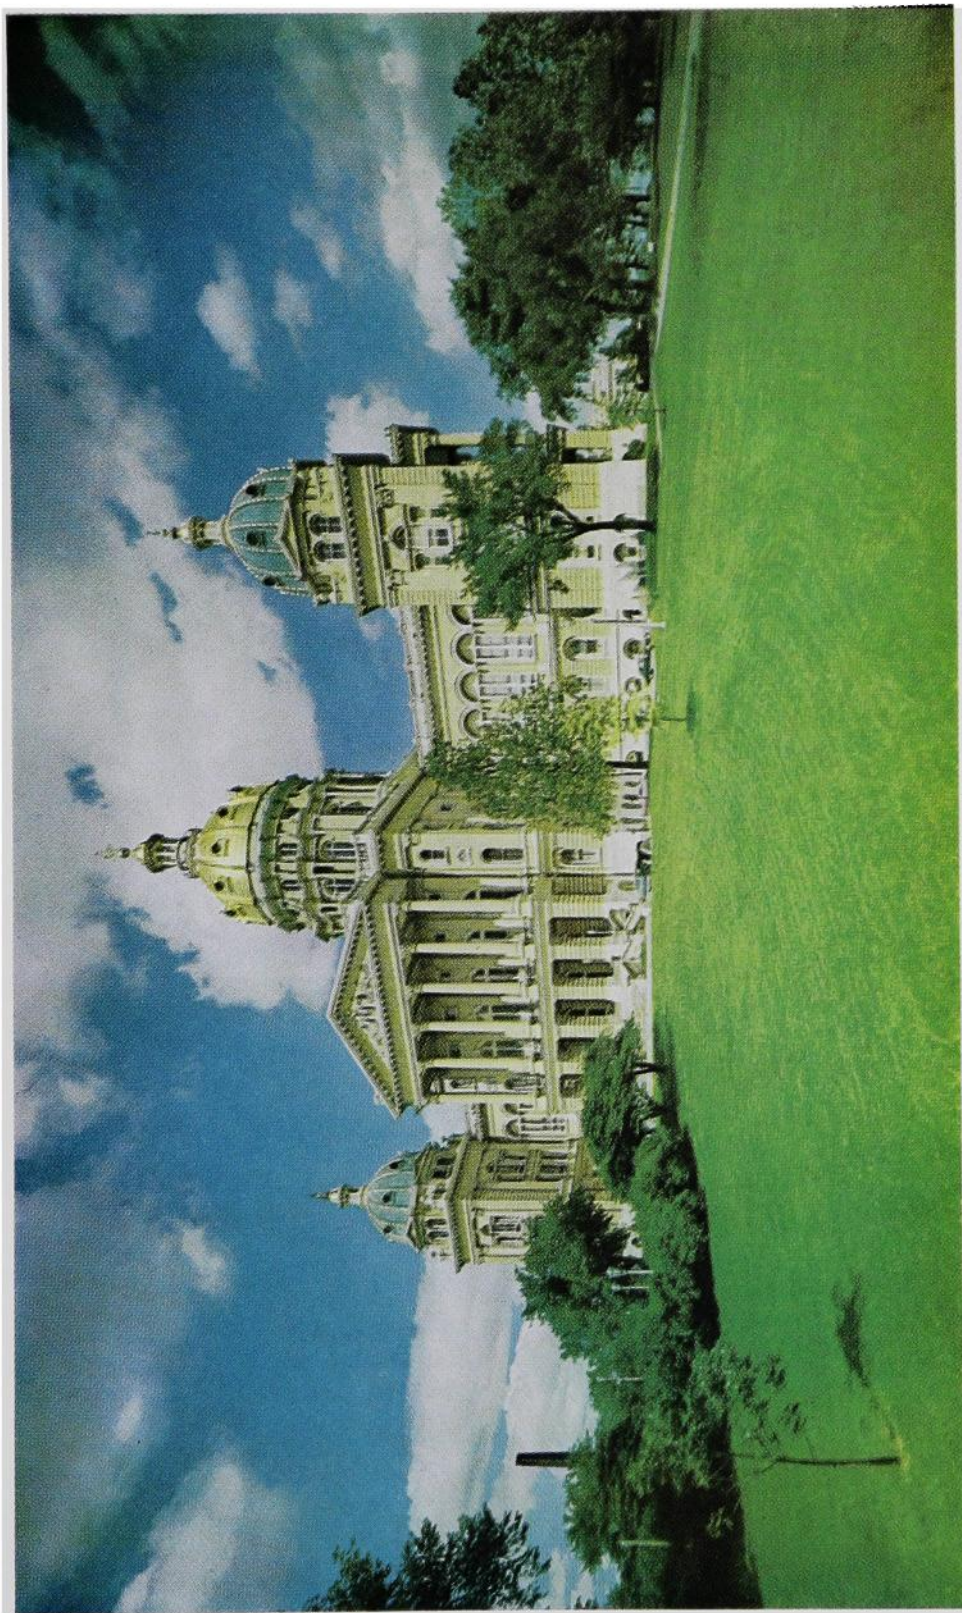

Broad lawns and great stone steps sweep down westward from the capitol toward the river and the Des Moines business district. Lawns, with flower beds, trees, shrubs and monuments, extend to the south, and parking lots and auxiliary buildings to the east and north. The entire area of capitol grounds includes ninety-three acres.

The capitol houses the offices of the governor, secretary of state, auditor, treasurer, attorney general and secretary of agriculture, the chambers of the supreme court, the state senate and house of representatives, and the law library. Other offices of state government are found also in the capitol, and in the state office building, the state historical building and other buildings on and adjacent to the capitol grounds and in downtown Des Moines.

The corner stone of the capitol was laid Sept. 29, 1873, and the building was dedicated in 1884. Construction was brought to a close in 1886. The cost was $2,873,294.50. Expenditures were increased to a total of $3,296,256 by repairs, restoration and redecorating following a fire in the north wing Jan. 4, 1904.

The exterior of the building is entirely of stone, with elaborate columns and handsomely designed cornices and capitals. The substructure is of dark Iowa stone topped by a heavy course of vari-colored granite cut from glacial boulders gathered from the Iowa prairies. The superstructure, or main part of the building, is of buff colored sandstone from quarries along the Mississippi River in Missouri.

The capitol is 364 feet long, north and south, by 247 feet wide. The dome, rising 275 feet above the ground floor, is overlaid with 23 carat gold.

IOWA STATE BANNER

On March 29, 1921, the Thirty-ninth General Assembly adopted a resolution designating a design for a flag to be known as the "State Banner."

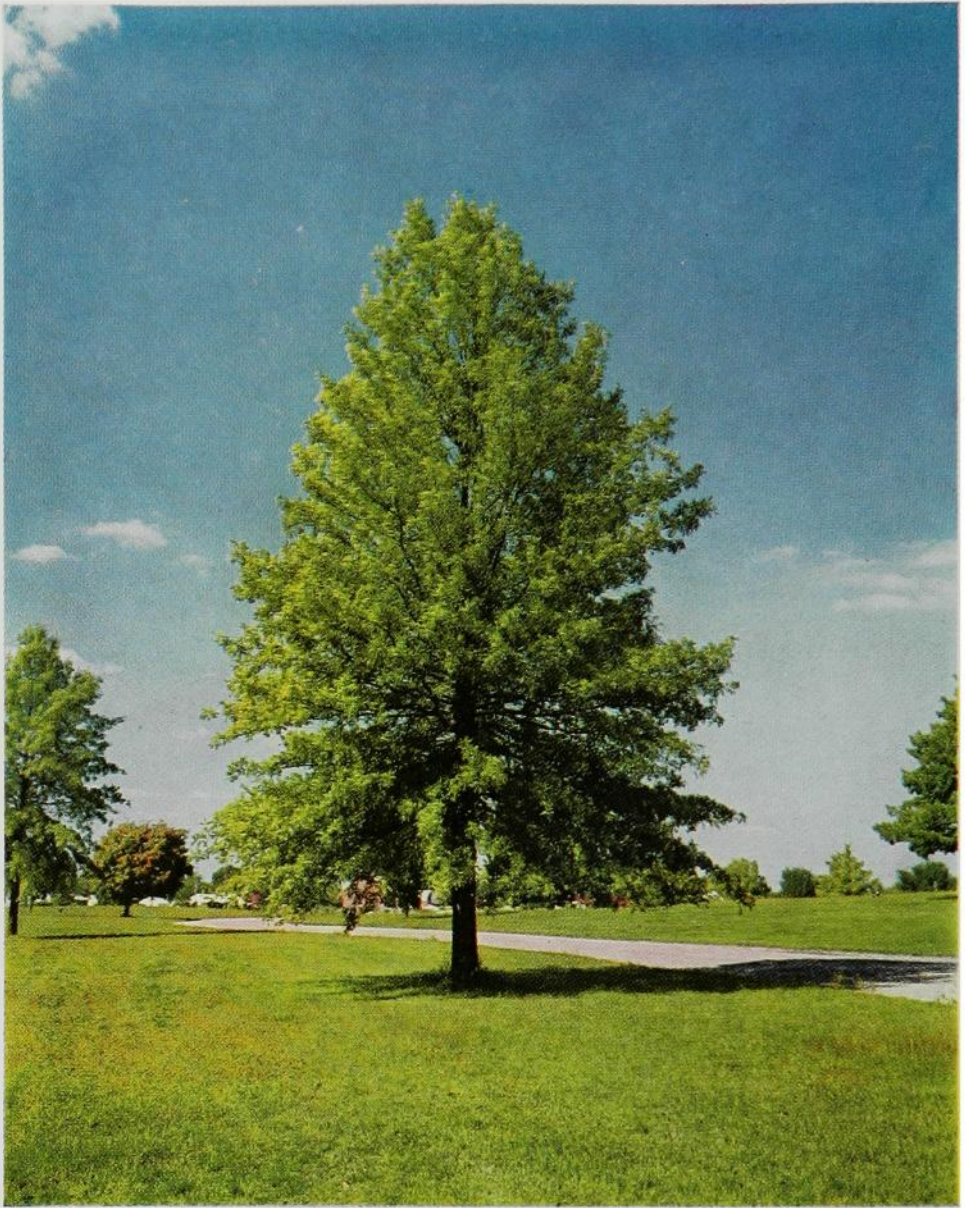

The banner was designed by the Iowa Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution, and consists of three vertical stripes of blue, white and red, with the blue stripe nearest the staff and the white stripe in the center depicting a spreading eagle bearing in its beak blue streamers on which is inscribed in white letters the state motto, "Our liberties we prize and our rights we will maintain." The word "Iowa" in red letters is just below the streamers.

WILD ROSE, STATE FLOWER OF IOWA . . . was officially designated as the flower of the state by the Twenty-sixth General Assembly in extraordinary session. The resolution was adopted May 7, 1897.

EASTERN GOLDFINCH, STATE BIRD OF IOWA . . . adopted by the Forty-fifth General Assembly, by a concurrent resolution March 22, 1933. It is often called a wild canary.

LONG MAY IT WAVE

The Flag of the United States

On June 14, 1777, the Second Continental Congress adopted a resolution that brought into being the U. S. Flag: "Resolved, That the Flag of the thirteen United States be thirteen stripes, alternate red and white; that the union be thirteen stars, white in a blue field, representing a new constellation."

The action of the Continental Congress came almost a year after the Declaration of Independence. The Flag with thirteen stripes and thirteen stars continued to be used as the national emblem until Congress passed the following act, which President Washington signed:

"That from and after the first of May, 1795, the flag of the United States be fifteen stripes, alternate red and white; that the union be fifteen stars, white in a blue field."

This action was necessitated by the admission of the States of Vermont and Kentucky to the Union. The flag of 1795 had the stars arranged in three rows of five each instead of in a circle, and served for 23 years.

With the admission of more new states, however, it became apparent that the 1795 flag would have to be further modified; hence in 1818 a law was passed by Congress providing:

"That from and after the fourth day of July next, the flag of the United States be thirteen horizontal stripes, alternate red and white; that the union have twenty stars, white in a blue field.

"That on the admission of every new state into the Union, one star be added to the union of the flag; and that each such addition shall take effect on the Fourth of July next succeeding such admission."

Iowa was admitted to the union as the 29th state.

Alaska made the 49th star, and Hawaii, admitted in 1959, added the 50th, July 4, 1960.

United States Flag Etiquette

When the flag is draped down, the blue field always must be at the left. * * * The flag must never be used as a drape, nor as a background for some ornament. * * * The correct shield does not have any stars—just a plain blue field at the top, and seven white and six red stripes.

The Pledge of Allegiance

I pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America and to the Republic for which it stands, one nation under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all.

The American's Creed

I believe in the United States of America as a government of the people, by the people, for the people, whose just powers are derived from the consent of the governed; a democracy in a Republic; a sovereign Nation of many sovereign States; a perfect Union, one and inseparable, established upon those principles of freedom, equality, justice, and humanity for which American patriots sacrificed their lives and fortunes.

I therefore believe it is my duty to my country to love it, to support its Constitution, to obey its laws, to respect its Flag, and to defend it against all enemies.

(The creed was written by William Tyler Page, Clerk of the U. S. House of Representatives, in 1917. It was accepted by the House of Representatives April 3, 1918.)

Center of State Government

The government of Iowa centers in the venerable golden-domed capitol, which presides over a constellation of twelve other buildings on its park-like ninety-three acres, and ten buildings or quarters which the state owns or leases in downtown Des Moines. Planned in 1870, the capitol was designed to house all the state's activities, but they have overflowed into one building after another as the state has grown and its functions have multiplied. Although the capitol no longer houses all the government, it still is the center of administration, of legislation and of judicial interpretation.

Here come the committees from communities, the lobbyists to see the legislators, the litigants and lawyers to contest appealed cases. Here also come the sight-seeing delegations, men and women, and throngs of school children. Especially during legislative sessions the children come, marshaled by their teachers, to parade up the grand staircase, look at the murals, gaze into the dome, sit in the legislative galleries, maybe even to be introduced to the legislature or to meet the governor.

There were 418 persons employed in the capitol when the Iowa State Capitol Planning Commission made a survey. But when the legislature is in session there are also 183 legislators and their 183 secretaries and a staff of some sixty legislative clerks and assistants. And visitors throng the corridors at a rate of 600 to 700 a day during legislative sessions. Capitol visitors in guided groups in the first half of 1965 numbered 75,000. Focal point of activity, aside from the legislative halls, is the cafeteria in the ground floor corridor, where hundreds have a meal or a lunch or at least a cold drink, in the course of the day. And serious business is discussed.

Rivaling the capitol for historic interest is the state historical building, where library resources and museum exhibits abound and guided tours are conducted. First in volume of employment is the state office building, with some 1,347 persons employed. State employees in other buildings in Des Moines aside from the capitol numbered 820 when the planning commission survey was made.

How Site Was Selected And Capitol Was Built

Location of the capitol on its commanding site resulted from a series of decisions that began almost with statehood. The new state quickly recognized that the capital should be farther west than Iowa City, and the First General Assembly in 1846 authorized a commission to select a location. Amidst rivalries a Jasper County selection was made, and then rejected. In 1854, the Fifth General Assembly decreed a location "within two miles of the Raccoon forks of the Des Moines River." The exact spot was chosen when Willson Alexander Scott gave the state 9½ acres where the capitol now stands.

A group of Des Moines citizens built a temporary capitol (which was later bought by the state), near where the soldiers' and sailors' monument now stands. In 1857 Governor Grimes proclaimed Des Moines to be the capital city, and state papers and functions were transported thither. The temporary capitol was in use for thirty years, until destroyed by fire, but in the meantime the permanent capitol was being planned and built.

The General Assembly in 1870 established a capitol commission to employ an architect, choose a plan for a building, not to cost more than $1,500,000, and to proceed with the work, but only by using funds available without increasing the tax rate.

The board employed Edward Clark, architect of the capitol extension at Washington, to aid in selecting plans and modifying them to keep the cost within the limits of appropriations. The board also instituted tests to ascertain whether Iowa stone could be found suitable for building. John C. Cochrane and A. H. Piquenard were designated as architects, and a corner stone was laid Nov. 23, 1871. A smaller, fulltime commission was appointed in 1872. Much of the original stone had deteriorated through waterlogging and severe weather, and had to be replaced, and the corner stone was relaid Sept. 29, 1873.

Although the building, as planned, could not be constructed for $1,500,000, the Cochrane & Piquenard design was retained and modifications were undertaken. Mr. Cochrane resigned in 1872 but Mr. Piquenard continued until his death in 1876. He was succeeded by two of his assistants, M. E. Bell and W. F. Hackney. Mr. Bell resigned in 1883 to become supervising architect for the treasury department in Washington, and Mr. Hackney continued until completion of the building.

Successive legislatures made appropriations and the commission built within the limits of the funds appropriated. The building was dedicated in January, 1884, when the general assembly was in session. The governor's and other offices were occupied in 1885. The supreme court room was dedicated in 1886.

The building commission made its final report June 29, 1886. The cost had totaled $2,873,294.59. The audit showed only $3.77 unaccounted for in the fifteen years. The commission bemoaned that it could not have had another $30,000 to finish the frescoes and build the south and west steps.

In 1902, in order to modernize and repair the building, a third capitol commission was created. While work proceeded, a disastrous fire in the north wing, Jan. 4, 1904, ruined the house chamber and damaged other offices. The commission restored the building, purchased paintings and mosaics, and redecorated almost all the interior. The original decorations are still in the senate. These expenditures raised the total cost of the capitol to $3,296,256.

Design of Capitol And Its Appearance

The architectural design of the capitol, rectangular in form, with great windows and high ceilings, follows the traditional pattern of the nineteenth century planning for public buildings, a modified and refined Renaissance style which gives the impression of strength and dignity combined with utility.

The commanding feature is the central towering dome. This is constructed of steel and stone and covered with 23 carat gold. The gold leafing was replaced in 1964-1965 at a cost of $79,938. The dome is surmounted by a lookout lantern that may be reached by long and winding stairs, and it terminates in a finial that is 275 feet above the ground floor. The rotunda beneath the dome is 67 feet in diameter. Four smaller domes of simple design rise from the four corners of the capitol. The pediment over the front entrance discloses a fine piece of allegorical sculpture.

Stone for the basement was quarried in Johnson County, Iowa; granite came from Iowa boulders; stone of the main structure from St. Genevieve and Carroll counties, Missouri; steps, columns and other parts from Anamosa, Iowa; Cleveland, Ohio; Sauk Rapids, Minn.; Lamont and Joliet, Ill. Imported and domestic marble of twenty-nine kinds was used in the interior; and the wood used was nearly all from Iowa forests of walnut, cherry, catalpa, butternut and oak.

As is so often the case with public buildings, visitors are likely to enter on the ground floor. Although the majestic approach is up the long hill and stone steps from the west, the convenient entrance is from the parking lots on the east. The ground floor corridors are busy with cafeteria service, and in the busy season this area is thronged. Here visiting groups may stop at the custodian's office to obtain information and to inquire about guide service. There are information desks also on the upper floors.

The beauty, dignity and arrangement of the interior become apparent as the visitor stands under the dome on the first floor. Broad, lofty corridors extend west, north and south. Walls are highly decorated. The grand staircase is to the east. Suites opening from the south corridor are those of the governor, auditor of state and treasurer of state. The supreme court and secretary of agriculture are to the north, and the secretary of state to the west and the attorney general to the east.

The grand staircase ascends to a landing and divides north and south to bring visitors to the floor above, where the house of representatives is on the north, the senate on the south and the law library on the west.

The senate hall is 58 feet long, 91 feet wide and 41.9 feet in height. It is finished in marble, white oak and scagliola, and is furnished in mahogany. The figures in the ceiling represent Industry, Law, Agriculture, Peace, History and Commerce.

The hall of the house of representatives is 74 by 91.4 feet, and 47.9 feet in height. It is finished in marble, scagliola and black walnut.

The law library is 108.4 feet long, 52.6 feet wide and 44.9 feet high. It is furnished in ash and chestnut and beautifully wainscoted in marble.

The Mural "Westward" And Other Decoration

Extending full width of the east wall over the staircase is the great mural painting, "Westward," an idealized representation of the coming of the people who made Iowa. This was completed as part of the 1904 decoration. Edwin H. Blashfield, the artist, wrote of it:

"The main idea of the picture is a symbolical presentation of the Pioneers led by the spirits of Civilization and Enlightenment to the conquest by cultivation of the Great West. Considered pictorially the canvas shows a prairie schooner drawn by oxen across the prairie. The family ride upon the wagon or walk at its side. Behind them and seen through the growth of stalks at the right come crowding the other pioneers and later men. In the air and before the wagon are floating four female figures; one holds the shield with the arms of the State of Iowa upon it; one holds a book symbolizing enlightenment; two others carry a basket and scatter the seeds which are symbolical of the change from wilderness to plowed fields and gardens that shall come over the prairie. Behind the wagon and also floating in the air, two female figures hold respectively a model of a stationary steam engine and of an electric dynamo to suggest the forces which come with the later men. In the right hand corner of the picture melons, pumpkins, etc., among which stand a farmer and a girl, suggest that here is the fringe of cultivation and the beginning of the prairie. At the left a buffalo skull rather emphasizes this suggestion."

On the upper floor level above the "Westward" painting are six mosaics in six arched panels depicting Defense, Charities, the Executive, the Legislative, the Judiciary, and Education. These were made in Venice from small pieces of colored stone, according to designs by Frederick Dielman of New York, who also designed the mosaic panels Law and History in the Congressional Library.

Twelve statues, high within the rotunda, beginning north of the library door, represent History, Science, Law, Fame, Art, Industry, Peace, Commerce, Agriculture, Victory, Truth and Justice.

Eight lunettes, or half-moon-shaped paintings, surrounding the rotunda are the work of Kenyon Cox, famous American artist. They are entitled: Hunting, Herding, Agriculture, the Forge, Commerce, Education, Science, Art. They are allegorical and indicate the progress of civilization.

At the top of the staircase on the south wall is a painting of a basket of corn by Floyd V. Brackney, a native of Marshall County. This picture was the center of the Iowa exhibit at the Panama-Pacific Exposition in San Francisco.

The battle flags carried by the Iowa regiments in various wars are preserved in niches on the main floor—Civil War thirty-six; Spanish-American War thirteen; First World War twenty-six. In the west hall is a plaque done by Nellie V. Walker in commemoration of the work of Iowa women in the fight for civic and political equality. In the south hall is a 26-foot photographic enlargement, showing the grand review of the 168th Infantry on the capitol grounds following their return from France in 1919.

A lofty banner, stretched high under the vault of the dome, is a G. A. R. emblem, painted by Joseph Czizek on the occasion of a Des Moines convention of the Grand Army of the Republic, and retained as a permanent decoration by order of Governor Kendall in 1922.

Above the grand stairway, facing the large "Westward," are quotations. On the south side is one by Patrick Henry: "No free government or the blessings of Liberty can be preserved to any people but by a firm adherence to Justice, Moderation, Temperance, Frugality and Virtue and by a frequent recurrence to fundamental principles."

On the north side is one by G. W. Curtis: "Courageous confidence in the intelligence of the community is the sure sign of leadership and success."

Underneath it is one by Solon: "The ideal state—that in which an injury done to the least of its citizens is an injury done to all."

To the west is a quotation from William Pitt: "Where law ends tyranny begins."

Around the rotunda on the frieze above the columns is the famous Abraham Lincoln quotation: "That government of the people, by the people, for the people, shall not perish from the earth."

The Governor's Office Has Its Own History

On Jan. 1, 1885, Governor Buren R. Sherman became the first occupant of the present offices of the governor of Iowa, following dedication of the state capitol building the year before. Much of the decoration and original furnishings of that day still are preserved in the four-room suite. The large, ornate mahogany table in the center of the reception room is an example. The frescoed ceilings were painted in watercolors on the wet plaster more than 80 years ago.

The governor's private office was moved from the center room to the west office by Governor Albert B. Cummins in 1902. The governor's desk also was installed at that time and has been used by all subsequent chief executives of Iowa. Governor Nathan Kendall (1921-1925) provided the solid, straight-back chairs for visitors. Frescoes of the Great Seal of the State of Iowa and of the Iowa Territorial Seal adorn the ceiling of the governor's private office.

The grandfather clock in the governor's private office dates from about 1750 and once was owned by the prominent Iowa author Emerson Hough of Newton (1857-1923). The tall clock in the office of the executive assistant is the original master clock controlling other clocks in the law library, supreme court, and legislative chambers. Operated by air, the clock must be wound once a week.

The offices are 23 feet 9 inches from floor to ceiling. The draperies are velvet and lined with satin with an under drape of semi-sheer fabrics. Lamps in the inner office are of pewter. Prisms of cut Czechoslovakian crystal decorate the chandelier in the reception room. The woodwork was carved in cherry and mahogany by skilled German craftsmen. The hearths and wainscoting are of fine domestic and imported marble. Paintings in the offices are the works of Iowa artists.

Home of Iowa's Governors Is State-Owned Mansion

Nearly two miles west of Iowa's gold-domed capitol, shaded in the summer and protected in the winter by luxuriant trees and shrubs, stands the imposing brick house that the governor of Iowa calls home. Located at 2900 Grand Avenue in Des Moines, the Philadelphia Colonial house only in recent times became the home of Iowa's first family. The three-story brick building was constructed in 1903. It was not until 1947, however, that it was purchased by the state.

The house was built by W. W. Witmer. The state bought it from Gerard S. Nollen, then chairman of the board of Bankers Life Company. Mrs. Nollen was the daughter of the builder. Iowa paid $27,200 for the house and its 240 by 200-foot lot. Remodeling cost another $22,800, and $22,421 was spent on furnishing and redecorating the mansion. In January, 1949, Governor William S. Beardsley became the first chief executive of the state to live in the freshly refurnished home. Subsequent governors who have lived at the mansion were Leo A. Hoegh, Herschel C. Loveless, Norman A. Erbe and the present governor, Harold E. Hughes.

On the first floor are a spacious drawing room, dining room, library, kitchen and private dining room. There is also a screened porch. Five bedrooms and a sitting room are located on the second floor. Two rooms which are used as servants' quarters are on the top floor. The house has four baths. As one enters the first floor hall, he is greeted by a wide colonial staircase with a shining mahogany handrail and white balustrade. The woodwork in the drawing room and library is oak. The mansion's furnishings are a blend of the modern and the traditional. The dining room table is mahogany, three-pedestal, in the Duncan Phyfe style.

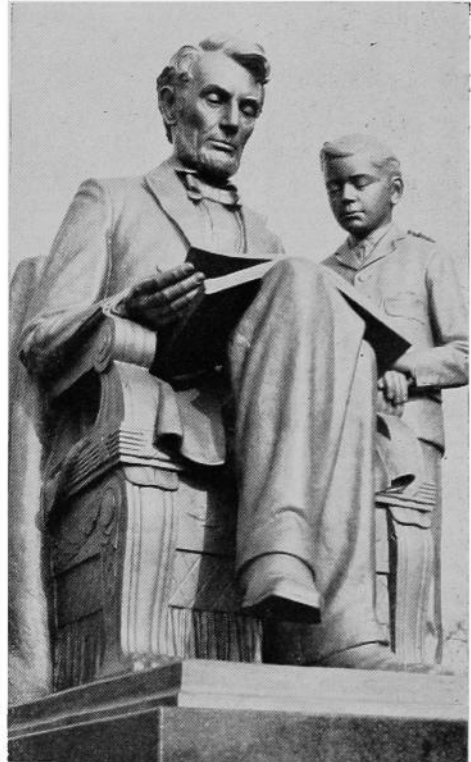

Many of the furnishings are gifts. There is a big samover which was used by Edwin T. Mederith, Sr., when he was secretary of agriculture in the Wilson administration. One hundred volumes were donated in 1949 to the mansion's library by the State Historical Society of Iowa. Other items of interest include a century-old mahogany card table, an antique French oil lamp, four-postered canopied bed, two antique walnut chests, two Lowestoft vases, a Sheffield silver tray, two antique Sèvres porcelain vases, a pair of mahogany Chippendale twin beds and an antique walnut serving chest.

Striking Monuments On Capitol Grounds

The most striking monument on the capitol grounds is the granite shaft rising 145 feet, erected to the memory of the soldiers and sailors of the Civil War. The heroic bronze figure "Victory" is predominant, while at the base there are four groups representing different branches of the military or naval service, and numerous historical plaques and medallion portraits of typical soldiers. The original design was by Harriet A. Ketcham and work was commenced in 1894. A small and appropriate memorial to Christopher Columbus, erected by Iowa citizens of Italian ancestry, stands nearby.

General Grenville Dodge erected a monument honoring Iowa's long-time Senator William B. Allison. This is an allegorical design of heroic dimensions, depicting civic duties in the public service, and it is encompassed by a flower bed.

West of the capitol is an impressive bronze statuary group depicting the Pioneer. The cannon and mortar on the grounds are of Civil War days. The grave of Willson A. Scott, one of those who gave the state the capitol grounds, is near where he lived and is appropriately marked.

A bronze cannon taken in the Spanish-American War and the head-piece of the Battleship Iowa are near the historical building. A granite block dedicated to the soldiers of the Spanish-American War also stands on the plaza east of the capitol.

In 1950, the fine record of Iowa citizens in war bond drives was rewarded with the presentation of a replica of the Liberty Bell, and it is stationed just across the street west of the State office building. Boy Scouts presented a replica in miniature of the Statue of Liberty and it is erected between Grand Avenue and the parking area east of the capitol. A stone erected by the W. R. C. in honor of Crocker Post No. 12, Department of Iowa, was set in 1944.

Iowa's memorial to Abraham Lincoln, a statue by Fred M. and Mabel L. Torrey, depicting the Civil War president and his son Tad, was dedicated in 1961. This was commissioned by Friends of Lincoln, Inc. It is on the west approach to the capitol.

A Japanese temple bell and bell house, presented to the state of Iowa by the prefecture of Yamanashi in Japan, stand on an eminence on the south edge of the capitol grounds. They express appreciation for a gift of purebred breeding hogs and corn sent to Yamanashi after the typhoon of 1959. Dedication was in 1962.

State Activities Overflow Into 22 Other Buildings

Originally the whole state government was housed in the capitol, but departments through the years have outgrown it, one by one or in groups, until now there are thirteen state-owned buildings on or adjacent to the capitol grounds, one state-owned building in downtown Des Moines, and nine downtown buildings in which space is leased.

First major building to be added to the capitol group was the state historical building, planned originally in 1896 to house the Aldrich historical collection, but now the home of the state historical department and of a variety of library and museum functions. Known as the Historical Memorial and Art Building, it is 260 by 110 feet in size, built at the turn of the century and enlarged by an addition in 1908.

The limited area of the capitol grounds became a major political issue, and the Thirty-fifth General Assembly in 1913 set up a tax to raise \$3,000,000 to purchase lots, buildings and residences to clear the way for expansion to 93 $\frac{1}{4}$ acres. The land was landscaped, drives were put in and a system of lighting was installed to enhance the beauty of the capitol.

The six-story-and-basement office building, 120 by 246 feet in size, was started with an appropriation by the Forty-ninth General Assembly of $1,650,000, available July 1, 1941. First department to move in was social welfare, Sept. 1, 1951, and occupancy was completed when the department of public instruction moved, April 24, 1952. Total cost of the building was $4,935,892.45. A tunnel from the new office building to the state house was completed early in 1953 at a cost of $92,841.71.

The International Harvester Building, on the southwest corner of the state house grounds, was bought in 1945. Total cost including remodeling of its five floors was $541,972.

The Amos Hiatt school building, southeast on the grounds, was remodeled for use of the commerce commission. An old school building on the northwest corner of the grounds was razed. The former home for governors north of the capitol was fitted for training of disabled persons.

Purchase of the old Y.M.C.A. building at Fourth Street and Keosauqua Way for $300,000 was authorized by the Fifty-eighth General Assembly in 1959.

The Iowa Employment Security Commission moved into a new office building in October, 1963. The Fifty-ninth General Assembly in 1961 financed construction in part by the use of non-refundable reserve funds accumulated from taxes paid by Iowa employers to the federal government for administration of the unemployment insurance program. This money, representing 85 per cent of the $1.7 million construction cost, will be returned to the Iowa Unemployment Trust Fund over a period of years by amortization grants by the federal government. The remainder of the building cost came from a $75,000 appropriation from the state general funds and from an authorization allowing the use of $225,000 from the Iowa Public Employees' Retirement System for its offices. The new building is at 1000 East Grand Avenue across from the statehouse. Its light gray exterior brick closely resembles the color of the stone walls of the capitol, and emphasis on the vertical dimension keeps the three-story new building in harmony with the much taller statehouse.

20-Year Building Plan Adopted by Legislature

The Sixty-first General Assembly in 1965 adopted a master plan and guide for the future expansion and development of the state capitol grounds. This was the plan presented by the Capitol Planning Commission, as directed by the Sixtieth General Assembly. It was entitled "Planning for Twenty Years."

Three steps toward carrying out the plan were taken by the Sixty-first General Assembly, as follows:

1. Adoption of the plan.
2. Authorization for purchase of land by the state executive council. The proposed addition will extend east to East Fourteenth Street, north to Des Moines Street and south to the railroad track.
3. Appropriation of $3,000,000 for a new state office building. A legislative advisory committee was named to act with the executive council to employ architects, approve plans and let contracts.

The program follows the lines of a plan presented to the Sixtieth General Assembly, which included construction of the Employment Security Building, now accomplished.

Additional steps proposed by the twenty-year plan are:

Transfer to the new office building of the department of agriculture and associated departments, the health department laboratory, the commerce commission, the conservation commission and the department of buildings and grounds.

Transfer to the International Harvester Building of the paper warehouse, state archives, state records center and related divisions. Enactment of a records management and preservation act was urged by the building commission report.

Provision of committee and conference rooms in the capitol and relocation of the capitol cafeteria.

Consolidation of the vocational rehabilitation division, with new construction.

Razing of the Amos Hiatt Building, Kasson Building, frame residences of the rehabilitation center and the paper warehouse.

Landscaping of the entire grounds and both sides of bordering streets.

An underground parking garage to accommodate 250 automobiles for use of legislators and state officials. Relocation of parking lots now east of the capitol.

Provision of humidity controlled space for the traveling library, medical library and law library.

New and adequate space for the state courts.

Erection within the twenty years of a third office building.

Relocation of the heating plant when present boilers need to be replaced.

The Government of Iowa

The government of the State of Iowa is based upon a constitution adopted by the people and upon statute laws enacted from time to time by the general assembly.

Iowa has always used the separation of powers doctrine, dividing the governmental authority into its legislative, executive and judicial components. Iowa has had two state constitutions, the first approved in 1846, the second in 1857. Only eight states are now using constitutions adopted prior to the Iowa constitution of 1857. The present constitution has been amended 23 times.

The Iowa constitution's "Bill of Rights," Article I, is one of the best sections of the state constitution. It has been used as a reference guide for the model state constitution written by the National Municipal League and by the farmers of the 1948 New Jersey constitution.

The Electorate—All men and women who have lived in Iowa for six months, in the county in which they claim residence for 60 days, and in the precinct 10 days, are entitled to vote if they are citizens of the United States 21 years of age or over. Persons convicted of infamous crimes and those declared idiotic or insane are, however, disfranchised. The right of women to vote in Iowa is based upon the nineteenth amendment to the United States constitution.

Election Days—The regular elections for national, state, district and county officers are held on the Tuesday following the first Monday of November of the even-numbered years. Candidates, with a few exceptions, are nominated at the primary election held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in September preceding the general election. Provision is also made for nominations by petition or convention. Political parties must use the primary for nominating candidates, but in case no candidate receives the necessary 35 per cent at the primary, a convention may nominate.

The regular election date for municipal officers is the first Tuesday following the first Monday of November of the odd-numbered years. If a municipal primary election is necessary it is held on the second Tuesday prior to the regular municipal election.

Legislative Department

General Assembly—The legislative authority of the State of Iowa is vested by the constitution in a general assembly which consists of a senate and a house of representatives. The terms of both senators and representatives begin on the first day of January following their election. Regular sessions are held biennially, commencing on the second Monday of January of the odd-numbered years. Special sessions of the general assembly may be called by the proclamation of the governor. Refer to S.J.R. 4.

House of Representatives—The house of representatives of the 1967 legislature (the Sixty-second General Assembly) consisted of 124 members, elected for two years from the districts shown by the map. This arrangement, however, is temporary and is subject to change by amendment of the state constitution. Any person who has resided in the state for one year and has the qualifications of a voter is eligible for election as a representative. Women were admitted to the general assembly by an amendment of the state constitution adopted in 1926.

The house of representatives elects a speaker and other officers. Each house makes its own rules of procedure.

Senate—In the Sixty-second General Assembly there were 61 senators. Senators are elected for four-year terms, so arranged that approximately half the terms expire at the end of each biennium. Senators must be 25 years of age and have the other qualifications required of representatives.

Members of both houses of the general assembly have been paid $40 a day through the length of the session. The speaker and lieutenant governor received $80 a day.

Executive Department

Elective Officers—The constitution of Iowa makes provisions for a governor, lieutenant governor, secretary of state, auditor of state, treasurer of state and attorney general, who are elected for terms of two years at the regular biennial elections in the even-numbered years. In addition, the general assembly has made provision for a secretary of agriculture, elected for two years. A board of commerce commissioners of three members, formerly elective, became appointive by the governor in 1963. A superintendent of public instruction is chosen by a state board of public instruction. Members of this board are appointed by the governor, largely from nominations made by county boards of education.

Governor—The supreme executive power of the state is vested in the governor. It is his duty to see that the laws are enforced, to supervise the official business of the state, to make recommendations to the general assembly, and to appoint various officers and boards. Most major appointments are subject to confirmation by the senate. He has the power to call special sessions of the legislature and veto acts passed by the general assembly, but a majority of two-thirds of each house may pass a bill over his veto. To qualify as governor, a person must have been a citizen of the United States and a resident of the state for at least two years and must be 30 years of age or over at the date of election.

Lieutenant Governor—The lieutenant governor, who must possess the same qualifications as the governor, succeeds the governor in case of his death, resignation or disability. His chief function is to act as president of the senate.

Appointive Officers—In addition to the elected executive officers mentioned, there are a number of appointive officers, including the comptroller, the superintendent of banking, the insurance commissioner, the labor commissioner, the adjutant general, the commissioner of public health, the industrial commissioner and commissioner of public safety, all appointed by the governor, usually with the approval of the senate. The governor also appoints the members of a number of administrative boards, including the commerce commission, the state board of regents, the board of control of state institutions, the state tax commission, the board of parole, the state conservation commission, the liquor control commission, the state highway commission, the unemployment compensation commission, the state board of health and board of social services.

Executive Council—The executive council is an ex officio board made up of the governor, secretary of state, auditor, treasurer and secretary of agriculture.

State Printing Board—The state printing board has three ex officio members—the secretary of state, auditor and attorney general—and two members appointed by the governor. The board appoints the superintendent of printing.

Judicial Department

The judicial department of the State of Iowa is vested by the constitution in a supreme court, district court and inferior courts as the general assembly shall provide.

Supreme Court—The supreme court consists of nine justices, who, until amendment of the constitution in 1962, were elected officers, with terms of six years. Vacancies now occurring are filled by appointment by the governor, from lists of nominees provided by the state judicial nominating commission. The term is at least eight years, on approval by referendum of the voters at a judicial election. The justices name one of their number as chief justice, and he serves in that capacity until the expiration of his term. The supreme court appoints a reporter of the supreme court who is also the code editor, a supreme court statistician, and a clerk.

Attorney General—The constitution also provides for an attorney general who is elected at the regular biennial election for a term of two years. He represents the state in legal matters, gives advice to state officers, and has, in addition, certain administrative functions.

Judicial Districts—The State of Iowa is divided by law into eighteen judicial districts composed of from four to nine counties. Each district has from two to eight judges. Judges were elective officers until amendment of the constitution in 1962 made them appointive by the governor from lists of nominees provided by district judicial nominating commissions. Retention in office is subject to subsequent approval at a judicial election.

There are now seventy-five district judges in the state. One of the district judges presides over the district court sessions in each county. A county attorney and a clerk of the court are elected by the voters in each county.

Inferior Courts—The general assembly has provided also for inferior courts. Each township is authorized to elect two justices of the peace who hear cases involving minor offenses and hold preliminary hearings or more serious charges. Municipal courts, superior courts, police courts and mayors' courts are authorized in cities and towns under various restrictions. Municipal courts are optional in cities having a population of 5,000 or more and superior courts in cities with 4,000 or over. Both municipal and superior court judges are elected for four-year terms.

Municipal Courts—If a city has neither a municipal nor a superior court, the council shall appoint a police judge in commission governed and city manager cities and may provide for the election or appointment of a police judge in such cities under the general law. In all municipalities having none of these special courts, the mayor acts as the police judge.

Jury Trials—Jury trials are the rule for serious cases, but under certain conditions may be waived or denied. Petit juries consist of twelve persons who must be "electors," except in some courts of restricted jurisdiction where the number of jurors may be six persons.

Local Government

County Officials—The State of Iowa is divided into ninety-nine counties, the boundaries of which may not be changed unless the change is approved by the voters of each county concerned. A board of supervisors consisting of three, five or seven members is the chief administrative agency in the county. They appoint a county engineer, county home steward, medical examiner, county welfare director and other administrative officials. In addition, an auditor, who is the clerk of the board of supervisors, a sheriff, county attorney, recorder, treasurer, and clerk of the district court are elected by the voters, the terms being four years except for the county attorney, who is elected for two years. The supervisors are also authorized to create the office of public defender to represent accused persons unable to pay for their own attorneys.

A county superintendent of schools is chosen every three years by a county board of education. The county assessor is chosen by the board of supervisors, county board of education and the mayors of the various towns in the county, for a term of six years. They likewise fix his salary.

Local Functions—The Iowa county is a quasi-political corporation which collects municipal, school, county and state taxes, enforces state laws, has charge of poor relief and certain other welfare activities, and shares with the state highway commission the management of the roads and bridges in the county.

Townships, which in earlier days were effective units of local government within the counties, have lost almost all of their functions, except for the election of justices of the peace, in which many townships default.

City Government—The laws of Iowa also authorize the incorporation of cities and towns. These municipalities derive their authority from the general assembly and have only the powers specifically granted to them. Four cities and towns are governed by special charters¹ granted before the adoption of the present constitution which forbids such acts of incorporation. Four cities have the commission form of government²; six have adopted the city manager plan by popular election³; and thirteen others have a city manager by ordinance⁴. Members of the commission are elected by the voters. The city manager in cities adopting that plan by a popular vote is appointed by the council.

Municipal Classes—All other municipalities are under the general law. Municipalities are classified according to population into cities having 2,000 or more population and towns having less than 2,000 population. In approximately 920 municipalities, the government is by the mayor-council system, in which the mayor and members of the council are elected by the voters for two-year or four-year terms.

City Councils—The council is the policy-making body in municipal government and it is also the chief administrative agency in the mayor-council cities. The mayor presides over the council, although he is not a member, and has the power to veto acts of the council subject to a two-thirds majority vote over his veto. He supervises municipal activities and in cities and towns which do not have a municipal, superior or police court, he serves as police judge. He also appoints certain officers, including the marshal or chief of police, the city health officer, and members of the police and fire board, and other officials that the council may direct him to appoint. The city solicitor and clerk, and in some cases the engineer and members of the zoning board of adjustment are chosen by the council.

The property tax is assessed by county and city assessors with the exception of public utilities which are assessed by the State Tax Commission, such as railroads, gas lines, telephone and telegraph lines. The tax commission assists county and city assessors in the administration and the equalization of personal and real property. Also, the commission assists the assessors in recommendations of values on personal property. Numerous other duties are performed by the tax commission, such as those defined under Chapter 421, Code of Iowa. Under Section 441.46 the State Tax Commission sits as the state board of review to adjust the valuation of each kind or class of property in or between the several counties of the state. (See §441.7) The Homestead tax credit is defined in Chapter 425, Code of Iowa. Military service tax exemption can be found in Chapter 426-A, and §§427.3 to 427.7 inclusive, Code of Iowa. The monies and credits tax was revised by the Acts of the Sixty-first General Assembly, Senate File No. 583 and Senate File No. 642.

Budgets Prepared and Submitted

Preparation—All taxing districts except townships must at least twenty days prior to Aug. 15 of each year prepare a budget of anticipated expenditures and estimated amount to be raised by taxation by funds. Rural schools post budget estimates ten days before dates of hearing. Other taxing districts subject to the budget law publish their budgets in a newspaper.

Certification—After hearing and decision of local board, budgets are certified to the county auditor not later than Aug. 15. (§24.17)

Submitted to State Comptroller—As soon as taxes are certified by each local board and have been computed by the county auditor, he shall forward a copy of each budget, together with a summary of all budgets to the state comptroller.

County Budget—On or before Jan. 31 of each year, each county is required to appropriate in detail anticipated expenditures for every office or department for each and every purpose for which expenditures are authorized or demanded. The budget in detail must be completed and adopted by Dec. 31 of the preceding year. This procedure is appropriating in detail the budget prefixed in August by funds.

State—On or before Sept. 1, next prior to each biennial legislative session, all departments and establishments of the government shall transmit to the state comptroller estimates of their expenditure requirements for each fiscal year of the ensuing biennium.

The comptroller shall prepare and file in his office, on or before the first day of December of each even-numbered year, a state budget report.

Not later than Feb. 1 of the year of each biennial legislative session, the governor shall transmit to the legislature a document to be known as a budget, setting forth his financial program for each of the fiscal years of the ensuing biennium.

Election of State Officials

Each two years in Iowa, the people elect their governor, lieutenant governor, secretary of state, auditor of state, treasurer of state, secretary of agriculture and attorney general.

State commerce commissioners were elective officials until 1959 when the Fifty-eighth General Assembly enacted legislation providing for their appointment by the governor, beginning in 1963. The superintendent of public instruction is named by the State Board of Public Instruction.

Justices of the supreme court and judges of the district court are appointed by the governor from lists of nominees presented by judicial nominating commissions. This system of appointing judges was provided by an amendment to the state constitution approved by the people at an election in 1962.

Members of the senate are elected for four years; house members for two years.

Terms of County Officers

Elected county officers are the clerk of courts, auditor and sheriff, elected in 1964 for four-year terms; the treasurer and recorder, elected in 1962 for four-year terms; the county attorney, elected in 1964 for a two-year term; and the county supervisors, elected for four-year terms which overlap. Elections are held in even-numbered years.

Election of Federal Officials

Federal elections occur each four years, on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November in 1964, 1968, and so on. The constitution provides that the only elected federal officials are the president, vice-president, U. S. senators and U. S. representatives. All other officers are appointive—practically all by the president. U. S. senators serve a term of six years; house members serve terms of two years, being elected in even-numbered years.

Through a professionally trained staff, the research bureau conducts major research studies at the request of the general assembly, either house of the general assembly, legislative standing and interim committees, the Legislative Research Committee, or upon the request of at least twenty members of the general assembly. Research study reports are distributed to all members of the legislature. The research bureau is prohibited by statute from making recommendations in any reports resulting from studies.

The Legislative Research Committee is authorized to establish committees comprised of members of the research committee, members of the general assembly, and nonlegislative members to provide direction in studies conducted by the bureau. Study committees established by the research committee report their findings and recommendations to the Legislative Research Committee and to members of the general assembly. The Sixty-first General Assembly also granted the Legislative Research Committee the authority to make recommendations resulting from interim studies to the next succeeding session of the general assembly.

The Sixty-second General Assembly

The major accomplishments of the 175-day 62nd General Assembly, the longest session in history (old record 145 days in 1965) as listed by the Associated Press:

Increased taxes by an estimated $121 million a year, the biggest tax hike in Iowa history. It includes raising the sales tax from 2 to 3 percent and spreading it over more items, including services, increasing upper bracket individual and corporate income taxes, raising cigarette taxes from 8 to 10 cents a pack and imposing a 10 percent levy on other tobacco, and increasing the beer tax from $2.48 to $3.72 a barrel.

Offset part of the sales tax raise for lower income families by granting income tax credits and higher deductions for dependents.

Adopted a $100 million a year increase in state aid to local schools, making the state pay more than 30 percent of costs instead of about 15 percent. Experts figure it will cut local property taxes by a statewide average of 18-20 mills, with the poorer districts being helped most. The measure also abolishes personal property taxes on household goods, provides a credit on personal property taxes paid on up to $2,500 assessed value and increases the agricultural land tax credit from 15 to 20 mills.

Approved record state spending of about $480 million a year from the state general fund, including $100 million more in school aid.

Created new offices of social agencies and revenue, abolishing old boards and consolidating services.

Equalized property assessments for tax purposes at 27 percent of fair market value.

Gave second legislative approval and put up for popular vote four amendments to the Iowa Constitution allowing the governor to veto separate items in appropriation bills, providing annual legislative sessions, home rule for cities and reapportionment of the legislature.

Granted increased state aid to the new system of area schools.

Adopted a fair housing statute providing machinery to protest racial, religious or other discrimination in sale or rental of most housing.

Allowed members of the Amish sect to send their children to their own schools without certified teachers under special conditions.

Set up Iowa's first statewide civil service system for state employes and established guidelines for conflict of interest by state officials including legislators.

Created a single medical aid program for everyone receiving public assistance, needy, aged and others.

Legislative Firsts by the Sixty Second General Assembly

The 1967 Iowa Legislature was the first in history to usher in July and the first at least within modern times to end with the dawn.

It also was the first ever to spend a treasury surplus of $100 million-plus, and at the same time jack up the tax bills of Iowans by a record $121 million a year.

It also was the first regular session to vote a major property tax relief plan.

Notwithstanding its "firsts" in 1967 this session was like all other legislatures in many respects. It passed a lot of legislation affecting Iowans' lives.

The marriage license was raised from three to five dollars.

The century old law forbidding the sale of liquor to Indians was repealed.

You can now use green or orange-spotted sunfish for bait.

If you go deer hunting you must now wear an orange cap, hat, coat or jacket in the field. If the hunting is on your land, you now must get a special deer hunting permit, at no cost.

A new law says that the time you spend behind bars while awaiting trial, if you can't post bond, will count on any sentence you eventually have to serve.

Truck drivers will have to remember some new speed laws. The lawmakers cut the maximum truck speed on interstate highways to 65 miles an hour at all times, instead of 75 miles an hour in the daytime and 65 miles an hour at night.

They raised the truck speed limit on primary highways from 50 to 55 miles an hour, but set the maximum for all secondary roads at 50 miles an hour. Previously the limit on paved secondary roads was the same as for primary highways.

When you go to renew your auto liability insurance you're going to have to buy uninsured motorist coverage whether you want it or not. The legislature required that it be included in all motor vehicle liability policies.

You're less likely to get a ticket for a moving violation, however, if an officer stops you and finds faulty equipment on your car. Hereafter, auto equipment failures don't count as moving violations—unless it happens to be the brakes.

The legislature repealed the law passed two years ago requiring courthouses to be open on Saturday morning.

The high school dropout who decides he needs the equivalent of a high school education no longer must be an Iowa resident for one year to take the tests for a high school equivalency test.

The legislature tightened controls on depressant, stimulant and hallucinogenic drugs.

Youngsters under 10 years of age no longer can be employed as migratory farm laborers, and their older brothers up to age 14 can't do that kind of work before or during school, provided a school is available to them.

Prisoners at the Men's Reformatory in Anamosa and State Penitentiary at Fort Madison, however, may soon get a chance to work at regular jobs. The legislature authorized a work release program for them similar to the one set up for county jail prisoners two years ago.

If you own a tavern you no longer will have to pay a 10 percent occupations tax on each drink of liquor you sell. Instead, you will pay a 15 percent tax when you buy liquor at the state liquor store for resale. You still have to collect the 3 percent state sales tax on drinks sold, however.

The grocery store owner will find his Class C beer permit fee higher than in the past. The legislature raised it from $25 to from $50 to $300, depending on the volume of business.

Elderly homeowners with incomes of less than $3,000 are going to get larger homestead tax exemptions from now on.

There no longer is any danger that an indigent person who dies in Iowa far from home cannot be buried. The legislature authorized county boards of supervisors to pay a reasonable amount for such burials.

Leaders of Iowa's marathon 1967 legislature agree the politically divided makeup of the General Assembly was both its curse and blessing.

Spokesmen for both parties blamed the fact that Republicans controlled the House and Democrats dominated the Senate for the fact that the session was the longest in history—175 days.

But at the same time, they said, the political division enabled the legislature to pass some laws that would have been difficult if not impossible to approve in a session controlled by one party.

Tax revision and government reorganization are two major items the top lawmakers say might never have come out of the legislature if it had not been for the party split.

Each side, naturally, blamed the other for length of session which cost Iowa taxpayers an estimated $2.3 million to support.

The legislature appropriated about $960 million for the 1967-69 fiscal biennium.

Also at a record high was the number of bills and resolutions introduced. The totals were 1,749 in 1967 compared with 1,420 in 1965.

House bills and resolutions 831 exceeded the previous high of 794 in 1959.

The number in the Senate was 918 as compared with the previous record of 673 in 1965.

How many of the measures that passed both houses this year cannot be determined until all have been processed.

New Permanent Plan

A new permanent plan, involving amendment of the constitution has been approved by two sessions of the general assembly. It will be submitted to the electors at the general election in 1968.

1. The senate shall be composed of not more than 50 members, and the house of not more than 100, and shall be apportioned according to population.

2. The general assembly in 1971, and after each decennial census, shall determine the number of senators and representatives, and their apportionment.

3. If the general assembly does not complete this task by September 1, so that it becomes law by September 15, the supreme court shall perform it by December 31.

4. Subdistricting of counties is permitted.

5. When and if it is permitted by amendment of the constitution of the United States, senatorial districts shall be established on a fair and reasonable basis which may take into account population, area, and the common or differing interests of the people of the various areas of the state; but in any event the smallest percentage of the population represented by a majority of the senators shall not be less than forty per cent of the state population as shown by the most recent United States decennial census. (The senate originally wrote "shall take into account," but the house insisted on "may.")

This permanent plan goes to the 1967 legislature for approval. Then, if approved by the people at a special or general election in 1967 or 1968, it would become a part of the constitution.

USE OF STATE BANNER BY LEGISLATURE

The Sixty-first General Assembly, by Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 1, resolved: "That on each day when either the house or senate convenes that the state banner shall be raised on the flag poles directly over the chambers of either and that the state banner shall be lowered at each time the house or the senate adjourns for the day."

This usage replaces the prior employment of the United States flag for this purpose, which the legislative resolution declared to be improper.

A judge is subject to a confirming popular vote one year after appointment. After a term of eight years he may declare his candidacy for another term.

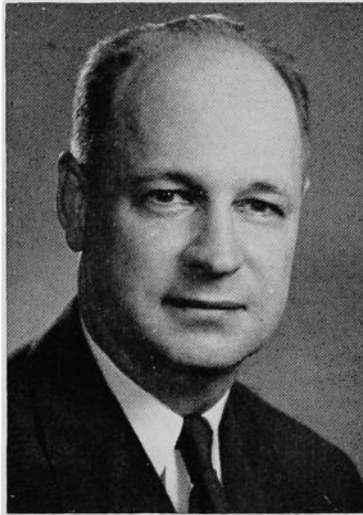

Judges elect one of their number as chief justice and he holds this office until expiration of his term.

The supreme court has general appellate jurisdiction in both civil and criminal cases. There is no intermediate appellate court. The supreme court has authority to supervise the inferior courts, to prescribe the procedure in matters brought before it and the rules for admission of attorneys to the practice. It also has the power to prescribe rules of civil procedure, and any rules prescribed by the supreme court and reported to the legislature become effective unless vetoed by the legislature.

The District Court of Iowa

The district court is the court of general jurisdiction in Iowa in civil, criminal, juvenile and probate matters. The state is divided into 18 judicial districts, each composed of from one to nine counties. Each district will have from one to ten judges determined by a formula based on combined civil and criminal filings and population. The matter of operation on both court sessions periodically and additional sessions for the trial of cases in each county is dependently upon rules adopted by the Supreme Court.

SUPERIOR COURT

The Iowa statutes provide that any city of 4,000 population, or over, may establish a superior court. It replaces the police court or mayor's court. The judges are elected for terms of four years and receive an annual salary, which is paid quarterly, the first two quarters being paid from the city treasury and the last two quarters from the county treasury in the county in which court is located.

The judges appoint shorthand reporters, whose compensation is fixed by order of the court for the time actually employed.

(At present there is no such court)

MUNICIPAL COURT

Any city, having a population of 5,000 or more, as shown by the last preceding United States census, may establish a municipal court. All civil townships in which said city or any part thereof is located shall constitute the municipal court district and its jurisdiction is co-extensive with the territorial limits of the county in which the court is located.

When a municipal court is established, all police courts, mayors' courts, justice of the peace courts and superior courts within the municipal court district are automatically abolished.

The judges of the municipal courts in the 13 Iowa cities which have these jurisdictions are as follows:

POLICE, MAYORS' AND JUSTICE COURTS

Police courts are found in all cities of 15,000 or more population, wherein there is no municipal or superior court. These are courts of record and are supposed to be always open for business. Police courts may be established in cities smaller than 15,000 if so provided by municipal ordinance. Police judges are appointed by the city council unless municipal ordinance provides that they shall be elected.

Mayors' courts are found in all cities and towns under 15,000 in population which do not have a municipal or superior court. The only qualification for the office is being elected to serve as mayor.

The Iowa Code provides for the election of two justices of the peace for each township except in townships where there is a municipal court. But of some 3,000 possible justices in the state, actually there are approximately 500, because there have been no candidates for the vacancies. The jurisdiction of a justice of the peace is county-wide. A justice can act in place of a mayor, police judge or judge of a municipal or superior court if such judge is absent or unable to act. Justices of the peace are elected for two years. The only qualifications for the office are that the justice be a resident of the township and that he post bond.

JUDICIAL NOMINATING COMMISSIONS

Commissions to make nominations to fill vacancies in judgeships were established in the spring and summer of 1963 under terms of the constitutional amendment adopted in 1962, as implemented by Ch. 80 of the Acts of the Sixtieth General Assembly. Half the commissioners are elected by members of the bar, half are appointed by the governor, and the chairman is the senior judge in the jurisdiction concerned. Vacancies in judgeships are filled by appointment by the governor, who selects from among nominees designated by the nominating commission.

Elective Executive Departments

GOVERNOR

HAROLD E. HUGHES, Ida Grove

(Office located on main floor of Capitol Building)

Term ends January, 1969

Dwight E. Jensen, Executive Assistant, Des Moines
Leslie A. Holland, Administrative Assistant, Des Moines
William G. Hedlund, Administrative Assistant, Slater
Edward L. Campbell, Administrative Assistant, Des Moines

The supreme executive power of the state is vested in the Governor, whose term of office is two years.

No person is eligible for the governorship who has not been a citizen of the United States and resident of this state two years next preceding the election, and attained the age of 30 years at the time of said election.

The governor appoints all principal officers of the state not elected by the people, and certain officers connected with the state government, by and with the consent of the senate. When any office, from any cause, becomes vacant, and no mode is provided by the constitution and laws for filling such vacancy, he has power to fill such vacancy.

The chief executive also is responsible for taking final action on all laws enacted by the general assembly. He may approve, by signing, a bill passed by both houses or disapprove, by veto, or he may allow a bill to become law without his signature.

Also, the governor may call an extra session of the assembly when he feels the necessity of such action; may order adjournment of the legislature if the members cannot reach agreement when to adjourn; and must report to the legislature the financial condition of the state and his recommendation for any appropriate action concerning the financial status.

The governor has the task of granting or denying executive clemency in the form of restoration of voting rights, commutation of sentences, pardons, and remission of fines and forfeitures.

The specific duties also include being commander-in-chief of the military forces of the state, chairman of the executive council, issuing notary public commissions, issuing land patents, and granting or denying extradition whenever there is a request for a fugitive from justice.

The governor has many obligations as the chief executive to the people of Iowa in addition to the specific statutory duties. These include meeting different groups or individuals, to discuss their problems which in some way have effect upon the government; conferring with Iowa's national delegation to coordinate national situations which might affect Iowa; answering voluminous correspondence from the electorate; and endeavoring to meet visitors who wish to come and visit the state capitol and the governor's office. In summary, the governor is the chief administrator of the state government and, despite limited constitutional and statutory powers in many areas, is held responsible by the citizenry for the effective and efficient administration of the various departments and agencies.

In addition to these annual audits, the auditor of state is required by law to audit the accounts, records and documents of the state treasury daily, and to make quarterly preliminary audits of the state educational institutions and of the state fair board.

Another primary responsibility of the auditor of state is to make an annual audit of the 99 counties. These audits are made without notice and the auditors make a complete audit of all county offices. The auditor of state also has the responsibility for the audits of cities and towns, school districts, and county hospitals. All audits must be filed with the auditor of state. All audit reports of governmental bodies are a matter of public record and are available for inspection in the office of the auditor of state and the office of the body audited.

A full-time investments department studies market conditions on an hourly basis. The Treasurer invests funds for the Iowa Public Employees' Retirement System, following recommendations made by an advisory board. The remaining state funds, including funds of the Highway Commission, are invested in obligations chosen by the Treasurer and his investments consultant. Total investments now exceed $500 million, of which $300 million represents highway and retirement system investments.

The state sinking fund was established by the 41st General Assembly to provide security for the deposit of public funds in approved depositories. The Treasurer is required to make an assessment on all depositories holding public funds in the event an approved depository having public funds is placed in receivership. The receipts and disbursements from this fund are the responsibility of the Treasurer.

The Motor Vehicle Fuel Tax Division is the sole revenue collecting agency supervised by the Treasurer. The remaining tax collection bodies are administered by the Iowa State Tax Commission. The Treasurer, through the Motor Vehicle Fuel Tax Division, collects fuel taxes from more than 1500 petroleum distributors, 6000 interstate motor carriers, and 1600 Iowa based dealers and users. In addition, the division is involved in refunding gasoline taxes paid to nearly 200,000 claimants.

The Iowa Department of Agriculture was established by the Fortieth General Assembly in 1923, consolidating several state divisions into one department. The object of the department is to encourage, promote and advance the interests of agriculture, including horticulture, livestock industry, dairying, cheese making, poultry raising, beekeeping, production of wool, production of domesticated fur-bearing animals, and other kindred and allied industries; to promote and devise methods of conducting said industries with a view to increasing production and facilitating an adequate distribution of the same at the least cost to the producer; to administer efficiently and impartially the inspection service of the state as to now or may be hereafter placed under its supervision.

Through its division of consumer protection, including supervisors and inspectors, the department enforces laws governing hatcheries, agricultural seeds, commercial feeds, dairy plants, fertilizers, agricultural limestone, food products, hotels and restaurants, pesticides, paints and oils, gasoline and kerosene, weights, measures and scales, and the quality control of dairy products. The law relating to commercial fertilizers was rewritten by the Sixty-first General Assembly, including standards for the transportation and handling of anhydrous ammonia. The last legislature also empowered the department to inspect meat and poultry slaughtered for sale within the state, beginning July 1, 1966.

A new dairy practices division has been organized under authority of an act of the Sixty-first General Assembly which forbids discriminatory price policies in the sale of dairy products.

The department has a marketing board, whose function is to promote the sale of Iowa agricultural products. The budget for this purpose was increased by the 1965 legislature.

A market news division, in cooperation with the United States Department of Agriculture, reports daily prices, volume receipts, movement of livestock, poultry and agricultural products.

Also in cooperation with the federal department is a statistical service including the annual state farm census, the price, production and utilization of stocks, inventory and marketing data on crops and livestock.

The state entomologist and staff devote particular attention to barberry pest control and to nurseries. The state botanist gives technical advice on weeds and seeds.

The weather division, in cooperation with the federal department, forecasts frost, gives flood and storm warnings, weather and crop summaries and the progress of the corn crop.

The department was authorized by the last legislature to take part in a federal-state effort to eradicate hog cholera. Other animal husbandry and veterinarian activities deal with avian tuberculosis, Bang's disease testing, contagious disease, hog cholera serum and virus, livestock imports and exports, livestock auction markets, pollorum testing, rendering plants, sheep and cattle scab eradication, stallion registration, swine erysipelas vaccine, tuberculin testing of cattle, veterinarian licensing. A state system of registration of cattle brands was authorized by the 1965 legislature.

The production, care and marketing of bees and honey are promoted by the state apiarist through lectures, demonstrations and inspection.

The department promotes farmers' institutes, short courses and poultry shows and administers the weed law.

The secretary of agriculture is a member of the state executive council, the state soil conservation commission, the agricultural marketing board, the Iowa state fair board and the Iowa dairy industry commission and the agricultural marketing board, and is a director of the marketing division.

Societies affiliated with the department are the Beef Producers Association, Iowa Crop Improvement Association, State Dairy Association, State Horticultural Society, Iowa State Sheep Association and Iowa Swine Producers Association. The last legislature gave the Iowa Soybean Association a seat on the department's marketing board.

Every Iowa citizen is in frequent contact with the services performed by the Iowa Department of Agriculture, which affects his life in many ways. It is a regulatory and service agency charged with executing laws designed to provide protection and service to producers, processors, distributors and consumers of agricultural products. Wholesomeness of food and drink, health of animals, the purity and germination of seed, the proper labeling of feed and fertilizer, the accuracy of the devices which measure anything purchased or sold by weight, volume or numerical count and innumerable other phases of daily life are part of the responsibilities of the Iowa Department of Agriculture.

COMMISSION FOR THE BLIND

Main Office, Rehabilitation Center and Library located at Fourth and Keosauqua, Des Moines
730 Higley Building, Cedar Rapids
603 Black's Building, Waterloo

Commission members are appointed by the governor for three year terms and confirmed by the Iowa senate.

Director, KENNETH JERNIGAN, Polk County, Des Moines.

MRS. ALVIN H. KIRSNER, Polk County, Des Moines; term expires June 30, 1969.

WILLIAM WIMER, Polk County, Des Moines; term expires June 30, 1971.

W. C. HAHLE, Bremer County, Sumner; term expires June 30, 1970.

The Commission for the Blind, created in 1926, offers services to the blind in Iowa in order that they may receive the necessary training and opportunity to become independent, competitive citizens. There are several departments of the commission through which such help is given.

At the rehabilitation center in Des Moines blind adults are given instruction in the skills of blindness. Courses for students include Braille, travel, home management (cooking, cleaning, shopping and sewing), shop work with regular industrial machinery, typing and personal grooming. There are also other courses in attitudes and techniques that bring to the student a true understanding of blindness—that it need not mean helplessness and is, in fact, no more than a physical nuisance if training and opportunity are available. It is important to the blind person (especially the newly blind) to learn that blind persons are actually working as full time, regular electricians, machinists, farmers, lawyers, scientists, teachers, salesmen, etc. For those who are unable to attend the center, the home teaching department gives such instruction.

JERNIGAN, Kenneth
Director, Commission for the Blind

Born in 1926. Received elementary and high school education at Tennessee State School for the Blind at Nashville. B.S., 1948, Tennessee Technological University; M.A., 1949, George Peabody College for Teachers. Recipient of Captain Charles W. Browne Award, given annually by the American Foundation for the Blind to most outstanding blind student in nation, 1949. Year of additional graduate work at School for Blind, 1949-53. While in Tennessee ran furniture business and was also in the insurance business for a time. On staff of California Orientation Center for Blind in administrative and public relations capacity, 1953-58. Has been totally blind since birth. Appointed director of the Iowa Commission for the Blind, March, 1958. Received Newell Perry Award, given annually by National Federation of the Blind to person deemed to have made greatest contribution to the welfare of the blind, 1959.

KIRSNER, Mrs. Alvin H., Polk County
Member, Commission for the Blind

Mrs. Alvin H. Kirsner was born in Minneapolis, Minn., educated in the Minneapolis public schools and the University of Minnesota. Moved to Des Moines in 1940. Has been a certified Braille transcriber since 1942, through work with the Temple B'Nai Jeshurun Sisterhood. As chairman of this group's Braille committee, she has both transcribed and taught Braille. Member, board of governors of Jewish Welfare Federation. The mother of three sons, James, Richard and Lawrence. Active in various charitable organizations. Appointed by Governor Loveless in 1957, for a two-year term; reappointed in 1959. Reappointed in 1965 by Governor Hughes for a second three year term 1966 to 1969.

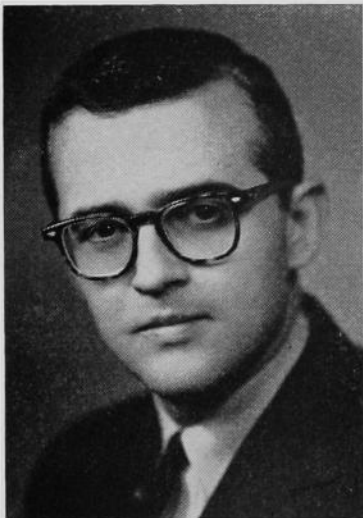

When a blind person has acquired proficiency in the skills of blindness, the vocational rehabilitation department offers him specific training in a vocational skill. The blind person is then helped in finding and obtaining employment.

The library for the blind distributes, as does a public library, reading material to the blind of the state. This material is in the form of Braille books and magazines, recorded books and magazines on talking book records, and taped material. It also distributes talking book machines on which the records may be played. Library service is available to any blind person over five. Homework units are established in the homes of some blind persons, and products produced are marketed throughout the state.

The commission serves as a central source of supply for a great variety of specialized products, tools and aids useful to the blind, children as well as adults. Braille watches and clocks; Braille writing devices; Braille paper; specialized rulers and other measuring devices which can be read by touch; canes of all types; cooking utensils with specially marked dials; standard playing cards with Braille markings added; other games such as chess, checkers, bingo, and scrabble (with special markings as needed); Braille thermometers and barometers; specially marked volt meters and similar electrical measuring devices; specially marked insulin syringes for blind diabetics; and Braille cook-books are samples of the items stocked. These items are made available to the blind of the state at the commission's cost, or they are provided without cost when the blind person is unable to pay, when there is a clearly demonstrated need for the product, and when the resources of the commission will permit. The commission also assists blind persons to procure at cost certain needed nonspecialized items such as tape recorders, tape, and headphones for talking book machines. Again, there are instances in which these items are provided without charge when there is need and when resources will permit.

A number of blind children do not attend the Iowa Braille and Sight Saving School at Vinton but are enrolled in regular public schools throughout the state. Upon request the commission works with the division of special education of the Department of Public Instruction to procure books and specialized material for those children and to provide counseling and guidance.

(East Seventh and Court Avenue, Des Moines)

Authority to assign all state-owned motor vehicles to state officers and employees, and state offices, departments, bureaus and commissions was vested in the governor by the Forty-eighth General Assembly, effective July 1, 1939. Rules and regulations for this procedure were approved by the executive council. The car dispatcher department maintains a record of miles driven, cost per mile of each unit, and the overall operation cost.

In 1967 this department had 1,100 cars and 400 trucks, a total of 1,500 units.

The car dispatcher's office receives requests from the various departments desiring new units and with the approval of the executive council holds lettings, and purchases the new vehicles and sells the old vehicles by sealed bids. Member of St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Masonic Lodge, American Legion, Iowa State Bar Association, Phi Delta Theta social fraternity and Phi Alpha Delta law fraternity. Appointed to serve unexpired portion of term of Waldo F. Wheeler commencing April 30, 1965, and expiring June 30, 1967. Reappointed with term expiring June 30, 1973.

tion houses, rolling stock and rates of fare; to pass on necessity for spur tracks to be constructed and maintained not exceeding three miles in length to an existing industry under terms and conditions approved by the commission as set out by law; to make reasonable rules for the crossing of steam and interurban railways and to require, when necessary, interlocking switches at railroad crossings; to make report on the first Monday in December in each year to the governor of its doings for the preceding year, accompanied by appropriate suggestions and recommendations; to receive, tabulate and report upon the annual reports filed with it by railroad companies; to examine any of the books, papers or documents of any such corporation; to examine under oath employees of such corporation; to issue subpoenas, administer oaths and compel the attendance of witnesses; to make and fix maximum schedules of freight rates for such corporations, such schedules to be deemed reasonable until disapproved; to examine into rates in force, upon complaint that the rate charged by a railroad company, or that the maximum rates fixed by the commission are unreasonably high or discriminating, and to fix the rate again, which must not be higher than any rate established by law, such decision of the commission being prima facie evidence that the rate so made is a reasonable maximum rate; to bring suits to enforce its orders; to inquire into the management of the business of such carriers and to obtain from them full and complete information necessary to enable the commissioners to carry out the objects of the law; to hear, investigate and determine all complaints alleging unreasonable rates, unjust discrimination, undue preference, violation of the long and short haul clause, or other infractions of the commission law, and make proper orders thereupon; to establish joint through rates, upon application, over two or more connecting lines; and to have the same authority over express companies as the act confers concerning railroads.

Before a railroad company may appropriate coal, coke or oil received for shipment, it must first secure the written consent of the Commerce Commission.

Before any railroad company may condemn lands for additional depot grounds, or for straightening or relocating track, the permission of the commission must be obtained. Interlocking switches may be placed at grade railroad crossings or draw bridges, thus obviating the necessity of stopping trains before passing over such grade crossing or draw bridges, but before the interlocking switch may be used consent of the commission must be obtained.

The Thirty-fifth General Assembly, 1913, gave to the commission the power to grant to individuals or corporations "engaged in the manufacture, sale or distribution for sale of electric current for light, power or heating purposes, the right within the state, except in cities and towns, to erect and maintain poles, wires, towers, fixtures and other necessary construction for the purpose of conducting electricity for lighting, power and heating purposes, over, along and across any public lands, highways or streams or the land of any person or persons, and to acquire the necessary interests in real estate therefor." It also provided that transmission lines proceeding under the provisions of the law should be subject to "such reasonable regulations as the commission may from time to time prescribe."

The commission is directed by an act of the Thirty-ninth General Assembly, 1921, to "undertake and carry forward such investigation and preparation as shall be necessary to properly represent the interests of the state in connection with the valuation of the property of common carriers now being conducted by the Interstate Commerce Commission."

An act of the Forty-sixth General Assembly, 1935, amended by the Forty-eighth General Assembly, 1939, provides that the operators of grain elevators must be licensed in order to receive grain for storage. It also makes provisions for using warehouse receipts issued by the warehouseman on his own products and on the products of others as collateral for financing loans. The act also provides for storage of other agricultural products, and products principally consumed on farms, in warehouses of types different from that of grain elevators which cover such products as wool, canned goods, sugar, seed, commercial feed, etc. Warehousemen must furnish approved bond to cover their operations.

The Fortieth General Assembly, 1923, conferred on the commission the power to issue certificates authorizing motor carriers to operate over the public highways of the state, upon a showing that the proposed service would promote "the public convenience" and authorized the board to prescribe rules and regulations for the operation of motor vehicles used by such carriers "for the protection and safety of the public." The Forty-first General Assembly, 1925, revised the laws on the subject, but left their administration with the railroad commission.

The Forty-third General Assembly, 1929, provided for the supervision or regulation by the commission of persons operating motor trucks principally used for public transportation of freight for compensation, not operating over regular routes nor between fixed termini.

The Forty-fourth General Assembly, 1931, provided that pipe lines shall be subject to regulation by the board under a permit issued by the board.

The Fifty-third General Assembly, 1949, provided for the supervision or regulation by the commission or persons operating motor trucks used for transportation of freight for compensation under contract.

The Fifty-seventh General Assembly, 1957, provide that persons engaged in transportation for compensation of liquid products in bulk upon any highway in this state should be required to obtain from the commission a certificate declaring that public convenience and necessity require such operation.

The Fifty-eighth General Assembly, 1959, created a highway grade crossing safety fund, which the commission was empowered to administer. On application, the commission will consider the need and benefits accruing to the railroad and governmental unit, as to public use, and after a hearing is held the commission will determine the allocation of costs between interested parties, the balance to be paid from the highway grade crossing fund. Provided, however, no part of the fund may be used in connection with the improvement or construction of a federal aid highway.

Commerce Counsel

The Thirty-fourth General Assembly, 1911, created the office of commerce counsel, to be appointed by the Iowa State Commerce Commission for a term of four years, subject to confirmation by the senate. The law provides that the counsel may appoint assistants, subject to the approval of the commissioners.

The duties of the office briefly are as follows: to be legal advisor of the Iowa State Commerce Commission; to investigate and present matters with reference to intrastate rates, and prosecute same before the Iowa State Commerce Commission or before any court to which same may be taken; to investigate on his own motion, or at request of the State Commerce Commission, all matters involving interstate rates in which the people of Iowa are interested or affected, and present same to the Interstate Commerce Commission and prosecute to final determination; to act as attorney and counsel for and represent the Iowa State Commerce Commission in all courts of this state or the United States, in which the validity of any order of the state commerce commission is in issue; to institute and prosecute in any of the courts any and all suits necessary for proper enforcement of any rule or order of the said Iowa State Commerce Commission or make defense therein wherever said rule or order may be questioned or involved.

The Sixty-second General Assembly, S. F. 739, created the Department of Social Services to absorb by July 1, 1968, the prior functions of the Board of Social Welfare, the Board of Parole, the Board of Control of State Institutions and other state agencies and divisions. Within the department is created a Council of Social Services which acts in a policy-making and advisory capacity appointed by the governor.

The administration of the department is invested in a Commissioner of Social Services. The commissioner appoints directors of the various divisions of the department.

The division of child and family services develops a program of basic education, recreation, vocational training and guidance for social adjustment. It administers child placement and develops a program in corrective institutions for juveniles and supervises parolees of said institutions.

The division of mental health supervises the care and treatment of mentally ill persons in the mental health institutes.

The division of corrections supervises the operation of the men's and women's reformatories and the state penitentiary. It establishes and maintains acceptable standards of treatment, training, education and rehabilitation in the various state penal and corrective institutions. It supervises all persons placed on parole by the parole board.

The division of administration co-operates with the other divisions and assists in preparing budgets and reports.

The division of planning, research and statistics cooperates with the other divisions by proposing administrative and organizational changes at both the state and local level to provide more efficient and integrated social services.

Women are housed in cottages which are a complete unit for food preparation, living and recreational activities, and laundry facilities.

The State Penitentiary, Fort Madison: John E. Bennett, Warden. The state penitentiary was established in 1839, the year after Iowa became a territory, and seven years before it became a state. First offenders over the age of 30 and all recidivists are received on court order. The institution has achieved high ranking in correctional fields as a result of advances made in recent years. Selected men are permitted to work on extensive prison farm systems away from the enclosure. Some are permitted to work in state parks, forests and other public lands.

As far as possible, all inmates are assigned to work in industries or in various sections of the prison. A special classification committee interviews all new admissions with a view to assigning them to the most suitable industry for which they show aptitude and preference. Rehabilitation is strongly stressed in all activities. Radio headphones are installed in each cell and programs are furnished from central control. Athletics includes baseball, softball, tennis, boxing, wrestling, horse-shoe pitching, football, and basketball. A good library is well patronized, cinema and television are available at certain times. Training in industrial shops includes: furniture making, brush and broom, textile, garment, dry cleaning, shoe, book restoration, and braille book work.

Academic education is available through grade school and high school. Vocational training is available in auto mechanics, auto body, machine shop welding, refrigeration, sign painting, printing, dry cleaning, small engine repair, radio and television repair, electrical and business machine repair. On-the-job training is available in plumbing, electricity, carpentry, painting, cement finishing, truck driving, all areas of farming, cooking, baking, meat cutting, barbering, truck gardening.

The Men's Reformatory, Anamosa: Charles H. Haugh, Warden. The Men's Reformatory was founded in 1872, the first prisoner being admitted in May, 1873. Commitment is by court order, and first offenders under the age of 31 years are received. With a total acreage of 1,536, the reformatory is operating under the farm conservation program, and a large herd of beef cattle is maintained. Inmate recreation includes athletics, library, moving pictures, radio, television and hobbies.

The industries section operates as a part of the rehabilitation, in-training programs and includes: Furniture manufacture for tax-supported bodies, tailoring, printing, the manufacture of license plates, tire recapping, and the making of road signs. Modern machinery is making it possible to expand industries.

Academic education is available through grade school and high school. Vocational training is available in auto mechanics, auto body, machine shop, welding, refrigeration, heavy equipment operation. On-the-job training is available in plumbing, electricity, carpentry, painting, cement finishing, truck driving, all areas of farming, cooking, baking, meat cutting, barbering and truck gardening.

Attached to the Men's Reformatory is the Iowa Security Medical Facility which houses the mentally ill offender. This institution is currently in transition, anticipating a move to Oakdale and a new 93-bed physical plant in 1968. It will be located near the University of Iowa where it will serve as a research and training center as well as a center for treatment of the mentally ill offender.

Hospital staff currently consists of three psychiatrists, a general physician, three registered nurses, a psychiatric social worker, psychologist, and other qualified treatment personnel.

Riverview Release Center, Newton: Lou Brewer, Superintendent. Formerly a part of the Iowa State Penitentiary and known as Riverview Honor Farm. In November of 1965, it was designated as the adult male pre-release center and in 1967, by action of the Legislature, it became a separate institution under the Division of Corrections. All inmates granted paroles by the Iowa Board of Parole from the Men's Reformatory and the Iowa State Penitentiary are transferred to the Center four to six weeks prior to their release. Here programs are offered to ease the transition to free society. Topics covered include: Finances, employment, marriage, legal problems, social conduct and others. Inmates work part-time on the farm or on conservation projects. The Center's atmosphere and location facilitates contacts with parole agents, employers, and families.

Juvenile Correctional Institutions

Training School for Girls, Mitchellville: Mrs. Marie L. Carter, Superintendent. A bill to establish the school was passed by the legislature and signed by the governor in 1868. The law provided for receiving only boys and girls in the institution, but it was decided to receive only boys until they could be moved to the new training school for boys being constructed at Eldora. The institution receives delinquent and incorrigible girls between the ages of 10 and 18 upon commitment from the district, superior, juvenile, and municipal courts. Transfers from other state institutions under the administration of the board of control may also be made.

The first girls were received in 1880. Care includes maintenance, academic, vocational, and religious training—in brief, all the care provided by a home and school, plus medical, dental, psychiatric and psychological services. Recreation includes: playground, dramatics, vocational and instructional music, parties, picnics, movies, dances, roller skating, games, radio, television, record playing, school programs, outside talent programs, and excursions off campus. Academic instruction includes ungraded through the twelfth grades. Vocational training includes domestic sciences and cosmetology.

Training School for Boys, Eldora: Anthony Trivisono, Superintendent. This institution was founded Oct. 4, 1868, and receives incorrigible and delinquent boys on commitment or admission by court order. Boys are housed in large buildings known as "cottages." Each cottage has two sets of cottage parents, a counselor and a senior supervisor. These staff members work as a team. The training school has an education program beginning with the lowest grade necessary up to and including the twelfth grade. In addition to the basic curriculum are fourteen vocational training areas and ten on-the-job training areas. Each of the vocational training areas has a course of instruction and a vocational advisory committee composed of citizens of Iowa in the various trade areas. The education program is fully accredited and staffed with qualified teachers and instructors. It is also approved by the department of public instruction and the school is a member of the Iowa High School Athletic Association. The training school has the services of trained and experienced personnel in the behavioral sciences. There are several psychologists, several social workers, and a consulting psychiatrist, also a full-time Protestant chaplain and a full-time Catholic chaplain.

Community Services Unit: Alan L. Christensen, Chief. The Community Services Unit was created in 1966 by merging the Children's Division field workers with the Juvenile Parole Service of the Division of Corrections. The Community Services Unit is responsible for planning and supervision in the community for dependent, neglected or delinquent children committed to the Boys' or Girls' Training Schools, State Juvenile Home, Toledo, or Iowa Annie Wittenmyer Home in Davenport.

Family Counselors of the Community Services Unit serve 1,400 children on placement and 800 in the four juvenile institutions. An average caseload includes 60 children and their families. Recent developments include the founding of several group homes and an increase from 17 to 45 in the professional staff.

The Unit also supervises juveniles placed in Iowa through the Interstate Compact on Juveniles.

IOWA SOLDIERS' HOME

Iowa Soldiers' Home, Marshalltown: James N. Gillman, Jr., Commandant. The board of control manages the Iowa Soldiers' Home at Marshalltown, with the commandant in direct administrative capacity. Founded in 1887, the home receives discharged United States veterans who served in any of its wars, as well as wives or widows of veterans. The method of admission: An affidavit is signed by two members of the Soldiers' Relief Commission in the applicant's home county, stating that such applicant is a resident of that county, and has been a resident of the state of Iowa for three years or more immediately preceding the date of application; that the applicant is unable to earn a livelihood; and that his income is less than $1,200 per year, exclusive of pensions, compensation and war risk insurance payments. Skilled nursing care for disabled, chronically ill elderly is available as well as domiciliary care for those who need assistance in daily living. Diagnostic services, physical therapy, speech therapy, occupational therapy and recreation are but a part of the program of rehabilitation to restore the elderly, ill, and disabled to their fullest potential in a dignified meaningful manner. Visitors are always welcome.

Married and has one daughter, Geraldine; two grandsons, Bradley and Brentley. Was with Western Union 1928-1967. Council; Governor's committee on Inter-governmental Relations; two years State Civil Defense Advisory Board, last year as chairman; two terms League of Municipalities Exec. Board; chairman League Legislative Committee, 1966-67.

The Board of Social Welfare is vested with the authority to administer state and federal funds appropriated by the Iowa legislature and the federal social security laws for old age assistance, aid to blind, aid to dependent children, aid to disabled, medical assistance for the aged, child welfare services, emergency relief, general relief to Indians living in settlements within the state, the work and training projects under Title V of the Economic Opportunity Act of 1964. The state board is also responsible for the licensing of all child-placing and child-care agencies and institutions in the state, with the exception of those under the jurisdiction of the board of control.

As provided by Iowa law, county boards of social welfare, also bipartisan, are appointed annually by county board of supervisors. They serve in an advisory and supervisory capacity to the 99 county departments of social welfare, responsible for carrying out the policies and procedures of the State Department of Social Welfare.

All employees of the State Department of Social Welfare, including those assigned to county offices, must qualify under the rules and regulations of the state merit system through a combination of education, work experience, and a satisfactory grade in written examinations. As of May 15, 1966, there were approximately 1,250 employees of the state department; 1,055 were assigned to county departments; there were 195 employees in the state department—110 in professional and special classifications, and 85 in clerical positions.

The State Board of Social Welfare is required to cooperate with the federal government in making reports to the United States Department of Health, Education, and Welfare regarding the administration of programs involving federal funds.

Public Welfare Programs of Assistance and Service

Cash payments for subsistence are made monthly to recipients of old age assistance, aid to blind, aid to dependent children, and aid to disabled. These grants, individually computed under state-wide uniform standards, take into consideration other incomes and resources available to recipients. In addition, payments are made on behalf of recipients directly to vendors for medical and dental care, supplies, and drugs.

Medical assistance for the aged and remedial eye care, which is provided for under the Aid to Blind Act, are "medical only" plans for low income individuals; they do not provide subsistence for daily living needs. Those eligible for these two programs receive no direct payments, but bills are paid directly to vendors on their behalf. MAA is for men and women of limited means who are past 65 years. Remedial eye care, to prevent blindness or to restore sight, is available to needy persons of all ages.

The department supervises the distribution of U. S. Department of Agriculture donated foods to needy persons, through county departments of social welfare, in about 75 counties. All counties are eligible to receive these foods upon request of the county board of supervisors and their agreement with the state board to distribute these foods in accord with prescribed rules.

Child welfare services, available in all counties, offer counseling, guidance, use of community and state resources, and cooperation with other agencies, public and private, in providing protective services to children.

In conjunction with the various programs of assistance, services are also given in areas of rehabilitation—vocational, social, and self-care. In cooperation with other agencies, there have been classes to help mothers improve their homemaking skills, courses of training for ADC mothers who want employment but lack necessary skills, training and re-training of handicapped persons for work within their capabilities, etc. Under Title V of the Economic Opportunity Act, special projects to train ADC parents, and unemployed fathers for jobs, are underway.

Purpose of the Iowa Development Commission

The activities of the Iowa Development Commission are focused on the economic growth of the state, achieved in an orderly fashion. It is the function of the commission to maintain continued recognition of Iowa's greatness in agriculture, to aid in the development of its rapidly growing industrial economy, and to promote its assets in the field of recreation and travel.

Iowa's position as a leader in agriculture is widely acknowledged; the products of its fertile soil will remain one of the mainstays of the state's economy. Meanwhile, its industrial assets—productive labor force, governmental climate, natural resources, central location, utilities and transportation facilities—have become widely recognized throughout the nation as being conducive to the profitable operation of manufacturing facilities. Recent legislation, such as municipal revenue bond and state-wide development authority financing, uniform commercial code, vocational education, open port warehousing and comprehensive regional planning, has been designed to assist Iowa's industrial development.

Operation of the commission is divided into five areas—research, development, planning, public relations and tourism and travel.

Records of Iowa's accomplishments in agriculture and assessments of its assets in industrial development, together with evaluation of changing conditions which affect Iowa's economic future, are maintained by the commission through its research division.

The development division devotes itself to assisting manufacturing firms already located in Iowa, attracting new industries to the state, and to aiding and representing Iowa communities which seek to diversify their economy through the addition of manufacturing operations. The division works closely with chambers of commerce and local development groups to create a favorable industrial climate. Close liaison is maintained at the executive level with manufacturing firms throughout the nation, with management consulting firms and with all organizations interested in industrial development.

The responsibility for creating favorable public opinion for Iowa, recognition of its accomplishments in agriculture and industry, and for developing an awareness in the nation of Iowa's cultural, social and economic advantages lies with the public relations division. The commission uses all available media to tell the story of Iowa to the public. A national advertising program designed to relate the advantages of an Iowa location to industry is also the responsibility of the division. The division is responsible for planning promotional trips, both domestic and foreign, to expand Iowa's agricultural and industrial economy. The division also lends its cooperation to other state agencies in preparing publications for distribution to the general public. Requests for information about Iowa number approximately 100,000 annually.

Through its division of planning, the Development Commission administers the federal planning assistance program, assists communities and counties in setting out comprehensive programs for their future growth, and aids industrial firms or communities in developing specific plant sites. The planning program covers land use, road use, community facilities, public improvements, zoning and subdivision regulation, among other items. The planning division cooperates with other state agencies involved in planning for Iowa's future.

The recently established tourism and travel development division was created to provide information about Iowa's outstanding vacation and recreation facilities to the growing number of travelers. It also assists communities in promoting their events and accommodations for visitors. The division carries out its promotional efforts through participation in recreation and travel expositions, through publications, special projects and other methods.

Because of Iowa's agricultural heritage and the tremendous resources gained from the fertile land, the commission is also involved in a program of study centered on greater utilization of agricultural products. It participates, too, in a pilot federal program of aid to inventors.

In all of its endeavors, the commission seeks closer liaison between industry and agriculture, greater promotion of industrial use of agricultural products and greater knowledge of developments in all fields which could favorably affect the economic welfare of the state.

STATE MANPOWER DEVELOPMENT COUNCIL

Marine Corp aviation units during WWII. Married, father of one son, Milton. Served as Iowa State Commerce Commissioner 1952-1959, Polk County Welfare 1962-64 and with Council of Social Agencies OMAT Project 1964-65. Appointed to staff position Manpower Development Council Aug. 1965. Appointed Director of Council by Governor Sept. 1966. Appointed Director of Iowa Office of Economic Opportunity May 1967. Presently serving in both capacities while agencies are being merged.

STATE MANPOWER DEVELOPMENT COUNCIL

The State Manpower Development Council was established in 1965 by contract between the U. S. Department of Labor and the governor of Iowa under the provisions of the Manpower Development and Training Act. The purpose of the council is to promote the fullest possible use of human resources of the state through a co-ordinated agency approach taking into consideration all factors relating to the development and utilization of work skills.

The Manpower Development Council will be staffed by highly competent manpower specialists who will work with public and private agencies in identifying manpower needs, and in developing new programs to serve all segments of the state's population. Particular attention will be given to the role of training and vocational education in relation to the industrial development of the state.

IOWA OFFICE OF ECONOMIC OPPORTUNITY

The State Office of Economic Opportunity has as its central and continuing objective the eradication of poverty and its causes in Iowa, utilizing the various weapons available under the Federal Economic Opportunity Act of 1964 (PL 88-452).

The State OEO is not an action agency, but has informational, assistance, and coordinating functions. It operates as a referral agency for the two anti-poverty programs administered by the Federal Office of Economic Opportunity, i. e., the Job Corps (residential centers where young men and women receive basic education and job training to increase their employability) and Volunteers in Service to America (VISTA—volunteers trained to work among the poor, as a domestic peace corps).

The State OEO coordinates the anti-poverty programs delegated by PL 88-452 to various federal and state agencies and attempts to eliminate duplication and competition and to secure effective focus and reinforcement in these programs. These delegated programs are: the Neighborhood Youth Corps (administered by Federal Department of Labor to give work experience to school drop-outs and unemployed youth in their home areas); the Work Study Program (operated by the U. S. Office of Education to provide part-time employment opportunities for needy college students); the Adult Basic Education Program (administered by the State Department of Public Instruction to private literacy instruction for unemployed and underemployed adults); the Work Experience Program (operated by the State Department of Social Welfare to train unemployed fathers and mothers on welfare rolls); the Anti-Poverty Loan Program of the Small Business Administration, and the Rural Anti-Poverty Loan Program of the Farmer's Home Administration.

A major, and perhaps the most important, function of the State Office of Economic Opportunity is stimulating and aiding urban and rural communities in the development of community action programs to fight poverty at the grass-roots level. Thus, through its field staff the State OEO furnishes information, inspiration, and technical assistance to local leaders, in the mobilization of community resources and the resources of the state and federal governments for a coordinated and concentrated attack at the local level on the cause of poverty.

IOWA EMPLOYMENT SECURITY AGENCY

Administered by

IOWA EMPLOYMENT SECURITY COMMISSION

(Administrative Office at 1000 E. Grand Avenue, Des Moines, Iowa)

J. WAYNE JANSSEN, Hardin County, Democrat, Employer Representative, Chairman; term expires June 30, 1971.

HENRY E. CARTER, Des Moines County, Democrat, Labor Representative; term expires June 30, 1969.

CECIL A. REED, Linn County, Republican, Public Representative; term expires June 30, 1973.

ROBERT O. WYNNE, Executive Secretary.

JEROME W. CORBETT, Director, Iowa State Employment Service.

JOHN W. PETERS, Director, Unemployment Insurance Service.

Under Chapter 96, Code of Iowa, the Iowa Employment Security Commission administers a program designed to promote security against unemployment. This program includes both an unemployment insurance service and employment service to Iowans.

Unemployment insurance is a form of insurance paid for wholly by Iowa employers to protect their employees against the hardships of unemployment. The employment security law levies a tax upon employers of four or more workers in commercial and industrial employment areas. This tax accumulates in a trust fund and is paid to eligible unemployed workers for a maximum of 26 weeks in a 12-month period. When a worker meets all the eligibility requirements and no suitable work is available, he is paid weekly benefits based upon his earnings and family status. During 1966 fiscal year, Iowa unemployment insurance benefit payments totaled $7,834,040. The trust fund balance at the close of the 1966 fiscal year was $118,103,000.

In Iowa each employer is rated on his actual experience and if his employment record is stable, his contribution rate may be lower than the standard rate. This "experience or merit rating" provides another strong incentive to provide steady work and avoid layoffs. Almost one-half of all covered employers in the last several years have not been required to pay any state contribution tax because they have stabilized their employment.

The Iowa State Employment Service, established by legislative action in 1915, was put under the administrative control of the Iowa Employment Security Commission in 1936. The 34 offices, located in key Iowa cities, provide a complete manpower service to Iowa residents. Staffed by career professionals, these offices are part of a federal-state system of 1,900 public employment service offices.

Placement service, job counseling, and aptitude and proficiency testing are available to all workers. Labor market information is gathered, analyzed and disseminated. Special service is offered to veterans, older workers, youth and the handicapped. The Iowa State Employment Service works with other agencies and organizations in solving the employment problems of workers, employers and the community. During the 1966 fiscal year, 106,500 job placements were made.

Under terms of an agreement with the U. S. Department of Labor, the commission administers the unemployment insurance program for ex-servicemen and for federal civilian employees.

The Iowa Employment Security Commission is responsible for the administration of the Iowa Public Employees Retirement System, Chapter 97B, Code of Iowa. Employees and employers, each contribute 3½ percent of the employee's salary up to $4,800 for the program. Some 85,000 persons employed by the state, cities, counties and school districts take part in the program.

Chapter 97C, Code of Iowa and Title II of the federal social security act extend the protections and benefits of the federal social security act to employees of the state and its political subdivisions. In administering this program, the Iowa Employment Security Commission is responsible for requiring the filing of social security wage reports and for collecting social security taxes from the state of Iowa and its political subdivisions.

W. ROBERT PARKS, President, Iowa State University.

MARTIN L. GRANT, President, Iowa Academy of Science.

H. GARLAND HERSHEY, Director and State Geologist, Iowa City, appointed by the Geological Board.

HERSHEY, H. Garland, Johnson County

Born in Quarryville, Penn., Oct. 1, 1905. Attended The Johns Hopkins University, receiving A.B. and Ph.D. in Geology. Since 1936 has been a member of the staff of the Iowa Geological Survey and in 1947 was appointed director and state geologist. Married Edna M. Eybs in 1931. Two children, H. Garland, Jr., and Timothy Joseph. Fellow of the Geological Society of America, fellow of Iowa Academy of Science, member of Society of Economic Geologists, American Geophysical Union, Iowa Engineering Society, American Association of State Geologists, Society of Sigma Xi, vice president of National Water Conference, consultant to Presidential Advisory Committee on Water Resources Policy (1954-55), chairman, Interstate Conference on Water Problems (1963), vice president National Rivers and Harbors Congress, member, U. S. National Committee for the International Hydrological Decade (1965), member, Board of Consultants, Iowa Institute of Hydraulic Research (1965-67), chairman, Iowa Natural Resources Council (1949).

It is the duty of the Geological Survey to collect, interpret, and report information on basic geologic features of the state. This includes information concerning the quality and quantity of surface and underground water supplies, coal, gypsum, sand and gravel, ceramic clay and shale, limestone and dolomite, raw materials for the manufacture of cement, ore deposits, and other mineral resources. Continuing studies are being carried on to determine the possibilities of oil, gas and metallic ores in Iowa. The normal geological studies have been augmented by extensive geophysical studies. Geological studies of dam sites are made on some of the flood control and recreational projects of federal, state and county agencies, and reports on the mineral resources of the proposed reservoir areas are commonly prepared.

The survey is the repository for all basic geologic and geophysical data obtained in the state. The state geologist acts as the oil and gas administrator with duties and responsibilities contained in Chapter 84, Code of Iowa 1962.

Collection and dissemination of data on water wells, water levels, stream flow and sediment loads, lake levels, and other hydraulic data are accomplished in cooperation with the water resources division of the U. S. Geological Survey. This program forms part of the nationwide network of data collection. Topographic mapping of the state, by 7½ minute quadrangles (approximately 55 square miles) and 15 minute quadrangles (approximately 220 square miles), is being conducted in cooperation with the topographic division of the U. S. Geological Survey.

As a part of the results of its work the survey has published 38 volumes of annual reports and accompanying scientific papers. These publications include special reports and maps covering the geology and mineral production of all but six of the 99 counties, as well as special reports on mineral production of all sorts. There are also three technical papers on Iowa coal and eight water-supply bulletins. A new series of publications entitled "Report of Investigations" has been initiated. Geological and mineral resources maps of the state have been prepared. Other summaries of specialized geological studies have been published in geological periodicals. These published reports, together with the large file of unpublished data obtained during almost three-quarters of a century of continuous study, serve as a reliable basis for up-to-the-minute reports to federal, state and municipal agencies and to private concerns and individuals who request and need the available information on water supply and other mineral resources of Iowa.

Duties of the Iowa Crime Commission

The purpose of Iowa's Crime Commission, is to share responsibility with the National Commission on Law Enforcement and Administration of Justice for making a careful examination of our system of justice in Iowa today.

The basic responsibility for dealing with state and local crime and criminals is, must be, and remains a state and local problem. Iowa has attacked many items involving law enforcement and criminal administration on an isolated basis, but this new program will allow us to establish a comprehensive, coordinated, plan of evaluation, recommendations and action in our war on crime.

Organizational Structure

The Director, appointed by the Governor and serving from his office, will assist in and coordinate Iowa's planning of law enforcement and criminal administration. He will be aided by a committee with membership appointed by the Governor from fields of law enforcement, the courts and corrections.

Duties of the Office

1. To inquire into the causes of crime and the adequacy of the existing system of law enforcement, criminal justice and corrections in Iowa.

2. To plan a strategy against crime. We must have a system of criminal justice, a set of short-range and long-range goals to guide us.

3. To work closely with state and local officials and organizations and make recommendations and conclusions as to how state and local government can ACT to make law enforcement and the administration of justice more effective and fair.

Method of Operation

1. Evaluate the impact of crime, determining such things as causes and motivations.

2. Seek methods to improve police standards, in areas such as recruitment, salaries, organization and management, field procedures, equipment and communications.

3. Seek to raise the quality of the courts, including prosecutors, judges and defense attorneys.

4. Recommend how corrections institutions and probation and parole officers can do a better job.

The Higher Education Facilities Commission is the only state agency responsible for planning and administering programs of assistance to both public and private colleges and universities throughout Iowa. Represented on the nine-member Commission are the Board of Regents, the Department of Public Instruction, the Association of Private Colleges and Universities, the Advisory Committee on Vocational Education, each house of the Legislature and the general public.

Established in April 1964 to implement the federal assistance for academic construction provided by the Higher Education Facilities Act of 1963, the Commission now administers the seven programs described below:

Construction grants for academic facilities—The Commission receives college applications for federal funds under the Higher Education Facilities Act of 1963, verifies their eligibility and assigns relative priorities for grants. On the basis of these priority ratings, the Commission then recommends to the U. S. Office of Education the distribution of Iowa's allotted funds. These funds are used in the construction or expansion of classroom, laboratory and library facilities. Through the fiscal year ended June 30, 1967, the Iowa allotments totaled $18,897,105 and assisted with construction of 12 projects at the public community colleges and technical institutes, 11 projects at the Regents institutions and 39 projects at the private colleges.

State of Iowa scholarships—In May 1965, the Legislature authorized establishment of a state-supported scholarship fund with an appropriation of $500,000 for awards during the first biennium. Selected on the basis of ability and financial need, 829 Iowa college students benefited from the program during the first two years. The 62nd General Assembly appropriated $325,000 to continue the state scholarship program through the biennium of 1967-69.

Equipment grants—Title VI, Part A, of the Higher Education Act of 1965 provides financial assistance for the improvement of undergraduate classroom instruction in colleges and universities. During the past two years, Iowa's allotments for equipment grants totaled $516,502. Thirty-two Iowa colleges and universities have benefited from these grants, which are reviewed and recommended by the Commission.

Guaranteed loans for college students—The Higher Education Act of 1965 also provided for a Guaranteed Student Loan Program under Title IV, Part B. This plan permits students to borrow from commercial lending institutions at a low rate of interest, partially subsidized by the federal government, on easy repayment terms. Started with a federal reserve fund of $247,000 in August 1966, the guaranteed loan program received state funding in June 1967 with an appropriation of $1,600,000 to be used as reserve money to guarantee loans totaling $16,000,000.

Guaranteed loans for vocational students—A similar loan program for vocational students was established by the National Vocational Student Loan Insurance Act of 1965 and was funded by the 62nd General Assembly with an appropriation of $400,000 to be used as reserve moneys to guarantee loans totaling $4,000,000.

Loans for medical students—As a potential remedy for the shortage of doctors in rural communities, the 62nd General Assembly appropriated $200,000 for loans to medical students who agree to practice general medicine in Iowa. A portion of the loan is forgiven for each five-year period of service within the state.

Comprehensive planning—The sum of $77,962 in federal funds has been allotted for the purpose of comprehensive planning in higher education. The Commission will use these funds to determine facilities requirements on Iowa campuses and to encourage the wise use of the federal assistance provided.

History and Development of the State Highway Commission

The Iowa State Highway Commission was created by the general assembly in 1904. The law prescribed that Iowa State College should act as the state highway commission. It was then up to the state board of education to appoint Dean Anson Marston of the engineering division, and Dean Charles F. Curtis of the agricultural department of Iowa State College to serve as directors of the commission.

The directors selected Thomas H. MacDonald to serve as secretary and engineer for the commission. The duties of the commission from 1904 to 1913 were to make investigations and studies of highway conditions, and to advise local authorities when highway improvements were being contemplated.

In 1913, the Thirty-fifth General Assembly created a State Highway Commission separate from Iowa State College and composed of three members. The dean of engineering from the state college was to be one commissioner, and one member was to be appointed from each major political party to fill the new commission. T. H. MacDonald was named chief engineer of the commission, a post he held until he resigned in 1927 to become our country's first chief of the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads.

Outline of State Highway Commission Work

The State Highway Commission is responsible for the construction and maintenance of the primary highway system including interstate highways and urban extensions as well as state parks and institutional roads. Five Highway Commissioners, appointed by the Governor with the approval of the Senate, are responsible for all policy determination, allocation of resources, and approval of all programs and budgets.

The chief administrative officer, who is appointed by and responsible to the Commission, is the Director of Highways. The Director, through the divisions and departments of the organization, implements the policies and directives of the Commission.

Commission meetings, open to the public, are held every other Wednesday at the Central offices in Ames. Commission members determine policy matters, confer with local and regional delegations or individuals, and award contracts for highway construction, purchase of materials or equipment used in highway work.

Major functions of the organization are 1.) Maintain a current inventory of existing highway facilities 2.) Project future highway needs and resources 3.) Plan and design the necessary additional facilities 4.) Construct new facilities as resources become available and 5.) Maintain highway facilities in a safe and well-kept condition for the traveling public.

In addition to the Commission's responsibility for the construction and maintenance of all primary roads, the statutes impose joint control with the 99 county boards of supervisors over construction on the farm-to-market system. The Highway Commission has no authority to originate projects on the farm-to-market system, but action by the counties is subject to Commission approval. Iowa law also requires the Commission to approve secondary road budgets, construction programs, and contracts for construction of roads and bridges when the cost of the work is estimated to be $5,000 or more. The Commission must furnish standards of design for roads and bridges, and advise secondary road officials on special road problems. The Commission also provides engineering assistance to other state departments.

The Highway Commission's 62-year history is a continuing story of progress in providing better and safer roads to serve the States' urban and rural needs. Iowa's highways, roads and streets continue to be a vital factor in the healthy growth of its agricultural, industrial and commercial economy.

The State Highway Commission's constant goal is to build and maintain as fine a system of roads as is economically possible.

From a small beginning the department has grown until it now overflows the original building and the addition. The Kasson Memorial Building, a block away, was purchased to serve as a workshop for the archivist and provide storage for the state archives.

Here is a unique and unrivaled institution in which all Iowa takes pride; its people visit both individually and in groups for conducted tours; its doors are open every day of the year. Here the people of the state can see how the Iowa of today arose from the Iowa of yesterday; how the land, mines, quarries, rocks, and minerals came to be; how the Indian lived before the coming of the white man; how the pioneer changed the face of the land and the way of life. Here too are many sources of reference on Iowa history, ranging from newspapers to manuscripts, including books and census records. Here are the state archives, readily available to officials of the state and to serious students of Iowa history.

In the museum is a wide range of exhibits. Displayed are tools, utensils and implements used by Iowa pioneers to conquer the wilderness. There is a collection tracing the history of pioneer transportation, including horse-drawn vehicles and early automobiles, pioneer agricultural implements and many household articles from the time of the very earliest settlers. There is a fine collection of Kentucky rifles, both flintlock and percussion, as well as many other early firearms. The extensive G.A.R. collection, including portraits of all past commanders, is now housed in the Historical Museum.

Indian history of Iowa is traced from the time of the mound builders, to modern times; many ancient Indian artifacts are on display along with an unusually fine collection of modern Indian materials including bead work, canoes, and wickiup.

Iowa's geology is represented by rock samples and fossils from every formation of the state, covering a billion years of geologic time. There is an outstanding exhibit of fossil crinoids from LeGrand, an area known throughout the world for the fine specimens which have come from it.

Many study collections are of interest and use to the citizens of the state—a large collection of maps of Iowa and of the country as a whole; an extensive collection of Iowa wildlife, many of which are record specimens; specimens of mounted birds and animals, some of which were common in pioneer days but are gone from the state today; the beautiful and elaborate silver service of the Battleship Iowa; a collection of photographs of people and places of historic interest, many of them the only pictures available. In addition many thousands of items are catalogued and stored for future display, and the collection is constantly growing.

In connection with the museum, the department maintains guided tour service for school groups, approximately 1,500 annually, covering all phases of history and natural history, and at all levels, from kindergarten through college; each group is given a special tour, depending on the age of the students and the subject they are studying. The museum serves as an "identification bureau" for all manner of objects of natural and historic interest which citizens, teachers, and students bring in.

The department has a large collection of autographed letters and papers of authors, explorers and statesmen, including several letters signed by Abraham Lincoln. On this foundation has been built the manuscript division, used for research by historians from all over North America.

On the shelves of the Historical Library are approximately 50,000 books by Iowa authors or about Iowa, Iowa state and county histories, family records and references for research in genealogy.

The census department is used in establishing records of birth and genealogy and in many cases can supply the only records of birth and residence available to many citizens.

The newspaper division receives all the leading daily and weekly newspapers in the state, adding them to a systematic collection which dates back to the very earliest newspapers published in Iowa. These publications are an invaluable source for the historian and the growing file of present day papers is part of the department's work of recording history day by day. All current newspapers are now preserved in permanent form on microfilm.

Portraits of many outstanding Iowans hang in the portrait gallery. A war history division contains many manuscripts, reports, official publications, enlistment records and other materials pertaining to Iowa's participation in six great wars.

The ANNALS OF IOWA, a historical magazine issued quarterly, contains interpretive studies and articles on the history of the state.

The Iowa public archives comprise more than 35 million items beginning with the territorial government, all catalogued, so as to be readily available when needed by state officials or for historical research.

The department also has jurisdiction over all monuments and mementos on the statehouse grounds.

All these divisions of the department contribute to realization of its objectives to preserve the history of the state of Iowa and make it readily available to the citizens of the state.

COMMISSIONER OF INSURANCE

(Office located on the ground floor, State Office Building)

Term, four years. Appointed by the Governor

Term expires June 30, 1971

LORNE R. WORTHINGTON, Decatur County, Insurance Commissioner.

LLOYD G. JACKSON, Clinton County, First Deputy Commissioner.

E. ARNOLD SMITH, Polk County, Second Deputy.

RICHARD S. BALDWIN, Boone County, Chief Examiner.

ROBERT OETH, Dubuque County, Superintendent of Securities.

The office of commissioner of insurance, as the executive head of the Insurance Department of Iowa, was created by chapter 146, of the laws of the Thirty-fifth General Assembly (1913) and the first commissioner took office July 1, 1914. Previous to that time, the supervision of insurance had been under the direction of the auditor of state.

The commissioner of insurance has general control, supervision, and direction over all insurance business transacted in the state, and is charged with the responsibility of administering the laws of the state relating to insurance.

Under the law, all securities in which the reserves of Iowa life insurance companies are invested are required to be deposited with the commissioner and complete records are kept showing each item on deposit at all times.

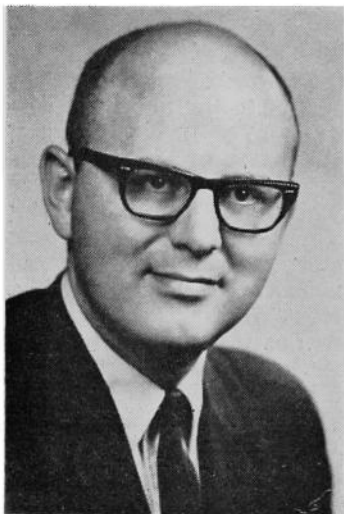

The commissioner supervises all transactions relating to the organization, reorganization, liquidation and dissolution of domestic insurance corporations. He supervises the sale in the state of all stock or other evidences of interest either by domestic or foreign insurance companies.

WORTHINGTON, LORNE R., Lamoni

Democrat

Insurance Commissioner

Born on June 14, 1938, in Penticton, B. C., Canada, of American parentage. Moved to Iowa from Spokane, Washington, in 1956 in order to attend college. Attended State University of Iowa and graduated from Graceland College in Lamoni, Iowa, receiving a B.A. degree, cum laude, in Business Administration. He now serves as a director of the College Alumni Council. Married Veneta Snethen of Lamoni in 1959 and they have three daughters—Penny, Debbie and Suzanne. Active in community affairs and served as board member and president of the Chamber of Commerce. Served in 60th and 60th extra sessions of state legislature and selected by Press Association for annual award, "Outstanding Freshman Legislator." Elected 1964 to the office of Auditor of State. While serving as auditor he also served as a member of the Governor's Committee on Public Health, The Intergovernmental Relations Commission and Chairman of the State Consumer Protection Advisory Council. Appointed Iowa's Commissioner of Insurance on January 3, 1967.

He is the statutory receiver in the event of liquidation of any Iowa insurance company.

All foreign companies, as well as all local companies, must, before engaging in the insurance business in this state, obtain a certificate of authority from the commissioner of insurance. These certificates expire annually on April 1, and action is taken on their renewals after analysis of complete financial statements filed covering the condition of the company as of the previous year end. All insurance agents must likewise obtain individual licenses to solicit business. In 1964 there were 1,002 insurance companies authorized to do business in the state, and approximately 100,000 individual licenses were issued.

A state statute requires insurance companies to file rates with the insurance commissioner for approval, and a rating division has been set up with the insurance department to handle rate filings together with supporting statistical information. There are approximately 1,200 filings per month.

The commissioner conducts examinations of all domestic insurance organizations every three years. He may also make an examination of any foreign insurance company authorized or seeking to be authorized to do business within the state. All policy forms used by any company within the state are required to be approved by the department.

Securities Department

The Iowa securities law is administered by the commissioner of insurance. Chapter 502 of the Code of Iowa empowers the commissioner to regulate the sale of securities within the state of Iowa and provides for the licensing of securities salesmen and dealers.

The commissioner also has jurisdiction over the sale of stock on the installment plan and sale of memberships or certificates of membership entitling the holder thereof to purchase merchandise, materials or services on a discount or cost-plus basis.

The Workmen's Compensation Law was enacted by the Thirty-fifth General Assembly in 1913. The industrial commissioner administers this law. Iowa was one of the first states to provide benefits for injuries and occupational diseases sustained by industrial workers. Injuries resulting in death, permanent disability or temporary disability must be reported to the commissioner. If the injured worker and employer agree on compensation a memorandum thereof is approved by the commissioner. If an agreement cannot be reached, either the employee or employer may request an arbitration hearing before a deputy commissioner in the county where the injury occurred. Arbitration decisions are reviewed by the commissioner and may be appealed to a district court or the supreme court. Settlement agreements or awards may be reopened for three years after the last payment if the injured employee has a change of condition.

The industrial commissioner also investigates and settles workmen's compensation claims by all state employees and peace officers, and pursues subrogation recovery from persons who negligently injured them.

The industrial commissioner is a member of the Employment Agency License Commission and the State Board of Vocational Rehabilitation.

BUREAU OF LABOR

(Office located on fourth Floor Office and Laboratory Building)

Commissioner appointed by the Governor.

Term two years. Expires June 30, 1969.

PARKINS, Burton Dale, Urbandale

Democrat

Commissioner of Labor

Dale Parkins of Urbandale, Iowa, was appointed by Governor Harold Hughes for two year term beginning July 1, 1963. At the time of Mr. Parkins' appointment he was chairman of the bargaining committee for Local 991 of the United Automobile Workers, a union which represents the workers of the Ford Implement plant, 1700 Aurora Street, Des Moines, Iowa. Mr. Parkins had served in this capacity since 1951. He served on the executive council of the State Federation of Labor from 1958-1960. Mr. Parkins was one of two children, and was born in Winterset, Iowa, June 11, 1924. He was graduated from Winterset High School in 1942. He married Shirley Ann Greenwood from Winterset. They have two children, a son Thomas and a daughter Susan. Mr. Parkins is a member of the Evangelical United Brethren Church of Van Meter, Iowa.

The office of labor commissioner was created by the Twentieth General Assembly in 1884.

Under the provisions of law, the commissioner is a member of the private employment agency commission. The commissioner is executive secretary of the employment agency commission. He also acts as secretary of the Iowa Employment Safety Commission which was created by the Sixty-first General Assembly.

The bureau is responsible for the enforcement of laws relating to health and safety, child labor, passenger and freight elevators, installation and inspection of steam boilers, generators and superheaters, private employment agencies, arbitration and conciliation, and industrial accidents for reinspection and statistical purposes.

Eight factory inspectors devote full time to inspection of factories, mills, work shops, theatres, buildings, public buildings, passenger and freight elevators, private employment agencies and general employment conditions. The law requires that one of the inspectors shall be a woman who shall give special attention to places employing women and children. The boiler inspectors for the state are responsible for the inspection of all boilers over 15 pounds pressure. The Sixty-first General Assembly also brought certain low pressure boilers under the inspection law. All low pressure boilers located in places of public assembly after July 1, 1965, must be inspected by the state.

Since July of 1949 the bureau has dropped its publication "Iowa Employment Survey" because of the duplication with the report of the Iowa Employment Security Commission. However, the bureau undertook to publish reports on child labor, apprenticeship registration, construction activity, and Iowa work injuries. At this time quarterly statistical reports are being published and distributed throughout the state to aid both labor and management.

The bureau recognizes the need for a broader survey and hopes that in the near future it will be able to furnish more extensive and pertinent information.

The functions and duties of the Iowa State Traveling Library are those spelled out in the Iowa Code 303.16-303.23 for a General State Library. The role of a general state library is research, the supplying of books and audio-visual materials and consultant service to all state officials and state employees, state organizations, state mental, correctional welfare institutions, individuals without public library service, and the 450 public libraries in Iowa.

Serving as the official state library, the Iowa State Traveling Library administers the funds made available under the Federal Library Services and Construction Act. The funds are distributed to public libraries across the state through a system of cooperative areas. Ten of these co-ops are in full operation and the eleventh is developing in the southwestern eight counties.

Each of these cooperatives, with a central office located within its boundaries, is staffed with a professional librarian who gives services of central ordering, processing, cataloging and consultation to member libraries in the area.

In addition, in conjunction with the Board of Control, the Iowa State Traveling Library is beginning an accelerated program of providing materials and better service to the libraries in all the state institutions.

Established by Governor Robert Lucas in 1839, the library has grown from 1,600 volumes to over 290,000 volumes, phonodiscs and films. The Iowa State Traveling Library has seen tremendous growth during the last biennium and continues to seek out new ways to improve the program of state-wide extension and betterment of local libraries with the aid of the federal funds made available on a matching basis.

The merit system council serves as the central personnel office, and in cooperation with the participating agencies establishes a system of personnel administration based on merit principles and scientific methods governing the appointment, promotion, transfer, lay-off, removal, discipline and welfare of its civil employees.

by the governor upon recommendation of the agencies. The regulations require that the members shall be public-spirited persons of recognized standing, of known interest in the improvement of public administration and the impartial selection of efficient government personnel. No member of the council shall have held political office or have been an officer in a political organization during the year preceding his appointment, nor shall he hold such office during his term.

It is the duty of the council to establish general policies for the administration of merit examinations and office procedures, to hear personnel appeals, to review the classification and compensation plans, and to advise with the state agencies on their revisions, to make recommendations to the agencies relative to their internal personnel practices to assure conformity with the regulations, to approve the budget to be submitted to the agencies covering costs of merit system activities and to promote public understanding of the purposes, policies, and practices of the merit system.

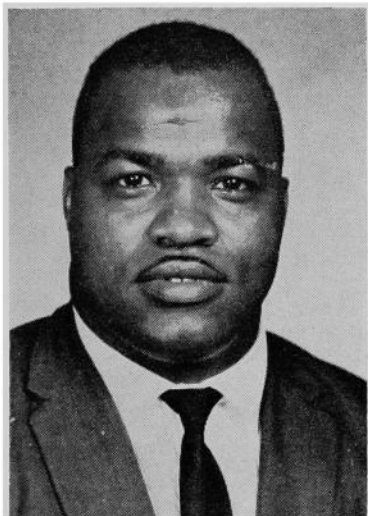

It is also the duty of the council to appoint a merit system director, with the approval of the agencies, to advise with him in formulating procedures, and to inspect and review his activities for the purpose of assuring conformity with the regulations. The director is charged with the responsibility of developing and putting into continuous effect policies and procedures which are based on the principles requisite to merit system administration. These involve the recruitment of qualified candidates for possible public employment; the preparation, administration, and scoring of examinations; the preparation, custody, and maintenance of registers of eligibles; certification of the eligible list to the agencies as vacancies occur; maintenance of complete personnel records including appointments, salary advancements, promotions, and terminations; and auditing the payrolls to insure compliance with the regulations in all personnel actions.

Approximately 2,000 employees are covered under the system. Each employee must meet the minimum requirements, as defined in the job specification for the position he is holding, pass a practical written examination for the class, be selected from among the top three individuals available on the register, normally begin employment at the first step of the range established for the class, and serve a six months probationary period. Permanent employees may be terminated only for specific cause, and they have the right to appeal to the council in case they are of the opinion that any agency action has been unfair or discriminatory.

The Iowa Natural Resources Council was created in 1949 by the Fifty-third General Assembly, which assigned the council the duty and authority to establish and enforce an appropriate comprehensive state-wide program for the control of water and the protection of the surface and underground water resources of the state (Chapter 455A, Iowa Code 1962.) The duties and responsibilities of the council were enlarged in 1957 by the Fifty-seventh General Assembly, which established a permit system for the regulation of water use and assigned administration of the permit system to the council. These duties were further enlarged in 1963 through enactment of an oil and gas conservation law to be administered by the council through the office of the state geologist (Chapter 84, Acts of the 60th General Assembly).

The Resources Council is composed of nine members appointed to overlapping six-year terms by the governor with the advice and consent of the senate. The members, who serve on a per diem basis, must be electors of the state and are selected from the state at large solely with regard to their qualifications and fitness to discharge the duties of office without regard to their political affiliation. The director of the council, qualified by training and experience, serves as its executive officer having charge of the work of the council under its direction and orders.

The functions and duties of the Resources Council include the establishment and administration of comprehensive state-wide programs for flood control and for the conservation, development and use of the waters of the state. The council has been designated as the agency to maintain liaison with federal agencies conducting investigations and studies of projects for navigation and flood control affecting the state and to make official comments on project reports. The council also acts as the coordinating agency for flood control and water resources projects on the local and state level. The council approves or disapproves plans for any structure, dam, obstruction, deposit or excavation in or on any floodway and may abate as a public nuisance any of the foregoing which adversely affects flood control.

The permit system for regulated uses of water is administered by a water commissioner and deputies chosen by the council. The water rights law declares that all waters within the state, both surface and underground, belong to the people of the state and are subject to regulated use for beneficial purposes. Except for a few uses defined in the law as non-regulated, any use of 5,000 gallons or more per day is subject to regulation. Permits may be granted for any period of time not to exceed ten years and are reviewed prior to renewal or extension. Priority is given only to the use of water for ordinary household purposes, for poultry, livestock, and domestic animals. The council establishes the average minimum flow for a given point on a watercourse and may issue permits for beneficial use of water therefrom if the average minimum flow is preserved.

The oil and gas conservation law (Chapter 84, Acts of the 60th General Assembly) was enacted to conserve and protect the oil, gas and water resources of the state. Impetus for passage of the law was provided by the discovery of a deposit of commercially acceptable crude oil in Washington County in 1963 and the resultant increased drilling activity. Administration of the law was assigned to the Iowa Natural Resources Council through the office of the state geologist. The council has adopted administrative rules defining in detail its requirements under the law.

Duties of State Department of Public Safety

The Iowa State Department of Public Safety was created by the Forty-eighth General Assembly (1939) by consolidating several departments and divisions under one executive designated as commissioner of public safety. The purpose of this consolidation was to facilitate coordination among enforcement agencies and safety organizations on all levels of government within Iowa. Today, the State Department of Public Safety includes the following divisions:

Division of Highway Safety Patrol

T. R. MIKESCH, Polk County, Colonel.

The Iowa highway safety patrol was created by the Forty-sixth General Assembly (1935) and brought to its present strength of 400 uniformed members by the Sixty-first General Assembly (1965).

The duties of the highway patrol are to enforce all motor vehicle laws, to exercise general police powers (with restrictions stated in Chapter 80, Code of Iowa, 1962); to investigate serious traffic accidents occurring on the highways; to conduct hearings in connection with the suspension of operators' and chauffeurs' licenses; to conduct examinations and issue drivers' licenses, and to promote highway safety through its own programs.

Division of Criminal Investigation

ROBERT D. BLAIR, Polk County, Chief.

County and municipal enforcement agencies may come to the criminal investigation division for assistance in difficult criminal investigations, though the division is not a local policing unit. The division is called upon to investigate matters involving the internal security of state government, and to co-operate with elective and appointive officials in such investigations.

The division is divided into investigative and identification sections, and a technical laboratory. The investigative section assigns special agents to work with local peace officers who have requested assistance in special criminal cases; the identification section contains fingerprints, criminal records, photographs and other information necessary to effective criminal law enforcement, and the modern technical laboratory includes the scientific equipment and the technicians necessary to effective criminal investigation and crime prevention.

Division of Radio Communications

BOYD F. PORTER, Polk County, Director.

This division is responsible for providing radio communications for the Iowa highway safety patrol, the criminal investigation division, and other state agencies. Services and facilities of this division, through the police radio network, also are available to all county and municipal enforcement agencies, to state and federal offices of civil defense, and for interstate police communication.

This division operates on a 24-hour daily basis through nine police radio stations located at Atlantic, Belmond, Cedar Falls, Cedar Rapids, Denison, Des Moines, Fairfield, Maquoketa, Storm Lake and through automatic repeater stations at Burlington, Cresco, Glenwood, Lake Park, McGregor, Merrill, Moorhead, New Market and Van Wert.

Division of Fire Protection and Investigation

WILBUR R. JOHNSON, Polk County, Fire Marshal.

The duties of this division are to enforce all state laws relating to arson, to investigate causes of fires, and to promote fire safety and prevention through education. This division is charged with enforcing all laws, and rules and regulations of the state department of public safety, relating to the transportation, storage and handling of flammable liquids, liquefied petroleum gas, and explosives. In addition, this division is responsible for enforcement of laws and regulations pertaining to fire safety, equipment, design and exit in buildings where the public congregates.

Division of Motor Vehicle Registration

JACK H. LEVERENZ, Polk County, Acting Director.

This division has direct jurisdiction over the licensing and titling of motor vehicles, official vehicles, and nonresident vehicles, and also over the issuing of licenses to itinerant merchants. The division maintains complete records of all motor vehicle licenses and titles issued and of revenue collected. With certain exceptions, all revenue collected from issuance of motor vehicle registrations and titles goes to the state's road use tax fund.

Division of Motor Vehicle Dealers' License

D. H. DAY, Polk County, Director.

It is the responsibility of this division to prevent fraud in the sale of motor vehicles at retail in Iowa, and to prevent irresponsible persons from engaging in the retail sale of motor vehicles. In addition, the division administers the dealers' disclosure law. All expenses of this division are paid out of a fund which accrues from the licensing and transfers of licenses of motor vehicle dealers.

Division of Financial and Safety Responsibility and Operators' and Chauffeurs' Licenses

MAJOR JOHN C. MAHNKE, Polk County, Director.

Administration of the financial and safety responsibility law and driver improvement and control are responsibilities of this division. The division maintains cumulative records of accidents and convictions of traffic law violations on all licensed drivers. On the basis of these records, court recommendations or other evidence, it is the duty of this division to re-examine, or interview drivers, issue warning letters or probationary agreements, or to suspend or revoke drivers' licenses. A research and statistics section of this division collects and analyzes accident and enforcement information for guidance of the various public safety programs that are within the responsibility of the safety department.

Division of Safety Education

BEN H. PLOOF, Polk County, Director.

The safety education division was created by action of the Forty-eighth General Assembly for the purpose of promoting highway safety through public information and education. The division co-operates with national, state and local civic organizations and official agencies in stimulating and developing the effectiveness of Iowa's traffic safety program.

Mailing lists are maintained to disseminate public information concerning accident trends, new traffic legislation, posters, pamphlets and other safety materials to schools, organizations, official agencies and news media. A film library maintained by the division distributes safety films throughout the state on a free loan basis.

IOWA REAL ESTATE COMMISSION

(Office located in Executive Hill)

GEORGE M. CLARKSON, Des Moines, Director.MELVIN D. SYNHORST, Secretary of State and Chairman.WILLIAM C. KNAPP, Des Moines; term ending June 30, 1969.MAX E. GUERNSEY, Waterloo; term ending June 30, 1969.STEPHEN G. DARLING, Iowa City; term ending June 30, 1971.GERY M. MARTIN, Sioux City; term ending June 30, 1971.

The first real estate license law was enacted by the Forty-third General Assembly and became effective Jan. 1, 1930. The law was administered by the secretary of state, who was designated as real estate commissioner. This law was amended and revised by the Fifty-first General Assembly to provide, among other things, that as of Jan. 1, 1946, the law would be administered by a five-member commission composed of the secretary of state as chairman and four additional members appointed by the governor with the approval of the senate.

CLARKSON, George M.Polk County*Director, Iowa Real Estate Commission

President The Howige Co. and KCH Piggy Back Hitch Co.

During the past 21 years it has been the administrative policy of the real estate department to correct most of the evils in the real estate brokerage business which had developed over many years of uncontrolled practice. This has resulted in elevating the real estate business to a professional status and has tended to encourage men and women in all walks of life to enter this business where income is based on intelligence, initiative and hard work.

While the present law requires a rather complete and comprehensive written examination for all applicants it has not tended to deter or discourage the many people who are endeavoring to get into this business. The examinations are held once a month at a specific time and place set by the commission.

The fees for a broker's and salesman's examination are $10.00 and $5.00 respectively. The same amount is charged each year for renewal of the license, which expires on Dec. 31 of the year of issuance.

The department prepares and distributes free to the citizens of Iowa a Real Estate Primer which is a basis for the qualifying examination and which has been accepted and used as a textbook by many high schools, colleges and universities in Iowa and many other states. This primer and the educational institutes held over the state each year have contributed materially in reducing law violations to a minimum and have facilitated the economical and efficient operation of the department.

The department is also charged with the responsibility of regulating and investigating the business conduct of all real estate licensees in their relationship with the public, and holds hearings on formal complaints which contain evidence which would indicate a violation of the law.

Information on State Fair

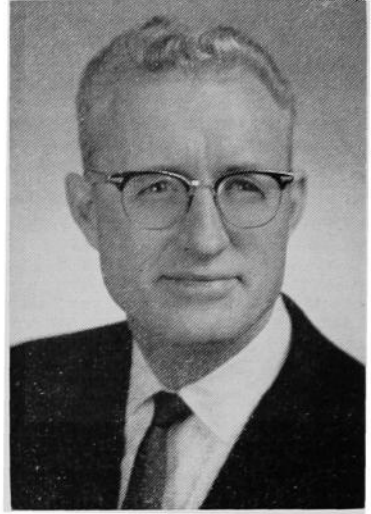

For over 100 years, the Iowa State Fair has been gaining steadily in size, prestige and public service. Today, it is nationally recognized as America's greatest agricultural and livestock fair. Situated in the heart of the world's wealthiest agricultural empire, it is the focal point each year for exhibitors of the finest livestock and farm products. In attendance, too, it stands in the front rank of the great educational and entertainment expositions on the North American continent.

The Iowa State Fair, the original "State Fair" of a best-selling novel and of two hit motion pictures, is held in Des Moines each year. It runs for 10 days in late August.

The livestock show, largest of its kind in America, attracts over 9,000 of the finest farm animals from 20 leading agricultural states. The 4-H and F.F.A. shows, state-wide congress of farm young people's organizations and their livestock and projects, add to the fame of the fair.

FULK, Kenneth R., Secretary
Iowa State Fair Board

Born April 29, 1916, on a farm south of Clarinda, Page County, Iowa. Son of Ed W. and Jennie Fulk. Graduated from Clarinda High School and Iowa State University with a B.S. degree in agriculture. Active in 4-H and Future Farmers of America. From 1939-1941 managed farms for Metropolitan Life Insurance Company. Sept. 29, 1941, enlisted in the U. S. marines, served on commanding general marine forces Solomons staff, was instructor marine corps officers school, Quantico, Va., now a major in the retired reserve. Following 1945, was Page County extension director, farmed in partnership with father and brothers, five years field representative, Iowa Beef Producers' Association, three years secretary of the American Shorthorn Association, two years livestock specialist for the marketing division, Iowa Department of Agriculture. Married Helen Shaffer of Clarinda in 1946; has five daughters: Sandra, Jennifer, Connie Sue, Bobbie Lou and Patricia. Member of the Presbyterian Church. Appointed Jan. 1, 1963.

Emphasis on the meatier strains of livestock, more suitable for consumer wants and needs is being increased at the Iowa State Fair. The fair continues to pioneer in the most advanced pork, lamb and beef carcass shows in the nation.

Over 250 companies and industries of Iowa display in the giant machinery and farm implement show. More specialized space is being added each year, such as travel village, Teen Town, Heritage Village, etc.

People are not forgotten at the Iowa State Fair—in fact, people make the fair. The fair is planned so everyone can become involved in an educational or worth-while activity. Individuals may express themselves by exhibiting photographs, works of art, culinary, gardening, needlework, flowers, pigeons, rabbits, poultry, participating in school science show, church exhibits, outdoor cookout contests and in many other ways.

From the huge State Fair grandstand, one of the finest amphitheatres in the nation, fairgoers witness a varied series of spectacles and events, including national championship auto races, midwest circuit horse races, thrill day students, musical extravaganzas, fireworks and circus acts.

The first and second Iowa State Fairs were held in Fairfield, Iowa, in 1854 and 1855. From 1856 to 1879, the State Fair moved from city to city. It was held in Muscatine in 1856 and 1857; Oskaloosa, 1858 and 1859; Iowa City, 1860 and 1861; Dubuque, 1862 and 1863; Burlington, 1864-1866; Clinton, 1867 and 1868; Keokuk, 1869, 1870, 1874 and 1875; and Cedar Rapids, 1871, 1873 and 1876-1878.

In 1879 the State Fair moved to Des Moines to stay. In 1884 the legislature appropriated $50,000 to purchase a state fairgrounds on condition that the City of Des Moines raise an equal amount for buildings and facilities. The city concurred, and Iowa thus became the second state in the northwest to acquire a permanent site for its fair.

In 1923 the general assembly changed the former method of fair administration by providing for an Iowa department of agriculture and a state fair board, and giving this board the duty of managing the fair and the custody of the fairgrounds. Now the fair board comprises one director from each congressional district, and three directors at large elected at the annual meeting in December of the state agricultural convention. Official delegates to the convention represent each of the 103 fairs in Iowa. There are three ex officio directors on the fair board and these include the governor, secretary of agriculture and president of Iowa State University. The president and vice president of the fair are elected by the board from the elected directors. The state fair board selects the secretary and the treasurer of the fair.

All operating expense, maintenance and other costs of the fair are paid out of fair receipts, except where the legislature may deem it advisable to make a special appropriation for such purposes.

Since 1902 the legislature has appropriated $1,266,900 for the construction of permanent buildings on the fairgrounds, purchase of additional land and for necessary improvements. In recent years, however, the State Fair has used only its own revenues for these purposes. Altogether, since 1902, the fair itself has expended $4,427,958 for maintenance and improvements from actual profits of the fair. One major building project financed by fair funds is the fireproof 4-H Girls' dormitory, which was formally opened and presented to the Girls' 4-H Club for their use at the 1950 Iowa State Fair. Another is the Radio and Television Center providing studios for programs originating on the grounds as well as established programs featuring well known announcers and entertainers. This building was built and in use in 1956. Premiums, amounting to over $200,000 a year, are also provided by the fair for winners in exhibits and contests.

How the State Fair has grown during over 100 years of progress can best be shown by comparing statistics on the first fair of 1854 with the average figures for the 1965 and 1966 fairs:

	1854 Total	1965-1966 Averages

IOWA STATE DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC INSTRUCTION

(Mailing address, State Office Building)

(Office, 217 7th Street)

PAUL F. JOHNSTON, Des Moines, State Superintendent.

The state board is directed by statute to appoint the state superintendent every four years after Jan. 1, 1955, with the approval of two-thirds of the senate. The law provides for the appointment of not more than two assistant superintendents, and employment of the professional staff and clerical personnel deemed necessary by the board to carry out its obligations.

The functions of the Iowa State Department of Public Instruction are classified into three categories: leadership, regulatory, and operational.

Educational leadership is the major purpose served by the State Department of Public Instruction. Although the department provides other services, they are all subservient to and intermeshed with the guidance of educational endeavors in the state of Iowa. Through its leadership, the state department helps to mobilize, unify, and coordinate all the positive forces concerned with education for the dedicated purpose of its improvement—and to give common direction to the efforts of all. Educational leadership strives to analyze the nature and future direction of education and to communicate with the public in this regard. This leadership may be exercised in (1) planning for each major area of service and in the overall comprehensive plan for the total state program for education; (2) research to assist in formulation of policy and evaluation of programs; (3) advisory services by persons specialized in certain phases of school operations; (4) coordination to promote unity and to encourage proper balance; (5) public relations to keep the public informed on educational needs and progress; and (6) in-service education to foster the continuing growth of all persons engaged in education in the state.

The regulatory function of the State Department of Public Instruction is aimed primarily at assuring that the basic provisions for education in the constitution are available to all children in the state and that state laws enacted to supplement and enrich those basic provisions are kept. The state delegates broad authority to local school districts for the management and operation of educational programs; but, at the same time, the department has been charged with guaranteeing at least minimum performance, known as "standards," for Iowa schools. These standards are established by statute, by boards, or by the department through the authority granted it by the statutes.

The operational function is carried out through (1) the services offered to local school districts because their scope, expense, or technical nature make them more easily offered on a broad base, and (2) centralized services to individuals, such as vocational rehabilitation.

The state superintendent is given the responsibility for coordinating the work in the department. In meeting this obligation, the department has been organized under two assistant superintendents—one for administration and the other for instruction. These two assistant superintendents are directly responsible for the branches (in charge of the associate superintendents) under their jurisdiction.

The accompanying chart shows the organizational structure of the department.

IOWA PUBLIC COMMUNITY OR JUNIOR COLLEGES

The first public community or junior college in Iowa was organized as a department of the public schools of Mason City, and began operations in September, 1918. It was established without legal sanction, as there was no law on the statute books at the time authorizing the organization of junior colleges as a part of the public school system.

Burlington Junior College was organized in 1920. From then on, the movement spread rapidly, until by 1930, 30 towns in Iowa had organized junior colleges as parts of their public school systems. The junior college movement in Iowa reached its crest in 1927, during which year nine were added to the list. After 1930, no more junior colleges were added until 1946, when Clinton Junior College was organized.

The first law authorizing the establishment of public junior colleges was enacted in 1927 by the Forty-second General Assembly. In recent years, as these colleges have extended their services more and more into the areas of terminal, technical and adult education, they have come to be looked upon as community institutions. Hence, in 1959 the Fifty-eighth General Assembly amended the law to provide that these institutions could be designated as community colleges.

In 1949 the Fifty-third General Assembly first established a system of state aid of 25 cents per day of attendance for each junior college student carrying 12 or more semester hours of college work. In 1957 the Fifty-seventh General Assembly increased this amount to one dollar per day. State aid was increased by the Fifty-ninth General Assembly to $1.50 per day for non-resident students.

AREA COMMUNITY COLLEGES AND AREA VOCATIONAL SCHOOLS

The Sixty-first General Assembly provided for reorganization of the public community college system and an increase in allocation of state aid to $2.25 per day for Iowa students.

Under Chapter 280A, Code of Iowa, six area community colleges and five area vocational schools were organized within the last six months of the biennium ending June 30, 1966. Others were in the process of becoming formally organized. By June 30, 1967, four more area community colleges had been added, and the area school at Ottumwa had achieved the status of a community college.

Organization-wise the community colleges and area vocational schools are quite similar in that they both offer:

1. Vocational and technical training.
2. Programs for in-service training and retraining of workers.
3. Programs for high school completion for students of post-high school age.
4. Programs for all students of high school age who may best serve themselves by enrolling for vocational and technical training while also enrolled in a local high school, public or private.
5. Student personnel services.
6. Community services.
7. Vocational education for persons who have academic, socio-economic, or other handicaps which prevent succeeding in regular vocational educational programs.
8. Training, retraining, and all necessary preparation for productive employment of all citizens.

In addition to the above offerings the community colleges also offer the first two years of college work, including pre-professional education.

The Iowa Braille and Sight Saving School was opened at Iowa City on April 5, 1853. Nine years later (August, 1862), the school was moved to its present location at Vinton.

The Iowa Braille and Sight Saving School is an educational institution which offers complete educational opportunity to visually handicapped boys and girls from kindergarten through high school.

The curriculum parallels that found in the best public schools for the fully sighted.

In addition to academic subjects, special emphasis is placed on music, industrial arts, physical education and instruction in orientation and mobility, including the use of the long cane for travel. After satisfactorily completing the four-year high school course, graduates may attend colleges or vocational schools or enter some field of employment. The records of those who have done so have been excellent.

Supported by appropriations made by the state legislature, the school is governed by the State Board of Regents. No charges are made for room, board, laundry, tuition and educational supplies. School is in session for a nine-month period, from late in August until late in May. All students go home for the three-month summer vacation as well as for the Thanksgiving, Christmas and Easter holidays. About fifty percent of the students go home each weekend throughout the school year. Parents are encouraged to visit the school as often as possible.

In September, 1943, a special instructional program was developed to meet the needs of pupils with partial vision, in addition to the already established program for blind children. Students in this program study large-type print instead of Braille and do their school work in classrooms especially equipped with excellent lighting, magnifiers, green chalk boards and other materials designed for the use of children with partial vision.

The purpose of the Iowa Braille and Sight Saving School is to prepare its boys and girls to take a contributory place in life. Parties, dances, bowling, swimming, wrestling, band, chorus, track, Scouting and skating are a few of the activities which add enrichment to the program.

The annual enrollment is about 160 students.

IOWA SCHOOL FOR THE DEAFCouncil Bluffs

C. Joseph Giangreco, Ed.D., Superintendent

The Iowa School for the Deaf is located on a beautiful 120 acre campus three and one-half miles south of Council Bluffs, on Highway 375. It is a state tax-supported school, open to all students in the state of Iowa between the ages of five and nineteen whose hearing loss is too great for them to get along satisfactorily in a regular public school. It is governed by the State Board of Regents. The school's educational program is designed to develop the whole child with a well-balanced program in academic, vocational, physical, social and religious education.

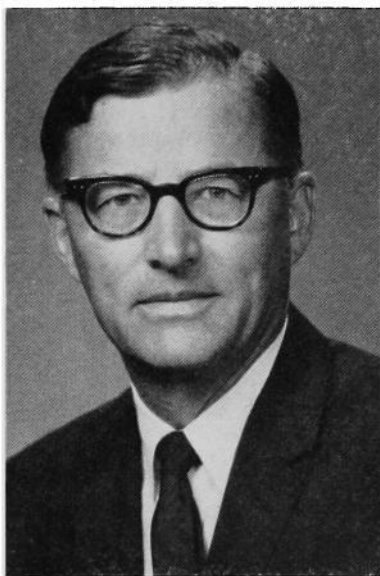

No charge is made to residents of Iowa for room, board, laundry, tuition, school supplies, and limited medical and dental care.

The Iowa School for the Deaf works closely with the state vocational rehabilitation division to help place students in industry, in college, and in advanced trade schools upon completion of the school's curriculum. In short, the Iowa School for the Deaf aims to prepare to the best of its ability, all the children entrusted to its care to live successfully, happily, and effectively in today's world.

The University of Iowa

Iowa City

The University of Iowa was the first public institution of higher education founded by the state of Iowa. The date was Feb. 25, 1847, just fifty-nine days after Iowa had entered the federal union. The act which created the university was passed in the legislative chambers of Old Capitol, the first capitol building of the state and now the central administrative headquarters for the university.

President Howard R. Bowen

In the early days, the university was devoted primarily to the education of teachers for the secondary schools of Iowa. Classes began in 1855 with a student body of nineteen and a faculty of three. From this small beginning, the university has developed into a complex liberal arts, graduate, and professional institution offering programs of teaching, research, and educational public service in almost every phase of human knowledge.

Throughout its history, the university has sought to reflect in its educational programs the same pioneering spirit which carried the early settlers westward. For example, it was the first state university to admit women students on an equal basis with men. It was an early leader in the general education movement, with its broad emphasis on the liberal arts. It pioneered in the idea that a novel, poem, or a painting could be as worthy of credit toward an advanced degree as the most scholarly piece of research.

The University of Iowa School of Religion, a unique experiment in inter-faith cooperation, was one of the first such departments founded at a tax-supported institution, and even today is the only such school to grant the Ph.D. in religion.

Perhaps most significant of all, the university has shown a willingness to experiment in the "tailor-making" of curricula which cut across departmental barriers—traditionally low at Iowa. One result is the modern science of speech pathology and audiology, which originated at the university through just such cross-fertilization among several academic disciplines. Other examples include the significant and continuing contributions by university faculty to the study of child development in virtually all its aspects. The university's Institute of Child Behavior and Development, originally known as the Iowa Child Welfare Research Station, was the first organization of its kind to apply scientific principles on a comprehensive scale to the study of the normal child.

In all its programs, the university seeks a role of service to the people of Iowa, and hence, the nation. Graduates of the university—more than 100,000 since the opening of the first classes—have gone out to assume useful places in society, as educated and productive citizens. Currently more than 3,600 degrees are awarded each year, ranging from the baccalaureate to the most advanced degrees in many specialized areas of knowledge. University research in medicine, physics, psychology, zoology, and numerous other fields has advanced man's knowledge of himself and the world around him and has contributed, both directly and indirectly, to a better life for all of Iowa's citizens. The university's programs in art, music, drama, and creative writing, have done much to enrich the cultural life of Iowa and the entire mid-west.

Public Service

In addition, the university provides many direct services to the state. Through its Division of Extension and University Services, thousands of Iowans are reached each year by programs in adult education, correspondence study, the distribution of films and other educational materials, and the sponsorship of on-campus short courses, conferences, and institutes. University service agencies such as the Bureau of Business and Economic Research, the Center for Labor and Management, the Institute of Public Affairs, the Agricultural Law Center, the Institute of Agricultural Medicine, the Institute of Gerontology, and others are strongly oriented to Iowa's needs.

Annually, additional thousands of Iowans, regardless of means, receive the finest in medical treatment and care at the university's medical center, operated as a service to the state and as a teaching and research arm for the university's Colleges of Medicine and Nursing, as well as other health-related professions.

Although the university is large by most standards, it is of moderate size compared to many universities of its class, including most of its sister institutions in the Western or "Big Ten" Conference. And although growth has posed many problems, the university continues to preserve something of the atmosphere of a smaller college, while retaining the advantages of a large university. This is in keeping with the university's traditional concern for the individual human being and with its desire that education, far from being a form of mass communication, should remain an individual experience, fitted to the needs and aspirations of each student.

The University Today

The president of The University of Iowa is Dr. Howard R. Bowen, an alumnus of the university who received his doctorate from it in 1935 and who began his service as the university's fourteenth regular president in July, 1964. Previously he had served as president of Grinnell College for nine years, as professor of economics at Williams College, dean of the University of Illinois College of Commerce, economist for the Irving Trust Co. in New York, and economic consultant to many federal and state agencies. Dr. Bowen was named chairman of the National Commission on Technology, Automation, and Economic Progress by President Lyndon B. Johnson in November, 1964. The Commission Report, "Technology and the American Economy," was published in February, 1966.

The university is organized in ten colleges—Business Administration, Dentistry, Education, Engineering, Graduate, Law, Liberal Arts, Medicine, Nursing, and Pharmacy—which together comprise more than eighty departments and seven schools. The schools, all within the College of Liberal Arts, are Art, Journalism, Letters, Library Science, Music, Social Work, and Religion.

The University today continues to face the challenges of rapidly increasing enrollments, expanding knowledge in almost every field, and the ever-growing need of society for a great variety of complex services. The university's effort to meet these challenges is reflected in its total annual operating budget, including self-supporting activities such as dormitories, athletics and union facilities, which is now some $125 million, as compared to about $8 million less than thirty years ago. Receipts from federal government grants totaled $15,467,850 during the fiscal period 1966-67. Non-federal gift and grants receipts for this period, including endowment earnings, were $2,139,130.

Enrollment

For more than a decade, the university's enrollment has been rising steadily, from a post-war low of 7,213 in 1952-53 to 17,755 in the fall of 1966-67. Even greater gains are expected in the next ten years, as a result of high birth rates following World War II. If present admissions policies are continued, an enrollment of 25,000 or more is forecast for the university by the mid-1970's.

Following is the annual record of enrollment at the university since 1952:

Year	Enrollment November 1	June to June on Campus of College Grade	All Types, Including Correspon- dence and Exclud- ing Conferences and Short Courses

Courses of Study

A minimum of four academic years of study is required for a baccalaureate degree from the College of Liberal Arts with its affiliated schools and divisions (fine arts and mathematical sciences), and the same time is required for a bachelor's degree from the College of Business Administration. Engineering requires a minimum of four years and Pharmacy requires five, including one pre-pharmacy year. Programs can be somewhat lightened by attendance in summer sessions.

Six years of study at the minimum, two in pre-professional and four in professional study, are required for a degree from the College of Dentistry. Law requires three years beyond three years of liberal arts, while at least seven years are necessary, three in pre-medical and four in medical study, for the degree of Doctor of Medicine. A four-year course in nursing leads to the Bachelor of Science in Nursing. Graduate work in nursing is available through the Graduate College and the College of Nursing.

Advanced degrees from the Graduate College are earned under approved programs of study and research, with a minimum of one year required for a master's degree and three years at the graduate level for the doctorate.

The various courses of study, the fields of specializations and the degrees conferred at graduation are as follows:

BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION—Accounting, economics, finance and insurance, management and industrial relations, marketing, office management and business education, and general business majors lead to the degree of Bachelor of Business Administration. Graduate work through the Ph.D. is offered.

DENTISTRY—Four-year course, in addition to two years of pre-dental study in the College of Liberal Arts, leading to the degree Doctor of Dental Surgery. Graduate work leading to the degree of Master of Science from the Graduate College is available in many specialties. A course for the training of women in dental hygiene is offered.

EDUCATION—Courses for the professional preparation of undergraduate level teachers are integrated with the curricula of the Colleges of Liberal Arts and Business Administration and lead to degrees in those colleges. Graduate programs for teachers, principals, supervisors, superintendents, directors of student teaching, and research and teaching positions in higher education lead to the M.A., M.A.T., Ed.S., and Ph.D. degrees in the Graduate College.

ENGINEERING—Chemical, civil, electrical, industrial and management, mechanics and hydraulics, and mechanical engineering leading to the degree of Bachelor of Science in the designated curriculum. The bachelor's degree can be attained in four years. In each curriculum certain specialized options may be elected: for example, aeronautical, hydraulic, sanitary, or structural. Considerable emphasis is placed on graduate work leading to the Master of Science and Ph.D. degrees in sanitary engineering and mechanics and hydraulics, as well as in the primary branches: chemical, civil, electrical, industrial and management, and mechanical.

LIBERAL ARTS—American civilization, art, astronomy, biochemistry, botany, chemistry, child behavior and development, Chinese, classics, comparative literature, economics, education, English, European literature and thought, general science, geography, geology, German, Greek, history, home economics, journalism, Latin, mathematical, sciences, medical technology, microbiology, museum training, music, oriental studies, philosophy, physical education, physics, political science, psychology, religion, recreation leadership, romance languages (French, Spanish, Italian, Portuguese), Russian, social studies, social work, sociology and anthropology, speech and dramatic art, speech pathology and audiology, and zoology leading to the degrees Bachelor of Arts, Bachelor of Science, Bachelor of Music, Bachelor of Fine Arts and to advanced degrees through the doctorates.

Specialized courses in departments of botany, chemistry, general science, geography, earth science, home economics, physical education for men, physical education for women, recreation leadership, psychology, sociology, speech and hearing science, and zoology lead to the degree Bachelor of Science.

Students who select courses to prepare for dentistry, law, and medicine may study pre-professional subjects in the College of Liberal Arts and then enter the professional college. If all specific requirements for the bachelor's degree are included in the pre-professional program and the first year of professional study is completed successfully, the student may receive a bachelor's degree from the College of Liberal Arts, since the college will give credit for one year of professional work in lieu of the fourth year necessary for a bachelor's degree.

SCHOOL OF ART—Part of Division of Fine Arts, with majors in art history, studio, and art education, leading to the Bachelor of Arts or the Bachelor of Fine Arts. Graduate study toward the Master of Arts, Master of Fine Arts, and the Doctor of Philosophy.

SCHOOL OF JOURNALISM—Offers study sequences through the College of Liberal Arts in community journalism, news-editorial journalism, radio-television journalism, advertising, magazine journalism, photo-journalism, high school journalism teaching, and public relations. Offers a certificate of journalism on the basis of scholarship and concentration in the field, and programs for the Bachelor of Arts and Master of Arts degrees, and the Doctor of Philosophy degree in mass communications.

SCHOOL OF LIBRARY SCIENCE—The School of Library Science, established in 1965, provides a basic course of study leading to the degree Master of Arts in Library Science. A certificate program for school librarians is offered as well. Attention is given to preparation for beginning professional positions in various types of libraries, including municipal, county, regional, college, university, children's and special libraries.

SCHOOL OF MUSIC—Part of Division of Fine Arts, study leading to the Bachelor of Arts, Bachelor of Music, Master of Arts, Master of Fine Arts, Doctor of Musical Arts and the Doctor of Philosophy. Major fields are music education, composition, history, literature, and performance.

MEDICINE—Four-year course, in addition to at least three years of pre-medical study in the College of Liberal Arts, leading to the degree Doctor of Medicine. The College of Medicine offers postgraduate work leading to advanced degrees through most of its departments in the Graduate College. Special training is also offered in physical therapy and occupational therapy. At frequent intervals each year, the College of Medicine also offers postgraduate conferences designed to provide new and refresher information for practitioners in the State of Iowa.

NURSING—The degree Bachelor of Science in Nursing is offered at the conclusion of the four-year program of which the first year is completed in the College of Liberal Arts. Work is offered through the Graduate College toward the Master's degree in Nursing.

CORRESPONDENCE STUDY—Courses at the college level are offered in many of the departments through the extension division for students who cannot be in residence.

The Campus

The University of Iowa campus is divided by the Iowa River, which cuts through limestone bluffs on either side. The east campus is dominated by Old Capitol, the west by the University Hospital tower. The campus contains nearly 1,350 acres and more than 60 major buildings.

The university's total investment in land, buildings, and equipment, as of June 30, 1966, was $130,363,146. Over the years, state appropriations have accounted for approximately 49 percent of the total building funds. Earnings from self-financing facilities such as dormitories, union, and athletics have accounted for about 37 percent, and about 14 percent has come from gifts and grants.

Some of the major buildings completed or in progress during the 1965-67 biennium include: Art Building addition; Art Gallery; Botany Greenhouse, English-Philosophy Building; Hawkeye Apartments, Phase III, married student housing; Hospital Parking Ramp; Psychology Building; Rienow Hall II, residence hall; and a Speech Pathology Building.

The Sixty-second General Assembly appropriated some $15.2 million for university buildings, in the 1967-69 biennium, which will provide for: Dentistry Building; Library Addition; Physics Building, Part II; and a Plant Physiology Building. Preliminary plans for the Basic Science Building, Music Building-Auditorium, and Sports Building have been approved and construction will begin in the near future.

University Cultural Center

The University, long a leader in the fine arts, is developing a Fine Arts Campus on the west bank of the Iowa River. To complement the Art Building and University Theatre already on the site, the university is in the process of adding an auditorium, expanded facilities for art and theatre, a new art gallery, and a new music building with recital hall.

Major impetus for the Fine Arts Campus has come from the gift of the Elliott Art Collection. Subject to the provision of gallery space by 1967, Owen and Leone Elliott of Cedar Rapids offered the university one of the finest privately owned collections of art works in the mid-west.

A campaign for private contributions with which to build the gallery has raised more than $1 million and the state has appropriated funds initially for additional art studios and classrooms and the music building. The auditorium will be financed through a special student fee increment. The total Fine Arts Campus development is expected to cost more than $10 million.

Institute of Hydraulic Research

In the 1840's an Iowa Citian named Euclid Sanders built a grist mill on the Iowa River. Today Sanders' property, which he later deeded to The University of Iowa, is the site of the internationally known Institute of Hydraulic Research. Drawing students from around the world, the Institute, headed by Professor John F. Kennedy, educates engineers in modern fluid-mechanics-laboratory practice, performs fundamental research, and provides engineers and facilities for investigations of an applied nature for state, federal and private organizations. Offices of the Water Resources Division of the U.S. Geological Survey, which conducts extensive and continuing investigations of Iowa water resources, for example, are housed in the Institute's Hydraulic Laboratory.

The Institute was organized in 1931 to accommodate a rapidly growing research program of the College of Engineering's Department of Mechanics and Hydraulics. In World War II, the Army and Navy turned to many university laboratories for technical assistance, and the Iowa Institute's contributions included research on the resistance of ships, wind-tunnel studies of fog dispersal for military airfields, water-tunnel investigations of "cavitation" around undersea bodies, and the development of fire monitors for naval vessels. After the war, government agencies, realizing the value of fundamental research, continued their support, and today research at the Iowa facility is supported by the Office of Naval Research, the Army Corps of Engineers, the National Science Foundation, and other agencies.

Located on the west bank of the Iowa River, the Institute's Hydraulics Laboratory is one of the largest and most completely equipped laboratories of its kind in the world. On the bottom floor of the building is a block-long towing tank. Spanned by a carriage riding on stainless-steel rails, leveled and aligned to within a few thousandths of an inch, the tank is used for studying the resistance of model ship hulls towed through water. Other facilities include a model of a meandering river for studying curved channel flow, "fumes" for observing flow phenomena in a straight channel, and water and wind tunnels. An extensive electronics workshop produces the sophisticated instrumentation required for Institute research, and early in 1967 a special computer was put into operation to make possible immediate analysis of experimental results.

Aided by these facilities and by the new computer, research programs at the Institute are continuing to expand in scope and significance. The research, usually of a fundamental nature, frequently has ramifications in areas ranging from air pollution to flood control. The study of flow characteristics in a model river bed may help flood-control engineering, for example, and fundamental research into the nature of "gate vibration" in dams could reduce the chances of failure and help reduce construction costs in dam projects.

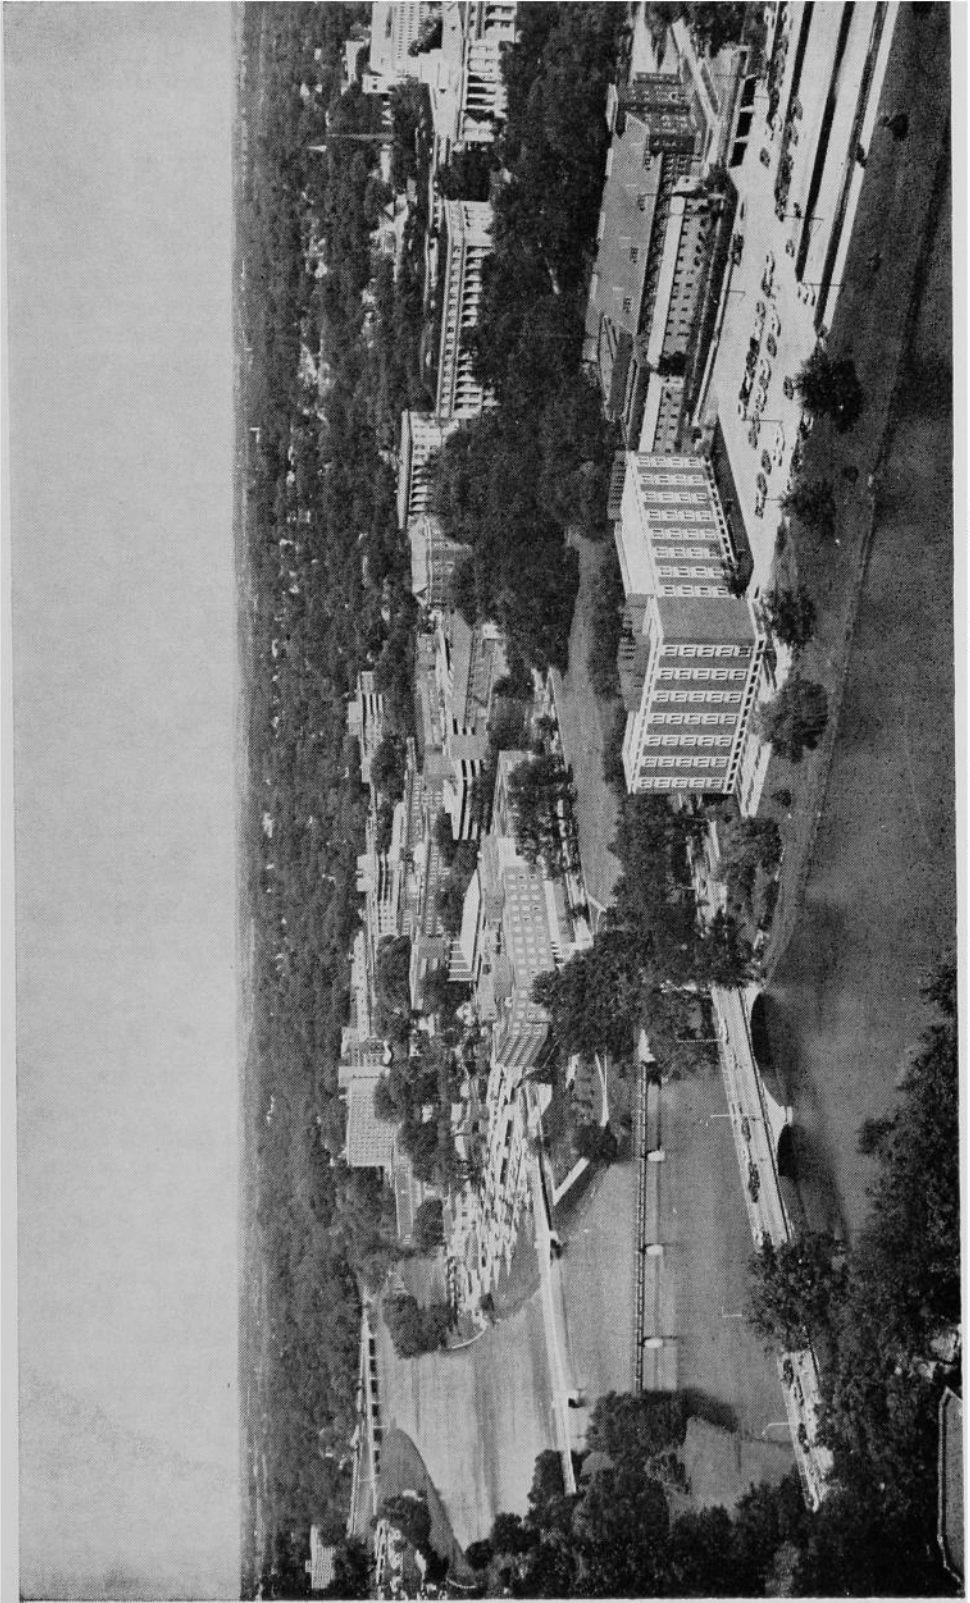

The Institute of Hydraulic Research has spread its influence widely. Many of the more than 425 graduate degrees conferred during the Institute's history have gone to students from other countries, and holders of Ph.D. degrees in hydraulics from The University of Iowa have become leaders in the field throughout the world. In keeping with its international tradition, the Institute is continuing programs of aid to Latin American countries in helping design, build, and equip hydraulics laboratories, and members of the Institute staff periodically travel to Latin America to lecture in Spanish on fluid mechanics and hydraulics. Staff members have also produced instructional films, written classic textbooks in mechanics and hydraulics, and frequently advised governmental and other agencies on scientific and technical matters.

The University as a Medical Center

The University Medical Center consists of the General Hospital; Children's Hospital, used primarily for orthopedics, dermatology, and rehabilitation; the State Psychopathic Hospital; the University Hospital School; and the State Tuberculosis Sanatorium at Oakdale, six miles from the main Medical Center campus. Total capacity of the units is about 1,600 beds. Also located at the Medical Center are the Iowa State Services for Crippled Children and the State Bacteriological (Hygienic) Laboratory, which provides services to agencies of state and local government, physicians, and others.

The University Medical Center provides direct health services to the people of Iowa and opportunities for Iowa's young men and women to receive education in the health sciences. Operating within the framework of the general University organization, the Medical Center is directed by the vice-president for medical affairs, the administrators of the hospitals, and the heads of clinical and basic science departments, who are professors in the College of Medicine. The health service units are supported by a combination of appropriated funds and fee earnings.

GENERAL AND CHILDREN'S HOSPITALS—Administered as a single unit, these two hospitals admit more than 33,000 patients annually. Nearly a quarter of a million outpatient visits are recorded each year and 15,000 operations are performed. Plans are proceeding for construction of a new eight-story structure near General Hospital to house an operating room suite, a diagnostic radiology section, outpatient clinics, and inpatient facilities with 400 beds.

University of Iowa Campus at Iowa City

STATE PSYCHOPATHIC HOSPITAL—About 500 patients are admitted annually to this hospital and the outpatient clinic registers more than 9,000 patient visits. Diagnostic services, treatment, and an educational program are also offered in a 25-bed Child Psychiatry Unit housed in a separate building.

UNIVERSITY HOSPITAL SCHOOL—This facility consists of a Rehabilitation Unit for Severely Handicapped Children; the Child Development Clinic, a diagnostic unit for mentally retarded children; the Children's Research Unit; and the Pine School, an educational unit for mentally retarded children.

STATE SERVICES FOR CRIPPLED CHILDREN—The Hospital School also is headquarters for the Iowa State Services for Crippled Children, which annually conducts statewide field clinics providing diagnostic and evaluation services for some 6,000 children with chronic or crippling conditions.

STATE TUBERCULOSIS SANATORIUM—The University Medical Center administers Oakdale Sanatorium, the state's treatment center for tuberculosis. Broadened service and research programs are being established on the Oakdale campus. Now functioning at Oakdale are a Biochemical Pharmacology and Toxicology Unit, an Accident Prevention Laboratory of the Institute of Agricultural Medicine, and an Alcoholism Treatment Unit. Also being established is a Comprehensive Evaluation and Rehabilitation Center.

STATE BACTERIOLOGICAL (HYGIENIC) LABORATORY—The laboratory provides field and diagnostic services and does research in the areas of communicable disease control; food, water, and milk sanitation; radiation and health physics; stream and air pollution; industrial hygiene; and pesticide analysis. The facility also provides consultation and improvement assistance to clinical laboratories in the state by providing training programs.

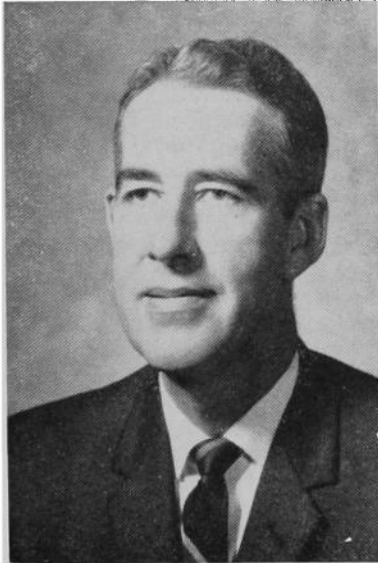

Iowa State University of Science and Technology

Ames

In its response to the changing needs and interests of the people of Iowa, Iowa State has developed into a distinguished broad-based university with special responsibilities in science and technology.

It had its origins in the "people's college" movement which came to Iowa with the first settlers.

That movement found expression March 22, 1858, when final approval was given the Seventh Iowa General Assembly's enactment of legislation chartering an "Iowa Agricultural College."

President W. Robert Parks

The college was to offer the kind of education provided for in the Morrill Land Grant Act signed by President Abraham Lincoln July 2, 1862.

The Morrill Act authorized the use of federal lands to endow in each state at least one college whose curriculum would include the traditional classical studies, but would emphasize subjects related to the nation's agricultural and industrial development.

The first state to accept the terms of the Morrill Act, Iowa awarded its land grant to its new college at Ames.

Hard times and the Civil War delayed the opening of the college until March 17, 1869.

Iowa State was the first Land Grant college opened on a coeducational basis.

Initially it offered two degrees, in agriculture and "mechanics."

From the mechanics course it began almost immediately to develop programs in the various branches of engineering. From the first home economics course offered by a Land Grant institution, it developed one of the nation's first four state schools of home economics. From its early work in agriculture, it developed the nation's first state school of veterinary medicine.

The foundation for studies in those four areas—agriculture, engineering, home economics, and veterinary medicine—was a program of basic sciences whose strength was largely responsible for Iowa State's early national recognition.

Iowa State enrolled its first graduate student in 1872, awarded its first master's degree in 1877, and conferred the nation's first master's degree in engineering in 1879.

Experimental work was already under way at Iowa State when it opened.

In developing research in all its academic areas, Iowa State led in the creation of a state-federal research program in agriculture, and established the nation's first college-based research programs in engineering and home economics.

Iowa State also pioneered the third facet of the Land Grant idea, public service. It was the first Land Grant school to conduct off-campus institutes, and in 1906 it organized the first of the nation's county cooperative extension systems.

Continuing to grow in scope and excellence as the times demanded,

Iowa State in 1959 achieved recognition as a university. It is an eminent example of the Land Grant idea, which has been applauded throughout the world as this nation's most significant contribution to higher education.

The 'New Humanism'

Dr. Robert Parks took office as Iowa State's 11th president on July 1, 1965.

In the address he delivered at his formal inauguration March 22, 1966, President Parks urged that the University add to excellence, diversity and service a fourth goal, of "bringing all of our disciplines in the sciences and the humanities together into a new educational unity, achieved through a broad concern for the human and the humane."

The Iowa Board of Regents implemented Iowa State's quest for that "new humanism" a year later in a revision of its statement defining, in general terms, the scope of the University's activities.

The new statement provides that in addition to its graduate and undergraduate work in the physical, biological and social sciences, Iowa State "will maintain strong undergraduate programs in the liberal arts, and will offer such master's and Ph.D. programs in this area as are justified to meet the needs of the state and to maintain the over-all strength and desirable balance of the University as a whole."

The statement also authorized Iowa State to award Bachelor of Arts and Master of Arts degrees "in those major areas which are more closely related to the arts than to the sciences."

Curricular revisions effected in the preparation of Iowa State's 1967-69 General Catalog evidenced its broadening of purpose, notably in the addition of bachelor's degree programs in music, philosophy and computer science, and a master's degree program in English.

The University offers majors in all standard academic disciplines.

The Iowa State Technical Institute offers two-year programs in agriculture, chemical industries technology, construction technology, electronics technology, food service management and mechanical technology.

Two-year programs offered in agriculture include agricultural business, agronomy, animal science, dairy science, farm operation, horticulture, industrial education, and poultry science.

There is also a winter-quarter program in farm operation.

Iowa State's sixth consecutive record fall enrollment of 15,183 in 1966 included 5,378 students in sciences and humanities, 3,804 in engineering, 2,978 in agriculture, 2,479 in home economics, 357 in veterinary medicine, 174 in agricultural engineering. These figures include both undergraduate and graduate students.

Iowa State continued its tradition of national leadership in extension service with the organization in 1966 of an area program coordinated by a single administrative unit, University Extension, embracing the Co-operative Extension Service in Agriculture and Home Economics, the Engineering Extension Service, the Center for Industrial Research and Service, and the Short Course Office.

The area approach permits pooling the resources of local personnel and highly-trained specialists to solve problems encompassing multi-county areas. Twelve areas have been designated, each comprised of from seven to 11 counties.

The existing county extension system has been retained.

In the extension education phase of its service function, Iowa State conducted 130 workshops, conferences, short courses, and seminars attended by about 23,000 Iowans during 1966.

Another major administrative change designed to provide more effectively for the needs and responsibilities of a large modern university was the creation in 1967 of two additional vice presidencies, for student services and for information and development.

Continuing among the nation's leading university centers of research, Iowa State had a total research budget of about $22 million for 1966-67.

All of its graduate students and nearly all of its faculty members were engaged in the more than 1,000 research projects being conducted in all of the University's academic areas.

To meet the demands of rapid growth in teaching, research and service, Iowa State added or was scheduled to add capital improvements totaling $33.3 million during the period 1966-68.

Classroom and laboratory facilities under construction or recently completed in 1967 included the auditorium addition to Kildee Hall, animal and poultry science building; Bessey Hall, plant sciences building; a major addition to the Physics Building; Carver Hall, a classroom and office building; and the second major addition to the Library Building.

Additions to the University residence system, totaling $18.1 million in 1966-68, provided housing for 1,800 single men students, 741 single women students, and 800 married student families.

Iowa State continues to carry substantial responsibilities in various international educational exchange programs. In 1967 there were more than 600 persons from other nations studying or working on the Ames campus, and the University was administering special programs of assistance in India, Peru, Uruguay, Brazil, and Mexico.

Academic Standards

In general, requirements for freshman admission to Iowa State are that the student be in the upper half of his high school graduating class, take the American College Testing Program (ACT) tests, or the College Entrance Examination Board tests and present the credits necessary to meet requirements for the curriculum he has selected.

Students residing outside Iowa may be asked to meet higher standards.

Detailed regulations have been set forth by the Iowa Board of Regents.

The records of entering freshmen, including test results, show that Iowa State attracts students of unusually high caliber.

The University's enrollment is expected to continue to increase significantly, because of the increasing numbers of high school graduates and the increasing percentage of those high school graduates entering college.

Iowa State now enrolls about 20 percent of the students attending the 51 universities, colleges and junior colleges in Iowa.

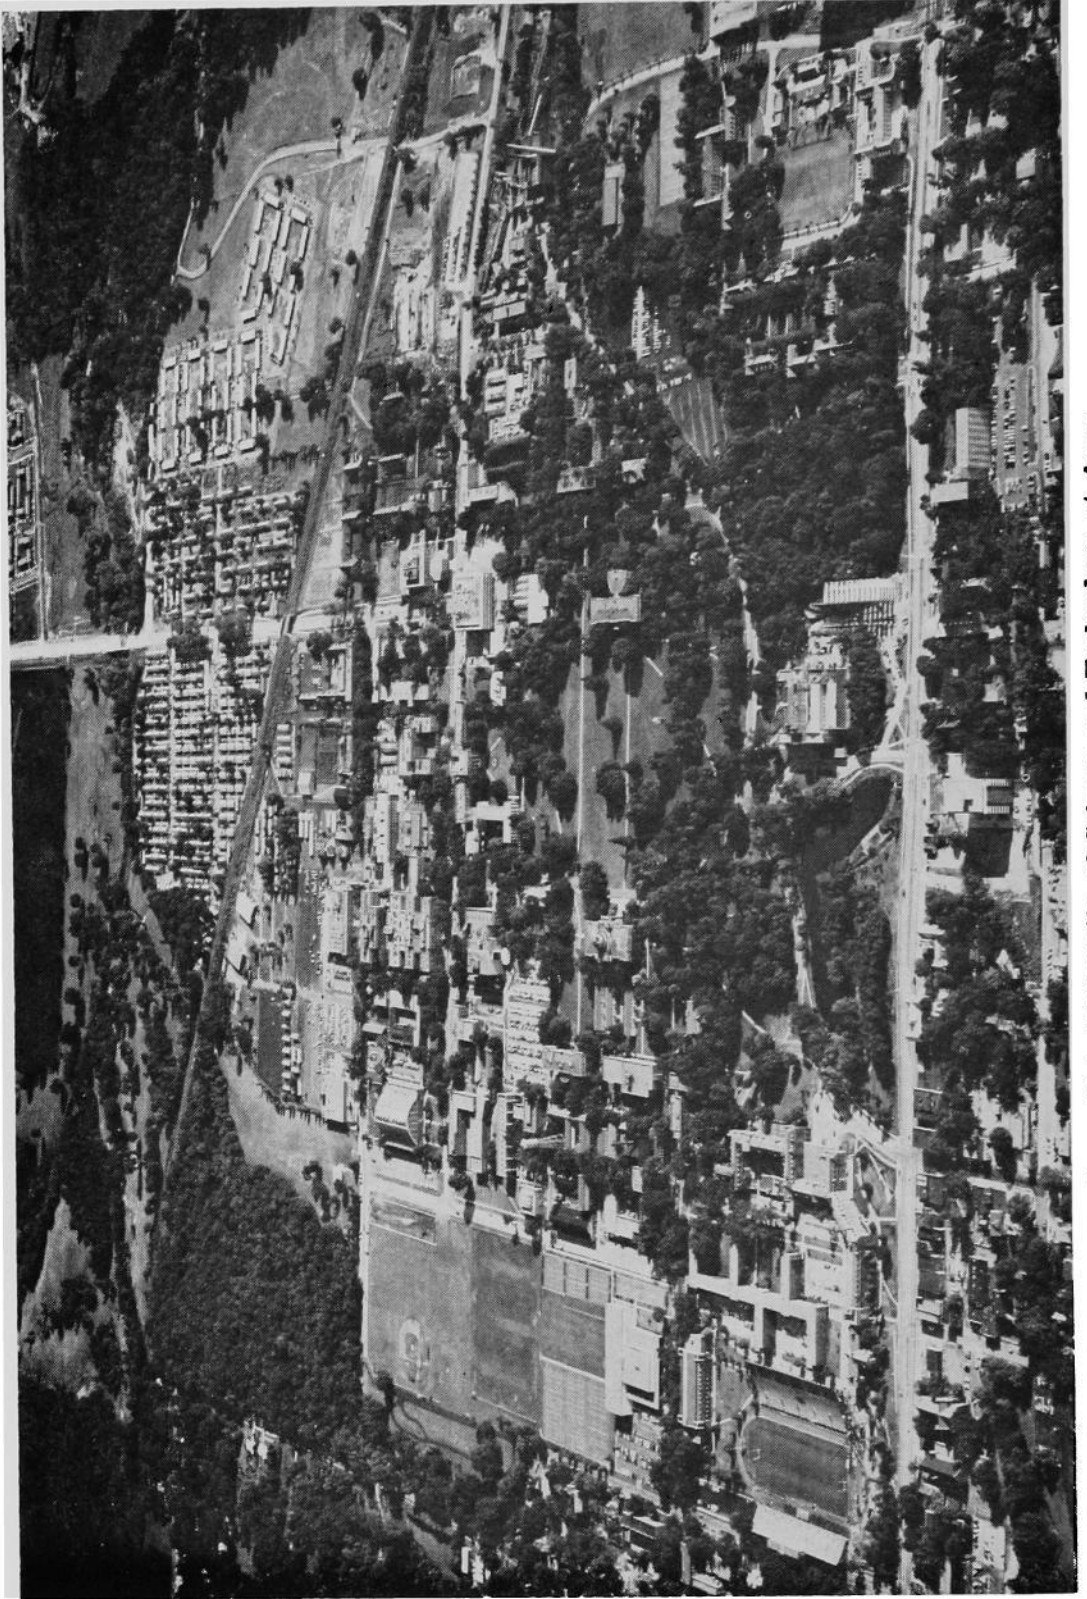

The Campus

Iowa State is noted for the beauty of its open, tree-shaded campus, a 1,000-acre area in which a "great central lawn" provides a park-like setting for the limestone buildings which face it. There are additional areas for research nearby, and others located throughout the state.

The Curricula

Iowa State now offers the following curricula, leading to the Bachelor of Science degree:

University of Northern Iowa

(Formerly State College of Iowa)

Cedar Falls

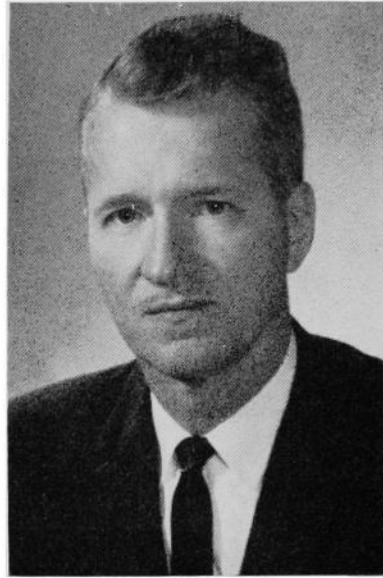

The Sixty-Second General Assembly approved the recommendation of the Iowa State Board of Regents that on July 1, 1967, the State College of Iowa at Cedar Falls become a university and that the name be the University of Northern Iowa. The legislative act described the function of the University as follows:

"The University shall offer undergraduate and graduate courses of instruction, conduct research and provide extension and other public services in the areas of its competence to facilitate the social, cultural and economic development of Iowa. Its primary responsibility shall be to prepare teachers and other educational personnel for schools, colleges and universities and to carry out research and provide consultative and other services for the improvement of education throughout the state. In addition, it shall conduct programs of instruction, research and service in the liberal and vocational arts and sciences and offer such other educational programs as the State Board of Regents may from time to time approve."

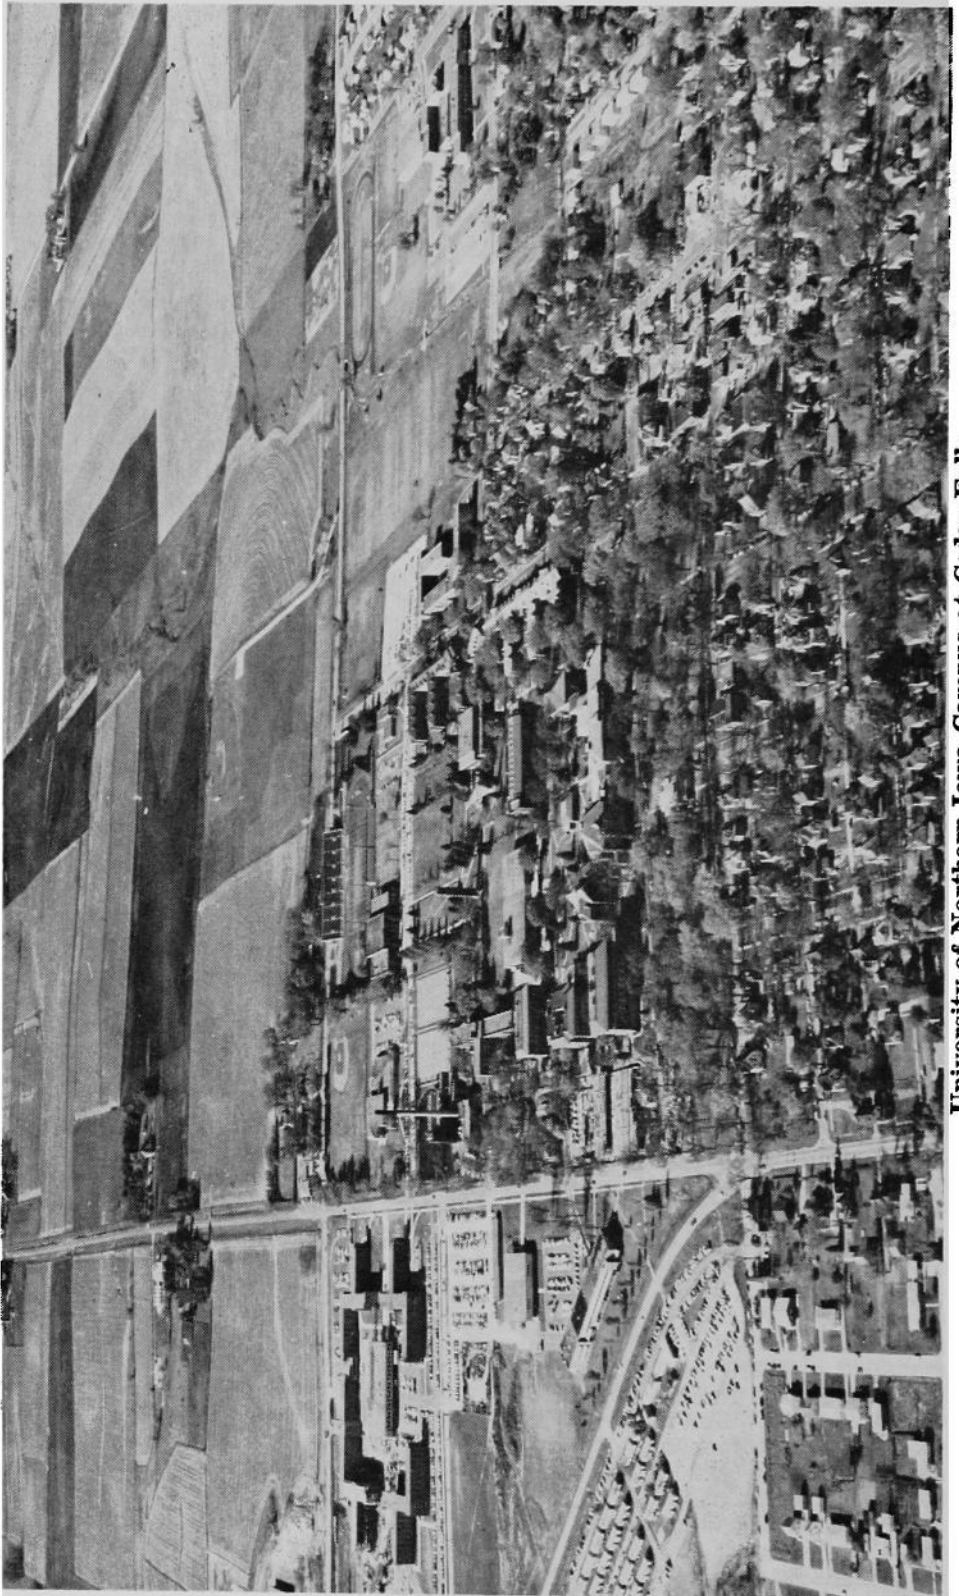

The change to university status will result in (1) increasing attention to research and services, particularly in the field of education, and (2) major changes in the administrative organization of the institution. Ultimately, it will probably result in the offering of a broader curriculum and greater emphasis on graduate work.

Beginning July 1, 1968, the instructional departments will be grouped into four colleges: Humanities and the Fine Arts, Behavioral Sciences and Business, Science, and Education. Each of these will be administered by a dean. A graduate college is also to be established. Several instructional departments, such as science, that have become so large that they are difficult for one person to administer, are to be split into their separate disciplines, such as physics, chemistry and biological science. The increased responsibilities of several of the top administrators will be reflected by a change of titles, also.

The University of Northern Iowa has grown in enrollment from 3,600 in the fall of 1960 to over 7,400 in the fall of 1966. An enrollment of approximately 8,300 is expected for the fall of 1967 and a continued rise, at a somewhat slower rate, is anticipated during the next decade. The students are mostly residents of Iowa—less than 3 percent from other states or countries, and about 65 percent of the full-time students (approximately 80 percent of the women and 50 percent of the men) live on campus in University owned residence halls. About 53 percent of the students are women and 11 percent of the students are married. About one-third of the students are from farms or small towns, another third from towns of 2,000-8,000, and remainder from larger cities. Over 80 percent of the students plan careers in education and four out of five of these begin their teaching careers in the schools of Iowa. Approximately 60 percent of the graduates continue their education in graduate schools and many ultimately earn a doctor's degree.

President J. W. Maucker

University of Northern Iowa Campus at Cedar Falls

The instructional and administrative staff numbers over 500 and the nonacademic staff over 200. The teaching faculty is composed of 25 percent instructors, 40 percent assistant professors, 17 percent associate professors, and 18 percent professors. About 40 percent of those who teach college-level classes have the doctor's degree.

The university campus school, the Malcolm Price Laboratory School, offers work from pre-school through the twelfth grade, and provides an excellent facility where the students in the teacher education program may observe and participate in classroom activities. The school is also a laboratory for research and experimentation in teaching techniques and materials.

The institution had its origin in an act of the Sixteenth General Assembly creating the Iowa State Normal School and instruction began on September 6, 1876 in the building formerly used as a state-supported orphanage for children of the veterans of the Civil War. In 1904, the institution was authorized to grant the bachelor's degree and in 1909 the name of the institution was changed to the Iowa State Teachers College.

In the early years of the institution many of the students were not high school graduates nor did they plan to attend college four years. Many were on campus to prepare for the county examinations, successful completion of which led to a certificate to teach in the one-room rural schools. Others were enrolled in a one-year rural or a two-year curriculum. In the 1920's and 1930's women students made up 75 percent of the student body and nearly half of the students were on the two-year elementary curriculum. By 1960 the minimum requirement in Iowa for a certificate to begin to teach was completion of a four-year curriculum. And, by that date the increasing salaries paid to public school teachers was attracting many more men into the profession. The enrollment of men students increased much more rapidly than women, resulting in a highly desirable even division of men and women in the student body.

In 1952, graduate work leading to a master's degree was begun and in 1960 the institution was authorized to offer the second year of graduate work and the Specialist in Education degree. In 1961, the State Legislature broadened the function of the institution by permitting it to offer programs of instruction in the liberal and vocational arts and changed the name of the institution to the State College of Iowa.

(1) Undergraduate Education

Teacher education remains the primary function of the university and almost every course that is offered is one that is needed by teachers or school service personnel. The very nature of a good program for the preparation of teachers requires both breadth and depth in the instructional program and makes it feasible to offer a strong program in the liberal arts and sciences and certain curricula in the vocational technical areas. There are two basic differences between curricula in teacher education and those in liberal arts and the vocational-technical areas, namely, the fact that the latter curricula: (1) do not require the work in professional education courses and student teaching needed for teacher certification, and (2) requires only 124 semester hours for graduation instead of the 130 required on teacher education programs.

The university seeks to guarantee a reasonable breadth in each of its graduates by a common general education requirement. This amount to approximately 42 percent of each four-year curriculum and consists of work in the humanities, social sciences, mathematics and science, psychology, physical education and communication skills. Most of the courses in this program are required of each student unless he can demonstrate adequate competency in the area.

Each student is required to develop an area of specialization, such as mathematics, business, music, physical education, etc., and this constitutes from one fourth to nearly half of the four year program.

For those in teacher education, a sequence of courses in professional education and a half-semester of full-time student teaching is required. This amounts to about 18 percent of the four-year program for those students who plan to teach in secondary schools, and 34 percent of the four-year program for those planning careers as elementary teachers.

In the fiscal year 1966-67, a total of 961 were awarded the bachelor's degree and approximately 85 percent of these were for students completing teacher education curricula.

(2) Graduate Education

The University offers three graduate degrees: The Master of Arts, the Master of Arts in Education, and the Specialist in Education. A number of curricula, leading to the Master of Arts degree, are available to provide graduate training for classroom teachers in the elementary or secondary school or the junior college, or for the people interested in additional education who do not plan to teach. The following curricula are available: art, biology, business, business education, chemistry, counseling, English, geography, history, industrial arts, mathematics, music, physical education, physics, political science, science, social science, speech and speech correction. The program is highly flexible; the specific curriculum for each student being prescribed by the student's undergraduate background, his experience, and his future plans. There were 101 Master of Arts degrees awarded in the fiscal year 1966-67.

The Master of Arts in Education degree is awarded for the satisfactory completion of the graduate curricula in elementary education, school administration and supervision, student personnel services, educational psychology, special education, and to students in the field of secondary school or junior college teaching who wish to include in their graduate program in an academic area a core of courses in professional education. There were 118 Master of Arts in Education awarded in fiscal year 1966-67.

The Specialist in Education degree requires a minimum of two years of graduate study and is designed for such specialists in the fields of education or school superintendents, curriculum specialists, educational psychologists, school psychologists, college student personnel services and supervisors of industrial arts and business education.

The program is open to students who have the master's degree and at least one year of teaching experience.

(3) Service Responsibilities

The college feels that it has a definite responsibility to assist school administrators and teachers throughout the state with instructional and administrative problems. To do this, many conferences are held on the campus each year; pamphlets, monographs, and books are published and distributed at cost; staff members serve as consultants at workshops and conferences; radio and television programs are broadcast each week; and extension classes and correspondence study are made available to teachers in service. The college owns and operates an FM-radio station, the equipment for which was purchased from funds donated by alumni and friends of the college. The FM station is on the air four hours a day, five days a week.

Most significant is the program of consultant services to the schools of the state. Under this program, staff members are relieved of their regular departmental duties for a semester and are scheduled to visit schools which have asked for assistance. In addition to the aid given to the school system, this program provides an excellent opportunity for members of the college staff to keep in touch with the public schools.

Increasingly, the institution has widened the area of its services to include business and industries. Several staff members in the field of distributive education devote their full time to consultant work and in-service education work with business people throughout the state. Workshops and conferences are organized for special business and industrial groups and special noncredit courses are offered for such people.

The four-year college program is accredited by the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools. Northwestern's adult education activities include evening school and summer school programs. As a church-related college, Northwestern stresses a Christian education in all curricular and co-curricular activities. Students during recent years come from a wide geographical area including several foreign nations. In the last few years several new buildings have been constructed on the expanding 40-acre campus. Palmer College of Chiropractic

The Palmer College of Chiropractic was founded at Davenport, Iowa, in 1895. It has had continuous operation in the city for more than 67 years. The Founder was Dr. Daniel David Palmer, who created the college after years of intensive study and research.

Today, a little more than a half-century later, there are more than 23,000 practicing chiropractors, more than 40 million chiropractic patients, and the profession has recognition in more than 88 different jurisdictions. There are fifteen accredited chiropractic colleges, with several thousand students enrolled each year.

The practice of chiropractic is a splendid profession, providing both an opportunity to help millions of patients who are physically ill, and an excellent livelihood for men and women who are willing to complete the stringent course of study and pass the examinations required for practice.

Pre-eminent among the accredited colleges which provide this training is the Palmer College of Chiropractic. The College has remained the alma mater and fountainhead of the profession through the years. About a thousand students are now enrolled, and the major portion of all practicing chiropractors across the world are numbered among its graduates.

Parsons College, Fairfield

Parsons College has received recognition as the fastest-growing college in Mid-America. The college was incorporated in 1875 after the endowment of 3,560 acres from the estate of Lewis B. Parsons, a successful merchant from New York. Since that time, Parsons College has offered a liberal arts education of high quality. Recently Parsons was ranked in 77th place as to the number of its graduates listed in "Who's Who in America."

History of Iowa

By William J. Petersen

Superintendent, the State Historical Society of Iowa and Professor of Iowa History at the State University of Iowa

Long before the coming of the white man the ancestors of the Indian roamed the land that is now Iowa. Frequently referred to as Mound Builders, these shadowy inhabitants are best commemorated in the Effigy Mound National Park above McGregor. Dr. Charles R. Keyes, who served for 30 years as state archeologist, identified at least six different prehistoric cultures—the Algonkian, Hopewell, Oneota, Mill Creek, Effigy Mound, and Glenwood. The Algonkian culture was found over nine-tenths of Iowa, while the other five were more localized—the Hopewell, Oneota, and Mound Builders being largely in eastern Iowa, the Glenwood in southwest Iowa and the Mill Creek in northwest Iowa. Evidence of their presence in Iowa is recorded in village sites, cave and rock shelters, shell heaps, mounds, cemeteries, trails, spirit places, rock carvings and paintings, stone dams or fish traps, flint and hematite quarries, boulder effigies, caches, workshops, and enclosures.

The Indian who roamed Iowa in historic times knew little or nothing about these ancient people. Almost a score of tribes belonging to three different linguistic stocks have been associated with the Iowa country since the advent of the white man. The Ioway, Winnebago, Osage, Oto, Missouri, Omaha, Ponca, Sisseton, and Wahpeton were tribes belonging to the Dakota or Siouan Linguistic Stock or Family. They are commonly referred to as Plains Indians. Their bitter enemies were the Woodland or canoe people—members of the Sauk, Fox, Mascoutin, Illinois, Chippewa (Ojibway), Miami, Ottawa, and Potawatomi tribes. These were members of the Algonquian Linguistic Stock or Family. The Iroquoian stock is only remotely associated with Iowa, being mainly responsible for driving other tribes from the Michigan, Ohio, and Indiana area west of the Mississippi into Iowa.

The French in Iowa

The written history of Iowa begins on June 17, 1673, when Joliet and Marquette and their five rugged voyageurs paddled out of the Wisconsin River and into the Mississippi opposite present-day McGregor. Eight days later, on June 25, Joliet and Marquette met the Illinois Indians near the mouth of the Iowa River. It was the first meeting between the white man and the Indians on Iowa soil.

The French lost no time in exploring the vast wilderness drained by the Mississippi and its tributaries. In 1680 LaSalle sent an expedition under Michel Aco to discover the headwaters of the Mississippi. Aco and his two companions, Father Hennepin and Antoine Auguel, were captured by the Sioux Indians above the mouth of the Wisconsin River but were later released and fled down the Mississippi. Another Frenchman, Nicholas Perrot, taught the Miami Indians how to mine lead in the Galena-Dubuque area and hunted buffalo with them in Iowa. Perrot was the first white man to meet and describe the Ioway Indians. Lahontan and LeSueur left records of their exploits, and William DesLisle drew an amazingly accurate map of Louisiana in 1718 showing the first river-to-river road across Iowa from the mouth of the Wisconsin to the Big Sioux River. DesLisle located Ioway Indian villages on Lake Okoboji and the Big Sioux. The expedition of Joseph Des Noyelles with 80 French soldiers and their Indian allies against the Sauk and Fox Indians ended in a pitched battle at the Raccoon Fork of the Des Moines on April 19, 1735.

Spain in Iowa . . .

The Spanish Period covers a scant four decades from 1762 to 1800. Jonathan Carver and Peter Pond, two Connecticut Yankees who visited northeast Iowa in 1766 and 1773 respectively, were the first to appear during the Spanish regime. Jean Marie Cardinal mined lead in the Dubuque area during the Revolutionary War and actually lost his life in the defense of St. Louis. Thereafter, Spain assumed control and made three land grants in Iowa—to Julien Dubuque in 1796, to Louis Honore Tesson in 1799, and to Basil Giard in 1800. Dubuque was the only permanent settler in the Spanish Period, living at the mouth of Catfish Creek from 1788 until his death in 1810.

Louisiana Purchase

In 1800 Spain retroceded the land west of the Mississippi to France. Napoleon in turn sold it to Jefferson in 1803. One hundred and thirty years had passed under French and Spanish rule since the discovery of Iowa by Joliet and Marquette, but a scant score of names are remembered in history. On March 26, 1804, Congress provided for the government of the newly acquired territory by dividing it into two separate jurisdictions—the Territory of Orleans and the District of Louisiana. The Iowa country formed a part of the District of Louisiana, which was placed under the jurisdiction of the Governor and Judges of the Territory of Indiana. In 1805 Iowa became a part of the Territory of Louisiana, in 1812 it was a part of Missouri Territory, and in 1821, when Missouri was admitted into the Union, Iowa was left unorganized territory without government of any kind.

Exploration of the Iowa country promptly followed the Louisiana Purchase. Lewis and Clark ascended the Missouri in 1804, requiring 33 days to pass along the western border of Iowa. Sergeant Charles Floyd, the only man to die on this expedition, was buried on the present site of Sioux City. In 1805 Pike ascended the Upper Mississippi, recommending the present site of Burlington and the bluff below McGregor as suitable locations for military posts. Other notable Americans explored Iowaland: Stephen H. Long, Henry R. Schoolcraft, and Stephen Watts Kearny were outstanding military men. Manuel Lisa was a Missouri River fur trader, while George Catlin spent eight years painting pictures of Indians on the Upper Mississippi and Missouri frontier. Caleb Atwater, G. C. Beltrami, Nicollet, Father DeSmet, Marryat, Murray, and Fredrika Bremer left eye-witness accounts of Iowaland more than a century ago. As a result of Kearny's Dragoon expedition of 1835, Lieutenant Albert Miller Lea wrote his Notes on the Wisconsin Territory: Particularly with Reference to the Iowa District or Black Hawk Purchase. Published in Philadelphia in 1836, this was the first book dealing specifically with Iowa. In the years that followed, John Plumbe, Jr., Isaac Galland, John B. Newhall and a dozen others published books that focused the attention of millions on Iowa.

Forts in Iowa . . .

The presence of the Indian and the fur trader led to the establishment of forts in the Iowa country. Fort Madison, the first American fort in Iowa, was erected in 1808 and evacuated and burned in 1813. Fort Edwards, located opposite the mouth of the Des Moines River, was erected in 1815. Fort Armstrong was erected on Rock Island in 1816, and Fort Crawford at Prairie du Chien the same year. Fort Des Moines No. 1 was built on the present site of Montrose by Colonel Kearny in 1834. Fort Atkinson, Fort Dodge, Fort Des Moines No. 2, Fort Sanford, and Fort Crogan are other military establishments associated with early Iowa history.

The Western Engineer made the first steamboat voyage up the Missouri as far as present-day Council Bluffs in 1819, while the Virginia ascended the Mississippi to Fort Snelling in 1823. Ten years later, on June 1, 1833, permanent settlement began in Iowa. Iowa was attached to Michigan Territory for purposes of government in 1834, and formed a part of the newly-created Wisconsin Territory in 1836. The first federal census showed 10,531 inhabitants in the Black Hawk Purchase that year.

Iowa As a Territory

On July 4, 1838, the Territory of Iowa was born, with Robert Lucas serving as first governor. The territory was named by Albert M. Lea in 1836 from the Iowa River, which derived its title from the Ioway Indians. Twenty-two counties containing 23,242 inhabitants had been established west of the Mississippi in the Black Hawk Purchase and other Indian cessions in 1838. Between 1833 and 1838, churches were founded, schools, academies, and seminaries established, newspapers published, and a bank opened. The first public surveys were begun in 1837, and two land offices established the following year at Burlington and Dubuque.

Statehood!

Scarcely had the Territory of Iowa been established when a clamor arose for statehood. In 1844 a constitution was adopted featuring low salaries, limited indebtedness and restrictions on banks and corporations. Congress refused to accept the boundaries requested by the people in 1844, and they in turn rejected those proposed by Congress. A new constitution with the present-day boundaries (embracing 56,147 square miles) was adopted in 1846. Iowa was admitted into the Union as the first free state in the Louisiana Purchase on Dec. 28, 1846.

Politics . . .

Democrats dominated state politics between 1846 and 1854. Ansel Briggs was elected first governor, and A. C. Dodge and George W. Jones were named United States senators. A steady flow of northern immigrants during the 1850's, coupled with the successful campaign of dynamic James W. Grimes in 1854, swept the Whigs into office. Two years later Grimes founded the Republican Party in Iowa. Subsequently Dodge and Jones were defeated, the Constitution of 1857 was adopted, and the capital moved from Iowa City to Des Moines. Ralph P. Lowe became the first Republican governor in 1858. Only five Democrats—Horace Boies (1890-94), Clyde Herring (1933-37), Nelson Kraschel (1937-1939), Herschel Loveless (1957-1961), and Harold E. Hughes (1963-)—have served as governors in the intervening one hundred years that were marked largely by Republican chief executives.

The names of many Iowans are written boldly in the annals of the Republican party. James W. Grimes, James Harlan, Samuel J. Kirkwood, William Boyd Allison, Jonathan P. Dolliver, and Albert B. Cummins achieved high distinction in their day. Allison served 36 years in the United States Senate. Among the Representatives the names of C. C. Dowell, Gilbert N. Haugen, J. A. T. Hull, William P. Hepburn, and David B. Henderson loom large. In addition to these legislators, Iowans have achieved high rank in the councils of the nation: 15 have served in presidents' cabinets, Henry A. Wallace was elected vice president, and Herbert Hoover gained the presidency.

Although Republicans dominated state politics, there have been occasional revolts. These revolts have come mainly from the tillers of the soil. Iowa is an agricultural state. Farmers drew up the constitution of 1846, formed the first agricultural societies in 1852, held the first state fair in 1854, formed an agricultural college in 1858, and established in 1877 a society that grew into the Iowa state dairy association. When hard times came, however, thousands of Iowa farmers deserted the Republican party to support third-party movements. James B. Weaver was twice nominated for the presidency and the Granger and Populist movements won strong support.

Iowa and War

The settlement of Iowa grew out of the Black Hawk War. Iowa men fought gallantly in the Mexican War. Such names as Buena Vista, Butler, Cerro Gordo, Guthrie, Hardin, Mills, Palo Alto, Ringgold, and Taylor commemorate famous men and battles.

Iowa furnished almost 80,000 men in the Civil War. Her troops were especially prominent in such battles as Wilson's Creek, Pea Ridge, Shiloh, Iuka, Corinth, the siege of Vicksburg, the capture of Fort Donelson, and Sherman's march to the sea. Over 12,000 Iowa men were killed, 9,000 wounded, and another 10,000 discharged because of ill-health.

Iowa men served with equal distinction in the Spanish-American War, World War I, World War II, and the Korean conflict. Veterans from these wars have played an important role in state and local politics. At its peak, the G.A.R. counted 20,324 members, whereas the American Legion numbered over 44,000 members before World War II.

Transportation—Communication

Steamboats plied the Upper Mississippi and the Missouri before the opening of white settlement in 1833. In 1848 the telegraph reached Iowa; in 1854 the first railroad reached the Mississippi opposite Davenport; in 1856 the first bridge spanned the Father of Waters between Rock Island and Davenport. The North Western was the first railroad to reach Council Bluffs, the first bridge to span the Missouri was built at that point. Railroad mileage reached its peak in 1914 with over 10,000 miles of track in Iowa.

Telephone construction in Iowa began about 1878. Today almost every farm in Iowa can boast a telephone. The introduction of the automobile around the opening of the 20th century was followed by actual horseless carriage manufacture in Iowa.

Religion and Education

The first church in Iowa was erected by the Methodists at Dubuque in 1834. By 1838 the Baptists, Congregationalists, Quakers, Presbyterians, and Roman Catholics had established churches. Inspired Christian leaders are associated with the Iowa story, many notable names being associated with the numerous academies, seminaries, and colleges that dotted the state during the 19th century. Iowa Wesleyan College, established in 1842, is the oldest collegiate institution in Iowa, and Grinnell College is the second oldest college. A score of other denominational schools supported by church-going citizens who have often expressed their faith in the temperance movement and moral crusades, attest Iowa's claim to the title of "Corn and Bible Commonwealth." In addition to denominational colleges, the State University of Iowa at Iowa City, Iowa State University at Ames, the University of Northern Iowa at Cedar Falls, and 16 public junior colleges afford Iowa children an opportunity to receive collegiate training.

Iowa's richest asset over the years has been its crop of fine children. These have grown and achieved fame as artists and actors, baseball players and billiard players, musicians and novelists, architects and industrialists, preachers and poets, statesmen, scientists and scholars. Whether serving in their home town, their state, in the nation, or in some far-flung corner of the world, these sons and daughters of Iowa demonstrate by their actions and accomplishments the truth of Sidney Foster's toast to his native state in 1886: "In all that is good, Iowa affords the best."

The Indians in Iowa

The Mesquakie Indians who are residents and voters in Iowa number around 500. Iowa was for many years the cherished home of their ancestors and friends.

They own, as a tribe or family, 3,600 acres of land in the Iowa River valley in Tama County. This is their collective farm, bought by them with their own money, managed and cultivated by them, on which they live, where they study and have their religious services. The State of Iowa many years ago by law gave them authority to own tribal land and property and the title is held in trust for them. They pay taxes and those qualified are voters.

They have a genuine democratic government for themselves, elect a council of managers, and the council has a chief or president. They have a school and all of the younger people can write the English language. Some of the older ones have never learned other than their own language, which is used by all of them.

The Mesquakie tribe is of the Algonquin family. They formerly lived on the Atlantic coast, then moved westward through New York and Canada and in Wisconsin in the early fur trading days, they formed a federation with their kinsmen, the Sacs, or Saukies. The Mesquakies were called by the traders Reynards or Foxes and their name means the "people of the red earth." A century ago they lived in several camps along the Mississippi River, then moved into the Des Moines valley, followed the agency and army to Raccoon forks, and departed from Des Moines when Iowa was admitted as a state.

Some of the Mesquakies so loved their homes in Iowa that they gave up their government payments and returned from their southwestern reservations. The state gave them permission to live in Iowa as a tribe, and with money received in settlement with the government they bought their present lands.

On their Tama County farm they live in comfortable houses and dress, in the main, as their white neighbors. Formerly the head men resisted efforts at educating the young, but now they go to school and are apt scholars. They keep their wickiups, not to live in, but for their visits and ceremonies. They also have one large tribal hall in which they hold their religious ceremonies regularly, several services each week conducted in their own language by their own leaders and preserving their own forms of worship.

They are quite skillful in various industries—weaving, basket making, bead work and in leather. One-third of the land is cultivated but the remainder is largely rough pasture land. The tribe has a tractor, but uses horses for farm work. They raise cattle, hogs and chickens.

*"Der Tannenbaum" the old air to which this song is sung, was a popular German Students' song as early as 1819. It has been a Volks song long before that, even. During our Civil War, the Southerners adapted it to the song "My Maryland."

Major S.H.M. Byers, in his day the "poet laureate" of Iowa, wrote the words set to music for this official song for the Hawkeye State.

IOWA'S FLAG SONG

By act of the joint session of the General Assembly of Iowa on March 24, 1949, the Iowa Flag poem, written by E. O. Osborn of Knoxville, and the music written by Esther May Clark of Oskaloosa, were officially adopted as the Iowa Flag Song, in honor of the Iowa flag, designed by Mrs. Dixie Cornell Gebhart of Knoxville.

The Birth of Americanism

In 1620 the Pilgrims, persecuted for conscience's sake, "braved the tempests of the vast and furious ocean and the terrors lurking in the American wilderness" to plant their State of Freedom. Even before landing they set up their government by a written Compact; the first charter of a government of the people, by the people and for the people known to history. In the cabin of the Mayflower humanity recovered its rights.

The Compact

Signed in the Cabin of the "Mayflower," Nov. 11th, Old Style, Nov. 21st, New Style, 1620

"In the name of God, amen. We whose names are underwritten, the loyall subjects of our dread sovereigne Lord, King James, by the grace of God, of Great Britaine, Franc and Ireland king, defender of the faith &c, haveing undertaken for the glorie of God, and advancemente of the Christian faith, and honour of our king and countrie, a voyage to plant the first colonie in the northerne parts of Virginia, doe by these presents solemnly and mutuallly in the presence of God, and one of another, covenant and combine ourselves together into a civil body politick, for our better ordering and preservation and furtherance of the ends aforesaid; and by vertue hereof to enacte, constitute and frame such just and equall lawes, ordinances, acts, constitutions and offices, from time to time, as shall be thought most meete and convenient for the general good of the colonie, unto which we promise all due submission and obedience. In witness whereof we have hereunto subscribed our names at Cap-Codd the 11 of November, in the year of the raigne of our sovereigne lord, King James of England, Franc and Ireland the eighteenth, and of Scotland the fifty-fourth. ANo Dom 1620."

This venerable document, the first American State paper.

Thus these men became the First Americans. They believed that God created all men equal; therefore, without other precedent; they made all men equal before the Law. Here was the birth of popular constitutional liberty, foreshadowing our Declaration of Independence and our American Constitution, which guarantees Freedom to all of us today. Tremendous suffering was endured as they grappled with the great unknown. Half their number perished in the struggle of that first terrible Winter. Under cover of darkness, the fast dwindling Company laid their dead; leveling the earth above them lest the Indians should learn how many were the graves.

"History records no nobler venture for Faith and Freedom than that of this Pilgrim band. In weariness and painfulness, in watchings often, in hunger and cold, they laid the foundation of a State wherein every man, through countless ages, should have liberty to worship God in his own way, in perpetuating and spreading, throughout the World, the lofty ideals of our Republic."

The "Mayflower" started with ninety-eight passengers; one was born on the voyage, and four joined them from the ship. Forty-one men signed the "Compact." There were twelve other men, twenty-two women, twenty boys, and eight girls in the company. In December, six died; in January, eight; in February, seventeen; in March, thirteen; making forty-four. Forty-eight are believed to have left descendants.

(Note: November 21st of our calendar is the same as November 11th of the Old Style calendar.)

. . . The Gettysburg Address

The text on the next page was copied from the bronze plaque in the rotunda of the Iowa State Capitol. The address was delivered by President Abraham Lincoln at the Gettysburg Cemetery grounds on November 19, 1863. After the President had delivered his short address, he turned to Marshall Lamon, who had presented him less than five minutes before, and said, "Lamon, that speech won't scour. It is a flat failure."

There are five known copies in President Lincoln's handwriting of the Gettysburg address. The original and second drafts were given by the President to his secretary, John Hay. On April 11, 1916, they were presented to the Government by Colonel Hay's three children.

That Lincoln wrote the address on a rough bit of paper on the way to Gettysburg is an exploded but persistent legend. Actually, the first sheet of the first draft was written in Washington, on Executive Mansion stationery. The corrections and the second page were written in lead pencil, probably at Judge Wills' house in Gettysburg, the night of the 18th.

The second draft, believed to be the reading copy at the dedication ceremony, is assumed to have been written on the 19th, between breakfast and the start to the cemetery. There are changes from the first version, slight matters of punctuation, or a single word—a "that nation" and a "this nation" for "the nation", "consecrated" for "hallowed," "but" for "while," and the like. Lincoln's eye evidently strayed in copying, for "We have come" of the first version was changed to "We are met," then crossed out and the original form restored above it. The first important change is "those who here gave their lives" instead of "those who died here." The sentence, "This we may, in all propriety do," became "It is altogether fitting and proper that we should do this." The entire beginning of the first draft's third paragraph is rephrased. Instead of "It is rather for us, the living, we here be dedicated to the great task remaining before us" ["we here be dedicated" had been corrected in pencil above the scratched-out "to stand here"] Lincoln added a parallel sentence: "It is for us, the living, rather to be dedicated here to the unfinished work which they have, thus far, so nobly carried on. It is rather for us to be here dedicated to the great task remaining before us——".—Data from Library of Congress.

A final addition in the fourth line from the last of the address was made after the word "nation'." The two words are "under God." This final form was placed in the rotunda of the State House by the Department of Iowa, Women's Relief Corps, Auxiliary to the Grand Army of the Republic, February 12, 1927.

. . . The Lincoln Plaque

A plaque hangs in the rotunda of the capitol which includes the complete Gettysburg address. Below is pictured a portion of the plaque, together with the text of the historical address as it appears on the plaque. Further details on opposite page.

Four score and seven years ago, our fathers brought forth on this continent a new nation, conceived in Liberty, and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal.

Now we are engaged in a great civil war, testing whether that nation, or any nation so conceived and so dedicated, can long endure. We are met on a great battlefield of that war, we have come to dedicate a portion of that field as a final resting place for those who here gave their lives that that nation might live. It is altogether fitting and proper that we should do this.

But in a larger sense we can not dedicate—we can not consecrate—we can not hallow—this ground. The brave men, living and dead, who struggled here, have consecrated it far above our poor power to add or detract. The world will little note nor long remember what we say here, but it can never forget what they did here. It is for us, the living, rather to be dedicated here to the unfinished work which they who fought here have thus far so nobly advanced. It is rather for us to be here dedicated to the great task remaining before us—that from these honored dead we take increased devotion to that cause for which they gave the last full measure of devotion; that we here highly resolve that these dead shall not have died in vain; that this nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom; and that government of the people, by the people, for the people, shall not perish from the earth.

Iowa Veterans' Organizations

GRAND ARMY OF THE REPUBLIC

The Grand Army of the Republic was a patriotic and fraternal organization of the Union survivors of the military and naval forces of the Civil War who served between April 12, 1861, and April 9, 1865.

Iowa was one of the first states of the Union to attempt organization of the Grand Army of the Republic, receiving as a department its first charter on July 12, 1866. Its permanent organization dates from Jan. 23, 1879.

There were over 519 posts chartered in Iowa. Membership stood at its peak in 1890 when 52,013 veterans held membership.

Six veterans of the Civil War served as governors of Iowa: Colonel William M. Stone of Knoxville, 1864-1868; Colonel Samuel Merrill of McGregor, 1868-1872; Colonel Cyrus C. Carpenter of Fort Dodge, 1872-1876; Captain Joshua G. Newbold of Mount Pleasant, 1877-1878; Captain Buren R. Sherman of Vinton, 1882-1886; Lieutenant Colonel Francis M. Drake of Centerville, 1896-1898.

To the Grand Army of the Republic goes the credit for having instituted Memorial Day, with all the tender and reverent patriotism which that occasion always reveals, and for having kept alive, in history and story, the brave deeds performed upon the battlefields by many a gallant soldier. To them goes the credit of having preserved the Union at a critical period in its history. Their average age when they fought the war was nineteen.

Nate E. Kendall, former governor of Iowa, was principal speaker at the dedication of the Iowa monument on the battlefield of Shiloh. He eulogized the veterans of that sanguine conflict, when he said: "No soldiery ever entered a field with such noble purpose, and none ever emerged with a record of such glorious accomplishment. When our beloved flag was insulted, when our territorial integrity was threatened, when our national life was imperiled, they promptly responded to the appeal of President Lincoln, and cheerfully embraced self-immolation to secure the perpetuity of the government of the people, by the people and for the people, and to render positive the certainty that the government, after being baptized in the sacred blood of the Revolutionary fathers, should not disappear from the earth, but that it, under God, should have everlasting life.

"And over the graves of the fallen dead the spring has cast its tender violets, the summer its gorgeous field of flowers, the autumn its golden withered leaves, the winter its blanket of snow. All is forgiven, all is forgotten except the glorious results of the combat in which our soldiers were engaged.

"The United States of America! The immortal principles of justice and equity which underlie it! The incomparable benefits which it secures to its citizenship. The inestimable sacrifices which have been suffered to maintain it! It is our home, our country, our beloved government, bequeathed to us forever by the venerated fathers, the most invaluable inheritance ever bestowed upon the sons of men."

The Iowa Department lost its last member in the death on Sept. 20, 1949, of James P. Martin of Sutherland. Thus the last Iowa member of that long line of the Grand Army of the Republic answered "taps" and bivouacked on the eternal camping grounds.

The 55th General Assembly dismantled the G.A.R. room in the capitol and stored the records with the History and Archives department.

SPANISH-AMERICAN WAR

The United Spanish War Veterans came into existence because of the desire to carry on the comradeship that came from their associations in the service with the only 100 per cent volunteer army the world has ever known.

In this organization, the Iowa Department is one of 52 departments and maintains its headquarters in the General Motors Building at East Seventh and Walnut Streets. Mail, however, should be sent to the capitol, from where it will be delivered. At the headquarters office are kept the records of the organization and personnel. Plans are made for the annual encampment, and service is given in claims for pensions for widows and the orphans of deceased veterans. H. L. Hackthorn of Des Moines is state adjutant.

The men who served in Iowa's four regiments of infantry and the two batteries of light artillery numbered 5,696; there were two killed in action, 38 wounded and 163 died of disease.

Out of the war came men who later served their state and national governments in high positions—Dan Turner, Corning, governor, 1931-1933; Joe Hanley, Muscatine, later lieutenant governor of New York state; Lloyd Thurston, Osceola, member of the state legislature, and the U. S. Congress, national commander-in-chief, 1954-1955, United Spanish War Veterans; Horace M. Havner, national commander-in-chief of the United Spanish War Veterans 1947-1948.

The leaders of the American Army in World War I were all veterans of this war. Among them were such men as Matthew A. Tinley, Council Bluffs, colonel of the famous Iowa Regiment, the 168th Infantry, and all of the field officers of that regiment.

The war was the only one fought by an army of this country where the returns were greater than the total cost of the war.

THE AMERICAN LEGION IN IOWA

The American Legion was born in Paris, March 15, 1919. The Legion was launched formally at St. Louis, May 8, 1919, by World War veterans from nearly every state in the Union, who had been selected by temporary secretaries named at the request of Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., who acted under instructions from the Paris caucus.

The first Iowa state convention was held in Des Moines, Sept. 4, 1919. The first national convention of delegates from the newly organized state departments was held in Minneapolis on Armistice Day, 1919.

The American Legion Auxiliary of mothers, wives, sisters and daughters of Legionnaires was organized in 1921.

Hanford MacNider established the IOWA LEGIONNAIRE, with Frank Miles as editor on March 4, 1921. He was succeeded as editor on April 1, 1946, by A. F. Faber who served until Jan. 1, 1965. The present editor is V. J. Maxheim.

The Department of Iowa headquarters is located at Argonne Armory, East First and Des Moines Streets, Des Moines. There are nine districts in Iowa with 658 local posts and an approximate annual membership of 100,000.

The Iowa Department has been the winner of the James A. Drain national community service trophy for the past 26 consecutive years.

Iowa has been in the national American Legion's Big Ten Department since 1934.

The Iowa Department stresses the national program of Americanism, national security, child welfare and rehabilitation, in addition to many youth programs to develop good citizenship.

Iowa has contributed leadership to the national organization by having had three outstanding national commanders, General Hanford MacNider of Mason City, J. Ray Murphy, formerly of Ida Grove, and Donald E. Johnson of West Branch.

The Iowa Department has provided three national chaplains for The American Legion: Msgr. Edward Smith, Sioux City; Msgr. Pat N. McDermott, Atlantic; and Father Albert J. Hoffmann, Dubuque.

Two Iowans have served as national vice-commanders: G. M. Brown, Whiting, and V. J. Maxheim, Clinton.

THE DISABLED AMERICAN VETERANS IN IOWA

The Disabled American Veterans, commonly known as the D. A. V., was organized nationally in 1920 by groups of disabled veterans then undergoing vocational training courses, and chartered by Congress in 1932, to render service to, for and by disabled veterans. The D. A. V. has, ever since its inception, been the spokesman for the disabled war veterans of America, in Congress and before its various committees as well as before the Veterans Administration and its local regional offices and facilities.

During 1920 and 1921 the first three chapters of the Iowa department were organized in the vocational training centers at Des Moines, Iowa City and Ames. The department of Iowa D. A. V. held its first state convention in 1922 at Iowa City.

The Disabled American Veterans in Iowa have grown to 32 chapters and over 3,000 members. The national service officer in Iowa is Buford L. Phillips, located at 603-604 Federal Building, Fourth and Walnut, Des Moines. The state headquarters are in Des Moines. The address is P.O. Box 793 and the adjutant and business manager is Buford L. Phillips.

AMERICAN VETERANS OF WORLD WAR II

The American Veterans of World War II, commonly known as the AMVETS, were organized nationally in September, 1944, at Kansas City, Mo. The AMVETS were granted a national charter by an act of Congress and President Truman signed the measure on July 23, 1947. AMVETS is the only nationally chartered World War II veterans' organization.

AMVETS got their start in Iowa at Atlantic in 1944, and were incorporated as the Iowa Department of AMVETS on May 2, 1945. The first state convention was held in Des Moines in 1947. AMVETS were recognized as a nationally chartered World War II veterans' organization by the Iowa legislature in March, 1949, and entered as such in the Iowa Code.

The AMVETS principles are (1) to promote world peace, (2) to perpetuate the American way of life, (3) to help the veteran help himself.

The AMVETS have a national and state auxiliary comprised of the wives, mothers and sisters of World War II veterans.

The Iowa Department headquarters are located at 406 East Fourth Street, Ankeny, Iowa, with Ben C. Kroma as executive director. Currently the Iowa Department has 70 AMVET posts covering all parts of Iowa, and is the third largest AMVET department in the nation.

Ed Corry, formerly of Des Moines, now of Chicago, a past state commander, was national commander. Ed Gallagher of Waterloo, past state commander, was president of the AMVETS national service foundation for several years. Herbert Bennett of Fort Dodge, also a past state commander, served as president of the AMVETS national convention corporation for several terms. Charles Scherrer of Dubuque, also a former state commander, is a member of the AMVETS national personnel committee. Lee Larson of Havelock, also a past state commander, is the national executive committeeman from Iowa. Leo White, a Des Moines accountant, was the 1964-1965 state commander.

Iowa AMVETS assemble in convention each year to elect new officers. The fiscal year begins in September and ends in August. Any person who served actively in the armed forces any length of time between Sept. 16, 1940, and Jan. 31, 1955, when cessation of hostilities was formally proclaimed, is eligible to become a member.

IOWA VETERANS OF FOREIGN WARS

The Veterans of Foreign Wars, Department of Iowa, was granted its charter by the national organization on May 28, 1921. Its objects are fraternal, patriotic, historical and educational; to preserve and strengthen comradeship among its members and to assist worthy comrades; to perpetuate the memory and history of its dead, and to assist their widows and orphans; to maintain true allegiance to the government of the United States and fidelity to its constitution and laws. V. F. W. is composed only of American men who have served honorably in the army, navy, marine corps or coast guard of the United States, in hostile waters or on foreign soil during any foreign war, insurrection, or expedition.

Veterans of Foreign Wars has a Ladies Auxiliary of mothers, wives, sisters and daughters, and a fraternal order consisting of the Military Order of Cooties of V. F. W. members.

The Department of Iowa, consisting of 174 posts, has its headquarters at 3601 Beaver Avenue, Des Moines 50310.

IOWA STATE ASSOCIATION RAINBOW DIVISION VETERANS

While the 42nd Division was serving as a part of the Army of Occupation along the Rhine River, in Germany, a universal desire arose to perpetuate in civil life the bond of wartime comradeship by forming an organization of all Rainbow veterans. During March 1919, the call for a convention went out to all units of the Rainbow Division and as a result, representatives from each of the divisional units met in the city of Bad Neuenahr, Germany. There was formed the "Rainbow Division Veterans."

The 168th Iowa Infantry commanded by Colonel Mathew A. Tinley was a unit in the Rainbow Division and upon return of the regiment to its home state of Iowa, immediate plans were formulated to establish Rainbow Veterans chapters. The first chapter was formed in Des Moines, followed by Sioux City, Council Bluffs, Creston and Waterloo. The Des Moines chapter was the principal chapter, the others carried on as sub-chapters. As the years passed by and a greater interest developed among veterans of the Rainbow Division, the Iowa State Association Rainbow Division Veterans was formed in Des Moines, in March 1936. The Des Moines chapter became the Col. E. R. Bennett Chapter, Council Bluffs the Mathew A. Tinley Chapter, Sioux City the Northwest Iowa Chapter, Waterloo the Cedar Valley Chapter, while the Creston Chapter continued under that name. Other chapters were formed in Ottumwa; Cedar Rapids; in Mason City the North Iowa Chapter; Oskaloosa; and the Douglas MacArthur Chapter in Red Oak. The Iowa association is a member of the National Association Rainbow Division, which has its national headquarters in Roanoke, Virginia. Col. Mathew A. Tinley of Council Bluffs and Homer W. Gardner of Des Moines, both have served as president of the national association.

The national association holds its annual reunion July 12, 13, 14 of each year; the Iowa state association meets annually in March. The Rainbow Division was re-activated at Camp Gruber, Oklahoma in July of 1943 and those who served with the division in World War II are also eligible for membership. Iowa contributed 3,600 National Guardsmen to the division in World War I and 750 in World War II. The organization is the most closely knit of any American division that served in both World War I and World War II. It has chapters in 36 states with a total paid membership of 7,000 and a full time national secretary. It permits Rainbow comradeship in civil life, a most fitting memorial to the Rainbow dead, and a rich heritage to its descendants. The Iowa Rainbow Auxiliary is active in community services, visitation to Veterans' administration hospitals and has the largest membership in the national association.

CHINA-BURMA-INDIA VETERANS ASSOCIATION

The Carl F. Moershel Basha of Iowa was organized in Des Moines in November, 1952, and is for China-Burma-India veterans of World War II. The late Mr. Moershel, of Homestead, was one of the fourteen Iowans who started the Iowa Basha. (Basha is an Indian word for house or hut.) Mr. Moershel had served in India as a lieutenant colonel with the Tenth Air Force.

There are 500 former China-Burma-India veterans on the Iowa mailing list. National headquarters for this organization are in Milwaukee, Wis. National reunions are held each year, and Iowa was host to the 1960 reunion in Cedar Rapids.

Iowa meetings are held twice a year in different cities. The national charter for the Iowa Basha is on display at the Ox Yoke Inn at Amana, as the owner of this restaurant is a CBI veteran and most state spring meetings have been held there.

Darwin Carlile of Perry was the first state commander. Neil Maurer of Laurens edits the national paper, ex-CBI Roundup, which goes to CBI veterans in all states. Iowans who have served as national CBIVA officers are Donald Doyle of Sioux City, judge advocate, and Rav Alderson of Dubuque and William Liechsenring of Amaha, junior vice commanders.

HAWKEYE BOYS STATE AND GIRLS STATE

The Iowa Department of The American Legion annual Hawkeye Boys State is held in June at Camp Dodge, Iowa. Based on limitation as to housing facilities 768 high school juniors are chosen by the local American Legion posts to attend this one week schooling in the duties, privileges, rights and responsibilities of American citizenship.

Likewise, each year 304 girls completing their junior or third year of senior high school attend Hawkeye Girls State held on the campus of State College of Iowa, Cedar Falls, in June. This activity is sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary, Department of Iowa.

The entire program is nonpartisan and nonmilitary. It is a school in statesmanship, an operating, mythical 51st State where the boys and girls elect city, county and state officials and carry out all of the functions of government.

Upon registration the boys are assigned to mythical cities in mythical counties, they become members of either the Federalist or Nationalist party. Political caucuses are held, party platforms adopted, and, in a manner as approximate to Iowa law as possible under the circumstances, candidates for all offices are nominated and elected. The legislature passes laws, the courts try cases, bureaus function, city councils pass ordinances, all under the guidance of experienced counsellors. Hawkeye Boys State was originated in 1938.

The girls also are taught by actual participation the fundamental principles of Iowa government. They follow the process from the establishment of city government, through the filing of nomination papers and campaigning for office to the election and installation of the governor and other state officials. During this week, the auxiliary requests city, county and state officials to talk on their particular duties and responsibilities.

Two girls are selected to attend Girls Nation in Washington, D. C., where they are taught the functions of the federal government.

Iowa Statehood Centennial Commemorative Half Dollar

IOWA CENTENNIAL MEMORIAL FOUNDATION

The sale of memorial half dollars in Iowa's Centennial Year, 1947, brought the state $188,000. This fund is administered by the Iowa Centennial Memorial Commission, and has grown to more than $240,000. The commission is authorized to spend the income from the fund for awards and scholarships, amounting to approximately $6,225 yearly. This amount provides for 25 to 30 scholarships each year.

In 1951 the Iowa Award was created and presented to ex-President Herbert Hoover, and in 1956 to Jay N. Darling. More than 175 scholarships to Iowa colleges and universities have been granted.

Membership of the commission includes all former governors, four citizen members, and several state officials who serve ex officio. The commission was set up in 1949 by Governor Robert D. Blue. Members include the governor, who is chairman; president of the state board of regents, secretary; state treasurer, treasurer; and attorney general, attorney.

Citizen members are Mrs. Mary Humeston, Albia; Mrs. Helen Mitchell, Mason City; Ralph Evans, Davenport; and John M. Henry, Des Moines.

IOWA'S CIVIL WAR CENTENNIAL

To serve in defense of one's country is the ultimate affirmation of citizenship. In all of our national wars, Iowans have served with valor, accepting without question the hardships of battle and the dangers, but never have Iowans served with greater dedication to our national principles than in the war between the north and the south which was fought to maintain the fundamental precepts of our country's founding.

It is therefore appropriate that during the centennial commemoration of the Civil War, Iowans should give mature thought to that war's significance in the shaping of our lives and ponder the contribution of those men and women who "gave the last full measure of devotion" that our form of government might survive.

One hundred years ago more than seventy-five thousand Iowans died that our democratic institutions might endure. The most profound recognition of that sacrifice that we can accord this centennial commemoration is to solemnly dedicate our lives to a continuing protection of the institutions for which these men died, and to bring to our problems today, the same loyal dedication which they brought to the overwhelming task which confronted them.

To further this objective, the Sixtieth General Assembly directed that a digest of Iowa during the years of 1861 to 1865 be prepared by the Iowa Civil War Centennial Commission and included in the Iowa Official Register.

Iowa in the Civil War

By Edith Wasson McElroy, Executive Secretary

IOWA CIVIL WAR CENTENNIAL COMMISSION

Iowa had not yet celebrated its fifteenth year of statehood when the Civil War began. The state's population centered along the Mississippi River and across the southern and central areas of the state.

Maj. Gen.
Samuel R. Curtis

In the census of 1860, one county (Osceola) did not report a single inhabitant. O'Brien listed eight. Of a total population of 675,000, 116,000 men were subject to military duty. Percentagewise, Iowa contributed more men to the Civil War military services than did any other state, north or south. More than 75,000 volunteers were sent to the armed forces, over one-sixth of whom were in their graves before Appomattox.

Forty-eight infantry regiments, nine cavalry regiments, and four batteries of artillery were organized during the four years of fighting. Almost one-half of the eligible male population in Iowa bore arms, a record that has never been exceeded in any war since.

Iowa had four major generals—Dodge, Curtis, Steele, Herron, and a long list of brigadier generals. Many Iowa generals went on to state and national prominence following the war.

Our troops fought at Wilson's Creek in Missouri, Pea Ridge in Arkansas, Forts Henry and Donelson, Shiloh, Chattanooga, Chickamauga, Missionary Ridge and Rossville Gap. They were at Vicksburg, Iuka and Corinth. They were with the Army of the Potomac in Virginia and fought under Sheridan in the Shenandoah Valley. They were buried at Andersonville. They marched on General Banks' ill-starred expedition to the Red River. They marched and countermarched, skirmished and fought across every southern state.

Twenty-seven Iowans won the Congressional Medal of Honor, first awarded in the Civil War.

Few Iowa soldiers were native born. They came from Pennsylvania and New England, New York, Ohio and Indiana. Small southern farmers unable to compete with the great slaveholders followed the Mississippi River to Iowa and their sons wore the Union blue. Many soldiers were immigrants from foreign lands. Scarcely a state or a nation but was represented on Iowa's Civil War roster.

Iowa's First War Governor

Samuel Kirkwood came to Iowa in 1854. The son of a Maryland farmer, he lived in a log cabin pre-dating the Revolution until he was ten years old. He was then sent to Washington to school. When he was twenty years old, the family moved west, traveling by covered wagon to Ohio. In 1856 Kirkwood was a delegate to the convention which organized the new Republican party in Iowa and from that time on his name was prominent in party circles.

Difficulties beyond those confronting any other Iowa governor awaited Kirkwood when he journeyed in an old Concord stage, wallowing through snowdrifts to Iowa's new capitol. Des Moines in 1860 was a shabby frontier town of less than 3,000 inhabitants. The new statehouse was more than a mile from hotels, with streets little more than wagon tracks through the swampy river bottom leading up to it. The new governor had no aides, no staff, not even a private secretary. Typewriters were unknown. With the help of friends who volunteered their services, Kirkwood answered by hand the voluminous correspondence that came to his desk.

When the tidal wave of war rolled over the state, Kirkwood was faced with providing equipment and supplies for the thousands of volunteers who poured into the crude camps. In May, 1861, the general assembly voted $800,000 worth of bonds, a tremendous sum for those days. Selling the bonds was not so easy. The state was in debt. Taxes were delinquent. The people were impoverished by the debacle of the late fifties. To buy guns, the governor pledged his personal resources. With no guarantee of repayment, the state's banks came to his aid. Private citizens loaned thousands of dollars. Railroads carried soldiers without cost. Farmers gave food. The communities uniformed their companies. Democrats forgetting party animosities joined with Republicans in advancing the Union cause. Southern sympathizers were silent. Newspapers wrote of little else than the war. Ministers preached that to serve the Lord was to serve the state. And by the thousands Iowa's young men volunteered.

When Governor Kirkwood visited President-elect Lincoln in Springfield and told him, "Iowa will not be frightened into abandoning its principles," he spoke truly. Iowa was excited by the unhappy state of the Union, but would never consent to its dissolution. Dissenters existed but they were an impotent minority.

On President Lincoln's first call for volunteers, the state's quota of ten companies was mustered six days before the official date. The second call was filled so promptly that the Second Regiment preceded the First into the field by a day.

The Mississippi River was the great throughway to the south down which Iowa's troops moved by river packet. Naturally the first camps sprang up along its banks. Communications throughout the state were slow and centralization of training centers was imperative. From three to five days were required for a letter to reach Des Moines from Keokuk. Papers of the Burlington Hawk-Eye were carried from Eddyville to Des Moines, a distance of 75 miles, by "pony express."

Volunteers were abundant, but not guns. April 29, 1861, Kirkwood wrote to the secretary of war in Washington: "For God's sake send us arms. I ask for nothing but arms and ammunition—we have the men to use them. Three regiments are waiting and five thousand guns are required at once." Meanwhile the men drilled with brooms. At Shiloh

Iowa regiments marched from river boat to battlefield to load their guns for the first time under enemy fire.

The first camps were bleak and crude, with little thought of sanitation or physical comfort. As the war dragged on, some camps took on permanence with rude buildings of rough boards. Other camps were rows of tents, which vanished when the troops marched out, to bloom again when a new contingent arrived.

Old Spring house at Camp Harlan. Soldiers' initials whittled in its stone walls are plainly visible.

Military Organization

The regiment was the unit of command, its colonel named by the governor. Despite the political overtone, the average ability of officers was high. Mistakes in their selection were made, but in the field the unfit officer soon disappeared. A certificate of sobriety was required by the governor from all elected officers; even so, drunkenness as well as incompetency occurred. Permitting the men to elect their officers was not always successful from a military viewpoint. It did have one noteworthy advantage; the elected officer had the respect and liking of his men, important in the civilian army. Few field or staff officers had previous military experience. The Civil War officer learned his trade on the march and on the battlefield. The majority of the officers, high and low, were community and state leaders before the war. They were sincere and honest men fighting for a cause in which they believed.

As was that of the governor, the adjutant general's office was overwhelmed. Soon after Bull Run, Kirkwood appointed Nathan B. Baker to the post. Baker was no tyro in executive matters. A graduate of Harvard, he studied law in the office of Franklin Pierce. In New Hampshire, his native state, he served as a journalist, clerk of the court, member of the legislature, twice speaker of the house, and finally governor.

Kirkwood and Baker were a strong team. Both men were high level executives with deep concern for Iowa's troops. Arbitrary rules, mistreatment, arrogance, brought quick and vigorous attention from the governor and adjutant general. So efficient was Baker's conduct of his office, that it was cited by the War Department as the ideal for that of adjutant general.

Internal Dissension

While as a state Iowa stood staunchly by the Union, it has its internal dissension. Many Iowans had a southern background and accepted slavery and a state's right to secede. The Peace (Copperheads as they were often called) Democrats as differentiated from the War Democrats who supported the war effort, and the Knights of the Golden Circle worked against the state and national administrations' program. The Knights opposed the draft, encouraged desertion, discouraged volunteering. Organized in every township in the state, they were said to number 42,000 in all. Refugee Confederate soldiers and paid agents fomented the disaffection. The so-called Mahoney wing of the Democratic Party was in outspoken opposition. With so many Union supporters at the front, this boring from within became an increasing danger.

In South English, Peace Democrats paraded through the town challenging townspeople gathered in a Republican convention. A shot was fired which led to others. Tally, their leader, was killed. Rumors flashed that several thousand armed men were readying an attack on the town.

Governor Kirkwood ordered eleven companies of Home Guard to the scene and hurried there himself. Faced with armed resistance, the Tally enthusiasts lost their thirst for revenge and disbanded.

While history records no Civil War battle on Iowa soil, invasion from slave-owning Missouri was a constant threat, as were the warlike Sioux to the northwest. Log stockades to protect the women and children were built from Chain of Lakes in Emmet County to Sioux City. The legislature authorized the formation of the Border Brigade which brought further security to the scattered settlers.

Col. James B. Weaver

News of the Union defeat at Bull Run brought rejoicing to Missouri secessionists, and new fear of an invasion to Iowa's southern border counties. Citizens slept with guns at hand and Governor Kirkwood authorized the organizing of militia in southeastern Iowa.

When word came on Sunday, Aug. 4, 1861, that a Confederate band, the number varying from 500 to 1,500, was approaching Athens, Missouri, across the Des Moines River from Croton, Capt. David Moore with Belknap's Rifles and Capt. Sample's cavalry (on foot) set out from Keokuk to meet the enemy. Detachments from the Fifth and Sixth Infantry in camp at Burlington, as many as could be armed, arrived too late. The battle was over and the enemy in retreat. As the rebels were mounted, a forced march into Missouri was unable to overtake them. Two landmarks of that day still stand—the Benning House on the Missouri side of the river, its wall punctured by a cannon ball, and the Sprouse House on the Iowa side where the wounded were cared for.

In southwestern Iowa, the first companies to reach the rendezvous of the Fourth Iowa Regiment were hurried from Council Bluffs under Colonel Dodge to repel a threatened Confederate invasion in that area.

The final raid into Iowa was by Missouri guerillas in 1864. A dozen young men rode boldly into Davis County, robbing, murdering and looting. Bloomfield's county fair was in progress and a posse quickly formed. Under Col. James Weaver they rode out only to find the raiders had fled across the border.

The Underground Railroad

Iowa had many stations on the underground railroad, an organization of men and women, many of them Quakers, who actively assisted runaway slaves to reach Canada and freedom.

Many of these stations still stand. In barns, houses, cellars, devoted men and women found a few hours of security and rest for the fleeing Negroes. One of the best known is Salem in Henry County. Its settlers were predominantly Quakers who at risk of life and property befriended the black men. Armed Missourians with baying bloodhounds often rode close on the escaping slaves.irate slave owners threatened to shoot or hang those helping the Negroes, and to burn their buildings.

Ruel Daggs, a fire-eating Missouri planter, lost many slaves by the Salem route and was particularly violent in his threats. Once he had a cannon planted in front of the Lewelling

Stone House where he claimed his slaves were hidden. Another time he roared into town with a small army proposing to destroy the village. The unperturbed Quakers refused to be scared. Later Daggs brought suit against Elihu Frazer and eighteen others for $10,000 for the part they played in the loss of his "chattels." He valued his men slaves at $2,000 each; women at $1,000 each and children at $500 each. The number lost totaled $9,000, so he added $1,000 to pay for help hired to replace the missing slaves. He had, he set forth, "casually lost possession" of his slaves and traced them to Salem where the defendants helped them to escape. He won a jury verdict on Sept. 19, 1850, but the records do not show its nature.

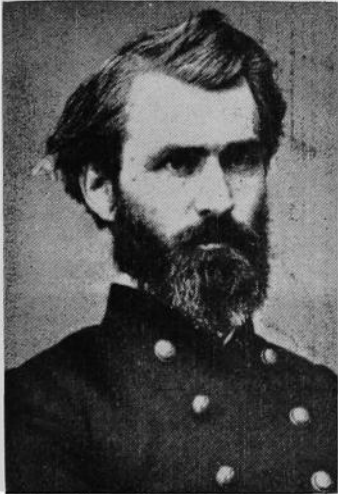

John Brown, the noted abolitionist, had many friends in the underground and was often in Iowa. After his Kansas battles, he fled to the Quakers in this state. While these men of peace did not condone Brown's shedding of blood, they agreed with his anti-slavery stand.

In Tabor, West Liberty and Springdale, the old warrior was a frequent visitor. To Grinnell, Des Moines and other towns he came less frequently. Tabor, nearest underground station to the south, was settled by Ohio abolitionists, and in the late fifties its square was often crowded with covered wagons loaded with immigrants bound for Kansas. Many of these men and women were abolitionists, and around the campfires discussions of slavery raged far into the night.

In Tabor, John Brown drilled his followers for the fighting ahead and stored arms and ammunition. To Tabor came the sick and wounded from his Kansas battles. The dauntless old man himself sought the peace and quiet of Iowa firesides to rest and brood and talk with his friends.

The stately old stone Lewelling House still stands in Salem and is open to the public. In its kitchen, furnished as in Civil War days, the stone steps into the cellar which slaves followed to their hiding place, may be seen.

Iowa's Second War Governor

Gov. William M. Stone

William Milo Stone was born in New York state and moved to Ohio at the age of six. His formal education consisted of two winters in a country school. He read law in James Matthews' law office in Co-shocton, Ohio, with whom he practiced until he moved to Iowa and established himself at Knoxville. There he purchased the Knoxville Journal.

When Fort Sumpter was fired on, Stone held the office of district judge. When word of the attack came, he raised a company in Knoxville of which he was elected captain. A few weeks later he received his majority. At Blue Mills he was wounded and at Shiloh taken prisoner.

After three months' captivity he was chosen one of three Federal officers paroled by the Confederates to arrange an exchange of prisoners. The mission was unsuccessful and Stone returned to Richmond and surrendered to the Confederate authorities. So pleased was Jefferson Davis with his conduct that he sent him back to make another try. This time the mission was accomplished, at least a general exchange followed.

His experiences gave Stone much publicity and on his return to Knoxville after his liberation, he was made colonel of the Twenty-second Iowa Infantry. During this service he was wounded at Vicksburg and again returned home. While recuperating he was nominated as governor on the Republican ticket to succeed Kirkwood, who declined to run for a third term, and resigning his commission, Stone made the campaign which elected him.

A slender, erect, handsome man, he possessed unlimited self-confidence and tremendous industry. His military service popularized him with the soldiers.

Iowa's Graybeards

By special authority of the War Department, the 37th Iowa Volunteer Infantry was made up of men beyond military age. Their average age was 57; more than one hundred were in their 60s; a number were 70; at least one man was past 80.

The Graybeards served as prison and provost guards, relieving younger men for active duty. For a time they guarded supply trains. Passing through guerilla territory, one train was attacked. Four men were wounded, of whom two died. When riding atop swaying trains proved too strenuous for their aging bodies, the men were returned to prison guard duty.

After Lee's surrender, the weary Graybeards asked to go home. In recommending their discharge General Willich pointed out they had given some 1,300 sons and grandsons to the Union Blues.

On May 24, 1865, the regiment was mustered out at Davenport. It was the only regiment of men beyond the army's age limit to serve in the Civil War. The regiment had a high reputation as prison guards, being more humane than was common in that day.

Origins and Naming of Iowa Counties

(Of the two dates given for each county, the first is the date of establishment, when the county was put on the map; the second is when county government was organized. While population was sparse, an unorganized county might be attached to a neighboring organized county for purposes of administration. As settlement moved west, the legislature established 50 so-called "paper counties" in 1851, completing the theoretical roster of 99 counties, but in many of them it was a matter of years before county governments were organized. In some instances, the dates are significant of changes in county names or boundaries.)

GREAT SEAL OF THE UNITED STATES

The Great Seal of the United States, adopted by Congress June 20, 1782, carries on its obverse side the Coat of Arms of the United States. The Stripes on the shield represent the states; the blue above represents Congress. In its talons the eagle grasps an olive branch and a cluster of arrows—the Congressional power to make peace or war. The constellation of thirteen stars above denotes a new Nation in the world.

The reverse of the seal shows a pyramid, to signify "strength and duration," while the eye over it and the motto, Annuit Coeptis (He has favored our beginning), allude to "the many signal interpositions of Providence in favor of the American cause." The Roman numerals give the year of Independence; the motto, Novus Ordo Seclorum (a new order of the ages), signifies the beginning of the new American era.

The national motto, E Pluribus Unum, was first suggested on August 10, 1776, by a congressional committee, consisting of Benjamin Franklin, John Adams and Thomas Jefferson.

If you are curious to see these seals and shield, look at a one dollar bill.

TREND TOWARD URBANIZATION OF IOWA'S POPULATION

Iowa's population is now 53 per cent urban, as is shown in the first line of the table below. The change from 1950 to 1960 is also shown. To carry the comparison back to 1940, it is necessary to note that the census bureau made a change to classify people living in certain densely populated urban-fringe areas as urban, even though they were not within incorporated limits. This change, in 1950, transferred 21,505 Iowa persons from rural to urban classification. The effect on percentages is small but makes necessary two sets of figures. The minus sign (—) indicates a decrease.

CIVILIAN POPULATION ESTIMATES AS OF JULY 1, 1966 FOR COUNTIES AND CITIES OF 10,000 OR MORE INHABITANTS

The Division of Vital Statistics of the State Department of Health published these figures July 1, 1966, as an estimate of population for 1966. The technique currently employed, a local modification, was developed to conform as closely as possible to the format and rationale exhibited by the procedure published by the Bureau of Census (Method II). All calculations and adjustment factors were based upon locally available data, and are supported by two separate tests for the period 1950-1960, one at a state level and the other at the county level.

Method II utilizes as components: population counts of a prior census, cumulative counts of births and deaths, estimates of net civilian migration developed from relative indices of school enrollment, and estimates of net loss to the armed forces. Additional components may be employed. A primary characteristic of Method II is that an estimate for any particular date should be considered as independent of those developed for other dates, and is primarily related to the period from censal date to estimate date. However, local estimates for any one year can be expected to have some common relationship to the level observed for the state.

*Cities of 10,000 or more inhabitants on April 1, 1960.

†Samuel J. Kirkwood resigned Feb. 1, 1877, to become a candidate for the U. S. Senate, to which office he was elected. Lt. Gov. Joshua Newbold served his unexpired term.

‡Albert B. Cummins resigned Nov. 24, 1903, after election to the United States Senate and was succeeded by Lt. Gov. Warren Garst, who served the unexpired term.

§Sec. 16 of the Iowa Constitution amended the election laws, and the election on Nov. 4, 1904, changed the state election to conform with the national election date. Certain officials, therefore, were granted an additional year to their term. Thereafter governors assumed office in uneven years.

¶Gov. Beardsley was killed in a highway accident Nov. 21, 1954, and Lt. Gov. Leo Elthon served out the unexpired term.

Congressional Districts Since 1847

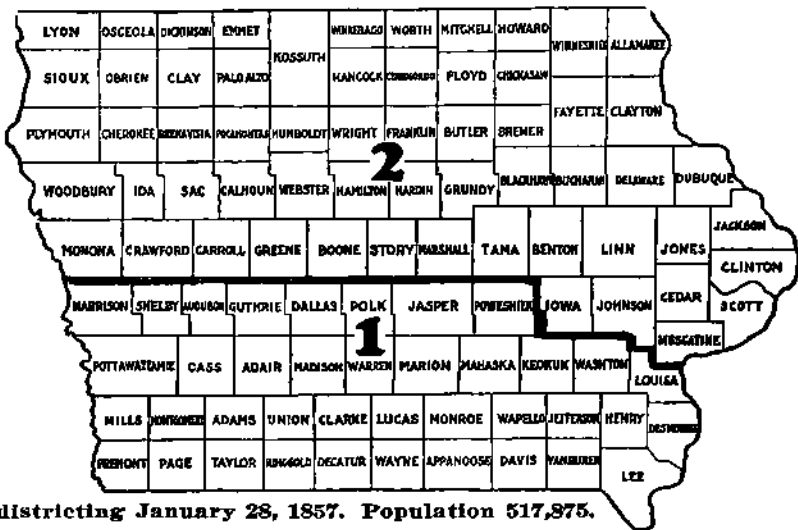

Iowa's first two congressmen, who took their seats Dec. 29, 1846, were elected from the state at large. Two congressional districts were created Feb. 22, 1847, and the state continued with two districts through eight sessions, a period of 16 years. There was a redistricting in 1848.

Redistricting of 1862, taking effect in 1863, gave Iowa six congressmen for 10 years. Then redistricting of 1872 provided for nine congressmen for 10 years.

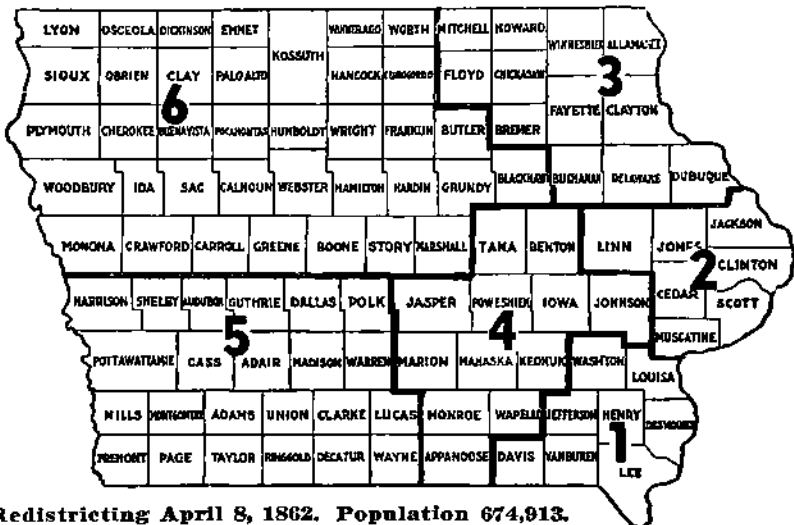

Iowa had 11 congressmen for 50 years, through the 48th to the 72nd congresses, 1883 to 1933, under redistrictings of 1882 and 1886. The number then dropped to nine for 10 years, 1933 to 1943, and to eight for 20 years, 1943 to 1963.

Each of Iowa's seven congressmen, beginning in 1963, represents an average of 393,934 constituents. Constituency in 1847 was 51,194.

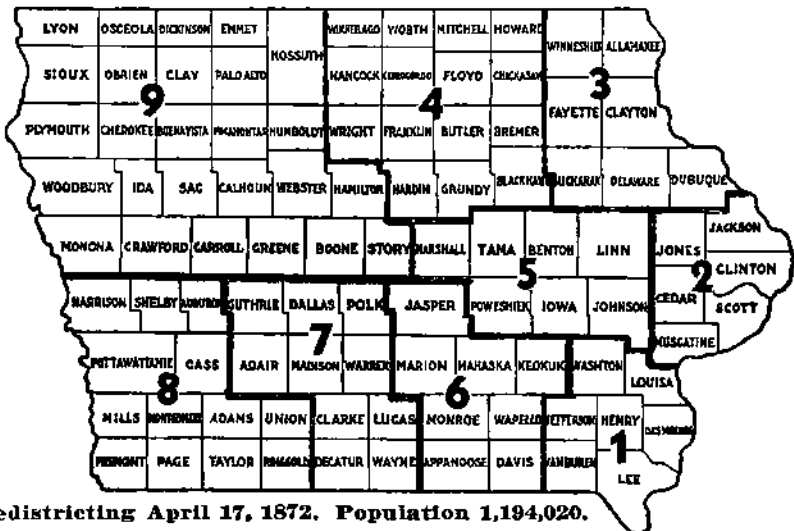

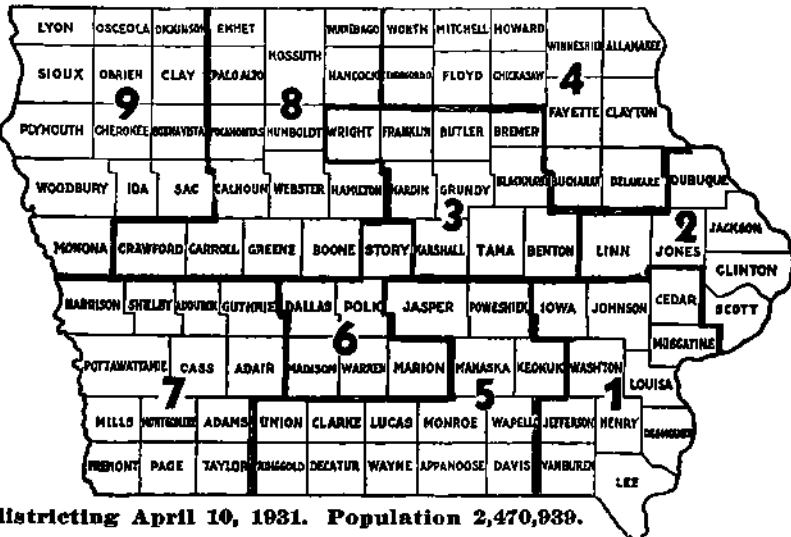

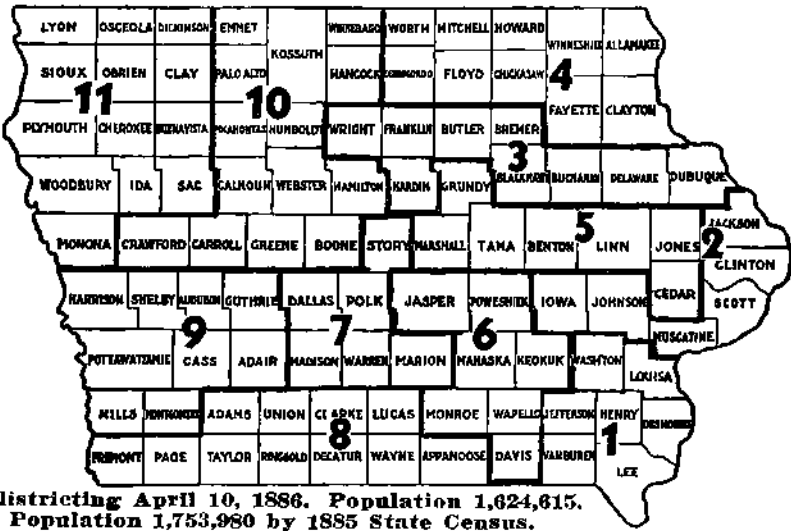

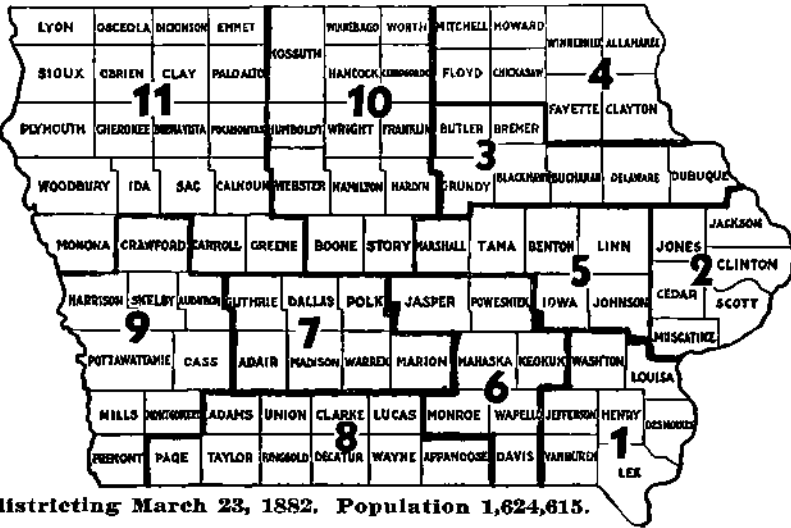

Redistricting January 28, 1857. Population 517,975.

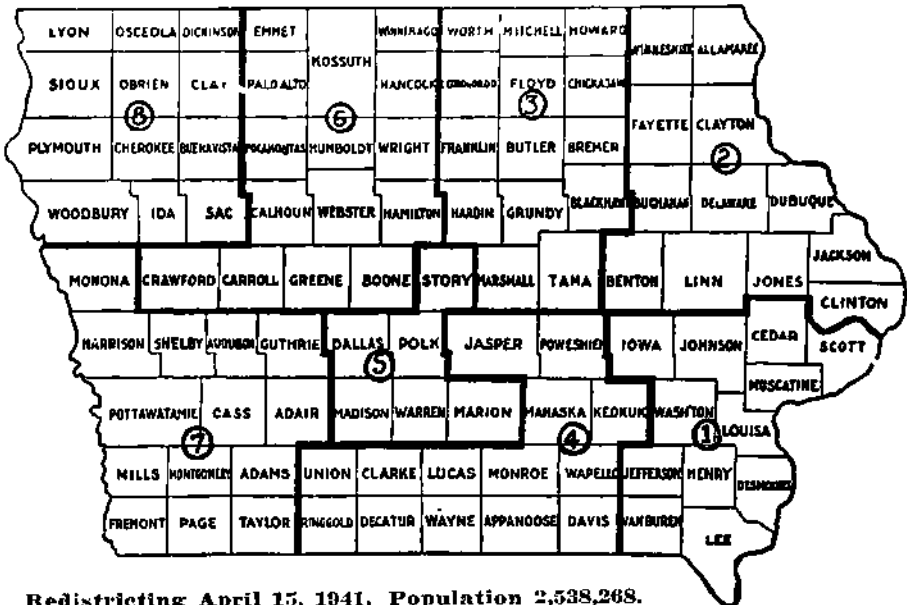

Redistricting April 8, 1862. Population 674,913.

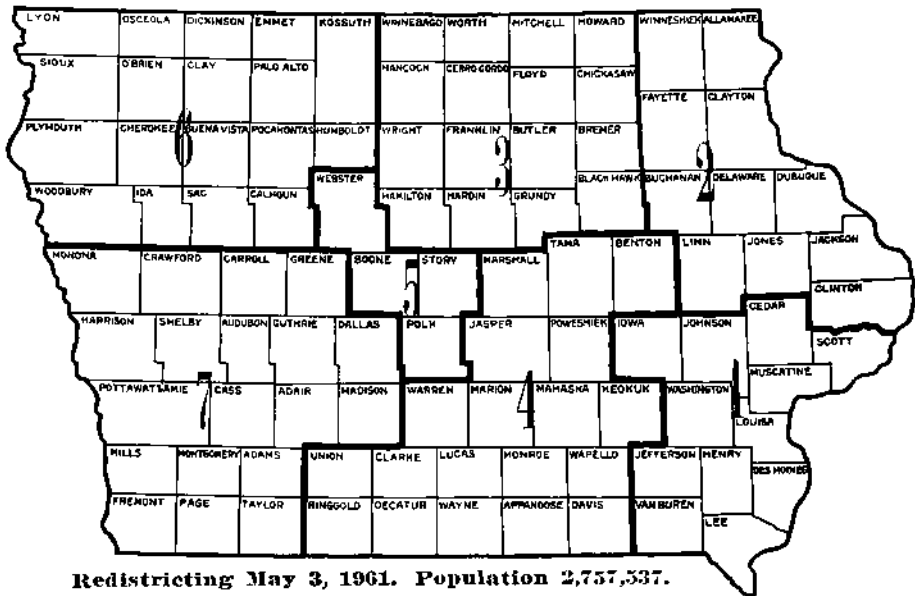

Redistricting April 17, 1872. Population 1,194,020.

Redistricting April 15, 1941. Population 2,538,268.

Redistricting May 3, 1961. Population 2,757,337.

Populations given under the first three maps are state census figures of 1846, 1847 and 1856. The acts of 1848 and 1857 were not based on census requirements, since Iowa had two congressmen until 1862. The districting of 1847 was based on the August vote on adoption of the constitution. The 1848 act merely shifted Poweshiek County and had little apparent significance. The 1857 act, transferring three counties, equalized population and had Republican political advantages. All other redistrictings, except in 1886, were necessitated by federal census returns. The 1886 redistricting was based on the 1880 federal census, but state maps displayed the 1885 state census figures. Purposes of the 1886 act were avowedly political.

Presidential Electors

Iowa's presidential electors met in the office of the governor Dec. 14, 1964, and cast the nine votes of Iowa for Lyndon B. Johnson as president and Hubert H. Humphrey as vice president of the United States.

Iowa's nine electors were Governor Harold E. Hughes, Ray M. Tritz of Remsen, Ray R. Douglas of Postville, John Dunlevy of Avoca, L. Jack Degnan of Guttenberg, E. C. Brown of Boone, Mrs. James C. Dunbar of Cedar Falls, Bert Bandstra of Pella and Ray Baxter of Burlington.

A picture of the electoral certificate, with signatures of the electors, is shown on page 436. This vote was transmitted to the president of the United States senate as required by the constitution of the United States (see amendment 12), and was counted, with the votes of the other states, at a joint session of the two houses of congress.

The electors in the several states are chosen in such manner as the respective legislatures may direct. In Iowa they are nominated by the state conventions of the political parties. Their names do not, however, go on the ballot; the names on the ballot are those of the presidential and vice presidential candidates.

Constitution of the State of Iowa

Introduction

Iowa was organized as a separate Territory by an act of Congress approved on June 12, 1838, but it was not until 1844 that steps were taken to secure admission into the Union. A constitutional convention met at Iowa City in October, 1844. The Constitution drafted by this convention was twice submitted to the voters of the Territory of Iowa and twice rejected by them, largely because of dissatisfaction with the boundaries of the proposed State.

A second constitutional convention met at Iowa City in May, 1846. The Constitution drafted by this convention was ratified by a majority of 456 votes at an election held on August 3, 1846, and Iowa was admitted as a State on December 28, 1846.

The Constitution of 1846, however, contained a number of provisions which were found to be unsatisfactory in practice. One of these was the prohibition of banking institutions. As a result of this dissatisfaction, the legislature in 1855 provided for an election on the question of calling a convention to revise or amend the Constitution of 1846. The vote was 22,390 for a convention and 14,162 against a convention. Delegates were elected on November 4, 1856, and the convention met at Iowa City on January 19, 1857.

The delegates drafted a new Constitution which was submitted to the people at an election held on August 3, 1857, and ratified by a vote of 40,311 to 38,681. This Constitution went into effect by proclamation of the governor on September 3, 1857.

The Constitution of 1857 has, since that time, remained the fundamental law of the State of Iowa; but it has been amended a number of times.

The Constitution¹

WE, THE PEOPLE OF THE STATE OF IOWA, grateful to the Supreme Being for the blessings hitherto enjoyed, and feeling our dependence on Him for a continuation of those blessings, do ordain and establish a free and independent government, by the name of the STATE OF IOWA, the boundaries whereof shall be as follows:

Beginning in the middle of the main channel of the Mississippi River, at a point due East of the middle of the mouth of the main channel of the Des Moines River, thence up the middle of the main channel of the said Des Moines River, to a point on said river where the Northern boundary line of the State of Missouri—as established by the constitution of that State—adopted June 12th, 1820—crosses the said middle of the main channel of the said Des Moines River; thence Westwardly along the said Northern boundary line of the State of Missouri, as established at the time aforesaid, until an extension of said line intersects the middle of main channel of the Missouri River; thence up the middle of the main channel of the said Missouri River to a point opposite the middle of the main channel of the Big Sioux River, according to Nicollet's Map; thence up the main channel of the said Big Sioux River, according to the said map, until it is intersected by the parallel of forty three degrees and thirty minutes North latitude; thence East along said parallel of forty three degrees and thirty minutes until said parallel intersects the middle of the main channel of the Mississippi River; thence down the middle of the main channel of said Mississippi River to the place of beginning.

all times, to alter or reform the same, whenever the public good may require it.

Sec. 3. The General Assembly shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof; nor shall any person be compelled to attend any place of worship, pay tithes, taxes, or other rates for building or repairing places of worship, or the maintenance of any minister, or ministry.

Sec. 4. No religious test shall be required as a qualification for any office, or public trust, and no person shall be deprived of any of his rights, privileges, or capacities, or disqualified from the performance of any of his public or private duties, or rendered incompetent to give evidence in any court of law or equity, in consequence of his opinions on the subject of religion; and any party to any judicial proceeding shall have the right to use as a witness, or take the testimony of, any other person not disqualified on account of interest, who may be cognizant of any fact material to the case; and parties to suits may be witnesses, as provided by law.

Sec. 6. All laws of a general nature shall have a uniform operation; the General Assembly shall not grant to any citizen, or class of citizens, privileges or immunities, which, upon the same terms shall not equally belong to all citizens.

Sec. 7. Every person may speak, write, and publish his sentiments on all subjects, being responsible for the abuse of that right. No law shall be passed to restrain or abridge the liberty of speech, or of the press. In all prosecutions or indictments for libel, the truth may be given in evidence to the jury, and if it appears to the jury that the matter charged as libellous was true, and was published with good motives and for justifiable ends, the party shall be acquitted.

Sec. 8. The right of the people to be secure in their persons, houses, papers and effects, against unreasonable seizures and searches shall not be violated; and no warrant shall issue but on probable cause, supported by oath or affirmation, particularly describing the place to be searched, and the persons and things to be seized.

Sec. 10. In all criminal prosecutions, and in cases involving the life, or liberty of an individual the accused shall have a right to a speedy and public trial by an impartial jury; to be informed of the accusation against him, to have a copy of same when demanded; to be confronted with the witnesses against him; to have compulsory process for his witnesses; and, to have the assistance of counsel.

Sec. 11. All offenses less than felony and in which the punishment does not exceed a fine of one hundred dollars, or imprisonment for thirty days, shall be tried summarily before a Justice of the Peace, or other officer authorized by law, on information under oath, without indictment, or the intervention of a grand jury, saving to the defendant the right of appeal; and no person shall be held to answer for any higher criminal offense, unless on presentment or indictment by a grand jury² except in cases arising in the army, or navy, or in the militia, when in actual service, in time of war or public danger.

Sec. 12. No person shall after acquittal, be tried for the same offense. All persons shall, before conviction, be bailable, by sufficient sureties, except for capital offenses where the proof is evident, or the presumption great.

Sec. 15. No soldier shall, in time of peace, be quartered in any house without the consent of the owner, nor in time of war except in the manner prescribed by law.

Sec. 16. Treason against the State shall consist only in levying war against it, adhering to its enemies, or giving them aid and comfort. No person shall be convicted of treason, unless on the evidence of two witnesses to the same overt act, or confession in open Court.

²See amendment 3 of those adopted in 1884.

Sec. 17. Excessive bail shall not be required; excessive fines shall not be imposed, and cruel and unusual punishment shall not be inflicted.

Sec. 18. Private property shall not be taken for public use without just compensation first being made, or secured to be made to the owner thereof, as soon as the damages shall be assessed by a jury, who shall not take into consideration any advantages that may result to said owner on account of the improvement for which it is taken.

[The general assembly, however, may pass laws permitting the owners of lands to construct drains, ditches, and levees for agricultural, sanitary or mining purposes across the lands of others, and provide for the organization of drainage districts, vest the proper authorities with power to construct and maintain levees, drains and ditches and to keep in repair all drains, ditches, and levees heretofore constructed under the laws of the state, by special assessments upon the property benefited thereby. The General Assembly may provide by law for the condemnation of such real estate as shall be necessary for the construction and maintenance of such drains, ditches and levees, and prescribe the method of making such condemnation.]³

Sec. 19. No person shall be imprisoned for debt in any civil action, on mesne or final process, unless in case of fraud; and no person shall be imprisoned for a militia fine in time of peace.

Sec. 20. The people have the right freely to assemble together to counsel for the common good; to make known their opinions to their representatives and to petition for a redress of grievances.

³The material between the brackets was added by an amendment adopted in 1908.

⁴This amendment was proposed by the General Assembly in 1880; readopted in 1882; ratified at a special election held on June 27, 1882; and certified adopted on June 28, 1882. On April 21, 1883, the Supreme Court of Iowa, in deciding Koehler and Lange v. Hill, held that, owing to certain irregularities, the amendment had not been legally submitted to the voters and hence was not a part of the Constitution—60 Iowa 548.

⁵The word "white" was eliminated by an amendment adopted in 1868.

⁶The word "male" remains in this section of the State Constitution, but it was rendered inoperative by the Nineteenth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States, adopted in 1920. The General Assembly of Iowa ratified the Nineteenth Amendment on July 2, 1919.

Sec. 6. All elections by the people shall be by ballot.

Sec. 8. A majority of each house shall constitute a quorum to transact business; but a smaller number may adjourn from day to day, and may compel the attendance of absent members in such manner and under such penalties as each house may provide.

Sec. 9. Each house shall sit upon its own adjournments, keep a journal of its proceedings, and publish the same; determine its rules of proceedings, punish members for disorderly behavior, and, with the consent of two thirds, expel a member, but not a second time for the same offense; and shall have all other powers necessary for a branch of the General Assembly of a free and independent State.

⁷This section was added by an amendment adopted in 1884. It was repealed in 1916.

⁸This section was added by an amendment adopted in 1916.

Sec. 15. Bills may originate in either house, and may be amended, altered, or rejected by the other; and every bill having passed both houses, shall be signed by the Speaker and President of their respective houses.

Sec. 16. Every bill which shall have passed the General Assembly, shall, before it becomes law, be presented to the Governor. If he approves, he shall sign it; but if not, he shall return it with his objections, to the house in which it originated, which shall enter the same upon their journal, and proceed to re-consider it; if, after such re-consideration, it again pass both houses, by yeas and nays, by a majority of two thirds of the members of each house, it shall become a law, notwithstanding the Governor's objections. If any bill shall not be returned within three days after it shall have been presented to him, Sunday excepted, the same shall be a law in like manner as if he had signed it, unless the General Assembly, by adjournment, prevent such return. All other civil officers shall be tried for misdemeanors and malfeasance in office, in such manner as the General Assembly may provide.

Sec. 21. No senator or representative shall, during the time for which he shall have been elected, be appointed to any civil office of profit under this State, which shall have been created, or the emoluments of which shall have been increased during such term, except such offices as may be filled by elections by the people.

Sec. 22. ¹⁵The three sections which are printed in italic (34, 35, and 36) were repealed in 1904.

¹⁶The word "white" was stricken from this section by an amendment adopted in 1868.

¹⁷The comma and words inside these parentheses were added to this section by an amendment adopted in 1925.

¹⁸The three sections in brackets (34, 35, and 36), with the exception of the part in parentheses in Section 34, were added by an amendment adopted in 1904. But the three sections, as amended, were nullified by a United States District Court decision, Davis v. Synhorst, 217 F. Supp. 492 (1963), which held that the 1904 and 1925 amendments, in combination, prevented proportionate representation in both houses of the General Assembly, and were invidiously discriminatory and in violation of the equal protection clause of the fourteenth amendment to the Constitution of the United States. In a further decree, Davis v. Synhorst, 225 F. Supp. 689 (1964), the court authorized the General Assembly to adopt an apportionment plan to serve until new constitutional provisions dealing with apportionment should be adopted. Under the authorization the Sixtieth Extra General Assembly passed an apportionment plan (S.F.1) under which the Sixty-first General Assembly was apportioned and elected. The number of senators was set at fifty-nine, and of representatives at 124.

In voting for Governor and Lieutenant Governor, the electors shall designate for whom they vote as Governor, and for whom as Lieutenant Governor. The returns of every election for Governor, and Lieutenant Governor, shall be sealed up and transmitted to the seat of government of the State, directed to the Speaker of the House of Representatives, who shall open and publish them in the presence of both Houses of the General Assembly.

Sec. 4. The persons respectively having the highest number of votes for Governor and Lieutenant Governor, shall be declared duly elected; but in case two or more persons shall have an equal and the highest number of votes for either office, the General Assembly shall, by joint vote, forthwith proceed to elect one of said persons Governor, or Lieutenant Governor, as the case may be. [If, upon the completion of the canvass of votes for Governor and Lieutenant Governor by the General Assembly, it shall appear that the person who received the highest number of votes for Governor has since died, resigned, is unable to qualify, fails to qualify, or for any other reason is unable to assume the duties of the office of Governor for the ensuing term, the powers and duties of the office shall devolve upon the person who received the highest number of votes for Lieutenant Governor until the disability is removed and, upon inauguration, he shall assume the powers and duties of Governor.]¹⁹

Sec. 10. When any office shall, from any cause, become vacant, and no mode is provided by the Constitution and laws for filling such vacancy, the Governor shall have power to fill such vacancy, by granting a commission, which shall expire at the end of the next session of the General Assembly, or at the next election by the people.

Sec. 11. He may, on extraordinary occasions, convene the General Assembly by proclamation, and shall state to both Houses, when assembled, the purpose for which they shall have been convened.

Sec. 12. He shall communicate, by message, to the General Assembly, at every regular session, the condition of the State, and recommend such matters as he shall deem expedient.

Sec. 13. In case of disagreement between the two Houses with respect to the time of adjournment, the Governor shall have power to adjourn the General Assembly to such time as he may think proper; but no such adjournment shall be beyond the time fixed for the regular meeting of the next General Assembly.

Sec. 14. No person shall, while holding any office under the authority of the United States, or this State, execute the office of Governor, or Lieutenant Governor except as hereinafter expressly provided.

Sec. 15. The official term of the Governor, and Lieutenant Governor, shall commence on the second Monday of January next after their election, and continue for two years, and until their successors are elected and qualified. The Lieutenant Governor, while acting as Governor, shall receive the same pay as provided for Governor; and while presiding in the Senate, shall receive as compensation therefor, the same mileage and double the per diem pay provided for a Senator, and none other.

¹⁹The part of this section in brackets was added by amendment 1 of 1952.

Sec. 16. The Governor shall have power to grant reprieves, commutations and pardons, after conviction, for all offenses except treason and cases of impeachment, subject to such regulations as may be provided by law. He shall have power to remit fines and forfeitures, under such regulations as may be prescribed by law; and shall report to the General Assembly, at its next meeting, each case of reprieve, commutation, or pardon granted, and the reason therefor; and also all persons in whose favor remission of fines and forfeiture shall have been made, and the several amounts remitted.

Sec. 17. In case of the death, impeachment, resignation, removal from office, or other disability of the Governor, the powers and duties of the office for the residue of the term, or until he shall be acquitted, or the disability removed, shall devolve upon the Lieutenant Governor.

Sec. 18. The Lieutenant Governor shall be President of the Senate, but shall only vote when the Senate is equally divided; and in case of his absence, or impeachment, or when he shall exercise the office of Governor, the Senate shall choose a President pro tempore.

Sec. 19. *If the Lieutenant Governor, while acting as Governor, shall be impeached, displaced, resign, or die, or otherwise become incapable of performing the duties of the office, the President pro tempore of the Senate shall act as Governor until the vacancy is filled, or the disability removed; and if the President of the Senate, for any of the above causes, shall be rendered incapable of performing the duties pertaining to the office of Governor, the same shall devolve upon the Speaker of the House of Representatives.*²⁰

[Sec. 19. If there be a vacancy in the office of Governor and the Lieutenant Governor shall by reason of death, impeachment, resignation, removal from office, or other disability become incapable of performing the duties pertaining to the office of Governor, the President pro tempore of the Senate shall act as Governor until the vacancy is filled or the disability removed; and if the President pro tempore of the Senate, for any of the above causes, shall be incapable of performing the duties pertaining to the office of Governor the same shall devolve upon the Speaker of the House of Representatives: and if the Speaker of the House of Representatives, for any of the above causes, shall be incapable of performing the duties of the office of Governor, the Justices of the Supreme Court shall convene the General Assembly by proclamation and the General Assembly shall organize by the election of a President pro tempore by the Senate and a Speaker by the House of Representatives. The Declaration of Independence

In Congress, July 4, 1776

The Unanimous Declaration of the Thirteen United States of America

WHEN in the Course of human events, it becomes necessary for one people to dissolve the political bands which have connected them with another, and to assume among the powers of the earth, the separate and equal station to which the Laws of Nature and of Nature's God entitle them, a decent respect to the opinions of mankind requires that they should declare the causes which impel them to the separation.—We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the pursuit of Happiness.—That to secure these rights, Governments are instituted among Men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed,—That whenever any Form of Government becomes destructive of these ends, it is the Right of the People to alter or abolish it, and to institute new Government, laying its foundation on such principles and organizing its powers in such form, as to them shall seem most likely to effect their Safety and Happiness. Prudence, indeed, will dictate that Governments long established should not be changed for light and transient causes; and accordingly all experience hath shown, that mankind are more disposed to suffer, while evils are sufferable, than to right themselves by abolishing the forms to which they are accustomed. But when a long train of abuses and usurpations, pursuing invariably the same Object evinces a design to reduce them under absolute Despotism, it is their right, it is their duty, to throw off such Government and to provide new Guards for their future security.—Such has been the patient sufferance of these Colonies; and such is now the necessity which constrains them to alter their former Systems of Government. The history of the present King of Great Britain is a history of repeated injuries and usurpations, all having in direct object the establishment of an absolute Tyranny over these States. To prove this, let Facts be submitted to a candid world.—He has refused his Assent to Laws, the most wholesome and necessary for the public good.—He has forbidden his Governors to pass Laws of immediate and pressing importance, unless suspended in their operations till his Assent should be obtained; and when so suspended, he has utterly neglected to attend to them.—He has refused to pass other Laws for the accommodation of large districts of people, unless those people would relinquish the right of Representation in the Legislature, a right inestimable to them and formidable to tyrants only.—He has called together legislative bodies at places unusual, uncomfortable, and distant from the depository of their public Records, for the sole purpose of fatiguing them into compliance with his measures.—He has dissolved Representative Houses repeatedly, for opposing with manly firmness his invasions on the rights of the people.—He has refused for a long time, after such dissolutions, to cause others to be elected; whereby the Legislative powers, incapable of Annihilation, have returned to the People at large for their exercise; the State remaining in the meantime exposed to all the dangers of invasion from without, and convulsions within.—He has endeavored to prevent the population of these States; for that purpose obstructing the Laws for Naturalization of Foreigners; refusing to pass others to encourage their migration hither, and raising the conditions of new Appropriations of Lands.—He has obstructed the Administration of Justice, by refusing his Assent to Laws for establishing Judiciary Powers.—He has made Judges dependent on his Will alone, for the tenure of their offices, and the amount and payment of their salaries.—He has erected a multitude of New Offices, and sent hither swarms of Officers to harass our people, and eat out their substance.—He has kept among us, in times of peace, Standing Armies, without the Consent of our legislatures.—He has affected to render the Military independent of and superior to the Civil power.—He has combined with others to subject us to a jurisdiction foreign to our constitution, and unacknowledged by our laws; giving his Assent to their Acts of pretended Legislation:—For quartering large bodies of armed troops among us:—For protecting them, by a mock Trial, from punishment for any Murders which they should commit on the Inhabitants of these States:—For cutting off our Trade with all parts of the world:—For imposing taxes on us without our Consent:—For depriving us in many cases, of the benefits of Trial by Jury:—For transporting us beyond Seas to be tried for pretended offences:—For abolishing the free System of English Laws in a neighboring Province, establishing therein an Arbitrary government, and enlarging its Boundaries so as to render it at once an example and fit instrument for introducing the same absolute rule into these Colonies:—For taking away our Charters, abolishing our most valuable Laws, and altering fundamentally the Forms of our Governments:—For suspending our own Legislatures, and declaring themselves invested with power to legislate for us in all cases whatsoever.—He has abdicated Government here, by declaring us out of his Protection and waging War against us.—He has plundered our seas, ravaged our Coasts, burnt our towns, and destroyed the lives of our people.—He is at this time transporting large Armies of foreign Mercenaries to compleat the works of death, desolation and tyranny, already begun with circumstances of Cruelty & perfidy scarcely paralleled in the most barbarous ages, and totally unworthy the Head of a civilized nation.—He has constrained our fellow Citizens taken Captive on the high Seas to bear Arms against their Country, to become the executioners of their friends and Brethren, or to fall themselves by their Hands.—He has excited domestic insurrections amongst us, and has endeavoured to bring on the inhabitants of our frontiers, the merciless Indian Savages, whose known rule of warfare is an undistinguished destruction of all ages, sexes and conditions. In every stage of these Oppressions We have Petitioned for Redress in the most humble terms: Our repeated Petitions have been answered only by repeated injury. A Prince, whose character is thus marked by every act which may define a Tyrant, is unfit to be the ruler of a free people. Nor have We been wanting in attentions to our British brethren. We have warned them from time to time of attempts by their legislature to extend an unwarrantable jurisdiction over us. We have reminded them of the circumstances of our emigration and settlement here. We have appealed to their native justice and magnanimity, and we have conjured them by the ties of our common kindred to disavow these usurpations which, would inevitably interrupt our connections and correspondence. They too have been deaf to the voice of justice and of consanguinity. We must, therefore, acquiesce in the necessity, which denounces our Separation, and hold them, as we hold the rest of mankind, Enemies in War, in Peace Friends.—

WE, THEREFORE, the REPRESENTATIVES of the UNITED STATES OF AMERICA, in General Congress, Assembled, appealing to the Supreme Judge of the world for the rectitude of our intentions, do, in the Name, and by Authority of the good People of these Colonies, solemnly publish and declare, That these United Colonies are, and of Right ought to be FREE AND INDEPENDENT STATES; that they are absolved from all Allegiance to the British Crown, and that all political connection between them and the State of Great Britain, is and ought to be totally dissolved; and that as Free and Independent States, they have full Power to levy War, conclude Peace, contract Alliances, establish Commerce, and to do all other Acts and Things which Independent States may of right do.— And for the support of this Declaration, with a firm reliance on the protection of Divine Providence, we mutually pledge to each other our Lives, our Fortunes and our sacred Honor.

The text of the Constitution and the first nineteen amendments is taken from Documents Illustrative of the Formation of the Union of the American States. (Selected, arranged, and indexed by Charles C.
