PREFACE

The committee to supervise the publication of the "Code Supplement 1907" has endeavored to make the edition of the supplement such that it would be a credit to the state, and of great value to those who use it.

It has been the aim of the committee to follow closely the general style and system of the code and first supplement, believing that much innovation in a work of this kind would be improper and probably confusing. If the result of its efforts shall be as acceptable as that of the committees which have preceded it, the committee will be content.

Mr. C. N. Jepson, as code editor, and his assistants, have done their work faithfully and well, with a spirit of enthusiasm and a desire to have the volume as nearly perfect as they could make it, and the same spirit seems to have actuated all who have had any part in its construction. Their earnestness and efforts deserve commendation.

The committee has had the benefit of the counsel and kindly advice of Hon. J. H. Trewin, chairman of the previous Code and Code Supplement Supervising Committees, and also the advice and services of Mr. J. R. Carter, former editor. The committee was fortunate in procuring the annotations from Judge Emlin McClain, whose work in this line has heretofore been so acceptable to the state.

The volume covers the work of six general assemblies and contains the annotations of the 103rd to the 133rd Iowa reports, inclusive, and subsequent cases in the Northwestern Reporter, down to the beginning of the September term, 1907, of the supreme court. Also the cases in the federal courts, during the same period, in which the constitution or statutes of the state have been construed or applied. The labor of publishing this supplement was far greater than the legislature anticipated when it passed the law directing its publication.

The committee regrets that it was not possible to properly complete the volume within the time prescribed, but hopes that the quality of the work will fully excuse the delay, and trusts the same will meet with approval.

PREFACE TO SUPPLEMENT OF 1902

When it was proposed at the extra session of the twenty-sixth general assembly that the state should publish an annotated code, objection was made that it would become obsolete in a few years and that the people would be obliged to rely upon private enterprise for the publication of the laws. The answer was section twenty-four of the act under which the code was published and which read as follows: "The twenty-ninth general assembly and each third general assembly thereafter shall select, in a manner as provided in section two hereof for the selection of editor, some competent and suitable person to compile, annotate and superintend the publication of the statutes of a general or permanent nature enacted after the adoption of the code."

In pursuance of this provision the twenty-ninth general assembly elected John R. Carter, Esq., editor of the code supplement, and enacted the statute for its annotation and publication which is found on the first and second pages of this volume. Under its provisions the committee has had general supervision of the work; and Mr. Carter has made the copy, compared it with the enrolled bills, prepared the tables, revised, enlarged and materially improved the index, annotated the negotiable instruments law, read the proof and in short performed all his duties in a most satisfactory manner.

The annotations were purchased from the Hon. Emlin McClain which is a sufficient guaranty of their excellence.

The committee is under obligation to the Hon. John J. Crawford of the New York bar, author of "Crawford's Annotated Negotiable Instruments Law," for the use of the annotations to his work.

Every effort has been made by all concerned to produce a creditable work, and the universal favor with which the code was received leads the committee to hope that this supplement will meet with like approval.

EDITORIAL NOTE

In the present code supplement the general form and arrangement of the code supplement of 1902 has been retained as nearly as possible. The arrangement in that supplement seemed to meet with general approval, and the profession and users of it have become accustomed to it; then, too, the last three sessions of the legislature, in many instances, have amended or added to matter in the code supplement by reference thereto. It has been difficult to at all times follow this plan satisfactorily, and at the same time obtain a symmetrical work.

The present volume includes all laws of a public nature passed by the twenty-seventh to the thirty-second general assemblies, inclusive. The annotations appearing in the code supplement of 1902 giving reference to the Northwestern Reporter have in all instances been changed to the volume and page of the Iowa Reports, except in those cases not officially reported, the citations to the Northwestern Reporter in such instances having been retained. The citations to what is known as the "Negotiable Instruments Law" appearing in the last supplement have been retained, and other Iowa annotations added. The new annotations were procured by the Code Supplement Supervising Committee from Justice Emlin McClain of the supreme court.

The index to the present code supplement covers both this work and the code of 1897. In some instances it has been enlarged. The letter S, preceding sections in the index, indicates that the same will be found in the code supplement. All other reference is to the code.

The statutes and rules of the supreme court have been added, and indexed separately, and a table given, showing where all general legalizing acts, relating to conveyances may be found, the time of taking effect, and the general assembly that enacted the same.

The table of the acts of the twenty-seventh to the thirty-second general assemblies, inclusive, is consecutively numbered and shows where, in this supplement, the matter is placed. This table also shows where, in the supplement of 1902, all public laws passed by the twenty-seventh, twenty-eighth and twenty-ninth general assemblies are found.

A table is given showing sections of the code and code supplement of 1902 that have been amended or repealed and substitute enactments passed by the twenty-seventh to the thirty-second general assemblies, inclusive.

With the assistance of Mr. Carter, the editor of the supplement of 1902, a table has been made and placed herein, showing all of the present sections of the code and code supplement, and the corresponding sections of McClain's code of 1888, the code of 1873, the revision of 1860, the code of 1851, and the territorial code of 1843 as near as that was possible, and giving the chapter and section of the general assembly where the matter originated, or has been amended. A note at the head of this table explains it more in detail.

I have endeavored to make the present code supplement perfect. That it is perfect or without mistakes, I appreciate would be too much to claim. It is the result of my best effort.

The members of the Supervising Committee have invariably been kind to me and have helped in every way possible within their power to make this work satisfactory to the profession and public generally; and to Mr. Carter, editor of the last code supplement, I am indebted for much valuable counsel and assistance.

C. N. JEPSON.

EDITORIAL NOTE TO CODE SUPPLEMENT OF 1902

That I should say something concerning the volume, which is here produced, will not only be expected but, certainly, considered fitting and proper. In the discharge of my duties, as editor of the code supplement, I have spared myself neither time nor labor to make the work perfect in every respect. How well I have succeeded in accomplishing this, or what measure of success has attended my efforts, I leave for those who may have occasion to consult the work to determine. That it will be found without error is probably too much to expect, notwithstanding the care with which every page has been watched.

The annotations found herein, with the exception of those found under the negotiable instruments law, have been furnished by Judge Emlin McClain of our supreme court. The Iowa annotations to the negotiable instruments law were prepared by myself, while those of other states were taken substantially from "Crawford's Annotated Negotiable Instruments Law" (second edition), the author having very kindly consented to the use of the same. It was not the purpose to exhaustively annotate this law, but only to give a sufficient citation of authorities, and those most accessible to the bar, to assist in a proper construction of the law. These annotations differ from those furnished by Judge McClain, both as to form and arrangement, following, as they do, the style used by the author in his work on the same subject.

The index will be found to be a complete index to both the code and supplement, referring the user to the one or the other where the matter will be found. The sections that will be found in the supplement, referred to in the index, are preceded by the black letter S. All sections following said letter will be understood to be in the supplement, while those not preceded by said letter will be understood to be in the code. For the reason that so many had become more or less familiar with the old index it was thought best to use the same as the basis for the new, correcting, enlarging and adding to as might be found necessary, which has been done.

The table of acts of the twenty-seventh, twenty-eighth and twenty-ninth general assemblies, numerically arranged, shows where, in this work, the corresponding matter will be found. The table of amended sections, while prepared more particularly for the new edition of the code, has been inserted herein, and will be found useful to those who have not the amended sections noted in their code. At the request of the Code Supplement Supervising Committee, I have prepared other tables, which will be found in the new edition of the code. One, a table of cases cited in the code to the Northwestern Reporter, and which table shows the official Iowa report and page, where those cases may be found; also a table of session laws.

I desire to acknowledge the very kind and courteous treatment I have received from the Code Supplement Supervising Committee, and each and every member thereof.

JOHN R. CARTER.

In the fore part of the third volume of McClain's Digest will be found a table based on the Code of 1873 with the Code of 1897.

The following table of consecutive sections of the Code of 1897 and Code Supplement of 1907 shows the corresponding sections of McClain's Code of 1888, the Code of 1873, the Revision of 1860, the Code of 1851, and chapter of the Statutes of 1843. The table also gives the Session Laws of the general assemblies since 1860, by number, chapter and section, enacting or amending the law. The Statutes of 1843, not being sectionized, reference to it is made to the chapter where corresponding or kindred matter is found.

The Revision of 1860 contains the laws of the first to eighth general assemblies, inclusive; the Code of 1873, the ninth to fourteenth, inclusive; McClain's Code of 1888, the fifteenth to twenty-second, inclusive; the Code of 1897, the twenty-third to twenty-sixth, inclusive; the Supplement of 1902, the twenty-seventh to twenty-ninth, inclusive, and the Supplement of 1907, the twenty-seventh to thirty-second, inclusive.

Be it Enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Iowa:

SECTION 1. That within five days after this act becomes a law the president of the senate and the speaker of the house shall each appoint from the senate and house respectively, three members as a joint committee to be known as the "Code Supplement Supervising Committee." Vacancies shall be filled in same manner. The committee shall be allowed expenses as hereinafter provided.

SEC. 2. Said committee shall have general supervision of the work of compiling the acts of a general and permanent nature of the twenty-seventh, twenty-eighth and twenty-ninth general assemblies, annotating the same and the code and the rules of the supreme court, and indexing and publishing such compilation as hereinafter provided.

SEC. 3. The editor shall prepare the compilation of said supplement and the index and annotations and have general supervision of the work under the direction of the committee. His compensation shall be fifteen hundred dollars ($1,500.00). The secretary of state shall deliver to the editor the enrolled bills for use in proof reading, which shall be by the enrolled bills.

The editor shall copyright the said supplement, its index, numbers, chapters, sections, annotations and its entire arrangement and publication and assign such copyright to the state of Iowa.

In case of neglect or inability to act on the part of the editor said committee may discharge him and employ another one instead.

SEC. 4. Said committee shall cause to be prepared a compilation of the laws of a general and permanent nature of the twenty-seventh, twenty-eighth and twenty-ninth general assemblies, arranged into sections, chapters and titles and numbered so as to conform to the code: Also, annotations thereof and of the code and rules of the supreme court to and including the decisions handed down at the May, 1902, term. Said annotations shall be arranged under the appropriate sections or section numbers of the code and rules as the case may be.

SEC. 5. Sections of the code which have been amended shall be given in said compilation as amended. Where additional sections have been added to any section, chapter or title, the same shall be appropriately placed and numbered thus: (Section 51-a, 51-b, 51-c, as the case may be.) If there are neither amendments nor annotations to a section, the number thereof may be omitted in such compilation.

SEC. 6. The committee shall also cause to be prepared a complete index to said supplement including such revision and reprinting of the index to the code as it may deem necessary.

SEC. 7. Said committee for the purpose of accomplishing such work, may employ such competent annotators, editorial assistants, stenographers, and clerks as may be necessary to complete the work within the time hereinafter required. The said committee may purchase such compilation, annotations or index, or any part thereof, as may be deemed for the best interests of the state.

SEC. 8. The committee shall cause said supplement to the code to be well-made of first-class material, printed on electro-plates and bound in full law sheep in one volume, hand-sewed and in accordance with the best workmanship and methods of publishing law books. In size, type, catch words, numbering, paper, binding and other materials, the same shall conform as near as may be to the code. The plates shall be preserved.

SEC. 9. Said supplement shall be distributed to the persons, sold and accounted for, except as to the price, in the manner provided in section sixteen to twenty inclusive of an act of the twenty-sixth general assembly, extra session, "to provide for the annotation, indexing, publication, distribution and sale of the code and statutes hereafter enacted, the appointment of a supervising committee and the election of an editor, and prescribing their duties," which took effect May 5, 1897. The distribution to the members of the general assembly shall commence with the twenty-ninth general assembly.

SEC. 10. The supplement to the code as herein provided to be published and distributed shall be the official edition and the only authoritative publication of the existing laws of the state and no other publication of the laws of the state except the session laws and code shall be used in the courts or referred to in the decisions by title, chapter or section in the reports of the same. Said supplement shall be received in evidence in all courts and tribunals of the state as the official publication of such laws of the state. Neither said supplement nor any part thereof shall be published except in the manner now provided by law for the publication of the code and parts thereof. Said supplement shall be sold for two dollars ($2) per volume.

SEC. 11. An edition of 15,000 copies of said code supplement shall be printed, and the first copies shall be bound and ready for distribution on or before September 1st, 1902.

SEC. 12. The members of the committee shall be allowed three cents a mile for distance actually traveled, also expenses actually incurred in the performance of their duties, and may draw their requisitions for all necessary codes, session laws, printing, postage and supplies.

SEC. 13. All bills for expenses of the committee and editor and expenditures in connection with said work shall be verified. The same shall be approved by the committee and executive council and the auditor shall draw warrants therefor upon the state treasurer and the same shall be paid out of the treasury.

SEC. 14. There is hereby appropriated out of the treasury from funds not otherwise appropriated, a sum sufficient to pay the costs and expenses of preparing, publishing and distributing said supplement to the code.

SEC. 15. This act being deemed of immediate importance shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage and publication in the Iowa State Register and Des Moines Leader, newspapers published at Des Moines, Iowa.

Approved February 24th, 1902.

I hereby certify that the foregoing act was published in the Iowa State Register and the Des Moines Leader, February 25, 1902.

Secretary of State.

PROVISIONS

RELATING TO CODE AND SUBSEQUENT STATUTES.

SECTION 18. The secretary of state may also deliver to each county auditor such number of copies of the code as, in his judgment, will be required to supply the demand, who shall sell such copies at the price fixed under the provision of section sixteen hereof, at not more than five dollars per copy, and pay the proceeds into the county treasury, on or before the first Monday in January of each year. Each county auditor shall, upon receipt of the copies transmitted to him, execute receipts therefor in duplicate, one of which he shall immediately transmit to the secretary of state, and the other to the state auditor. [26 G. A., Ext. Ses., ch. 20, § 18.] [31 G. A., ch. 1.]

SEC. 19. The said county auditor shall also, on or before the first Monday in January of each year, make out in writing under oath a statement of the number of copies sold by him and not before accounted for, and the number remaining on hand, and the amount paid to the county treasurer, and transmit such statement to the auditor of state, who shall charge the county treasurer with such amount, and the secretary of state shall certify to the auditor the number of copies transmitted to each county auditor, and the state auditor shall charge each county auditor therewith, and subsequently credit him with such as may be sold or otherwise lawfully disposed of. [26 G. A., Ext. Ses., ch. 20, § 19.] [31 G. A., ch. 1.]

SEC. 27. The code, as herein provided to be published and distributed, shall be the official edition and the only authoritative publication of the existing laws of the state, and no other publication of the laws of the state shall be used in the courts or referred to in the decisions, by title, chapter or section, in the reports of the same; and the secretary of state and all other persons are hereby prohibited from delivering or permitting to be copied any acts or resolutions, or copies thereof passed at this special session of the general assembly, except as herein provided, until after the code goes into effect; and the code or any part thereof shall be published only in the manner herein or hereafter provided by the general assembly; and the rules of the supreme court providing for the citations of sections of the laws of this state shall designate the same as contained and numbered in the official code of 1897. No public money shall be paid or expended for any publication of the laws of the state except for those published by authority of the state, and any such purchase or publication herein prohibited shall be a misdemeanor. But this section shall not prohibit the publication by the several state officers and commissions in their annual or biennial reports of extracts from the laws pertaining to their respective departments. Such extracts may be published in pamphlet form by such officers or commissions with the consent of the executive council and the same shall be paid for under the provisions of section one hundred twenty (120) of the code. The executive council may also authorize the publication by private individuals of extracts from the laws. [27 G. A., ch. 1; 28 G. A., ch. 1.] • [31 G. A., ch. 2.]

SEC. 29-a. The secretary of state is hereby authorized to distribute copies of the code and the supplement thereto, the publication of which has heretofore been authorized by law, to any foreign country or province, in exchange for similar publications by such country or province, and all publications received as the result of such exchange shall be deposited in the state library, and shall become a part of such library. [30 G. A., ch. 142, § 1.]

SEC. 29-b. It shall be the duty of the secretary of state, upon approval of the executive council, to forward to the librarian of any duly incorporated college within this state, copies of the code and laws, together with sets of the bound state documents, as the same are issued. [30 G. A., ch. 142, § 2.]

SEC. 29-c. Upon application, in writing, from the librarian or chief executive officer of any incorporated college in this state, the secretary of state shall, upon the approval of the executive council, forward to said applicant, without charge, bound volumes of the laws heretofore enacted. [30 G. A., ch. 142, § 3.]

AN ACT to provide for the publication of an edition of seven thousand and five hundred (7,500) copies of the code.

Be it Enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Iowa:

SECTION 1. That the Code Supplement Supervising Committee appointed under the provisions of "An act to provide for the compilation of the laws of the twenty-seventh, twenty-eighth and twenty-ninth general assemblies, to annotate the same and code and rules of the supreme court to and including the May term, 1902, of the supreme court and to publish said compilation and annotations as a supplement to the code, and to provide for the appointment of a supervising committee, and making an appropriation therefor," enacted by the twenty-ninth general assembly of the state of Iowa, shall cause to be published an edition of seven thousand and five hundred (7,500) copies of the code, in accordance with the provisions of "An act to provide for the annotation, indexing, distribution and sale of the code and statutes hereafter enacted, and the appointment of a supervising committee, and the election of an editor and prescribing their duties," enacted by the twenty-sixth general assembly, extra session, and which took effect May 5th, 1897, so far as applicable. Said committee may cause the plates to be corrected where errors in print occur, also may change the citations therein from Northwestern Reporter to Iowa Reports, and may print therewith the new index prepared for the supplement to the code or omit the index and may publish therewith references to amendments and subsequent enactments. [29 G. A., ch. 211, § 1.]

SEC. 2. This act being deemed of immediate importance shall take effect and be in force from and after its publication in the Iowa State Register and the Des Moines Leader, newspapers published in Des Moines, Iowa.

Approved March 22nd, 1902.

I hereby certify that the foregoing act was published in the Iowa State Register and the Des Moines Leader, March 25, 1902.

W. B. MARTIN,
Secretary of State.

CONSTITUTION OF IOWA

State Boundaries.

The boundary between Iowa and Missouri re-established. Missouri v. Iowa, 165 U. S., 118.

ARTICLE 1.

BILL OF RIGHTS.

SECTION 1. Rights of persons.

Courts have an undoubted right to inquire into the objects of a tax and to declare invalid all taxes that are levied for other than governmental purposes, and a tax may be held invalid on account of some implied prohibition of the constitution, but a court will not interfere unless it is clear that the legislature has exceeded its power. Youngerman v. Murphy, 107-686.

A right of contract exists as a necessary inference from the express guaranty of property rights, but this right, like all others, is held subject to such reasonable restrictions and regulations as may be imposed for the public good. McGuire v. Chicago, B. & Q. R. Co., 131-340.

The right of the state to regulate liberty of contract is peculiarly applicable to corporations. Corporations and natural persons do not stand in the same relation to the power which inheres in the state to regulate their conduct or methods of business. The corporate person has no rights except those with which it is endowed by the law-making power, and the power of creation necessarily implies the right of regulation. Ibid.

The provisions of Code § 2071, forbidding any contract between a railroad company and its employee, limiting its liability for injuries resulting from negligence of a co-employee, are not unconstitutional as interfering with freedom of contract. Mumford v. Chicago, R. I. & P. R. Co., 128-685.

SEC. 6. Laws uniform.

Uniformity of operation of general laws. The constitutional requirement that all laws of a general nature shall have a uniform operation means that every law shall have a uniform operation upon all citizens, persons or things of any class upon which it purports to act, and that there shall not be granted to any person or class of persons privileges which upon the same terms may not be enjoyed by all. But the legislature may classify the subjects of legislation, provided such classification is not purely arbitrary or unreasonable. Des Moines v. Bolton, 128-108.

A law is uniform which applies to every one of a defined class of cases, provided the classification is reasonable. Wooster v. Bateman, 126-552.

Special privileges and monopolies are always obnoxious, and discriminations against persons or classes still more so. Exclusive privileges and franchises cannot be granted except when absolutely necessary. Therefore held that the exception in Code § 2508, relating to the use of the "Welsbach Hydrocarbon Incandescent Lamp" in burning the lighter forms of petroleum was unconstitutional. State v. Santee, 111-1.

A statutory provision, operating alike upon all persons in all stations, is of uniform operation, within the language of constitutional provisions. Cook v. Marshall County, 119-384.

A statute giving to a land owner double damages for trespass in removing coal from his land is not unconstitutional as amounting to class legislation. Mier v. Phillips Fuel Co., 130-570.

The provisions of Code § 2579 as to required qualifications for the practice of medicine are not unconstitutional under this section. State v. Bair, 112-466.

The provisions of Code § 4764, making it criminal for a man who shall marry a woman for the purpose of escaping prosecution for seduction to afterwards desert her without good cause, is not open to the objection of want of uniformity in its operation. Morris v. Stout, 110-659.

The statute (27 G. A. ch. 108) regulating the admissibility of evidence of husband and wife in actions to set aside fraudulent conveyances from one to the other, is not unconstitutional as class legislation since it applies to every person coming within the relation and circumstances provided for. Burk v. Putnam, 113-232.

The right to hold office is not a natural or personal right in such sense that the statute granting preference to honorably discharged veterans of the civil war in the appointment to minor offices is unconstitutional. Shaw v. Marshalltown, 131-128.

The provisions of Code § 1347, requiring all peddlers carrying on a business outside of any city or town to secure a license from the county auditor and pay a tax therefor, but exempting from the payment of such tax persons who have served in the Union army or navy, is unconstitutional because not of uniform operation. State v. Garbroski, 111-496.

An ordinance requiring persons riding bicycles on the streets at night to carry a light is not unconstitutional, although no similar provision is made as to persons on other silently running vehicles. Des Moines v. Keller, 116-648.

An ordinance as to rates of fare on a street railway providing lower fares by way of commutation tickets to citizens of the city, not to be enjoyed by other citizens of the state, held invalid by reason of want of uniformity of operation. State ex rel. v. Omaha & Council Bluffs R. & B. Co., 113-30.

The provisions as to jurisdiction of superior courts are not unconstitutional under this section. Page v. Millerton, 114-378.

A curative statute legalizing the exercise in a particular case of authority given to counties in general held not to be invalid under this section. Witter v. Board of Supervisors, 112-380.

Corporations: While a corporation is not a citizen, it is a person, and as such may not rightfully be denied the protection of the laws of the state upon equal terms with all other persons upon like circumstances and conditions. McGuire v. Chicago, B. & Q. R. C., 131-340.

But the reasonable classification of persons for the purpose of legislation, according to occupation, business or other circumstances, by which one class or portion of the people is differentiated from other portions or classes, is not a violation of the constitutional guaranty. Ibid.

Legislation imposing upon railway companies special restrictions, obligations and liabilities not generally applicable to other persons or corporations, is not a denial of the equal protection of the laws. Ibid.

Therefore held that the so-called Temple Amendment to Code § 2071 prohibiting railroad companies from limiting their liability by contracts of insurance or relief is not invalid. Ibid.

It is not necessary that the law should apply alike to all persons or all corporations in the state. If it is applicable to every person or corporation brought within the relations and circumstances provided for by the law, it is constitutional. Scottish U. & N. Ins. Co. v. Herriott, 109-606.

The state is not prohibited from discriminating in the privileges it may grant to foreign insurance companies as a condition of their doing business within the limits of the state. Ibid.

There is no requirement of either the federal or state constitution that taxes on business or privileges shall be uniform. Ibid.

A statute making special provision as to the rate of charge for loans by building and loan associations is not unconstitutional. Iowa Sav. & L. Assn. v. Heidt, 107-297.

The statutory provision prohibiting combinations between insurance companies is not open to the objection that it is not of uniform operation. Greenwich Ins. Co. v. Carroll, 125 Fed., 121.

The requirement as to uniformity of laws does not prevent provisions as to the business of unincorporated associations which are different from those applicable to the same business conducted by corporations. Brady v. Mattern, 125-158.

Taxation: The legislature has plenary power in classifying property for taxation, and may make this classification dependent not only upon use, but upon ownership as well. Waterloo & C. F. R. T. Co. v. Board of Supervisors, 131-237.

The legislature may impose a higher rate of tax upon foreign corporations than it does upon corporations organized under the laws of the state. Scottish U. & N. Ins. Co. v. Herriott, 109-606.

The eastern half of the Union Pacific Company's bridge across the Missouri river, although within the corporate limits of the city of Council Bluffs, is not subject to municipal taxation, as it is separated from the city by a large body of land used for agricultural purposes, and does not receive either fire or police protection from the city. Arnd v. Union Pac. R. Co., 120 Fed., 912.

SEC. 7. Liberty of speech and the press.

Freedom of speech must be exercised with due regard for the rights of all people. State v. Heacock, 106-191.

While the press enjoys the utmost latitude in reviewing the action of the courts and may after the particular litigation is ended assail with just criticism opinions, rulings and judgments with the weapons of reason, ridicule or sarcasm, it is an act of contempt to publish and distribute in such way that it is likely to fall into the hands of jurors and witnesses matter which reflects upon one of the parties to the litigation and is intended to indicate the result which should be reached. Field v. Thornell, 106-7.

The truth can be shown as a defense only when the publication is made with good motives and for justifiable ends. Except as thus modified the common law relating to libel governs. State v. Haskins, 109-656.

The right to plead the truth of a libel is restricted to publications made with good motives and for justifiable ends. The liberty of the press does not mean that the publisher of a newspaper shall be any less responsible than another person would be for publishing otherwise the same libelous matter. Morse v. Times-Republican Printing Co., 124-707.

SEC. 8. Personal security.

Searches and seizures: The guaranty against search, except on warrant issued on probable cause, applies to the person of the defendant in a criminal case as well as to his papers, and while it is well settled that when one is charged with an offense the officers may, without further legal procedure, seize the weapons with which the crime is committed, property which has been obtained by means of the criminal act, or articles which may give a clue to the commission of the crime or identification of the criminal, and that the officer making such search may testify as to any facts, even though crinating, which were discovered thereby, yet compulsory examination of the person of the defendant is not authorized, and evidence procured by means of such compulsory examination should be excluded. State v. Height, 117-650.

Evidence obtained by a search of defendant's house under a search warrant unlawfully issued is inadmissible as against the defendant in a criminal prosecution. State v. Sheridan, 121-164.

A description which points out or identifies the place to be searched with such reasonable identity as will obviate any mistake in locating it is all that is required. State v. Moore, 125-749.

The invasion of a dwelling without lawful reason or proper procedure is a wrong for which recovery may be had in damages, unless the owner has voluntarily consented to such invasion. McClurg v. Brenton, 123-368.

SEC. 9. Trial by jury—due process of law.

Jury trial: It is no violation of the general constitutional provision as to due process of law to provide that an appeal from the action of the board of supervisors on an application to secure a drainage of wet lands, shall be tried without a jury. It is only as to damages that there is a constitutional right to jury trial. In re Bradley, 108-476.

Within the meaning of the constitution the right of trial by jury extends only to those cases where a jury was necessary according to the course of procedure at common law. Therefore jury trial is not essential in a proceeding by appeal to question the legality of special assessments for public ditches. Sisson v. Board of Supervisors, 128-442.

Due process: The privilege of pleading usury is not a vested right which cannot be taken away by subsequent legislation. So held as to an act legalizing loans by building and loan associations providing for the payment of more than lawful interest on the sum borrowed. Iowa Sav. & L. Assn. v. Heidt, 107-297.

The right of the owner of the bed of a non-navigable stream to fish over his own land is subject to legislative control. State v. Beardsley, 108-396.

The legislature cannot, by a change in the statute as to limitation of actions, cut off instantly the remedy by suit upon an existing cause of action. A reasonable time must be given within which to prosecute the action under the new statute. Cassady v. Grimmelman, 108-695.

Confiscation of property without a judicial hearing, after due notice, is not due process of law, and a collateral inheritance tax authorized to be imposed without notice to those claiming the inheritance is invalid, where such a tax is in effect a property tax, and not a tax upon the right of succession. But such a tax may be rendered valid where the estate has not yet been fully settled by a curative act providing for such notice. Ferry v. Campbell, 110-290.

The legislature cannot by a retrospective statute require payment of higher fees in case of renewal of a corporation than those provided for by law at the time the legal steps for renewal were taken and tender of the fees then required by law was made. Lamb v. Dobson, 117-124.

The right to an appeal from one court or tribunal to another has never been held to be in itself essential to due process of law. Ross v. Board of Supervisors, 128-427.

The fact that superior courts are given concurrent jurisdiction with the district courts throughout the county, even in cases where there are two divisions of the county for district court purposes, does not render the statutory provisions as to superior courts unconstitutional under this section. Page v. Millerton, 114-378.

The salary of an officer is property for which he is entitled to the protection of due process of law. State v. Miller, 132-587.

In criminal cases: Due process of law, as guaranteed by the constitution, has received a very broad and liberal interpretation. Every one is entitled to the protection of those principles of liberty and justice which lie at the basis of all our civil and political institutions. State v. Height, 117-650.

Fundamental principles of judicial procedure, whether in civil or criminal cases, as they existed and were recognized in the courts of England and the American colonies prior to the adoption of the federal and state constitutions, are intended to be preserved by this guaranty, and while forms may change, essential guaranties cannot be taken away, even by attempted legislative enactment. Ibid.

The rule that involuntary confessions cannot be shown as against the defendant in a criminal prosecution, although not recognized in our constitution or statutory provisions, is essentially involved in the guaranty of due process of law. Ibid.

Likewise the rule against requiring a witness to give self-incriminating evidence in any judicial proceeding, is fundamental, although not specifically guaranteed. And held, therefore, in a criminal prosecution, it was not competent for the state to prove the result of a compulsory examination of the person of the defendant. Ibid.

The provision for the trial and punishment of constructive contempts by the court without a jury does not deprive a person charged with such contempt of his liberty or property without due process of law. Drady v. District Court, 126-345.

Presence of the judge in the court room in a criminal case is essential unless waived by defendant. State v. Hammer, 116-284.

To admit as against a defendant in a criminal prosecution evidence procured by an unlawful search of his premises under a pretended search warrant would amount to a denial of due process of law. State v. Sheridan, 121-164.

A corporation is a person within the constitutional provisions as to due process of law, and a statutory provision prohibiting agreements between insurance companies as to the rates of commissions to agents is unconstitutional as depriving them of the right of contract. Greenwich Ins. Co. v. Carroll, 125 Fed., 121.

The statutory provision imposing upon relatives the expense of the maintenance of an insane person at the state hospital is not unconstitutional as depriving a person upon whom such obligation is imposed of his property without due process of law. Guthrie County v. Conrad, 133-171.

Taxation and assessments: The treasurer may be authorized to assess the tax due on property which the owner has failed to disclose to the assessor. Galusha v. Wendt, 114-597.

Although the treasurer is allowed a commission on taxes collected he is not thereby disqualified from acting under Code § 1374 in enforcing payment of taxes on omitted property. Beresheim v. Arnd, 117-83.

A statute is not unconstitutional which provides for the collection of a tax by summary proceedings. Hodge v. Muscatine County, 121-482.

In a proceeding for the establishment of a county ditch a landowner whose property has been included within the drainage district and which is generally benefited by the improvement may be assessed for the cost thereof, although his property is not directly benefited by the specific improvement. Oliver v. Monona County, 117-43.

A statute providing for the assessment of the expenses of constructing a ditch upon lands not abutting, the owners of which have received no notice of the proceedings, is unconstitutional as depriving such owners of their property without due process of law. Beebe v. Magoun, 122-94.

When the amount of tax to be exacted depends upon the exercise of judgment and discretion of those fixing the value of the property or benefits by which such amount is to be measured, an opportunity for correction must be afforded. Ibid.

SEC. 10. Rights of persons accused.

Copy of indictment: Where a copy of the indictment is delivered to an attorney for the defendant there is a sufficient compliance with the constitutional requirement that defendant be furnished with a copy of the indictment against him. State v. McClain, 130-73.

Whether the copy of the indictment delivered to the defendant is a correct copy is a matter to be determined by the trial court when any question is raised with reference thereto. State v. Hatlestad, 132-188.

Further as to furnishing defendant with a copy of the indictment, see Code § 5274 and notes.

Public trial: It rests within the sound discretion of the trial court to exclude the witnesses and send the jury from the room pending argument on a question. The constitutional guaranty is for the purpose of securing to the accused a fair and honest consideration by the jury of the charges made against him. State v. Worthen, 124-408.

Speedy trial: It is not competent on appeal in a criminal case for the supreme court to dismiss the proceeding on the ground that the defendant had not been given a speedy trial. State v. Sloan, 131-676.

Issue of fact: The court has no power to instruct that an essential fact is established notwithstanding all the evidence tends to prove such fact. State v. Lightfoot, 107-344. And on this point see also notes to Code § 5386.

Waiver: The defendant in a criminal case may waive the benefit of a statutory provision intended for the protection of his rights. State v. Smith, 132-645.

Constitutional provisions for the benefit of persons accused may be waived and the conviction based on such waiver will be valid, provided it is pronounced by a court having jurisdiction and duly constituted to try the case. Busse v. Barr, 132-463.

Waiver of trial by jury: On an appeal to the district court from a conviction before the mayor for violation of a city ordinance, the defendant may waive a jury trial. Lovilia v. Cobb, 126-557.

The court is wholly without jurisdiction to hear or try an issue of fact in a criminal case without the aid of a jury, and consent or waiver of the defendant does not estop him from taking advantage of the error. State v. Rea, 126-65.

Confronting witnesses: Defendant is not deprived of privilege of confronting witnesses by provision for admitting testimony of absent witnesses as set out in application for continuance. State v. Wiltsey, 103-54.

The right of the defendant to be confronted with the witnesses against him in a criminal case is one which may be waived. State v. Smith, 124-334.

A proceeding to disbar an attorney is not a criminal prosecution, and the requirement that accused be confronted by the witnesses against him has no application. State v. Mosher, 128-82.

The right to be confronted by a witness against him may be waived by defendant, as for instance by a stipulation for the admission of a transcript of the evidence taken on a former trial. State v. Olds, 106-110.

Swearing of witnesses: To allow a material witness for prosecution to give testimony without being sworn is ground for new trial. State v. Lugar, 115-268.

Attendance of witnesses: The statutory provision that defendant asking for a continuance on the ground of the absence of a witness must set out what he expects to prove by such witness, and that a continuance shall not be granted if the opposite party admits the testimony thus set out, is not unconstitutional as depriving defendant in a criminal case of the right to have his witnesses present. State v. Wiltsey, 103-54.

Assistance of counsel: Although the constitution guarantees to the defendant the right to the assistance of counsel, it is competent for the legislature to reasonably regulate and prescribe the manner of the appointment of such counsel. Korf v. Jasper County, 132-682.

SEC. 11. When indictment necessary.

Constitutional provisions for the benefit of persons accused may be waived, and the conviction based on such waiver will be valid, provided it is pronounced by a court having jurisdiction, and duly constituted to try the case. Busse v. Barr, 132-463.

Objection to the selection of the grand jury may be waived by a failure to make such objection at the proper time, and an objection thus waived cannot afterwards be made a ground for release on habeas corpus from the enforcement of the sentence imposed in a trial had under the indictment. Ibid.

SEC. 12. Twice tried—bail.

An act may constitute two offenses, one against the state and the other against a city or town; and conviction of one may not be pleaded as constituting former jeopardy in a prosecution for the other. Nicola v. Reichart, 131-492.

While in general an acquittal in a criminal case is not a bar to a subsequent civil action founded on the same facts,

Jurisdiction of justice of the peace: A statute providing for the punishment of an offense before a justice of the peace may provide for charging different violations in separate counts, although the aggregate fines which may be imposed under such information may exceed $100. State v. Denhardt, 129-135.

Where an ordinance provided for cumulative penalties for a continuing act, which might amount to more than $100, held that the offense was not one within the jurisdiction of a justice of the peace. State v. Babcock, 112-250.

yet, where the civil action is to secure a forfeiture which would have been a part of the penalty to be imposed in the criminal proceeding, and is between the same parties, the previous acquittal is a bar. State v. Meek, 112-338.

On reversal of a conviction for manslaughter under an indictment charging murder in the first degree, the defendant can only again be put on trial for the offense of which he was convicted, and he is only entitled to the number of peremptory challenges allowed in case of a prosecution for such offense. State v. Smith, 132-645.

SEC. 18. Eminent domain.

The power of taking private property for public use may be delegated through an act of the legislature, and it is for that body to determine in the first instance what are the public uses to subservise which a grant of power may properly be made. Interference on the part of the courts with the exercise of this legislative power will not be warranted except where there is a clear, plain and palpable transgression of the constitutional rule. Sisson v. Board of Supervisors, 128-442.

That a use for which private property is authorized to be taken shall be a public use, it is not essential that the entire community or any considerable portion of it should directly enjoy or participate in the improvement or enterprise, nor that each person to be benefited shall be affected in precisely the same manner or in the same degree. Ibid.

The substitution of one public use to the exclusion of other public uses is not an invasion of a right of property; therefore held that a statute giving to the board of park commissioners of Des Moines jurisdiction over the banks and bed of the river authorized such board to regulate the taking of ice from the river within such limits. Board of Park Commissioners v. Diamond Ice Co., 130-603.

An ordinary servitude for a street railway is not an additional use of streets dedicated to public purposes. Snyder v. Ft. Madison Street R. Co., 105-284.

Consequential injury to the property owner's entire premises, due to the taking of a portion thereof as a part of the site for a public school building, should be considered in estimating the damages resulting from the taking of his property. Haggard v. Independent Sch. Dist., 113-486.

SEC. 21. Attainder—ex post facto law—obligation of contract.

Ex post-facto: A statute which increases the punishment of an offense already committed is unconstitutional. Therefore held that a statute by which an offense previously punishable as petit larceny on information before a justice of the peace was made indictable on account of three previous convictions was not applicable to an offense committed before the statute went into effect. State v. Dale, 110-215.

Retroactive laws: A statute affecting the remedy only is not unconstitutional as applied to a right existing before the statute is passed. Allerton v. Monona County, 111-560.

Benefits will not be taken into account in estimating such consequential injuries. Ibid.

Benefits from the improvement are not to be considered. Lough v. Minneapolis & St. L. R. Co., 116-31.

A statute requiring the construction of fishways in dams already constructed or owned by authority of the state, is not unconstitutional. State v. Meek, 112-338.

In determining, as between the state and a telephone company, the right to use the public highways, the question of damages to abutting owners will not be considered. State v. Nebraska Tel. Co., 127-194.

The provision in the statute for special assessments for public ditches, that the damages shall be secured to be paid upon such terms and conditions as the county auditor may deem just and proper is not unconstitutional. Sisson v. Board of Supervisors, 128-442.

A tax for a combination railroad and toll bridge is not unconstitutional. Pritchard v. Magoun, 109-364.

The land owner is entitled to a trial by a jury of twelve on appeal to the district court, and this proceeding is removable to the federal court in a proper case. Kirby v. Chicago & N. W. R. Co., 106 Fed., 551.

The improvement of a street to the damage of an abutting property owner does not constitute a taking of private property without compensation, although no provision is made for the reimbursement of such owner for the damage suffered, even though by excavation in the street to its full width his property is deprived of lateral support. Talcott v. Des Moines, 109 N. W. 311.

The constitution does not forbid the enactment of retroactive laws, and the validity of such statutes has frequently been upheld. Ross v. Board of Supervisors, 128-427.

A statute relating simply to the remedy, such as the statute of limitations, may apply to causes of action previously existing, but a statute affecting the terms of a previous contract, for instance, one which extends the term of limitation of action fixed in a policy of insurance, will not be applied to contracts already made. Farmers' Co-op. Creamery Co. v. Iowa State Ins. Co., 112-603.

The term of limitation for bringing action under provisions of an insurance policy cannot be extended by statute. Ibid.

Statutory provisions as to collection of taxes on omitted property are not unconstitutional, though given retrospective operation. Galusha v. Wendt, 114-597.

One who acquires by grant from the state the right to maintain a dam already erected by the state, takes such right subject to the police power of the state to require the construction of a fishway. State v. Meek, 112-338.

Legalizing acts: A curative act may be valid. Iowa Saving & Loan Assn. v. Selby, 111-402.

The bringing of suit vests no right in a particular decision, and a curative act may be effectual to obviate the effect of defective or unauthorized proceedings of a municipal corporation, even after the bringing of suit in which the legality of the corporate act is brought in question, provided no contract or vested right is affected. Windsor v. Des Moines, 110-175.

The defect in the collateral inheritance tax law, consisting of failure to provide for notice to those taking the inheritance, held cured by a retrospective statute providing for notice, so that in a case where the estate was not settled the supreme court might on appeal reverse the judgment entered in the lower court based on the failure of the law to provide for such notice. Ferry v. Campbell, 110-290.

The legislature may legalize the recording of instruments defectively acknowledged, and held that such a statute was applicable to an instrument of adoption. Bresser v. Saarman, 112-720.

The legislature may legalize any act which it might lawfully have authorized in the first instance, and held that it could provide retrospectively that a notice to nonresidents by publication was valid, a proceeding in which such notice might have been authorized. Fair v. Buss, 117-164.

The legislature may by amendment cure a constitutional defect in a statute, the main purpose of which is within the scope of legislative power, and give such amendment retroactive effect upon cases already begun and pending. Ross v. Board of Supervisors, 128-427.

Where a curative act has removed the invalidity of a contract, such invalidity is not restored by repeal. Edworthy v. Iowa Sav. & L. Assn., 114-220.

Obligation of contracts: Where city warrants are issued at a time when the statutes required their payment in the order of presentation, such provision is a part of the warrant, and subsequent legislation subordinating prior warrants to those for subsequent years would be unconstitutional as to warrants issued before the statute went into effect. Phillips v. Reed, 109-188.

A statute which is found in its application to a particular case to impair the obligation of a contract, may be held unconstitutional in that respect, although valid in other cases. Brady v. Mattern, 125-158.

A judgment rendered upon a tort or other cause of action not entitled to protection as a contract may be impaired without violating the constitutional inhibition. Ferry v. Campbell, 110-290.

Whether a judgment is a contract within the constitutional provision, quaere. Wooster v. Bateman, 126-552.

Change of judicial decision cannot constitute the impairment of the constitutional obligation of contracts. Swanson v. Ottumwa, 131-540.

The period of limitation may be reduced without impairing the obligation of an existing contract, provided a reasonable period within which to maintain action on such contract is preserved. Wooster v. Bateman, 126-552.

In determining what is a reasonable time, the period which has elapsed between the enactment of the statute and its taking effect may be considered. Ibid.

Where there is a contract to pay for services out of a specified fund of a building and loan association, such associations being expressly made subject to legislative control, the act of the legislature in abolishing the fund from which payment could be made is not invalid as impairing the obligation of a contract. Wood v. Iowa Bldg. & Loan Assn., 126-464.

As corporate charters are subject to legislative control, the provision in a franchise granted to a street railway company that it shall not be liable for the expense of street improvements otherwise than as specified in such franchise, does not prevent subsequent regulations imposing additional obligations on such company. Marshalltown Light, P. & R. Co. v. Marshalltown, 127-637.

Where a county had contracted with agents to discover property omitted or concealed from taxation, for a compensation to be determined by a percentage of the taxes collected from such property, held that a subsequent statute limiting the percentage which could thus be contracted for was not valid as to services previously rendered under a valid contract. Shinn v. Cunningham, 120-383.

A resolution of a city council directing the removal from the streets of the tracks of a street railway company is a law of the state within the constitutional prohibition of the impairment of the obligations of contract. Des Moines City R. Co. v. Des Moines, 151 Fed., 854.

ARTICLE 2.

RIGHT OF SUFFRAGE.

SECTION 1. Electors.

The right of suffrage is not a natural or personal right, and does not come within the scope of constitutional guaranties as to equal privileges. Shaw v. Marshalltown, 131-128.

SEC. 6. Ballot.

Voting by means of a voting machine is voting by ballot. The constitutional provision that elections shall be by ballot was intended to require and protect the secrecy of the ballot, with the general purpose of guarding against intimidation, securing freedom in the exercise of the elective franchise, and reducing to a minimum the incentives to bribery. United States Standard Voting Mch. Co. v. Hobson, 132-38.

SEC. 7. General elections.

The biennial election amendment was properly submitted as one proposition, although it involved changes in different sections of the constitution. Lobaugh v. Cook, 127-181.

ARTICLE 3.

OF THE DISTRIBUTION OF POWERS.

SECTION 1. General assembly.

A statute authorizing the county auditor to exercise judicial powers in the assessment of property for taxation is not open to attack on the ground that it is in contravention of the constitutional provision distributing the powers among the three departments. Clark v. Horn, Auditor, 122-375.

The delegation by the legislature of the power to tax may be made to a municipal corporation, but not to other agencies, and such power cannot be vested in a board of trustees not elected by the people of the municipality. State ex rel. v. Mayor of Des Moines, 103-76.

The legislature may give to executive officers a discretion in determining the conditions to be imposed on the conducting of a business which is subject to legislative control. Brady v. Mattern, 125-158.

The legislature may prescribe for the punishment as a misdemeanor of the offense of violating the rules of the state board of health, adopted and published as authorized by statute. Pierce v. Doolittle, 130-333.

SEC. 29. Acts—one subject—expressed in title.

Title of statute—one subject: The intention of this constitutional provision is to prevent the union in the same act of incongruous matter, but it is a unity of object which is to be looked for in the ultimate purpose to be attained and not in the details for accomplishing such purpose. Beresheim v. Arnd, 117-83.

Titles of legislative acts are to be liberally construed. Ibid.

The subject of an act is required to be expressed in the title only by the use of general terms. But where the purpose is not so expressed the act is void. Ree Lumber Co. v. Reed, 107-111.

In the absence of any showing of defects in the enactment of the Code, either as a whole or by titles and chapters, the court is not justified in holding that any section or chapter of the Code is void because the subject-matter is not embraced in the title. State v. Schlenker, 112-642.

The requirement is that the act shall embrace but one subject, and matters properly connected therewith. Guaranty S. & L. Assn. v. Ascherman, 108-150.

Provisions relating to the means and manner of making effective the general purpose of the act as expressed in the title do not render the act invalid, because such provisions are not included therein. Boggs v. School Township, 128-13.

The intention of the constitutional provision was to prohibit the insertion in an act of incongruous matter having no connection or relation with the general subject as expressed in the title. Accordingly the title is sufficient, although confined to general terms if it answers as a key to the subject-matter of the act. Sisson v. Board of Supervisors, 128-442.

It is the subject-matter of the act and not all matters properly connected therewith which are to be expressed in the title.

Newton v. Board of Supervisors, 112 N. W., 167.

The title of an act (24 G. A., chap. 36) relating to counterfeiting of union labels, held sufficient to cover provisions of the act relating to damages or penalty for violation thereof. Beebe v. Tolerton & Stetson Co., 117-593.

The provision that every act shall embrace but one subject, and matters properly connected therewith, which subject shall be expressed in the title, does not render invalid the provision of Code §§ 5007-8 with reference to the sale of cigarettes, by which it is provided that it shall be criminal for any one to make such sale who has not paid a mulct tax, notwithstanding the fact that this provision is contained in the title of the Code relating to crimes and punishments. Cook v. Marshall County, 119-384.

The title of the Code "Of the Practice of Medicines" sufficiently covers provisions relating to itinerant physicians professing or attempting to treat, cure or heal diseases. State v. Edmunds, 127-333.

Amendments: A title which simply

SEC. 30. Laws general and uniform.

General and special laws: Where a general law could not have been made applicable to remedy the difficulty to be cured by legislation a special statute is not unconstitutional. McCain v. Des Moines, 128-331.

The legislature may legalize a defective notice in proceedings for establishment of a highway without making such legalizing act applicable to other cases. Such a statute cannot be made of general application. Fair v. Buss, 117-164.

For incorporation of cities and towns: It was not intended by the provision of the constitution of 1857 forbidding the granting of special charters to cities to render invalid the charters already granted. Ulbrecht v. Keokuk, 124-1.

Municipal corporations: A curative statute legalizing the exercise in a particular case of authority given to counties in general held not to be invalid under this section. Witter v. Board of Supervisors, 112-380.

A statute making special provisions as to one particular city with reference to the granting of a franchise to own and operate waterworks, is invalid. Cedar Rapids Water Co. v. Cedar Rapids, 118-234.

A legalizing act, the effect of which is to except or release a certain city from the operation of a general statute, which remains in full force against all other municipalities of the state, is an evasion of the provisions of article 3, section 30, as to special legislation and invalid. Ibid.

The constitutional provision seems to have been framed with special reference to the preservation of merely local inter-names or describes an amending act as such without stating the specific character or subject of the amendment is sufficient. It is only the general purpose which is to be expressed in the title, and not the methods or provisions by which that purpose is to be accomplished. McGuire v. Chicago, B. & Q. R. Co., 131-340.

The amendment of an act in general, or of a particular section thereof, implies merely a change of its provisions upon the same subject to which the act or section relates. State v. Bristow, 131-664.

A provision for issuance of bonds by any city of a certain class for the erection of a city hall, held sufficiently embraced within the title of the act which authorized the erection of a city hall and the levy of a special tax therefor. Beaner v. Lucas, 112 N. W., 772.

The title, "An act to amend § 1898 of the Code, relating to building and loan association," held sufficient to cover curative provisions relating to such associations. Iowa Saving & Loan Assn. v. Selby, 111-402.

ests from legislative interference, except through the medium of general laws having a uniform operation throughout the state. Ibid.

A statute applicable only to cities under special charter is not invalid for want of uniformity of operation. Ulbrecht v. Keokuk, 124-1.

Uniform operation: An inheritance tax imposed on the value of the estate of the decedent above a certain exemption and applicable to that part of such estate not distributed to certain named relatives is not unconstitutional because not of uniform operation. In re McGhee's Estate, 105-9.

Discriminations between unincorporated associations and corporations conducting the same business when based on a reasonable distinction involving the public welfare are not prohibited. Brady v. Mattern, 125-158.

The statutory provision prohibiting combinations among insurance companies is not unconstitutional because not applicable to other forms of business. Greenwich Ins. Co. v. Carroll, 125 Fed. 121.

Taxation—what is: The license which a city may impose on vehicles using its streets is authorized under the police power, if the fee is only such as will cover the expense of enforcing the regulation as to a particular calling, but when the fee is larger than is necessary for such purpose and is exacted for the purpose of revenue, the license is issued under the taxing power. Des Moines v. Bolton, 128-108.

ARTICLE 4.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT.

SECTION 16. Pardons.

A pardon may be conditional and may be revoked without a judicial proceeding on breach of the condition, such revocation being provided for in the pardon itself. But the acceptance of a conditional pardon does not bind the prisoner to forfeiture of his statutory right to diminution of his term of imprisonment on account of good conduct so far as the right to diminution has accrued prior to the granting of the conditional pardon. State v. Hunter, 124-569.

ARTICLE 5.

JUDICIAL DEPARTMENT.

SECTION 1. Courts.

The establishment of superior courts is not in contravention of the provisions of this section. Page v. Millerton, 114-378.

A court cannot be authorized to perform a non-judicial function not connected with the exercise of its judicial power. Therefore held that a statute authorizing the judges of the district court to appoint trustees of city waterworks, to control and operate such works for the city, was unconstitutional. State ex rel. v. Barker, 116-96.

Although the power to punish for contempt is inherent in the courts it is within the province of the legislature to regulate the procedure. Drady v. District Court, 126-345.

Courts interfere with legislative action on the ground that it is unconstitutional only when some provision of the fundamental law is violated or when the act is clearly in violation of some implied prohibition of the constitution. Youngerman v. Murphy, 107-686.

SEC. 3. Judges elected.

It was not improper to embody the provision for changing the method for determining who should be chief justice of the supreme court in the amendment providing for biennial elections. Lobaugh v. Cook, 127-181.

SEC. 4. Jurisdiction.

The supreme court has no jurisdiction to correct findings of fact made by the jury, and it cannot consider the question whether the verdict is supported by the evidence unless that question has been presented to the lower court. Schulte v. Chicago, M. & St. P. R. Co., 124-191.

The supreme court, being given supervisory control over all inferior judicial tribunals, has the power to revise the action of such tribunal where no appeal is provided for. Home Sav. & T. Co. v. District Court, 121-1.

The jurisdiction conferred by the constitution in equity suits is that possessed by chancery courts at the time of the adoption of the constitution, and, in the absence of restriction, an appeal brings the whole case before the supreme court for review and retrial of facts as well as of law. Lessenich v. Sellers, 119-314.

SEC. 8. Style of process.

Where the mode of enforcing an ordinance is prescribed by charter, that mode should be pursued, and if thus authorized the prosecution may be in the name of the state. State v. Wilson, 109-93.

ARTICLE 7.

STATE DEBTS.

SECTION 7. Tax imposed distinctly stated.

Statutory provisions authorizing cities to impose a tax for waterworks, to be constructed under contracts to be made in the future on approval of the electors, are not in violation of this section. Youngerman v. Murphy, 107-686.

It is doubtful whether the provision of the constitution relating to laws which embody taxes has any application to license taxes. State v. Edmunds, 127-33.

The provisions requiring relatives of an insane person to pay for the support of such person at the hospital for the insane do not constitute the imposition of a tax. Guthrie County v. Conrad, 133-171.

ARTICLE 8.

CORPORATIONS.

SECTION 2. Property taxable.

The provision of Code § 1333 for payment by insurance companies of a per cent of gross earnings in lieu of all other state, county and local taxes, except taxes on real estate and special assessments, is unconstitutional, as in violation of the provisions of this section. Hawkeye Ins. Co. v. French, 109-585.

But such provision is not unconstitutional as authorizing unequal taxation. Manchester Ins. Co. v. Herriott, 91 Fed. 711.

A provision by which telegraph and telephone companies are required to pay taxes directly to the state and in so far were exempted from local taxes, was held to be invalid as providing for the taxation of the property of corporations on a different basis from that of individuals. Layman v. Iowa Telephone Co., 123-591.

It is not required that taxes on business or on privileges shall be uniform, and the state may impose a special tax on the business of foreign insurance companies within the state. Scottish U. & N. Ins. Co. v. Herriott, 109-606.

The provision of the constitution that the property of all corporations for pecuniary profit shall be subject to taxation the same as that of individuals has no application to a business or license tax, such as the taxation of an insurance company based on its gross receipts. Iowa Mut. Tornado Assn. v. Gilbertson, 129-658.

SEC. 12. Amendment or repeal of charters—exclusive privileges.

The terms of a franchise granted to a street railway company are subject to modification by subsequent legislation.

ARTICLE 9.

EDUCATION AND SCHOOL LANDS.

1. Education.

SECTION 15. Board may be abolished.

The general authority to regulate the conduct of pupils is vested in the school board as representing the school district.

Kinzer v. Independent School District, 129-441.

ARTICLE 10.

AMENDMENTS TO THE CONSTITUTION.

SECTION 1. How proposed—submission.

A proposed amendment, providing for biennial elections, held not constitutionally adopted because not entered in full on the house journal. State ex rel. v. Brookhart, 113-250.

SEC. 2. More than one.

The purpose of the provision as to submission of amendments is to exact the submission of each amendment to the constitution on its merits alone, and to secure the free and independent expression of the will of the people as to each; but if one change necessitates other corresponding changes in the constitution they may all be embodied in one proposition to amend. Lobaugh v. Cook, 127-181.

ARTICLE 11.

MISCELLANEOUS.

SECTION 1. Jurisdiction of justice of the peace.

The action of forcible entry and detainer is a summary proceeding involving only the fact of possession, and not necessarily the right of possession, and it may therefore be properly maintained before a justice of the peace. Herkimer v. Keeler, 109-680.

Where the question of unlawful detention after the expiration of a lease is alone involved, the constitutional provision limiting the jurisdiction of the justice to a certain sum does not apply. Ibid.

If the notice of action in the court of a justice of the peace requires the defendant to appear or judgment will be rendered against him for $100 and interest, the justice does not acquire jurisdiction. Evans v. Murphy, 133-550.

SEC. 3. Indebtedness of political or municipal corporations.

What indebtedness excessive: All property within the corporate limits, whether subject to assessment for city purposes or not, is to be taken into account in determining whether the indebtedness exceeds the five per cent limit. Windsor v. City of Des Moines, 110-175.

The limitation has reference to the actual value and not to the value at which the property is to be assessed under Code § 1305, providing for assessment at 25 per cent of the actual value at which it is listed. Halsey v. Belle Plaine, 128-467.

A county may not incur pecuniary liability by bonds or notes or by express or implied promises in excess of the constitutional limitation of liability. Reynolds v. Lyon County, 121-733.

The issuance of bonds in excess of the constitutional limitation for the purpose of taking up outstanding bonds which are valid is not justified where the new bonds are issued as binding obligations without a cancellation or surrender of the old ones. By such an arrangement a new debt is for the time being created. Ibid.

A judgment in the federal court in an action on interest coupons as to the validity of the bonds with reference to the constitutional limit of indebtedness is binding in a subsequent action in the state court on the bonds and their coupons, wherein the same defenses are urged as were determined in the federal court. Ibid.

If the city has on hand or in prospect at the time of the issue of warrants funds with which to meet them without trenching on the rights of creditors for current expenses of the city, such warrants are valid although such funds may afterwards have been wrongfully applied to other purposes. Phillips v. Reed, 107-331; Phillips v. Reed, 109-188.

New bonds issued in exchange for bonds which were in excess of the constitutional limit of indebtedness when issued are subject to the constitutional objection. Salmon v. Rural Ind. School Dist., 125 Fed., 235.

The holder of bonds issued in excess of the constitutional limitation has the burden of proving that he acquired them for value and without notice of invalidity. Ibid.

The recital in new bonds that they are in conformity with the constitutional requirement does not give the holder any better right than he had under his original bonds not containing such recital. Ibid.

The purchaser of bonds is not entitled to rely on the recitals therein that the debt created does not exceed the constitutional limit. Fairfield v. Rural Ind. Sch. Dist., 111 Fed., 453.

The purchaser of bonds is bound to take notice of the value of the taxable property of the municipality. Burlington Sav. Bank v. Clinton, 111 Fed., 439.

This section does not prevent a city already indebted to the constitutional limit from becoming liable to a contractor for improvements, the cost of which is to be assessed to abutting owners and payment for which is to be made by special assessments, if the city fails to make valid assessments against the abutting property. The constitutional prohibition does not apply to a liability arising from such wrongful act of the city. Ft. Dodge Elec. L. & P. Co. v. Ft. Dodge, 115-568.

If warrants are only drawn where there is an appropriation to meet them, outstanding warrants are not to be included in estimating the indebtedness of a city. Windsor v. Des Moines, 110-175.

An option to purchase real estate, under which the city is not obligated to make additional payments, except as it voluntarily elects to do so, does not constitute an indebtedness. Ibid.

Where it is contended that contracts for grading, and the like, which are to be paid for out of the general revenues, are not to be included under the general indebtedness, the burden is on the city to show that the amounts to be paid will be covered by the current revenues. Ibid.

An obligation of the city to erect an electric light plant by issuing warrants and levying a tax for the payment of the same, and pledging future revenues also for such payment, held to create an indebtedness of the city. Ibid.

There is a distinction between a contract to procure light for a city and its inhabitants, and a contract for the construction of an electric light plant. A contract for the latter purpose, by which time of payment is postponed to a later date, and no special levies for the purpose of erecting such works is authorized, creates a municipal indebtedness. Such a purpose is not one for which the city may anticipate its general revenues. Ibid.

Recovery cannot be had upon a series of bonds which of themselves exceed the constitutional limitation by simply saying that the series were sold for cash and that if the county official had properly used the proceeds in payment of existing indebtedness the total debt of the corporation would not have been increased. The party advancing money under such bonds is bound to take notice of the constitutional limitation and is charged with the knowledge that, to create a valid claim against the corporation, the money he advances must be used in payment of valid indebtedness. Aetna L. Ins. Co. v. Lyon County, 82 Fed., 929.

The action of the bondholder who can thus show that the money advanced by him was used in the extinguishment of valid indebtedness is properly founded on his bonds and he is not limited to an action for money had and received. His action is therefore not barred by the statute of limitations until the statutory period has run against the bonds. Ibid.

Where bonds are void because issued in excess of the constitutional limitation, they are not to be considered in estimating the amount of indebtedness, and the fact that subsequently these bonds have been paid by money obtained from the selling of another series of void bonds which have since been repudiated will be immaterial. Ashuelot Nat. Bank v. Lyon County, 81 Fed., 127; Lyon County v. Ashuelot Nat. Bank, 87 Fed., 137.

Bonds which are invalid when issued are to be treated as invalid for all purposes, even though they have subsequently been paid by the corporation, without question as to their validity. German Ins. Co. v. Manning, 95 Fed., 597.

Warrants outstanding at the time of the issuance of bonds do not constitute an indebtedness if there is money in the treasury to meet them, and the burden is upon the corporation to prove that such warrants relied upon by it as constituting a part of the indebtedness of the corporation exceeded the cash in the treasury available for their payment, the presumption being in favor of the validity of the bonds. Ibid.

A school district cannot defend against payment of its equitable portion of the indebtedness of the district which has been created by division on account of the excess of indebtedness beyond its constitutional limit. Taylor v. School Dist., 97 Fed., 753.

Warrants for ordinary current expenses which, together with other like expenses, are within the limit of the current revenue of such special taxes as the municipality may legally and in good faith have levied, do not constitute an indebtedness within the meaning of the constitutional provision. Cedar Rapids v. Bechtel, 110-196.

Refunding bonds to cover warrants of this kind, valid when issued, cannot be considered as an increase of the city indebtedness. Ibid.

The provisions of Code § 745, as amended by 27 G. A., chap. 23, and Code § 894, with reference to contracting for the erection of waterworks, contemplate the levying of a tax, to be paid in instalments in the future, and an appropriation of the proceeds of such tax to the erection or procuring of waterworks, and do not involve the assumption of any indebtedness on the part of the city, and they are not therefore unconstitutional as in violation of the provision limiting municipal indebtedness. Swanson v. Ottumwa, 118-161. (Contra: Ottumwa v. City Water Supply Co., 119 Fed., 315; City Water Supply Co. v. Ottumwa, 120 Fed., 309, noted below.)

The fact that certificates, warrants or bonds are issued, payable out of the proceeds of such a tax, and not out of the treasury of the corporation, does not render the arrangement one involving municipal indebtedness. Swanson v. Ottumwa, 118-161.

The constitutional provision does not impose a limitation upon taxation, but only a limitation upon indebtedness of the corporation. Ibid.

Bonds issued in pursuance of statutory provisions authorizing the levy of taxes in the future for the construction of waterworks, with a provision that when the bonds are paid by the proceeds of such tax, the waterworks shall become the property of the city, are not invalid as in excess of the statutory limitation of indebtedness. Ottumwa v. City Water Supply Co., 119 Fed., 315; City Water Supply Co. v. Ottumwa, 120 Fed., 309.

A tax, in the legal sense, is not a debt within the meaning of the constitutional provision limiting municipal indebtedness. Grunewald v. Cedar Rapids, 118-222.

A contract by a city to pay rentals for fire hydrants at stated times in the future is one for a current expenditure and does not create an indebtedness. Centerville v. Fidelity Trust & Guar. Co., 117 Fed., 332.

Where the city assumes liability to the contractor for cost of street improvement, such liability becomes the indebtedness of the city. Allen v. Davenport, 107-90.

Contracts for street improvements to be paid for by certificates of assessments on abutting property are not to be considered as involving municipal indebtedness, even if any deficiency is to be paid out of a fund raised by taxation. Corey v. Ft. Dodge, 133-666.

Funding bonds: Funding bonds neither create nor increase the indebtedness of the municipality. Independent Sch. Dist. v. Rew, 111 Fed. 1.

If the bonds appear to have been issued in the refunding of a lawful indebtedness the fact that their proceeds were diverted to an unlawful purpose will not render them invalid. Ibid.

Negotiable refunding bonds, authorized by statute to be issued in exchange for valid outstanding evidences of indebtedness in the hands of purchasers for value before maturity will be presumed to have been so issued, and not to have increased the indebtedness of the corporation. Lyon County v. Kene Five Cent Sav. Bank, 100 Fed., 337.

Bonds issued in exchange for outstanding warrants will not be held invalid unless it is shown that the warrants for which they were issued were also invalid. Reynolds v. Lyon County, 97 Fed., 155.

A purchaser of bonds reciting their issuance for the funding of outstanding indebtedness is not chargeable with notice of the invalidity of the indebtedness refunded. Keene Five Cent Sav. Bank v. Lyon County, 97 Fed., 159.

The amount of outstanding illegal warrants cannot be taken into account in determining whether bonds are in excess of the limitation of indebtedness, even though the proceeds of the bonds are used in extinguishing such warrants. Ibid.

A municipal corporation already in debted beyond the constitutional limit may issue bonds for the purpose of funding an outstanding judgment which is valid. Jamison v. Independent Sch. Dist., 90 Fed., 387.

Funding bonds neither create nor increase the indebtedness of the municipality, but merely change its form. Fairfield v. Rural Ind. School Dist., 116 Fed., 838.

An innocent purchaser of municipal bonds, which recite that they were issued to fund the debt of the municipality, is not required to consider or inquire concerning the excessive indebtedness of the municipality. Ibid.

Estoppel: Possibly the county may be estopped from denying the validity of bonds executed for refunding purposes, the proceeds of which are actually used in satisfying existing debts within the constitutional limit. Reynolds v. Lyon County, 121-733.

The corporation will not be estopped by the action of its officers in acknowledging the validity of warrants, although in good faith, from interposing the defense that such warrants are in excess of the constitutional limitation of liability. Nor will a taxpayer be estopped from interposing such defense if the officers refuse to do so. Farmers' Savings Bank v. Independent School District, 122-99.

Portion valid: Where it is claimed that a portion of an issue of bonds is invalid because in excess of the constitutional limit of indebtedness, a court of equity may inquire into the facts to ascertain what part, if any, of the debt is enforceable. Everett v. Independent School District, 109 Fed., 697.

Such bonds may be enforced to the extent that their proceeds were used in paying off valid prior indebtedness. Ibid.

The limitation against such action commences to run only from the maturity of the bonds. Ibid.

Where a portion of the bonds are in excess of the constitutional limit, the holders of the entire series of bonds may join in maintaining a suit in equity to determine the portion of the debt which is valid and enforceable, and to have such amount apportioned between the different holders. Everett v. Independent School District, 102 Fed., 529.

Limitations of the statute against such an action do not commence to run until the maturity of the bonds. Ibid.

Holders of bonds which are to some extent in excess of the constitutional limitation may maintain an action in equity to ascertain what portion of the debt is enforceable, and the statute of limitations does not begin to run against such action until the maturity of the bonds. Aetna Life Ins. Co. v. Lyon County, 95 Fed., 325.

Holders of bonds which are invalid because in excess of the constitutional limitation are not entitled to subrogation to the rights of creditors whose claims have been paid from the proceeds of such bonds. But so far as the proceeds of the bonds have been used to pay obligations which were not in excess of the constitutional limitation, such bonds are valid. Ibid.

A paving contract, obligating the city to pay the cost of paving certain street intersections, is not wholly void, although the city is already indebted beyond its constitutional limit, and the contractor may take advantage of any portion of the contract which the city had power to make. Ft. Dodge Elec. L. & P. Co. v. Ft. Dodge, 115-568.

An issue of bonds which is in excess of the constitutional limit is valid so far as the amount thereof is not in excess of the limit. Reynolds v. Lyon County, 121-733.

Personal liability of officers: City officials, contracting within the general scope of their jurisdiction, in behalf of the city, and for a lawful purpose, do not render themselves personally liable, although the indebtedness is in excess of the constitutional limitation. Lough v. Estherville, 122-479.

SEC. 5. Oath of office.

One who is appointed treasurer of a commission created by law, no such officer of the commission being provided for by statute, is not a public officer. State v. Spaulding, 102-639.

Where the publication clause provided known as the "Souvenir", published at for publication in "The Jefferson Souve- Jefferson, was sufficient. District Town- nir", held, that publication in a paper ship v. Wiggins, 110-702.

SEC. 41-a. Repeal—amendments—repeals—references. The provisions of paragraphs three and four of section one of this act, shall be applicable to the passage of any act that may be passed after any further compilation and publication of a supplement to the code, that may be made by the authority of, and as provided by law. [30 G. A., ch. 1, § 2.]

SEC. 48. Construction.

Par. 1. Repeal — effect of: A statute relating simply to the remedy, such as the statute of limitations, may apply to causes of action previously existing, but a statute affecting the terms of a previous contract, for instance, one which extends the term of limitation of action fixed in a policy of insurance, will not be applied to contracts already made. Farmers' Co-op. Creamery Co. v. Iowa State Ins. Co., 112-608.

Where by curative act the defense of usury to certain loans of building and loan associations was removed, held that such act did not repeal the usury laws as to such loans, and the repeal of the curative act left the statutes as to usury applicable as before. Edworthy v. Iowa Sav. & Loan Assn., 114-220.

The repeal of prior tax laws, and the simultaneous re-enactment of substantially similar ones, held not to relieve a taxpayer from any duty under the former law. Robinson v. Ferguson, 119-325.

Repeals by implication are not favored. State v. Higgins, 121-19.

Par 2. Words and phrases: Where a statute made special provision as to the use of a certain lamp by name by which it was admitted described that lamp only, held that it was not competent to extend the provision so as to include other lamps constructed on the same principle. State v. Santee, 111-1.

Words having an appropriate meaning in law should be construed in accordance with that meaning. Jewell v. Board of Trustees, 113-47.

Section applied. Chicago, R. I. & P. R. Co. v. Ottumwa, 112-300.

Words and phrases are to be construed together according to the context and approved usage of language, but technical words and phrases and such words as may have acquired appropriate and peculiar meaning in law should be construed according to such meaning. In re Appeal of Bailies, 127-124.

While in statutory construction the word "may" has sometimes a meaning equivalent to the word "must" in its ordinary acceptation, such a construction should not be given if it would be inconsistent with the manifest intention of the legislature or repugnant to the text of the statute. State v. Hortman, 122-104.

Par 3. Number and gender: The statutory phrase "to any person," held applicable to include more than one person, when such construction was required to give the statute the effect it was intended to have. In re McGhee's Estate, 105-9.

Words importing the plural number may be applied to one person or thing. Grunevald v. Cedar Rapids, 118-222.

Par 5. Highway—road: The terms "highway" and "road" include a street in a city. All streets are highways. And a highway or a street includes bridges therein. Sachs v. Sioux City, 109-224.

The term "road" as used in the code means any public highway unless otherwise specified. Nichols v. Chicago, M. & St. P. R. Co., 125-236.

Par. 7. Issue: In construing statutes, the word "issue" as applied to the descent of estates, includes all lawful lineal descendants. Rice v. Burkhart, 130-520.

Par. 9. Personal property: Promissory notes are evidences of debt, and things in action are therefore personal property, within the statutory definition of the term. Nordyke v. Charlton, 108-414.

Par 21. Executor—administrator: This section applied. Ellyson v. Lord, 124-125.

Par 23. Computing time: Where proof of loss under a policy of insurance was mailed on Saturday, the last day for making the same being Sunday, and it was received by the insurance company on Monday, held that it was on time. McKibben v. Des Moines Ins. Co., 114-41.

While for some purposes the law does not recognize fractions of a day in computing time, this principle is not universal. If the exact time is an important element in determining a right of action, the exact time will be considered. Roeletsen v. Pella, 121-153.

CHAPTER 4.

OF THE CODE AND ITS OPERATION.

SECTION 49. Citations—repeal of prior statutes.

This section is an express repeal of statutes previously in force. West v. Bishop, 110-410.

Section applied. Greaves v. Posner, 111-651.

SEC. 51. Existing rights not affected.

The proceedings in pending actions are to be conformed to the provisions of the new code as far as consistent. State v. Dorland, 106-40.

This provision saves rights, not remedies, except where suit or proceeding has been had or commenced. No one has a vested right in a particular remedy. Therefore held that the provision of Code § 1744, by which the time after a loss under a fire insurance policy before suit could be brought thereon was reduced from 90 to 40 days was applicable to an action brought after the taking effect of the Code on a loss sustained prior to the time when the Code took effect. Jones v. German Ins. Co., 110-75.

The assessment of an attorney's fee in a liquor prosecution relates solely to the remedy, and is to be regulated by the provisions of this Code, even in proceedings already commenced before the Code took effect. Carter v. Bartel, 110-211.

The right to sell intoxicating liquors, notwithstanding the prohibitory law, resulting from compliance with the provisions of the mulct law in force prior to the taking effect of the present Code, was not a right accruing, or which had accrued so as to be preserved from the effect of the repeal of prior laws resulting from the adoption of such Code. West v. Bishop, 110-410.

A limitation of action is not a vested right which remains unaffected by subsequent change of the statute, but so far as such limitation affects an obligation already accrued it is not affected by such repeal. Norris v. Tripp, 111-115.

A statute affecting the remedy only is not unconstitutional as applied to a right existing before the statute is passed. Allerton v. Monona County, 111-560.

So far as Code § 2978 restricts the extent of a homestead within a town plat it is not applicable to homesteads already existing. Sayers v. Childers, 112-677.

Where the prior statute gives a mere privilege, and not a contract or vested right, such privilege is not preserved by this section after the repeal of the statute by the adoption of the Code. Miller v. Hagemann, 114-195.

A mere change in the mode of redemption from a mortgage foreclosure is applicable to a right to redeem already existing, notwithstanding the provision of this section. Jack v. Cold, 114-349.

Liability of parties with reference to work done under ordinance authorizing special improvements at the expense of abutting property owners is not affected by the repeal by the Code of the statutes under which such ordinance was passed. Ft. Dodge Elec. L. & P. Co. v. Ft. Dodge, 115-568.

Prior to the adoption of the Code of '73, the period of limitation in an action on a judgment was twenty years; held, that the adoption of that Code by which it was provided that no action on a judgment should be brought within fifteen years after its rendition did not apply to extend the period of limitation applicable to judgments rendered before that time. Wilson v. Tucker, 105-55.

CHAPTER 5.

SUBMISSION OF CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS.

SECTION 55. Publication—record kept. Whenever any proposition to amend the constitution has passed the general assembly and been referred to the next succeeding legislature, the secretary of state shall cause the same to be published, once each week, in two newspapers of general circulation in each congressional district in the state, for the time required by the constitution; and proof of the publication shall be made by the affidavits of the publishers thereof, and such affidavits, with the certificate of the secretary of state of the selection of such newspapers therefor, shall be filed in his office, recorded in a book kept for that purpose, and preserved, and he shall report to the following legislature his action in the premises. [16 G. A., ch. 144, § 1; 30 G. A., ch. 2, § 1.]

TITLE II.

OF THE EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT.

CHAPTER 1.

OF THE GOVERNOR.

SECTION 62. May offer rewards for arrests.

A reward may be offered by way of proclamation. McPeck v. Western U. Tel. Co., 107-356. Such proclamation may be deposited with the secretary of state and may be proved by the record in his office. Ibid.

SEC. 65. Salaries. The salary of the governor shall be five thousand dollars per annum; and that of his secretary, eighteen hundred dollars per annum. [21 G. A., ch. 118, § 1; C., '73, § 3755; R., § 41; C., '51, § 37.] [29 G. A., ch. 1, § 1.] [32 G. A., ch. 2, § 1.]

CHAPTER 2.

OF THE SECRETARY OF STATE.

SECTION 66. Duties—records to be kept.

A proclamation by the governor should be preserved in the office of the secretary of state and a certified copy thereof is admissible in evidence in lieu of the original. McPeck v. Western U. Tel. Co., 107-356.

SEC. 68. Must countersign and register commissions. All commissions issued by the governor shall be countersigned by the secretary, who shall register each commission in a book to be kept for that purpose, specifying the office, name of officer, date of commission, and tenure of office; provided, however, that notarial commissions shall be registered only in the office of the governor. [C., '73, § 62; R., § 60; C., '51, § 44.] [32 G. A., ch. 13, § 5.]

SEC. 70. Must publish and distribute "Iowa Official Register." He is hereby authorized and directed to compile and publish, biennially, in the odd-numbered years, forty thousand copies of the "Iowa Official Register," to contain historical, political and other statistics and facts of general value, but nothing of a partisan character. [24 G. A., ch. 64, § 1.] [31 G. A., ch. 3, § 1.]

SEC. 71. Distribution of register. The distribution shall be as follows: To members of the general assembly last elected, sixty copies each; the balance to be distributed to the newspapers of the state, to county officers, each school library, public libraries, colleges, seminaries and state institutions, and other citizens or institutions, either private or public, at the discretion of the secretary of state. [24 G. A., ch. 64, § 2.] [31 G. A., ch. 3, § 2.]

SEC. 82. Secretary to make lists of lands—effect of.

Whenever a question arises as to the character of land which is claimed by the state under the swamp land grant, it is competent for the governor to submit the matter to the land department, and the finding of that department that the land is swamp land is conclusive. Rood v. Wallace, 109-5.

SEC. 87. Deputy—qualification—bond—duties—salary. He may appoint, in writing, any person, except one holding a state office, as deputy, for whose acts he shall be responsible, and from whom he shall require bonds, which appointment and bond must be approved by the officer having the approval of the principal's bond, and such appointment may be revoked in the same manner,—both the appointment and revocation to be filed with and kept by such officer. The deputy shall qualify by taking the oath of the principal, to be indorsed upon and filed with the certificate of appointment, and when so qualified he shall, in the absence or disability of the secretary, perform all the duties of the secretary pertaining to his office, and shall receive a salary of eighteen hundred dollars a year. [21 G. A., ch. 118, § 2; C., '73, §§ 776-8, 770, 3756; R., §§ 642-4, 647; C., '51, §§ 411, 412, 413, 416.] [32 G. A., ch. 2, § 2.]

SEC. 88. Clerk for land department—salary. He shall be allowed one clerk to perform the work pertaining to the land department and such other duties as he may direct, whose salary shall be fifteen hundred dollars per annum. [18 G. A., ch. 206, §§ 3, 4.] [31 G. A., ch. 4.]

CHAPTER 3.

OF THE AUDITOR OF STATE.

SECTION 89. Office—duties. The auditor shall keep his office at the seat of government. He is the general accountant of the state, and it is his duty:

1. To keep accounts with others. To keep and state all accounts between the state and the United States, or any other state, or any public officer of the state, or person indebted to the state or intrusted with the collection, disbursement or management of funds belonging to the same, when they are payable to or from the state treasury;

8. To draw warrants—form of—report to treasurer. To draw warrants on the treasurer for money directed by law to be paid out of the treasury, as the same may become payable. Each warrant shall bear on the face thereof its proper number, date, amount, name of payee, and a reference to the law under which it is drawn, and a statement indicating the purpose for which warrant is issued, whether for salaries or wages, services or supplies, and what kind of supplies, and for what office or department, or for any other general or special purpose whatsoever, which particulars shall be entered in a book kept for that purpose, in the order of issuance; and, as soon as practicable after issuing such warrant, he shall certify the above particulars to the treasurer;

Upon each writ, rule or order to be served upon any person not in court, twenty-five cents;

For copying an opinion to be transmitted to an inferior court upon reversal of a judgment or an order, to be paid by the party against whom the costs are adjudged, or for a copy of such opinion or any record made at the request of any person, for each hundred words, ten cents. [21 G. A., ch. 118, § 6; 19 G. A., ch. 117, § 2; 17 G. A., ch. 74, § 1; C., '73, § 3771; R., §§ 2949, 4134-5; C., '51, §§ 2525-6.] [32 G. A., ch. 2, § 6.]

CHAPTER 3.

OF THE ATTORNEY-GENERAL.

SECTION 208. Office—duties.

The attorney general has nothing to do with an appeal in a criminal case until it reaches the supreme court. It is within the duty of the county attorney to take the appeal and give notice thereof. State v. Grimmel, 116-596.

SEC. 212. Assistant—salary. He shall be supplied with an assistant, whose annual salary shall not exceed eighteen hundred dollars. [30 G. A., ch. 10.]

CHAPTER 5.

OF THE DISTRICT COURT.

SECTION 225. Jurisdiction—civil, criminal, probate.

Criminal: The criminal jurisdiction of the district court attaches at the time of the service of the warrant issued upon an indictment, and from that time it has control of the person of defendant, not only for the purpose of criminal investigation but for all matters incident to such control. Therefore authority cannot be given by statute to commissioners of insanity to determine the question of insanity of a prisoner under arrest. Stone v. Conrad, 105-21.

Probate: Jurisdiction to grant administration on the estate of a deceased person is in the district court of the county in which the deceased resided at the time of his death. The district court of another county acquires no jurisdiction in such case by the fact that there is property of the deceased in such county. In re King's Estate, 105-320.

While a probate court cannot foreclose a mortgage in favor of the estate against a person claiming a share in the estate, it may determine the indebtedness of such person to the estate and deduct the amount thereof from his share. Prouty v. Matheson, 107-259.

A court taking jurisdiction in probate is presumed to have found facts such as to give it jurisdiction. McFarland v. Stewart, 109-561.

An order in a guardianship matter, under the provision of Code § 3261 with reference to probate jurisdiction, may be made by consent of parties in another county in the same district, and will become a valid and binding adjudication when entered on the record in the proper county. Steiner v. Lentz, 110-49.

The fact that the case is brought before the court in an action in equity which should have been presented in probate does not go to the jurisdiction of the court. Easton v. Somerville, 111-164.

An action brought by a widow for an order upon her deceased husband's administrator to pay her distributive share of the assets of the estate, is properly on the probate docket. Duffy v. Duffy, 114-581.

The objection that a proceeding relating to the construction of a will should have been in probate rather than in equity is not available on appeal, if not made in the trial court. Filkins v. Severn, 127-738.

While proceedings in probate are to be distinguished from proceedings at law or in equity, the court in which they are tried is the same. Tucker v. Stewart, 121-714.

Absence of the judge from the court room during argument of counsel, held not to constitute error where it appeared that the judge was within the hearing of counsel and heard all that was said. State v. Porter, 105-677.

During the argument of a case the judge should remain within hearing that he may not even temporarily relinquish control of the proceedings or the conduct of the trial. At all times he must be in readiness to assert authority in keeping the argument within legitimate limits and to interpose whenever the conduct of officers of the court, jurors or spectators may require. State v. Carnagy, 106-483.

Absence of the judge from the court room during the arguments to the jury will not be a ground for a new trial where it appears that no prejudice resulted. Allen v. Ames & College R. Co., 106-602.

The court may do many things which a judge cannot do. The petition for the incorporation of a municipal corporation being required to be presented to the court, an allowance thereof by the judge not sitting as a court will not be sufficient. State ex rel. v. Council, 106-731.

SEC. 226. City or town to provide court room.

The county is liable for the expenses of the court, held as provided by law at the county seat, and by analogy the county is held liable for the reasonable compensation of an attorney appointed by the court to act in behalf of the public in prosecuting proceedings for the disbarment of an attorney. Hyatt v. Hamilton County, 121-292.

The statutory provisions of 22 G. A., chap. 37, with reference to the holding of court at Avoca, in Pottawattamie county, are not repealed, but on the contrary are recognized by this section. State v. Higgins, 121-19.

SEC. 227. Judicial districts. For judicial purposes, the state is hereby divided into twenty judicial districts, as follows:

The first district shall consist of the county of Lee, and have one judge.

The second district shall consist of the counties of Lucas, Monroe, Wapello, Jefferson, Davis, Van Buren and Appanoose, and have four judges.

The third district shall consist of the counties of Wayne, Decatur, Clarke, Union, Ringgold, Taylor and Adams, and have two judges.

The fourth district shall consist of the counties of Cherokee, O'Brien, Osceola, Lyon, Sioux, Plymouth, Woodbury and Monona, and have four judges.

The fifth district shall consist of the counties of Dallas, Guthrie, Adair, Madison, Warren and Marion, and have three judges.

The sixth district shall consist of the counties of Jasper, Poweshiek, Mahaska, Keokuk and Washington, and have three judges.

The seventh district shall consist of the counties of Muscatine, Scott, Clinton and Jackson, and have four judges.

The eighth district shall consist of the counties of Johnson and Iowa, and have one judge.

The ninth district shall consist of the county of Polk, and have four judges.

The tenth district shall consist of the counties of Delaware, Buchanan, Black Hawk and Grundy, and have two judges.

The eleventh district shall consist of the counties of Story, Boone, Webster, Hamilton, Hardin, Franklin and Wright, and have three judges.

The twelfth district shall consist of the counties of Bremer, Butler, Floyd, Mitchell, Worth, Cerro Gordo, Hancock and Winnebago, and have three judges.

The thirteenth district shall consist of the counties of Clayton, Allamakee, Fayette, Winneshiek, Howard and Chickasaw, and have two judges.

The fourteenth district shall consist of the counties of Buena Vista, Clay, Palo Alto, Kossuth, Emmet, Dickinson, Humboldt and Pocahontas, and have two judges.

The fifteenth district shall consist of the counties of Pottawattamie, Cass, Shelby, Audubon, Montgomery, Mills, Page, Fremont and Harrison, and have four judges.

The sixteenth district shall consist of the counties of Ida, Sac, Calhoun, Crawford, Carroll and Greene, and have two judges.

The seventeenth district shall consist of the counties of Tama, Benton and Marshall, and have two judges.

The eighteenth district shall consist of the counties of Linn, Jones and Cedar, and have three judges.

The nineteenth district shall consist of the county of Dubuque, and have two judges.

The twentieth district shall consist of the counties of Des Moines, Henry and Louisa, and shall have two judges.

The district judge shall be a resident of the district in which he is elected, and each judge shall hold office until the expiration of the term for which he has been heretofore elected. Each district judge hereafter elected, except to fill a vacancy, shall hold office four years and until his successor is elected and qualified. Each judge elected to fill a vacancy shall hold for the unexpired term and until his successor is elected and qualified. [26 G. A., chs. 121, 122; 25 G. A., chs. 66, 67, 68; 24 G. A., chs. 53, 54, 55; 21 G. A., ch. 134, §§ 3, 4.] [27 G. A., ch. 10, § 1.] [27 G. A., ch. 11, § 1.] [28 G. A., ch. 8, § 1.]

SEC. 227-a. Twelfth district — additional judge — appointment — election. The governor shall appoint a judge for said twelfth judicial district in conformity herewith, who shall hold his office until the election and qualification of his successor, as herein provided. At the general election in eighteen hundred and ninety-eight, a judge shall be elected in said district, who shall hold his office for the term of four years, as provided by law. [27 G. A., ch. 10, § 2.]

SEC. 227-b. Acts in conflict repealed. All acts or parts of acts in conflict with this act and provisions are hereby repealed. [27 G. A., ch. 10, § 3.]

SEC. 227-c. Eighteenth district—additional judge—election. At the general election in the year 1898 a judge of the district court shall be elected in said district, whose first term of office shall expire at the same time as do the terms of the present judges of said district, and thereafter the term of office of said judge shall be four years. [27 G. A., ch. 11, § 2.]

SEC. 228. Terms where two county seats.

The district court for Pottawattamie county is the same court and presided over by the same judge whether held at Avoca or at Council Bluffs, and when parties stipulate in a proceeding pending in the court at Avoca that a hearing thereof shall be had before a judge of the court at a term to be held at Council Bluffs, the hearing so held is a hearing before the court and not a hearing before the judge in vacation. Ferguson v. Wheeler, 126-111.

SEC. 232. Judges to prepare schedule—printing—distribution. On or before the first day of October in each odd-numbered year, the judges shall meet in their respective districts and determine the times and places of holding their courts during the two succeeding calendar years. The plan or schedule thus agreed upon, or ordered by the chief justice of the supreme court when they cannot agree, shall be forthwith forwarded by the district judges to the secretary of state and the clerk of the district court in each county in such district, and the clerk shall file the same and enter it of record in the journal of the court, and cause such order to be published once each week for four weeks in some weekly newspaper published in such county, if there be any such published. The secretary of state shall, within ten days after receiving said orders, or before the first Monday in December after said orders are made, prepare a tabular statement of the times of holding the several courts, as fixed by the several orders in his office, and have printed one thousand copies thereof, which shall be distributed as follows: One copy to each state officer, the state library, the library of the law department of the university, each clerk of the district court and sheriff, and the residue to the county auditors, in proportion to the population of each county, for gratuitous distribution among the attorneys of the county. In preparing said plan or schedule, the judges shall so arrange, if practicable, that each judge shall hold at least one term of court during the year in each of the several counties of his district. [21 G. A., ch. 134, § 6; 15 G. A., ch. 12, § 1; C., '73, § 165; R., §§ 2654-5; C., '51, §§ 1567-8.] [31 G. A., ch. 9, § 8.]

SEC. 235. When special adjournment ordered.

Authority to postpone the term is conferred on the judge who is to preside thereat. State v. McPherson, 126-77.

SEC. 238. Regular adjournment—business continued.

Adjournments: This section is applicable to the hearing of an application for permit to sell intoxicating liquors, where a remonstrance has been filed. Cox v. Burnham, 120-43.

An adjournment of court is a final ad-journalment for the term unless there is some provision in the order itself or by statute that the court shall reconvene for the transaction of the business of that term. Marengo Sav. Bank v. Byington, 112 N. W. 192.

SEC. 241. Judges not to sit together.

One judge is not bound to follow the ruling of another judge in a prior stage of the proceedings in the same case. Seery v. Murray, 107-384.

Where one judge succeeds another of the same district in conducting the proceedings of a court, there is no error in the succeeding judge doing that which the trial judge might have done, and at the suggestion of such trial judge. Renner v. Thornburg, 111-515; State v. Jones, 115-113.

SEC. 242. Record to be signed.

Even where the record of a judgment does not follow the written directions of the judge, it must be treated, in the absence of any showing to the contrary, as truly evidencing the decision of the court, for a change in the views of the judge will be presumed rather than that the record is other than valid. Christie v. Iowa L. Ins. Co., 111-177.

The provision as to the signing of the record is directory only, and a failure on the part of the presiding judge to sign the record does not prevent other proceedings being had which could have been predicated upon a signed record. Donnelly v. Smith, 128-257.

A judgment may be appealed from although the journal entry has not yet been signed by the judge. The statutory provisions as to the signing of the record by the judge are directory only. In re Estate of Jones, 130-177.

SEC. 243. Court controls record.

A court may vacate and set aside its judgment when such judgment is unwarranted by the record. Cooper v. Disbrow, 106-550.

Where the decree in an action allowing a minor to redeem from a tax sale fixed the time of redemption, held that the court might, at the next term before, the record was signed, modify the decree so as to extend such time. Hartley v. Bart-ruff, 112-592.

There is no provision by which the signing of the record is to be postponed beyond the succeeding term, and the action of the court in modifying its judgment after the expiration of several terms can not be sustained on a motion made at the succeeding term. Perry v. Kaspar, 113-268.

It is doubtful whether the district court has inherent power to suspend or supersede its judgments and orders pending an appeal; but at any rate a judge in vacation and acting in another county has no power to suspend the operation of a decree of the court duly entered. Whitlock v. Wade, 117-153.

SEC. 244. Corrections.

Mistake of the court in a matter of law cannot be corrected under this section. Manning v. Nelson, 107-34.

A court may during the term without notice modify a decree already entered. The record referred to in this and the preceding section is not the formal decree signed by the judge and kept in the record, but the record itself as found in the books which clerks are authorized to keep, and this record may be amended and corrected at any time before it is signed. Such correction may be made by a court on its own motion. If made at a subsequent term it must as a general

A court has inherent power to do many things which a judge may not do and while a court may set aside an order theretofore made by it, a judge as such has no power to vacate, modify or suspend a judgment or order of the court. Ibid.

A court may set aside a default or vacate a judgment upon cause shown, or, if satisfied that a mistake or wrong has been done, may make such order upon its own motion. Streeter v. Gleason, 120-703.

The court may modify its decision at any time before it is spread upon the record. Hull v. Eby, 123-257.

A court may make orders relating solely to the enforcement of a decree, although by appeal it has lost jurisdiction to retry the issues, and the case has not been remanded to it for that purpose. Swan v. Harvey, 123-192.

The judge sitting as a court in one county cannot act as the judge of the court in another county. Williams v. Dean, 111 N. W. 931.

rule be with notice to the parties interested. McConnell v. Avey, 117-282.

An amendment to a decree made at a subsequent term of court and without notice to the defendant is of no validity as to him. Browne v. Kiel, 117-316.

After the expiration of the term at which judgment is rendered a party is not required to take notice of other proceedings in the case. McConkie v. Landt, 126-317.

The power of the court to correct its records as to a mistake of the clerk is not limited to the next succeeding term. Graezel v. Price, 112 N. W. 827.

SEC. 245-a. Reporters' notes as evidence. That the original shorthand notes of the evidence, or any part thereof, heretofore or hereafter taken upon the trial of any cause or proceeding, in any court of record of this state, by the shorthand reporter of such court, or any transcript thereof, duly certified by such reporter, when material and competent, shall be admissible in evidence on any retrial of the case or proceeding in which the same were taken, and for purposes of impeachment in any case, and shall have the same force and effect as a deposition, subject to the same objections so far as applicable. It shall be the duty of any such reporter, upon demand by any party to any cause or proceeding, or by the attorney of such party, when such shorthand notes are offered in evidence, to read the same before the court, judge, referee, or jury, or to furnish to any person when demanded a certified transcript of the shorthand notes of the evidence, of any one or more witnesses, upon payment of his fees therefor. When the reporter taking such notes in any case or proceeding in court has ceased to be the reporter of such court, any transcript by him made therefrom, and sworn to by him before any person authorized to administer an oath as a full, true, and complete transcript of the notes of the testimony of the witness a transcript of whose testimony is demanded, shall have the same force and effect as though duly certified by the reporter of said court. When any exhibit, record, or document is referred to in such shorthand notes or transcript thereof, the identity of such exhibit, record, or document, as the one referred to by the witness, may be proven either by the reporter, or any other person who heard the evidence of the witness given on the stand. No portion of the transcript of the shorthand notes of the evidence of any witness shall be admissible as such deposition, unless it shall appear from the certificate or verification thereof that the whole of the shorthand notes of the evidence of such witness, upon the trial or hearing in which the same was given, is contained in such transcript, but the party offering the same shall not be compelled to offer the whole of such transcript. [27 G. A., ch. 9, § 1.]

The provisions of 27 G. A., chap. 9, as to the introduction on a subsequent trial of the shorthand reporter's notes of testimony, has no application except on the retrial of the same case, or where the transcript of the evidence in another case is used for the purpose of impeachment. Walker v. Walker, 117-609.

Under these provisions the transcript of the testimony of a witness on a former trial is not admissible on a subsequent trial if the witness is present and competent to testify and if under such circumstances a deposition of the witness would not be admissible. Lanza v. Le-Grand Quarry Co., 124-659.

The translation of the shorthand reporter's notes of the testimony given on a former trial cannot be offered in evidence as the testimony of a witness subsequently deceased, unless the proceeding in which such transcript is offered is the same proceeding as that in which the testimony was first given. In re Will of Wiltsey; Wiltsey v. Wiltsey, 122-423.

The transcript of shorthand notes of the testimony of a witness given on a former trial may be read in evidence as his testimony on retrial of the case if he is not present in the court room at the time it is offered. It is not necessary to show the grounds required for making a deposition admissible in evidence in a law case. Fitch

v. Mason City & C. L. Traction Co., 124-665.

In the absence of any special showing of prejudice, held not reversible error to allow a transcript of the evidence on a former trial to be introduced over the objection of the opposite party and afterwards withdrawing it from the jury and allowing the witnesses to be called. Bell v. Clarion, 120-332.

Where a transcript of evidence on a former trial was sought to be introduced by virtue of 27 G. A., chap. 9, for the purpose of impeaching a witness on a subsequent trial, held that such transcript was not admissible where the certificate did not show that the whole of the shorthand notes of the evidence of the witness was included in the transcript. Connell v. Connell, 119-602.

The transcript of a party's testimony on a former trial is admissible as against him for the purpose of establishing admissions against interest. Lush v. Parkersburg, 127-701.

The shorthand reporter called to testify as a witness may, without the introduction of his transcript of the evidence, testify to admissions made by a witness. The act has no application to such a case. Frick v. Kabaker, 116-494.

Where in a proceeding to contest a will contestant's widow and children were erreoneously substituted on his death and evidence was taken in a trial under such substitution, held that the shorthand notes of such evidence might be used in a retrial after the widow had been properly substituted as administratrix. In re Wiltsey's Will, 109 N. W., 776.

The provision authorizing the use of the reporters' notes as evidence on a subsequent trial is intended to furnish a convenient means of proving the testimony of a witness on a former trial of the same case when the witness is not able to testify by reason of death, insanity or other intervening cause, and where a party becomes incompetent to testify as to conversations or transactions with one who is deceased at the time of the subsequent trial, (under Code § 4604) his testimony on a former trial cannot be used. Greenlee v. Mosnat, 111 N. W. 996.

SEC. 247. Decisions in vacation.

Attorneys cannot by agreement not reduced to writing nor entered on the records of the court agree to the submission of a case to be determined in vacation. Whitlock v. Wade, 117-153.

A judge in vacation and acting in another county cannot suspend the decree of a court duly entered. A judge in vacation has no authority except such as is expressly given him by statute. Ibid.

Where the trial judge filed with the clerk a finding of facts with his conclusions of law, ending with a direction that judgment be entered, but no judgment was entered in accordance therewith, held that there was not a decision of the case in vacation. Christie v. Iowa L. Ins. Co., 111-177.

The power of a judge in vacation to make orders or exercise judicial functions is that only which is conferred by statute. In re Guardianship of Kimble, 127-665.

A ruling or decree in vacation is invalid unless the case has been submitted for such determination. Marengo Sav. Bank v. Byington, 112 N. W., 192.

A judge while holding court in one county has no power to make an order for the correction of the record in another county even in the same district. Williams v. Bean, 111 N. W. 931.

SEC. 250. Probate powers conferred on clerk.

The clerk may act for the court in the matter of endorsing an order for publication of notice of administration on the letters of administration issued by him, and although the order as endorsed is in the name of the court, the signature of the clerk is sufficient. No record of such order is required to be kept. Mosher v.

Goodale, 129-719.

Any person interested may appear in the probate proceeding and contest the appointment of an administrator; but the regularity of the appointment cannot be attacked in a collateral proceeding on the ground of insufficiency of the bond. Beresford v. American Coal Co., 124-34.

SEC. 253. Salary of judges. The salary of each judge of the district court shall be three thousand five hundred dollars per year. [21 G. A., ch. 134, § 12.] [29 G. A., ch. 13, § 1.]

SEC. 254. Compensation of shorthand reporters.

The application for an order for a transcript at the expense of the county for the purpose of prosecuting an appeal should be made to the trial judge. The expense of the transcript, if the order is made, should be paid by the county in which the case is tried, although it is brought to that county on change of venue. State v. Cater, 109-69.

The reporter is entitled to compensation for each day of attendance under direction of the judge without regard to the services actually performed. Ferguson v. Pottawattamie County, 126-108.

While the judge may have some discretion as to ordering a transcript at the expense of the county, yet if he finds that the defendant is unable to pay for such transcript, he should order it without regard to his judgment as to whether defendant has had a fair trial. State v. Robbins, 106-688.

It is for the court to determine whether the defendant in a criminal case is unable to pay for a transcript, and unless it appears on appeal that the finding of his inability to do so is unsupported by the evidence, an order allowing such transcript at the county's expense will not be interfered with on appeal. State v. Steidley, 133-31.

SEC. 254-a1. Repeal. That section two hundred and fifty-four (254) of the code be and the same is hereby repealed and the following enacted in lieu thereof. [29 G. A., ch. 14, § 1.]

SEC. 254-a2. Reporter—compensation. Shorthand reporters of the district courts shall be paid six ($6.00) dollars per day for each day's attendance upon said court, under the direction of the judge, out of the county treasury where such court is held, upon the certificate of the judge holding the court; and in case the total per diem of each reporter shall not amount to the sum of one thousand two hundred dollars ($1,200.00) per year, the judge appointing him shall at the end of the year apportion the deficiency so remaining unpaid among the several counties of the district, if there be more than one county in such district, in proportion to the number of days of court actually held by said judge in such counties, which apportionment shall be by him certified to the several county auditors, who shall issue warrants therefor to said reporter, which warrants shall be paid by the county treasurers out of any funds in the treasury not otherwise appropriated.

Shorthand reporters shall also receive six cents per hundred words for transcribing their official notes, to be paid for in all cases, by the party ordering the same. If a defendant in a criminal cause has perfected an appeal from a judgment against him and shall satisfy a judge of the district court from which the appeal is taken that he is unable to pay for a transcript of the evidence, such judge may order the same made at the expense of the county where said defendant was tried. [29 G. A., ch. 14, § 2.]

SEC. 254-a3. Taxed as part of costs. A charge of six dollars ($6.00) per day for reporting in all cases, except where the defendant in a criminal case is acquitted, shall be taxed as part of the costs in the case by the clerk of the court and paid into the county treasury when collected. [29 G. A., ch. 14, § 3.]

CHAPTER 5-A.

OF APPOINTMENT OF TRUSTEES BY DISTRICT COURT TO MANAGE, CONTROL AND INVEST CEMETERY FUNDS.

SECTION 254-a4. Trustee—appointment. Any owner or owners of any cemetery, or any party or parties interested therein, may by petition presented to the district court of the county where the cemetery is situate, have appointed a trustee with authority to receive any and all moneys that may be donated for and on account of said cemetery or any part thereof and to invest, manage and control same under the direction of the court; but he shall not be authorized to receive any gift, except with the understanding that the principal sum is to remain and be a permanent fund, and only the net proceeds therefrom to be used in carrying out the purpose of the trust created, and all such funds shall be exempt from taxation so far as consistent with the regulations governing the association owning or controlling the ground where the lot is located. [29 G. A., ch. 15, § 1.]

SEC. 254-a5. Receipt attested by clerk — "Cemetery Record." Every such trustee shall execute and deliver to the donor a receipt showing the amount of money received, and the use to be made of the net proceeds from same. Such receipt shall be duly attested by the clerk of the court granting letters of trusteeship and a copy thereof signed by the trustee and so attested shall be filed with and recorded by the clerk in a book to be known as the "Cemetery Record," and in which shall be recorded all reports and other papers, including orders made by the court or judge relative to cemetery matters. [29 G. A., ch. 15, § 2.]

SEC. 254-a6. Loans—security. It shall be the duty of such trustee to loan all moneys received by him, under the direction and with the approval of the court, but only as same may be secured by first mortgage upon Iowa real estate, and no loan shall be made or approved, unless it be made to appear upon oath of three disinterested citizens that such real estate is worth at least double the amount of the loan applied for, and that the title to same is good of record and in fact in the party making application therefor. [29 G. A., ch. 15, § 3.]

SEC. 254-a7. Bond—approval—oath. Every such trustee, before entering on the discharge of his duties or at any time thereafter when required by the court or judge must give bond in such penalty as may be required by the court, to be approved by the clerk, conditioned for the faithful discharge of the duties imposed on him by law and take and subscribe an oath the same in substance as the condition of the bond, which oath and bond must be filed with the clerk. [29 G. A., ch. 15, § 4.]

SEC. 254-a8. Clerk—duty of—additional bond. It shall be the duty of the clerk at the time of filing each and every receipt mentioned in section two of this act, to at once advise the court or judge as to the amount of the principal fund in the hands of such trustee, the amount of bond filed, and whether or not it is good and sufficient for the amount given, to the end that the court or judge may, if to him it seems best, require a new or additional bond. [29 G. A., ch. 15, § 5.]

SEC. 254-a9. To serve without compensation—expenses. Trustees appointed under this act shall not be entitled to receive any compensation for services rendered, but may out of the income received pay all proper items of expense incurred in the performance of their duties, including cost of bond, if any. [29 G. A., ch. 15, § 6.]

SEC. 254-a10. Annual report. It shall be the duty of every such trustee to make full report of his doings in the matter of his trusteeship in the month of January following his appointment and in January of each successive year. In each of said reports he shall apportion the net proceeds received from the sum total of the permanent fund and make proper credit to each of the separate funds assigned to him in trust. [29 G. A., ch. 15, § 7.]

SEC. 254-a11. Removal. Any such trustee may be removed by the court or judge thereof at any time for cause and in the event of removal or death the court or judge must appoint a new trustee and require his predecessor or his personal representative to make full accounting with him for all the property belonging to such trusteeship. [29 G. A., ch. 15, § 8.]

SEC. 254-a12. County auditor to act as trustee—when. In case no trustee is appointed by said court, or if so appointed does not qualify as provided in this chapter then such funds as are therein mentioned or any funds donated by any person or estate to improvement of cemeteries, shall be placed in the hands of the county auditor who shall receipt for, loan, and make annual reports of such funds in manner as provided by the law as it appears in sections two hundred and fifty-four-e (254-e), two hundred and fifty-four-f (254-f) and two hundred and fifty-four-j (254-j), of the supplement to the code. The said auditor shall annually turn over the accrued interest in his hands to the cemetery association or other person having control of the cemetery entitled thereto who shall use the same in carrying out the provisions of said trust, and who shall file a written report annually with the county auditor. [30 G. A., ch. 12.]

CHAPTER 5-B.

OF JUVENILE COURTS, DETENTION HOMES AND SCHOOLS.

SECTION 254-a13. Jurisdiction—“Juvenile court record.” The district court is hereby clothed with original and full jurisdiction to hear and determine all cases coming within the purview of this act, and the proceedings, orders, findings and decisions of said court shall be entered in a book or books to be kept for the purpose and known as the Juvenile Court Record. Said court shall always be open for the transaction of business coming under the purview of this act, but the hearing of any matter requiring notice shall be had only in term time or at such time and place as the judge may appoint. [30 G. A., ch. 11, § 1.]

SEC. 254-a14. Terms defined. This act shall apply only to children under the age of sixteen years, not at the time inmates of a state institution or any industrial school for boys or for girls, or any institution incorporated under the laws of this state, and shall apply to all children of said age, except such as are charged with a commission of offenses punishable under the laws of the state with life imprisonment, or with the penalty of death. For the purpose of this act, the words “dependent children” or “neglected children” shall mean any child who for any reason is destitute or homeless or abandoned; or dependent upon the public for support; or who has not the proper parental care or guardianship; or who habitually begs or receives alms; or who is found living in any house of ill fame, or with any vicious or disreputable person; or whose home, by reason of neglect, cruelty or depravity on the part of its parents or guardian or other person in whose care it may be, is an unfit place for such child; and any child under the age of ten years, who is found begging, or giving any public entertainment upon the street for pecuniary gain for self or another; or who accompanies or is used in aid of any person so doing; or who, by reason of other vicious, base or corrupting surroundings, is, in the opinion of the court, within the spirit of this act. The words “delinquent child” shall include any child under the age of sixteen years, who violates any law of this state, or any city or village ordinance; or who is incorrigible; or who knowingly associates with thieves, vicious or immoral persons, or who is growing up in idleness or crime; or who knowingly frequents a house of ill fame; or who patronizes any policy shop or place where any gaming device is, or shall be operated; or who habitually wanders about any railroad yards or tracks, gets upon any moving train or enters any car or engine without lawful authority. The word “child” or “children” may mean one or more children, and the word “parent” or “parents” may be held to mean one or both parents when consistent with the intent of this act. The word “association” shall include any corporation which includes in its purposes the care or disposition of children coming within the meaning of this act. [30 G. A., ch. 11, § 2.]

SEC. 254-a15. Petition in writing. Any reputable person being a resident of the county, having knowledge of a child in his county who appears to be either dependent, neglected or delinquent, may, without fee, file with the clerk of the court having jurisdiction of the matter, a petition in writing, setting forth the facts, verified by affidavit; it shall be sufficient if the affidavit is upon information and belief. [30 G. A., ch. 11, § 3.]

SEC. 254-a16. Summons—trial—statutes applicable—costs—appeals. Upon the filing of the petition the court may cause a summons to issue requiring the person having custody or control of the child or with whom the child may be, to appear with the child at a time and place stated in the summons. The parents of the child, if living, and their residence is known, or its legal guardian, if one there be, or if there is neither parent nor guardian or if his or her residence is not known, then some relative, if there be one and his residence is known, shall be notified of the proceedings, and in any case the judge may appoint some suitable person to act in behalf of the child. If the person summoned as herein provided shall fail to appear or bring the child, without reasonable cause, and abide the order of the court, he may be proceeded against as in case of contempt of court. In case the summons cannot be served or the party served fails to obey the same, and in any case when it shall be made to appear to the court that such summons will be ineffectual, a warrant may issue on the order of the court, either against the parent or guardian or the person having custody of the child or with whom the child may be, or against the child itself. On the return of the summons or other process, or as soon thereafter as may be, the court shall proceed to hear and dispose of the case in a summary manner, provided, however, that when the child is brought before the court, charged with the commission of a crime, not punishable with imprisonment for life, or the penalty of death, the court may, and if the child, its parent or guardian demands, shall place the child on trial for the commission of such offense. Where the penalty for the offense committed, exceeds a fine of one hundred dollars, or imprisonment for thirty days, the court shall make an examination and in conducting same shall be governed by the provisions of section five thousand two hundred and sixteen (5216), five thousand two hundred and eighteen (5218), five thousand two hundred and nineteen (5219), five thousand two hundred and twenty-one (5221), five thousand two hundred and twenty-two (5222), five thousand two hundred and twenty-three (5223), five thousand two hundred and twenty-four (5224), five thousand two hundred and twenty-five (5225), five thousand two hundred and twenty-six (5226), five thousand two hundred and twenty-seven (5227), and five thousand two hundred and thirty-nine (5239) of the code and shall make certificate, order of discharge or commitment, issue warrant, require undertakings of witnesses and security and commit witnesses as provided by sections five thousand two hundred and twenty-eight (5228) to five thousand two hundred and thirty-five (5235) of the code inclusive. If the child is unable to furnish the required bail, the child may, pending the final disposition of the case, be detained in the possession of the person having charge of the same, or may be kept in a suitable place provided by the city or county authorities. If the crime is not triable on indictment or if it appears on the examination that a public offense has been committed which is not triable on indictment the court may order any peace officer to file an information against the child before him and shall proceed to try the case before a jury of twelve men, selected as in a justice's court. The proceedings, costs and taxation thereof, shall be as provided for trials in the district court and the defendant shall be entitled to his exceptions and right of appeal. [30 G. A., ch. 11, § 4.]

SEC. 254-a17. Discretionary powers of court. When any such boy or girl shall be found guilty of the commission of a crime, not punishable with imprisonment for life, or the penalty of death, the court in its discretion, may, instead of entering judgment of conviction, make order concerning such child in manner as hereinafter provided. [30 G. A., ch. 11, § 5.]

SEC. 254-a18. Probation officers—compensation. The court shall have authority to appoint or designate one or more discreet persons of good character to serve as probation officers during the pleasure of the court; said probation officers to receive no compensation from the public treasury; provided, however, that the district court, in any county of this state having a population of more than fifty thousand (50,000), may designate and appoint not to exceed two (2) persons, of good character and special fitness, to serve as probation officers during the pleasure of the court, who are hereby vested with all of the powers and authority of sheriffs in and about the discharge of their duties as probation officers, and who shall each receive a compensation, to be fixed by the court, not to exceed seventy-five dollars ($75) per month. Any probation officer, provided for by this section, when performing the duties of his office under the order of the juvenile court or a judge thereof, shall be allowed such necessary expenses as may be authorized by the judge of said juvenile court, and the same shall be paid out of the county treasury as other court costs. In case a probation officer shall be appointed by any court, it shall be the duty of the clerk of the court, if practicable, to notify the said probation officer in advance when any child is to be brought before the said court; it shall be the duty of said probation officer to make such investigation as may be required by the court; to be present in court in order to represent the interests of the child when the case is heard; to furnish to the court such information and assistance as the judge may require, and to take such charge of any child before and after trial as may be directed by the court. [30 G. A., ch. 11, § 6.] [32 G. A., ch. 7, § 2.]

SEC. 254-a19. Exclusion from court room. The judge of such court shall designate a certain time for the hearing of such cases and is hereby empowered, when tried in a summary manner as provided in section four (4) hereof, to exclude from the court room at such hearing any and all persons that in his opinion, are not necessary for the hearing of the case. The probation officer shall be present at every hearing in the interest of the child. [30 G. A., ch. 11, § 7.]

SEC. 254-a20. Commitment. When any child of the age stated in section two (2), hereof, shall be found to be dependent or neglected, within the meaning of this act, the court may make an order committing the child to the care of some suitable state institution, or to the care of some reputable citizen of good moral character, or to the care of some industrial school, as provided by law, or to the care of some association willing to receive it, embracing in its objects the purpose of caring for and obtaining homes for dependent and neglected children, which association shall have been accredited as hereinafter provided. The court may, when the health or condition of the child may require it, cause the child to be placed in a public hospital or institution for treatment or special care, or in a private hospital or institution which will receive it for like purposes without charge. [30 G. A., ch. 11, § 8.]

SEC. 254-a21. Guardianship—decree for adoption. In any case where the court shall award a child to the care of any association or individual in accordance with the provisions of this act, the child shall, unless otherwise ordered, become a ward and subject to the guardianship of the association or individual to whose care it is committed. Such association or individual shall have authority to place such child in a family home, with or without indenture, and may be made party to any proceedings for the legal adoption of the child, and may by his or its attorney or agent appear in any court where such proceedings are pending and assent to such adoption. And such assent shall be sufficient to authorize the court to enter the proper order or decree for adoption. Such guardianship shall not include the guardianship of any estate of the child. [30 G. A., ch. 11, § 9.]

SEC. 254-a22. Disposition of child by agreement. It shall be lawful for the parent, parents, guardian or other person having a right to dispose of [a] dependent or neglected child to enter into an agreement with any association or institution incorporated under any public law of this state for the purpose of aiding, caring for or placing in home such children, and being approved as herein provided, for the surrender of such child to such association or institution, to be taken and cared for by such association or institution or put in a family home. Such agreement may contain any and all proper stipulations to that end, and may authorize the association or institution, by its attorney or agent, to appear in any proceeding for the legal adoption of the child and consent to its adoption, and the order of the court made upon such consent shall be binding upon the child and its parents or guardian or other person the same as if such person were personally in court and consented thereto, whether made party to the proceeding or not. [30 G. A., ch. 11, § 10.]

SEC. 254-a23. Optional commitments—parole. In the case of a delinquent child, the court may continue the hearing from time to time, and may commit the child to the care or custody of a probation officer, and may allow said child to remain in its own home subject to the visitation of the probation officer; such child to report to the probation officer as often as may be required, and subject to be returned to the court for further or other proceedings whenever such action may appear to be necessary; or the court may cause the child to be placed in a suitable family home, subject to the friendly supervision of the probation officer and the further order of the court; or it may authorize the child to be boarded out in some suitable family home, in case provision is made by voluntary contribution or otherwise for the payment of the board of such child, until a suitable provision may be made in a home without such payment; or the court may commit such child, if a boy, to an industrial school for boys; or, if a girl, to an industrial school for girls; or the court may commit the child to any institution within the county, incorporated under the laws in this state, that may care for delinquent children, or be provided by a city or county, suitable for the care of such children, or to any state institution which may be established for the care of delinquent boys or girls over the age of ten years. In no case shall a child be committed beyond his or her minority. A child committed to such institution shall be subject to the control of the board of managers thereof, and said board shall have power to parole the child on such conditions as it may prescribe; and the court shall, on the recommendation of the board, have power to discharge such child from custody whenever, in the judgment of the court, his or her reformation is complete; or the court may commit the child to the care and custody of some association that will receive it, embracing in its objects the care of neglected or dependent children, and that has been duly accredited as hereinafter provided. [30 G. A., ch. 11, § 11.]

SEC. 254-a24. Custody of child. No court or magistrate shall commit a child not yet having reached his seventeenth birthday, to jail or police station, but if such child is unable to give bail it may be committed to the care of the sheriff, police officer, probation officer, or other person, who shall keep such child in some suitable place provided by the city or county, outside the enclosure of any jail or police station. When any child shall be sentenced to confinement in any institution to which adult convicts are sentenced, it shall be unlawful to confine such child in the same yard or enclosure with such adult convicts, or to bring such child into any yard or building in which adult convicts may be present. Any such child, taken before any justice of the peace or police court, in such counties, charged with misdemeanor, shall, together with the case, be at once transferred by said justice of the peace or police court, to said district court and proper order shall be made therefor. [30 G. A., ch. 11, § 12.]

SEC. 254-a25. Support of child. In any case in which the court shall find a child dependent, neglected or delinquent, it may, in the same or subsequent proceedings, upon the parents of said child or either of them, being duly summoned or voluntarily appearing, proceed to inquire into the ability of such parent or parents to support the child or contribute thereto, and if the court shall find such parent or parents able to support the child or contribute to its support, the court may enter such order or decree as shall be according to equity in the premises, and may enforce the same by execution or in any way in which a court of equity may enforce its orders or decrees. [30 G. A., ch. 11, § 13.]

SEC. 254-a26. Supervision of institutions—annual reports. The board of control shall designate and approve the institutions and associations to have charge of juveniles under this act and shall have supervision, oversight and right of visitation (by all or any of its members or by such persons as it shall appoint thereto) to all institutions and associations having charge of juveniles under this act, and said court, institutions and associations shall make annual reports in the first fifteen days in January of each year to said board of control. The report of the court shall include the number of juveniles of each sex brought before it, the number for whom homes have been obtained, the number sent to state institutions, and the number under charge of such association. [30 G. A., ch. 11, § 14.]

SEC. 254-a27. Religious belief. The court in committing children shall place them as far as practicable in the care and custody of some individual holding the same religious belief as the parents of said child, or with some association which is controlled by persons of like religious faith with the parents of said child. [30 G. A., ch. 11, § 15.]

SEC. 254-a28. Statutes construed liberally. This act shall be construed liberally to the end that its purpose may be carried out, to-wit: that the care, custody and discipline of a child shall approximate as nearly as may be that which should be given by its parents, and in all cases where it can properly be done, the child to be placed in an approved family home and become a member of the family by legal adoption or otherwise. [30 G. A., ch. 11, § 16.]

SEC. 254-a29. Detention home and school in certain counties. In any county of this state, having a population of more than fifty thousand (50,000), it shall be the duty of the board of supervisors to provide and maintain, separate, apart and outside the enclosure of any jail or police station, a suitable detention home and school for dependent, neglected and delinquent children. [32 G. A., ch. 7, § 1.]

SEC. 254-a30. Tax for enforcement purposes. For the purpose of providing for the enforcement of this act in all its parts the board of supervisors may levy a tax each year, in the counties of this state to which this act is applicable, not to exceed one (1) mill on the dollar in any year, in addition to the taxes which they are now authorized to levy. [32 G. A., ch. 7, § 3.]

CHAPTER 6.

OF THE SUPERIOR COURTS.

SECTION 255. Establishment and effect of. Any city in this state containing four thousand inhabitants, whether organized under a special charter or the general law for the incorporation of cities and towns, may establish a superior court as hereinafter provided, which, when established, shall take the place of the police court of such city. [21 G. A., ch. 2; 19 G. A., ch. 24, § 1; 16 G. A., ch. 143, § 1.] [29 G. A., ch. 16, § 1.] [32 G. A., ch. 8, § 1.]

SEC. 256-a. Repeal—submission to voters—election of judges—term—commission. The law, as it appears in section two hundred fifty-six-a (256-a) of the supplement to the code, is hereby repealed and there is enacted in lieu thereof the following:

“Upon petition of a hundred (100) citizens of any such city, the mayor, by and with the consent of the council, may, at least ten (10) days before any general or city election, issue a proclamation submitting to the qualified voters of any city, the question of establishing said court. Should a majority of all the votes cast at such election upon such proposition be in favor of said court, the same shall be established. The terms of the judges of all superior courts other than those whose terms expire after the first Monday in January, 1908, shall terminate on the first Monday in January, 1907, and there shall be elected at the general election in November, 1906, for a term of four (4) years the successors of those judges whose terms of office under this act are made to expire on the first Monday in January, 1907. Except as above provided, the judges of the superior courts now or hereafter established shall be elected at the last general election preceding the expiration of the term of office of the incumbent. The names of candidates for judge shall be placed upon the same ballot as used in the city for state, county and township officers. The vote shall be returned and canvassed in the same manner as provided for county officers. Certificates of nomination of candidates for judge by conventions or primaries of political parties and nominations by petition shall be fixed with the auditor of the county in which said city is situated within the same time as provided by law for the filing of certificates of nomination and nominations by petition for offices to be filled by the electors of counties. Each judge shall qualify and hold his office for the term of four years from the first Monday in January next ensuing after said election and until his successor is elected and qualified. Immediately after the election of any judge, the board of supervisors of said county shall transmit a certificate of the election of said judge to the governor of the state, who shall thereupon issue to him a commission empowering him to act as judge, as herein provided. The terms of all judges who are now holding over by reason of the failure to elect their successors in the fall of 1905 are hereby extended until the first Monday in January, 1907.” [31 G. A., ch. 10.] [32 G. A., ch. 8, § 2.]

SEC. 258-a Repeal—vacancy—inability. That section two hundred fifty-eight (258) of the code is hereby repealed and the following enacted in lieu thereof:

“That in case of vacancy in said office the governor shall appoint a judge who shall hold the office until the next general election, and in case of inability of any judge to act through sickness or any other cause a judge shall be appointed by the governor to hold during such inability.” [26 G. A., ch. 77; 16 G. A., ch. 143, § 4.] [28 G. A., ch. 9, § 2.]

SEC. 260. Jurisdiction.

The provisions of this chapter as to jurisdiction of superior courts are not unconstitutional. Page v. Millerton, 114-378.

Under Code § 261 as amended by 28th.

G. A., ch. 10, a defendant in an action brought in the superior court who is non-resident of the city may have the venue changed to the district court upon showing such fact. Woodring v. Rooney, 121-595.

SEC. 261. Changes of venue—change of venue for non-residents—no jury in criminal cases. Changes of venue may be taken from said court in all civil actions to the district court of the same or another county, in the same manner, for like causes and with the same effect as the venue is changed from the district court. But in all civil cases where any party defendant shall, before any pleading is filed by him, file in said cause a motion for a change of venue to the district court of the county, supported by affidavit showing that such party defendant was not a resident of the city where such court is held, at the time of the commencement of the action, the cause, upon such motion, shall be transferred to the district court of the county. All criminal actions, including those for the violation of the city ordinances, shall be tried summarily and without a jury, saving to the defendant the right of appeal to the district court, which appeal shall be taken in the same time and manner as appeals are taken from justices' courts in criminal actions. [22 G. A., ch. 40, § 2; 19 G. A., ch. 24, § 4; 16 G. A., ch. 143, § 7.] [28 G. A., ch. 10, § 1.]

SEC. 263. Court of record—laws relating to district court to apply.

Statutes covering procedure in the district court as to setting aside default are also applicable in the superior court and a judgment by default may be set aside although a transcript of such judgment has been filed in the district court. Klepfer v. Keokuk, 126-592.

SEC. 266. Marshal as sheriff.

A constable is not authorized to act as officer of the superior court, and a writ of attachment issuing from such court should not be directed to such officer. Freeman v. Lind, 112-39.

SEC. 273. Judgments made liens by transcript.

The effect of the filing of a transcript of the judgment of the superior court in the district court is to transfer to the district court the power to enforce the judgment of the superior court. No further proceedings can be had on the judgment in the superior court. Oyster v. Bank, 107-39.

A creditor who has recovered judgment in a superior court which has not been filed in a district court so as to become a lien on real property cannot proceed by equitable action to subject real property to payment of his claim. Peterson v. Gittings, 107-306.

Judgments of superior courts are to be treated as judgments of the district court only when transcripts thereof are filed in the district court of the county in which the superior court has jurisdiction, and thereafter they are to be treated in all respects as judgments rendered in the district court. Before the transcript of a judgment is thus filed, the judgment can only be enforced through process issued out of the superior court which may be levied on personal property only. Drahos v. Kopesky, 132-497.

Therefore held that in an action to set aside a fraudulent conveyance of real estate, the plaintiff did not by showing judgment of the superior court, no transcript of which had been filed in the district court, establish his right to levy on the property. Ibid.

An action to enjoin the enforcement of the judgment of a superior court cannot, after transcript thereof has been filed in the district court, be maintained in the district court of another county in the state. Brunk v. Moulton Bank, 121-14.

The power of the superior court to set aside a default is not lost by the filing of a transcript of the default judgment in the district court. Klepfer v. Keokuk, 126-592.

SEC. 275. Shorthand reporters—compensation.

The shorthand reporter appointed by the judge is entitled to compensation for the time of his attendance upon the court under the order of the judge without regard to the services actually performed. Ferguson v. Pottawattamie County, 126-108.

SEC. 276. Question of abolishing court to be submitted. Upon the petition of one-third of the qualified electors of any city in which a superior court is now or hereafter established, the mayor, by and with the consent of the council of such city, shall, at least ten days before any general election or election for city officers, issue a proclamation submitting to the qualified voters of said city the proposition to abolish the superior court. The ballots shall be printed, and in the following form: "Shall the proposition to abolish the superior court of _____ be adopted?" and the election shall be conducted in all respects in accordance with the provisions of the election law. [24 G. A., ch. 5, § 1.] [28 G. A., ch. 9, § 3.]

CHAPTER 7.

OF GENERAL PROVISIONS.

SECTION 281. Judges not to practice. No judge of any court of record shall practice as an attorney or counselor at law, or give advice in relation to any action pending or about to be brought in any of the courts of this state, but nothing contained in this section shall be construed to prohibit judges of police courts from the practice as attorneys and counselors at law in civil matters. [C., '73, § 187; R., § 2674; C., '51, § 1587.] [32 G. A., ch. 9.]

A judge has no right to give advice out of court to a receiver. Directions to the receiver should be reduced to writing and entered of record. State Central Sav. Bank v. Fanning Ball-Bearing Chain Co., 118-698.

SEC. 283. Judicial proceedings public.

A proceeding to impanel a grand jury is not invalid although by reason of the lack of capacity in the room occupied for the purpose some persons are unable to gain access thereto. State v. Richards, 126-497.

SEC. 284. When judge disqualified.

A justice is not disqualified from certifying to a transcript of a judgment rendered by his predecessor by reason of the fact that he was a party to the action, his act of certification being one which is purely ministerial. Hass v. Leverton, 128-79.

The fact that the judge has previously been one of counsel for one of the parties in a previous litigation not involving the same issues does not disqualify him under the strict terms of the statute and he is not disqualified under the spirit of the statute if his connection with the previous proceedings has been nominal only. In re Estate of Glass, 127-646.

SEC. 285. No business done on Sunday, except.

Judicial business may be transacted on the fourth of July and a witness may be punished for contempt in not appearing on that day in response to a subpoena. Chambers v. Oehler, 107-155.

A ministerial act, such as the service of a notice, not forbidden on Sunday, will not be illegal because performed on that day. State v. Ryan, 113-536.

Trial of causes on legal holidays other than Sunday is not prohibited, and the overruling of a motion for a continuance on the ground that the cause is set for trial on such holiday is not error. Michel v. Boxholm Co-operative Creamery, 128-706.

SEC. 286. Courts to be held at places provided, except.

It is not unlawful for a court to transact its business in a different room of the courthouse from that specially set aside for occupancy by the court. State v. Richards, 126-497.

CHAPTER 8.

OF THE CLERK OF THE DISTRICT COURT.

SECTION 287. Office—duties.

While it may be that the clerk of the court cannot be properly appointed receiver because as clerk he would be required to pass upon the sufficiency of the bond to be given by him as receiver, yet this objection cannot be raised by way of collateral attack in an action brought by him as receiver to collect indebtedness. His actions as receiver may be valid de facto although his appointment is erroneous. Metropolitan Nat. Bank v. Commercial State Bank, 104-682.

SEC. 288. Records—books to be kept.

What constitutes the record: An original decree, signed by the judge before it is entered in the proper record, is not a judgment. McGlasson v. Scott, 112-289.

The record book is the best evidence of a judgment, and it, or a certain transcript thereof, is alone admissible to show the judgment where there is no reason for introducing secondary evidence. Baxter v. Pritchard, 113-422.

Depositions, when filed, become a part of the records of the court, even though not used as evidence on the trial of the case in which they are taken, and if removed from the files without leave of court by the party filing them they may be required to be returned. Howe v. Mutual Reserve Fund L. Assn., 115-285.

A record showing the dismissal of an action made without authority will not prevent the action being notice to purchasers of property affected thereby after the case is noticed for trial. Furry v. Ferguson, 105-231.

The record is the only proof of a judgment. It cannot be established by entries in the judge's calendar, or a form for the entry of judgment signed by the judge. Callanan v. Votruba, 104-672; King v. Dickson, 114-160.

Neither the mental conclusion of the judge presiding at the trial, nor the oral announcement of such conclusion, nor his written memorandum entered in his calendar, nor the abstract entered in the judgment docket, constitutes a judgment. A judgment cannot be said to be entered until it is spread by the clerk upon the record book. Kennedy v. Citizens' Nat. Bank, 119-123.

Where the judgment or conclusion of the court is reduced to writing and filed with the clerk, it becomes a judgment of the court, although not yet formally entered on the records. So held in a proceeding to punish for contempt in the violation of a temporary injunction, which had been dissolved by a written decision of the court deposited with the clerk. Coffey v. Gamble, 117-545.

A judgment or decree is not rendered so that an appeal may be taken therefrom until it is entered of record as provided by statute. Martin v. Martin, 125-73.

Where the order for the hearing of an application for discharge of receiver was not entered of record until after the discharge was granted and publication of the notice of such application was not made until after the order was entered, held that the court was without jurisdiction and the discharge was void. Williams v. Des Moines Loan & Trust Co., 126-22.

The judgment may be valid, although the clerk's record entry thereof is not signed and approved by the court until the next term after the entry in the judge's calendar. Percival v. Yousting, 120-451.

The clerk should record the judgment in accordance with the memorandum of the judge, not only as to its substance, but also as to its date; but the record should show the actual date of final recording, and an appeal taken prior to such date is premature. Hoffman-Bruner Guaranty Co. v. Stark, 132-100.

Whether a transcript of evidence on a previous trial is admissible under a stipulation, is to be determined by the court, and it may take judicial notice of the record in the case and of the stipulation thereby shown. The record and stipulation need not be formally proved. State v. Olds, 106-110.

While the pleadings in a case are part of the record, a duly authenticated copy of the judgment is a specific item of evidence, admissible in itself without regard to the record in the case. Alexander v. Grand Lodge A. O. U. W., 119-519.

Judgment rendered upon constructive or substituted service will not be binding upon a defendant not properly named in the record. Thornily v. Prentice, 121-89.

Thus where the service purported to be upon W. M. Thornily and judgment was entered against Wm. M. Thornily, held that the judgment was not valid as against Willis H. Thornily; the doctrine of idem sonans having no application. Ibid.

Where an amendment to the pleadings is treated by the parties as filed and the case is tried on the issues raised thereby, it cannot afterwards be objected that the filing of the amendment was not entered on the appearance docket. Foley v. Cedar Rapids, 133-64.

Entries nunc pro tunc: While a court may order a correction of its record of a prior date to conform to the facts as they existed at that date it cannot by such order change its records so as to show that a fact existed on a prior date that did not then in truth exist. First Nat. Bank v. Redhead, 103-421.

Therefore held that failure to file a certificate of the evidence in an equity case within six months after the trial could not be cured by a nunc pro tunc order making such certificate of record of a date prior to the date of its actual filing. Ibid.

Where a decree was prepared and signed by the judge and given to the clerk who filed but failed to record it, held, that it might subsequently be made of record by a nunc pro tunc order as of the date when it should have been recorded. Day v. Goodwin, 104-374.

While courts possess the power to enter judgments nunc pro tunc yet the exercise of such power presupposes the actual rendition of a judgment; the mere right to a judgment which never was rendered will not furnish the basis for such an entry. Doughty v. Meek, 105-16; Graham Paper Co. v. Wahlwend, 116-358.

But a court may enter judgment nunc pro tunc on a confession of judgment where the clerk has failed to enter judgment thereon. Doughty v. Meek, 105-16.

Mere formal or clerical errors or omissions or mistakes in the entries of the clerk concerning matters of procedure, even in criminal cases, may be corrected by nunc pro tunc orders. Smith v. District Court, 132-603.

Where upon the death of plaintiff in an action an order to substitute his administrator was made but judgment was entered in the name of the deceased plaintiff, held, that the defect in the judgment and in proceedings thereunder might be cured by a nunc pro tunc entry correcting the judgment so as to show that it was in fact entered in favor of the substituted plaintiff. Hunt v. Johnston, 105-311.

An order nunc pro tunc will be made to avoid the effects of a delay by the court or of a delay or omission of its clerk, but rarely, if ever, to remedy a delay or omission due to a party or his attorney. Newbury v. Getchell & Martin Lumber etc. Co., 106-140.

The time for taking an appeal is determined by the actual entry of the judgment and it cannot be made to relate back so as to cut off a right of appeal which until the entry of the judgment has not existed. Stutsman v. Sharpless, 125-335.

An order for a judgment entry nunc pro tunc cannot be made to relate back for the purposes of an appeal. Hoffman-Bruner Guaranty Co. v. Stark, 132-100.

Courts have inherent power to make nunc pro tunc orders, and are not limited by special statutory provisions as to the time when application for modification of the record is to be made. Hofacre v. Monticello, 128-239.

If no action of the court is in fact taken, there can be no entry nunc pro tunc as to such action, but if in fact taken and the particular evidence thereof is wanting, it may subsequently be supplied so as to relate back to the time when the act was in fact done. Ibid.

Lost records: If the short hand notes or transcript in an equity case are lost the court may order a substitution and will not be without jurisdiction to do so in a proceeding commenced within the time allowed for taking appeal although the final order for substitution is not entered until the time for the appeal in which it is desired to make use of the evidence has expired. Ormsby v. Graham, 123-202.

An order for the substitution of lost records in a case is not a matter of absolute right, but rests in the sound discretion of the court. First National Bank v. Reid, 122-280.

Judgment docket: The clerk of the court is required to keep a book in his office containing an abstract of judgments rendered, and costs in the case may properly be entered thereon in connection with the entry of the judgment. Hayes v. Clinton County, 118-569.

A judgment though improperly indexed may be valid between the parties, and as to everyone save a bona fide purchaser or incumbrancer without notice. State Savings Bank v. Shinn, 130-365.

Liability of clerk: The clerk may be liable in an action for damages brought by a party injured, for failing to enter a transcript from a justice's court on the judgment index. Lougee v. Reed, 133-48.

SEC. 291. Pleadings—when deemed filed—dates to be entered.

A pleading cannot be considered unless entered as filed in the appearance docket.

Johnson v. Berdo, 131-524.

SEC. 296. Fees to be collected and paid to county—when payable by county. The clerk of the district court shall be entitled to charge and receive the following fees:

1. For filing any petition, appeal or writ of error and docketing the same, one dollar and fifty cents;
 2. For every attachment, fifty cents;
 3. For every cause tried by jury, one dollar and fifty cents;
 4. For every cause tried by the court, seventy-five cents;
 5. For every equity case, one dollar and fifty cents;
 6. For each injunction or other extraordinary process or order, one dollar.
 7. For all causes continued on application of a party by affidavit, fifty cents;
 8. For all other continuances, fifteen cents;
 9. For entering any final judgment or decree, seventy-five cents;
 10. For taxing costs, fifty cents;
 11. For issuing execution or other process after judgment or decree, fifty cents;
 12. For filing and properly entering and indorsing each mechanic's lien, one dollar, and in case a suit is brought thereon, the same to be taxed as other costs in the action;
 13. For certificate and seal, fifty cents;
 14. For filing and docketing transcript of judgment from another county or a justice of the peace, fifty cents;
 15. For entering any rule or order, twenty-five cents;
 16. For issuing writ or order, not including subpoenas, fifty cents;
 17. For issuing commission to take depositions, fifty cents;
 18. For entering sheriff's sale of real estate, fifty cents;
 19. For entering judgment by confession, one dollar;
 20. For entering satisfaction of any judgment, twenty-five cents;
 21. For all copies of record, or papers filed in his office, transcripts, and making complete record, ten cents for each hundred words;
 22. For taking and approving a bond and sureties thereon, fifty cents;
 23. For declaration of intention by an alien to become a citizen, twenty-five cents;
 24. For all services on naturalization of aliens, including oaths and certificates, fifty cents;
 25. For certificates and seal to applications to procure pensions, bounties or back pay for soldiers or other persons entitled thereto, ten cents;
 26. For making out transcripts in criminal cases appealed to the supreme court, when the defendant is unable to pay, for each one hundred words, ten cents, to be paid by the county;
 27. In criminal cases, and in all causes in which the state or county is a party plaintiff, the same fees for same services as in suits between private parties. When judgment is rendered against the defendant, the fees shall be collected from such defendant. Where the state fails, the clerk's fees shall be paid by the county.
- In addition to the foregoing, he shall charge and collect:
28. For issuing marriage licenses, one dollar each;
 29. For all services performed in the settlement of the estate of any decedent, except where actions are brought by the administrator or against him, or as may be otherwise provided herein, where the value of the estate does not exceed three thousand dollars, three dollars; where such value is between three and five thousand dollars, five dollars; where such value is between five and seven thousand dollars, eight dollars; where the value exceeds seven thousand dollars, ten dollars;

30. In addition to the foregoing, for making a complete record in cases where the same is required by law or directed by an order of the court, for every one hundred words, ten cents.

All of which fees shall be paid into the county treasury. [C., '73, §§ 3781-2, 3787; R., §§ 430, 436, 1852, 4136, 4140-1; C., '51, §§ 2531-2.] [29 G. A., ch. 17, § 1.]

SEC. 297. Compensation of clerk.

The fact that duties are required of the clerk for which no compensation is provided does not authorize the allowance of exaction of compensation in addition to that provided by statute. Therefore, held, that one who becomes entitled to a fund in the hand of the clerk received in his official capacity is entitled also to the interest on such fund earned while it is on deposit with a bank in the clerk's name. Rhea v. Brewster, 130-729.

SEC. 298. Deputies—appointment—compensation—qualification.

The clerk, with the consent of the board of supervisors, may, when necessary, appoint a deputy, or employ a clerk or clerks, who shall not be a county officer. A certificate of such appointment and of the revocation thereof, when made, shall be filed with the county auditor. In counties of twenty thousand population or less, such deputy or clerk shall receive a salary not to exceed one-half the sum allowed to the principal. In counties having a population above twenty thousand and not exceeding thirty-five thousand, one or more deputies or clerks may be employed, their total compensation not to exceed fifteen hundred dollars, except that, where court is held at two places in a county, it may be any sum not exceeding two thousand dollars. In counties having a population of thirty-five thousand and less than forty thousand, one or more deputies may be employed, their total compensation not to exceed the sum of two thousand dollars. In counties having a population exceeding forty thousand, one or more deputies or clerks may be employed, whose total compensation shall not exceed five thousand dollars. The compensation of such deputy or clerk shall be fixed by the board of supervisors at the time of the consent to the appointment. The deputy shall take the same oath as his principal, to be indorsed on the certificate of his appointment, and may perform the duties of his principal. Clerks' and deputies' salaries to be paid out of the county treasury in equal monthly installments. [22 G. A., ch. 36, §§ 1, 2; 18 G. A., ch. 184, § 1; C., '73, §§ 766-8, 770, 3784; R., §§ 644-5; C., '51, §§ 411-14, 416.] [27 G. A., ch. 12, § 1.]

OF COUNTY ATTORNEYS AND THEIR DUTIES.

SECTION 301. Duties.

The county attorney cannot be called upon to perform any duty save such as may be enjoined upon him by law. He is not required to follow a case into another county on change of venue. Bevington v. Woodbury County, 107-424.

Therefore a contract for extra compensation for services to be rendered in a case in another county is valid. Ibid.

It is within the duties of the county attorney to take an appeal and give notice thereof in a criminal case. State v. Grim- mell, 116-596.

A proceeding to punish for violation of a liquor injunction is not a criminal prosecution in which the county attorney is required to appear. Such a prosecution may be carried on by a citizen through an attorney employed by him. Brennan v. Roberts, 125-615.

Communications made to a county attorney, with a view to his taking steps for the prosecution of a crime, are privileged. Gabriel v. McMullin, 127-426.

SEC. 302. To give opinions.

The county attorney has no authority to appear for the county in proceedings to levy a special assessment for the construction of a ditch. Yockey v. Woodbury County, 130-412.

SEC. 303. Deputies—assistance.

The provision of Code § 5372, that the opening and closing arguments are to be made by the county attorney does not prevent such arguments being made by an attorney hired by private prosecutors to assist the county attorney. State v. Novak, 109-717.

The assistant county attorney appointed with the approval of the court may represent the state in the investigation of the charge by the grand jury. State v. Tyler, 122-125.

The validity of the indictment is not affected by the fact that it is signed by the deputy county attorney. State v. Matthews, 133-398.

SEC. 303-a. Repeal—assistant—deputies—compensation. That section three hundred and three (303) of the code be and the same is hereby repealed and the following enacted in lieu thereof. In counties having a population of thirty-six thousand (36,000) or more, the county attorney thereof, with the approval of the board of supervisors, may appoint a practicing attorney who is a resident of his county, as his assistant, whose salary shall be fixed at a reasonable figure by the board of supervisors at the time of his appointment and approval, but not to exceed ten hundred dollars ($1,000.00) per annum. In counties of less than thirty-six thousand (36,000) he may appoint deputies who shall act without any compensation from the county, to assist him in the discharge of his duties. In any county with the approval of the district court, he may procure such assistance in the trial of a person charged with a felony as he shall deem necessary and such assistant, upon presenting to the board of supervisors a certificate of the district judge before whom said cause was tried, certifying to the service rendered, shall be allowed a reasonable compensation therefor, to be fixed by the board of supervisors; but nothing in this section shall prevent the board of supervisors from employing an attorney to assist the county attorney in any cause or proceeding in which the state or county is interested. [29 G. A., ch. 18, § 1.]

A county attorney is now authorized, subject to the approval of the court, to procure assistance in the trial of a person charged with a felony, and it is not necessary that such assistant be employed before the beginning of the trial. State v. Cobley, 128-114.

SEC. 304. Substitute in case of disability—compensation.

The authority of a substitute appointed by the court to act for the county attorney will be presumed until his want of authority is shown in an issue properly made. Lake City Electric Light Co. v. McCrary, 132-624.

The county attorney is entitled to be heard when the question arises as to whether he is under disability in a particular case and a substitute should be appointed whose compensation is to be taken from his salary. State v. Miller,

Where the county attorney, prior to his election to the office, had been consulted by a client with reference to his criminal liability in a transaction, held that on subsequently becoming the county attorney he was disqualified from conducting the prosecution against such client for the crime involved, and should have asked for the appointment of a substitute. State v. Rocker, 130-239.

SEC. 305. Prohibitions.

Where objection is not made during the trial to the appearance for the state of an attorney interested in a civil suit involving the same matter, such objection cannot be made for the first time in a motion for a new trial. By failing to object to the appearance of such attorney within a reasonable time after defendant is informed of his relations in the civil suit he waives all right of objection. State v. Smith, 108-440.

A county attorney in whose term a person is indicted for illegal sale of intoxicating liquors, is not prohibited from being an attorney for the wife in her action against such person for sales of liquor to her husband, such sales not being connected with the sales for which the indictment was procured. Bellison v. Ap-land, 115-599.

SEC. 307. Attend grand jury.

When the county attorney is disqualified from acting in the prosecution of a crime, he should not appear before the grand jury with reference thereto, and if he does so the indictment should be set aside on motion. State v. Rocker, 130-239.

SEC. 308. Compensation. County attorneys shall be allowed an annual salary, in counties having a population less than fifteen thousand ($900), nine hundred dollars ($900); in counties of fifteen thousand (15,000) and under 25,000, one thousand dollars ($1,000); in counties of 25,000 and under 35,000, twelve hundred fifty dollars ($1,250); in counties of 35,000 and under 45,000, fifteen hundred dollars ($1,500); in counties of 45,000 and under 55,000, seventeen hundred fifty dollars ($1,750); in counties of 55,000 and under 65,000, two thousand dollars ($2,000); and in all counties of 65,000 and over, twenty-five hundred dollars ($2,500); provided, that in counties having a population exceeding 30,000 and under 35,000 the board of supervisors may pay not to exceed fifteen hundred dollars ($1,500) annually, and in counties having a population exceeding 40,000 and under 45,000 the board of supervisors may pay not to exceed seventeen hundred and fifty dollars ($1,750) annually. Said salary shall be paid quarterly out of the general fund of the county, and shall be due at the end of each quarter, namely: March thirty-first, June thirtieth, September thirtieth, and December thirty-first. In addition to the salary above provided, he shall receive the fees as now allowed to attorneys for suits upon written instruments where judgment is obtained, for all fines collected where he appears for the state, but not otherwise, and school fund mortgages foreclosed, and his necessary and actual expenses incurred in attending upon his official duties at a place other than his residence and the county seat, which shall be audited and allowed by the board of supervisors of the county. [21 G. A., ch. 73, § 11.] [29 G. A., ch. 18, § 2; 31 G. A., ch. 11.] [32 G. A., ch. 10, § 1.]

The board of supervisors may contract to pay extra compensation for following a case into another county on change of venue. Bevington v. Woodbury County, 107-424.

SEC. 308-a. When effective. The provisions of this act shall become operative and be in force and effect on and after the fourth day of July, 1907. [32 G. A., ch. 10, § 2.]

CHAPTER 10.

OF ATTORNEYS AND COUNSELORS.

SECTION 310. Qualifications. Every applicant for such admission must be at least twenty-one years of age, of good moral character, and an inhabitant of this state, and must have actually and in good faith pursued a regular course of study of the law for at least three full years, either in the office of a member of the bar in regular practice of this state or other state, or of a judge of a court of record thereof, or in some reputable law school in the United States, or partly in such office and partly in such law school; but, in reckoning such period of study, the school year of any such law school, consisting of not less than thirty-six weeks exclusive of vacations, shall be considered equivalent to a full year. Every such applicant for admission must also have actually and in good faith acquired a general education substantially equivalent to that involved in the completion of a high-school course of study of at least four years in extent. [20 G. A., ch. 168, § 2.] [28 G. A., ch. 11, § 1.] [32 G. A., ch. 11, § 1.]

[The amendment by the 32 G. A. changed the word "three" in the last line of the section to "four," the change to become effective after July 1, 1909. See section 310-a.]

The possession of a good general moral bar. State v. Mosher, 128-82. character is requisite for admission to the

SEC. 310-a. When effective. This act shall take effect, and be in force on and after July 1, 1909. [32 G. A., ch. 11, § 2.]

SEC. 311. Examinations. Every such applicant shall also be examined by the court, or by a commission of not less than five members constituted as hereinafter provided, as to his learning and skill in the law; and the court must be satisfied, before admitting to practice, that the applicant has actually and in good faith devoted the time hereinbefore required to the study of law, and possesses the requisite learning and skill therein, and has also the general education required by this act. The sufficiency of the general education of the applicant may be determined by examination before the commission, or in such other manner as the supreme court may by rule prescribe. [20 G. A., ch. 168, § 1.] [28 G. A., ch. 11, § 2.]

SEC. 311-a. Commission—how constituted—term—oath—compensation—temporary examiners. The attorney-general shall, by virtue of his office, be a member of, and the chairman of, the commission provided for by the chapter of the code above referred to as amended by this act, and the court shall appoint from the members of the bar of this state at least four other persons who, with the attorney-general, shall constitute said commission, which shall be known as the board of law examiners. Of the persons first appointed as commissioners two shall be designated by the court to serve for one year; the remaining members shall serve for two years; and thereafter each person appointed shall serve for two years, except that in case of a vacancy during the term of office of any commissioner his successor shall be appointed only for the remainder of such term. The members thus appointed shall take and subscribe an oath to be administered by one of the judges of the supreme court to faithfully and impartially discharge the duties of the office, and shall receive such compensation as may be allowed by the supreme court out of the fund arising from the examination fees hereinafter provided for. The supreme court may also appoint, from time to time, when necessary, temporary examiners to assist the commission, who shall serve for one examination only, and shall receive such compensation as the court may allow, to be paid from the fund aforesaid. [28 G. A., ch. 11, § 5.]

SEC. 311-b. Fees—how used. Each applicant for admission shall pay to the clerk of the supreme court an examination fee of five dollars, payable before the examination is commenced. The fees thus paid to said clerk shall be retained by him as a special fund to be appropriated as provided for in the preceding section, and for other expenses incident to the examinations provided for in this chapter; and any amount thereof remaining in his hands unappropriated on the thirtieth day of June shall be turned over to the state treasury. [28 G. A., ch. 11, § 6.]

SEC. 311-c. Acts in conflict repealed. All acts or parts of acts in conflict with the provisions of this act are hereby repealed. [28 G. A., ch. 11, § 8.]

SEC. 312. Of students in law department of university. Students in the law department of the state university, who are recommended by the faculty of said department as candidates for graduation and as persons of good moral character, who have actually and in good faith studied law for the time and in the manner required by statute, at least one year of such study having been as a student in said department, may be examined at the university by not less than three members of said commission with the addition of such temporary members as may be appointed by the court in accordance with the provisions of this act, and upon the certificate of such examiners, that such candidates possess the learning and skill requisite for the practice of law, they shall be admitted without further examination. [20 G. A., 168, § 4.] [28 G. A., ch. 11, § 3.]

SEC. 315. Mode of examination. The supreme court may by general rules prescribe the mode in which examinations under this chapter shall be conducted, and in which the qualifications required as to age, residence, character, general education and term of study shall be proved, and may make any other and further rules, not inconsistent with this chapter, for the purpose of carrying out its object and intent. [20 G. A., ch. 168, § 7.] [28 G. A., ch. 11, § 4.]

SEC. 316. Attorneys resident in other states—must appoint local attorney. Any member of the bar of another state, actually engaged in any cause or matter pending in any court of this state, may be permitted by such court to appear in and conduct such cause or matter while retaining his residence in another state, without being subject to the foregoing provisions of this chapter. Provided that at the time he enters his appearance he files with the clerk of such court the written appointment of some attorney resident in the county where such suit is pending, upon whom service may be had in all matters connected with said action, with the same effect as if personally made on such foreign attorney within such county. In case of failure to make such appointment, such attorney shall not be permitted to practice as aforesaid, and all papers filed by him shall be stricken from the files. [20 G. A., ch. 168, § 8.] [28 G. A., ch. 12, § 1.]

SEC. 317. Duties of attorneys and counselors.

Duties and liabilities: Under code § 3851 an attorney is not competent as a surety on a bond for appeal from a justice of the peace. Hudson v. Smith, 111-411.

The relations between attorney and client require the utmost fairness and good faith on the part of the attorney, and the burden of proving the entire fairness of the transactions between them rests upon the attorney. A contract between attorney and client with reference to the property of the client is presumed to be fraudulent. Shropshire v. Ryan, 111-677.

It is not negligence on the part of an attorney to decline to proceed further in a case, and such refusal will not render him liable in damages for a subsequent adverse result therein. Cullison v. Lindsay, 108-124.

In an action to recover on account of the negligence of an attorney in defending an action it is not sufficient to show the negligence of the attorney and the fact that judgment was recovered in the action. The plaintiff must go further in establishing that he has suffered damage by reason of such negligence. Getchell & Martin Lumber etc. Co. v. Employers Liability Assur. Co., 117-180.

Where an attorney received money from his client to be applied to a specific purpose, held, that he could not lawfully enter into an agreement for the appropriation of the money when received for the benefit of another to whom he owed no duty. Farrar v. Farrar, 104-621.

An attorney who has been employed by and received the confidence of his client is incompetent to accept a retainer from the other party in the same matter, even though he may have been discharged from the first employment, and does not violate any confidence thus obtained. Whitcomb v. Collier, 133-303.

Compensation: The importance of the litigation, the success attained, and the benefit which it had secured may be considered in estimating the compensation to which the attorney who conducted it is entitled for the services he rendered. Clark v. Ellsworth, 104-442.

Where the subject-matter of the litigation is of great importance to the litigants, and of a character to lead them to use every legitimate effort to succeed, the wealth of the party and his consequent ability to make a severe contest may be considered in connection with his disposition to do so as tending to show the importance and value of services which the attorney for whose compensation he was responsible was required to render. Ibid.

Not only the amount and character of the services and the results attained, but also the professional ability and standing of the attorney, his learning, skill and proficiency in his profession and his experience may be considered in estimating the reasonable value of his services. Ibid.

In an action to recover compensation for services wherein the attorney had testified to the amount of time spent out of court in preparing for trial of the case, held, that evidence that the time thus testified to as having been spent was an unreasonable time for the preparation of the trial of the case was admissible. Ibid.

The attorney is entitled to recover from the person who is liable for the services rendered by him any advances which he has made which were reasonably necessary in procuring information upon which to act. Whether, if a non-resident of the county in which the case is tried, he is entitled to recover for hotel bills and other expenses depends upon the usage in the locality, but he is not entitled to expenses of traveling outside the county where it does not appear that the services of competent attorneys in the county could not have been procured. Ibid.

The wealth of the client cannot be taken into consideration in fixing the value of legal services. Ibid.

A contract by an attorney for contingent fee consisting of a certain proportion of the amount of recovery in the case, but not requiring of him the payment of any portion of the costs, is not unlawful. Dunham v. Bentley, 103-136.

A contract for a contingent fee, consisting of a specific share of the recovery, is not void as champertous. Rickel v. Chicago, R. I. & P. R. Co., 112-148.

The fact that an attorney makes advancements in the way of paying the filing fee, and for the attendance of witnesses, and for other necessary expenses incident to the preparation and trial of the case, does not make the contract between the attorney and client as to fees illegal and immoral. Wallace v. Chicago, M. & St. P. R. Co., 112-565.

An attorney who is required by the court to perform services for the public in a disbarment proceeding is entitled to reasonable compensation therefor from the county. Hyatt v. Hamilton County, 121-292.

An attorney who has faithfully discharged his duties under a contract for conducting a case to its conclusion until discharge, without ground by the client, may recover the entire compensation agreed upon. Spurrier v. Bullard, 131-123.

A power of attorney by which the attorney for a consideration paid or promised obtains an interest in the subject-matter, with an agreement to indemnify his principal against liability for costs and expenses in connection therewith, is irrevocable, and operates as an assignment by the principal to the attorney. Blondel v. Ohlman, 132-257.

An attorney who has once been made the recipient of the confidence of a client concerning a certain subject-matter is thereafter disqualified from acting for any other party adversely interested in such subject-matter. Therefore, held, that an attorney who had been consulted by a client with reference to a matter involving the criminal liability of the latter was disqualified on becoming county attorney from prosecuting the client for the crime involved. State v. Rocker, 130-239.

Attorney employment: An attorney who is employed by another attorney in the case as associate counsel and whose services are accepted by the client may recover from the client the value of his services. Door v. Dudley, 112 N. W. 203.

SEC. 318. Deceit or collusion—punishment.

The facts in a particular case held sufficient to justify disbarment of an attorney for making a false affidavit, although under an agreement with the party to whom the affidavit was given that it should not be used in the state. It is not necessary under this section that a crime be committed. State v. Howard, 112-256.

SEC. 319. Authorities of attorneys and counselors.

An attorney does not have implied authority to confess or consent to judgment against his client. First Nat. Bank v. Bourdelais, 109-497.

An attorney under general employment has no authority to consent to judgment against his client, or waive any cause of action or defense in his case. Kilmer v. Gallaher, 112-583.

Attorneys cannot by agreement not reduced to writing nor entered on the records of the court agree to the submission of a case for a decree to be entered in vacation. Whitlock v. Wade, 117-153.

It is within the scope of authority of an attorney to make an agreement as to the record in the case. American Emigrant Co. v. Long, 105-194.

An agreement between counsel not reduced to writing nor made matter of record cannot be enforced. Baily v. Birkhofer, 123-59.

An agreement between attorneys not in writing may be shown by the admissions of one of them as against his client. Johnson v. Nash-Wright Co., 121-173.

A party who has been represented by an unauthorized attorney should disavow and disaffirm his action promptly upon receiving knowledge thereof, and if he is made a party plaintiff with knowledge of the fact, he will be bound by the judgment if he does not disavow or disaffirm the action. Oxtoby v. Henley, 112-697.

Where an attorney has appeared in an action for defendant, authority for doing so will be presumed, and the burden is upon the defendant to show that no such authority in fact existed. Uehlein v. Burk, 119-742.

Clients cannot in reason expect that every act in connection with the business affairs entrusted by them to an attorney will be done by him personally. Therefore held that an attaching creditor, found to have unlawfully sued out an attachment, was liable for the negligent or wrongful acts of an assistant of the attorney employed by him, although such assistant was not a licensed attorney. Lord, Owen & Co. v. Wood, 120-303.

SEC. 320. Proof of authority may be required.

This section points out the exclusive method of testing the authority of the attorney to appear in behalf of the client, and the want of authority of the attorney cannot be raised by plea in abatement. State v. Beardsley, 108-396.

The authority of an attorney to prosecute an appeal to the supreme court may be called in question in a motion to dismiss the appeal, and if it affirmatively appears that such appeal was taken without authority, it will be dismissed. Yockey v. Woodbury County, 130-412.

SEC. 321. Attorney's lien—notice.

The statute as to the lien of an attorney is a substantial enactment of the common law with the requirement concerning notice added. Foss v. Cobler, 105-728.

An attorney has no common law lien on money due his client, and can only enforce a claim against such a fund under the statutory provisions. Kerr v. Kennedy, 119-239.

A new contract as to fees, made after the filing of an attorney's lien, does not defeat the lien. Wallace v. Chicago, M. & St. P. R. Co., 112-565.

Where an attorney's lien has been filed, it makes no difference whether the money paid in settlement of the action is in fact paid before or after the dismissal of the action, if it appears that the payment was made in settlement of the claim and to prevent further litigation. Ibid.

This section makes no provision for a lien on real estate, and the attorney for a wife who sues for divorce and alimony, and asks to have set aside an alleged fraudulent conveyance of land by her husband, cannot on the dismissal of the action by the wife intervene for the purpose of having a lien in his favor enforced on such land. Keehn v. Keehn, 115-467.

An attorney's lien is simply the right to hold or retain in the attorney's possession the money or property of client until his proper charges have been adjusted and paid. The lien may be enforced as a judgment, or by summary proceedings against a sheriff who has collected the money on execution, or in an action against the client or the adverse party, or, if it is a specific fund, by motion and order to get the necessary amount set aside for payment of the claim. The attorney's claim for services is properly triable by a jury. Sweeley v. Sieman, 123-183.

The lien is on the money due to the client, and not on the judgment or amount recovered in the action in which the attorney is employed. The client cannot by dismissing the action and employing another attorney defeat the lien for actual services rendered while the employment of the attorney giving the notice continues.

But notice given by one attorney does not give rise to a lien for services rendered by him and another attorney jointly. Gibson v. Chicago, M. & St. P. R. Co., 122-565.

The lien of an attorney attaches only to money or property coming into the possession of the attorney claiming such lien. Atlee v. Bullard, 123-274.

A notice of an attorney's lien signed by the attorney as attorney for the party and not for himself will nevertheless be sufficient. Gibson v. Chicago, M. & St. P. R. Co., 122-565.

The lien of the attorney attaches to the money paid by the judgment debtor to the clerk in satisfaction of the judgment. The creditor cannot complain of such payment. Hubbard v. Ellithorpe, 112 N. W. 796.

Such lien attaches to the alimony awarded in a final decree of divorce. Ibid.

The right of an attorney under his lien is subject to any set-off which the debtor has against his client. The attorney as assignee of the judgment in favor of his client is in no better situation than the client as against an equitable right of set-off existing against the judgment debtor at the time of the assignment. De Laval Separator Co. v. Sharpless, 111 N. W. 438.

SEC. 322. How lien released.

Where a suit is brought in equity to enforce an attorney's lien the client is not entitled to have the action transferred to the law docket on filing a bond, as authorized by this section. Crissman v. McDuff, 114-83.

SEC. 323. License to practice may be revoked.

In a proceeding under this section, where the court fails to find the defendant guilty, it has no power, on dismissing the charges, to render judgment that the defendant be reprimanded and tax costs to the defendant. State v. Tracy, 115-71.

Notwithstanding the provision of Code

§ 309, giving to the supreme court exclusive authority to license persons to practice law, any court of record has authority to revoke or suspend such license, and the district court therefore has jurisdiction to try and determine disbarment proceedings. State v. Mosher, 128-82.

SEC. 324. Grounds for revocation.

Judgment of disbarment should only be pronounced upon clear and convincing proof. State v. Howard, 112-256.

The evidence in a particular case considered and held sufficient to sustain a judgment of disbarment. State v. Mosher, 128-82.

The statute does not purport to include all the grounds for the revocation of licenses to practice as an attorney, and although ceasing to be of good moral character is not within the causes stated, a court has jurisdiction to disbar an attorney on that ground. The moral delinquencies must be such, however, as shall unfit the person accused for the proper discharge of the trust imposed in him. Among these are the absence of common honesty and veracity, especially in professional intercourse. State v. Mosher, 128-82.

SEC. 325. Proceedings—how begun—costs—how paid. The proceedings to remove or suspend an attorney may be commenced by the direction of the court or on motion of any individual. In the former case, the court must direct some attorney to draw up the accusation; in the latter, the accusation must be drawn up and sworn to by the person making it. If an action is commenced by direction of the court, the costs shall be taxed and disposed of as in criminal cases; provided, however, that no allowance shall be made in such case for the payment of attorney fees. [C., '73, § 219; R., § 2712; C., '51, § 1622.] [29 G. A., ch. 19, § 1.]

The court may properly appoint more than one attorney to take charge of the proceedings and draw up the proper accusation. State v. Howard, 112-256.

The judge sitting as court may direct disbarment proceedings to be begun in the name of the state and appoint attorneys to prosecute the case, although his attention to the misconduct of the attorney has been called by an affidavit presented to him in vacation. State v. Tracy, 115-71.

The order appointing attorneys to draw an accusation in a disbarment proceeding need not contain a recital of facts upon which the prosecution is to be based, but the attorneys appointed may include therein such matters as they deem proper. State v. Mosher, 128-82.

An attorney appointed by the court to act for the public in the prosecution of a disbarment proceeding is entitled to reasonable compensation to be paid by the county. Hyatt v. Hamilton County, 121-292.

SEC. 326. Notice.

The statute contemplates an examination of the accusation by the court, and a finding as to its sufficiency before the accused is ordered to answer; but where the order to answer is previously made and defendant tests the sufficiency of the accusation by motion or otherwise, the irregularity is waived. State v. Mosher, 128-82.

SEC. 327. Pleading—trial—evidence preserved.

The defendant in a disbarment proceeding, who has been acquitted, is not entitled to have the evidence taken on a hearing extended into longhand at the expense of the county, and preserved in that form for future reference. The provision as to the preservation of the evidence is for the purpose of appeal only. State v. Tomlinson, 131-617.

such witnesses may be offered in the form of depositions. State v. Mosher, 128-82.

Where the evidence is taken in shorthand, duly certified, and the transcript thereof filed with the clerk within a reasonable time, there is compliance with the statutory requirement that all evidence be reduced to writing, filed and preserved. Ibid.

A disbarment proceeding is not criminal in its nature, but a special civil proceeding, and defendant is not necessarily entitled to be confronted in court by the witnesses against him. The evidence of

A sworn denial by the accused of the accusations does not prevent an investigation thereof on the issue raised by such denial. State v. Mosher, 128-82.

SEC. 329. Appeal.

The provision for appeal contemplates a hearing in the supreme court de novo.

State v. Mosher, 128-82.

SEC. 329-a. Clerk to certify order or judgment. When a judgment has been entered in any court of record in the state of Iowa revoking or suspending the license of any attorney at law to practice in the said court, the clerk of the court in which the judgment is rendered shall immediately certify to the clerk of the supreme court the order or judgment of the court in said cause. [30 G. A., ch. 13.]

SEC. 331. When not guilty.

The client is not required to give bond for the discharge of the attorney's lien before proceeding by motion to compel the attorney to pay over the money. Union

Bldg. & Sav. Assn. v. Soderquist, 115-695.

Further as to compelling attorneys on motion to pay over money of the client, see notes to § 3826.

CHAPTER 11.

OF JURORS.

SECTION 332. Competency to act.

Inability to read and write the English language is a ground of challenge, but the mere fact that the juror is shown to have signed his name by a mark on several occasions, does not prove his inability to write. State v. Greenland, 125-141.

The discretion of the trial court in passing upon the competency of a person to act as a juror on challenge will not generally be interfered with on appeal. Harris v. Moore, 112 N. W. 163.

SEC. 337. Judges of election to return names—if they fail, supervisors supply names. The auditor shall, at the time of furnishing the poll-books to the judges of election, furnish them also a statement of the number of persons apportioned to their respective precincts to be returned for each of the said jury lists, together with the names of all persons who have served as grand or petit jurors since January first preceding, which latter names shall be furnished to him by the clerk of the district court. The judges shall thereupon make the requisite selection, and return lists of names so selected to the auditor with the returns of elections; and in case the judges of election shall fail to make and return said lists as herein required, the board of supervisors shall, at the meeting held to canvass the votes polled in the county, make such lists for the delinquent precincts, and the auditor shall file such lists in his office, and cause a copy thereof to be recorded in the election book. Should no general election be held in the year one thousand nine hundred and five, the board of supervisors shall meet on the first Monday in December of said year and prepare the grand and petit jury lists from the poll-books returned from the various voting precincts of the county in the year one thousand nine hundred and four. Such lists shall be composed only of persons competent and qualified to serve as jurors; and the judges of election or boards of supervisors shall omit from said lists the name of any person who has served as a grand or petit juror in a court of record since January first preceding. And if the name of any such person is returned, the fact that he has requested to be so returned, or has served as such juror in a court of record during the jury year, as defined in this chapter, shall be a ground for challenge for cause. The members of the election board, or the board of supervisors, when certifying to such lists, shall state that the lists do not contain the name of any person who requested, directly or indirectly, that his name appear thereon. If the boundaries of any voting precinct shall be changed, it shall be the duty of the auditor, in making the apportionment of grand and petit jurors and talesmen, to assign to the new voting precincts the total number of grand and petit jurors and talesmen to which all the former precincts affected by the change were entitled, giving to each new precinct an equal number as nearly as possible. [26 G. A., ch. 61, § 6; C., '73, § 238; R., §§ 2727-8; C., '51, §§ 1637-8.] [29 G. A., ch. 20, § 1.]

Objections to a juror because he was the officer at the election required to return names of jurors, and requested a return of his own name, cannot be made after the examination of the jurors, although the fact is not known until after verdict. In re Goldthorp's Estate, 115-430.

The act relating to selection of grand jurors which took effect July 1, 1895, did not render illegal grand juries which had already been selected for the year under the old law. State v. Wiltsey, 103-54.

While the law requires grand jurors to be electors of the county, it does not require that a person must have voted or that his name be found upon the poll books, to make him eligible. Therefore a showing that the sheriff was unable to find a person of the name in the ward or city from which he was drawn, or that the county auditor could find no such name on the poll books does not show that the juror was not properly selected. State v. Harris, 122-78.

An order of the district court setting aside the jury list for irregularities is not binding on persons not parties to the proceedings. Polk County v. District Court, 133-710.

SEC. 337-a. District court to order lists prepared. Wherever it has been or hereafter shall be found or determined by the district court in any county that, for any cause, the lawfully constituted grand jury or a like petit jury has not or cannot be obtained by drawing from the names returned by the election officers to the county auditor to serve as jurors, or that lawfully qualified talesmen cannot be selected by drawing from the list of names, or that the term for which such lists were drawn has expired, the said court may order the board of supervisors of said county to prepare lists of names of persons having the qualifications required by law for grand jurors, petit jurors and talesmen. The court ordering shall fix the time of meeting of said board of supervisors therefor and shall prescribe the time and manner of notice thereof to be given the several members of such board. Said notice may be served by any person and proof of service shall be the same as that of original notice. [32 G. A., ch. 12, § 1.]

SEC. 337-b. Supervisors to prepare lists—meeting. It is hereby made the duty of the members of said board of supervisors to obey the order of the district court made in accordance with the authority granted it in section one (1) hereof, and they are hereby empowered and authorized to hold a meeting of said board for the said purpose and the preparation of jury lists by said board at said meeting shall have precedence over all other business. [32 G. A., ch. 12, § 2.]

SEC. 337-c. Apportionment. The names to be drawn for grand jurors, petit jurors and talesmen shall be the number now required by law; they shall be apportioned among the several voting precincts by the county auditor as required by law, and such apportionment shall be certified by the auditor to the board of supervisors. [32 G. A., ch. 12, § 3.]

SEC. 337-d. Names selected—lists certified—filed with county auditor. In preparing such lists the board of supervisors shall select the names from the qualified electors from the several precincts as shown by the poll lists of the last preceding general election, selecting for grand jury, petit jury and talesmen lists, the number in each precinct shown by the auditor's apportionment provided for in this act. Such lists shall be separately certified by the board of supervisors, in substance and in form, as election officers are now required to certify lists returned by them and the lists shall be filed with the county auditor and recorded by him in the proper record, and shall stand as the regular jury list for the county for the year in which it is selected and shall be used therefor and juries chosen therefrom, in all respects except as to time of selection of list and panel and summoning of the jurors, as is now provided by law; the time of selection of list and panel and summoning of the jurors to be under the order of the court. [32 G. A., ch. 12, § 4.]

SEC. 339. Grand jurors—panel of twelve for each year.

The objection that two memoers of the grand jury were residents of the same township will be waived if not urged before pleading to the indictment, unless it appears that defendant did not know of the irregularity before pleading. State v. Kouhns, 103-720.

SEC. 340-a. Repeal. That section three hundred and forty of the code be, and the same is, hereby repealed. [27 G. A., ch. 114, § 3.]

SEC. 342. When, how and by whom drawn.

In a county having two county seats, the county recorder discharging the duties of his office at one county seat, and his deputy at the other, held that the deputy might act in the drawing of jurors at the latter county seat. State v. Turner, 114-426.

SEC. 346. Number of jurors to be drawn.

The provisions of 22 G. A., chap. 37, relating to the drawing of jurors in Pottawattamie county, are still in force, although not expressly retained in the present Code. Such provisions were in the nature of a special statute, and were not repealed by the Code. State v. Higgins, 121-19.

SEC. 347. Others drawn when necessary.

It is not error for the court, before the beginning of trial, to order an additional panel to be drawn from the jury box and summoned for the trial of the case, the jurors so summoned becoming a part of the panel for the term or particular case as the order may direct, and not until the panel as thus increased has been exhausted should talesmen be called. State v. John, 124-230.

SEC. 348. Court controls number.

Where the jurors are excused for the time when their services are not needed, they are not entitled to compensation for such time. Venett v. Jordan, 111-409.

SEC. 349. Talesmen—when and how drawn—waiver.

The statute requires the drawing to be in the presence of the court, and it will be presumed, unless otherwise shown by bill of exceptions (and not by affidavits) that the statutory direction was followed. Moss v. Appanoose County, 109-671.

While the statute authorizes the court to direct the clerk in calling talesmen to omit names of any whom he knows to be exempt from jury service, and does not authorize a direction to omit names of those known to be unable to serve, yet such misdirection will not constitute error in the trial of a case, where it appears that the complaining party did not exhaust his challenges, and that the jurors before whom the case was tried were legally qualified to sit, and that no exception to any member of the jury, nor to the jury as a whole, was taken. State v. McIntosh, 109-209.

It is not necessary to call talesmen in the order in which their names are drawn from the box. It is not objectionable to draw a sufficient number of talesmen all at once to meet the requirements of a particular case. State v. Minor, 106-642.

Where the names of the talesmen are drawn from the proper box they may be used as they appear without their names being again drawn. State v. Wolf, 112-458.

If the court orders an additional panel to be drawn from the jury box before the commencement of the trial, talesmen should not be called until the panel, as thus increased, has been exhausted. State v. John, 124-230.

SEC. 350. Disposition of ballots drawn.

Where the drawing was set aside and the persons whose names were so drawn did not serve, held not error to return their names to the jury box. State v. Johnson, 111 N. W. 827.

SEC. 354. Fees of jurors. Jurors shall receive the following fees:

1. For each day's service or attendance in courts of record, including jurors summoned on special venire, two dollars, and for each mile traveled from his residence to the place of trial, the sum of ten cents;

2. For each day's service before a justice of the peace, one dollar.

3. No mileage shall be allowed talesmen or jurors before justices. Immediately after the adjournment of each term of a court of record, the clerk thereof shall certify to the county auditor a list of the jurors, with the number of days' attendance to which each one is entitled. [C., '73' § 3811; R., § 4154; C., '51, § 2545.] [30 G. A., ch. 14.]

Where the jurors are excused for a time, as provided in Code § 348, they are not entitled to compensation for such time. Venett v. Jordan, 111-409.

CHAPTER 12.OF SECURITIES AND INVESTMENTS.*SECTION 355. Security to be by bond.

A surety company furnishing an official bond under a contract with the person for whom the bond is furnished that he will indemnify it against all losses, attorneys' fees, and expenses sustained by reason of the execution of the bond, may in the absence of bad faith recover against such person its attorneys' fees expended in a suit on the bond, although the principal in the bond has also employed counsel and notified the company of that fact. United States Fidelity & Guaranty Co. v. Hittle, 121-352.

SEC. 357. Defects rectified.

The amendment of an affidavit will not be effectual to cure an error against a party who has already acquired rights. McGillivray v. Case, 107-17.

A bond which is essentially insufficient for the purpose for which it is given cannot be made sufficient by amendment after the time for giving such bond has expired. Sutton v. Bower, 124-58.

SEC. 359. Affidavit of sureties.

Affidavit by the surety is not essential to the validity of the appeal bond in justices' court. Porter v. Western Union Tel. Co., 133-747.

SEC. 370. Administrator, trustee, etc., may deposit with clerk—effect. Whenever any administrator, guardian, trustee or referee shall desire to make his final report, and shall then have in his possession or under his control any funds, moneys or securities due, or to become due, to any heir, legatee, devisee or other person, whose place of residence is unknown to such administrator, guardian, trustee, or referee or to whom payment of the amount due cannot be made as shown by the report on file, such funds, moneys or securities may upon order of the court and after such notice as the court may prescribe, be deposited with the clerk of the district court of the county wherein such appointment was made, and, if he shall otherwise discharge all the duties imposed upon him by such appointment, he may take the receipt of the clerk of the district court for such funds, moneys or securities so deposited, which receipt shall specifically set forth from whom said funds, moneys or securities were derived, the amount thereof, and the name of the person to whom due or to become due, if known. Thereupon said administrator, guardian, trustee or referee may file such receipt with his final report, and, if it shall be made to appear to the satisfaction of the court that he has in all other respects complied with the law governing his appointment and duties, the court may approve such final report and enter his discharge; but notice of such contemplated deposit, and of final report, shall be given for the same time and in the same manner as is now required in cases of final report by administrators. [22 G. A., ch. 41, § 1.] [28 G. A., ch. 13, § 1.]

SEC. 371. Duty and liability of clerk as to deposits. The clerk of the district court with whom any deposit of funds, moneys or securities shall be made, as provided by any law or an order of court, shall enter in a book, to be provided and kept for that purpose, the amount of such deposit, the character thereof, the date of its deposit, from whom received, from what source derived, to whom due or to become due, if known. He shall be liable upon his bond for all such funds, moneys or securities which may be deposited with him, and shall make complete verified statements thereof to the board of supervisors at the January and June sessions each year. If the funds, moneys or securities so deposited with the clerk shall not be paid to the person or persons to whom the same is due, or to become due, within six months from the date of its deposit, the clerk shall then, unless otherwise ordered by the court or judge, deposit such funds, moneys or securities with the county treasurer for the use of the county wherein such appointment was made, taking the treasurer's receipt therefor, countersigned by the county auditor, who shall thereupon charge upon the books of his office and against the treasurer the amount named in such receipts. [22 G. A., ch. 41, § 1.] [28 G. A., ch. 14, § 1.]

CHAPTER 13.

OF NOTARIES PUBLIC.

SECTION 373. Repeal—appointment—commissions expire—notice. That section three hundred and seventy-three (373) of the code be repealed and the following enacted in lieu thereof:

“The governor may appoint and commission one or more notaries public in each county and may at any time revoke such appointment. The commission of all notaries public heretofore or hereafter issued prior to the fourth day of July, A. D. 1909, shall expire on that day, and commissions subsequently issued shall be for no longer period than three years, and all such commissions shall expire on the fourth day of July in the same year. The governor shall, on or before the first day of May, A. D. 1909, and every three years thereafter, notify each notary when his commission will expire, sending such notice by mail and accompanying the notice with a blank application for re-appointment and a blank bond.” [32 G. A., ch. 13, § 1.]

A notary public acting for a bank which holds a draft for collection, in presenting the draft is not the mere agent of the bank, but is a public officer for whose negligence the bank will not be liable. It makes no difference that the notary is also an employe of the bank. First Nat. Bank v. German Bank, 107-543.

The court takes judicial notice that a person whose name appears to the jurat was a notary public in and for the county named therein, and it presumes that he acted within the county of his jurisdiction. Black v. Minneapolis & St. L. R. Co., 122-32.

SEC. 374. Repeal—conditions. That section three hundred and seventy-four (374) of the code be repealed and the following enacted in lieu thereof:

“Before any such commission is delivered to the person appointed, he shall:

1. Procure a seal on which shall be engraved the words ‘Notarial Seal’ and ‘Iowa,’ with his surname at length and at least the initials of his christian name;
2. Execute a bond to the state of Iowa in the sum of five hundred dollars conditioned for the true and faithful execution of the duties of his office, which bond, when secured by personal surety, shall be approved by the clerk of the district court of the county of his residence; all other bonds shall be approved by the governor.
3. Write on said bond, or a paper attached thereto, his signature and place thereon a distinct impression of official seal;
4. File such bond with attached papers, if any, in the office of the governor;
5. Remit to the governor the fee required by law.

When the governor is satisfied that the foregoing requirements have been fully complied with, he shall execute and deliver a commission to the person appointed.” [32 G. A., ch. 13, § 2.]

SEC. 375. Repeal—certificate of appointment filed with clerk. That section three hundred and seventy-five (375) of the code be repealed and the following enacted in lieu thereof:

“When the governor delivers a commission to the person appointed, he or his secretary shall make a certificate of such appointment and forward the same to the clerk of the district court of the proper county, who shall file and preserve the same in his office, and it shall be deemed sufficient evidence to enable such clerk to certify that the person so commissioned is a notary public during the time such commission is in force.” [32 G. A., ch. 13, § 3.]

SEC. 376. Repeal—revocation—notice. That section three hundred and seventy-six (376) of the code be repealed and the following enacted in lieu thereof:

“Should the commission of any person appointed notary public be revoked by the governor, he shall immediately notify such person and also the clerk of the district court of the proper county, through the mail.” [32 G. A., ch. 13, § 4.]

SEC. 378. Record to be kept.

The requirement as to keeping a record of the demand and protest. First Nat. Bank v. German Bank, 107-543.

of notices sent is for the purpose of perpetuating proof of the notice, as well as

CHAPTER 15.

OF THE ADMINISTRATION OF OATHS.

SECTION 393. Who may administer.

The jurat to a statement for confession of judgment is sufficient if it show that such statement was subscribed and sworn to without reciting the name of the person subscribing and swearing to the jurat. It will be presumed that it was sworn to by the person whose name is affixed thereto. Briggs v. Yetzer, 103-342.

An affidavit is a written declaration under oath signed by the affiant and where the declaration is not signed a jurat showing that it is sworn to is not sufficient. Dyer v. Des Moines Ins. Co., 103-524.

A deputy clerk has power to administer oaths. Wheelock v. Hull, 124-752.

The court will take judicial notice of the fact that the clerk of the court has authority to administer oaths in proceedings before the court. State v. Harter, 131-199.

TITLE IV.

OF COUNTY AND TOWNSHIP GOVERNMENT.

CHAPTER 1.

OF COUNTIES.

SECTION 394. Body corporate.

Aside from statutory provision, a county would be a quasi-corporation, and not a municipal corporation. Hanson v. Cresco, 132-533.

A county is a corporate person which can speak and act only through its appropriate officers and agents. State v. McKinney, 130-370.

A county has no such general financial interest in the expenses of the courts as to authorize it to interfere by certiorari to test the validity of the order of a judge declaring the jury lists illegal. Polk County v. District Court, 133-710.

SEC. 395-a. Jurisdiction in border counties. That the jurisdiction of the courts of the state of Iowa, in counties bordering on the Missouri river, in all civil and criminal actions and proceedings, is hereby declared to extend to the center of the main channel of the Missouri river, where the same now is or may hereafter be, and to all lands and territory lying along said river, which have been adjudged by the United States supreme court or the supreme court of this state to be within the state of Iowa, and to such other lands and territory along said river over which the courts of this state have heretofore exercised jurisdiction. [27 G. A., ch. 14, § 1.]

SEC. 396. Relocation of county seat.

The board of supervisors cannot change location of court house without submitting question to vote. Way v. Fox, 109-340.

SEC. 398. Remonstrance.

A remonstrance may properly be circulated and signed while the petition for relocation is being likewise circulated and before it is presented to the board of supervisors. Willing v. Rye, 123-471.

Parties who have signed a remonstrance cannot withdraw their names therefrom after it has been presented and before the board has acted. Ibid.

SEC. 399. Notice of hearing. Upon the filing of such petition, sixty days' notice thereof and of the date of hearing shall be given by the auditor by publishing, once each week, for three (3) consecutive weeks in a newspaper, if there be one printed in the county; if not, then by posting the same in every township in the county, and on the door of the court house therein. [C., '73, § 284.] [31 G. A., ch. 9, § 12.]

SEC. 400. Hearing—notice of election. Upon the hearing of such petition and remonstrance, if no objections are filed to either, the board shall proceed to determine whether the petition has been signed by one-half of all the legal voters in the county as shown by the last census, either state or federal, after deducting therefrom all names appearing on the remonstrance which also appear on the petition, and also to determine whether more legal voters have signed the petition than have signed the remonstrance. If the requisite notice has been given, and the board shall find that one-half of all the legal voters, after making said deduction, have signed said petition, and that said one-half exceeds the number that have signed the remonstrance, the board shall order that, at the next general election, a vote shall be taken between said place and the existing county seat, and shall require a constable of each township in the county to post notices of such order in three public places in such township, at least fifty days before said election, and shall also publish a notice of such election in some newspaper, if there be one published in the county, once each week, for four consecutive weeks, the last publication to be at least twenty days before said election; but if objections are made, either as to petition or remonstrance, the board shall inquire into and hear additional evidence with reference to the fact as to whether the names appearing on either petition or remonstrance were the names of legal voters at the time they were placed on the petition or remonstrance, and whether the signatures are genuine. [25 G. A., ch. 10, § 4; C., '73, § 285.] [31 G. A., ch. 9, § 13.]

SEC. 403. County bonds—form of. In counties containing a city or cities of the first class, the indebtedness incurred in the making and repairing of the bridges may be refunded whenever such outstanding indebtedness equals or exceeds the sum of five thousand ($5,000.00) dollars, the tax to pay such bonds and interest to be levied under the provisions of section four hundred and six (406) of the code, but only on the assessable property in the county outside of the limits of said city or cities of the first class.

And it is hereby certified and recited that all acts, conditions and things required by the laws and constitution of the state of Iowa to be done precedent to and in the issue of this bond have been properly done, happened and been performed in regular and due form, as required by law, and that the total indebtedness of said county, including this bond, does not exceed the constitutional or statutory limitations.

SEC. 407. Redemption—notice—interest stopped. Whenever the amount in the hands of the treasurer belonging to the bond fund, after setting aside the sum required to pay interest maturing before the next levy, is sufficient to redeem one or more bonds, which by their terms are subject to redemption, he shall notify the owner of such bond or bonds, in the manner hereinbefore prescribed, that he is prepared to pay the same, with all the interest accrued thereon. If not presented for payment or redemption within thirty days after the date of such notice, the interest on such bond shall cease, and the amount due thereon shall be set aside for its payment whenever presented. CHAPTER 2.

OF THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS.

SECTION 410. How constituted—number—how determined. The board of supervisors in each county shall consist of three persons, except where the number may heretofore have been or hereafter be increased in the manner provided by this chapter. They shall be qualified electors, and be elected by the qualified voters of their respective counties, and shall hold their office for three years. The board of supervisors of any county may, and, when petitioned to do so by one-fourth of the electors of said county, shall submit to the qualified voters of the county, at any regular election, one of the following propositions, as such board may elect in the absence of a petition, or as may be requested in said petition: "Shall the proposition to increase the number of supervisors to five be adopted?" or, "Shall the proposition to increase the number of supervisors to seven be adopted?" as the board shall elect in submitting the question. If the majority of the votes cast shall be for the proposition so submitted, then, at the next ensuing election for a supervisor, the requisite additional supervisors shall be elected, whose terms of office shall be determined by lot, in such a manner that one-half of the additional members shall hold their office for three years, and one-half for two years. In any county where the number of supervisors has been increased to five or seven, the board of supervisors, on the petition of one-fourth of the legal voters of the county, shall submit to the qualified voters of the county, at any regular election, one of the following propositions, as the same may be requested in such petition: "Shall the proposition to reduce the number of supervisors to five be adopted?" or, "Shall the proposition to reduce the number of supervisors to three be adopted?" If a majority of the votes cast shall be for the decrease, then the board of supervisors shall be reduced to the number indicated by such vote, and thereafter there shall be biennially elected the number requisite to keep the board full. [C., '73, §§ 294, 299.] [31 G. A., ch. 12, § 1.]

SEC. 411. Repeal—election—term of office. That section four hundred and eleven (411) of the code, be and the same is hereby repealed, and the following enacted in lieu thereof:

"At the general election in the year 1906 there shall be elected for a term of two years, members of the county board of supervisors to succeed those whose terms were extended one year by the biennial election amendment. At the general election in the year 1906, and biennially thereafter, there shall be elected members of the board of supervisors for a term of three years to succeed those whose terms of office will expire on the first Monday in January following said election; there shall also be elected members for a term of three years to succeed those whose terms will expire on the first Monday in January one year later than the aforesaid date. It shall be specified on the ballot when each shall begin his term of office. No member shall be elected who is a resident of the same township with either of the members holding over (but a member-elect may be a resident of the same township as the member he is elected to succeed), except that, in counties having five or seven supervisors, and having therein a township embracing an entire city of thirty-five thousand inhabitants or over, he may be a resident of the same township; and in no case shall there be more than two supervisors from such township." [31 G. A., ch. 12, § 2.]

SEC. 412. Repeal—meetings. That section four hundred and twelve (412) of the code be and the same is hereby repealed and the following enacted in lieu thereof:

"The members of the board of supervisors shall meet at the county seat of their respective counties on the second secular day in January and on the first Monday in April and June and the second Monday in September in each year, and on the first Monday in November in the odd-numbered years, and on the first Monday after the general election in the even-numbered years, and shall hold such special meetings as are provided by law." [32 G. A., ch. 14.]

SEC. 420. Special meetings—how called—business done.

The canvassing of a statement of consent under the mulct liquor law, which is required to be at a regular meeting (Code § 2450) may be made at an adjourned meeting provided for at a regular meeting. Butterfield v. Treichler, 113-328.

SEC. 422. Powers specified. The board of supervisors at any regular meeting shall have the following powers, to-wit:

1. To appoint one of its number chairman in the absence of the regular chairman, and a clerk, in the absence of the auditor or his deputy;
2. To adjourn from time to time, as occasion shall require;
3. To make such orders concerning the corporate property of the county as it may deem expedient;
4. To examine and settle all accounts of the receipts and expenditures of the county, and to examine, settle and allow all claims against the county, unless otherwise provided for by law;

5. To build and keep in repair the necessary buildings for the use of the county and of the courts;

10. To require any county officer to make a report, under oath, to it on any subject connected with the duties of his office, and to require any such officer to give such bonds, or additional bonds, as shall be reasonable or necessary for the faithful performance of his duty; any such officer who shall neglect or refuse to make such report or give such bonds within twenty days after being so required, may be removed from office by the board by a vote of a majority of the members elected thereto;

20. To purchase for the use of the county any real estate necessary for the erection of buildings for the support of the poor of the county, and for a farm to be used in connection therewith, and make appropriations not exceeding three hundred dollars in any one year for the growing of experimental crops thereon under the direction of the board;

[By section 2, chapter 14, of the 31 G. A., subdivision 22, of above section was changed to 23, and a new subdivision was supplied to take the place of 22. By section 1, chapter 16, 32 G. A., section 2, chapter 14, 31 G. A., was stricken out. Section 1, chapter 17, 32 G. A., added a new subdivision as 24, but as subdivision 22 of 31 G. A. was stricken the old numbering has been retained and subdivision 24 by 32 G. A. is given as 23.]

In general: The act of the individual members of the board of supervisors, even though concurred in by majority, is not binding upon the county. Modern Steel Structural Co. v. Van Buren, 126-606.

Par. 4. Claims: The duty of the board of supervisors to audit and allow claims against the county cannot be delegated to any other person or officer and the board cannot, therefore, resolve in advance of the contracting of claims that they shall be paid by the county without further allowance. Heath v. Albrook, 123-559.

Par. 9. Purchase of real estate: The power to purchase real estate needed for the erection of buildings for county purposes carries with it as a necessary incident the power to create an indebtedness therefor, and to evidence the same by some form of non-negotiable instrument, but held that under the provisions of Code §§ 447, 448, the board had no authority to issue negotiable bonds for such indebtedness without compliance with the provisions of those sections. Witter v. Board of Supervisors, 112-380.

Par. 11. General powers: The powers granted to or implied in a municipal or quasi corporation are only such as are necessary to make those expressly granted applicable; therefore it has no authority to execute a deed with covenants of warranty unless such authority is expressly given, and it will not be liable for breach of such a warranty. Harrison v. Palo Alto County, 104-383.

Nor will it be liable for failure of title to land conveyed by it at least where the nature of its title was known to the grantee. Ibid.

The mere fact of making a conveyance of land the title of which subsequently fails will not constitute such fraud as to render the corporation liable. Ibid.

A county may be liable under implied contract for sand and gravel taken by its agents in the construction of the approach to a county bridge. Ibid.

The care and management of the property and the business of the county is intrusted to the board and while the courts may inquire into a gross abuse of the power thus granted, they cannot substitute themselves for the board in determining as to the proper disposition of the property of the county. Nelson v. Harrison County, 126-436.

In an action to restrain the issuance of bonds on the allegation that warrants for which they were to be issued were illegal, held that the holder of warrants were necessarily parties. Ibid.

Boards of supervisors have the care and management of property belonging to the county, and should provide sidewalks in front of premises in a city belonging to the county and used for court house purposes, and the county is liable to special assessments for improvements on the streets abutting such premises. Edwards & Walsh Const. Co. v. Jasper County, 117-365.

A county may employ agents other than the county attorney to prosecute claims for the county. Galusha v. Wendt, 114-597; Disbrow v. Board of Supervisors, 119-538; Shinn v. Cunningham, 120-383.

Par. 18. Liability as to bridges: Where the traveler had the option of crossing the stream under the bridge and incurring the risk of going up a steep bank in doing so or to go upon the bridge along the approach which was not guarded by a railing, held, that he was not guilty of contributory negligence in using the approach to the bridge, it not appearing that he had reason to anticipate any danger on the approach by reason of want of proper guarding rails. Morgan v. Dallas County, 103-57.

The contingency of horses becoming frightened on a bridge or the approach thereto and backing the vehicle to the side is one which should be foreseen and the danger thereof provided against by suitable barriers, and the county may be held liable for failure to provide a reasonable barrier as a protection against such danger. Faulk v. Iowa County, 103-442.

Where an accident happened by reason of the railing not being strong enough to resist the ordinary pressure from the backing of the vehicle under such circumstances, held, that the defective condition of the railing might be shown for the purpose of charging the county with notice. Ibid.

An approach to a bridge essential to enable persons on the highway to reach the main structure, and without which the main structure would be incomplete, constitutes a part of the bridge. Eginoire v. Union County, 112-558.

Although a horse being driven across an approach to the bridge becomes frightened by objects along the road, and gets beyond the control of the driver, yet, if the vehicle is thrown from the approach by reason of the want of proper railings, the county will be liable. Ibid.

When two causes combine to produce an injury to a traveler upon a bridge both of which are in their nature proximate, the one being a culpable defect in the bridge and the other some occurrence for which neither is responsible, the municipality is liable, provided the injury would not have been sustained but for such defect. Walrod v. Webster County, 110-349.

Where the owner of a steam threshing machine runs it over a highway bridge without complying with the statutory provision requiring him to place planks under his engine (Code § 1571), he may nevertheless recover damages resulting from defects in the bridge for which the county is liable, if his violation of the statute has not directly contributed to the injury. Tackett v. Taylor County, 123-149.

Under the provisions of Code § 757, the city is liable for negligence in failing to keep in repair the bridges not coming within the description of county bridges. Freeman v. Independence, 123-1.

One who makes use of a bridge after repair and removal of barricades is not charged with contributory negligence by knowledge that prior to such repair and barricading the bridge was in defective condition. Jones v. Shelby County, 124-551.

To avoid the use of a bridge which has been known to be defective the traveler is not bound to commit trespass on private property, the bridge being apparently open to public travel. Ibid.

Failure to use reasonable care in making repairs of a bridge which is known to the county authorities to be unsafe, renders the county liable for injuries resulting from its unsafe condition after such repair has been attempted and the county will not be relieved by the action of its agents in reporting it as safe after inspection. Schlesig v. Monona County, 126-625.

The use of the county bridges for the passing of traction engines being well known, it is negligence on the part of the county to open for public use a bridge which is unsafe for the passage of such engines. Ibid.

The power to build and repair bridges carries with it corresponding duties, so that the county may be held liable for damages resulting from negligence in building or failing to repair, but there is no such obligation with reference to highways. Wilson v. Wapello County, 129-77.

Whatever may be the liability of a county for failure of the board of supervisors to maintain a county bridge in safe condition, the board cannot be compelled by mandamus, at the suit of a property owner, to build or restore a bridge which has become impassable, that being a matter of discretion with the board, to be exercised in view of the public interest. Leonard v. Wakeman, 120-140.

If a bridge stands for such a length of time that the natural processes of decay have weakened it to the point of danger, and the exercise of reasonable care in oversight and inspection will reveal such condition to the proper officers, the county cannot rely upon the want of notice as excusing it from the charge of negligence in not maintaining the bridge in safe condition. Perry v. Clarke County, 120-96.

The streets within a city or town pass under the control of the board of supervisors of the county, when the corporate existence of the city or town is terminated. Chrisman v. Brandies, 112 N. W. 833.

SEC. 423. Expenditures for improvements—when vote necessary. The board of supervisors shall not order the erection of a court-house, jail, poor-house or other building, or bridge, except as provided in section four hundred and twenty-four (424) of the code, when the probable cost will exceed five thousand dollars, nor the purchase of real estate for county purposes exceeding two thousand dollars in value, until a proposition therefor shall have been first submitted to the legal voters of the county, and voted for by a majority of all persons voting for and against such proposition at a general or special election, notice of the same being given for thirty days previously, in a newspaper, if one be published in the county, and, if none be published therein, then by written notice posted in a public place in each township in the county. [18 G. A., ch. 46; 16 G. A., ch. 80; C., '73, § 303; R., § 312.] [29 G. A., ch. 21, § 1.]

The limitation of the expense of erecting a court house, without submission to vote, does not apply to expenditure of money donated by private citizens. Way v. Fox, 109-340.

While an alteration in the contract for the construction of a court house which involves an expenditure beyond the amount voted for that purpose may be invalid. Warrants for the construction cannot be enjoined unless it appears that such warrants represent unlawful expenditure. Zerwekh v. Thornburg, 123-254.

The board may expend money for the furnishing of a court house without vote of the electors notwithstanding a provision in a proposition submitted for the erection of the court house that no additional appropriation or expenditure for furnishing will be made. There is no authority in the statute for submitting a proposition to limit the power of expenditure for proper purposes. Ibid.

SEC. 424. Appropriations for county bridges—limitations.

Where two adjoining counties having equal interests in maintaining a boundary line road and the bridges thereon have proceeded, each relying on the action of the other to order a construction or repair of the common way, and each has bound itself by making an appropriation of money therefor or by taking any action obligating itself to make such appropriation for the common benefit, neither is permitted without the consent of the other to withdraw from the enterprise and thereby prevent its accomplishment, or cast the entire burden of such accomplishment on the other. Therefore, the board of supervisors of one of the counties committed to such a common enterprise cannot release such county from its obligation to contribute by rescinding the resolution by which the concurrent action of the two counties was initiated. Bremer County v. Walstead, 130-164.

SEC. 427. Highways established to avoid bridging.

This section does not require that the road be constructed on the immediate bank of the stream, but a road within a reasonable distance of the stream is within its provisions. Nor does the statute contemplate the abandonment of the highway in place of which a new one is established under this section. Stahr v. Carter, 116-380.

SEC. 430. Dependent soldiers' and sailors' tax. A tax of one-half mill upon the dollar, or such less sum as may be needed, may be levied by the board of supervisors upon all taxable property within the county, to be collected at the same time and in the same manner as other taxes, to create a fund for the relief of and to pay the funeral expenses of honorably discharged, indigent United States soldiers, sailors and marines, and their indigent wives, widows, and minor children not over fourteen years of age, if boys, nor over sixteen years, if girls, having a legal residence in the county. [24 G. A., ch. 69, § 1; 22 G. A., ch. 105, § 1.] [30 G. A., ch. 17, § 1.]

SEC. 432. Meetings—report to supervisors—disbursements—how made. The commission shall meet annually at the county auditor's office, on the second Monday in September, and at such other times as may be necessary, at which annual meeting it shall determine who are entitled to relief, and the probable amount required to be expended therefor, which sum it shall certify to said board, together with a list of those found to be entitled to relief, and the sum to be paid in each case, the aggregate not to exceed the amount to be raised by the tax levy authorized; and it, at its regular September meeting, shall levy a sufficient tax to raise this amount. Upon the filing of the list with the board of supervisors, the county auditor shall, within twenty days thereafter, transmit to the township clerks in the county the names of those, if any, to whom relief has been awarded, and the amount. On the first Monday of each month after the fund is ready for distribution, the auditor shall issue his warrant upon the county treasurer to the commission for the sums thus awarded, and it shall proceed to disburse the same to the parties named in the list, taking receipts therefor, or distribution may be made in any other manner the commission may direct. Should it appear to the commission that any person entitled to assistance will not properly expend the same, then the payment may be made to some suitable person, who shall, as directed by it, make the disbursements thereof, for the use and benefit of such person. The amount awarded to any party may be increased, decreased or discontinued by the commission at any regular meeting. New names may be added and certified thereat, and it shall, at the close of the year, make annual detailed reports of its work, which shall be accompanied with the proper vouchers for all moneys received by it. [24 G. A., ch. 69, § 2; 22 G. A., ch. 105, § 3.] [32 G. A., ch. 18.]

SEC. 433. Burial of indigent soldiers and sailors. The board of supervisors shall designate some suitable person in each township to cause to be decently interred the body of any honorably discharged soldier, sailor or marine who served in the army or navy of the United States during any war, who may hereafter die without leaving sufficient means to defray the expenses of his funeral. Such burial shall not be made in any cemetery or burying-ground or part thereof used exclusively for the burial of the pauper dead. The expenses of such burial shall in no case exceed the sum of thirty-five dollars, and in case surviving relatives of the deceased shall desire to conduct the funeral, and are unable or unwilling to pay the charges therefor, they shall be permitted to do so, and the expenses shall be paid as herein provided. [20 G. A., ch. 178, § 1.] [30 G. A., ch. 17, § 2.]

SEC. 441. Official newspapers—how selected—what published in—printed in foreign languages—compensation. The board of supervisors of each county shall, at its January session in each year, select two newspapers published within the county, or one, if there be but one published therein, having the largest number of bona fide yearly subscribers within the county, which circulation shall be determined as follows: In case of contest, the applicants shall each deposit with the county auditor, on or before a day named by the board of supervisors, a certified statement, subscribed and sworn to before some competent officer, giving the names of the several post-offices, and the number and the names of the bona fide yearly subscribers receiving their papers through each of said offices living within the county; such statements to be in sealed envelopes, and opened by the county auditor upon direction of the board of supervisors; and the two applicants thus showing the greatest number of bona fide yearly subscribers living within the county shall be the county official papers, in which all the proceedings of the county board of supervisors, the schedule of bills allowed, and the reports of the county treasurer, including a schedule of the receipts and expenditures, shall be published at the expense of the county during the ensuing year, and the costs of such publication shall be thirty-three and one-third cents for each ten lines of brier type, or its equivalent; but in counties having a population of fifteen thousand or more, three papers, not more than two of which shall be published in the same town, shall be selected, in which such proceedings shall be published, with the same limitation as to compensation; and, in counties having two county seats, each district shall be regarded as a county for the purposes of such publication. The county auditor shall furnish all such papers selected a copy of such proceedings for that purpose. In case a contest is made by a publisher, the board shall receive other evidence of circulation, and he shall have the right of appeal to the district court, to be taken as in ordinary actions. Neither publisher to the contest shall receive pay for publishing such proceedings until the case is finally disposed of.

And in counties where a newspaper of general circulation is printed in a foreign language, the board may, in addition to those already provided for in this section, select one of such newspapers as one in which the proceedings of the board of supervisors may be published, in a foreign language, and said newspaper shall receive the same compensation therefor as is paid the official papers of said county for such publication, not exceeding thirty-three and one-third (33 1-3) cents per square. Provided that said paper shall have at least 600 actual bona fide yearly subscribers residing within said county, and shall file a list thereof as provided by law. [21 G. A., ch. 86, § 2; 20 G. A., ch. 197, § 2; C., '73, § 307.] [29 G. A., ch. 22, § 1.] [30 G. A., ch. 18.] [31 G. A., ch. 15.]

Where the board has authority, on account of the population of the county, to select a third paper, such third paper is to be selected in the same manner as the other two are selected. It is not intended that any two or more papers may combine their bona fide subscription lists and be selected by virtue thereof. Packard v. Schmidt, 110-628.

As to measurement for purpose of determining amount of compensation, see Brown v. Lucas County, 94-70.

The appeal is triable in the district court de novo, and the court should not approve the action of the board of supervisors unless the paper selected by the board makes such showing in the district court as entitles it to be selected. Young v. Rann, 111-253.

In determining who are yearly subscribers under the statute it is not necessary to show that such subscribers have already taken the paper for a year. Ibid.

The appeal must be taken within six months. Ibid.

The procedure to be adopted on appeal from the action of the board of supervisors in awarding the public printing is analogous to rather than identical with the methods employed to perfect an appeal from a justice of the peace. Sturges v. Vail, 127-705.

The bond may be approved by the county auditor with whom it is to be deposited. Ibid.

The filing and approval of the bond perfects the appeal and the transcript of the proceeding is necessary only for the purpose of presenting to the district court the facts on which the decision of the board of supervisors was based. Ibid.

The lists of subscribers which are to be considered by the board must be filed on or before the time named for hearing, and after the contestants have filed their respective lists the board has no authority to receive additional lists on a continuation of the hearing. One who has filed no such list at the time fixed for the hearing is not in a position to contest the selection subsequently made by the board. Sturges v. Vail, 127-705.

The person to whom the public printing is awarded takes such privilege in the exercise of a public function or employment and is not entitled to the fees authorized unless it appears that he holds the position by good title, even though he has performed the service as de facto officer. On the other hand one who has good claim to the office, but has not performed the service for which he claims the possession of the office, cannot recover from the county fees for the services which he had a right to perform. Smith v. Van Buren County, 125-454.

The provisions as to compensation for official publication in a newspaper fix a maximum limit to the cost of such publication, and leave it to the discretion of the board to fix the amount to be paid within such limits. Wooster v. Mahaska County, 122-300.

SEC. 442. Books to be kept by board.

As the appointment of a deputy sheriff is required by Code § 510 to be filed in the auditor's office and approved by the board of supervisors, the fact that such appointment is not shown by the records of the board to have been approved is prima facie evidence that it was never made. Buck v. Hawley, 129-406.

As to amendment of the records of the board of supervisors as kept by the auditor, see Code § 470 and the notes.

SEC. 446. Manner of submitting questions to vote. The mode of submitting such questions to the people shall be the following: The whole question, including the sum desired to be raised, or the amount of tax desired to be levied, or the rate per annum, and the whole regulation, including the time of its taking effect or having operation, if it be of a nature to be set forth, and the penalty for its violation if there be one, shall be published, once each week, for at least four weeks in some newspaper printed in the county. If there be no such newspaper, the publication shall be by being posted up in at least one of the most public places in each township in the county, and, in addition, in at least five among the most public places in the county, one of them being at the door of the courthouse, for at least thirty days prior to the time of taking the vote. All such notices shall name the time when such question will be voted upon, and the form in which the question shall be taken, and a copy of the question submitted shall be posted up at each place of voting during the day of election. [C., '73, § 310; R., § 251; C., '51, § 115.] [31 G. A., ch. 9, § 14.]

SEC. 448. Rate of such tax. The rate of tax shall in no case be more than one per cent. on the county valuation in one year. When the object is to borrow money for the erection of public buildings, as above provided, the rate shall be such as to pay the debt in a period not exceeding ten years; but in counties having a population of twenty-five thousand or over, and where it is proposed to expend one hundred thousand dollars or over, the rate of levy shall be such as to pay the debt in not exceeding twenty-five years. In issuing bonds for such indebtedness, when voted, the board of supervisors may cause portions of said bonds to become due at different definite periods. But none of such bonds so issued shall be due and payable in less than five or more than twenty-five years from date. When the object is to construct, or to aid in constructing, any highway or bridge, the annual rate shall not be less than one mill on the dollar of the assessed valuation; and any of the above taxes becoming delinquent shall draw the same interest as the ordinary taxes. [23 G. A., ch. 32; C., '73, § 312; R., § 253; C., '51, § 117.] [32 G. A., ch. 19.]

Although the board of supervisors, under Code § 422, Par. 9, has power to create an indebtedness evidenced by non-negotiable instruments for the purchase of real estate necessary for the erection of buildings for county purposes, it has not power to issue negotiable bonds therefor without compliance with the provisions of these sections. Witter v. Board of Supervisors, 112-380.

SEC. 451. Rescission by subsequent vote.

Although the statute embodied in this section was enacted before that embodied in Code § 423, authorizing the levying of a tax by popular vote for the erection of court-houses, both being now re-enacted in the Code, are to be construed together, and a tax levied for such purpose may be rescinded by vote of the electors. Windsor v. Polk Co., 115-738.

SEC. 452. Board must submit questions on petition.

In a particular case held that the petition on which it was desired that the board should act had never been presented to the board, and no action thereon was required. Windsor v. Polk Co., 115-738.

SEC. 458. Repeal—supervisors to tax dogs. Sections four hundred and fifty-eight (458) and four hundred fifty-nine (459) of the code are hereby repealed and the following is enacted in lieu thereof:

The board of supervisors of each county shall at its September session, each year, when levying other taxes, levy a tax of one dollar ($1.00) on each male and spayed female and three dollars ($3.00) on each female dog listed by the assessor, which shall constitute a special fund to be disposed of as provided for in this act. [32 G. A., ch. 20, § 1.]

SEC. 458-a. County auditor to prepare assessor's book. It shall be the duty of each county auditor to provide suitable columns properly headed in the assessor's book to carry out the provisions of this act. [32 G. A., ch. 20, § 2.]

SEC. 458-b. Domestic animal fund. The treasurer of each county may, if not otherwise used, upon the taking effect of this act transfer all taxes collected on dogs during the year nineteen hundred and six and subsequent years to a separate fund to be known as the Domestic Animal Fund, and hereafter on receiving the tax books for the collection of other taxes shall collect the tax herein provided for as other taxes are collected and keep the same as a separate fund to be known as the Domestic Animal Fund. [32 G. A., ch. 20, § 3.]

SEC. 458-c. Injuries to domestic animals—claims for damages—how allowed and paid. Any person damaged by the killing or injury of any domestic animal or fowl by dog, dogs or wolves may present to the board of supervisors of the county in which such killing or injury occurred, a detailed statement and account of such killing or injury, stating the amount of damage claimed therefor and verified by affidavit such claim to be filed with the county auditor not later than ten (10) days from the time such killing or injury occurred or was known to be the owner or his agent. Claims filed as herein provided shall be heard by the board of supervisors at the first regular session after the filing thereof or at such time as the board of supervisors may determine upon, and the same may be established by affidavit if less than ten dollars ($10) in amount, if more than ten dollars ($10) to be established by oral proof or affidavit as may be determined or required by board of supervisors. No claim shall be allowed where it is shown that the injury and damage complained of was caused by a dog or dogs owned or controlled by the claimant. The board shall hear and determine said claims as soon as practicable after they are filed, and shall allow the same or such portion thereof as they may deem just, and shall find and enter of record the value of each animal killed or the amount of damage done thereto, and shall authorize the auditor to issue warrants for not exceeding seventy-five per cent. (75) of the amount of damages thus found, the same to be paid by the county treasurer out of the Domestic Animal Fund, and if disallowed they shall so enter it upon their record. [32 G. A., ch. 20, § 4.]

SEC. 458-d. Warrants—how drawn and paid—balance. The county auditor shall on the first day of July, 1907, and on the first day of January and July of each year thereafter furnish an itemized statement to the county treasurer of all warrants that have been issued for the six (6) months preceding such date as provided herein, and the treasurer shall on or before the tenth (10) day of each of said months pay said warrants issued by the auditor, as aforesaid, out of the Domestic Animal Fund, provided, however, that if such fund is then insufficient to pay said warrants in full he shall pay on each pro rata, and provided further, that no claim shall be allowed under the provisions of this act for any damages sustained for animals killed or damaged prior to the taking effect of this act. When the balance in the Domestic Animal Fund after paying the warrants issued thereto, as hereinbefore provided exceeds the sum of five hundred dollars ($500.00) the board of supervisors may transfer the excess to the general county fund. [30 G. A., ch. 20, § 5.]

SEC. 459. Repealed—treasurer to collect. [32 G. A., ch. 20, § 1.]

SEC. 468-a. Contracts by supervisors and trustees prohibited. Members of boards of supervisors and township trustees shall not buy from, sell to, or in any manner become parties directly, or indirectly, to any contract to furnish supplies, material, or labor to the county or township in which they are respectively members of such board of supervisors or township trustees. [27 G. A., ch. 13, § 1.]

Members of the board of supervisors are prohibited from becoming parties, directly or indirectly, to contracts for labor or material furnished to the county. Nelson v. Harrison County, 126-436.

The acts of a township trustee in furnishing men and teams to perform labor for the township under a contract with the road superintendent, to be paid for out of township funds, is a violation of this provision. State v. York, 131-635.

Labor contracts between a member of the board and the county are invalid. Harrison County v. Ogden, 133-677.

SEC. 469. Repeal—compensation of supervisors. That section four hundred sixty-nine (469) of the code be, and the same is hereby repealed, and the following enacted in lieu thereof:

“The members of the board of supervisors shall receive four dollars per day each for each day actually in session, and three dollars per day exclusive of mileage when not in session but employed on committee service, and five cents for every mile traveled in going to and from the regular, special and adjourned sessions thereof and in going to and from the place of performing committee service. But in counties having a population of ten thousand or less they shall not receive compensation for session service of more than thirty days in the year; in counties having population of more than ten and less than twenty-three thousand, for not more than forty-five days of such service in a year; in counties having a population of twenty-three and not over forty thousand, for not over fifty-five days of such service in a year; in counties having a population of forty and not over sixty thousand, for not more than sixty-five days of such service in a year; in counties having a population of sixty and not over eighty thousand, for not more than seventy-five days of such service in a year; in counties having a population of eighty and not over ninety thousand, for not more than ninety days of such service in a year; in counties having a population of over ninety thousand for not more than one hundred days of such service in a year. The time spent by the board of supervisors as a ditch or drainage board and in considering drainage matters whether as a single board or jointly with one or more other boards, shall not be counted in computing the number of days which any board has been in session, but the members of the board shall be entitled to compensation at the same rate for the time spent in ditch and drainage matters in addition to the compensation allowed as hereinbefore set forth, but in no case shall said board be allowed more than fifty days additional time in one year for time spent in drainage matters. If on the same day the board acts both as a county board and also for the purpose of considering drainage matters, the board shall be paid for one day only, and from the general fund or drainage fund as the board may order.” [32 G. A., ch. 21.]

CHAPTER 3.

OF THE COUNTY AUDITOR.

SECTION 470. Duties defined.

The appeal bond in a proceeding for the selection of an official newspaper should be filed with and approved by the auditor, he being the ministerial officer of the board. Sturges v. Vail, 127-705.

While the right of officers to amend records kept by them is generally recognized, yet such amendment cannot be resorted to for the purpose of making a new record retrospectively in order to sustain the action of a board of supervisors in levying assessments for a public ditch. Tod v. Crisman, 123-693.

If the records of the auditor do not show the filing of the appointment of a deputy sheriff as required by Code § 510, this is prima facie evidence that no such appointment was ever made. Buck v. Hawley, 129-406.

SEC. 479. Repeal—compensation. That section four hundred seventy-nine (479) of the code be and is hereby repealed, and the following enacted in lieu thereof:

“County auditors shall receive as full annual compensation for all services the following: In counties having a population of less than ten thousand, twelve hundred dollars per annum; in counties having a population of ten thousand and not exceeding twenty-five thousand, the sum of fourteen hundred dollars per annum; in counties having a population of more than twenty-five thousand, the board of supervisors may allow such additional compensation to the auditor, deputy or clerks as they [it] may deem reasonable.” [30 G. A., ch. 19.]

SEC. 480-a. Financial report—what to contain. The county auditor shall during the month of January of each year, compile and prepare a financial report, which report shall contain a schedule showing the amount of the various classes of warrants drawn on the county fund, except for court expenses during the preceding year, including therein, among other items, the total amount paid each county officer also their deputies and extra help, also other employes of the county and amounts paid for rent and various other expenses, including printing and stationery, furniture and fixtures, publishing proceedings of the board of supervisors, postage allowed each county official, complete election expenses, including printing of ballots, expenses of registration and items of like nature; a schedule showing the amount of warrants drawn on the county fund for various court expenses, which shall include among other items the salary paid the county attorney and the amounts received by him as commission on fines and from other sources, and the amount paid to assistant counsel; also amount paid jurors in the district court, amount paid witnesses in the district court, amount paid bailiffs in district court, amount paid for shorthand reporting, amount paid for printing and stationery, amount paid for attorney fees for defending criminals, amount paid for meals for jurors and items of like nature; a schedule showing the expenses of the grand jury, stating amounts paid grand jurors, bailiffs, witnesses and items of like nature; a schedule showing the expenses of the coroner’s court, stating amount paid coroner, coroner’s clerk, constable fees, witness fees and items of [items of] like nature; a schedule showing the expenses of justice courts, stating amounts paid various justices, constables, total amount paid witnesses, jurors, attorney fees, for printing and items of like nature; a schedule showing the amount drawn by each member of the board of supervisors from the several funds of the county for services during the preceding year; a schedule, being a recapitulation of the total amount of warrants drawn on the county fund with a comparison with the amount of warrants drawn on the county fund each year for the last five years; a schedule showing the various classes of warrants drawn on the pauper fund for the preceding year, with a comparison with the total amount of warrants drawn on the pauper fund each year for the last five years; a schedule showing the amount of warrants drawn on the insane fund for the preceding year, including the amount received by each commissioner as fees and expenses, fees of witnesses, sheriff’s fees and expenses, the cost of transportation and items of like nature; also total cost of maintenance of insane at county asylum, with number confined therein, and total paid the various state hospitals for the insane, with the number of patients from the county confined in such hospitals; a schedule showing the amount paid the various state institutions during the preceding year; a schedule showing the amounts paid the sheriff for boarding prisoners during the preceding year, together with the amount paid the sheriff as jail expenses, with a comparison with the amounts paid for boarding prisoners and for jail expenses each year during the last five years; a schedule showing the amounts paid for the condemning of intoxicating liquors during the preceding year, also costs of convictions, both in justice courts and in the district court, for the violation of the laws relating to the sale of intoxicating liquors, together with the amount of fines collected for such violation and the amounts received as mulct tax, if any; a schedule showing the amount of warrants drawn on the county road fund and each of the various other funds of the county. Said financial report shall also contain the report of the county auditor as required by section four hundred and seventy-five (475) of the code, also the various reports of magistrates and other officers as required by section one thousand three hundred and two (1302) of the code, also the various reports made during the preceding year, by the county treasurer, county auditor, county recorder, sheriff, clerk of the district court and the soldiers' relief commission, as required by law. It shall also contain the reports of the various committees that may be appointed by the board of supervisors to examine the affairs and accounts of the various county officials and employes. It shall also contain such other and further matters and information as the board of supervisors may direct or the county auditor may deem advisable. The comparison herein provided for shall not be required in the first report published; the second report need only contain a comparison with the preceding year, the third report with the last two years, the fourth report with the last three years and the fifth report with the last four years. [29 G. A., ch. 23, § 1.]

SEC. 480-b. Printing and distribution. Said financial report shall be ordered printed by the board of supervisors in pamphlet form in such numbers as the board may direct, for distribution among the tax payers of the county. [29 G. A., ch. 23, § 2.]

SEC. 481. Deputy — qualifications — compensation — other assistants.

One who is orally designated as deputy, and to whom the oath is orally administered, and of whom no bond is exacted, but who in fact performs the duties of deputy, is an officer de facto. Murphy v. Lentz, 131-328.

SEC. 482. Duties in general.

The deposit by a county treasurer of funds in a bank in his name as treasurer would not constitute a conversion thereof, or render him liable for embezzlement. (Overruling Lowry v. Polk County, 51 Iowa, 50.) So held arguendo in a case involving the legality of such deposit by a school treasurer. Hunt v. Hopley, 120-695.

It is not competent for the board of supervisors to contract to pay a tax collector for making delinquent tax lists, that being a matter pertaining to the office of treasurer. Massie v. Harrison County, 129-277.

CHAPTER 4.

OF THE COUNTY TREASURER.

SECTION 483. As to warrants presented but not paid. When a warrant drawn by the auditor on the treasurer is presented for payment, and not paid for want of money, the treasurer shall indorse thereon a note of that fact and the date of presentation, and sign it, and thenceforth it shall draw interest at the rate of five per cent. He shall keep a record of the number and amount of the warrants presented and indorsed for non-payment, which shall be paid in the order of such presentation. [21 G. A., ch. 84, § 1; C., '73, § 328; R., § 361; C., '51, § 153.] [29 G. A., ch. 24, § 1.]

SEC. 484. Calls for outstanding warrants—interest stopped.

The statute of limitations runs against a warrant without regard to whether it has been called by the treasurer for payment. Bodman v. Johnson County, 115-296.

SEC. 490. Compensation. Each county treasurer shall receive for his services the following compensation:

1. Three-fourths of one per cent. of all money collected by him as taxes due any city or town, to be paid out of the same;

2. Three per cent. of all taxes collected by him for all other tax funds, to be paid out of the county treasury;

3. For each certificate of purchase issued for lands sold for non-payment of taxes, twenty cents;

4. For paying money into the state treasury, when required by law or the auditor of state, such compensation as the board of supervisors shall allow, not exceeding one-fourth of one per cent. on the amount so paid, which allowance shall be paid by the county;

5. When the aggregate amount of compensation allowed exceeds fifteen hundred dollars in any year, the excess shall be paid into the county treasury; but in counties where the population does not exceed ten thousand, the salary shall not exceed thirteen hundred dollars, and in such counties there shall not be allowed for deputy or clerk hire more than the amount provided in the next section. But in counties having a population of thirty thousand or over the board of supervisors may allow such additional compensation as it may deem proper. [18 G. A., ch. 184, § 2; 17 G. A., ch. 122, § 3; C., '73, § 3793; R., § 777.] [27 G. A., ch. 16, § 1.]

Although a commission is allowed to the county treasurer for taxes collected, he has not such an interest in the taxes as to be disqualified to act under Code § 1374 in collecting taxes on omitted property. His interest in the result is remote and incidental. Beresheim v. Arnd, 117-83.

That portion of the regular annual mulct tax which the county is required by law to pay to the city is not subject to the county treasurer's charge of three-fourths of one per cent for collection. Waverly v. Bremer County, 126-98.

The compensation to which the treasurer is entitled for collecting special assessments certified to him by the city cannot be included in the levy of the assessment upon property. Higman v. Sioux City, 129-291.

CHAPTER 5.

OF THE COUNTY RECORDER.

SECTION 494. Office—duties. The recorder shall keep his office at the county seat, and shall record at length, and as speedily as possible, all instruments in writing which may be delivered to him for record, in the manner directed by law. If in the recording of any such instrument heretofore recorded or hereafter to be filed for record, the recording fee for which has once been paid, the recorder shall commit an error in making the record thereof it shall be his duty to re-record such instrument upon the presentation of the original by the owner thereof, without further compensation; and he shall also enter upon the margin of the new record a reference to the original record, and upon the margin of the original record a reference to the new record, giving the book and page thereof. When an error has been made in indexing any instrument, it shall be the duty of the recorder to re-index the same without further compensation. [C., '73, § 335; R., § 358; C., '51, § 150.] [30 G. A., ch. 20.]

SEC. 495. Fees to be reported and paid to county—compensation. The recorder shall report quarterly, under oath, to the board of supervisors, on blanks furnished by the auditor, all fees collected by him, and certify under oath that he has collected all fees for recording instruments provided by law; shall make annual settlement with the board of supervisors on the first Monday in January of each year, and pay into the county treasury all fees received by him. And the recorder shall receive as full compensation for all services the sum of twelve hundred dollars ($1,200), per annum in counties having a population of less than twenty-five thousand (25,000), and fifteen hundred dollars ($1,500), in counties having a population of over twenty-five thousand (25,000), and less than thirty-five thousand (35,000), and sixteen hundred dollars ($1,600), in counties having a population of over thirty-five thousand (35,000), and less than fifty thousand (50,000), and eighteen hundred dollars ($1,800), in counties having a population of over fifty thousand (50,000), and less than sixty thousand (60,000), and two thousand dollars ($2,000), in counties having a population of sixty thousand (60,000), or over. [25 G. A., ch. 76, § 1.] [30 G. A., ch. 21, § 1.] [32 G. A., ch. 22.]

SEC. 496. Deputies — qualifications—compensation—other assistants. Each county recorder may, in writing, with the consent of the board of supervisors, appoint any one not holding a county office his deputy, for whose acts he shall be responsible, and from whom he shall require bond, which bond shall be approved by the officer who has the approval of the principal's bond, and such appointment may be revoked in writing; which appointment and revocation shall be filed and kept in the auditor's office. The person thus appointed shall qualify by taking the same oath as his principal, indorsed upon the certificate of appointment. The deputy, in the absence or disability of his principal, may perform all the duties of the principal pertaining to his office, and shall receive a salary not exceeding nine hundred dollars a year, to be fixed by the board of supervisors. In counties where no deputy is appointed, or in counties having a population of thirty-five thousand (35,000) or over, the recorder may, with the approval of the board of supervisors, temporarily employ one or more assistants, when the pressure of business in his office renders it necessary, and he shall file a bill for such service at the next regular meeting of the board of supervisors, who shall make a reasonable allowance therefor. [25 G. A., ch. 76; 18 G. A., ch. 184, § 2; 17 G. A., ch. 122, § 3; 16 G. A., ch. 4; C., '73, §§ 766-8, 770-1; R., §§ 421, 463-5, 467-8; C., '51, §§ 411, 414, 416, 417.] [29 G. A., ch. 25, § 1.] [30 G. A., ch. 21, § 2.]

In a county where the district court is held at two places, and the county recorder is in the discharge of his office at one place, and his deputy at another, held that the deputy might act in drawing a jury. State v. Turner, 114-426.

No allowance can be made for an assistant except for services for the quarter of a year preceding the time when the bill is filed. The provision of the statute in this respect is mandatory. Allen v. Adams County, 120-63.

Where a proper claim is filed by the recorder, it is not necessary, in order to be entitled to an allowance, that the claim be made by the person who rendered the services, or that the recorder show that the services have been paid for. It is proper for the recorder to present the claim in his own name for services of an assistant necessarily employed, and the board can allow only the reasonable value of the services necessarily procured. Ibid.

SEC. 498. Fees to be collected—fee book. The recorder shall be entitled to charge and receive the following fees:

1. For recording each instrument containing four hundred words or less, fifty cents;

2. For every additional hundred words or fraction thereof, ten cents.

3. He shall keep a fee book which shall be ruled in appropriate columns in which he shall enter each and every instrument filed for record, each instrument shall be numbered in numerals from one consecutively through the year, and shall commence with number '1' on and immediately after the date of settlement with the board of supervisors each year. He shall enter on said fee book from left to right in appropriately ruled columns as follows: the number of the instrument, grantor, grantee and character of instrument, carrying out in separate columns the fee charged in dollars and cents in each case and said fee book shall be a part of the records of the office of the county recorder and shall be kept and maintained therein as the other books and records thereof. He shall also enter or cause to be entered at the top of the page where the permanent record of the instrument begins, these words "Recording fee—————" and place on blank line the exact amount charged in dollars and cents for each instrument recorded. [C., '73, § 3792; R., § 4143; C., '51, § 2534.] [31 G. A., ch. 16.]

CHAPTER 6.

OF THE SHERIFF.

SECTION 508. Fees to be reported and paid to county. Quarterly itemized reports under oath, upon blanks to be furnished by the county auditor, shall be made to the board of supervisors by the sheriff, of all fees and mileage charged or taxed, and all that are collected by him and his deputies, including all sums for which the county is liable, except for dieting and lodging prisoners; and at the time of making such quarterly reports he shall make full settlement with said board, filing therewith the receipts of the county treasurer for all moneys paid over to him. [25 G. A., ch. 75, § 1.] [29 G. A., ch. 26, § 1.]

SEC. 510-a. Repeal—compensation. That section five hundred and nine (509) and section five hundred and ten (510) of the code be repealed and the following substituted therefor:

In counties having a population of over forty-five thousand the sheriff shall receive in full compensation for his services, except the expenses hereinafter provided for, thirty-five hundred dollars per annum, to be paid out of the receipts of the office. In counties having a population of over twenty-eight thousand and less than forty-five thousand the sheriff shall receive in full compensation for his services, except the expenses hereinafter provided for, three thousand dollars per annum, the same to be paid out of the receipts of the office. In counties having a population of over eleven thousand and less than twenty-eight thousand the sheriff shall receive in full compensation for his services, including the salary provided by section five hundred and eleven (511) of the code, the sum of two thousand dollars per annum, the same to be paid out of the receipts of the office. And any excess over the sums provided in all counties shall be paid into the county treasury annually. In all counties, the expenses necessarily incurred and actually paid while engaged in the performance of official duties in serving criminal process, or commitments to the penitentiaries, industrial schools or asylums, shall be allowed by the board of supervisors, and paid as other claims against the county and he shall be allowed to retain all mileage collected by him in the service of civil process. Provided, that in counties having a population of less than eleven thousand in which the receipts of the office, together with the salary allowed under section five hundred eleven (511) of the code, do not amount to the sum of fifteen hundred dollars in any year, the board of supervisors shall, at the January session thereof, allow the sheriff a sum which added to the receipts of the office for the previous year will amount to the sum of fifteen hundred dollars and that in counties having a less population than twenty-eight thousand, in which the receipts of the office and salary allowed under section five hundred and eleven (511) of the code do not amount to the sum of eighteen hundred dollars per annum, the board of supervisors shall, at the January session thereof following, make an allowance to the sheriff of a sum equal to the difference between the receipts of the office in the previous year, and eighteen hundred dollars. And in counties having a population of more than twenty-eight thousand and less than forty-five thousand, in which the receipts of the office and salary allowed by the board, do not in any year amount to the sum of two thousand dollars, the board of supervisors shall, at the January session thereof following, make an allowance to the sheriff of a sum equal to the difference between the receipts of the office for the previous year, and two thousand dollars. And in counties having a population of more than forty-five thousand in which the receipts of the office do not in any one year amount to the sum of thirty-five hundred dollars, the board of supervisors shall at the January session following make an allowance to the sheriff of a sum sufficient to make his salary equal to the sum of thirty-five hundred dollars. And provided further, that all fees earned and uncollected at the end of each year shall belong to the county, and when paid shall be by the clerk of the district court be reported to the board of supervisors and paid into the county treasury. [29 G. A., ch. 27, § 1.]

Where the county is entitled to the fees for service of process in criminal cases, the sheriff is entitled to allowance by way of expenses of the amounts necessarily paid out by him for railroad fare, livery hire and hotel bills, while traveling for the purpose of serving criminal process. Bybee v. Marion County, 128-610.

SEC. 510-b. Deputies—qualification—compensation. In all counties the sheriff shall in writing appoint one or more persons, not holding a county office, as deputy or deputies, for whose acts he shall be responsible and from whom he shall require a bond, which appointment and bond shall be approved by the officer having the approval of the principal's bond; and such appointment may be revoked in writing, which appointment and revocation shall be filed and kept in the auditor's office. In all cases the board of supervisors shall fix the number of deputies and shall fix the salary of such deputies at not exceeding one thousand dollars per annum in counties having a population of over twenty-eight thousand, and at not exceeding six hundred dollars per annum each in counties having a population of less than twenty-eight thousand; and in all counties the chief deputy shall be paid by the sheriff out of the compensation allowed him under the provisions of the preceding section, and all other deputies shall be paid by the county. [29 G. A., ch. 27, § 2.]

A bailiff employed at a monthly salary cannot properly draw compensation for fees earned by him when actually serving in that capacity. State v. Welch, 109-19.

Under statutory provisions which were superseded by the adoption of the Code, held that the sheriff in a county not containing twenty-eight thousand inhabitants, and who was not therefore a salaried officer, was nevertheless entitled to an allowance for a deputy. Mentzer v. Marion County, 114-478.

The fact that the records of the auditor and of the board of supervisors do not show the filing of the appointment of a deputy sheriff is prima facie evidence that no such appointment was made. Buck v. Hawley, 129-406.

SEC. 511. Fees to be collected. Each sheriff is entitled to charge and receive the following fees:

1. For attending the supreme court, to be paid out of the amount appropriated for contingent expenses of said court, two dollars per day;
2. For serving a notice and making return thereof, for the first person served, fifty cents, and for each additional person, twenty-five cents;
3. For each warrant served, two dollars, and the repayment of any amount actually paid by him as necessary expenses in executing such warrant, as sworn to by the sheriff; if service of the warrant cannot be made, the repayment of all necessary expenses actually paid by the sheriff, while attempting in good faith to serve such warrant within this state, and such reasonable compensation as the board of supervisors may deem just and equitable;
4. For serving and returning a subpoena, for each person served, twenty cents;
5. For summoning a grand or trial jury, for each person served, sixty cents, to be paid out of the county treasury; and such sum shall be in full compensation for such service;
6. For summoning a jury to assess the damages to the owners of lands taken for public improvements, and attending them, five dollars per day. This paragraph shall not be so construed as to allow a sheriff to make separate charges for different assessments, which can be made by the same jury and completed in one day of ten hours;
7. For serving an execution, attachment, or order for the delivery of personal property, injunction, or any order of court, and making return thereof, two dollars;
8. For collecting and paying over money, on the first five hundred dollars or fraction thereof, two per cent.; on all in excess of five hundred dollars and under five thousand dollars, one per cent.; on all over five thousand dollars, one-half per cent.;
9. For making and executing a certificate or deed for lands sold on execution, or a bill of sale for personal property sold, one dollar;
10. For the time necessarily employed in making an inventory of personal property attached or levied upon, twenty-five cents per hour;
11. For a copy of any paper required by law, made by him, for each one hundred words, ten cents;
12. Mileage in all cases required by law, going and returning, five cents per mile;
13. For taking each bond required by law, twenty-five cents;
14. For each commitment to jail, twenty-five cents; discharge from same, twenty-five cents;
15. For receiving a prisoner on surrender by bail, fifty cents;
16. For boarding a prisoner, a compensation to be fixed by the board of supervisors, of not to exceed twelve and one-half cents for each meal, and not to exceed three meals in twenty-four consecutive hours; and not to exceed twelve and one-half cents for each night's lodging;
17. For waiting on and washing for prisoners, the sheriff shall have such reasonable compensation as shall be allowed by the board of supervisors;
18. For attending before any judge with a prisoner, one dollar per day;
19. For attending sale of property, for each day, one dollar;
20. For conveying one or more convicts to either of the penitentiaries of the state, or any prisoner to any county jail outside of the county in which said sheriff resides, or any insane person or persons to any insane asylum in the state, or person or persons to either of the industrial schools, he shall be allowed, as full compensation therefor, his necessary traveling expenses actually paid by him, including board and railroad fare for himself and such person or persons, or any other necessary expenses, and, in addition thereto, forty cents per hour for the time necessarily employed in going to and from said prisons, asylums, or schools, to be certified by the affidavit of such sheriff, accompanied by the proper vouchers, to the board of supervisors of the county from which the persons were committed. Should the sheriff need any assistance in taking prisoners to the penitentiary or insane persons to the asylum, the same shall be furnished at the expense of the county, the compensation to be fixed by the board of supervisors;

21. He shall be allowed for serving any warrant for the seizure of intoxicating liquors, one dollar; for the removal and custody of such liquor, actual and reasonable expenses; for the destruction of such liquor under the order of the court, his actual and reasonable expenses, and one dollar; for posting and leaving notices in such cases, one dollar;

22. The jailer may be furnished a dwelling in connection with the jail, or as convenient thereto as practicable, in the discretion of the board of supervisors;

23. The sheriff is also entitled, for attending the district court, and for other service for which no compensation is allowed by law, except in counties having a population of over twenty-eight thousand, an annual salary, which shall be fixed by the board of supervisors, but in no case less than two hundred dollars nor more than four hundred dollars. When sheriffs perform official duties in justices' courts, their fees shall be the same as allowed constables. [25 G. A., ch. 83; 23 G. A., ch. 41; 19 G. A., ch. 94, §§ 2-23; C. '73, § 3807; R., § 1570.] [27 G. A., ch. 17, §§ 1, 2.]

Where an order of court fixed the time when persons who had signed affidavits in support of an application for change of venue should appear for cross-examination, held, that service of subpoenas on such persons should not be taxed as the service of an order of court. Spangler v. Beaver, 106-744.

The fees of the sheriff for performing the duties of constable (as authorized in Code § 4591) are to be accounted for by him as fees of his office. Jones County v. Arnold, 111 N. W. 973.

CHAPTER 7.

OF THE CORONER.

SECTION 515. Inquest—when held—warrant for jurors.

It is the province of the coroner to determine whether a post-mortem examination shall be made. Finarty v. Marion County, 127-543.

SEC. 520. Witnesses — shorthand reporter — compensation. The coroner shall issue subpoenas for such witnesses as have knowledge touching the manner of the death of the person whose inquest is being held, returnable at such time and place as he may direct. They shall be sworn as in other cases, and their evidence reduced to writing under the direction of the coroner, subscribed by them, and returned to the district court, with the verdict and all other papers in the case. For the purpose of preserving the testimony of such witnesses, and all the acts and doings of the coroner and jury, the coroner may appoint a shorthand reporter at a compensation of not to exceed fifty cents (50c) per hour, for time actually employed in any inquest or investigation, and for extending the notes, and when such reports are extended into longhand by the said shorthand reporter and certified to by the coroner and said reporter to the effect that they contain a full, true and complete report of all proceedings, they shall be the official record of the said inquest or investigation. The said shorthand reporter shall before entering upon his duties as such reporter, take an oath to be administered by the coroner, that he will faithfully take down in shorthand the evidence as it is given by the witnesses at such inquest or investigation, and that he will correctly extend the same into longhand. The coroner may enforce the attendance of witnesses and jurors, and punish them for contempt in disobeying his process, in like manner as a justice of the peace may do in a criminal proceeding before him. [C., '73, §§ 356-8; R., §§ 400-2, 409; C., '51, §§ 190-2, 199.] [32 G. A., ch. 23.]

SEC. 529. Physician employed—fees.

The physician is entitled to recover his compensation from the county for making a post-mortem examination at the direction of the coroner without regard to the question as to whether the circumstances were such as to warrant the coroner in ordering such inquest. Finarty v. Marion County, 127-543.

CHAPTER 8.

OF THE COUNTY SURVEYOR.

SECTION 538. Record to be furnished—presumptive evidence.

The survey, to be entitled to the presumption here contemplated, must have been made with the knowledge of the party sought to be bound, and recorded as here provided. McAnich v. Hulse, 113-58.

In a particular case held that even though the survey was admissible in evidence under this section there was sufficient evidence of its incorrectness to overcome the presumption in its favor. Ibid.

CHAPTER 9.

OF THE DUTIES OF COUNTY OFFICERS.

SECTION 550-a. Auditor of state to prescribe system of accounts—advisory committee. The auditor of state is hereby authorized and directed to formulate and prescribe a system of books, blanks, records, vouchers, receipts, etc., for the use of county auditors, county treasurers and clerks of the district court, which system shall be adopted and used by all county auditors, county treasurers and clerks of the district court of the state from and after January 1, 1908. To assist in the preparation of the forms above contemplated, the auditor of state is hereby authorized to appoint a committee of not less than five nor more than seven persons, each of whom shall have had at least one term's experience either as county auditor, county treasurer or clerk of the district court, or who shall be [an] expert accountant. The committee thus appointed shall serve without compensation except that the necessary traveling, hotel and other expenses of the members for a period of not more than thirty (30) days shall be paid by the state and the auditor of state is hereby authorized to draw warrants upon the treasurer of state for the payment of such expenses upon receipt of vouchers therefor properly filed with and approved by the executive council. [32 G. A., ch. 24, § 1.]

SEC. 550-b. Forms furnished—expenses—how paid. The auditor of state, shall as soon as practicable after the same have been prepared, furnish each county auditor, county treasurer and clerk of the district court with a complete set of all forms prescribed under the provisions of this act pertaining to the affairs of his office and the expense thereof shall be paid in the same manner as other like expenses of the office of the auditor of state. [32 G. A., ch. 24, § 2.]

CHAPTER 10.

OF TOWNSHIPS AND TOWNSHIP OFFICERS.

SECTION 551. Supervisors divide county into townships.

A township is not a body corporate for any purpose. It is a mere subdivision of the county for governmental purposes, and it is not therefore a municipal corporation. Hanson v. Cresco, 132-533.

SEC. 555. Notice. Notice of the time when such petition shall be presented shall be given by publication, once each week, for two consecutive weeks in a newspaper published in the township, the last of which publications shall be at least ten days prior to the time fixed for the presentation of such petition; or if no paper is printed in such township, or the papers therein printed refuse to make such publication, the notice herein contemplated shall be given by posting in five public places in the township, two of which shall be without, and three within, such corporate limits. [C. '73, § 383.] [31 G. A., ch. 9, § 2.]

SEC. 560. Township and city coterminous—clerk and trustees abolished. Where a town or a city, not acting under a special charter, constitutes one or more civil townships the boundary lines of which coincide throughout with the boundary lines of the town or city, the offices of township clerk and trustee are abolished. [24 G. A., ch. 10, § 1.] 30 G. A., ch. 22,]

SEC. 576. Clerk to keep record. The township clerk shall keep a record of all the proceedings and orders of the trustees, and of all acts done by him, including the filing of certificates of official oaths having been taken before other officers, and perform such other acts as may be required of him by law. It shall be the duty of each township clerk to receive, collect, preserve, and disburse, under the orders of the township trustees, all funds belonging to his township, including the cemetery fund, and those which are now or may hereafter be by law created or authorized. [C. '73, §§ 392, 395-6; R., §§ 445, 448-9; C. '51, §§ 223, 226-7.] [28 G. A., ch. 15, § 1.]

SEC 579. Constable—duties.

A writ of attachment from a district or superior court cannot be directed to a constable. Freeman v. Lind, 112-39.

SEC. 583. Cemeteries—plat—record of.

Action of township trustees with reference to boundaries of cemetery lots will not be binding on parties who do not have notice. Hassenlever v. Romkey, 133-470.

SEC. 584. Conveyance of lots—record of.

A lot owner in a cemetery established by the township trustees does not require fee title to such lot by his deed. Ander-son v. Acheson, 132-744.

SEC. 585. Trustees condemn lands. The township trustees are hereby empowered to condemn, or purchase and pay for out of the general fund, and enter upon and take, any lands within the territorial limits of such township for the use of cemeteries, in the same manner as is now provided for cities and towns. Civil townships are hereby authorized and empowered to receive by gift, devise, or bequest, money or property for the purpose of establishing and maintaining libraries, township halls, cemeteries, or for any other public purpose. All such gifts, devises, or bequests, shall be effectual only when accepted by resolution of the board of trustees of such township. [16 G. A., ch. 130, § 3.] [31 G. A., ch. 17.]

SEC. 586. Tax to pay for—adjoining townships. They shall, at the regular meeting in April, levy a tax sufficient to pay for any such lands so condemned or purchased, or for the necessary improvement and maintenance of cemeteries thus established, or for the maintenance and improvement of cemeteries so established in adjoining townships in case they deem such action advisable. They shall have power to control any such cemeteries, or appoint trustees for the same, or sell them to any private corporation for cemetery purposes. They shall also have power to levy a tax not to exceed one (1) mill to improve and maintain any cemetery not owned by the township, provided the same is devoted to general public use. [16 G. A., ch. 130, § 4.] [29 G. A., ch. 28, § 1.] [30 G. A., ch. 23.]

SEC. 591. Compensation of clerk. The township clerk shall receive:

1. For each day of eight hours necessarily engaged in official business, where no other compensation or mode of payment is provided, to be paid from the county treasury, two dollars;

2. For all money coming into his hands by virtue of his office, except money received from his predecessor in office, unless otherwise provided by law, two per cent;

3. For filing each application for a drain or ditch, fifty cents;

4. For making out and certifying the papers in any appeal taken from an assessment by the trustees of damages done by trespassing animals, such additional compensation as the board of supervisors may allow. [16 G. A., ch. 61; C., '73, § 3809; R., §§ 909, 911.] [32 G. A., ch. 25.]

SEC. 592-a. Township trustees—power to contract for use of public libraries. The township trustees shall have power to contract with the trustees of any free public library for the use of said library by the people residing outside the corporate limits of the town or city in which such free public library is located, upon the same terms and conditions as those granted to residents in said town or city, and to pay such library such an amount, as may be agreed upon therefor; and may, at the April meeting, levy a tax not exceeding one mill on each dollar of taxable property of the township outside the city or town in which such library is located, the fund derived therefrom constituting a special fund to be known as a library fund which shall be used for no purpose other than is contemplated in this section, this being additional to chapter ten (10) of title four (4) of the code. [31 G. A., ch. 14, § 3.] [32 G. A., ch. 16.]

[The amendment by chapter 16 of the 32 G. A., to the above section, it being section 3, chapter 14 of the 31 G. A., was by striking out all after the word "meeting" in line six down to the comma before the word "levy" in line 9. The word "levy" does not appear in line 9, but does in line 8, and the change has been made there.]

SEC. 592-b. Township hall funds—transfer authorized—how made. That whenever there is now, funds in the hands of any township clerk, when same was raised under the provisions of sections five hundred and sixty-seven (567) and five hundred and sixty-eight (568) of the code, when same is not desired for the purposes set forth in above mentioned sections, then said fund may be transferred to road fund of any township wherein same was raised, when a petition is presented to the trustees, signed by a majority of the electors of said township, that voted at the last regular election, prior to the signing of said petition, as shown by the poll books of said township. Said transfer of funds to be made by the township clerk, upon the filing of said petition with said clerk, upon order of the trustees. [31 G. A., ch. 18.]

CHAPTER 11.

OF GENERAL REGULATIONS AFFECTING COUNTIES AND TOWNSHIPS.

SECTION 596. Officers not to purchase warrants.

The statute prohibits the purchase at a discount by an officer of any claim against the county, whether it be evidenced in writing or not. Harrison County v. Ogden, 133-666.

TITLE V.

OF CITY AND TOWN GOVERNMENT.

CHAPTER 1.

OF INCORPORATION.

SECTION 599. How effected.

The petition is to be presented to the district court and not to the judge. State ex rel v. Council, 106-731.

SEC. 600. Commissioners—notice. Upon compliance with the provisions of the preceding section, the court shall at once appoint five commissioners, who shall at once give notice of an election for incorporation, for not less than three successive weeks preceding the same, by posting notices in three public places within the limits of the proposed town, and by publication, once each week, for three (3) consecutive weeks in one or more newspapers published in the county where the court is held; which notice shall state the time and place of holding the election, and a description of the limits of the proposed town, and that a plat and description thereof is on file in the office of the clerk of the district court. The court is vested with power to change or limit the territory proposed to be incorporated, before appointing the commissioners as herein provided. [C. '73, § 422.] [31 G. A., ch. 9, § 20.]

SEC. 602. Notice of election of officers—council to elect assessors. If a majority of the ballots cast at such election be in favor of the incorporation, and the same has been confirmed and approved as above provided, the court, or a judge thereof in vacation, shall order the election of a council, mayor, clerk and treasurer. The commissioners shall give notice for two consecutive weeks of the time and place of holding the election of councilmen and the aforesaid officers, by publication, once each week, in a newspaper published in the county where the court is held, and by posting the same in five public places within the limits of such town, at which the qualified electors residing within such limits shall elect such councilmen and officers, who shall hold their offices until the first regular election thereafter. Said commissioners shall act as judges and clerks of the election, and shall have the same power and discharge the same duties as clerks in city or town elections, and such election shall be conducted, as far as practicable, in the manner prescribed by law for the election of town councilmen and officers. When the election of town officers as provided by this section shall be held on, or after, the date of the annual election for towns and prior to January first following, the council of said town so elected and confirmed by the court shall, at a regular meeting held prior to the first day of November following their election, elect an assessor for said town, who shall hold office for one year commencing on the first day of January next after his said election. The council shall elect the said assessor in the manner provided by subdivision nine (9) of section six hundred sixty-eight (668) of the code. [C. '73, §§ 423, 425.] [28 G. A., ch. 16, § 1.] [31 G. A., ch. 9, § 28.]

SEC. 608. Publication. When the incorporation of any city or town shall have been discontinued, the clerk of the court shall cause a notice thereof to be published, once each week, for four consecutive weeks in a newspaper published in the county where the court is held, and shall also certify the fact to the secretary of state and to the recorder of the county. [C. '73, § 452.] [31 G. A., ch. 9, § 21.]

SEC. 611. By proceedings in court. When any city or town shall desire to annex abutting and contiguous territory which has been laid out in lots or parcels, not within the limits of a city or town, the council thereof may present to the district court of the county in which the city or town is situated a petition, describing the territory to be annexed, and stating that the same had been laid out as above mentioned, the facts constituting the desirability of annexation, the name of each owner of any portion thereof, if there is more than one such owner, and the particular portion of such territory owned by each, which petition shall have attached thereto a plat thereof. Notice of the filing of such petition shall be served, by publication in one newspaper published in the city or town, once each week, for four consecutive weeks, and by posting in five public places in the territory desired to be annexed for the same period; the corporation shall be plaintiff, the owners defendants, and issues joined and the case tried as an ordinary action, as far as applicable, except that no judgment for costs shall be rendered against any defendant who does not make defense. If the court finds the allegations of the petition true, and that justice requires the annexation of said territory or any part thereof, a decree shall be entered accordingly, and from that time the territory therein described shall be included in such corporation. The same record and certified copies shall be made and filed as provided in the preceding section. [C. '73, § 431.] [31 G. A., ch. 9, § 22.]

SEC. 614. Indebtedness—how paid.

The remedy of the holder of bonds issued by a city subsequently annexed to another, and which has ceased to have officers of its own, is by a suit in equity against the city to which the annexation is made, which is to be deemed in equity a trustee for the creditor, charged with the duty of collecting the amount adjudged to be due him. Burlington Sav. Bank v. Clinton, 106 Fed., 269. And see S. C. 111 Fed. 439.

SEC. 615. Extension—how effected. Any city or town may have its limits enlarged by resolution of the council, fixing the boundaries of the city or town, to the proposed extent, which shall, as far as practicable, be terminated by straight lines drawn parallel, respectively, to the corresponding lines of the government survey, and the question must then be submitted to the vote of the electors of the city or town as thus proposed to be enlarged, on a day fixed by resolution of the council, and notice thereof given by proclamation of the mayor of the time and place of holding the same, setting forth the exact question to be presented to the electors for determination, which shall be published in some newspaper published in said city or town, once each week, for four weeks, consecutively. The council shall select three judges and two clerks for said election, whose duties shall be the same as prescribed by law for judges and clerks of election. If at such election a majority of the votes cast are for such extension, the mayor shall issue a proclamation announcing that fact, and from thenceforth the limits of said city or town shall be enlarged as proposed. [17 G. A., ch. 169, §§ 1-3; 16 G. A., ch. 47, §§ 1-3.] [31 G. A., ch. 9, § 23.]

A resolution providing for the submission of the question of extending the boundaries to the vote of the electors is simply a step to an election, and citizens in general have no right to be heard on the question of the adoption of such resolution. Moore v. City Council, 119-423.

The legality of the action of the council with reference to the extension of city limits may be tested by an action of certiorari. Ibid.

SEC. 616. Taxation of lands.

The mere temporary occupancy and use for agricultural purposes of annexed land will not prevent its being subject to municipal assessments. Allen v. Davenport, 107-90.

The exemption of agricultural lands, owned in tracts of ten acres, or more, from city taxes, does not apply to property which is used for city residence purposes. Windsor v. Polk County, 109-156.

SEC. 622. Severance—application. When the inhabitants of a part of any town or city, whether the same is or is not laid out in lots and blocks, desire to have the part thereof in which they reside severed therefrom, they may apply by petition in writing, signed by a majority of the resident property holders of that part of the territory of such city or town, to the district court of the county, which petition shall describe the territory proposed to be severed, and have attached thereto a plat thereof, and shall name the person or persons authorized to act in behalf of the petitioners in the prosecution of said petition. Where the property sought to be severed has not been subdivided into lots or blocks and there are no owners residing upon any portion of the same, the petition may be signed and the proceedings maintained in like manner by a majority of the owners of the property sought to be severed. [C. '73, § 440; R., § 1048.] [31 G. A., ch. 19.]

This section does not require that the reasons for desiring a severance shall be stated, and it evidently is not intended that the ordinary rules of pleading shall apply in such cases. Luick v. Belmont, 109-361.

It is for the court to determine whether control over the territory proposed to be severed is important to the proper exercise of police powers on the part of the city, and whether if desirable for residence purposes it is likely to be so occupied in the future; and the finding of the court or jury will not ordinarily be disturbed in the absence of a showing of abuse of discretion. If however the interest of the city in retention of the territory is only for the purpose of deriving taxes therefrom, the severance should be granted. Johnson v. Forest City, 129-51.

Difference in the rate of assessments between property within the corporate limits and outside property will not be a ground for severing territory which by reason of its use is not subjected to city taxation. Hanson v. Cresco, 132-533.

In such a proceeding, the question as to how the territory came to be annexed to the corporation is immaterial. Ibid.

The fact that a portion of the territory proposed to be severed is necessary for sewer outlets, garbage disposal, and the location of a pest house, will not make such severance improper in view of the fact sewers may be maintained through territory outside of the corporate limits, and outside property may be held by the municipality for garbage disposal and location of a pest house. Ibid.

SEC. 625. Trial—commissioners appointed.

On an application to have territory detached from a city on the ground that the land included therein was not platted and was used exclusively for agricultural purposes and not needed for any possible increase of city population, held, that it did not sufficiently appear that the land was not needed for the city and that it would not be presumed that it would be taxed unreasonably, and the judgment of the court on a verdict of the jury that the territory should not be severed was sustained. Christ v. Webster City, 105-119.

SEC. 633. Proclamation—notice. The mayor, or, in case there is no mayor, the president of the council, shall at once issue a proclamation giving notice of such election, of the question submitted to the electors, and of the time and place of holding the election, which proclamation shall be published, once each week, for four consecutive weeks in some newspaper published in such city or town, and, if there is none published therein, then such proclamation shall be published by posting a copy thereof in five public places within the corporate limits of such city or town, one of which shall be on the door of the mayor's office. [C., '73, § 436.] [31 G. A., ch. 9, § 24.]

CHAPTER 2.

OF ORGANIZATION AND OFFICERS.

SECTION 641. Wards. Cities may be, by the council thereof, divided into wards, new ones created, or the boundaries changed, but in all cases, whether it be the creation of wards or the changing of the boundaries thereof, the same shall be laid off, as nearly as may be, in a rectangular form, conforming the lines to the center of the streets or alleys, and giving to each ward, as far as practicable, an equal population; but in cities of the second class the number shall not be increased beyond five nor decreased to less than two. [18 G. A., ch. 26; C., '73, § 520; R., § 1092.] [32 G. A., ch. 26, § 1.]

The city council has power to create new wards by ordinance but not by resolution. Cascaden v. Waterloo, 106-673.

SEC. 642. Regular elections.

The residence of an elector, if an unmarried man, having no other home, is in the ward in which he rooms, and not in

There shall also be elected at the same time one councilman from each ward, who shall be chosen by the electors residing within the limits thereof. Thereafter, the successors of such councilmen at large and ward councilmen and officers shall be chosen at the regular biennial elections and shall hold office for two years.

In towns in which a mayor is elected in the even-numbered years the officers and councilmen shall be elected under the provisions of this act in the year 1910, and the councilmen and officers to be elected in 1908 shall be elected for a term of two years, and the term of councilmen and officers whose terms expire in 1909 shall be extended one year. In cities having a board of police and fire commission, policemen shall be appointed as provided in the act creating such board.

2. In cities of the first class, he shall appoint when deemed necessary, a wharf master. If there is a board of public works, such board shall appoint the street commissioner." [32 G. A., ch. 26, § 8.]

The marshal in towns, being an appointee of the mayor, a contract between the city council and a person to act as marshal at a stipulated salary is not valid. Baxter v. Beacon, 112-744.

SEC. 654. Police matrons—appointment—number. In cities having a population of twenty-five thousand or more, for each station-house provided therein for the detention or imprisonment of women or children under arrest, the mayor may, and in cities having a population of thirty-five thousand or over shall appoint one or more women, residents of the city, as police matrons, who shall be over thirty years of age. The appointees shall be, so far as applicable, subject to the same regulations and restrictions as policemen, and hold their positions during good behavior, unless by reason of age or infirmity they become incapacitated to perform the duties of the position. [25 G. A., ch. 15, §§ 2, 3, 5.] [27 G. A., ch. 18, § 1.]

A city may by ordinance provide for the appointment of a police matron, without regard to statutory authority, and may by contract fix her compensation at a different rate than that fixed by statute. Daniels v. Des Moines, 108-484.

SEC. 654-a. Police matrons—appointment—compensation. The provisions of the law as it appears in section six hundred fifty-four (654) of the supplement to the code, and section six hundred seventy-two (672) of the code, are also made applicable to cities acting under special charters. [32 G. A., ch. 27.]

SEC. 655. Other officers. Cities and towns may, by general ordinance, provide for the appointment, by the mayor, of such additional officers, including superintendent of markets, harbor-masters and port wardens, usual and proper for the regulation and control of navigation, trade or commerce, or needful and proper for the good government of the city or town, or the due exercise of its corporate powers, and fix their term of office, as they may deem necessary. [16 G. A., ch. 33, §§ 1, 2; C., '73, §§ 514, 524, 528; R., §§ 1084, 1095, 1098.] [32 G. A., ch. 26, § 9.]

"All persons appointed to office in any city or town may be removed by the officer or body making the appointment, but every such removal shall be by written order which shall give the reasons therefor and be filed with the city clerk." [32 G. A., ch. 26, § 10.]

SEC. 658. Mayor—powers and duties. In cities and towns, the mayor shall have powers and perform duties as follows:

1. Executive officer—magistrate. He shall be a conservator of the peace, and, within the limits of the same, shall have all the powers conferred upon sheriffs to suppress disorders. He shall be the chief executive officer thereof, and it shall be his duty to enforce all regulations and ordinances; he may, upon view, arrest any one guilty of a violation thereof, or of any crime under the laws of the state, and shall, upon information supported by affidavit, issue process for the arrest of any person charged with violating any ordinance of the city; shall supervise the conduct of all corporate officers, examine into the grounds of complaint made against them, and cause all neglect or violation of duty to be corrected, or report the same to the proper tribunal, that they may be dealt with as provided by law. [C., '73, §§ 506, 519, 537; R., §§ 1085, 1091, 1102, 1105.]

Par. 1. Executive officer — magistrate: Where the mayor of a town causes the arrest of a property owner for resisting eviction from a portion of the premises occupied by him, which is claimed by the town as a street, the official position of the mayor will not relieve him from liability if the arrest is wrongful and without jurisdiction. Young v. Gormley, 120-372.

2. Office. He shall keep an office at some convenient place in the city or town, to be provided by the council, and keep the corporate seal thereof in his charge. [16 G. A., ch. 58; C., '73; § 518; R., § 1091.]

Par. 2. Office: Where a city fails to furnish a proper office for its mayor he may furnish one and collect the actual and reasonable expense thereof from the city. Hill v. Clarinda, 103-409.

3. Signature. He shall sign all commissions, licenses and permits granted by the authority of the council, and do such other acts as by law or ordinance may require his signature or certificate. [16 G. A., ch. 58; C., '73, § 518; R., § 1091.]

5. Repeal—mayor—powers and duties. That paragraph five (5) of section six hundred and fifty-eight (658) of the supplement to the code be repealed and the following enacted in lieu thereof:

“He shall be the presiding officer of the council with the right to vote only in case of a tie.” [32 G. A., ch. 26, § 11.]

Par. 5. Presiding officers — vote: The mayor is the presiding officer of the city council when acting as a board of review for the equalizing of taxes. Frost v. Board of Review, 113-547.

The right of the mayor to a casting vote is limited to cases where there is in fact a tie. State v. Alexander, 107-177.

Under the Code of '73, the mayor of a city of the second class, being a member of the city council, though only voting in case of tie, held, that he must be included with the council in determining whether a proposition was carried by a three-fourths vote. Griffin v. Messenger, 114-99.

6. Report. He shall, at the first regular meeting of the newly elected council in April, and at such other times as he may deem expedient, report to it concerning the municipal affairs of the city or town, and recommend such measures as to him may seem advisable. [C., '73, § 534; R., § 1105.]

7. Hold police court. Until a police judge or judge of superior court shall be elected and qualified in cities entitled to elect such officer, he shall have all the powers and jurisdiction and shall hold the police court in such manner as is required of such judge. [C., '73, § 547; R., § 1121.]

8. Station-houses for women. In all cities containing a population of twenty-five thousand or more, he shall designate one or more station-houses within such city for the detention or imprisonment of all women and children under arrest in said city, and see that provisions are made by which the rooms or cells set apart for them shall be separate from and out of sight of the rooms or cells in which male prisoners are imprisoned. [25 G. A., ch. 15, § 1.]

SEC. 658-a. Legalizing certain proceedings. That all acts, motions, proceedings, resolutions and ordinances heretofore passed or adopted by the council of any city, including cities acting under special charter, and incorporated towns in the state on the supposition that the mayor was not a member of such council, and which would conform to the law if the mayor had not been a member of said council, shall for all purposes from the date of such act, motion, proceeding, resolution or ordinance, be considered as valid and legal as they would have been had the mayor not been a member of such body. [29 G. A., ch. 224, § 1.]

SEC. 659. Clerk—duties.

The clerk is to keep an accurate record of proceedings under the supervision of the council, and the council, on hearing the record read by the clerk, may correct it. The council has the control of the record of its proceedings, and until such record is approved it is open to such modifications as may be necessary to truthfully exemplify what has been done. Mann v. LeMars, 109-251.

SEC. 660. Treasurer—duties.

The preference given to warrant holders by this section applies only as between warrants issued in any given year. Holders of warrants for the expenses of one year have no claim on the funds of a subsequent year, at least until the expenses of the latter year are paid. Phillips v. Reed, 107-331. And see Phillips v. Reed, 109-188.

SEC. 661. Assessor—duties—deputies—officer — supplies. All assessors elected by cities and towns shall perform the same duties as township assessors. They may appoint such number of deputies as the council shall authorize. Except that in cities of the first class having a population of sixty thousand or over the board of supervisors of the county shall furnish the assessor with supplies and an office. And said assessor shall appoint such number of deputies as the board of supervisors may authorize, such appointments to be approved by the said board. If any city or town is situated in two or more counties, the assessor shall make returns of the assessment to the proper county. [19 G. A., ch. 110; 18 G. A., ch. 201, §§ 1, 2; 16 G. A., ch. 6; C., '73, § 390.] [29 G. A., ch. 30, § 1.] [32 G. A., ch. 26, § 12.]

SEC. 662. Marshal—duties.

The town council is given no power to appoint a marshal. Baxter v. Beacon, 112-744.

A marshal arresting a person without warrant will be liable in damages for false arrest if he does not take the prisoner before a magistrate and make complaint before him. Stewart v. Feeley, 118-524.

SEC. 663. Deputy marshals—duties.

A deputy marshal held not to be a peace officer under the provisions of § 4109 of Code of '73, and therefore not entitled to fees for the arrest of vagrants under 23 G. A., ch. 43. Twinam v. Lucas County, 104-231.

SEC. 666. Other officers—powers and duties.

A street commissioner has apparent authority to grade the streets, and if he does so in a case where the grading is unlawful, and his acts are known to the city council and not objected to, his authority will be presumed and the city will be liable. Brown v. Webster City, 115-511.

The act of the city engineer or chief of fire department in directing a water company as to the pressure to be maintained at certain hydrants or in certain districts does not amount to a waiver of the terms of a contract between the company and the city as to the water pressure to be maintained. Cedar Rapids Water Co. v. Cedar Rapids, 117-250.

SEC. 668. City and town councils—powers and duties. All legislative and other powers granted to cities and towns shall be exercised by the councils, except those conferred upon some officer by law or ordinance. They shall perform the duties required in this code including the following:

1. Organization. The members of such council shall, on the first Monday after their election, assemble and organize the council. [C., '73, § 522; R., § 1093.]

2. Quorum. In all cities or towns, a majority of the whole number of members to which such corporation is entitled, including the mayor, shall be necessary to constitute a quorum. [17 G. A., ch. 9; C., '73, §§ 511, 522; R., §§ 1081, 1093.]

3. Meetings. They shall determine the time and place of holding their meetings, which shall at all times be open to the public, and, in the absence of the mayor or clerk, shall appoint a temporary chairman or clerk from their own number, which appointment shall be entered of record. [C., '73, § 524; R., § 1095.]

4. Special meetings. The mayor or any three members of the council shall call special meetings by notice to each of the members, personally served, or left at his usual place of residence, of which service a record shall be made by the clerk. [C., '73, § 524; R., § 1095.]

5. Rules—journal. They shall determine the rules of their own proceedings, and keep a journal thereof, which shall be open to the inspection and examination of any citizen. [C., '73, § 522; R., § 1093.]

6. Attendance of members. They may compel the attendance of absent members in such manner and under such penalties as they may prescribe. [C., '73, § 522; R., § 1093.]

7. Seal. Each council shall cause to be provided a seal, in the center of which shall be the name of the city or town, and around the margin the words, "city seal" or "town seal," as the case may be, which shall be affixed to all transcripts, orders or certificates which it may be necessary or proper to authenticate. [C., '73, §§ 454, 523; R., §§ 1047, 1094.]

8. Election of officers. All appointments or elections of officers, except for the purpose of filling vacancies, in offices not filled by election by the council, shall be made vica voce, and the concurrence of a majority of the whole number of members of the council shall be required. On the vote resulting in an election or appointment, the name of each member and for whom he voted shall be recorded. [18 G. A., ch. 146, § 3; C., '73, § 493; R., § 1134.]

9. Filling vacancies. In selecting persons to fill vacancies in offices not filled by election by the council, it shall vote by ballot, and the person receiving a majority of the votes of the whole number of members shall be declared elected to fill such vacancy. [19 G. A., ch. 124, § 2.]

10. Terms of officers. They shall fix by ordinance the terms of service, not exceeding one year, except in cities holding biennial elections, where such term shall not exceed two years, of all officers appointed or elected, whose terms are not prescribed by law. [C., '73, §§ 514, 524, 528; R., §§ 1084, 1095, 1098.]

11. Powers of officers. They shall prescribe by ordinance the powers to be exercised and duties to be performed by the officers appointed or elected, so far as such powers and duties are not defined by law. [C., '73, §§ 514, 524-5, 528; R., §§ 1084, 1095, 1098, 1695.]

12. Police force. They shall have power to establish a police force, and to organize the same under the general supervision of the marshal, and to provide one or more station-houses. [C., '73, §§ 525, 542; R., §§ 1116, 1695.]

13. Control of finances. They shall have the management and control of the finances and all the property, real and personal, belonging to the city or town. [C., '73, § 524; R., § 1095.]

14. Members not interested. No member of any council shall, during the time for which he has been elected, be appointed to any municipal office which shall be created, or the emoluments of which shall be increased, during the term for which he shall have been elected; nor shall he be interested, directly or indirectly, in any contract or job for work, or the profits thereof, or services to be performed for the corporation. [C., '73, § 490; R., § 1122.]

15. Provide for custody of women and children. In cities having a population of twenty-five thousand inhabitants or more, the council shall appropriate annually such sums as may be necessary for the arrangements needed to secure separate care and confinement in the station-houses of all women and children under arrest, and for the appointment, salary and maintenance of police matrons. [25 G. A., ch. 15, § 6.]

16. Appropriations. In cities of the first and second class, the council shall make the appropriation for all the different expenditures of the city government for each fiscal year at or before the beginning thereof, and it shall be unlawful for it or any officer, agent or employe of the city to issue any warrant, enter into any contract, or appropriate any money, in excess of the amount thus appropriated, for the different expenses of the city, during the year for which said appropriation shall be made. Any such city shall not appropriate, in the aggregate, an amount in excess of its annual legally authorized revenue; but nothing herein shall prevent such cities from anticipating their revenues for the year for which such appropriation is made, or from bonding or refunding their outstanding indebtedness. The council of such cities shall advertise in at least two newspapers published in said cities for three weeks, two insertions for each week, for bids for furnishing all supplies of every kind for the several departments of the city, not required to be advertised for by the board of public works; said advertisements to be published two weeks before the beginning of each fiscal year. [22 G. A., ch. 4.] [32 G. A., ch. 28.]

Par. 1. Organization: In exercising their powers in respect to the control of utilities in which the city or town enjoys a proprietary interest, the governing bodies may, in the absence of statutory restrictions, delegate all functions purely ministerial or administrative to committees of their own members, by whose action the corporation will be bound as absolutely as though these bodies had acted directly. Burge v. Rockwell City, 120-495.

Ordinarily all members of a committee should be notified of the time and place of its proposed meeting, even though a majority will control. The minority ought to have an opportunity of being heard. Ibid.

A committee having authority to make a contract, has also authority to change the terms thereof. Ibid.

Par. 4. Special meetings: A meeting of the council may be called by the mayor or any three members of the council, and at such called meeting all legitimate business may be considered. If all the members attend such meeting, failure to give notice thereof is immaterial. Moore v. City Council, 119-423.

Par. 8. Election of officers: A record showing the election of an officer is not conclusive where it shows proceedings inconsistent with such election. State v. Alexander, 107-177.

The mayor cannot cast the deciding vote in case of a tie in the election of an officer. Ibid.

The method of voting by the city council in the election of officers rests very largely within the discretion of the majority, and the fact that the mayor, with the approval of the majority of the council, refuses to allow a member to change his vote will not invalidate the election of the person thus declared to be elected. Mann v. Le-Mars, 109-251.

As the appointment of a marshal in towns is with the mayor, and not with the council, held that a contract made with the council to act as marshal on a salary named was invalid. Baxter v. Beacon, 112-744.

Par. 14. Members not interested: Where the council of a city was by statute authorized to fix the salaries of city officers, but the members of the council were forbidden to vote upon any question in which they were directly or indirectly interested, held, that the action of the members of the council in increasing their salaries was unlawful and that in receiving the increased salaries thus voted to themselves they were guilty of a misdemeanor in doing an act forbidden by law. State v. Shea, 106-735.

A contract for sale of lumber to a city for sidewalks, etc., by a member of the city council is void. Bay v. Davidson, 133-688.

Par. 16.- Appropriations: The object of this subdivision requiring expenditures only as the result of appropriations, is to place municipal corporations on a cash basis, preventing the accumulation of a floating indebtedness. Windsor v. Des Moines, 110-175.

Notwithstanding the provisions of Code § 660 that warrants which have been indorsed "not paid for want of funds" shall be paid in order of their presentation, warrants for the expenses of one year do not take priority over the warrants for the expenses of a subsequent year with reference to the funds available for payment of the expenses of the latter year. Philips v. Reed, 107-331.

The effect of the previous statutory provision that warrants should be paid in the order of presentation was to create a contract with the warrant holders which could not be impaired by subsequent legislation. Ibid.

SEC. 669. Compensation of councilmen—how paid. Councilmen in cities of the first class shall be paid an amount prescribed by ordinance, not in excess of two hundred and fifty dollars per annum, which shall be in full compensation of all services of such councilmen of every character connected with their official duties; and in all other cities and towns they shall receive not to exceed one dollar each for every regular or special meeting, and in the aggregate not exceeding fifty dollars in any one year; but in such cities and towns the members shall be paid in addition to the foregoing, for services as members of the board of review, an amount not exceeding one dollar for each session of not less than three hours, and the compensation for services as members of the board of review shall be paid out of the county treasury. [22 G. A., ch. 24, § 1; C., '73, § 505; R., § 1095.] [28 G. A., ch. 17, § 1.]

The compensation to be paid to a councilman is fixed by statute, and it cannot be increased either by direct payment or indirectly through the medium of profit on the sale of goods. Bay v. Davidson, 133-688.

SEC. 672. Compensation of police matrons.

If a police matron is appointed under statutory provisions, her compensation cannot be affected by contract, but to avail herself of this rule it must appear that she was appointed in virtue of the statute.

The city need not necessarily act under the statute in making such appointment, and if it does not, a contract regulating her compensation will be valid. Daniels v. Des Moines, 108-484.

SEC. 673. Fees of marshal and deputy.

The county is not liable for statutory fees of the city marshal in liquor seizure cases. Des Moines v. Polk County, 107-525.

SEC. 674. Compensation of assessors and deputies. City and town assessors and their deputies shall receive the same compensation as township assessors, which shall be determined in the same manner and payable from the county treasury. Except, that in cities of the first class having a population of sixty thousand or over the compensation of the assessor shall not be more than fifteen hundred dollars per annum, to be fixed by the board of supervisors, and that of the deputies at not more than two dollars and fifty cents ($2.50) per calendar day, Sundays excepted, to be fixed by the board of supervisors. [C., '73, § 390.] [29 G. A., ch. 30, § 2.]

SEC. 675. Salaries in lieu of fees.

Where salaries are provided for police judge and marshal, the city becomes entitled to the fees thereof in criminal cases, and may recover the same in an action against the county. Des Moines v. Polk County, 107-525.

A statute granting certain cities the power to fix the compensation of mayors by ordinance, and limiting the salary to the amount so fixed, held not to take effect in any particular city until passage of an ordinance therein adopting that plan of compensation. State v. Olinger, 109-669.

SEC. 676. Compensation of other officers.

Special policemen at elections, appointed under the provisions of Code § 1125, are not entitled to compensation from either the city or the county as no provision for such compensation is made under the statute. Mousseau v. Sioux City, 113-246.

CHAPTER 2-A.

OF BOARD OF POLICE AND FIRE COMMISSIONERS IN CERTAIN CITIES OF THE FIRST CLASS.

SECTION 679-a. Board created. That there is hereby created and established a board of police and fire commissioners in cities of the first class and cities under special charter which, according to any state or national census heretofore or hereafter taken, are shown to have a population of more than twenty thousand. [29 G. A., ch. 31, § 1.] [32 G. A., ch. 29, § 1.]

SEC. 679-b. Commissioners—term—vacancies. Said board of police and fire commissioners shall consist of three members, who shall be citizens of the state of Iowa and who shall have been residents of the city in which they are appointed for more than five years next preceding their appointment; they shall, except as hereinafter specified, hold their office for six years and until their respective successors have been appointed and qualified. All vacancies in such board by death, resignation, removal, or for any other cause, shall be filled as soon as practicable in the same manner as provided for appointment. Said commissioners shall receive no compensation for their services. [29 G. A., ch. 31, § 2.]

SEC. 679-c. Commissioners must qualify. Before entering upon the duties of their office each of said commissioners shall take and subscribe an oath, which shall be filed and kept in the office of the city clerk, to support the constitution of the United States and of the state of Iowa, to obey the laws, and in all of his official acts and judgments to aim only to secure and maintain an honest and efficient police and fire force, free from partisan distinction or control, and to perform the duties of his office to the best of his ability, and shall execute a bond payable to the city in which he is appointed, in the penal sum of five thousand dollars, with sureties to be approved by the city council of said city. The expense for said bond shall be paid by said city. [29 G. A., ch. 31, § 3.]

SEC. 679-d. Mayor to appoint—terms—how selected—chairman—quorum—removal. Immediately upon the taking effect of this act the mayor of such city shall appoint said board of police and fire commissioners, who shall be confirmed by the city council, and the said commissioners so appointed shall hold their office, one of them until the first Monday in April, 1904, one of them until the first Monday in April, 1906, and one of them until the first Monday in April, 1908; and on the last Monday in March, 1904, and on the same day in each even numbered year, thereafter, the mayor shall appoint one commissioner in such city to take the place of the commissioner whose term of office expires the first Monday in April following such appointment, and the members so appointed shall serve for the term of six years following the said first Monday in April. The chairman of the board for each biennial period shall be the member whose term first expires. The said commissioners shall be selected from the two leading political parties, so that, as far as practicable, two members of the board shall be members of the dominant political party and one member of the board shall be a member of the political party next in numerical strength, as shown by the votes cast at the last state or national election. And any commissioner who during his term of office becomes a candidate for or accepts any other place of public trust or emolument, or who during the same period knowingly consents to his nomination for any office elective by the people, or fails to publicly decline the same within twenty days succeeding such nomination, shall be deemed to have thereby vacated his office, and a successor shall be appointed as provided in this act. The majority of said board shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business. Any of said commissioners may be removed for misconduct or malfeasance in office, by the mayor of said city, with the consent and approval of a majority of the city council. [29 G. A., ch. 31, § 4.]

SEC. 679-e. Board to conduct examinations—results certified—preference given. Said board shall, on the first Monday of April and October of each year, or oftener if they shall deem it necessary, under such rules and regulations as it may prescribe, hold examinations for the purpose of determining the qualifications of applicants for positions on the police and fire force of said city, which examinations shall be practical in their character and shall relate to those matters which will fairly test the fitness of the persons examined to discharge the duties of the position to which they seek to be appointed; such examination shall cover the physical, as well as other qualifications of the applicants. Said board shall, as soon as possible after such examinations, certify to the chief of police and the chief of the fire department the names of the ten persons who, according to its records, have the highest standing as a result of said examination, and all vacancies which occur in the police and fire force prior to the date of the next regular examination shall be filled from said list so certified; provided, however, that should said list for any cause become reduced to less than three, then the chief of police or the chief of the fire department, as the case may be, may temporarily fill a vacancy until the next examination of the board.

In all examinations and appointments under the provisions of this act honorably discharged soldiers, sailors or marines of the regular or volunteer army or navy of the United States shall be given a preference, if otherwise qualified. [29 G. A., ch. 31, § 5.]

SEC. 679-f. Police and fire departments—officers—salaries—clerk of board—record. The officers of the police force in said city shall be a marshal who shall be ex officio chief of police, and shall be appointed by the mayor of said city, and such other officers as the city council may designate; and the officers of the fire department shall be chief of the fire department, who shall be appointed by the board of police and fire commissioners, and such other officers as the city council may designate. The city council of said city shall fix the salary of the marshal and of the chief of the fire department, and shall fix the number of policemen and firemen for the police and fire force, and shall fix the salaries to be paid to each. The city council shall also provide a suitable room in which the said board of police and fire commissioners may hold its meetings, and the board may appoint a clerk, whose salary shall be fixed by the city council. Said board shall keep a record of all its meetings and proceedings. [29 G. A., ch. 31, § 6.] [32 G. A., ch. 29, § 2.]

SEC. 679-g. Appointments—how and by whom made. The law as it appears in section six hundred and seventy-nine-g (679-g) of the supplement to the code is hereby amended so that the same shall read as follows. "The chief of police shall appoint the police force for said city and the chief of the fire department shall appoint the fire force for said city." [29 G. A., ch. 31, § 7.] [32 G. A., ch. 29, § 3.]

SEC. 679-h. Removals and discharges—appeal. All police officers and policemen, except the chief of police, and all firemen, including the chief of the fire department, shall be subject to removal by the board of police and fire commissioners for misconduct or failure to perform their duty, under such rules and regulations as may be adopted by said board whenever said board shall consider and declare said removal necessary for the proper management or discipline of said department; but the chief of police or the chief of the fire department may peremptorily suspend or discharge any member of his force for misconduct or neglect of duty or disobedience of orders; provided, that any person so suspended or discharged, within five days thereafter may appeal to said board and said board shall investigate the causes of his removal or discharge, and if the same are found insufficient, he shall be reinstated.

The board shall have the power to enforce the attendance of witnesses and the production of books and papers and to administer oaths in the same manner and with like effect and under the same penalties as in the case of magistrates exercising civil or criminal jurisdiction under the statutes of Iowa. [29 G. A., ch. 31, § 8.] [32 G. A., ch. 29, § 4.]

SEC. 679-i. Present officers continued in office. The present chief of the fire department and the members of the police and fire department of each of the cities affected by this act, and the acts of which it is amendatory, other than the chief of police shall be continued in their present positions without further appointment or examination subject, however, to all rules and regulations adopted for the government of said departments under this act and the provisions of chapter thirty-one (31), acts of the twenty-ninth (29th) general assembly. [32 G. A., ch. 29, § 5.]

SEC. 679-j. Qualifications of appointees—political contributions. No person shall be appointed or employed on the police or fire force of said city who is not a citizen of the United States and who has not been a resident of said city for more than one year next preceding said appointment, and who is not able to read and write the English language, and who is not of good moral character, or who is addicted to the use of intoxicating liquor as a beverage. No member of said police or fire force shall directly or indirectly contribute any money to any person for nomination or election purposes, and no person shall be appointed to or removed from said police or fire forces on account of his political beliefs. [29 G. A., ch. 31, § 9.]

SEC. 679-k. Penalty. Any person violating the provisions of this act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall pay a fine not to exceed one hundred dollars ($100), or be imprisoned in the county jail not to exceed thirty days. [29 G. A., ch. 31, § 10.]

SEC. 679-l. Board of public works. In any city having a population of thirty thousand or more the council may by ordinance establish a board of public works and in cities having a population of fifty thousand or more, there is hereby created a board of public works. Such board of public works shall consist of two members residents of the city, to be appointed by the mayor, and upon the establishment of said board one member shall be appointed for two years, and one for three years, and their successors shall be appointed for three years. The members shall hold office until their successors are appointed and qualified. The mayor shall have the power to remove any member of the board of public works for cause at any time. Vacancies shall be filled by the mayor. No member of the council or city official shall be a member of such board. The provisions of this section shall not affect the terms of those now constituting the board of public works in those cities in which a board of public works has heretofore been established by ordinance, but the successors to such members shall be appointed under the provisions of this act. [32 G. A., ch. 26, § 13.]

CHAPTER 3.

OF ORDINANCES, COURTS AND FINES.

SECTION 680. Power to pass ordinances—penalties.

In general: An ordinance is not generally necessary to determine the action of the council in carrying out, in a particular instance, the power expressly granted to it by the legislature. Shelby v. Burlington, 125-343.

Where the city is authorized to exercise a power by general ordinance, an ordinance is essential before the city can act; and an ordinance may be necessary though the statute conferring the power does not specifically direct that it shall be exercised by means of a general ordinance as the statute is not specific as to the methods to be adopted in carrying out the power. But if the method to be adopted, as in the case of special assessments for street improvements, is specifically pointed out by statute, no ordinance is necessary. All that can be essential in such a case is that the city take the steps provided by the statute. Martin v. Oskaloosa, 126-680.

When a city provides by ordinance for the assessments of the costs of a permanent sidewalk upon abutting property, and specifies the notice to be given to owners of abutting property, the giving of such notice as required is an essential condition of the levying of the assessment upon the property. Zalesky v. Cedar Rapids, 118-714.

The grade of a street cannot be established or changed without an ordinance or resolution authorizing it. Eckert v. Walnut, 117-629; Caldwell v. Nashua, 122-179.

The creating or changing of the boundary of wards must be by ordinance and cannot be by resolution. Cascaden v. Waterloo, 106-673.

The city having the power to construct sewers and to make ordinances with reference to the preservation of the health and convenience of the people has implied authority to borrow money for the purpose of constructing a plant for the disposition of sewage. Glocuse Sugar Ref. Co. v. Marshalltown, 153 Fed. 620.

The invalidity of one provision of an ordinance does not necessarily render the remaining portions of the ordinance invalid. Davenport Gas Elec. Co. v. Davenport, 124-22.

Punishing offenses: A city has power to enact an ordinance prohibiting the keeping open on Sunday of places resorted to for the drinking of intoxicating liquors.

Such an ordinance is not inconsistent with the statutes of the state relating to the sale of intoxicating liquors. Lovilia v. Cobb, 126-557.

The general policy of the law being to give municipalities full power and adequate means to protect themselves against unlawful disturbances of the peace and good order within their corporate limits, an ordinance providing for the punishment of assault and battery, which does not impose a different penalty from that provided by statute, is valid. Avoca v. Heller, 129-227.

The power of punishing gambling being unqualifiedly conferred on the city, it has authority to provide for such punishment by ordinance not inconsistent with the statutes of the state relating to the same offense. Blodgett v. McVey, 131-552.

An act may be punishable under a city ordinance although its punishment is also provided for by statute, if the ordinance is not inconsistent with the statutory provision. Neola v. Reichart, 131-492.

The city council cannot in the exercise of its general powers pass an ordinance providing a penalty for keeping saloons open on election day, as such an ordinance would be in conflict with the state law on the same subject. (See Code § 2448.) Iowa City v. McInnery, 114-586.

It may be provided in an ordinance for regulating or prohibiting the running at large of dogs, that the owner of a dog shall be guilty of a misdemeanor in allowing it to run at large unmuzzled. Sibley v. Lastrico, 122-211.

Under the authority to provide for the safety of its inhabitants a city has authority to pass an ordinance requiring bicycles on the streets after dark to carry lights. Des Moines v. Keller, 116-648.

The violation of a municipal ordinance enacted by the authority of the state is a crime and proceedings for its punishment are criminal. Ewing v. Webster City, 103-226.

Violation of ordinance negligence per se: Where the owner of a horse or his employee in charge thereof leaves the horse unfastened in the street in violation of the provisions of an ordinance, such owner is liable to one who is injured in consequence of the horse running away. Healy v. Johnson, 127-221.

SEC. 681. Adoption of ordinances.

In general: Omissions and irregularities in the adoption of an ordinance may be cured by a legalizing act. Marion Water Co. v. Marion, 121-306.

Failure to comply with a directory statute with reference to the recording of ordinances does not affect their validity. Allen v. Davenport, 107-90.

An ordinance which it is within the power of the city to pass will not be declared void in a quo warranto proceeding. State v. Nebraska Tel. Co., 127-194.

Title: The requirement that an ordinance shall not contain more than one subject which must be expressed in the title is a limitation on the power of the council to enact ordinances, and an ordinance passed in violation of it is inoperative for want of power. Marion Water Co. v. Marion, 121-306.

The title of an ordinance describing it as relating to obstructions of or injury to streets, alleys and sidewalks, sufficiently covers a prohibition as to the leaving of horses in the streets without being properly fastened. Healy v. Johnson, 127-221.

Where the granting of certain rights and privileges to a telephone company is the subject matter expressed in the title of an ordinance, the grant of the use of the streets is sufficiently covered by such title. State v. Nebraska Tel. Co., 127-194.

An ordinance "concerning misdemeanors" may include provisions as to keeping open a place of business on Sunday. Lo-vilia v. Cobb, 126-557.

The title of "an ordinance to regulate bicycles" is sufficient to cover provisions requiring riders of bicycles to carry a sufficient light after dark. Des Moines v. Keller, 116-648.

Amendment or repeal: Except as to rights acquired under an ordinance which a repeal cannot destroy or impair, the power of the city council to repeal ordinances is no less broad than its power to enact them. Snouffer v. Cedar Rapids & M. C. R. Co., 118-287.

In amending, repealing or suspending an ordinance with reference to a matter which can be regulated by ordinance only, the council must act by ordinance and cannot proceed by resolution. Cascaden v. Waterloo, 106-673.

The amending ordinance must contain the entire ordinance or section revised or amended. Ibid.

SEC. 683. Adoption—majority vote. No resolution or ordinance for any of the purposes hereinafter set forth shall be adopted without the concurrence of a majority of the whole number of members elected to the council, to-wit:

1. To pass or adopt any by-law or ordinance;
2. To pass or adopt any resolution or order to enter into a contract;
3. To pass or adopt any ordinance for the appropriation or payment of money; but in towns, by-laws, ordinances, and the resolutions and orders set forth in this section, shall require for their passage or adoption a concurrence of four councilmen, or of three councilmen and the mayor. On the passage or adoption of every by-law, ordinance, and every such resolution or order, the yeas and nays shall be called and recorded. No money shall be appropriated except by ordinance. In towns money may be appropriated by resolution. [18 G. A., ch. 146, §§ 2, 3; C., '73, §§ 489, 493; R., §§ 1122, 1134.] [27 G. A., ch. 19, § 1.]

The concurrence of a majority of the whole number of the council is required for the adoption of a resolution. Cascaden v. Waterloo, 106-673.

In the absence of any statutory or charter restrictions a majority of a quorum of the council is sufficient for the adoption of a resolution. Thurston v. Huston, 123-157.

Except as otherwise specified by statute the proceedings of the council are to be governed by the parliamentary rules generally recognized by the courts as applicable to the action of legislative bodies. Ibid.

The ayes and nays on the adoption of an ordinance must be entered at large on the minutes. Cook v. Independence, 133-582.

The yeas and nays should be called and recorded on the passage of an ordinance authorizing the execution of a contract. Marion Water Co. v. Marion, 121-306.

Where the record shows the presence of a majority of the council and the vote on the passage of the ordinance is recorded as unanimous, it sufficiently appears that the ordinance is adopted by the concurrence of a majority of the council. Ibid.

If the record shows the names of the members present, and that the roll was called and the vote was unanimous, it sufficiently appears that the members recorded as present voted in the affirmative. Ibid.

Where the record of the adoption of the ordinance gives the names of the members of the council present and shows that there was a corresponding number of votes in favor of the passage of the ordinance and none against it, it is not essential that there be an express record also of the names of those voting in the affirmative. State v. Nebraska Tel. Co., 127-194.

Where the minutes of the action of the council show the names of the members voting, it will be presumed that the vote was by yeas and nays. German Ins. Co. v. Manning, 95 Fed., 597.

A majority vote in favor of the motion to reconsider an affirmative vote on a resolution to adopt and approve a street improvement as made according to contract, held to render the resolution of approval ineffectual. Wingert v. Tipton, 108 N. W. 1035; 111 N. W. 432.

SEC. 684. Two-thirds vote.

The mayor being a member of the council in cities of the second class, under Code of '73, held that in determining whether there had been a three-fourths vote of the council to dispense with a rule as to reading an ordinance on three successive days, the mayor should be included, although not entitled to a vote except in cases of a tie. Griffin v. Messenger, 114-99.

SEC. 685. Signing by mayor—veto—passing over veto.

The requirement that the mayor sign resolutions or ordinances of the city council before they take effect is mandatory, and the successor of the mayor in office when the ordinance or resolution is passed has no power to make it valid by his signature. Altman v. Dubuque, 111-105.

There is a broad distinction between the requirement that the mayor shall sign ordinances simply as a means of authentication, and a requirement that he shall sign as evidence of his approval. The former may well be said to be ministerial and directory only, while the latter is undoubtedly mandatory. Moore v. City Council, 119-423.

The legislature has not authorized the signing of ordinances by the temporary chairman of the meeting of the council at which the ordinance is adopted. Moore v. City Council, 119-423.

Action of a city council in allowing a claim against the city is a "resolve," and requires the signature of the mayor. Without such signature, or facts making the resolve valid notwithstanding the want of approval, the action of the council is invalid. Stutsman v. McVicar, 111-40.

Under prior statutory provisions held that in cities of the second class having less than 8,000 inhabitants, the signature of the mayor to a resolution passed by the council was not necessary. Bennett v. Marion, 106-628.

SEC. 686. Recording—publishing.

A resolution or ordinance making a special assessment may be proven by parol evidence. Edwards & Walsh Const. Co. v. Jasper County, 117-365.

Publication as required by statute is essential to the validity of an ordinance, and held in a particular case that the publication in an extra edition of a daily paper, only a few copies of which were issued and sold, was not such publication as contemplated by law. State v. Omaha & C. B. R. & B. Co., 113-30.

Until a resolution or ordinance becomes effective there is no authority for its publication. Moore v. City Council, 119-423.

SEC. 687. Published ordinances.

The provision for the publication of ordinances of a city does not contemplate the necessity of a re-adoption of the ordinances. Gallagher v. Jefferson, 125-324.

SEC. 692. Procedure—appeal—judicial notice.

The town or city court has always taken judicial notice of the ordinances of the municipality in which it sits, as it stands in the same relation to these as does the state court to public statutes, and under the provision of this section the district court on appeal is required likewise to take judicial notice of such ordinances. Scranton v. Danenbaum, 109-95.

In a prosecution for violation of an ordinance the ordinance must be pleaded. Courts will not take judicial notice of an ordinance, except in case of appeals from inferior tribunals. State v. Olinger, 109-669.

On an appeal from a conviction before the mayor for violation of an ordinance, the defendant may waive a jury trial. Lovilia v. Cobb, 126-557.

SEC. 694-a. Appropriation authorized—purposes. Cities and towns, including cities under special charter, may by resolution appropriate money out of the general fund to pay a membership fee and dues in the League of Iowa Municipalities not to exceed annually five dollars for each one thousand population or fraction thereof of such city or town or city under special charter, and to pay the actual expenses of not more than two delegates to the meetings of such league. [32 G. A., ch. 30.]

CHAPTER 4.

OF GENERAL POWERS.

SECTION 695. Bodies corporate—name—authority.

Extent of powers: Municipal corporations have and can exercise such powers only as are expressly granted by their charters or legislative acts, or are necessarily implied therefrom, or are necessarily incidental thereto. Aldrich v. Paine, 106-461.

The power to levy taxes may be delegated to a municipal corporation, but not to a board or tribunal not elected by the people of the municipality. State ex rel. v. Mayor, etc., of Des Moines, 103-76.

The city council, having the right to order a work of public improvement and having adopted an ordinance and resolution directing the work according to certain specifications, acquires jurisdiction over the property involved. Allen v. Davenport, 107-90.

A taxpayer may maintain an action to enjoin the carrying out of a resolution increasing the number of wards in a city, there being no authority to change the wards by resolution. Cascaden v. Waterloo, 106-673.

A municipality cannot exercise a power unless it be expressly conferred by the legislature or absolutely necessary to carry out some other power expressly conferred. In case of doubt the existence of the power will be denied. Cherokee v. Perkins, 118-405.

A municipal corporation will not be allowed to repudiate a contract which has been carried out by the other party, on the ground that such party stood in a fiduciary or official relation to the corporation with which the contract was made, without surrendering the benefits received. Nor will a taxpayer be allowed to maintain an action in the interest of the corporation to recover the compensation paid to a contractor under such contract. Kagy v. Independent Dist., 117-694.

Any contract of a municipal corporation for which there is no express or implied statutory authority is invalid. Cedar Rapids Water Co. v. Cedar Rapids, 118-234.

A person dealing with a municipal corporation is held to know the extent of the power of such corporation, and if, with such knowledge, he obtains a grant for which there is no legal authority, or which is in violation of an express statute, he does so at his peril and obtains no right which is enforceable in the courts. Ibid.

Such a contract cannot be held to give color of right to the privilege thus attempted to be granted. Ibid.

A municipal corporation may be said to possess a dual character. In one capacity it is a property holder and mere business agency, and is charged with the management of the financial and business interests of the municipality; in another capacity it is an arm of sovereignty, and is charged with legislative and governmental powers. Contracts wrongfully made by it in the first capacity are as obligatory and inviolable as contracts made between private individuals, but, in the absence of statutory authority, any contract or agreement, whether in the form of an ordinance or otherwise which directly or indirectly surrenders or materially restricts the exercise of the governmental or legislative function or power, may at any time be terminated or annulled by the municipality, though such action may, under some circumstance, involve liability for compensation to persons who have acted upon and in good faith of the validity of such contract. Snouffer v. Cedar Rapids & M. C. R. Co., 118-287.

Liability for acts of officers: A municipal corporation is not as a general rule liable for the negligence or carelessness of its agents or servants in handling its fire apparatus. The service performed is one in which it has no particular interest, and from which it derives no special benefit in its corporate capacity. Such employes are not agents and servants of the city, but act as officers charged with a public service, for whose negligence no action will lie against the city. Where the powers conferred are governmental in nature the city cannot be made liable for the execution thereof. Saunders v. Ft. Madison, 111-102.

The city is not liable for the acts of its officers in making an arrest without legal cause or excuse, and unlawfully, cruelly and inhumanly treating such person by imprisoning him in an unsuitable place. Lahner v. Inc. Town of Williams, 112-428.

Where a city contracting for macadamizing streets undertakes to furnish the use of a steam roller in charge of its own employes it is liable for damages by fire set out by sparks by reason of the defective condition of the engine. McMahon v. Duouque, 107-62.

A city is thus liable where it is engaged in doing with its own instrumentality that which it was authorized to contract with another to do at the expense of the abutting lot owners, and the work was voluntarily assumed and carried on for compensation. Ibid.

The city having power to make excavations in the streets is liable for the wrongful acts of its officers or agents in making such excavations. Millard v. Webster City, 113-220.

A municipal corporation is not estopped by the acts of its officers done without authority. Cedar Rapids Water Co. v. Cedar Rapids, 107-250.

The city having power to prevent injury or annoyance from any nuisance, has no authority to permit the stretching of a wire over the public street on which a performance is permitted, resulting in injury to persons in the street. Wheeler v. Ft. Dodge, 131-566.

The statutory authority to provide places for the interment of the dead, and to adopt regulations for their burial will not be construed to authorize the creation and maintenance of either a public or a private nuisance. Payne v. Wayland, 131-659.

SEC. 696. Prevention of nuisances—regulation of slaughter houses. They shall have power to prevent injury or annoyance from anything dangerous, offensive or unhealthy, and to cause any nuisance to be abated; to provide for the destruction of weeds and other noxious growths upon any of the lots and parkings therein, and to provide for the assessment of the cost thereof to the property; to provide for the immediate seizure and destruction of tainted or unsound meat or other provisions; to establish all needful regulations as to the management of packing and slaughter houses, renderies, tallow chandleries and soap factories, bone factories, tanneries, and manufactories of fertilizers and chemicals, within the limits of such cities or towns; to regulate and restrain the deposit and removal of all offensive material and substances, and the engendering of offensive odors and sights therefrom, so as to protect the public against the same; to establish and regulate slaughter houses; and, in cities having five thousand or more inhabitants, to build and control the same. [22 G. A., ch. 16, § 1; 19 G. A., ch. 89, § 9; C., '73, §§ 456, 526; R., §§ 1057, 1096.] [27 G. A., ch. 22, § 1.]

SEC. 697. Burial of dead—cemeteries.

The provisions as to providing and regulating places for the burial of the dead are inconsistent with the acquirement of a fee by the lot owner. Anderson v. Acheson, 132-744.

SEC. 698. Filling or draining lots.

This section relates to water standing in depressions or pools and not to large areas of low, wet or swampy land. The authority of the council is limited to obviating the nuisance occasioned by the standing of stagnant water. Aldrich v. Paine, 106-461.

SEC. 699. Drainage preserved.

The provisions of this section are intended to restore the natural courses for surface or other water in case it has been obstructed by grading or filling. Aldrich v. Paine, 106-461.

The city cannot require the owner of property abutting on a street to construct drains to carry off the surface water accumulated by improvements of the street. The provisions of this section relate to natural water courses. Hoffman v. Muscatine, 113-332.

SEC. 700. Regulations—licenses—engineers—examinations. They shall have power to regulate, license and tax hotels, restaurants and eating houses; to define by ordinance who shall be considered transient merchants; to regulate, license and tax their sales and those of auctioneers, bankrupt and dollar stores, and the like, but the exercise of such power shall not interfere with sales made by sheriffs, constables, coroners, marshals, executors, guardians, assignees of insolvent debtors or bankrupts, or any other person required by law to sell real or personal property; to regulate, license and tax peddlers, house movers, plumbers, bill-posters, itinerant doctors, itinerant physicians and surgeons, junk dealers, scavengers, pawnbrokers, and persons receiving actual possession of personal property as security for loans, with or without a mortgage or bill of sale thereon, and to provide for the examination and licensing engineers of stationary engines; to license and regulate all keepers of intelligence or employment offices, bureaus and agencies, as well as all persons doing the business of seeking employment for others, or procuring or furnishing employers for others, or giving information whereby employes or employers may be obtained. [22 G. A., ch. 16, § 1; 19 G. A., ch. 89, § 1, 16 G. A., ch. 24; C., '73, §§ 462-3; R., § 1063.] [27 G. A., ch. 21, § 1; 27 G. A., ch. 22, § 2.] [32 G. A., ch. 31.]

This provision does not cover the case of an itinerant dentist. Cherokee v. Perkins, 118-405.

The city may, by ordinance, impose a license upon one engaged in taking orders for goods on his own account to be secured by him from a wholesale house and shipped to him for delivery to the purchasers, he paying for the goods at wholesale and collecting the retail price. Cedar Falls v. Gentzer, 123-670.

The business of a traveling optician who merely prescribes and collects for eye glasses to be furnished to his patients is not a merchant who must procure a license as an itinerant merchant. Waukon v. Fisk, 124-464.

One engaged simply in soliciting orders or making delivery of goods on behalf of another is not a peddler, nor a transient merchant. State v. Nelson 128-740.

While a city has power to define by ordinance who shall be considered transient merchants, it cannot by ordinance declare those persons to be merchants who by universal acceptance in the business world are not such. Ibid.

Under an ordinance imposing a license on peddlers with packs or with vehicles, a license cannot be exacted of one who simply solicits orders for goods as an employe, and occasionally makes delivery of the same while so soliciting. State v. Smithart, 128-631.

SEC. 700-a. Public dance halls, etc.—regulation—license. Cities and towns shall have power to regulate, define, tax, license or prohibit public dance halls, skating rinks, fortune-tellers, palmists, and clairvoyants. [32 G. A., ch. 32, § 1.]

SEC. 700-b. Bill-boards—regulation—license. Cities and towns shall have the power to regulate the construction and location of bill-boards and the power to license and tax the owners thereof or persons maintaining the same. [32 G. A., ch. 32, § 2.]

SEC. 702. Billiard saloons—gaming.

The city may by ordinance provide for the punishment of gambling, although the same act constitutes a criminal offense under the statutes of the state. Blodgett v. McVey, 131-552.

SEC. 703. Circuses—theaters—shows.

The city having power to regulate, license or prohibit shows and exhibitions, may render itself liable by permitting a performance on a wire stretched over the street resulting in injury to persons in the street. Wheeler v. Ft. Dodge, 131-566.

SEC. 704. Gambling houses—disorderly houses. They shall have power to suppress, restrain and prohibit gambling houses, disorderly houses, houses of ill fame, opium or hop joints, or places resorted to for the use of opium or hasheesh, and punish the keepers thereof, and persons resorting thereto. [C., '73, § 456; R., § 1057.] [28 G. A., ch. 18, § 1.]

SEC. 707. Dogs.

The power to regulate or prohibit the running at large of dogs may be exercised by making it a misdemeanor on the part of the owner to allow a dog to run at large unmuzzled. Sibley v. Lastrico, 122-211.

SEC. 711. Fires—electric apparatus—fire limits.

A building erected in violation of an ordinance fixing fire limits may be torn down or removed without any judicial proceeding whatever. But one who is erecting a building with the intention of complying with the law has a reasonable time within which to put his building into the condition required by ordinance. Lemmon v. Guthrie Center, 113-36.

SEC. 716-a. Levy for fire fund. That any city of the second class may levy a tax in any one year of not more than one mill on the dollar of the assessed valuation of the taxable property within the corporate limits for the purpose of maintaining a fire department; and the money so raised shall constitute a fire fund, and shall be applied to no other purpose. [27 G. A., ch. 20, § 1.]

SEC. 717. Markets.

A city may require that any person buying or selling by weight within the city limits shall have the commodity bought or sold weighed on the public scales and the fact that a grain buyer has a place of business remote from the public scales so that he suffers a disadvantage by being compelled to have the grain which he buys weighed at such scales will not be a ground for enjoining the enforcement of such ordinance. Ewing v. Webster City, 103-226.

lishing and regulating a city market is specifically given and this power necessarily carries with it the power to prohibit the sale or weighing of commodities elsewhere than at the place established as such public market. State v. Smith, 123-654.

The establishment of a public market on one of the streets of a city does not constitute a nuisance per se, even though it results in temporary or partial obstruction of the street. Ibid.

The power to enact an ordinance estab-

SEC. 720. Heating plants—water or gas works—electric plants. They shall have power to purchase, establish, erect, maintain and operate, within or without the corporate limits of any city or town, heating plants, waterworks, gas works or electric light or electric power plants, with all the necessary reservoirs, mains, filters, streams, trenches, pipes, drains, poles, wires, burners, machinery, apparatus and other requisites of said works or plants, and lease or sell the same. They may also grant to individuals or private corporations the authority to erect and maintain such works or plants for a term of not more than twenty-five years, and may renew or extend the term of such grant; but no exclusive franchise shall be thus granted, extended or renewed. No such works or plants shall be authorized, established, erected, purchased, leased or sold, or franchise extended or renewed, unless a majority of the legal electors voting thereon vote in favor of the same at a general or special election. [26 G. A., ch. 13; 22 G. A., ch. 11, §§ 1, 2; 22 G. A., ch. 26; C., '73, §§ 471-3.] [28 G. A., ch. 19, § 1.]

Although the city attempts to give an exclusive monopoly to a water company, that fact will not nullify the portions of the contract giving the company the right to furnish water. Kimball v. Cedar Rapids, 100 Fed. 802.

Under § 471 of the Code of 1873, the city council might by affirmative vote of four-fifths of the members authorize the construction of waterworks. Marion Water Co. v. Marion, 121-306.

But the passage of an ordinance by the requisite vote approving a contract for the furnishing of water to the city does not constitute an authorization of the erection of waterworks as required by the statute. Ibid.

Notwithstanding the failure of a council to authorize the erection of waterworks as provided by statute, the company with whom a contract to furnish water to the city is made may recover under such contract for water actually furnished. Ibid.

The assignee of such a contract may recover against the city for water furnished under its provisions. Ibid.

Under a contract to furnish water to the city the water company is not limited in its recovery of compensation for water furnished to the proceeds of the five mill water tax authorized by statute. Marion Water Co. v. Marion, 121-306.

The city may have power to contract for a water supply for a long term of years, but does not necessarily have the right to fix the rate in advance to be paid under such contract for a long period. It may, however, make the contract exclusive. Davenport Gas & Elec. Co. v. Davenport, 124-22.

The grant of a franchise to build and operate waterworks is limited to twenty-five years, and no privilege under such grant can continue for a longer time. Cedar Rapids Water Co. v. Cedar Rapids, 118-234.

The power to contract for water for municipal purposes and for the rate which shall be charged other consumers is to be exercised in the interests and for the benefit of the inhabitants of the city, including public corporations, and a provision in such contract that water be furnished free to public schools is not invalid. Independent School Dist. v. LeMars City Water & Light Co., 131-14.

Every consumer of water is privy to such contract to such an extent as to be entitled to enforce the provisions for his benefit. Ibid.

A contract to furnish free water to public schools is not affected by the fact that a sewerage system is subsequently installed for school buildings, making necessary a larger supply of water. Ibid.

The water supplied to a city or town at public expense may properly be used in sprinkling the streets. McAllen v. Hamilton, 129-329.

Under statutory provision authorizing cities to contract with a company for the erection of waterworks and furnishing water for public use, and providing that the city might levy a tax to pay for water taken for public use, not in excess of five mills on the dollar for any one year, held that the power to levy the tax was not a limitation on the power to contract, and that the city might be liable for the contract price in excess of the proceeds of the tax. Fort Madison Water Co. v. Ft. Madison, 110 Fed. 901; Ft. Madison Water Co. v. Ft. Madison, 114 Fed. 292.

SEC. 721. Question submitted—notice—how given. The council may order any of the questions provided for in the preceding section submitted to vote at a general election, or at one specially called for that purpose; or the mayor shall submit said question to such vote upon the petition of twenty-five property owners of each ward in the city, or of fifty property owners of any incorporated town. Notice of such election shall be given in two newspapers published in said city or town, if there are two, if not, then in one, once each week for at least four consecutive weeks. But if no such newspaper is published within the limits of the corporation, then such notice may be given by posting copies thereof in three public places within the limits of said corporation, two of which places shall be the postoffice and the mayor's office of such city or town. The party asking for a renewal or extension of such franchise shall pay the cost incurred in holding such election. [22 G. A., ch. 11, § 4.] [29 G. A., ch. 32, § 1.]

Where the question submitted was whether the town should issue bonds for the purpose of erecting, maintaining and operating a system of waterworks, held that this was not a submission of the question whether such waterworks should be constructed by the town, and the adoption of the proposition did not authorize such construction. The precise question to be passed upon should be placed in plain terms before the voters. Brown v. Carl, 111-608.

Also held that the incorporation into such question of the proposition that the proceeds of the bonds should be used to some extent in the maintenance of the waterworks was improper, and being in the nature of an inducement to the voter to cast an affirmative ballot, vitiated the acceptance of the proposition. Ibid.

Under Code § 955, providing for notice of application for waterworks franchises in cities under special charter, which section contains provisions similar to this section, held that the notice provided for is one not only advising the property owners that the franchise is desired, but also of the very terms of such franchise. Hall v. Cedar Rapids, 115-199.

SEC. 722. Condemning land. They shall have power to condemn and appropriate so much private property as shall be necessary for the construction and operation of said works or plants, and for the purpose of constructing and maintaining dams across the non-navigable waters and water courses of the state in forming reservoirs and sources of water to supply such water works and plants, as provided for the condemnation of land for city purposes; to issue bonds for the payment of the cost of establishing the same, including the cost of land condemned on which to locate them, and to confer by ordinance the power to appropriate and condemn private property for such purpose upon any individual or corporation authorized to construct and operate such works or plants. [23 G. A., ch. 13, § 1; 22 G. A., ch. 10, § 1; 22 G. A., ch. 11, §§ 2, 3; C., '73, § 474.] [31 G. A., ch. 20.]

The city is authorized to condemn lands to protect, maintain and continue its water supply. La Plante v. Marshalltown, 111 N. W. 816.

SEC. 724. Rates—taxes. They shall have power, when operating such works or plants, to assess from time to time, in such manner as they shall deem equitable, upon each tenement or other place supplied with water, gas, heat, light or power, reasonable rents or rates fixed by ordinance, and to levy a tax, as hereafter provided, to pay or aid in paying the expenses of running, operating, renewing, extending and repairing such works or plants owned and operated by such city or town, and the interest on any bonds issued to pay all or any part of the cost of their construction. [22 G. A., ch. 11, § 2; C., '73, § 475.] [28 G. A., ch. 19, § 1.] [29 G. A., ch. 33, § 1.]

SEC. 725. Regulation of rates and service. They shall have power to require every individual or private corporation operating such works or plant, subject to reasonable rules and regulations, to furnish any person applying therefor, along the line of its pipes, mains, wires, or other conduits, with gas, heat, water, light or power, and to supply said city or town with water for fire protection, and with gas, heat, water, light or power for other necessary public purposes, and to regulate and fix the rent or rate for water, gas, heat, light or power; to regulate and fix the rents or rates of water, gas, heat and electric light or power; to regulate and fix the charges for water meters, gas meters, electric light or power meters, or other device or means necessary for determining the consumption of water, gas, heat, electric light or power, and these powers shall not be abridged by ordinance, resolution or contract. [22 G. A., ch. 11, § 2; 22 G. A., ch. 16, § 1; C., '73, §§ 473, 475.] [28 G. A., ch. 19, § 1.]

A contract by which the city is required to pay excessive rental for hydrants for a period of years held invalid. Hall v. Cedar Rapids, 115-199.

SEC. 727. Public library—bequests—conditions of—how enforced. Cities and towns shall have power to provide for the formation and maintenance of a free public library, open to the use of all the inhabitants, under proper regulations, and may purchase land and erect buildings, or hire buildings or rooms, suitable for that purpose, and provide for the compensation of the necessary employes; may receive, hold or dispose of any and all gifts, donations, devises and bequests that may be made to them for the purpose of establishing, increasing or improving any such library; and when the conditions of such gifts, donations, devises, and bequests have once been accepted by the council, the performance of such conditions may be enforced at the instance of the library board by mandamus and by other due process of law; and the council may apply the profits, proceeds, interest and rents accruing therefrom in such manner as will best promote the prosperity and utility of such library; but no money can be appropriated for such purpose until the electors of such city or town shall, at a general or special election, have voted for the establishment of such library. [C., '73, § 461.] 29 G. A., ch. 34, § 1.]

SEC. 727-a. Special charter cities. This act shall apply to cities acting under special charter. [29 G. A., ch. 34, § 2.]

The power to levy taxes for library purposes cannot be vested by the legislature in the board of library trustees not elected by the people, but appointed by the mayor with the advice and consent of the council. State ex rel. v. Mayor, etc., of Des Moines, 103-76.

SEC. 728. Library trustees. In any city or town in which a free library has been established, there shall be a board of library trustees, consisting of nine members, to be appointed by the mayor, by and with the approval of the council. Of said trustees first appointed, one-third shall hold office for two, one-third for four, and one-third for six, years, from the first day of July following their appointment; and, at their first meeting, shall cast lots for the respective terms, reporting the result of such lot to the council. Biennially thereafter, before the first day of July, the mayor shall appoint, by and with the approval of the council, three trustees to succeed the trustees retiring on the following first day of July, each of whom shall hold office for six years from such first day of July, and until his successor is appointed and qualified. Vacancies occurring in the board shall be filled by appointment by the mayor, such appointees to fill out the unexpired term for which the appointment is made. Bona fide citizens and residents of the city or town, male or female, over the age of twenty-one years, are alone eligible to membership. The removal of any trustee permanently from the city shall render his office as a trustee vacant. Members of said board shall receive no compensation for their services. Provided that in cities and incorporated towns where a college or university is located, it shall be lawful for the city or town and such institution of learning to jointly establish and maintain a public library for their mutual benefit, upon such terms and conditions as regards maintenance, control, appointment of library trustees and other incidents of joint control as may in any lawful manner be mutually agreed upon between them; but no city or town may undertake to contribute toward the maintenance more than the amount produced by a rate of taxation therefor allowed by law, and no persons shall be appointed or confirmed as library trustees other than such having the qualifications required by law. [25 G. A., ch. 41, § 1.] [30 G. A., ch. 24, § 1.]

SEC. 729. Powers. duties of such employment; to select and make purchases of books, pamphlets, magazines, periodicals, papers, maps, journals, furniture, fixtures, stationery and supplies for such library; to authorize the use of such libraries by non-residents of such cities and towns and to fix charges therefor; to make and adopt, amend, modify or repeal by-laws, rules and regulations, not inconsistent with law, for the care, use, government and management of such library and the business of said board, fixing and enforcing penalties for the violation thereof; and to have exclusive control of the expenditures of all taxes levied for library purposes as provided by law, and of the expenditure of all moneys available by gift or otherwise, for the erection of library buildings and of all other moneys belonging to the library fund. Said board shall keep a record of its proceedings. [26. G. A., ch. 50, § 1.; 25 G. A., ch. 41, § 2.] [28 G. A., ch. 20, § 1.] [31 G. A., ch. 14, § 1.]

SEC. 729-a. Powers of library trustees. Said board of library trustees shall have power to contract with the trustees of the township or the board of supervisors of the county in which the library is situated, or of adjacent townships or counties, or with the trustees or governing bodies of neighboring towns or cities not having library facilities for the public, to loan the books of said library, either singly or in groups, upon such terms as may be agreed upon in such contract. [31 G. A., ch. 14, § 1.]

[By section 1, chapter 14, acts of the 31 G. A., the above section was designated as added to section 729, as paragraph 729-d, but as other sections would appear before the above, in their regular order, it was deemed best to number the additional matter as section 729-a.]

Provided that in any city or incorporated town where is maintained jointly by the city or town and an institution of learning a free public library, for the support and maintenance of which both the city and the institution of learning contribute, the library trustees may elect a library treasurer therefor, and it shall be the duty of the city treasurer to pay over to said library treasurer any and all library taxes that may be collected by him monthly. [25 G. A., ch. 41, § 3.] [30 G. A., ch. 24, § 2.]

SEC. 730-a. Contracts, elections and ordinances legalized. Where cities or incorporated towns and institutions of learning have established or contracted to establish public libraries to be maintained and controlled jointly as contemplated by this act, all contracts, elections, ordinances and other proceedings made, held or passed in the manner provided by law are hereby declared as valid and obligatory upon the parties thereto as though the same had been made, held or passed after the taking effect of this act. [The last sentence of the above section, commencing with the word in, after the word year, in line 19, was enacted by the 30 G. A. as additional to section 732, but the 31 G. A., by chapter 21, repealed section 732 of the supplement to the code, without referring to or specifically repealing the amendment enacted by the 30 G. A., so it was deemed best to show both enactments.]

SEC. 741-n. City or town councils—power to contract for use of public libraries. They shall have the power to contract with the trustees of any free public library for the use of said library by the people of the city or town not having the use of a free library, upon the same terms and conditions as those granted to residents in the city or town where the library is located, and to pay such library such an amount as may be agreed upon therefor, and to levy a tax not exceeding one mill on each dollar of taxable valuation of the city or town for payment therefor. This shall be additional to chapter four (4), title five (5) of the code. [31 G. A., ch. 14, § 4.]

SEC. 741-o. Hospital trustees. Cities having a population of over five thousand may by ordinance provide for the election at a general or special election of three hospital trustees, whose terms of office shall be six years, one to be elected each even-numbered year, but at the first election three shall be elected and hold their office, respectively, for two, four and six years, and who shall by lot determine their respective terms. [31 G. A., ch. 22, § 1.] [32 G. A., ch. 35, § 1.]

SEC. 741-p. Hospital board—organization—officers—duties. The said trustees shall within ten days after their election, qualify by taking the oath of office and organize as a hospital board, by the election of one of their number as chairman and one as secretary, but no bond shall be required of them. They shall also elect a treasurer not one of their number who shall give bonds in the sum of twenty-five thousand dollars, the penalty of which may be increased by the board. The treasurer shall receive and pay out all the moneys under the control of the said board as ordered by it, but shall receive no compensation for his services. No commissioner shall receive any compensation for his services performed, but he may receive reimbursement for any cash expenses actually made for personal expenses incurred as such trustee, but an itemized statement of all such expenses and moneys paid out shall be made under oath by each of such trustees and filed with the secretary and allowed only by the affirmative vote of the full board. Said board of trustees shall be vested with authority to provide for the management, control and government of such city hospital and shall provide all needed rules and regulations for the economic conduct thereof. In the management of said hospital no discrimination shall be made against practitioners of any school of medicine recognized by the laws of the state of Iowa. [31 G. A., ch. 22, § 2.]

SEC. 741-q. Question submitted—tax—how levied and collected—hospital fund. The council of such city may by resolution submit to the qualified electors of the same at a regular or special election, the question whether there shall be levied upon the assessed property thereof a tax not exceeding three mills on the dollar in cities having a population of over twenty-two thousand not exceeding two mills on the dollar in cities having a population of over five thousand, and less than twenty-two thousand, for the purchasing of real estate for hospital purposes, and for the construction of such hospital and for maintaining the same, or for either or all of such purposes. The said proposition shall be submitted in the manner provided for similar propositions in the chapter on elections. The council shall in the resolution ordering such election, specify the rate of taxation proposed and the number of years the same shall be levied not exceeding (15) fifteen years. If a majority of the votes cast at such election on the proposition so submitted shall be in favor of the proposition for taxation the council shall levy the tax so authorized which shall be collected and paid over to the treasurer of such hospital board in the same manner as other taxes are collected. Such taxes shall be known as a "hospital fund" and shall be paid out on the order of the trustees for the purposes authorized by this act and for no other purpose, whatever. [31 G. A., ch. 22, § 3.] [32 G. A., ch. 35, § 1.]

SEC. 741-r. Bonds. Whenever any city having a population of over twelve thousand five hundred shall by ordinance provide for the election of hospital trustees, and has voted a tax for a term of years not exceeding (15) fifteen years, for hospital purposes as authorized by law, the said city may issue bonds in the name of such city in anticipation of the collection of such tax in such sums and amounts as the city council thereof may deem necessary for the purposes contemplated by such tax, but such bonds in the aggregate shall not exceed the amount which might be realized by said tax based on the amount which may be yielded on the property valuation in the year in which the tax is voted, and such bonds shall mature in fifteen years from date, and shall be in sums of not less than one hundred, nor more than one thousand, dollars, bearing interest at a rate not exceeding five per cent. per annum, payable annually or semi-annually; said bonds may be payable at pleasure of city after five years and shall not be sold for less than par. Said city, after the issuance of any such bonds shall each year for 10 years before the maturity thereof, set aside out of the tax levied by it a sum equal to one-tenth of the principal thereof, which sum shall be applied after five years from date of issue in payment of the principal whenever the amount on hand shall be sufficient to pay one or more of said bonds and each of said bonds shall provide that it is subject to this condition. [31 G. A., ch. 22, § 4.]

[By chapter 35 the 32 G. A. changed the words "twelve thousand five hundred," in sections 741-o and 741-q, respectively, to "five thousand," but made no change of the words "twelve thousand five hundred," in the above section.]

SEC. 741-s. Condemnation proceedings. If the board of hospital trustees and the owners of any property desired by them for hospital purposes cannot agree as to the price to be paid therefor, the city council of said city shall cause the same to be condemned in the manner provided for taking land for public purposes by cities. [31 G. A., ch. 22, § 5.]

SEC. 741-t. Jurisdiction of cities over hospital lands. The jurisdiction of such cities and towns shall extend over all lands used for hospital purposes without the corporate limits if so located, and all ordinances of such cities and towns shall be in full force and effect in and over the territory occupied by such hospitals. [31 G. A., ch. 22, § 6.]

SEC. 741-u. Appropriation for improvements and maintenance. In cities exercising the rights by this act, the council may appropriate each year, not exceeding five per cent. of its general fund for the improvement and maintenance of any hospital so established. [31 G. A., ch. 22, § 7.]

SEC. 741-v. Indebtedness. Cities of the second class shall be allowed to become indebted for the purposes provided in this act to an amount aggregating with all other indebtedness of the said city, in a sum not exceeding two and one-half per centum of the actual value of the property within said city, to be ascertained by the last state and county tax list previous to the incurring of such indebtedness, provided that before an indebtedness shall be contracted in excess of one and one-fourth per centum of the actual value of the taxable property ascertained as provided in section two of chapter 41 as found in section 1306-b of the supplement to the code, a petition signed by a majority of the qualified electors of such city shall be filed with the council of such city, asking that an election shall be called, stating the purposes for which the money is to be used and that the said hospital cannot be purchased, built or maintained within the limit of one and one-fourth per centum of valuation of the taxable property of such city. If two-thirds of all the electors voting at such election, vote in favor of such indebtedness at such election, the council of such city shall issue the bonds as provided in this act to the limit as herein provided. [31 G. A., ch. 22, § 8.]

CHAPTER 5.

OF THE PURCHASE AND CONSTRUCTION OF WATER WORKS.

SECTION 742. Tax—sinking fund. Cities of the first class shall have power to levy, in addition to the regular water tax authorized by law, a tax of two mills upon the dollar upon all the property within the corporate limits of said cities, excepting lots greater than ten acres in area, used for horticultural or agricultural purposes, for the purpose of creating a sinking fund, to be used as provided in this chapter for the purchase or erection of water works in such cities, or for the payment of any indebtedness incurred by such cities for water works now owned by the same. The proceeds of such two-mill levy shall be deposited in one or more solvent banks or trust companies of the city making such levy, at a rate of interest not less than three per cent. per annum, compounded semi-annually, and payable, principal and interest, on demand, after sixty days' notice in writing. The city treasurer depositing the proceeds of such tax shall exact from the bank or trust company wherein such money is deposited a satisfactory bond, payable to the city, to be approved by the treasurer and mayor of such city, and to be filed in the office of the city treasurer. [26 G. A., ch. 1, § 1.] [27 G. A., ch. 23, § 1; 28 G. A., ch. 24, § 1.]

A city may provide for a tax to be levied before the contract for the purchase or construction of the works is entered into. The council may first determine the kind and cost of the works to be erected, the amount of tax to be levied and other incidental matters before submitting the matter to the voters. Youngerman v. Murphy, 107-686.

The fact that proceedings to erect and establish waterworks are irregular and the bonds issued for the erection of such works are void, does not authorize an injunction against the city, to restrain it from using and operating such works. Ramsay v. Marble Rock, 123-7.

[Section 742-a is section two of chapter 24 of the acts of the 28 G. A. Section one of said chapter amends section 742 of the code by changing the rate of interest from four to three per cent.]

SEC. 742-b. Authority to loan—conditions. That wherever any corporation engaged in maintaining and operating a water works plant within any city of this state where the United States has or may hereafter establish a military reservation within a distance of five miles from either of the boundaries of said city and such city has either under the provisions of chapter one (1) of the acts of the twenty-sixth (26th) general assembly or of section seven hundred and forty-two (742) of the code levied taxes for the purpose of creating a sinking fund to be used for the purchase or erection of water works therein, such city shall be authorized to loan a portion not however to exceed fifty thousand dollars of the proceeds of the taxes so levied to such corporation so maintaining and operating such water works plant, with interest at a rate not less than two per cent. per annum, for a period of not more than ten years from the date of the passage of this act upon such terms as the city council of such city may approve. Provided, however, that such corporation shall apply the proceeds of every such loan to the laying of a main with the necessary attachments and usual branches to hydrants from its pumping station or other connection with its mains to the said military reservation and to make the changes in its plant which may be required to furnish the service demanded by the United States at such reservation. [29 G. A., ch. 38, § 1.]

SEC. 742-c. Reversion of funds loaned. That when the funds that have been loaned as provided in section one (1) of this act, and the interest thereon, are repaid to the city to which they belong, said funds together with all interest derived therefrom shall immediately revert to the fund for which the said taxes were levied and thereafter be used for no other purpose than as authorized by chapter one (1) of the acts of the twenty-sixth general assembly or section seven hundred and forty-two (742) of the code. [29 G. A., ch. 38, § 3.]

SEC. 742-d. Water for military reservations—how furnished. That all individuals or private corporations to which any city in this state has granted authority to erect and maintain water works with all the necessary reservoirs, mains, filters, pipes and other appurtenances in such city, including the Des Moines Water Works company now owning and operating such a plant in the city of Des Moines, shall whenever the United States has, or may hereafter establish a military reservation within a distance of five miles from either of the boundaries of such city, be authorized to use said water works plant in said city, and the mains now or hereafter laid in the highways of said city for the purpose of furnishing water to such military reservation, such authority to continue so long as under franchises now held or hereafter granted such individuals or corporations shall be authorized to maintain and operate such water works plant in such cities. [29 G. A., ch. 207, § 1.]

SEC. 742-e. Mains in highways. The board of supervisors of any county in which such military reservation is or may hereafter be located, shall have the power to authorize any such individual or corporation to lay its mains in any of the highways of the county for the purpose of extending the same to any such military reservation. [29 G. A., ch. 207, § 2.]

SEC. 744. Purchase or erection—indebtedness heretofore incurred. Cities of the first class are hereby authorized to purchase or erect water works, under the provisions of this chapter, for the purpose of supplying said cities and the inhabitants thereof with water, and are authorized to continue the levy of the two-mill tax herein provided for until the purchase price, principal and interest, or the cost incurred in the erection of said works, or the indebtedness heretofore incurred for and on account of such works, is fully paid and discharged. [26 G. A., ch. 1, § 3.] [27 G. A., ch. 23, § 2.]

SEC. 745. Contracts—bonds—cities procuring or owning water works. Cities levying such sinking fund tax are hereby authorized to let a contract or contracts for the purchase or erection of water works, and, upon the approval and adoption of such contract or contracts as hereinafter provided, to apply such sinking fund upon the cost thereof, and cities so purchasing or constructing and those now owning such water works are authorized to pledge the proceeds of the continuing two-mill levy provided for in this chapter, and the regular water levy, and the net revenues derived from the operation of the water works, and shall have the right to mortgage or bond such works, to secure the payment of the purchase price or the cost of constructing such water works, or the cost of making necessary extensions and improvements of such water works, and such cities shall have the right to execute additional mortgage or mortgages or bonds upon such works for the purposes above set forth. Provided that said additional mortgage or mortgages or bonds shall bear not more than six per cent. interest per annum; but no part of the general fund of such city shall be applied upon such contracts, bonds or mortgage. In the payment thereof, the city and holders of said contracts, bonds or mortgages shall be restricted to the proceeds of the said taxes and the net revenues of the said water works, as hereinbefore provided; and such contract, contracts or bonds shall not bear a higher rate of interest than five per cent. per annum, payable semi-annually. Cities of the first class which have adopted or may adopt an ordinance availing themselves of the privileges conferred herein, shall in addition thereto have and possess the following powers:

A—In addition to mortgage on the water plant to secure the bonds hereinbefore authorized, the said city may in addition to the security of said mortgage and as a part thereof, grant a franchise to maintain and operate said plant on foreclosure sale under said mortgage, said franchise to become effective only on the passing of title under the said foreclosure sale and to continue for a period of not exceeding twenty-five (25) years thereafter; providing that the granting of such franchise shall be approved by a majority of the electors of said city, voting at an election thereon, which election shall be held as provided in section seven hundred and forty-six (746), supplement of the code.

B—They shall have power to issue the general bonds of the city creating an indebtedness of said city to an amount which, with its other existing indebtedness, shall not exceed five per cent (5%) of the actual value of the taxable property of said city, as shown by the last preceding assessment. The said bonds or proceeds of sale thereof to be used in the purchase or construction of a water plant, as herein provided, provided, however, that such bonds can be issued by order of the city council of said city only after a contract for the purchase or construction of a water plant and providing for the issuance of such bonds has been approved by the majority of the electors of said city voting at an election thereon to be held in accordance with the provisions of section seven hundred and forty-six (746), supplement of the code. Neither the said bonds nor the proceeds thereof shall be diverted to an other purpose than as herein provided. Said cities may purchase or contract a water plant and pay for the same partly out of the water bonds and partly out of the general bonds herein provided, or wholly out of either class of bonds or proceeds thereof, as such city may determine. The general bonds of the city herein provided shall bear interest at not exceeding five per (5%) cent per annum, payable semi-annually, and shall be payable not more than twenty (20) years after date and in the general form of bonds provided by section four hundred and three (403) of the code, with such changes as may be necessary to conform the same to this statute and the ordinances or contract of the city under which they are issued. [26 G. A., ch. 1, § 4.] [27 G. A., ch. 23, § 3.] [29 G. A., ch. 39, § 1.] [29 G. A., ch. 40, § 1.] [31 G. A., ch. 23, § 1.]

Bonds issued in pursuance of statutory provisions authorizing the levy of taxes in the future for the construction of waterworks, with a provision that when the bonds are paid by the proceeds of such tax, the waterworks shall become the property of the city, are invalid as in excess of the constitutional limitation of indebtedness. Ottumwa v. City Water Supply Co., 119 Fed. 315; City Water Supply Co. v. Ottumwa, 120 Fed. 309.

The provisions of this section 745, as amended by 27 G. A., chap. 23, indicating the intention of the legislature to empower cities of the first class to purchase or erect waterworks and provide a plan by which the cost of such improvement may be met, held not to create an indebtedness, within the meaning of the constitution, article 11, section 3, prohibiting municipal corporations from becoming indebted to an amount in the aggregate exceeding five per cent on the value of the taxable property. Swanson v. Ottumwa, 118-161.

Such provisions contemplate the levying

SEC. 745-a. Repeal—acts in conflict. All acts and parts of acts, so far as the same are in conflict with the foregoing, are hereby repealed. [31 G. A., ch. 23, § 2.]

SEC. 745-b. Special charter cities. This act shall apply to cities acting under special charter. [29 G. A., ch. 40, § 2.]

[The above section is section 2, chapter 40, of the acts of the 29 G. A., making said act applicable to cities under special charters.]

SEC. 746. Question submitted. Said contract or contracts shall not be binding upon said city until the same shall have been approved by the

of a tax, payable in installments in the future, to be appropriated, as they are collected, to the payment of the amount necessary to secure the waterworks which may be provided for by contract. But as the corporation is not under obligation to pay, except as money may be provided out of the collection of such taxes, there is no such obligation as to constitute an indebtedness. Ibid.

Under statutory provision authorizing cities to contract with a company for the erection of waterworks and furnishing water for public use, and providing that the city might levy a tax to pay for water taken for public use, not in excess of five mills on the dollar for any one year, held that the power to levy the tax was not a limitation on the power to contract, and that the city might be liable for the contract price in excess of the proceeds of the tax. Fort Madison Water Co. v. Ft. Madison, 110 Fed. 901; Ft. Madison v. Ft. Madison Water Co., 114 Fed. 292.

city council at a regular meeting, or a special meeting called for such purpose, and shall have been adopted by a majority of the electors of said city voting at a special election, which shall have been duly called after thirty days' notice by said city. The proposition to be submitted at said election, and the form of ballot, shall be: "Shall the contract or contracts approved by the city council in relation to the water works be adopted?" The proposition shall be printed and placed on the ballots, and the voter shall designate his choice, and the election shall be conducted, in the manner provided in the chapter on elections. [26 G. A., ch. 5, § 1.] [29 G. A., ch. 39, § 1.]

[Section 747 was repealed by chapter 41, acts of the 29 G. A., which took effect by publication March 15, 1902, while chapter 39, acts of the 29 G. A., which took effect by publication March 28, 1902, amends, or attempts to amend, said section 747, which had been repealed by chapter 41, aforesaid.]

The electors do not determine the abstract question of waterworks or no waterworks. They simply approve or disapprove of the particular contracts submitted to them. The ultimate question of the establishment of such works rests with the city council. Youngerman v. Murphy, 107-686.

An ordinance passed after the adoption by the electors of a proposition to grant a waterworks franchise, which differs in detail, but not substantially from the one submitting the matter to a vote, will not be invalid on account of such slight variance. Centerville v. Fidelity Trust & Guar. Co., 118 Fed. 332.

A resident and taxpayer has such interest in the matter as to be entitled to institute proceedings by quo warranto to test the validity of the appointment of trustees under this section. State ex rel. v. Barker, 116-96.

The provisions of this section, as amended by acts of 27 G. A., chap. 23, and 28 G. A., chap. 25, are unconstitutional because they take the control and management of the waterworks away from the city council and also because they provide for the exercise by the judges of the district court of authority not judicial in its nature nor connected with the exercise of the judicial power conferred on the courts by the constitution. Ibid.

SEC. 747-a. Repeal—trustees—appointment—term — vacancies—compensation—bond—removal. That section seven hundred forty-seven (747) of the code as amended, be and the same is hereby repealed, and the following enacted in lieu thereof:

The water works now owned or hereafter purchased or erected by such cities shall be managed and operated by a board of water works trustees, which shall be composed of three resident electors, appointed for the term of six years by the mayor of said city. Upon the taking effect of this act, in cities now owning such water works, or upon the approval of the contract for the purchase or erection of water works by cities as herein provided, the mayor thereof shall, within ten days thereafter, appoint such board of water works trustees, the first appointees thereto to hold office for the following designated terms, namely, one for two years, one for four years, and one for six years. All vacancies occurring on said board, occasioned by expiration of term, by death, resignation or removal, shall be filled by appointment of the mayor of such city. The compensation of said trustees shall be three hundred dollars per year to each member of said board. Each of the said trustees shall execute and furnish to the city an official bond in the sum of five thousand dollars, to be approved by the mayor and filed with the city clerk. Such trustees may be removed from office for proper cause under the provisions of chapter eight (8) of title six (VI) of the code. [26 G. A., ch. 1, §§ 6, 7, 12.] [27 G. A., ch. 23, § 4.] [28 G. A., ch. 25, § 1.] [29 G. A., ch. 39, § 1.] [29 G. A., ch. 41, § 1.]

SEC. 747-b. Special charter and first class cities. All the provisions of this act shall be held and construed as applying to cities of the first class and to cities acting under special charters. [29 G. A., ch. 41, § 2.]

SEC. 748. Powers—water works fund—how disbursed. The said board of trustees shall have the power to carry into execution the contract or contracts for the purchase or erection of such water works, and to employ a superintendent and such other employes as may be necessary and proper for the operation of such works, for the collection of water rentals, and for the conduct of the business incident to the operation thereof. The said board of trustees shall require of the superintendent, and of the other employes as they may deem proper, good and sufficient bonds, the amount thereof to be fixed and approved by said board, for the faithful performance of their duty, such bonds to run in the name of the city and to be filed with the city treasurer and kept in his office. All money collected by the board of water works trustees shall be deposited at least weekly by them, with the city treasurer; and all money so deposited and all tax money received by the city treasurer from any source, levied and collected for and on account of the water works, shall be kept by the city treasurer as a separate and distinct fund. The city treasurer shall be liable on his official bond for such funds the same as for other funds received by him as such treasurer. Such moneys shall be paid out by the city treasurer only on the written order of the board of water works trustees, who shall have full and absolute control of the application and disbursement thereof for the purposes prescribed by law, including the payment of all indebtedness arising in the construction of such works, and the maintenance, operation, and extension thereof. [26 G. A., ch. 1, §§ 8, 9.] [28 G. A., ch. 25, § 2.] [29 G. A., ch. 39, § 1.] [29 G. A., ch. 161, § 1.]

SEC. 748-a. Special charter cities. That the provisions of said section, as amended, shall be applicable to cities under special charters. [29 G. A., ch. 161, § 2.]

SEC. 748-b. Special charter cities. That chapter twenty-five (25), of the acts of the twenty-eighth (28) general assembly, relating to water works, be and the same is hereby made applicable to cities under special charters. [29 G. A., ch. 162, § 1.]

[The latter portion of section 748, beginning with the words, "all money collected," is section 2 of chapter 25, acts of the 28 G. A. Section 1 of the same chapter amended section 747 of the code, which is now repealed.]

CHAPTER 6.

OF STREETS AND PUBLIC GROUNDS.

SECTION 751. Establishment—improvements.

Boundaries: The planting of trees and the construction of temporary sidewalks by an abutting owner does not constitute such assertion of title as against the city that the acquiescence therein by the city will give rise to estoppel as to the line claimed by such abutting owner to be his boundary line. Vorhes v. Ackley, 127-658.

The width of streets in a city is matter of proof, and the court cannot take judicial notice thereof. Coe College v. Cedar Rapids, 120-541.

Laying out and changing: In an incorporated town the county board of supervisors has no authority to lay out a public highway. Philbrick v. University Place, 106-352.

A city may by ordinance changing the course of a street give to an abutting proprietor the title to a portion thereof. Ottumwa Brick & Const. Co. v. Ainley, 109-386.

Dedication and acceptance: The provision of § 527 of the Code of '73 that no street dedicated to public use in any city shall be deemed public unless accepted by ordinance is intended for the protection of a city from liability for not keeping such street in good condition. It has reference only to streets and alleys which are dedicated by the land owner and not to such as are acquired by the city by purchase or by prescription, and in the latter case no acceptance by ordinance is necessary. It seems that such provision is applicable to cities only and not to towns. Burlington, C. R. & N. R. Co. v. Columbus Junction, 104-110.

The dedication of a street in a plat may be subsequently accepted by a city so as to make the dedication effectual, even as against one who has in the meantime acquired title to the adjoining lot, and taken possession of the dedicated street. Backman v. Oskaloosa, 130-600.

A city may accept and improve a portion only of a street dedicated on a plat. Ibid.

Acceptance of an alley under a common law dedication may be shown by other acts than the adoption of a formal notice. It may be inferred from public use, or other acts indicative of an intention on the part of the city to treat it as a public alley. Keokuk v. Gosgrove, 116-189.

The approval of the plat provided for in Code § 915 does not involve the question of accepting the streets and alleys. Giltner v. Albia, 128-658.

Where a contract of conveyance provided that the grantor should procure the dedication of a portion of the property as a street, or that such portion be included in the sale with the understanding that the same be dedicated for street purposes, held that both parties construed the contract to mean a dedication of the streets accepted by the city. McCormick v. Merritt, 131-160.

Vacation: The validity of proceedings to vacate a street should be tested by certiorari and not by an equitable action to restrain. McLachlan v. Gray, 105-259.

The general assembly has plenary power over streets and may vacate or discontinue the public easement in them and may invest municipal corporations with this authority. Ibid.

While the power to vacate is not arbitrary, and must be exercised only for some public purpose, yet in a proper case it is not unlawful for the city to vacate a street for the use of a railroad company for depot purposes. So held where a street was vacated for such purpose on conditions in behalf of the city imposed on the railroad company. Spitzer v. Runyan, 113-619.

When a city or town plat is filed the streets therein become county highways and on the termination of the corporate existence of the city or town pass completely under the control of the county board of supervisors. Chrisman v. Brandes, 112 N. W., 833.

The power to vacate a street is expressly conferred by statute, and when all property owners are affected alike by such vacation, though in different degrees, there is no ground on which to base a remedy. But in so far as the street is necessary to the free and convenient travel to and from the premises of a particular owner, his right to use the city property is an individual property right appurtenant to his premises which cannot be taken away without the payment of damages. Borghart v. Cedar Rapids, 126-313.

On the vacation of a street the title to the portion of land which has constituted such street does not revert in abutting owner, but remains in the city and may be disposed of for other purposes. And if a railroad company is permitted to use the land thus vacated the abutting owner has no action against a railroad company for damages for obstruction of the street. Harrington v. Iowa Cent. R. Co., 126-389.

Upon vacation of a street the title thereto does not revert in the original dedicator, nor in the grantee of abutting lots. Lake City v. Fulkerson, 122-569.

As to vacation of a street by act of the owner in vacating a plat, see notes to § 919.

Improvements: A city whose finances will admit of doing so may pay for street improvements out of the general fund, or it may guarantee such payment. Ottumwa Brick & Const. Co. v. Ainley, 109-386.

The right to construct sewers to carry off the surface water and filth is usually regarded as incident to the power of maintaining the streets, but there is no provision for the construction of sewers through private property within incorporated towns, though the power to condemn for this purpose is conferred upon cities. Alldrich v. Paine, 106-461.

The insertion in a contract for street paving of a stipulation that it shall be kept in repair for a specified period is not invalid as in violation of the provision that repairs shall be paid out of the general fund. Allen v. Davenport, 107-90.

Any power attempted to be exercised with reference to street improvements under the provisions of this section must be exercised by means of a general ordinance for no provision is made by statute as to the method of exercising that power.

But so far as the power is conferred in chapter 7 of the Code the method is specifically prescribed and no ordinance is necessary. Martin v. Oskaloosa, 126-680.

The legislature has imposed on the city council the power of determining how the cost of street improvements shall be met and for this purpose a resolution is sufficient. Shelby v. Burlington, 125-343.

In the exercise of its power to improve the streets a city may excavate the street to its full width without being liable in damages to an abutting property owner for depriving his property of its lateral support. Talcott v. Des Moines, 109 N. W. 311.

SEC. 753. Supervision—repair.

Supervision: The statute of limitations will not run to defeat the city in the exercise of its governmental authority with reference to streets. Chicago, R. I. & P. R. Co. v. Council Bluffs, 109-425.

The power given to cities and towns to control their streets, contract for their improvement, and regulate their use, is a legislative power, and the burden is not cast upon the city to show that its exercise of such power is reasonable. The presumption is in favor of its reasonableness. Snouffer v. Cedar Rapids & M. C. R. Co., 118-287.

As a city has authority to care for its streets, keep them free from rubbish and prohibit stone or other material being thrown thereon, it may provide by ordinance for the punishment of persons who negligently allow stones to fall and remain upon the street, and one who, in violation of such ordinance, allows stones to fall from wagons used in transporting them, and to remain on the street an unnecessary length of time, may be liable in damages to one who is injured by reason of running into such obstruction. Overhouser v. American Cereal Co., 118-417.

A municipality has the power to provide for the sprinkling of its streets, and for payment of the costs thereof, out of the general fund; and no ordinance nor resolution to authorize such service is necessary. McAllen v. Hamblin, 129-329.

The use of water procured at the public expense for such purpose is authorized. Ibid.

Such service is in the nature of a public and not a private benefit. Ibid.

Use of streets other than for travel: There is no statutory authority for granting to individuals the right to the use of city streets for private purposes, and the city is not estopped from the use or improvement of the streets for public purposes by reason of a privilege given to an abutting owner to construct and maintain a private drain in such streets. Bennett v. Mt. Vernon, 124-537.

Cities and towns are required to keep all streets and public places within their limits, and which are open for public use, free from dangerous obstructions and pitfalls, and in a condition of reasonable repair; and this requirement is broad enough to cover not only the purposes of public travel, but any use to which the street may be subject not in itself violative of any established rule of law and hence improper and illegal. Nocks v. Whiting, 126-405.

Therefore, held that the owner of a horse which has escaped from his control may recover for injuries to the animal caused by a defect in the street. Ibid.

While streets and alleys may be devoted to other purposes than public travel, yet such use is the paramount object in maintaining and establishing them and all other uses must be subordinated thereto. Young v. Rothrock, 121-588.

The abutting owner is not necessarily guilty of obstructing the street so as to constitute a nuisance rendering him liable in damages by placing a wire around the parking along the sidewalk. Snyder v. Ward, 125-146.

The public right to the use of the street goes to the full width and extends indefinitely upward and downward, so far as to prohibit encroachment upon said limits by any persons, by any means by which the enjoyment of the public right is or may be in any manner hindered or obstructed, or made inconvenient or dangerous. Wheeler v. Ft. Dodge, 131-566.

Therefore, held that the act of the city in permitting a wire to be stretched above the street on which a dangerous performance was to be carried on was unlawful, and rendered the city liable for an injury to a person in the street resulting from such attempted performance. Ibid.

A court of equity has jurisdiction to enquire into the reasonableness of the exercise of power on the part of a city in regulating the obstruction of streets by railway trains. The control of the streets by the city is in the exercise of a trust for the general public and it may not by ordinance or otherwise destroy or unnecessarily or unreasonably abridge the right of the public to the free and unobstructed use of the streets. Gilcrest Co. v. Des Moines, 128-49.

The statutory provisions authorizing the construction of street railways over the streets of a city leaves in the general public the right of unrestricted use of the entire street from curb to curb, subject to the right of the company to the proper use of its track. Snouffer v. Cedar Rapids & M. C. R. Co., 118-287.

The right of a street railway company in the streets is subordinate to the power of the city to control and improve such streets, and this power of the city cannot be abrogated by ordinance or relinquished by contract. Ibid.

Trees in street: The lot owner has a property interest in the shade trees standing in the street in front of his lot, and if they are so located as not to be an obstruction to the proper use of the roadway or sidewalk, the city may not arbitrarily destroy or remove them. If, however, the city duly adopts a plan for the improvement of the street by grading or otherwise which necessarily requires the destruction of the trees, their removal and the prosecution of such work affords no cause of action to the lot owner. Kemp v. Des Moines, 125-640.

The city does not lose control of its streets by consent to or acquiescence in the planting of trees by an abutting owner within the limits of the street, and if such trees become an obstruction to public travel or interfere with proper street improvements, they may be removed, but even where the right to remove exists, it must be exercised reasonably and not to the injury of trees further than may be necessary. Gallaher v. Jefferson, 125-324.

Trees in a street are not necessarily a nuisance where they do not obstruct travel, and it is in accordance with public policy to preserve them, if practicable. A city or town should not require the removal of trees, nor the grading of a sidewalk so as to cause their destruction, unless necessary in the reasonable improvement of the street. Burget v. Greenfield, 120-432.

The interest of the property owner in the grading of a street in front of his premises and in the preservation of the trees growing there, so far as they do not constitute a nuisance, can be interfered with or affected only in the mode pointed out by statute and ordinances adopted in pursuance thereof. Ibid.

A property owner has such interest in the grade of his sidewalks and the preservation as against the improper action of the city as against the improper action of the council by injunction. Ibid.

Change of grade: The general control of the streets, which is vested in a municipal corporation, does not authorize it to change the grade otherwise than by ordinance. Caldwell v. Nashua, 122-179.

In grading streets the city may assume that the abutting owner will improve his property in conformity therewith and if no injury would have resulted had the abutting property been so improved there can be no recovery of damages on account of surface water flowing over the premises. But the fact that abutting property is brought to the level with the street at the lot line only does not prevent the owner from recovering damages for surface water thrown upon his land by an improper obstruction in the street. Monarch Mfg. Co. v. Omaha, C. B. & S. R. Co., 127-511.

As the corporation is given the right to grade its streets the rule as to liability for throwing surface water upon the premises of an adjoining owner to his damage is not applicable as between the city and the owner of the premises abutting upon the street. Keck v. Venghaus, 127-529.

Estoppel: Mere lapse of time without assertion of public right to land designated on a plat as intended for public purposes will not of itself estop a city from asserting the existence of the public right, but it may be taken into account in determining whether the right has been established by clear and unequivocal testimony. Mt. Vernon v. Young, 124-517.

The public right to the use and occupancy of streets and other lands dedicated to the public use may be lost by estoppel where the person claiming adversely to the public has made valuable improvements without objection on the part of the city. Sioux City v. Chicago & N. W. R. Co., 129-694.

Where a strip of land has been dedicated and accepted for a street, and occupied by the public as such, the act of the city in levying taxes thereon will not estop it from asserting its rights thereto as a street. Hanger v. Des Moines, 109-480.

While lapse of time or failure to assert a public right will not of itself estop a city from claiming the existence of a street or street line, it does afford good ground for insisting that before dispossessing a citizen of property over which he has long been exercising ownership the public right shall be established by evidence of a clear and unequivocal character. Eldora v. Edgington, 130-151.

Moreover, a city may abandon a portion of a street or by non-user forfeit its right thereto, and it may be foreclosed by agreement or acquiescence as to the true line. Ibid.

Further as to estoppel, see notes to section 917.

Liability for defects and obstructions: A city is not an insurer against all accidents on its streets, and is responsible only when it fails to use reasonable care to keep its streets in reasonably safe condition for public travel. But if it fails in this, and injury results, not due to want of ordinary care on the part of the person injured, the city is responsible. So held where an injury resulted by reason of a horse becoming unmanageable through fright, and throwing the vehicle over the edge of an embankment, which was not as wide as required by law. Harvey v. Clarinda, 111-528.

In such case it is for the jury to say whether the accident would have happened but for the defective condition of the street. Ibid.

A municipal corporation is liable for defects and obstructions in a street, left in its natural condition, which has been opened to public use. If used for the ordinary purposes of a street, it is the duty of the corporation to keep it in reasonably safe condition for that purpose. Lamb v. Cedar Rapids, 108-629.

Where the excavating of a street is done by a person with the knowledge of the city, it is liable for injuries resulting from a defective condition of the street due to such excavating. Keyes v. Cedar Falls, 107-509.

The city is liable for the unlawful grading of streets in front of the premises of a complaining owner, and where such grading was done by the street commissioner, with the knowledge of the council, held that authority of the officer to act would be presumed and his wrongful acts would be charged to the city. Brown v. Webster City, 115-511.

One who, without negligence on his part, is injured by stepping into a hole in the portion of the street used for a driveway, is entitled to recover if the city is negligent in that respect. Finnegan v. Sioux City, 112-232.

It is not contributory negligence to walk in the driveway. Ibid.

The street includes the bridges located therein. Sachs v. Sioux City, 109-224.

The mere fact of tearing up or obstructing a street even to the full width thereof, if done under the authority of the city, does not in itself constitute negligence. Stevens v. Citizens' Gas & Elec. Co., 132-597.

Cities being given the care of public highways, streets and alleys, and being required to keep the same in repair, and free from nuisance, a city is liable for injuries resulting from its negligence in failing to keep in repair a bridge which does not come within the description of a county bridge. Freeman v. Independence, 123-1.

It is negligence in the city to leave a ridge of dirt in the center of a traveled street such as to make it unsafe to drive thereon. Streeter v. Marshalltown, 123-449.

Although a street or part thereof may be abandoned by a city or town, nevertheless such city or town has no right to erect and maintain obstructions in such street, to the damage of a property owner, and will be liable in damages as a private individual would be. Pettit v. Grand Junction, 119-352.

If the city allows structures to remain in the street with the knowledge that they had been unlawfully placed there, and were dangerous, it renders itself liable to anyone receiving injuries by reason thereof. Farrell v. Dubupue, 129-447.

Ordinances of the city prohibiting such obstructions in the street are admissible in evidence to show that the action of those erecting such structures was unlawful and therefor negligent. Ibid.

A town is not liable for injury resulting to one passing along the street from negligence of a contractor in not barricading an opening made for purpose of building, unless the town authorities are charged with notice that the contractor has been negligent in failing to barricade such openings. Bender v. Minden, 124-685.

The authority to keep the streets free from nuisances carries with it the affirmative duty of obligation to keep and maintain the public ways in reasonably safe condition, or free from nuisances, and for violation of this duty an individual suffering injury therefrom may recover damages. Wheeler v. Ft. Dodge, 131-566.

Whether or not a given structure or performance in the street endangers the public safety is under ordinary circumstances a question for the jury. Ibid.

To render a city liable for injuries received on a sidewalk by reason of its negligence in maintaining the same, it is not necessary to show that the city has acquired perfect title to the street by dedication or otherwise. It is sufficient if that which is assumed to be a street is open and used as such and so recognized by the city, and the control over the same has been assumed and exercised by it. Kircher v. Larchwood, 120-578.

Although the city may be required to keep its streets in a reasonably safe condition only for travelers with horses, teams and carriages, and may be under no obligation to maintain them in safe condition for use by bicycle riders, nevertheless, if it permits obstructions in the street which cause injury to the rider of a bicycle, without negligence on his part, it will be liable therefor. Overhouser v. American Cereal Co., 118-417.

Use of sidewalks: An ordinance prohibiting the use on sidewalks of "all varieties of vehicles known by the general term 'bicycle,'" does not apply to tricycles. Wheeler v. Boone, 108-235.

Persons who have a right to ride on sidewalks in vehicles which may properly be used thereon may rely, as footmen may, on the sidewalks being in suitable condition for people to walk over, and have the same rights in case of injuries resulting from neglect. Ibid.

The city council may permit reasonable use of sidewalks by an abutting owner in obtaining access to all parts of their property by the construction of areas, cellar stairways and otherwise, but it has no authority to permit the use, by one property owner, of the street, so as to interfere with its reasonable use by another property owner, or to permit an obstruction of the reasonable use of the street or sidewalk by the public. Perry v. Castner, 124-136; S. C., 130-703.

Defective and obstructed sidewalks: The duty to keep sidewalks in repair being mandatory and not discretionary, the city is liable for injuries received by reason of the defective condition of a sidewalk due to the negligence of the city. Parmenter v. Marion, 113-297.

A platform projecting over the sidewalk from the second story of a building is not necessarily a nuisance, and held that the city was not liable for the wrongful act of the owner of such building in throwing a bale of hay from the platform to the street without proper care as to safety of persons who might be below. Ibid.

It cannot be said as a matter of law that a town is, because of the smallness of its population, not liable for defects in sidewalks. Graham v. Oxford, 105-705.

Where a sidewalk is constructed by a city not in accordance with a general plan or grade, but as a temporary expedient, it is liable for damages resulting from such plan of construction as renders it unsafe, and it is competent to show that it was so sloping as to be dangerous and also to show that it lacked appurtenances which were required to make it safe. Ford v. Des Moines, 106-94.

While it may be that the city will not be liable for defects in the sidewalk resulting from the adoption of a plan prepared by a competent engineer, and in accordance with which the work is done, yet it cannot make this defense where the plan of the sidewalk is left entirely to the direction or discretion of the city engineer. If the design is left to the whim or fancy of a single individual it cannot be said that the sidewalk is constructed to accordance with a plan, within the meaning of such rule. Hodges v. Waterloo, 109-444.

Where a sidewalk is built under the direction of the town officials and they assume jurisdiction thereof and it is used by the public, the town may be assumed to be liable for negligence in keeping it in repair, although it is not upon ground which has been lawfully dedicated to public use. Harrison v. Ayrshire, 123-528.

When the municipal corporation has allowed a sidewalk to be built for the use of the public, its duty is to see that it is kept in safe condition. Brown v. Chillicothe, 122-640.

A city is bound only to use reasonable diligence in making discovery of existing defects in sidewalks. Belken v. Iowa Falls, 122-430.

A city is not bound to do more than to keep its sidewalks in a reasonably safe condition for travel, and it is error to instruct the jury on the assumption that the walk was not in a reasonably safe condition where there is a conflict in evidence as to the city's negligence. Bauer v. Dubuque, 122-500.

When the municipality has exercised reasonable care to make and keep its sidewalks safe, it has discharged the duty of keeping them in a reasonably safe condition. Crandall v. Dubuque, 112 N. W. 555.

Where the petition in an action for injuries from a defective sidewalk sufficiently points out the location and nature of the defect, it is not necessary to specifically describe in detail the defect complained of. Brown v. Chillicothe, 122-640.

Negligence in allowing a ring and staple to remain near the edge of a sidewalk some considerable distance above the level of the street may constitute negligence, the injury being the result of the distance which a person tripped on such obstruction would fall rather than in the fact that a fall was likely to be occasioned by such obstruction. Schnee v. Dubuque, 122-459.

The liability of a city for an injury resulting from a trap door maintained in the sidewalk by an abutting property owner for access to the basement of his building is dependent upon knowledge on the part of the city, express or implied, that the trap was frequently left open without proper guards. Earl v. Cedar Rapids, 126-361.

It is immaterial in such case whether the person who falls into the trap does so while passing from street to the adjoining building or from the building to the street or whether the trap is only partly in the street and partly on the adjoining premises. Ibid.

An obstruction in the portion of the street set apart for a sidewalk and used for passing if negligently allowed to remain will render the city liable for resulting injury. Rea v. Sioux City, 127-615.

It cannot be said as a matter of law that an obstruction in a sidewalk or street crossing two inches high cannot be such defect, but upon the effects which may exist may be liable for injuries which it causes. The liability in such case does not necessarily depend upon the size of the defect, but upon the effects which may reasonably be apprehended from it upon persons who use the walk or crossing in a particular manner. Baxter v. Cedar Rapids, 103-599.

In an action to recover for injuries received by slipping on an approach from the street to the sidewalk, held that there was no evidence of negligence in the construction of the approach such as to warrant a recovery. Lush v. Parkersburg, 127-701.

Snow and ice: The fact that walks are made slippery by melting snow is a fact of common knowledge and should be taken into account by the city in constructing walks, especially those which have sloping surfaces and in consequence are liable to be dangerous when slippery. Ford v. Des Moines, 106-94.

A city is not relieved from liability for a defect in a sidewalk which causes an injury because of the icy condition of the walk which contributes to the accident. If the walk, by reason of its defective construction, or by reason of previous snow or ice thereon, which should not have been allowed to remain, is dangerous to pedestrians under the prevailing climatic conditions, then the city is liable. Hodges v. Waterloo, 109-444.

Even though the fall of a person on a sidewalk is caused in some part by snow thereon, if it is caused also in part by a dangerous slant in the walk the corporation may be liable. Sylvester v. Casey, 110-256.

Whether, under all the circumstances, it was negligence in the city not to anticipate the dangerous condition of a walk, due to water running thereon and freezing, and in not providing against such danger, is a question for the jury. Shumway v. Burlington, 108-424.

Municipal corporations are chargeable with negligence in permitting the accumulation of snow and ice in uneven and irregular masses upon the streets. Sankey v. Chicago, R. I. & P. R. Co., 118-39.

The mere fact that a sidewalk is dangerous because of the presence of snow and ice is not sufficient to establish negligence on the part of the city even though the snow and ice are not removed within a reasonable time. But if by reason of travel or the action of the elements the snow becomes ice and is allowed to remain in a dangerous condition, the city cannot escape liability by showing that the condition was caused by natural causes as by rain and sleet or sudden changes of weather. Templin v. Boone, 127-91.

If ice on a sidewalk is produced by artificial causes, such as the discharge of water from an eave-trough, and the city has notice thereof or should have had notice in the exercise of reasonable care, and there has been a reasonable time within which to remove it before the accident occurred, failure to do so constitutes negligence, rendering the city liable for resulting injuries. Hofacre v. Monticello, 128-239.

The city is only negligent with reference to snow or ice on the sidewalk when it has become rough and uneven by travel, and allowed to remain and freeze in that condition, so that one in the exercise of ordinary care cannot safely pass over it. The burden is on the plaintiff to prove that the injury was caused by such condition of the walk, due to defendant's neglect. Tobin v. Waterloo, 131-75.

The city is liable for injuries resulting from the slippery and uneven surface due to failure of the city to remove snow from the sidewalks within a reasonable time. Crandall v. Dubuque, 112 N. W. 555.

Proximate cause: A fall on a sidewalk which is in dangerous condition, but which results from dizziness to which the person is subject by reason of a previous fall chargeable to the negligence of the city in maintaining safe walks, is not to be considered as the proximate result of the previous injury. Watters v. Waterloo, 126-199.

Evidence of the defective condition of the sidewalk some distance from the place of the accident is admissible where it appears that the entire walk was out of repair and in a dangerous condition. Bailey v. Centerville, 108-20.

Where the question is whether a walk was defective, an ordinance of the city regulating the laying of walks, and passed prior to the construction of the walk in question, may be introduced in evidence as bearing on the question whether the walk as constructed was sufficient. Shumway v. Burlington, 108-424.

Evidence that a walk, as it existed at the time of the accident, has subsequently been taken out, may be introduced as showing how witnesses knew the condition of the walk, where it is not attempted thereby to prove an admission that the walk was defective. Frohs v. Dubuque, 109-219.

Evidence as to the original construction of a walk may be admissible to show, not that it was originally defective, but as bearing upon the question of notice to the city as to its condition. Ibid.

Evidence that another person tripped upon the same loose board a few days before the accident is admissible, where such evidence is not relied upon as substantive proof of the actionable defect, but to show the existence of this particular loose board prior to the injury, and the manner in which it was discovered by the witness. Ibid.

Where the city offers evidence tending to show that the sidewalk was in good repair before, at and after the time of the injury complained of, the plaintiff may prove that repairs have been made at and near the place in question after the accident. Parker v. Ottumwa, 113-649.

Evidence of subsequent repair of the defective walk by the city is competent as bearing upon the actual condition at the time of the accident and that it must have been in such condition for such length of time as to charge the city with notice. Patton v. Sanborn, 133-50.

An ordinance passed after the construction of a sidewalk is not to be considered in determining whether the sidewalk was constructed in a proper method. McCartney v. Washington, 124-382.

While evidence of subsequent changes or repairs is not admissible to show defective condition at the time of an injury, yet if such evidence is competent for any purpose it is not to be excluded on the ground that it is incompetent to show the negligence of the city. Achey v. Marion, 126-47.

Evidence as to the condition of the walk after the accident is admissible where by other evidence it is made to appear that the condition was practically the same when examined by the witnesses as when the accident occurred. Harrison v. Ayrshire, 123-528.

Where plaintiff contends that the entire walk was out of repair, testimony as to prior accidents happening on the same walk is admissible, although they appear not to have occurred at the same place on the walk. Yeager v. Spirit Lake, 115-593.

Evidence as to the condition of the walk, and repairs thereto prior to the time of the accident is admissible for the purpose of showing knowledge of its condition on the part of the city. Ibid.

In an action for personal injuries resulting from defect in the street, evidence of similar accidents at the same place is not admissible. Streeter v. Marshalltown, 123-449.

It is the duty of a city to exercise ordinary care to discover latent as well as apparent defects in a sidewalk. Anders v. West Union, 131-192.

But proof that upon tearing up a walk the stringers were found in a decayed condition, held not of itself sufficient to show negligence on the part of the city. Ibid.

Evidence considered as tending to show negligence of the city in the construction and maintenance of the walk causing injury to the plaintiff. Goucher v. Sioux City, 115-639.

For witnesses to state that a walk was defective is to announce a conclusion, and therefore such testimony is not admissible, but the witness may say that the walk was sound and in good condition, as it would be impossible to describe absence of defects which did not exist. Brooks v. Sioux City, 114-641.

Witnesses may testify as to the life and durability of timber and nails, such as were used in the walk. Patton v. Sanborn, 133-650.

Notice: Whether, in view of the continuous bad condition of a sidewalk, the city is chargeable with notice of defects therein, is for the jury. Bailey v. Centerville, 108-20.

Evidence in a particular case held sufficient to charge the town with notice of the defective condition of the sidewalk in question. Hoover v. Mapleton, 110-571.

Evidence in a particular case held sufficient to show knowledge by the city of the defective condition of the sidewalk. Beaver v. Eagle Grove, 116-485.

For the purpose of showing notice to the city, witnesses may testify as to their having tripped and fallen over the same defect in the sidewalk prior to the injury for which plaintiff seeks to recover. Wilberding v. Dubuque, 11-484.

Where a defect in original construction of the sidewalk is shown the city is conclusively presumed to have notice thereof. Evans v. Iowa City, 125-202.

Notice of the defective condition of a sidewalk generally is notice of a included particular defect. Ibid.

Constructive notice to the city of defective condition of a walk is not to be founded upon the condition of the particular plank causing the injury. The general condition at such point may be considered. Hoover v. Mapleton, 110-571.

Evidence of the condition of the sidewalk near the place of the defect which causes the accident is admissible for the purpose of showing whether the officers of the city should have discovered the defect in question in time to repair it before the accident. Spicer v. Webster City, 118-561.

Evidence as to the condition of the walk near the place where the injury was received is competent upon the question of knowledge on the part of the city as to the condition of the walk at the point of the accident, but it is competent for no other purpose, and if the defendant requests an instruction limiting the effect of such evidence it should be given. Kircher v. Larchwood, 120-578.

Evidence of the condition of the sidewalk prior to the time of plaintiff's injury is admissible as showing notice of the defective condition. Hofacre v. Monticello, 128-239.

In an action for injury caused by an accumulation of snow and ice upon a sidewalk, it is proper to show the icy condition of the walk at the place of the accident at other times as tending to charge the city with notice of the dangerous condition. Hanousek v. Marshalltown, 130-550.

Where the plaintiff in an action against the city for injuries received by reason of a defective sidewalk alleged knowledge on the part of the city of such defect, and there is a general denial of plaintiff's allegations, it is competent for the plaintiff to prove the condition of the sidewalk at or near the place of the injury, provided the dangerous and defective condition thus shown was reasonably observable by the officers of the city in the exercise of ordinary care, and had been in existence for such length of time as to charge the city with notice. Clark v. Cedar Rapids, 129-358.

In such action it is competent to prove the condition of the sidewalk at the place of the accident as it was found soon after the accident occurred, there being no indication of any substantial change in the condition. Ibid.

In an action to recover damages for injuries received by the falling of a structure permitted to be erected on the street, held that evidence of the dangerous construction of other structures of the same character was competent as tending to show notice to the city. Farell v. Dubuque, 129-447.

Declarations of the sidewalk inspector with reference to the dangerous condition of the sidewalk by reason of such structure held admissible as against the city. Ibid.

Evidence as to the general condition of the walk is properly admissible as tending to show knowledge on the part of the town of a defective condition. Harrison v. Ayrshire, 123-528.

Where the negligence charged consists in improper construction and maintenance and not in want of repair, the question whether the improper condition has existed for such length of time that the officers of the city in the exercise of reasonable diligence should have known thereof, is not involved. Achey v. Marion, 126-47.

A municipal corporation charged with the duty of maintaining its streets in reasonably safe condition for public use, is held to have notice of dangerous defects therein, and especially defects arising from natural wear and decay, whenever such condition has existed so long that, in the exercise of reasonable oversight and care by the officers of the municipality it should have been discovered and repaired. Smith v. Sioux City, 119-50.

Notice of defect in a sidewalk may be inferred from lapse of time and the character and location of the walk. The negligence of the city may consist in its not acquiring notice of defects in its walks. Padelford v. Eagle Grove, 117-616.

When a defect has existed for such a length of time that the officers of the city should have discovered the defect, if they had exercised ordinary care and diligence, then the law presumes notice to them, whether the defect has been reported to them or not, and whether they actually knew it or not. Wilberding v. Dubuque, 111-484.

Evidence that a defect apparent to observation has existed in a sidewalk for six months will warrant the jury in finding knowledge thereof by municipal authority. Brown v. Chillicothe, 122-640.

Service of notice on the owner of property to construct a permanent sidewalk may be shown in an action against the city to recover damages for injuries received from a defective sidewalk in front of the premises of such owner, as tending to show knowledge of the defective condition of the walk on the part of the city. Wilson v. Cedar Rapids, 123-10.

Contributory negligence: One who has full knowledge of a defect in a sidewalk and afterwards without necessity passes over the place where such defect exists without any precaution or excuse for want of precaution, is guilty of such contributory negligence with reference to a resulting injury as to defeat recovery. Barce v. Shenandoah, 106-426; Marshall v. Belle Plaine, 106-508.

It does not necessarily constitute contributory negligence to use a defective street, although the person using it has knowledge of the defect and there is another reasonably convenient way by which such person might reach his destination. Harvey v. Clarinda, 111-528.

It is not true that one who knows of a defect in a walk is necessarily guilty of negligence in attempting to pass over it. Much depends upon the character of the defect, the occasion for passing over it and the care used in doing so. If a person knows of a defect in a walk, but believes that it can be passed in safety with the exercise of ordinary care and is justified as a reasonably prudent man in holding that belief he is not negligent in attempting to pass over it in an ordinarily careful manner. Graham v. Oxford, 105-705.

One who knows a walk to be unsafe, and that it is imprudent to attempt to pass over it, is guilty of contributory negligence in attempting to do so, but knowledge of unsafe condition is not enough as matter of law to establish contributory negligence. Yeager v. Spirit Lake, 115-593.

It is error to charge that if plaintiff knew the walk to be unsafe he was required to use more than ordinary care in passing over it. Hoover v. Mapleton, 110-571.

In such case the court may leave it to the jury to say whether there was contributory negligence in passing over the walk, known to be dangerous, where it is shown that there was another and a convenient way by which the plaintiff might have proceeded to his destination. Ibid.

While in some cases the nature of the defect in the sidewalk may suggest that a person going upon the walk with knowledge of the defect will be deemed as matter of law guilty of contributory negligence, in general it must appear that the person using the walk regarded it as dangerous or considered it to be imprudent to go upon it at the time he did. Slyvester v. Casey, 110-256.

Intoxication does not in itself constitute contributory negligence on the part of a person injured on a sidewalk, unless the evidence shows that his intoxication in some way aided in bringing about the injury, or it appears that it was negligent for him to be on the walk in an intoxicated condition. Ibid.

It is not negligent for a person to pass over streets or sidewalks of a city at night. A person has the right to rely upon the assumption that the city has done its duty in keeping the streets in order. Keyes v. Cedar Falls, 107-509.

It is not negligence, as matter of law, for one to pass over a defective sidewalk. Whether or not it is imprudent for plaintiff to pass over a sidewalk in a defective condition is for the jury. Cox v. Des Moines, 111-646.

One who passes over a defective walk with reasonable care under the circumstances is not guilty of contributory negligence, although charged with knowledge that the walk is defective. Bailey v. Centerville, 115-271.

One who is injured in passing over a defective sidewalk is not guilty of contributory negligence if he exercised the care an ordinarily prudent person would exercise in passing over the walk. Rusch v. Dubuque, 116-402.

The fact that the person injured knew of the defect which caused the injury does not render his action in using the walk negligent if in view of the condition he used reasonable care. Van Camp v. Keokuk, 130-716.

The action of another in pushing by the person using the walk under such circumstances may constitute such diverting cause as to excuse failure to avoid the known defect. Ibid.

A pedestrian is not required to be on the lookout for hidden dangers in the street. He is only required to walk with his eyes open, observing his natural course in the usual way. Earl v. Cedar Rapids, 126-361.

A pedestrian is not as a matter of law required to inspect a walk before passing over it, but may assume that it is in repair, and the question whether he might have discovered the defect with ordinary attention to his own safety so as to have avoided the injury is for the jury. Machacek v. Hall, 131-412.

Mere knowledge of the condition of a walk on the part of a person injured will not, as matter of law, constitute contributory negligence in the use of such sidewalk. Sachra v. Manilla, 120-562.

Testimony on the part of plaintiff in an action to recover for injuries due to a defective sidewalk, that he knew the condition of the walk, and that it was dangerous, will not justify the taking of the case from the jury. The question of contributory negligence in such a case is one of fact. Carter v. Lineville, 117-532.

The mere knowledge of a pedestrian that a walk over which he assumes to pass is not safe is not sufficient alone to establish negligence on his part as a matter of law. Arnold v. Waterloo, 128-410.

One may go upon a dangerous and unsafe walk without being necessarily negligent in doing so unless he knew or should have known in the exercise of ordinary care for his own safety that it was imprudent for him to attempt to pass over the same. Templin v. Boone, 127-91.

It is not knowledge of a defect which renders a foot passenger negligent in attempting to use a defective sidewalk, but failure to use ordinary care in avoiding the defect either by taking another way or by passing around the defect or otherwise endeavoring to escape the danger incident thereto. Rea v. Sioux City, 127-615.

One is not guilty of contributory negligence as a matter of law in passing over a defective sidewalk, rather than taking another way, where the defect is not known to him. Considine v. Dubuque, 126-283.

The question of contributory negligence of a person injured by a defect in a street is usually one for the jury and if it appears by the uncontradicted testimony of the plaintiff that he did not know of an excavation in the street until he fell into it, he is not to be held guilty of contributory negligence in attempting to use the street, although there was another safe and convenient way. Bussell v. Ft. Dodge, 126-308.

To constitute contributory negligence in using a sidewalk known to be defective there must be not only knowledge of the defect, but also an appreciation of the danger reasonably to be apprehended therefrom, and if the person using the defective walk is justified in believing and does believe that by the exercise of ordinary care he can pass over it in safety and he does in fact exercise such care he cannot be charged with negligence. Evans v. Iowa City, 125-202.

If a defect in the walk known to the person using it does not render it so dangerous that he is necessarily guilty of contributory negligence in attempting to pass it in the exercise of due care, it is for the jury to say whether there is under the circumstances such contributory negligence as to defeat recovery for an injury resulting from such defect. Brown v. Chillicothe, 122-640.

The mere fact that a walk is in an unsafe condition will not preclude its use where there is no other convenient way for the passer to reach his destination. Houseman v. Belle Plaine, 124-510.

Knowledge of defects in a street is not alone sufficient to bar recovery for injuries received by reason thereof. It must also be shown that plaintiff knew it was imprudent to try to pass over the same and that there was another way comparatively safe which he might have taken to reach his destination. Hollingsworth v. Fort Dodge, 125-627.

One who steps into an opening in the street of which he has knowledge is guilty of contributory negligence, although for the moment he may have forgotten the existence of such opening. Bender v. Minden, 124-685.

If the walk is not so openly and visibly dangerous that no prudent person would attempt to make use of it the mere fact of using it does not constitute negligence per se. Crandall v. Dubuque, 112 N. W. 555.

Though a sidewalk is defective a traveler has the right to pass over it and if he does so it is usually for the jury to say whether in doing so he used due care. Cook v. Hedrick, 112 N. W. 157.

The person injured is competent to testify as to want of knowledge of the defective condition of the walk. Patton v. Sanborn, 133-650.

It is not negligence for one driving along a traveled street to cross from the right to the left side to avoid a rapidly approaching hosecart. Streeter v. Marshalltown, 123-449.

It is not contributory negligence on the part of one crossing the street to attempt to reach the sidewalk at a place other than a street crossing. Rea v. Sioux City, 127-615.

It is not negligence to cross a street in a diagonal direction and step upon a sidewalk at a place which is not a street crossing. Bell v. Clarion, 113-126; Bell v. Clarion, 115-357.

It is not contributory negligence to walk in the driveway. Finnegan v. Sioux City, 112-332.

A blind person making use of the streets or sidewalks of a city is not required to use a higher degree of care and caution than a person having full possession of his sense of sight, but the fact of his blindness is to be taken into account in determining whether he did or did not act with the care which a reasonably prudent man would ordinarily exercise when burdened by such infirmity. Hill v. Glenwood, 124-479.

Failure to anticipate an unusual danger in passing along a sidewalk does not constitute contributory negligence. Kaiser v. Hahn, 126-561.

One who relies upon defective sight as an excuse for failing to observe an obstruction from which an injury has resulted must show corresponding caution on account of such defective sight. Ibid.

The fact that an approach to the street, causing the injury to the plaintiff complained of, was similar to the approaches used generally in the city at the time of and long prior to the accident is admissible on the question whether the person injured had knowledge or should have had knowledge of the improper construction so as to be charged with contributory negligence in using such approach. Keim v. Ft. Dodge, 126-27.

So also it is competent to show that the corner at which the injury was received was not well lighted for the purpose of indicating a duty on the part of the plaintiff to exercise greater care. Ibid.

One passing along a sidewalk who steps over a foundation wall in process of construction adjoining the walk and falls into the excavation for the proposed building while trying to keep upon the walk, being misled by the darkness and the presence of obstructions, is not a trespasser in such sense that he cannot recover for injuries received on account of the obstructions in the walk which he is attempting to follow. Dodge v. Lamont, 130-721.

An instruction that a person in passing along a public street is required to use more caution and be more watchful when it is dark than in the day time may be proper, but will not be necessary under all circumstances. Baxter v. Cedar Rapids, 103-599.

Under the facts of a particular case, held, that the person injured by defect in a sidewalk had not been guilty of contributory negligence in failing to discover the defect. Ibid.

While the burden is on the plaintiff to negative want of due care, it is for the defendant to establish plaintiff's subsequent negligence respecting the consequences of the injury. Wissler v. Atlantic, 123-11.

SEC. 754. Regulation of conveyances and transportation.

The provision authorizing cities to regulate, license and tax vehicles kept for hire is not limited to those let out or rented, but includes conveyances used by the owner for conveying persons or property for hire. Des Moines v. Bolton, 128-108.

The city may graduate the scale of fees and exempt from license all vehicles, the ordinary use of which will not materially wear its streets or destroy the free use thereof. Ibid.

SEC. 756. Lighting.

The power being given to provide lights for streets necessarily implies power to purchase the light of others and enter into a contract for such service. Davenport Gas & Elec. Co. v. Davenport, 124-22.

years for the lighting of its streets, but it does not necessarily have power to fix the rate of compensation for a long period in advance.

Such a contract may be exclusive. Ibid.

The city may contract for a period of SEC. 757. Care, construction and repair of bridges.

A bridge is a part of the street in which it is situated. Sachs v. Sioux City, 109-224.

to keep in repair bridges and culverts within the city limits, which are not of such size as to constitute county bridges. Freeman v. Independence, 123-1.

A city is liable for negligence in failing

SEC. 758-a. Bridge tax—levy authorized. When the whole or any part of the cost of building or reconstruction of any bridge by a city of the first class shall be ordered paid from the city bridge fund, to be levied upon all the property within any such city, it shall have the power, after the completion of the work, by ordinance or resolution, to levy at any one time the whole or any part of the cost of such improvement upon all of the taxable property within such city and determine the whole percentage of tax necessary to pay the same, and the percentage to be paid each year, not exceeding two-thirds of the maximum annual limit of the tax such city may levy for a bridge fund, and the number of years, not exceeding twenty-five, given for the maturity of each installment thereof, but no part of such costs shall be levied against property owned by the city, county, state or the United States. Certificates of such levy shall be filed with the auditor of the county or counties in which said city is located, setting forth the amount or percentage and maturity of said tax, or each installment thereof, upon the assessed valuation of all the property in said city, certified as correct by the city clerk or auditor, and thereupon said tax shall be placed upon the tax lists of the proper county or counties. [32 G. A., ch. 36, § 1.]

SEC. 758-b. Bridge certificates or bonds. Any such city may anticipate the collection of taxes authorized to be levied for a city bridge fund and for that purpose may issue bridge certificates or bonds with interest coupons, and the provisions of chapter twelve (12), title five (5), of the code shall be operative as to such certificates, bonds and coupons in so far as they may be applicable. [32 G. A., ch. 36, § 2.]

SEC. 758-c. How paid. Said certificates, bonds and interest thereon shall be secured by said assessments and levies and shall be payable only out of the funds derived from such levies and pledged to the payment of the same, and no certificates or bonds shall be issued in excess of taxes authorized and levied to secure the payment of the same. It shall be the duty of such city to collect such funds, with interest thereon, and to hold the same separate and apart in trust for the payment of said certificates, bonds and interest and to apply the proceeds of said funds pledged for that purpose to the payment of said certificates, bonds and interest. [32 G. A., ch. 36, § 3.]

SEC. 759. Aiding county bridge.

Under these provisions aid may be given to a toll bridge. Pritchard v. Magoun, 109-364.

SEC. 760. Question submitted.

Prior to the adoption of the present Code it was not required that the ballots at a special election, such as here contemplated, should be in accordance with the Australian ballot law. Pritchard v. Magoun, 109-364.

Also held that notices of such election posted in hotels were posted in public places, as required by the statute. Ibid.

SEC. 766-a. Additional tax. That any city in this state which has voted aid to any company for the construction of a highway or combination bridge across any navigable boundary river of this state; a condition of which vote, or the granting or acceptance of such aid, was that the city should have the right to purchase such bridge from the company so aided, its successors or assigns; may, at any time after such taxes voted in aid are collected, vote an additional tax of not exceeding five per centum of the assessed value of the taxable property of such city for the purpose of securing the funds necessary to enable it to make such purchase. Such taxes shall be payable in such annual installments not less than ten as the electors may determine. [29 G. A., ch. 42, § 1.]

SEC. 766-b. Question submitted. The question of whether or not such additional taxes shall be voted shall be submitted to the electors of such city before the city elects to make such purchase and the submission thereof shall be governed in all respects by sections seven hundred sixty (760), seven hundred sixty-one (761), seven hundred sixty-two (762), seven hundred sixty-three (763) and seven hundred sixty-four (764) of the code so far as the same are applicable. [29 G. A., ch. 42, § 2.]

SEC. 766-c. Bonds or warrants—tolls. After such taxes are voted the city may issue its bonds, warrants or other certificates drawing such interest not exceeding six per cent per annum as the city council may determine, payable from such taxes as they are collected, and from no other source, and pledging them for their payment. Such taxes shall be used for no other purpose and such bonds, warrants or certificates shall not be sold for less than their par or face value with accrued interest. The city council shall fix the rate of tolls or charges for passing over the bridge, and such tolls shall be large enough to pay the interest upon the bonds, warrants or certificates issued for its purchase together with the expense of maintaining and operating it. [29 G. A., ch. 42, § 3.]

SEC. 766-d. Vote of tax in cities after annexation. In any case where aid has been extended and bridges erected in two separate cities and subsequent thereto, one of such cities has been annexed to the other, the electors residing in the territory which comprise either of the separate cities before annexation, may vote taxes upon the property in such territory for the purchase of such bridge, and the proceedings in such case shall be the same as in the preceding sections of this act provided, except that the petition to the city council shall be signed by a majority of the resident freehold taxpayers of the territory in which the vote is to be had, and the taxes, when voted and properly certified, shall be levied only upon the property in such territory. [29 G. A., ch. 42, § 4.]

SEC. 767. Railway tracks—street railways.

An ordinary use of the street by a railway operated by trolley wires carried upon poles set at the side of the street is not a new or additional burden upon the public easement in a street entitling the abutting property owner to additional damages even though he is the owner of the fee. Snyder v. Ft. Madison Street R. Co., 105-284.

A railroad company may acquire a right of way over private property and across streets of a city with its tracks in the occupation of such right of way without securing the consent of property owners, if in crossing the street it does not construct its line in front of abutting property. Morgan v. Des Moines Union R. Co., 113-561.

The owner of abutting property upon a street may recover damages against a railroad company for obstructing the street by an embankment, although the track is not laid on the street in front of such abutting property owner's premises. Dairy v. Iowa Cent. R. Co., 113-716.

The railroad track in the street for which damage must be paid to abutting property owners includes cuts, fills and other structures constituting the roadbed. Middleton v. Mason City, 127-433.

A city may condemn land for a public landing and grant a railway company a right of way over the same. Diamond Jo Line Steamers v. Davenport, 114-432.

Where land is dedicated to a city for public highway and other public purposes, the city may permit its use by a railway for the purpose of facilitating the business of such railway. Burlington Gas Light Co. v. Burlington, C. R. & N. R. Co., 165 U. S., 370.

The franchise to lay its tracks on the streets of a city having been granted to a street railway company, permission to lay such tracks on a street not already occupied may be granted by the city council by resolution. Thurston v. Huston, 123-157.

The right of a street railway under its franchise to occupy such streets as the council in the reasonable exercise of its discretion may designate is not inconsistent with the existence of another street railway system in the same city operating under another franchise. Ibid.

It is the duty of a street railway company to so construct and operate its railway as not to interfere unnecessarily with the right of abutting property owners to use and enjoy their property and it may be enjoined from maintaining a trolley pole in front of a dwelling house of plaintiff without necessity therefor in a manner to annoy him and injure and depreciate the value of his property. Snyder v. Fort Madison Street R. Co., 105-284.

While a city has authority to grant the use of the streets for railway purposes, and the power so granted carries with it the implied power to permit temporary and not unreasonable use thereof for standing trains, yet under this power the city may not entirely obstruct the public use of a street, nor permit such use as shall constitute a private nuisance, and a court of equity has jurisdiction to restrain the continuance of a public or private nuisance thus created. Gilcrest Co. v. Des Moines, 128-49.

The statutory provisions authorizing the construction of street railways over the streets of a city leaves in the general public the right of unrestricted use of the entire street from curb to curb, subject to the right of the company to the proper use of its track. Snouffer v. Cedar Rapids & M. C. R. Co., 118-287.

If, in reliance upon a valid ordinance, a street railway company, in good faith and without notice that the authority to lay its tracks in the streets of a city is to be modified or withdrawn, proceeds to act in reliance on such authority, the city cannot afterwards require the tracks to be removed, except upon the principle of fair indemnity. But the right of the railway company in the streets is subject to the general control of the city as to their reasonable use and improvement and this power of the city cannot be abrogated by ordinance or relinquished by control. Ibid.

A franchise granted to a street car company which was subsequently made exclusive for the term of thirty years, held in the absence of statutory or other limitation to be a perpetual franchise having been recognized by the city after the expiration of the thirty years' term, and therefore a contract which the city could not impair by ordering the company to remove its tracks from the streets. Des Moines City R. Co. v. Des Moines, 151 Fed. 854.

SEC. 768. Street car vestibules. On and after November 1, 1907, every person, partnership, company or corporation owning or operating a street railway in this state shall, from November first of each year to April first following, provide all cars, except trailers, used for the transportation of passengers, with vestibules inclosing the front platform on [at least] all sides, for the protection of employes operating such cars. Any violation of this section shall be punished by a fine of not less than fifty dollars nor more than one hundred dollars for each day said cars are operated in violation hereof. [32 G. A., ch. 37.]

SEC. 771. Repeal—assessment of damages. That section seven hundred seventy-one (771) of the code supplement is hereby repealed and the following enacted in lieu thereof:

“When a viaduct shall be by ordinance declared necessary for the safety and protection of the public, the council shall provide for appraising, assessing and determining the damages which may be caused to any property by reason of the construction of the same and its approaches. The proceedings for such purpose shall be the same as are provided in case of taking private property for works of internal improvement, and the damages assessed shall be paid by the city out of the general bridge fund, or in cities having a population of twelve thousand or over from any other fund or funds legally available therefor.” [32 G. A., ch. 38, § 1.]

SEC. 771-a. Repeal—viaduct fund. That section one (1) of chapter twenty-nine (29) of the acts of the thirtieth general assembly is hereby repealed and the following enacted in lieu thereof:

“In cities having a population of twelve thousand or over, where a viaduct is required to be constructed, and the plans therefor have been approved, and there are no available funds in the general bridge fund, or any fund or funds of said city which may be legally used for the payment of such damages, such city may levy an annual tax not exceeding two mills on the dollar for the purpose of creating a fund to be known as a “viaduct fund,” for the payment of damages caused to property by reason of the construction of such viaduct and approaches thereto.” [32 G. A., ch. 38, § 2.]

SEC. 773. Apportionment of cost—use of—compensation for—repairs. When two or more railroad companies own or operate separate lines of track to be crossed by a viaduct, the proportion thereof, and the approaches thereto to be constructed by each, or the cost to be borne by each, shall be determined by the council. The council shall fix a time and place where it will consider such matters and any objections that may be made to the construction of such viaduct and the approaches thereto. Not less than twenty days written notice of such hearing shall be given to the company or companies owning or operating the track or tracks over or under which it is proposed to construct such viaduct. Said notice may be served in the same manner and upon the same persons or officers as in the case of an original notice. Such cities shall have power to regulate the use of such viaducts and to authorize or forbid the use thereof by street railway companies and to require the payment of compensation for such use. After the completion thereof, any revenue derived therefrom by the crossing thereon of street railway lines shall constitute a special fund, and shall be applied in making repairs to such viaduct. One-half of all ordinary repairs to such viaduct or its approaches shall be paid out of such fund, or be borne by the city, and the remaining half by the railroad company; and if the track of more than one company is crossed, the costs of such repairs shall be borne by such companies in the same proportion as was the original cost of construction. [22 G. A., ch. 32, § 4.] [29 G. A., ch. 43, § 2.]

SEC. 774. Refusal to comply. If any railroad company neglects or refuses, for more than thirty days after such notice as may be prescribed by ordinance, to comply with the requirements of any ordinance passed under the provisions of this chapter, the city may enforce the construction, maintenance or repair of such viaduct and approaches by proceedings in mandamus and the court shall require the issues to be made up at the first term to which such action is brought and shall give the same precedence over other civil business. Refusals to comply with, or violations of, the orders of the court in such proceedings may be punished as contempts, by fine and imprisonment as provided in section two thousand one hundred and nineteen (2119) of the code; or the city may construct or repair the viaduct or approaches, or any portion thereof, which such railroad company was required to construct or maintain, and recover the cost thereof from such company. [22 G. A., ch. 32, § 6.] [29 G. A., ch. 43, § 3.]

SEC. 776. Granting franchise—question submitted. No franchise shall be granted, renewed or extended by any city or town for the use of its streets, highways, avenues, alleys or public places, for any of the purposes named in the preceding section, unless a majority of the legal electors voting thereon vote in favor of the same at a general or special election. The council may order the question of granting, renewal or extension of any such franchise submitted to a vote at a general election, or at one specially called for that purpose; or the mayor shall submit said question to such vote upon the petition of twenty-five property owners of each ward in a city, or fifty property owners in any incorporated town. Notice of such election shall be given in two newspapers published in said city or town, if there are two, if not, then in one, once each week for at least four consecutive weeks. But if no such newspaper is published within the limits of the corporation, then such notice may be given by posting thereof in three public places within the limits of said corporation, two of which places shall be the postoffice and the mayor's office of such city or town, and by publication for four consecutive weeks in a newspaper of general circulation in the county. The clerk shall prepare the ballots, and the proposition shall be submitted as provided for in the chapter on elections. The party applying for the franchise, or for a renewal or extension thereof, shall pay all expenses incurred in holding the election. [32 G. A., ch. 39.]

ried may be granted by the city council by resolution. Thurston v. Huston, 123-157.

SEC. 777. Temporary sidewalks. They shall have power to provide for the laying, relaying and repairing of temporary sidewalks upon any street, avenue, public ground, wharf, landing or market place within the limits of such city or town, at a cost not exceeding forty cents a linear foot, to prescribe a uniform width thereof, and to regulate the grade of the same, and to provide for the assessment of the cost thereof on the property in front of which the same shall be laid, in proportion to the special benefits conferred upon the property thereby and not in excess thereof, and the city or town clerk shall certify the amount of such assessment to the county auditor, and it shall be collected the same as other taxes. [C., '73, § 468.] [28 G. A., ch. 26, § 1.]

Where an ordinance provides for ordering the construction of temporary sidewalks at the expense of the abutting property owners upon resolutions of the council, a notice of such order and service of notice of the resolution is necessary before the assessment can be enforced. Haw- ley v. Fort Dodge, 103-573.

Where no permanent grade is established the council cannot require the construction of a temporary plank sidewalk above the natural surface so as to bring it on a line with improvements on the street. Hartrick v. Farmington, 108-31.

SEC. 777-a. Special charter cities. The provisions of this act are also made applicable to cities acting under special charters. [28 G. A., ch. 26, § 2.]

[Section 777-a is section 2 of chapter 26 of the acts of the 28 G. A. Section 1 of the same chapter amended section 777 of the code, by striking out the word "plank" in the second line of said section, and inserting the clause "in proportion to the special benefits conferred upon the property thereby and not in excess thereof" near the end of said section.]

SEC. 779. Permanent sidewalks—city clerk to certify assessment—special tax. They shall have power to provide for the construction, reconstruction and repair of permanent sidewalks upon any street, highway, avenue, public ground, wharf, landing or market place within the limits of such city or town; but the construction of permanent sidewalks shall not be made until the bed of the same shall have been graded so that, when completed, such sidewalks will be at the established grade; and to assess the cost thereof on the lots or parcels of land in front of which the same shall be constructed; and the city clerk shall certify the amount of such assessment to the county auditor, and it shall be collected the same as other taxes. But, in cities having a city collector or treasurer who collects city taxes, the city clerk shall certify the amount of such assessment to such collector or treasurer, and the same shall be collected as other city taxes. Towns shall have the power to make the street improvements provided for in chapter seven of this title, and pay for the same, or any part thereof, out of the general fund, or to assess, levy and collect special taxes for the cost, or any part thereof, against the abutting property, in the manner provided in the said chapter. But unless the owners of a majority of the linear feet of the property fronting on the improvements referred to in this section petition the council therefor, the same shall not be made unless three-fourths of all the members of the council shall by vote order the making thereof. [20 G. A., ch. 20, § 1; C., '73, § 466.] [28 G. A., ch. 27, § 1.]

In exercising the taxing power the city must pursue the manner pointed out in the statute, and if assessment is made for the reconstruction of a sidewalk, and not merely for repair, then it must be based upon petition of the owners of the majority of the frontage. Farraher v. Keokuk, 111-310.

An ordinance is essential to the right of the city to build permanent sidewalks or to require the same to be built. Gallagher v. Jefferson, 125-324.

An ordinance establishing the street grade is also an essential prerequisite to the work of excavating for a sidewalk. Ibid.

Where a city has undertaken to avail itself of the provisions of statute as to construction of permanent sidewalks, and has fixed in its general ordinance the mode of procedure, it is limited to the mode prescribed in the ordinance. And if a particular form of notice is specified before the construction of a permanent sidewalk can be required, such notice must be given. Burget v. Greenfield, 120-432.

It is not contemplated that a permanent sidewalk at grade shall be required until the city or town is prepared to bring the

SEC. 780. Repair of sidewalks.

Repairs without notice can be assessed to abutting property, but not the expense of reconstruction unless the provisions of

SEC. 782. Grades and grading.

Although the specific provision of § 465 of the Code of 1873 with reference to the street itself to grade and has graded the bed of the sidewalk. Ibid.

The council has no authority to establish a wholly artificial grade line, and then proceed to compel the construction of permanent sidewalks, not in accordance with this grade, but in accordance with some grade to be fixed upon by the council or its sidewalk committee, with the penalty that if the property owner does not comply with such direction he shall be compelled to construct his walk at the artificial grade, without regard to his own convenience or the public welfare. Ibid.

A city council may not only provide for the construction of permanent sidewalks, but, as a necessary incident thereto, for the time, place and manner of such construction, and when the work shall be done by the city, whether the cost thereof shall be paid from general funds or assessed upon abutting lots or parcels of land. But if the ordinance with reference thereto specifies the character of notice to be given to the property owner in case the costs are to be thus assessed, the giving of such notice is an essential prerequisite to the enforcement of the tax against the abutting property. Zalesky v. Cedar Rapids, 118-714.

the preceding section are complied with. Farraher v. Keokuk, 111-310.

power of a city to provide for the grading of a street only by resolution is omitted from this section, nevertheless the rights of holders of property abutting on streets are too important to permit cities and towns to establish and alter the grades of such streets without the certainty and publicity given by the passage of some ordinance or resolution with reference thereto. Eckert v. Walnut, 117-629.

The failure to adopt a resolution before proceeding with the work of grading a street amounts at best to nothing more than a failure to observe and comply with a matter of form incident to the proceedings to carry into effect a legal right of which the city was already in full enjoyment. No special damages arising out of the failure to adopt a resolution ordering the work done being alleged or proved, an abutting property owner cannot recover damages as against a city for proceeding with the work without such resolution. Wibur v. Ft. Dodge, 120-555.

No remedy exists at common law to recover damages for injury to abutting property caused by bringing streets into conformity with the established grade. Nor is there any such remedy under statute, unless improvements were made with reference to a previously established grade. Reilly v. Ft. Dodge, 118-633.

The fact that no resolution is passed before the grading is done will not entitle an abutting property owner to recover damages against the city. Ibid.

An ordinance establishing a street grade is an essential prerequisite to the work of excavating for the construction of a permanent sidewalk. Gallaher v. Jefferson, 125-324.

The establishment of a grade for the center of a street operates also as the establishment of the grade for that portion of the street designed to be occupied by sidewalks and parking. Ibid.

The establishment of a grade for a permanent sidewalk is included and implied in the establishment of a street grade. Gallaher v. Jefferson, 125-324.

The city is liable to an abutting property owner for damage to his property from cutting down a street on which no grade has been established. Millard v. Webster City, 113-220.

As a general rule a city is not liable for damages occasioned by the mere grading of a street, if this is done in a prudent manner, but the city will not be permitted to divert a large quantity of surface water from its natural course in another direction so as to flow on a lot owner's land in destructive quantities through a drain or channel. Hoffman v. Muscatine, 113-332.

Excavation in the street made in grading which allows the collection and standing of water may constitute such wrong on the part of the city as to sustain a judgment for damages. Howard v. Lamon, 124-348.

The street grade having been properly established, the grade of the curb line is to be fixed with reference to the street grade according to approved methods of construction. Shelby v. Burlington, 125-343.

Where an abutting property owner is damaged by the unlawful grading of a street the city is liable if the grading is done by its authority, and where done by the street commissioner, with knowledge of the city council, and without objection by the council, authority will be presumed. Brown v. Webster City, 115-511.

A city is liable for damages occasioned to an abutting property owner by cutting down the street in front of his premises except for the purpose of bringing the street to an established grade fixed by valid ordinance. Markham v. Anamosa, 122-689.

But the abutting owner does not acquire title by adverse possession to the land lying between his lot line and the edge of the sidewalk merely by occupancy and assertion of title and cannot therefore recover damages for the mere removal of the dirt between the lot line and the sidewalk. Ibid.

The fact that a city excavates the street to an established grade so that abutting property is deprived of its lateral support does not entitle the owner to compensation by way of damages. Talcott v. Des Moines, 109 N. W. 311.

SEC. 785. Change of grade—damages.

The grade of street cannot properly be changed except by an ordinance. Caldwell v. Nashua, 122-179.

The grade of a street can neither be established nor changed save by ordinance. The city can acquire no rights as against a property owner by virtue of a change of grade claimed to arise by implication only. Morton v. Burlington, 106-50.

That plaintiff's property was made more difficult of access, and that a retaining wall was rendered necessary and that certain shade trees in the street, not obstructing travel, were injured or destroyed, held elements of damage for which recovery could be had under this section. Richardson v. Webster City, 111-427.

Where the work was done by the street commissioner, extending over a period of about six weeks, and the city disposed of some of the dirt taken from the excavation, held that there was sufficient evidence prima facie to show that the change was by the authority of the city. Ibid.

A witness should not be asked to state how much less in value the premises were worth after the change than before. Ibid.

Mere adoption of an ordinance changing the grade gives no right of action to a property owner, and if the city proceeds to change the grade to some extent, without making the complete change necessary to conform the street to the established grade, the property owner can only recover damages resulting from such actual change. Buser v. Cedar Rapids, 115-683.

An abutting property owner is not entitled to recover damages until the change of grade is made effectual by change in the physical surface of the street; but his right of damages accrues when such actual change of grade is effected, although he has, between the time the change of grade is ordered and the time it is carried into execution voluntarily conformed his improvements to the paper grade. York v. Cedar Rapids, 130-453.

Where the physical change of grade is made in pursuance of one general plan of improvement, the damages to be paid to the abutting property owner are indivisible, and the cause of action therefor does not arise until the improvement has been completed. Foley v. Cedar Rapids, 133-64.

One who improves his property with reference to the natural grade of the street, which does not conform to the grade established by ordinance, cannot recover damages occasioned by the act of the city in bringing the street to the established grade. Farmer v. Cedar Rapids, 116-322.

If the land of the abutting owner is in fact benefited by the change of grade which improves the means of access to his property, that fact may be considered in fixing the amount of damages to be recovered for such change of grade. Morton v. Burlington, 106-50.

If a property owner makes improvements before the grade for a street is established, he cannot recover damages occasioned by the work of bringing the street to the grade as thereafter legally established. Wilbur v. Ft. Dodge, 120-555.

The fact that the work of bringing a street to the grade established by city ordinance is begun without the adoption of a resolution ordering the work, does not create a right of action, not otherwise existing, in favor of a property owner for damages resulting from the bringing of such street to grade. Ibid.

But the city may be liable for damages caused by the grading of a street, even though done in accordance with the provisions of ordinance, if thereby the natural drainage is destroyed and no adequate means are provided for the escape of surface water. Ibid.

So the city may be liable for injury to abutting property by grading work done in a street, for which no legal grade has been established by ordinance, as required by law. Ibid.

To entitle a lot owner to damages for change of grade, the improvements must have been erected in accordance with the previous grade of the street; but it is not essential that such improvements shall have been made at the grade if they have been made with respect to a convenient use of the street, and damages thereto resulting from a change of grade may be recovered, although when made they were in fact below the established grade. Stevens v. Cedar Rapids, 128-227.

The property owner cannot complain of the improvement of the street in accordance with an established street grade, and the council may determine the grade of the curb line with reference to such street grade according to approved methods of street construction. The property owner alone and not a general taxpayer may complain of an improper method of construction. Shelby v. Burlington, 125-343.

The city and the property owner may agree as to the damages to be awarded for change of grade, and a taxpayer has no occasion for complaint in the absence of fraud. Shelby v. Burlington, 125-343.

SEC. 788. Assessment.

[Attention is called to section 792-a, infra, and note following said section.]

SEC. 791-a. Objections. All objections to the cost of construction of permanent sidewalks, as provided by the code, against the lots or parcels of land in front of which the same are constructed and all objections to the prior proceedings, on account of errors, irregularities or inequalities, must be made in writing and filed with the city clerk prior to the date fixed for said assessment; and all objections not so made shall be deemed waived; except where fraud is shown. [30 G. A., ch. 30, § 1.]

SEC. 791-b. Tax—how paid. If the owner of any lot or parcel of land against which an assessment for permanent sidewalks is made shall, at the time of making said special assessment, promise and agree in writing, endorsed on a certificate, or in a separate agreement, that in consideration of having the right to pay his assessment in installments, he will not make any objection of illegality or irregularity as to the assessment or levy of such tax upon and against his property, and will pay said assessment, with interest thereon at such rate, not exceeding six per cent. per annum, as shall by ordinance, or resolution of the council be prescribed, such tax, so levied against the lot or parcel of land of such owner, shall be payable in seven equal installments, the first of which shall mature and be payable on the date of said assessment and the others, with interest on the whole amount unpaid, annually thereafter, at the same time and in the same manner as the March semiannual payment of ordinary taxes; but where no such promise and agreement in writing shall be made by the owner of any lot or parcel of land, then the whole of said assessment so levied upon and against the property of such owner, shall be assessed and collected as provided for in section seven hundred and seventy-nine (779) of the code and amendments thereto. All such taxes, with interest, shall become delinquent on the first day of March next after their maturity and shall bear same rate of interest, with same penalties as ordinary taxes. [30 G. A., ch. 30, § 2.]

SEC. 791-c. Certificates of levy—lien upon property. A certificate of levy of such special assessment, fixing the number of installments and the time when payable, certified as correct by the city clerk, shall be filed with the auditor of the county, or each of the counties in which the city is situated and thereupon said special assessment, as shown therein, shall be placed on the tax list of the proper county and said taxes and special assessment, with all interest and penalties thereon, shall become and remain a lien upon such lot or parcel of land until the same is paid; and said lien shall have precedence over all other liens, except ordinary taxes. [30 G. A., ch. 30, § 3.]

SEC. 791-d. Interest—rate. Each installment of any such special assessment shall bear interest from the date of the assessment, not to exceed six per cent. per annum, which shall become due and payable at the March semiannual payment of ordinary taxes. Upon the payment of any installment there shall be computed and collected the installment and interest on the whole assessment remaining unpaid up to the first day of April following. [30 G. A., ch. 30, § 4.]

SEC. 791-e. Payment of assessment, interest, costs and penalties. The owner of any property against which said special assessment is made and levied shall have the right to pay the same, or the unpaid installments thereof, with all interest up to the time of said payment, with any penalties and the cost of any proceedings for the sale of the property for such special assessment or installments. [30 G. A., ch. 30, § 5.]

SEC. 791-f. Tax sale. Property against which a special assessment has been levied for permanent sidewalks, may be sold for any sum of principal or interest due and delinquent at any regular or adjourned tax sale, in the same manner, with the same forfeitures, penalties and rights of redemption and certificates and deeds on such sales shall be made in the same manner and with like effect, as in case of sales for the non-payment of ordinary taxes. [30 G. A., ch. 30, § 6.]

SEC. 791-g. Sidewalk certificates. The council may provide, by ordinance or resolution, for the issuance of permanent sidewalk certificates in the same manner and to the same effect as street improvement and sewer certificates provided for in chapter eight (8) title five (V) of the code. [30 G. A., ch. 30, § 7.]

SEC. 791-h. Special charter cities. The provisions of this act shall apply to cities under special charter. [30 G. A., ch. 30, § 8.]

SEC. 791-i. Railroad right of way subject to special assessments. That the right of way of any railroad company fronting or abutting upon a street, highway, avenue, alley, public ground, wharf, landing or market place within the limits of any city or town shall be subject to special assessments for sidewalks and street improvements authorized to be made under the provisions of chapters six (6) and seven (7) title five (5) of the code and amendatory acts thereto the same as any land or lot therein, and any special assessment made against any railroad right of way under any of the provisions of said chapters six (6) and seven (7) title five (5) of the code shall be a debt due personally from the railroad company owning or leasing such right of way, and unless the same is paid by such railroad company as a special assessment it may be collected in the name of the city or town levying such assessment in any court having jurisdiction. [32 G. A., ch. 40, § 1.]

CHAPTER 7.

OF STREET IMPROVEMENTS, SEWERS AND SPECIAL ASSESSMENTS.

SECTION 792. Assessing costs of improvements.

The term "paved," as applied to streets, avenues and highways refers to the laying of some hard substance upon the earth so as to make a finished surface for travel, and does not apply to the re-flooring of a bridge. Cedar Rapids v. Cedar Rapids & Marion City R. Co., 108-406.

While permanent paving is not to be done until after the bed of the street shall have been brought so near to the grade as established by ordinance as that paving when fully completed shall bring the street fully up to the established grade, and the cost of grading is not to be assessed as part of the improvement; yet if the grade is established at such time as that the improvement may be made with reference thereto it is sufficient. Allen v. Davenport, 107-90.

The city has the power to make permanent improvements only where they are constructed upon the established grade. Otherwise no assessment for such improvements can be made on abutting property. Hubbell v. Bennett, 130-66.

The right of the municipality to levy special assessments depends on statutory enactment, and has no existence unless there be a valid statute conferring it. General authority to levy taxes for municipal purposes is not sufficient to confer the power, and the statute which does confer it is to be strictly construed in favor of the person against whom the assessment is levied. When express power is given, however, substantial compliance with the statute is all that is required. Chicago, R. I. & P. R. Co. v. Ottumwa, 112-300.

The whole theory of special assessments is based on the doctrine that the property against which they are levied derives some special benefit from the improvement. Ibid.

A mere easement is not a lot, nor a parcel of land, within the terms of this section, and therefore held that a railroad was not subject to special assessment for improvement of a street abutting its right of way. It would be otherwise as to property of the company used for warehouses, depots, or other like purposes. Ibid.

Where the validity of the assessment is conceded to depend upon a valid ordinance or resolution, the invalidity of the ordinance or resolution on account of irregularity in the method of adoption in an essential particular will defeat the assessment. Cook v. Independence, 133-582.

The statutory provisions as to the procedure in making special assessments are sufficiently definite without the aid of a resolution. Stutsman v. Burlington, 127-563.

The method of making the special assessments authorized in this section, being specifically pointed out in subsequent sections, no ordinance is necessary to enable the city to act in the exercise of that power. All that is essential is that the city take the steps provided by the statute. Martin v. Oskaloosa, 126-680.

Under prior statutes it has been held that a special assessment cannot be enforced against lots which do not abut upon the improvement. Smith v. Des Moines, 106-590.

A provision requiring the city council to ascertain the entire cost of the improvement, and what portion may be assessable on adjacent property, and to assess such portion as provided by law or ordinance, does not violate the Fourteenth Amendment to the federal constitution. Burlington Sav. Bank v. Clinton, 106 Fed. 269.

A conveyance which is but an artifice, and not effectual to transfer title will not relieve the property owner from liability for special assessments. Ransom v. Burlington, 111-77.

An assessment certificate becomes affected in the hands of a holder with the terms of the law and ordinances under which it is issued, and also with any agreement of the property owner made in pursuance of such ordinances, fixing the time of payment of the assessments. Talcott v. Noell, 107-470.

A city may by contract render itself liable on implied guaranty for the costs of an improvement in front of property, not subject to the assessment, or which is of such value that the lien of the tax thereon cannot be successfully enforced. Ottumwa Brick & Const. Co. v. Ainley, 109-386.

And where the city by reason of its own fault issues certificates for such costs which are invalid, it is liable to the contractor for the amount thereof. Fort Dodge Electric L. Co. v. Fort Dodge, 115-568.

The expense of paving in front of a court house square may be assessed against the county. Edwards & Walsh Const. Co. v. Jasper County, 117-365.

Under prior statutes authorizing collection of the assessment by equitable proceedings, held that the city might proceed in equity although the taxes had been certified to the county treasurer and the necessary steps had been taken for the sale of the property for the tax. Smith v. Des Moines, 106-590.

Where paving and the curbing are provided for in separate proceedings, it is not objectionable to levy the curbing tax before the paving is completed. Higman v. Sioux City, 129-291.

In a proposal for bids for macadamizing a street the expense of grading should not be included except in so far as grading is necessary merely to prepare the street for the improvement, and an assessment for the expense of macadamizing, which under the contract included the bringing of the street to grade, is void. Gallaher v. Garland, 126-206.

Where the vendor in a contract to convey had subsequently been assessed for street improvements which it was presumed had materially increased the value of his property, held that the contract to convey could not be specifically enforced as against him, and that in the action for specific enforcement the validity of the assessment which he had not contested but to which he had waived objection, could not be inquired into. King v. Raab, 123-632.

Where a re-assessment is proper the city council may no doubt be compelled to make it by proceeding by mandamus, but no such remedy is available to enforce an assessments of benefits where the contractor has not complied with his contract, and no assessment as provided by statute can therefore be made. Crawford v. Mason, 123-301.

The fact that street improvements have been paid for out of the general fund to which an abutting property owner has contributed, does not preclude the adoption of the plan of special assessments as to further improvements. Shelby v. Burlington, 125-343.

A city may provide for parking the center of a public street and require an abutting property owner to pay for the expense of a curb along such park. Downing v. Des Moines, 124-289.

Where power is given a city to provide for improvement of the streets it is ordinarily within the discretion of the council to determine when and where the work shall be done and to provide the plan thereof. Ibid.

It is not for the court to say whether the determination of a city to grade any particular street is reasonable or unreasonable, but it does have the power to say that the city must take reasonable care to do the work in a manner to avoid unnecessary injury to shade trees growing in front of a residence lot which do not obstruct the use of street or sidewalk. Kemp v. Des Moines, 125-640.

The authority of the city to grade its streets extends to the removal or destruction of trees which have been planted therein by an adjoining owner with the express or implied consent of the city, but the right should be exercised so as not to cause greater damage to the trees than necessary in the proper improvement of the street. Gallaher v. Jefferson, 125-324.

SEC. 792-a. Special assessment—rate. When any city or town council or board of public works levies any special assessment for any public improvement against any lot or tract of land, such special assessment shall be in proportion to the special benefits conferred upon the property thereby and not in excess of such benefits. Such assessment shall not exceed twenty-five per centum of the actual value of the lot or tract at the time of levy, and the last preceding assessment roll shall be taken as prima facie evidence of such value. [28 G. A., ch. 29, § 1.]

[By the title of the act (chapter 29, 28 G. A.), the act seems to have been intended as amendatory of chapters 7 and 8 of the code, only, while the wording of the above section would seem to include any special assessment for any public improvement.]

Prior to the enactment of this section it was held that the front foot rule of assessment without regard to benefits was not unconstitutional. Allen v. Davenport, 107-90.

The value of the lots as shown by the assessment roll is prima facie evidence of the value for the purpose of determining whether the assessment exceeds 25 per cent of the actual value. Baily v. Sioux City, 133-276.

The valuation of the lot for the purpose of determining the proportion of benefit should be confined to that portion subject to the assessment. Rawson v. Des Moines, 133-514.

In determining the benefits the council may consider the size, shape and location of the lot. Reed v. Cedar Rapids, 111 N. W. 1013.

The size of parcels of ground adjoining the street improved may be taken into account in determining the assessment to be made thereon for the improvement. Minneapolis & St. L. R. Co. v. Lindquist, 119-144.

In making permanent improvements, account may be taken, not only of present conditions, but also as to future benefits. Ibid.

The city council may act upon its own judgment regarding the value of property and the amount of benefit conferred, and in the absence of fraud its judgment is conclusive unless an appeal is taken therefrom. Owens v. Marion, 127-469.

The front foot rule of assessment for street improvements cannot equitably be applied where the property of the owner against whom it is sought to enforce such assessment is a strip of land practically useless and without market value. Iowa Pipe & Tile Co. v. Callanan, 125-358.

The abutting owner seeking relief in equity from assessment for street improvement is not bound to tender any specific sum as representing the benefits received, less than that for which he is assessed. Ibid.

This act was evidently passed to provide for assessments according to benefits as distinct from the front foot rule, but it did not operate to repeal the sections of the chapter relating to special charter cities on that subject. Diver v. Keokuk, 126-691.

The manner of assessing the expenses of the improvement is prescribed by statute, but what shall be taken into consideration in determining to what extent the property has been enhanced in value by the improvement must depend on the circumstances of each particular case. Everything else being equal the front foot rule is just in apportioning the cost among the several lot owners. Stutsman v. Burlington, 127-563.

Where it appears from the recital of the resolution by the council that the assessment is in proportion to the special benefits from the improvement as found by it, such recital is sufficient to show that the assessment is in accordance with the benefits. Higman v. Sioux City, 129-291.

SEC. 792-b. Deficiencies—how paid. If the special assessment which may be levied against any lot or tract of land shall be insufficient to pay the cost of the improvement, the deficiency shall be paid out of the general fund, or for sewers out of the sewer fund provided for in section eight hundred and thirty-one (831), or subdivision three (3) of section eight hundred and ninety-four (894), or section nine hundred and seventy-eight (978), or subdivision three (3) of section ten hundred and five (1005), or for other improvements out of the improvement fund provided for in section eight hundred and thirty (830), or subdivision two (2) of section eight hundred and ninety-four (894), or section nine hundred and seventy-seven (977), or subdivision two (2) of section ten hundred and five (1005) of the code, and acts amendatory thereof as the case may be. If there be property against which no special assessment can be levied the proportion of the cost of the improvement which might otherwise be assessed against such property shall be paid in like manner. [28 G. A., ch. 29, § 2.]

SEC. 792-c. What statutes govern. So far as applicable, sections eight hundred and twenty-one (821), eight hundred and twenty-two (822), eight hundred and twenty-three (823), eight hundred and twenty-four (824), eight hundred and twenty-nine (829), and eight hundred and thirty-nine (839) of the code shall govern all special assessments made in cities and towns unless otherwise specially provided. Upon appeal the court shall determine all questions, including that of benefits to the property assessed. [28 G. A., ch. 29, § 3.]

SEC. 792-d. Enforcement of certain statutes not affected. Nothing in this act shall be construed to interfere with the enforcement of the provisions of sections eight hundred and thirty-four (834) and eight hundred and thirty-five (835), of the code. [28 G. A., ch. 29, § 4.]

SEC. 792-e. Special charter cities. This act shall apply to cities acting under special charter. [28 G. A., ch. 29, § 5.]

SEC. 794. Sewers.

A sewer is usually closed but not necessarily so, and the term is usually applied to drains in a city, whether for water or filth or both; but there is no provision for the construction of sewers through private property within incorporated towns, though the power to condemn for this purpose is conferred on cities. Aldrich v. Paine, 106-461.

The authority of a board of supervisors under Code § 1939 to provide for the construction of ditches or drains within the county extends to cities and towns, and a county ditch may properly be constructed and the cost thereof assessed to abutting property through the limits of an incorporated town. Ibid.

A temporary gutter for surface drainage may be constructed in the street without the passage of a special ordinance authorizing it, and without compliance with the provisions as to sewers. Even if a resolution for such improvement should be necessary, the acceptance of the work by the city would be a ratification of the act of the street commissioner in constructing it without such resolution. If such drain or gutter is negligently constructed, one injured thereby may recover damages in an action, but is not entitled to have it abated as a nuisance. Cooper v. Cedar Rapids, 112-367.

The entire city may be made one sewer district, and the cost of constructing a sewer, which is beneficial to the entire city, may be provided for by a sewer tax on the entire real property within the limits of the city. Grunewald v. Cedar Rapids, 118-222.

Where an abutting property owner connected his cellar with a sewer, with knowledge that the sewer was not sufficient to carry off the surface water and sewage, due to extraordinary rains, held that he was not entitled to recover damages by reason of the insufficiency of the sewer for the purpose. Sheriff v. Oskaloosa, 120-442.

The city council, in attempting to contract for the city with reference to the construction of sewers beyond the limit of its powers, does not bind the city to the payment of the certificates issued in pursuance of such contract and there can be no recovery either on the certificates or upon quantum meruit. Citizens' Bank v. Spencer, 126-101.

The city having authority to provide for the construction of sewers has implied authority to borrow money for the purpose of constructing a plant for the disposition of sewage. Glucose Sugar Ref. Co. v. Marshalltown, 153 Fed. 620.

A sewer, though in itself properly constructed, may be so planted as to create a nuisance which may be abated. Rand Lumber Co. v. Burlington. 122-203.

SEC. 797. Changing water courses.

Where a city in the exercise of statutory authority has fixed the channel of a water course through which surface water flows, a property owner has no right by filling his lot and obstructing such channel to throw such surface water out of the course thus fixed. Waverly v. Page, 105-225.

The power to change a water course is not conferred on incorporated towns. Aldrich v. Paine, 106-461.

SEC. 799. Question submitted—special election. If the council on receiving the plans, specifications, and estimate of the expenses to be incurred, referred to in the last preceding section, shall still be of the opinion that the work should be done as proposed, it shall call a special election of the entire city or of any sewer district thereof in which the proposed work is to be done to finally determine the same question, and also the question of levying a special tax upon the property of the city or such sewer district, in addition to all other taxes now provided for by law, for that purpose. If the council shall determine that the estimated cost is greater than should be levied and collected in a single year, it may fix the yearly proportion, and determine in what years the same shall be levied and collected, and provide by ordinance or resolution the time of submitting the question to a vote. [23 G. A., ch. 6, § 3.] [28 G. A., ch. 28, § 1.]

SEC. 801. Damages assessed. After the plat and notes of the survey are made and filed, the council shall appoint five commissioners, resident freeholders of the city, not interested in any property abutting on said stream, who shall be sworn faithfully and impartially to perform the duties that may be required of them, either by this chapter or any ordinance passed in pursuance hereof, who shall determine what lot, lots or lands abutting on said stream will be benefited or damaged by doing the work, the amount of benefit or damages which will accrue to or be sustained by each and every lot, lots or lands, and the owners thereof, and make report in writing of their findings. In determining any question as to whether benefits accrue to or damages are sustained by such lot, lots or lands, or the owners thereof, the said commissioners shall consider the amount of land reclaimed or lost, the expense that will be incurred by the owners thereof in doing said work, and the advantages accruing from the removal of the easement of said water course, and any other matter that they may think proper to be considered for such purpose, but no damages shall be awarded for the cost of filling said channel. The commissioners shall give notice of the time and place of their meetings to determine what lot, lots and lands are benefited or damaged, by publication thereof at least five days successively prior thereto, in some newspaper of general circulation in said city; and, for the purpose of enabling them to determine the fact of benefit or damage, may take any competent evidence which the owner of any property affected may see fit to offer. The findings of the commissioners shall be returned to the council, and it may approve, reject or modify the same. Notice of the hearing before the council, upon the report so made, shall be given by publication in a newspaper of general circulation in the city for five successive days, which last publication shall be ten days before such hearing, and if, after this hearing, it shall conclude to reject the report, it shall resubmit the matter to other commissioners, who shall proceed as in the first instance. If the council shall approve or modify this second finding, it shall proceed to assess the amount of benefits so found against said abutting lot, lots or lands, and the channel to be filled or reclaimed. Any person aggrieved by the action of the council in making said assessment may appeal therefrom to the district court of the county in which it is made, within twenty days from the date of the assessment, and also have the right to review the action of the council in said court in the manner now provided by law. In the event that there is no daily newspaper published in the city or town then the notices provided for by section eight hundred one (801) of the code may be given by one publication thereof in a weekly newspaper of general circulation published in such city or town. Such publication to be made at least five, and not exceeding ten, days prior to the hearing or meeting referred to in said section. [26 G. A., ch. 6, § 5.] [31 G. A., ch. 25.]

It is immaterial that the assessment names the property upon which it is assessed as belonging to an owner deceased. Smith v. Des Moines, 106-590.

SEC. 810. Street improvements and sewers—preliminary notice.

Establishment of the grade prior to the resolution providing for the improvement is not jurisdictional, and if the grade is established at such time that the improvement may be made with reference thereto it is sufficient. Allen v. Davenport, 107-90.

While cost of grading cannot be assessed as part of the street improvement, yet a reasonable amount of excavating in order to prepare the surface of the street for the finished improvement may be charged as part of the cost of paving. Ibid.

Failure of the notice to correspond with the ordinances and resolutions is such a defect as to vitiate the assessment. Gal-laher v. Garland, 126-206.

The published notice in a particular case held sufficient. Arnold v. Ft. Dodge, 111-152.

The statutory provisions as to special assessments must be strictly complied with. Unless the preliminary notice is given as required the council acquires no jurisdiction to act. Reed v. Cedar Rapids, 111 N. W. 1013.

The council may select for street improvement a patented article or process without rendering the assessment void. Saunders v. Iowa City, 111 N. W. 529.

SEC. 811. Resolution.

No particular form of expression is necessary in the resolution ordering the street improvement. If it indicates that the improvement is to be made in accordance with the resolution, of necessity that is sufficient. Stutsman v. Burlington, 127-563.

SEC. 812. Contract.

A valid contract in compliance with the provisions of the statute is a jurisdictional prerequisite to the exercise by the city of the power to make a special assessment on abutting property for the cost of paving. Allen v. Davenport, 132 Fed. 209.

The acceptance of curbing under a contract is vitiated by proof of fraud of the contractor in not using the amount of cement required by the contract, whereby the work done is inferior to that contracted for, and such fraud will not be waived by the action of the city authorities in accepting the curbing. Mason v. Des Moines, 108-658.

The fact that the contract for the work requires that all the laborers employed shall be citizens of the city does not constitute such invalidity as to defeat recovery by the contractor after the work has been performed and accepted. Edwards & Walsh Const. Co. v. Jasper County, 117-365.

In an action by a contractor to recover the reasonable value of the improvements made under a contract which is void, he is entitled to the cost of the material and labor. Davenport v. Allen, 120 Fed. 172.

The city's right of action against the property owner for money thus paid to the contractor commences to run at the time such payment is made. Ibid.

Under the terms of a particular contract for laying brick paving, held that nothing but a final acceptance of the completed work would constitute a waiver of the conditions of the contract as to the material used, and therefore a failure to object during the progress of the work would not be presumed to be an approval thereof. Atkinson v. Davenport, 117-687.

A stipulation in the contract providing for the maintenance of the improvement in good condition for the term of five years, held not to invalidate the contract, as it was in the nature of a guaranty and not an independent contract for repairing. Osborn v. Lyon, 104-160.

The fact that property owners knew that the improvements in question were being made and did not object thereto, held, not to constitute an estoppel against them to question the validity of the contract, it not appearing that they had knowledge of the defects therein. Ibid.

The contract may properly provide for such grading and filling as is necessary to form the subgrade for the pavement. McCain v. Des Moines, 128-331.

In a particular case, held that there was such failure to comply with the specifications of the contract that the special assessment was invalid. McCain v. Des Moines, 128-331.

A contract for a street improvement is not necessarily invalid because it requires the contractor to keep the improvement in repair for a specified period. Diver v. Keokuk, 126-691.

Provisions of the contract not authorized by statute cannot be complained of after the work has been completed by a property owner, who has made no objection in the method pointed out by statute. Ibid.

Where the city assumes liability to the contractor for the cost of street improvements such liability becomes indebtedness within the constitutional limitation; and the contract will be invalid if the indebtedness thus incurred is in excess of the constitutional limit. Allen v. Davenport, 107-90.

SEC. 813. Bids.

Under statutory provisions requiring improvements to be made by bids advertised for by the board of public works upon plans and specifications furnished by the city engineer, the plans and specifications may be sufficient, although they are not as full and complete as they might possibly be made. Jenney v. Des Moines, 103-347.

Where the publication of the notice for bids did not state at what time the bids would be acted on and when the work should be done and the contract as let fixed a different date for the completion of the work from that referred to in the ordinance under which the improvement was to be made, held that the contract was invalid. The statutory provisions as to the method of letting such contracts are mandatory. Osburn v. Lyons, 104-160.

Where a notice for bids for street improvements did not specify when the work should be done nor at what time the proposals would be acted upon, held, that it was insufficient and the assessments made for such improvements were invalid. Polk v. McCartney, 104-567.

Where the notice is defective in not corresponding with the ordinance and resolutions, the acceptance of bids in pursuance of such notice does not furnish a sufficient basis for an assessment. Gallaher v. Garland, 126-206.

The requirement that notice of the letting be given "for at least ten days by two publications" means two publications, the last of which is at least ten days before the date specified. Comstock v. Eagle Grove, 133-589.

The contract is not invalid because it requires specifically the doing of acts of construction, implied but not expressed in the notice, or work for which no charge is made. Comstock v. Eagle Grove, 133-589.

The fact that the council selects for the paving a patented article or process does not render the contract invalid. Saunders v. Iowa City, 111 N. W., 529.

SEC. 814. Contractor's bond to repair. All contracts for the making or reconstruction of street improvements or sewers may contain a provision obligating the contractor and his bondsmen to keep such improvement or sewer in good repair for not less than one year after the acceptance of the same by the city, and the bond shall be so conditioned as to conform to such contract. [27 G. A., ch. 24, § 1.]

SEC. 816. Lien of tax.

Under 25 G. A., chap. 7, sec. 12, which provided that the assessment should be a lien upon the property abutting upon the street on which the improvement was made, it was held that the cost of street improvements could not be assessed upon a lot not abutting upon the street, no matter how nearly adjoining it might be. Smith v. Des Moines, 106-590.

The liens of special assessments take priority in order of time. Des Moines Brick Mfg. Co. v. Smith, 108-307.

A conveyance which is but an artifice and not effectual to transfer title will not relieve the property owner from liability for special assessments. Ransom v. Burlington, 111-77.

A special assessment for the construction of a sidewalk becomes a lien on abutting property only upon the filing with the county auditor of a copy of the record of the city council directing a construction of the walk. Cemansky v. Fitch, 121-186.

SEC. 818. Cost of improvements—how paid.

The provisions of this section, authorizing apportionment of the cost on abutting lots, according to their frontage, is not unconstitutional. Hackworth v. Ottumwa, 114-467.

SEC. 820. Assessments of cost.

Permanent street improvements for which assessment can be made upon abutting property can be provided for only at the established grade. Improvements otherwise than at the established grade are temporary only, and assessments therefor cannot be made on property owners. Hubbell v. Bennett, 130-66.

Property owners cannot be heard to complain of a part of the assessment without tendering payment of the portion of the assessment which is valid. Allen v. Davenport, 107-90.

It is not until the completion of the work that the council is required to determine the cost and authorized to assess such cost upon abutting property. It is not contemplated that the assessment be made for the estimated cost. Sanborn v. Mason City, 114-189.

Statutes authorizing special assessments for improvements must be strictly construed, and when any of their substantial requirements are departed from, the proceeding is void. Gill v. Patton, 118-88.

If the city acts in excess of its authority in assessing abutting property for street improvements, such void assessments may be enjoined. Hubbell v. Bennett, 130-66.

The cost of collection should not be made a part of the assessment. Higman v. Sioux City, 129-291.

To render special assessments when certified to the county auditor a lien upon the property must have been assessed in strict conformity to the statute. Fitzgerald v. Sioux City, 125-396.

SEC. 821. Plat and schedule.

The provisions of this section require that the city council shall cause to be made and file for public inspection a plat of the land on which it is proposed to levy a special assessment, showing the street lots or parcels of ground subject to assessment for the improvement. It is therefore improper to assess platted lots collectively or in pairs. Gill v. Patton, 118-88.

The lots or parcels of land to be charged with the special assessment are to be assessed separately and not several together. Stutsman v. Burlington, 127-563.

Only that portion of a lot which is subject to assessment should be considered in determining the valuation as limiting the amount for which it may be assessed. Rawson v. Des Moines, 133-514.

SEC. 823. Notice of assessment. After filing the plat and schedule, the council shall give notice by two publications in each of two newspapers published in the city, if there be that number, otherwise in one, and by hand-bills posted in conspicuous places along the line of such street improvement or sewer, that said plat and schedule are on file in the office of the clerk, and that within twenty days after the first publication all objections thereto, or to the prior proceedings, on account of errors, irregularities or inequalities, must be made in writing and filed with the clerk; and the council, having heard such objections and made the necessary corrections, shall then make the special assessments as shown in said plat and schedule, as corrected and approved. [25 G. A., ch. 7, §§ 11, 18; 22 G. A., ch. 5, § 6; 22 G. A., ch. 6, § 5; 21 G. A., ch. 168, §§ 11, 19.] [29 G. A., ch. 44, § 1.]

If the property owner has notice and an opportunity to be heard before the assessment attaches and becomes a lien upon his property, this is all the law requires. Arnold v. Ft. Dodge, 111-152.

A property owner who has had notice during the progress of the work of the grade adopted, and in accordance with whose request the grade has been modified, cannot afterwards complain that the improvement is not in accordance with the established grade. Ibid.

Proof of the posting of notice may be made by parol evidence. Owens v. Marion, 127-469.

A record of the special assessment resolution reciting the posting of notices as required by law is sufficient to establish such fact. Ibid.

Objections to the form of notice must be made under the provisions of Code § 824. A defect as to the form will not render the proceedings void. Ibid.

Although by 28 G. A., chap. 29, the provisions of this section as to notice of special assessments are made applicable to cities under special charters, nevertheless, Code § 971 on the same subject in the chapter relating to special chartered cities is not thereby repealed. Diver v. Keokuk, 126-691.

Under prior statutory provisions held that a mere mistake in name of the owner to whom notice was directed would not invalidate the assessment. Chicago, R. I. & P. R. Co. v. Ottumwa, 112-300.

SEC. 824. Objections.

One who, having proper notice of a special assessment, fails to resort to the statutory remedy for the purpose of correcting error in such assessment, cannot have relief in equity. Minneapolis & St. L. R. Co. v. Lindquist, 119-144.

The legislature having provided a tribunal for the determination of all controversies growing out of special assessments, a party complaining of such assessment must resort to that tribunal for the correction of all errors, irregularities or inequalities in the assessment itself or in any of the prior proceedings or notices, in the absence of fraud or of such a showing as deprives the tribunal of the right to act. Without resorting to such tribunal the property owner cannot complain of a defective notice. Owens v. Marion, 127-469.

Failure to appear before the city council and object to the making of a contract for improvements does not waive the right to enjoin a special assessment if defects in the proceedings are such as to render the assessment void. Gallaher v. Garland, 126-206.

The property owner is not bound to make any tender for benefits received in resisting the enforcement of a special assessment which is void. Ibid.

Complaints as to irregularities in the assessment of benefits as against a street railway company must be made before the city council, and must be specific as to the objection insisted upon. Marshalltown Light P. & R. Co. v. Marshalltown, 127-637.

Defects in the contract rendering it

SEC. 825. Levy of assessment—installments.

Under the provision by which the owner of the property may by waiving objections to assessments have the right to pay in installments, a lessee is not such owner as to be entitled to file a waiver and thus make the assessment payable in installments. So held where a tenant under obligation to pay all taxes and assessments imposed on the property during the term of the lease attempted by signing a waiver to make the assessment payable in installments and thus escape liability for installments which would under such arrangements not become payable during his term. Vorse v. Des Moines Marble & Mantel Co., 104-541.

The certifying of the assessment to the auditor is not a duty enjoined, but a right conferred, and its exercise is discretionary. Talcott v. Noell, 107-470.

A resolution or ordinance making a special assessment may be proven by parol evidence. Edwards & Walsh Const. Co. v. Jasper County, 117-365.

The council has no authority to include the expense of collecting the special assessment in the assessment itself which is levied on the property. Higman v. Sioux City, 129-291.

Where the vendor in a contract to convey had been subjected to special assessments which it was presumed had materi-avoidable and not void must be taken advantage of by a property owner by filing objections. No objection having been interposed until the work is performed, the property owner cannot complain. Diver v. Keokuk, 126-691.

The errors and irregularities which are cured by failure to make objection as specified in the statute are such as the council might cure if attention were called thereto. Jurisdictional defects in the proceedings are not thus cured. Comstock v. Eagle Grove, 133-589.

Where the improvement is unauthorized and the tax void, the property owner complaining thereof is not bound to appear before the council to make objections but may proceed in equity to have the enforcement enjoined. Carter v. Cemansky, 126-506.

One who resists the enforcement of a special assessment against his property is not estopped from doing so by the fact that an installment of such assessment has been paid by one under whom he claims title. Ibid.

Failure of a property owner to object before the council to the character of the work does not estop him from insisting, in resistance to the payment of the special assessment, that the contractor has not complied with his contract. Wingert v. Tipton, 108 N. W. 1035; 111 N. W. 432.

ally increased the value of his property, and on that ground resisted specific performance of his contract, held that the validity of the assessment could not be inquired into, such owner having waived any question as to their validity. King v. Raab, 123-632.

When it is sought to charge a property owner for the cost of works of public improvement, the power must be exercised strictly in the manner prescribed by law, and if by ordinance and resolution notice is specified as a condition for the levying of such special tax, the council has no jurisdiction to impose a tax, unless the notice is given as required. Zalesky v. Cedar Rapids, 118-714.

Although the resolution levying the special tax does not specify the names of owners, and description of their lots, yet if it makes reference to a plat and schedule previously filed which is approved, and which contains sufficient specifications, it is not objectionable. Higman v. Sioux City, 129-291.

A motion to reconsider the resolution adopting a pavement having been sustained by a majority vote of council, held that there was no valid approval. Wingert v. Tipton, 108 N. W. 1035; 111 N. W. 432.

SEC. 829. Sale for assessment.

Where a special assessment is enforced by action, only six per cent. interest can be collected. Des Moines Brick Mfg. Co. v. Smith, 108-307.

Where special assessments are certified for collection, the property owner is not required to pay interest or penalty, except as provided in the special assessment statutes. Edwards & Walsh Const. Co. v. Jasper County, 117-365.

One who has paid taxes which he claims to have been unlawfully assessed by the city cannot recover back the money paid, unless it appears that there was no authority to assess the tax, that the money sued for has been actually received by the city, and that the payment was upon compulsion. Hawkeye L. & B. Co. v. Marion, 110-468.

A roadbed or right of way, or other property so connected with the operation of a railway as that its loss by conveyance or sale would necessarily dismember and break up the entirety and utility of the road as a line of travel and commercial intercourse, should not be sold for a special assessment thereon. Minneapolis & St. L. R. Co. v. Lindquist, 119-144.

Whether the roadbed of a railway company, constructed through property to which the company has a fee simple title, may be sold for special assessments on such property for the improvement of abutting streets, quaere. But the portion of such premises not used for railroad purposes may be sold for such assessments, like any other property. Ibid.

Where a special tax has not become a lien on property in such sense that the property could be sold therefor at the time of sale for general taxes, the lien of the special tax is not effectual as against the purchaser at the sale. Harrington v. Valley Sav. Bank, 119-312.

Under a void assessment the certificate holder is not entitled to recover on quantum meruit for benefits conferred on the owner of the property by the improvement. Carter v. Cemansky, 126-506.

Special assessments not certified or brought forward so as that they constitute a lien on the property at the time of the tax sale and not included in such sale are cut off so far as the tax purchaser is concerned. Fitzgerald v. Sioux City, 125-396.

SEC. 830. Levy for city improvement fund.

The city improvement fund out of which deficiencies in the special assessment for street improvements may be paid is the fund provided for in Code § 894 to cover costs at street intersections and similar places. Cory v. Ft. Dodge, 133-666.

SEC. 831. Levy for sewer fund.

A district sewer tax is enforceable only against the real property within the sewer district. Therefore it cannot be enforced as against a railroad company which is taxed under Code § 1336 on its real and personal property collectively. Chicago, M. & St. P. R. Co. v. Phillips, 111-377.

SEC. 832. Cost of repairs.

The expense of repairing may be paid out of the general fund or the improvement fund. Shelby v. Burlington, 125-343.

SEC. 833. Assessments not to be diverted.

A court of equity has jurisdiction to compel a city to perform its duty as trustee to collect and properly apply such assessments. Vickry v. Sioux City, 104 Fed. 164.

A city which has issued bonds to be paid for by the collection of special assessments is a trustee, charged with the duty of collecting and applying such assessments, and equity has jurisdiction over a suit by the holder of such bonds to require an accounting in respect to such trust and for the enforcement of the same. Farson v. Sioux City, 106 Fed. 278.

SEC. 834. Assessments on railways and street railways.

This section has reference to assessment of railways and street railways for the improvement of streets occupied by their tracks, and not to assessment of special taxes upon right of way abutting upon the street improvement. Chicago, R. I. & P. R. Co. v. Ottumwa, 112-300.

This section is applicable to street improvements undertaken in pursuance of authority conferred by the Code. Ft. Dodge Elec. L. & P. Co. v. Ft. Dodge, 115-568.

When the contractor has agreed to take certificates in payment of his work in paving a street and the city, having authority to assess the entire amount upon abutting property, improperly issues certificates against the street railway company for a share of the expense, which certificates are invalid, it becomes liable to the contractor for the amount of the invalid certificates. Ibid.

A provision in a franchise exempting a street railway company from any requirement to pave except as provided therein does not constitute a contract on which the company may rely as against subsequent provisions with regard to assessing the expense of a street improvement in part upon the property of the company thus occupying such street. Marshalltown Light, P. & R. Co. v. Marshalltown, 127-637.

SEC. 835. Cost of paving already laid. Before any street railway company shall lay its track upon any street that has been paved, and which at the time is not being repaved, it shall pay into the city treasury the value of all paving between its tracks, and one foot outside thereof, which value shall be determined by the city council, but in no case shall exceed the original cost of the paving, and the money thus paid shall be refunded to the abutting property owners on said street in proportion to the amounts originally assessed against the property abutting thereon. The company or any person affected by or interested in such determination of the value of such pavement may appeal therefrom to the district court within thirty days thereafter and in the manner provided in section eight hundred and thirty-nine of the code. [30 G. A., ch. 32.]

SEC. 836. Relevy.

An irregularity in an assessment does not affect the jurisdiction of the city in the proceeding, and may be cured. Ottumwa Brick & Const. Co. v. Ainley, 109-386.

Where a special assessment has been adjudged illegal because of some defect in the proceedings not going to the jurisdiction or power of the city to act in the premises, the legislature may, by general or special statute, provide for reassessment, but where the validity of an assessment has been finally determined by proceedings in court, the legislature cannot by subsequent action give validity to such assessment. McManus v. Hornaday, 124-267.

The statutory provision for reassessment is applicable where a valid assessment might have been made in the first place, but it does not authorize an assessment for the benefits conferred by the improvement where the contractor is not entitled to compensation under the contract. Crawford v. Mason, 123-301.

Where a legal assessment might have been made a reassessment is authorized. Martin v. Oskaloosa, 126-680.

There may be a re-levy of a special assessment, even after the original levy of such assessment has been declared invalid by action in court. Gill v. Patton, 118-88.

These provisions have no application where an essential requisite of jurisdiction to impose an assessment has been omitted, such as the giving of notice, as required by ordinance and resolution. Zalesky v. Cedar Rapids, 118-714.

SEC. 839. Appeal.

On the appeal the court has no power to make an entirely new assessment. Berry v. Des Moines, 115-44.

The provisions of this section are limited to assessment proceedings under the provisions of the Code. Ft. Dodge Elec. L. & P. Co. v. Ft. Dodge, 115-77.

Where the assessment is made without any authority, then the property owner can enjoin the enforcement of the assessment without resorting to the remedy by appeal. Ibid.

One who might by appeal have an error in a special assessment corrected, cannot ask relief in equity. Minneapolis & St. L. R. Co. v. Lindquist, 119-144.

If the assessment is void for want of jurisdiction of the city council to act, the objection need not be raised before the council nor by appeal; but if defective only on account of irregularities or erroneous judgment on the part of the council, objection and appeal are the only remedies. Owens v. Marion, 127-469.

SEC. 840-a. Repeal—statutes applicable to towns. That chapter thirty-one (31) of the laws of the thirtieth general assembly be and the same is hereby repealed and the following enacted in lieu thereof:

“That all of the provisions of section[s] seven hundred and ninety-two (792) to section eight hundred and forty-nine (849) inclusive, of chapters seven (7) and eight (8) of title five (5) of the code and that subdivision three (3) of section eight hundred and ninety-four (894) of the code granting to cities of the first and second classes the power to construct sanitary sewers and assess the cost of the same to the real property abutting on, adjacent to or benefited by such sewers, and providing for a tax on the assessed valuation of all property therein when the entire city comprises one sewer district, shall be applicable and apply to incorporated towns.” [31 G. A., ch. 24.]

SEC. 840-b. Main sewer fund. Any city of the first class shall have power to levy annually a tax not exceeding five (5) mills on the dollar on the assessed valuation of all property therein, for a main sewer fund, to be used to pay the whole or any part of the cost of the making, reconstruction or repair of any main sewer within the limits of the city. [31 G. A., ch. 26, § 1.]

SEC. 840-c. Terms defined. A “main sewer” as referred to in this act shall be held to mean any sewer that is commonly referred to by any one of the following terms: “intercepting sewer, out-fall sewer, or trunk sewer.” [31 G. A., ch. 26, § 2.]

SEC. 840-d. Statutes applicable. The provisions of chapter seven (7), of title five (5), of the code shall be applicable to providing for the making, reconstruction or repair of main sewers, the whole or any part of the cost of the making, reconstruction or repair of which shall be ordered paid from the main sewer fund herein provided for, to the same extent and in the same manner as the provisions of said chapter seven (7), of title five (5), of the code are now applicable to providing for the making, reconstruction or repair of sewers, the whole or any part of the cost of the making, reconstruction or repair of which may be ordered paid from the city sewer fund. [31 G. A., ch. 26, § 3.]

SEC. 840-e. Same—main sewer certificates or bonds. The provisions of chapter twelve (12), of title five (5), of the code shall be applicable to taxes authorized to be levied for the main sewer fund. Certificates or bonds issued in anticipation of the collection of taxes authorized to be levied for the main sewer fund shall be denominated “main sewer certificates” or “main sewer bonds.” [31 G. A., ch. 26, § 4.]

SEC. 840-f. Aggregate tax for all sewer funds. The aggregate tax levied by any city of the first class in any one year for a city sewer fund, a district sewer fund, and a main sewer fund, shall not exceed [eight] (8) mills on the dollar on the assessed valuation of all the property therein. [31 G. A., ch. 26, § 5.]

SEC. 840-g. Tax levy authorized. Cities of the second class, and towns, shall have the power to levy annually a tax not exceeding three mills on the dollar to be used solely for the purpose of constructing outlets and purifying plants for sewers. The levy made under this act shall not be considered a part of the levy made for a sewer fund under the provisions of paragraph three (3) of section eight hundred ninety-four of the supplement to the code. [32 G. A., ch. 41, § 1.]

CHAPTER 8.

OF STREET IMPROVEMENT AND SEWER BONDS AND CERTIFICATES.

SECTION 841. Certificates issued.

Where a contractor agrees to take certificates in full payment for the work done, and the city, having authority to assess the entire cost on abutting property and issue certificates therefor to the contractor, attempts to issue illegal certificates for a portion of the amount against a street railway company not liable for the payment of any portion of the assessment, the city is bound to pay to the contractor the amount of the illegal certificates. Ft. Dodge Elec. L. & P. Co. v. Ft. Dodge, 115-568.

The contractor by accepting the illegal certificates does not preclude himself from remedy against the city, inasmuch as he is not bound to know that the necessary steps to render the certificates valid and binding have been taken. Ibid.

The city is liable to the contractor for assessment certificates which have been improperly issued by it against property subject to assessment for the improvement. Iowa Pipe & Tile Co. v. Callanan, 125-358.

The city is not liable to a contractor on certificates which are invalid because proper steps have not been taken in ordering the improvement for which the certificates are issued. The contract with the contractor being invalid, no liability under the certificates arises. Citiens' Bank v. Spencer, 126-101.

Action against the city on implied contract is barred after five years from the time of the making of the improvement. Ibid.

SEC. 842. Bonds.

Where the city by contract has rendered itself liable for the cost of street improvements, bonds to cover such cost will be invalid if in excess of the constitutional limit. Allen v. Davenport, 107-90.

Where the statutes of the state and the ordinances of the city under which the bonds were issued, and the recitals of the bonds themselves, do not limit the right of recovery of the bond holder to a specific fund, the bonds are to be deemed an indebtedness of the city. Vickery v. Sioux City, 115 Fed. 437.

SEC. 847. Bonds paid.

In equity the bond holder has the right to call upon the city to employ for his protection every power and right a city can exercise to levy and collect from the property benefited by the improvement the cost thereof which is in fact and in truth represented by the bonds issued. Burlington Sav. Bank v. Clinton, 111 Fed. 439.

CHAPTER 8-A.

OF PROTECTION OF CITY PROPERTY FROM FLOODS.

SEC. 849-a. Protection authorized. SEC. 879-k. Police protection—water supply—poles and wires. The mayor, on written request of the commission, shall furnish adequate police protection for such public grounds and the city shall furnish such water supply as may be necessary therefor, and properly light the same at its expense. The commission shall be entitled to the services of the city engineer, when requested, without expense to it. It shall have the power to permit or forbid the erection of poles or the stretching of wires for electric light, street railway or other purposes by persons or corporations, in such public grounds or in or along streets, highways or over public places laid out or controlled by it. [29 G. A., ch. 210, § 11.]

SEC. 879-l. Wharves—landing places—bath and boat houses. That said commission shall have power, in and over the bed and banks of such river as specified, to construct and regulate the use of wharves, landing places, bath houses, boat houses and other suitable structures and shall have exclusive jurisdiction over the water of such stream, within the corporate limits of such city and may maintain said stream in a suitable condition for boating, skating and other public amusements and purposes. [29 G. A., ch. 210, § 12.]

SEC. 879-m. What prohibited. No member of the commission shall, during the time for which he has been appointed or elected, or for one year thereafter, be appointed to any office in the gift of the commission which shall be created, or the emolument of which shall be increased, during the term for which he was elected, nor shall he be interested directly or indirectly in any contract for work or service to be performed for the commission or in the purchase or sale of any property sold to or by the commission. [29 G. A., ch. 210, § 13.]

SEC. 879-n. Vacancies. In case vacancy arises in the commission, the governor of the state shall fill such vacancy by appointment for the unexpired portion of the term or until the next election as the case may be. [29 G. A., ch. 210, § 14.]

SEC. 879-o. Cities affected. The provisions of this act shall apply only to cities acting under special charter and cities of the first class acting under the general incorporation laws having a population of less than twenty-five thousand (25,000). [29 G. A., ch. 210, § 15.]

CHAPTER 9-B.

OF OFFICERS OF CITIES AND TOWNS.

SECTION 879-p. Executive powers and duties. All executive functions, powers and duties in cities and towns shall be exercised and performed by the mayor and other elective and appointive officers and boards as provided by law, and neither the council nor the members thereof shall exercise any executive function unless expressly conferred by law. [32 G. A., ch. 26, § 18.]

SEC. 879-q. Officers not to be interested in contracts—free passes or franks. No officer, including members of the city council shall be interested, directly or indirectly in any contract or job of work or material or the profits thereof or services to be furnished or performed for the city or town. No such officer shall accept or receive, directly or indirectly, from any person, firm or corporation operating within the said city or town, any railway, inter-urban railway, street railway, gas works, water works, electric light or power plants, telegraph line or telephone exchange or other business using a public franchise, any frank, free pass or ticket or other service upon terms more favorable than is granted to the public generally, except where, by franchise granted by the municipality to any such person or corporation, any officers of said municipality are granted such privileges as part of such franchise, and except that members of the police and fire departments of any city or town shall be carried without charge. Any violation of the provision of this section shall be a misdemeanor. [32 G. A., ch. 26, § 19.]

CHAPTER 10.

OF CONDEMNATION AND PURCHASE OF LAND.

SECTION 880. For what purpose.

The power to condemn may be delegated to municipalities and when this is done they have the same power as the state acting through any regularly constituted authority. Bennett v. Marion, 106-628.

The city may be allowed to determine for itself whether a particular improvement shall be made, but the land owner may raise a question as to the amount of land necessary for the purpose contemplated. Ibid.

If the land sought to be taken will to some extent conduce to the public use to which it is to be devoted, a decision of the municipality that it is necessary therefor should not be interfered with; otherwise it should be set aside. Ibid.

The jury should be directed to include, as damages, incidental injuries to the balance of the land owner's property by reason of the proper use of the condemned portion for the purpose contemplated. Ibid.

This section does not give the city any right to establish a pest house on property acquired by the city outside of its limits. Warner v. Stebbins, 111-86.

A city has authority to acquire land by condemnation for a public landing, and when so condemned it may give the right of way thereover to a railway company. Diamond Jo Line Steamers v. Davenport, 114-432.

The fact that the property is already owned by a private corporation as a steamboat landing does not prevent its condemnation for a public landing. Ibid.

The proceedings for condemnation may be abandoned by the city, but the city cannot abandon an award after it is made, and institute another proceeding for the purpose of condemning the same property. Robertson v. Hartenbower, 120-410.

SEC. 881. Repeal—sewer outlets—disposal plants. That section eight hundred and eighty-one (881) of the code be and the same is hereby repealed and the following be enacted in lieu thereof:

"Cities and towns shall have the power to acquire real estate within or without their territorial limits necessary for sewer outlets, garbage disposal plants, sewage disposal plants and dump grounds, by purchase or condemnation as in this chapter provided, and the expense of such acquisition of real estate for sewer outlets, garbage disposal plants, sewage disposal plants and dump grounds, shall, in the case of garbage disposal plants and dump grounds, be paid out of the general fund, and in the case of sewer outlets and sewage disposal plants, out of the general fund or out of the sewer fund of the sewer district for which the sewer outlet or sewage disposal plant is established." [30 G. A., ch. 37.]

The question whether the amount of land sought to be condemned is necessary for a sewer outlet may be raised by the land owner. Bennett v. Marion, 106-628.

In estimating damages, an improper use for sewer purposes such as would give rise to a nuisance is not to be considered, but the jury should be allowed to consider in what way the taking of land for these purposes would inconvenience the land owner in the use of the remainder of his land or lessen its value and if sewers properly constructed would have this effect, then the jury should be directed to take this into consideration in making up their verdict. Ibid.

In such cases the city may be allowed to determine for itself whether the particular improvement shall be made, but the necessity for taking for that purpose the amount of land sought to be taken may be questioned by the land owner. Ibid.

The municipality may acquire real estate outside of its territorial limits for sewer outlets, and for garbage disposal plants and dump grounds. Hanson v. Cresco, 132-553.

SEC. 883. Disposal of lands acquired.

The city may grant the land covered by a street which is duly vacated to a railroad company for depot purposes. Spitzer v. Runyan, 113-619.

An abutting owner may have damages against the city for vacating a street furnishing special access to such owner's property, but cannot recover damages against a railroad company for obstruction of such street after its vacation. Harrington v. Iowa Cent. R. Co., 126-389.

SEC. 884. Proceedings for condemnation.

Costs made by the commissioners are to be paid by the corporation in any event. Only those involved in the appeal to the district court and attorneys' fees occasioned thereby depend in any way on the result of the trial. These are to be taxed against the corporation, except in the contingency of a trial at which the amount of damages is not increased. If that contingency does not arise the costs are to be paid by the corporation. Mellichar v. Iowa City, 116-390.

On the abandonment of the proceedings it is but just and equitable that the party attempting to wrest the property from its owner should pay the expenses of litigation already incurred. Ibid.

The charge of the attorney in preparing an answer may properly be included in estimating the attorneys' fees, even though a formal answer is not required by the statute. Ibid.

Compensation for services rendered in other appeals, or in suits for the protection of the plaintiff's property, cannot be allowed. Ibid.

SEC. 885. Donation of sites for depots.

The city has no authority to issue negotiable bonds in payment for land condemned or otherwise taken in procuring a site for a railroad depot. The only indebtedness which the city can incur for that purpose is such indebtedness as may be satisfied out of its current revenues. Swanson v. Ottumwa, 131-540.

SEC. 886. Submission of question.

The provisions of this and the preceding section have no application to a case where the city vacates a street for use of a railroad company as depot grounds. Spitzer v. Runyan, 113-619.

CHAPTER 11.OF TAXATION.

SECTION 891. Labor on highways. Any city or town shall have power to provide that all able-bodied male residents of the corporation between the ages of twenty-one and forty-five years, between the first day of January and the first day of November of each year, either by themselves or satisfactory substitute, shall perform two days' labor of eight hours each upon the streets, avenues, alleys, highways or public grounds within such corporation, at such times and places as the proper officer may direct, upon three days' notice in writing given, or pay in lieu thereof in money a sum to be fixed by such council, not exceeding one and a half dollars for each of such day's labor. For each day's failure to attend and perform the labor, or pay said sum of money, as required, at the time and place specified, unless excused by the supervisor of highways or street commissioner, the delinquent shall forfeit and pay the sum of two dollars, not exceeding four dollars in all. Any person excused shall be again notified to perform such labor or pay said sum of money in lieu thereof, at any time prior to November first of said year. All persons claiming to be exempt from labor under this section shall, within three days after receiving notice to perform such labor, furnish the mayor or other proper officer with an affidavit showing the extent and nature of the disabilities entitling him to such exemption. If he fails to do so he shall be liable to perform such labor or pay the penalty provided herein. [19 G. A., ch. 32; C., '73, § 487.] [27 G. A., ch. 27, § 1.]

SEC. 892. Enforcement of road tax. In case of failure to pay said sum of money in lieu of said labor, together with such forfeit, to the supervisor of highways, street commissioner, or other officer of said corporation authorized to receive the same within ten days from the expiration of the time fixed for the performance of such labor, said corporation may recover the same by action brought in the name of such city or town before the mayor of said corporation, or before any justice of the peace in the proper township. No property or wages belonging to said person shall be exempt to the defendant on an execution issued for said judgment and costs. The tax and forfeit money so collected shall be expended upon the streets, avenues, highways, alleys or public grounds of said corporation. All of such tax and forfeit money remaining unpaid on the first day of November in each year may be certified to the county auditor at any time before the following first day of December, and shall be entered by him upon the tax list of said county, and treated and collected as ordinary county taxes, and shall be a lien on all the real property of the delinquent. [19 G. A., ch. 32; C., '73, § 487.] [27 G. A., ch. 27, § 2.]

SEC. 894. Other taxes. Any city shall have power to levy annually the following special taxes:

1. Grading fund. A tax not exceeding, in any one year, three mills on the dollar, for a grading fund, to be used for the purpose of opening, widening, extending and grading any street, highway, avenue, alley, public ground or market place; [23 G. A., ch. 8, § 1; 22 G. A., ch. 12, § 1; 21 G. A., ch. 160, §§ 2, 3; 19 G. A., ch. 38, §§ 1, 2.]

3. Sewer fund. A tax not exceeding, in any one year, two mills on the dollar on the assessed valuation of all property therein, for a city sewer fund, when the entire city comprises one sewer district, to be used to pay the cost of the making, reconstruction or repair of any sewer at the intersection of streets, highways, avenues, alleys, and at spaces opposite streets, highways, avenues and alleys intersecting but not crossing, and at spaces opposite property owned by the city or the United States, and to pay the whole or any part of the cost of the making, reconstruction or repair of any sewer within the limits of said city; when a city has been divided into sewer districts, a tax not exceeding two mills on the dollar on the assessed valuation of all property in the sewer district, for a district sewer fund, to be used to pay, in whole or in part, the cost of the making, reconstruction or repair of any sewer located and laid in that particular district; [25 G. A., ch. 7, § 11; 22 G. A., ch. 7, § 1; 21 G. A., ch. 34; 17 G. A., ch. 162, § 1; 16 G. A., ch. 107, § 1.]

4. Repeal—library tax. That chapter thirty-eight (38) of the laws of the thirtieth general assembly be and the same is hereby repealed and the following enacted in lieu thereof:

5. Waterworks tax. A tax not exceeding, in any one year, five mills on the dollar, which, with the water rates or rents authorized, shall be sufficient to pay the expenses of running, operating and repairing waterworks owned and operated by any city or town, and the interest on any bonds issued to pay all or any part of the cost of construction, renewal, repair or extension of such works; but such tax shall not be levied upon property which lies wholly without the limits of the benefit and protection of such works, which limits shall be fixed by the council each year before making the levy; [C., '73, § 475.] [29 G. A., ch. 48, § 1.]

6. Tax for gas works or electric plant. A tax not exceeding, in any one year, five mills on the dollar, which, with the rates or rentals authorized, shall be sufficient to pay the expenses of running, operating and repairing gas works and electric light or power plants owned by any city or town, and the interest on any bonds issued to pay all or any part of the cost of the construction of such works or plants; but such tax shall not be levied upon property which lies wholly without the limits of the benefit of the same, which limits shall be fixed by the council each year before making the levy; [22 G. A., ch. 11, § 2; C., '73, § 475.]

7. Water tax. A tax not exceeding, in any one year, five mills on the dollar, for the purpose of paying the amount due or to become due to any individual or company operating waterworks for water supplied under any contract, the levy to be limited to the property as in subdivision five hereof; and if in cities of the first class the maximum tax is insufficient to pay such amount under contracts now in force, the deficiency shall be paid out of the general fund; [C., '73, § 475.]

8. Tax for gas or electric light or power. A tax not exceeding, in any one year, five mills on the dollar, for the purpose of paying the amount due or to become due to any individual or company operating gas works or electric light or power plants for all gas, electric light or power supplied under any contract, the levy to be limited to the property as in subdivision six hereof; [22 G. A., ch. 11, § 2; C., '73, § 475.]

A., ch. 14, § 5; 23 G. A., ch. 4, §§ 6, 7; 22 G. A., ch. 17, § 5; 21 G. A., ch. 78, § 5.]

A., ch. 13, § 1; 22 G. A., ch. 10, § 1.]

11. Cemetery tax. A tax, not exceeding one-half of one mill on the dollar of the assessed valuation of the property within the corporate limits, for the care, preservation and adornment of any cemetery owned or controlled by the city.

[28 G. A., ch. 32, § 1.]

Par. 2. Improvement fund: The improvement fund may be resorted to for payment of deficiencies in special assessments for street improvements. Corey v. Ft. Dodge, 133-666.

Par. 5. Waterworks tax: The proceeds of the five-mill special water tax authorized by statute do not constitute the sole liability of the city under a contract to furnish water for public purposes. There may be a recovery of judgment under such contract payable out of the general funds. Marion Water Co. v. Marion, 121-306.

SEC. 898. Loans in anticipation of revenue.

The object of this provision is to place municipal corporations on a cash basis and prevent the accumulation of a floating indebtedness. Phillips v. Reed, 107-331, and see Phillips v. Reed, 109-188.

A city is not authorized, when borrowing money in anticipation of its revenues, to issue negotiable bonds therefor. German Ins. Co. v. Manning, 95 Fed. 597.

SEC. 902. Assessments and taxes certified—collection. All assessments and taxes of every kind and nature levied by the council, except as otherwise provided by law, shall be certified by the clerk on or before the first Monday in September, to the county auditor, and by him placed upon the tax list for the current year, and the county treasurer shall collect all assessments and taxes so levied in the same manner as other taxes, and when delinquent they shall draw the same interest and penalties. Sales for such assessments and taxes when delinquent shall be made at the same time and in the same manner as such sales are made for other taxes, and should there be other delinquent taxes or assessments due from the same person, and collectible by the county treasurer, the sale shall be for all such delinquent assessments and taxes, and all the provisions of law relating to the sale of property for delinquent taxes shall be applicable as far as may be to such sales. Before the third Monday of each month, the county treasurer shall give written notice to the mayor of each municipality in the county of the amount collected for each fund up to the first day of that month, and the mayor of each municipality shall draw an order therefor in favor of the city treasurer, countersigned by the clerk or auditor of the municipality, upon the county treasurer who shall pay such taxes to the treasurers of the several municipalities only on such order. [25 G. A., ch. 1, § 2; 24 G. A., ch. 1, § 3; 21 G. A., ch. 13, § 2; 19 G. A., ch. 63, § 2; C., '73, §§ 495, 498; R., §§ 1123, 1126.] [31 G. A., ch. 29.]

Where the proper notice of expiration of the period of redemption has not been served, so that the deed can properly be issued, the limitation of this section is not applicable. Hintrager v. McElhinny, 112-325.

CHAPTER 12.

OF BONDS.

SECTION 905. Funding.

The statutory authority given to refund does not validate an unauthorized indebtedness. Swanson v. Ottumwa, 131-540.

SEC. 906. Form.

An erroneous recital as to the statute under which bonds are issued will not render them invalid. Fernald v. Gilman, 123 Fed. 797.

SEC. 912-a. Made applicable to towns. All provisions of section nine hundred twelve (912) of the code, granting to cities the power to issue certificates or bonds in anticipation of special taxes, shall be applicable, and is hereby made to apply to towns. [32 G. A., ch. 44.]

CHAPTER 13.

OF PLATS.

SECTION 914. For subdivisions or additions.

The owner of a lot platted as abutting on a navigable stream is not limited to the dimensions as determined by the platted meander line, but owns to high water mark. Board of Park Commissioners v. Taylor, 133-453.

SEC. 915. Acknowledgment and recording—abstract of title. Every such plat shall have a complete abstract of title attached thereto, and shall be accompanied by a statement to the effect that the subdivision of (here insert a correct description of the land or parcel subdivided), as appears on this plat, is with the free consent and in accordance with the desire of the proprietor, which shall be signed and acknowledged by him before some officer authorized to take the acknowledgment of deeds. Such proprietor shall also procure from the treasurer of the county in which the land lies, and file with the recorder, a certified statement that the land laid out into lots, streets and alleys is free from taxes, and a certified statement of the clerk of the district court that said land is free from all judgment, attachment, mechanics, or other liens, as appears by the records of his office, and a certified statement from the recorder that the title in fee is in such proprietor, and that it is free from incumbrance; but if the parcel of land so laid out shall be incumbered with a debt certain in amount, and which the creditor will not accept with accrued interest to the day of proffered payment if it draws interest, or with a rebate of interest at the rate of six per cent. per annum if it draws no interest, or if the creditor cannot be found, then such proprietor, and, if a corporation, its proper officer or agent, may file with the recorder of such county an affidavit, stating either that such proprietor has offered to pay such creditor the full amount of his debt, with interest, or with a rebate of interest, as the case may be, and that he would not accept the same, or that he cannot be found, whereupon such proprietor may execute and file with the recorder a bond in double the amount of such incumbrance, with three sureties who shall be freeholders of the county, to be approved by the recorder and clerk of the district court, which bond shall run to the county, and shall be for the benefit of the purchasers of any lots, and shall be conditioned for the payment of such incumbrance and the cancellation thereof of record as soon as practicable after the same becomes due, and for the holding of all purchasers and those claiming under them forever harmless from such incumbrance. When such affidavit and bond shall have been filed with the recorder, together with the certificate of approval of the council of the city or town in which such land is situated or which is proposed to be made an addition thereto and a certificate of the recorder that said land is free from all incumbrance except as secured by said bond, and that the title in fee is in such proprietor, and that of the treasurer that the land is free from taxes, said plat shall be admitted to record, and be as valid as if such proprietor had filed with the recorder the certificate of such officer that said land was free from all incumbrance. [18 G. A., ch. 53, § 1.; C., '73, § 560.] [29 G. A., ch. 49, § 1.]

When a recorded plat is referred to in a deed as related to the matter of description, unless controlled by other facts or circumstances, such plat is to be considered as furnishing a true description of the property to be conveyed. Quade v. Pillard, 112 N. W. 646.

SEC. 916. Approval by council.

If the blocks are divided into lots the dedication of alleys may be insisted upon, but the division into parcels smaller than blocks is not required. Giltner v. Albia, 128-658.

The provisions of § 571 of the Code of SEC. 917. Dedication to public.

Dedication: A deed which is inconsistent with the dedication of the streets and alleys of a plat to the public may amount to a revocation of the attempted dedication, unless it be shown that the public accepted the dedication before the deed was made. Minneapolis & St. L. R. Co. v. Britt, 105-198.

While a substantial compliance with statutory provisions is all that is required to effect a dedication of portions of a plat laid out for streets and alleys, yet where the plat did not show the width of such streets and the size of the lots and blocks except as determinable by scale from the plat itself, held that it was too indefinite to be effectual. Ibid.

The plat of the city of Keokuk did not operate to vest the fee of the land in the streets in the city. Chicago, B. & Q. R. Co. v. Kelley, 105-106.

The proprietor is entitled to have his plat approved if it complies with the provisions of the statute; that is the only question for determination by the city council. The matter of the acceptance of the streets and alleys by the city is not involved. Giltner v. Albia, 128-658.

1873, declaring that the plat of an addition to a city should be ineffectual until approved by an ordinance of the city, held inapplicable to cities and towns. Burroughs v. Cherokee, 109 N. W. 876.

Payment of taxes on property is admissible as evidence against a claim of a dedication thereof to the public. Brown v. Cedar Rapids, 117-302.

To warrant the presumption of dedication, the use must be of a kind to convey to the owner knowledge of its extent and adverse nature. Ibid.

In a contest between grantor and grantee, where the plat differs from the survey, the latter will control. It may be that as to a purchaser buying in reliance on the plat as showing the dimensions of the lot, or as to a public officer charged with opening the streets, as shown by the plat, the rule would be otherwise. Thrush v. Graybill, 110-585.

Where the question was as to dedication in a plat made by county commissioners, held that the vital inquiry was as to the intent with which the commissioners acted in determining whether a square, which had been used for a court house, had been dedicated to the city, or retained by the county, and that, in order to determine this, the acknowledgment should be considered in connection with the plat, the certificate of survey, and such circumstances as might throw light on the transaction. Youngerman v. Board of Supervisors, 110-731.

And under the language of the instruments, and the circumstances surrounding their execution, held in a particular case that the title to such square did not pass to the city, but had been excepted from the dedication and retained by the county. Ibid.

The court is not authorized to add a line to the plat for the purpose of limiting the extent of the land dedicated to public use which does not appear on the plat as originally made, unless, perhaps, when there is a conflict in the boundaries, or in some cases when the plat is shown to be not in accordance with the original survey. Boehler v. Des Moines, 111-417.

Facts in a particular case held sufficient to show dedication of a street to the city and its acceptance. Hull v. Cedar Rapids, 111-466.

Evidence in a particular case held sufficient to show that an alley had been dedicated to public use. Dodge v. Hart, 113-685.

An alley marked on the plat may become public by a common law dedication and acceptance. Keokuk v. Cosgrove, 116-189.

The owner's intention as to dedication of a portion of the platted territory to public purposes is to be gathered from the plat itself. Mt. Vernon v. Young, 124-517.

The recording of the plat is a tender of the conveyance of the portion set apart as streets and alleys for such use to a municipality, which continues until shown to have been withdrawn. But where there has been non-user for not less than the statutory period, accompanied by actual and notorious possession of the land by an individual as private property under claim of right, an abandonment of the rights of the public in the street will be presumed. Burroughs v. Cherokee, 109 N. W. 876.

Dedication of land for a street may be shown by the verbal declarations of the owner, by his act in filing a plat, by his silence in the face of known adverse possession by the public, or by any other act or omission from which the intention to dedicate may fairly be inferred. Acceptance may be inferred from general use by the public, or by the improvement and repair of the way by the authorities having care and control of the highways. The owners of abutting property may also divest themselves of all title in favor of the public by laying out a street and selling lots or parcels of land with reference thereto, and this rule is not subject to any acceptance by the public generally or by the authorities. Snouffer v. Cedar Rapids & M. C. R. Co., 118-287.

Public use with the knowledge of the owner for the statutory period of limitation is admissible as tending to show a dedication. Cedar Rapids v. Young, 119-552.

In order that a dedication of land platted as a street shall be effectual, it is not essential that the statutory provisions as to platting be strictly complied with, but they must be substantially followed, that is, the portion of the platted land claimed as a street must have been pointed out with such precision and the boundaries so fixed that these may be certainly and definitely located from the data furnished. Coe College v. Cedar Rapids, 120-541.

Land may be dedicated to the public use in a plat without naming such use. But the intention to dedicate must appear, and this may sometimes be inferred from the shape of the land claimed to have been dedicated, its situation, dimensions, and the like. Ibid.

The lines in a plat may aid in ascertaining a common law dedication, but they will not be sufficient alone to establish such dedication. Ibid.

Acceptance: An acceptance of the dedication is essential to the validity of a conveyance to the city of ground designated for streets and alleys. Blennerhasset v. Forest City, 117-680.

The title to streets and alleys as laid out in the plat does not pass to the city until the dedication is accepted. Brown v. Taber, 103-1.

A reasonable time is allowed for acceptance by the public of a highway dedicated by a plat, and what is such reasonable time necessarily depends upon the situation and circumstances. Sarvis v. Caster, 116-707.

The plat constitutes a dedication of space left between the lots for public travel, but the title thereto does not vest in the city or town prior to its acceptance, and until then such spaces are not highways. After acceptance by the municipality and improvement so that the plat has become effective in passing the fee, the proprietor of the plats cannot divest the title of the municipality without the knowledge or consent of its officers. Chrisman v. Omaha & Council Bluffs R. & B. Co., 125-133.

In the absence of proof of acceptance of a portion only of the platted street and of the recognition of the lot line contended for by the abutting owner, the city will not be estopped from asserting title in the street as platted to the true line. Vorhes v. Ackley, 127-658.

The proprietors of a plat cannot divest the municipality of the title in streets which have been accepted and on which public money has been expended, unless with the knowledge and consent of its officers. Chrisman v. Omaha & Council Bluffs R. & B. Co., 125-133.

The opening by the city of a portion of the streets in the plat indicates an intention to accept the others, to be opened when needed. Parriott v. Hampton, 111 N. W. 440.

Although the streets remain enclosed the acceptance by notice to the owner may be effectual. Ibid.

Estoppel: The public right to the use and occupancy of a street may be lost by estoppel. Corey v. Ft. Dodge, 118-742.

A town may estop itself from asserting title to ground indicated on a plat as a public alley. Blennerhasset v. Forest City, 117-680.

The proceedings by the city, even though irregular, to abandon an alley shown on the plat, held, in connection with other circumstances, to constitute an estoppel of the city from subsequently asserting a right to such alley as against one who had occupied adversely. Ibid.

With reference to portions of the premises covered by a plat which are set apart for streets, the city may so deal with another claiming title thereto, by subjecting it to the payment of public charges, as to estop itself from asserting title as against him. Davenport v. Boyd, 109-248.

Assessments of lots as the property of a taxpayer does not estop the city from claiming that a portion of such lots constitute a street. Cedar Rapids v. Young, 119-552.

The fact that the city exacts taxes on the dedicated property does not estop it from claiming that the same has become a public street. Hull v. Cedar Rapids, 111-466.

The levy and collection by the city of taxes on a strip of land which has been dedicated and accepted as a street will not estop the city, as the representative of the public, from asserting its rights in such street. Hanger v. Des Moines, 109-480.

The doctrine of estoppel is applied to municipal corporations to prevent the assertion of public right to a street where the exercise of such right would be inequitable, as, for instance, where the street has been for the statutory period of limitations enclosed by a private owner, and he has for that period asserted ownership thereof under a claim of right. Weber v. Iowa City, 119-633.

Further as to estoppel, see notes to Sec. 753.

Rights of abutting property owner: By accepting a street by dedication, a city or town enters into an implied obligation to keep it open and afford the dedicator or his grantee, near or remote, access to abutting lots, and though under the plenary powers of the legislature over all streets or highways such street may be vacated, the damages occasioned thereby cannot be said to be those shared by the public generally, and therefore compensation for such damages may be necessary. Long v. Wilson, 119-267.

The owner of property abutting on a street has a right to and an interest in the street distinct and different from that of the general public, and an adjudication between the city or town and another property owner as to the non-existence of such street is not binding on a property owner not made party to such proceeding. Ibid.

While the legislature may authorize a city or town to vacate streets, it does not follow that it may do so without compensation to abutting property owners, for damages to them as individuals, distinct from the general public, resulting from such vacation. Ibid.

Where land has been divided into lots, and a plat thereof is made, showing such lots and the streets on which they abut, and the owner sells the lots so designated on the plat, the purchaser has an easement in such streets as is necessary for the full enjoyment and use of his property, of which the grantor cannot deprive him. Nor can the fact that the plat was not made or authorized by the grantor, or that it was not a legal or recorded plat, make any difference with the rule. It is founded upon the doctrine of estoppel, and whether the plat be legal or illegal, authorized or unauthorized, if it be recognized and adopted by the grantor in making the sale, and is relied upon by the purchaser, the estoppel is as effectual as it would be were the conditions different. Cleaver v. Mahanke, 120-77.

The platting of ground as an alley, and designation thereof for that purpose, is equivalent to a deed in fee simple to the public, and the purchaser of lots abutting takes only to the lot line. Blennerhasset v. Forest City, 117-680.

Although in a city under special charter the title in the streets may be in the abutting property owner so that the city has no right to use such streets for any purpose whatever other than that for which they were originally designed, yet the erection of trolley poles in the street in front of the property of an abutting owner is not such an additional use of the street as may be enjoined by a property owner in the absence of additional compensation. Snyder v. Fort Madison St. R. Co., 105-284.

The owner of property, chargeable with such knowledge of the use and improvement of an abutting street as a reasonably prudent and observing person having care for his property would ordinarily acquire, is chargeable with notice of the dedication of an abutting street by the owner, and acceptance thereof by the public. Hanger v. Des Moines, 109-480.

One who takes possession of a dedicated street in connection with an adjoining lot under a conveyance of the lot cannot enjoin the city from subsequently opening and improving the street. Backman v. Oskaloosa, 130-600.

Vacation of street: Where an unrestricted dedication by designation in the plat has been made, it vests an absolute title in the municipality, and on vacation of a street thus designated, the title does not revert to the original owner. Lake City v. Fulkerson, 122-569.

Non-user: While mere non-user for the statutory period will not constitute an abandonment by a city of a street duly laid out, yet, where there has been such non-user, accompanied by actual and notorious possession of the land by an individual as private property, under a claim of right, an abandonment will be presumed, and the public right in the street will be held to be extinguished. Weber v. Iowa City, 119-633.

A city may abandon a portion of a street, or by non-user forfeit its right thereto, and it may be foreclosed by agreement or acquiescence as to the true line. Eldora v. Edgington, 130-151.

SEC. 918. Vacation by proprietor.

Where none of the lots abutting on such streets or alleys have been conveyed the owner may vacate the plat and will thereafter be the unquestionable owner of the vacated streets and alleys. Subsequent grantees of lots described in such plat will not be entitled to proportional shares of the streets and alleys so vacated. Brown v. Taber, 103-1.

SEC. 919. Part of plat vacated.

The plat cannot be vacated so as to extinguish the title of the municipality to streets which have been accepted and improved. Such streets have become highways. Chrisman v. Omaha & Council Bluffs R. & B. Co., 125-133.

The provisions for vacation of a plat by the owner have no application to the vacation of streets in such plat by the city council or the board of supervisors.

Chrisman v. Brander, 112 N. W. 833.

While provisions are here made for vacation of part of a plat, yet if the rights and privileges of other proprietors in the plat are affected and they do not consent to the vacation, it is not effectual. So held as to streets in a plat which the owner attempted to vacate. Uptagraff v. Smith, 106-385.

SEC. 920. Vacation by lot owner.

A highway ought not to be vacated under the provisions of this section unless the immediate abutting owners so request. Sarvis v. Caster, 116-707.

A highway will not be vacated if it appears that in all reasonable probability it will soon be needed for public use, although it has not already been used by the public. Ibid.

SEC. 922. Plat by auditor. Whenever the original proprietor of any subdivision of land has sold or conveyed any part thereof, or invested the public with any rights therein, and has failed and neglected to execute and file for record a plat as provided in this chapter, the county auditor shall by mail or otherwise notify some or all of such owners, and demand its execution. If such owners, whether so notified or not, fail and neglect for thirty days after the issuance of such notice to execute and file said plat for record, the auditor shall cause one to be made, making any survey necessary therefor. Said plat shall be signed and acknowledged by the auditor, who shall certify that he executed it by reason of the failure of the owners named to do so, and file it for record in his office and in the office of the county recorder, and when so filed it shall have the same effect as if executed, acknowledged and recorded by the owners. A correct statement of the costs and expenses of such plat, survey and record, verified by oath, shall be by the auditor laid before the first session of the board of supervisors, which shall allow the same and order them paid out of the county treasury, and he shall at the same time assess the amount pro rata upon the several subdivisions of said tract, lot or parcel so subdivided, and it shall be collected in the same manner as general taxes, and shall go to the general county fund; or said board may direct suit to be brought in the name of the county to recover from the original proprietor such cost and expense. [C., '73, § 568.] [31 G. A., ch. 30, § 1.]

SEC. 923. Repeal—platting for assessment and taxation. Section nine hundred twenty-three of the code is hereby repealed and the following substitute is enacted in lieu thereof:

“Whenever a congressional subdivision of land of one hundred and sixty acres or less, or any lot or subdivision, is owned by two or more persons in severalty, and the description of one or more of the different parts or parcels thereof cannot, in the judgment of the county auditor, be made sufficiently certain and accurate for the purposes of assessment and taxation without noting the metes and bounds of the same, he shall cause to be made and recorded in his office and the office of the county recorder a plat of such tract or lot with its several subdivisions including and replatting in such plat such other plats or parts thereof included within the same lot or congressional subdivision of land as may seem to him to be required in accordance with the provisions of this chapter, proceeding as directed in the preceding section, and all of its provisions shall govern.” [31 G. A., ch. 30, § 2.]

The plat referred to in this section is not a municipal plat. It does not fix the character of the land, but only its description, and extension of the corporate limits of the city so as to include such plat, held not to make it a city or town plat, within the provisions of § 1996, Code of '73, as to the extent of the homestead within town plats. Parrott v. Thiel, 117-392.

While the auditor has authority to plat a tract into subdivisions for convenience in taxation, although the same territory has previously been platted, he should not do so unless the new plat contains such reference to former plats as will make it possible to determine just what portions of any particular lots in the original plats are included in each subdivision of the new plat. Cranston v. McQuiston, 127-104.

The plat contemplated is to be recorded in the auditor's office and not in the recorder's office and is not intended to furnish the basis of description for purposes of conveyance. Ibid.

Where the auditor's plat is improperly recorded in the recorder's office, it may be set aside in an action in equity for the purpose of removing a cloud from the title of one whose rights are determined by the original plat. Ibid.

The platting of territory within city limits by the auditor for purposes of taxation does not make it a part of the city or town plat. Foster v. Rice, 126-190.

SEC. 924. Insufficiency of description in deed. Every conveyance of land in this state shall be deemed to be a warranty that the description therein contained is sufficiently definite and accurate to enable the auditor to enter the same on the plat book required to be kept; and when there is presented for entry on the transfer book any conveyance in which the description is not sufficiently definite and accurate, the auditor shall note such fact on the deed, with that of the entry for transfer, and shall notify the person presenting it that the land therein is not sufficiently described, and must be platted within thirty days thereafter. Any person aggrieved by the opinion of the auditor may within said thirty days appeal therefrom to the board of supervisors, by giving notice thereof in writing, and thereupon no further proceeding shall be taken by the auditor. At its next session the board of supervisors shall determine said matter and direct whether the plat shall be executed and filed, and within what time. If the grantor in such conveyance shall neglect for thirty days thereafter to file for record a plat thereof, and of the appropriate congressional subdivision in which the same is found, duly executed and acknowledged as required by the auditor, or, in case of appeal, as directed by the board of supervisors, then the auditor shall proceed as is provided in this chapter, and cause such plat to be made and recorded in his office and the office of the county recorder, and thereupon the same result shall follow as provided in the preceding section. Such plat shall describe said tract and any other subdivisions of the smallest congressional subdivision of which the same is part, numbering them by progressive numbers, setting forth the courses and distances, the number of acres, and such other memoranda as is necessary; and descriptions of such lots or subdivisions according to the number and designation thereon said plat shall be deemed sufficient for all purposes. [C., '73, § 570.] [31 G. A., ch. 30, § 3.]

SEC. 924-a. Acts of county auditors and recorders legalized. The acts of the county auditors of Iowa, in making and recording plats as authorized under sections nine hundred twenty-two (922), nine hundred twenty-three (923) and nine hundred twenty-four (924) of the code without first having properly signed or acknowledged the same and the acts of the county recorders of Iowa in recording such plats are hereby legalized and the same declared valid and binding the same as though they had in such respects been made and recorded in strict compliance with law. [32 G. A., ch. 247, § 1.]

SEC. 924-b. Descriptions of land legalized. The description of land in all instruments, conveyances and incumbrances describing lots in or referring to plats made by the county auditors of Iowa, or by the county surveyor for the owner, and placed of record by the county recorders of Iowa, are hereby legalized and the same declared valid and binding the same as though the said plats had been signed and acknowledged and filed and recorded in strict compliance with law. [32 G. A., ch. 247, § 2.]

SEC. 924-c. Pending litigation or decrees of court already rendered. This act shall not affect any rights now in litigation or which have been settled or adjudicated by the judgment or decree of any court. [32 G. A., ch. 247, § 3.]

SEC. 926. How made. The county surveyor of any county in which is situated any city, town, village or addition thereto, as contemplated in this chapter, may, and upon payment of his legal fees by any person desiring the same, must, make a resurvey of such city, town, village or addition, or any portion, and plat thereof, which plat shall conform as near as may be with the original lines of the parcel or tract so resurveyed, and be made in all respects in accordance with the provisions of this chapter. In making a resurvey and plat, the surveyor may summon witnesses, administer oaths, and take and hear evidence touching the original plat lines and subdivisions, whether the original proprietor is dead, and any other matter which may assist in arriving at and establishing the true lines and boundaries; but no resurvey shall be made except upon notice to be given by the surveyor by a publication of the contemplated resurvey, once each week, for four consecutive weeks in some newspaper printed in the county. [15 G. A., ch. 54, § 2.] [31 G. A., ch. 9, § 25.]

CHAPTER 14.

OF CITIES UNDER SPECIAL CHARTERS.

SECTION 933. General provisions not applicable.

The sections in this chapter are applicable only to cities under special charter. Harvey v. Clarinda, 111-528.

A statute applicable only to cities under special charter is not unconstitutional for want of uniformity of operation. The adoption in the Code of 1857 of the provision prohibiting the granting of special charters to cities did not annual or render invalid the charters already granted. Ulbrecht v. Keokuk, 124-1.

SEC. 943. Compensation of aldermen—not to be interested.

The provision that no member of the city council shall be directly or indirectly interested in any contract for work or services does not affect the validity of the contract in such sense that a property owner can complain after the work is done of a violation of such provision. Diver v. Keokuk, 126-691.

The provision that a member of a city council shall not become interested directly or indirectly in any contract for work or service to be performed for the corporation, has no application to the employment of a member of the city council as physician by the local board of health appointed by the mayor. DeWitt v. Mills County, 126-169.

SEC. 947. Ordinances—fines.

A city may not impose a fine in excess of $100 for breach of an ordinance, and if the ordinance provides cumulative penalties for a continuing offense, so that the aggregate fines for such offense may amount to more than $100, the ordinance is in that respect void. State v. Babcock, 112-250.

SEC. 952. Ordinances signed and published—general powers. Sections six hundred and eighty-five, six hundred and eighty-six, six hundred and eighty-seven and six hundred and ninety-three of chapter three of this title, and sections six hundred and ninety-five to seven hundred and nineteen, seven hundred and twenty-two to seven hundred and thirty-two inclusive, of chapter four of this title, are hereby made applicable to cities acting under special charter. [27 G. A., ch. 28, § 1.]

SEC. 953-a. Repeal. That section nine hundred and fifty-three (953) of the code and section two (2) of chapter twenty-eight (28) of the acts of the twenty-seventh general assembly be and the same is hereby repealed. [29 G. A., ch. 50, § 1.]

SEC. 955. Water and gas works—electric light and power plants—street railway and telephone franchises. Such cities shall have power to establish, erect, purchase, lease, maintain or operate, within or without the corporate limits, heating plants, water works, gas works, electric light or electric power plants, with all the necessary reservoirs, mains, filters, streams, trenches, pipes, drains, poles, wires, burners, machinery, apparatus, and other requisites of said works or plants; but no such works or plants shall be thus established, erected, purchased or leased unless a majority of the electors voting on such proposition shall vote in favor of the same, at a general or special election. They may also grant individuals or private corporations the authority to erect, maintain or purchase such works or plants or railways, street railways or telephone systems, for the term of not more than twenty-five years, and may renew or extend the term of such grants for a period not exceeding twenty-five years; but no exclusive franchise shall be thus granted, extended or renewed, and no franchise shall be granted or authorized, until after notice of the application therefor has been published once each week for four consecutive weeks in some newspaper published in such city. [23 G. A., ch. 11, § 1.; 22 G. A., ch. 11, §§ 1,

2; 22 G. A., ch. 26; 14 G. A., ch. 78, §§ 2-5; C., '73, § 471.] [32 G. A., ch. 45.]

The notice contemplated by this section is intended to advise the property owners of the city not only that the franchise is desired, but also of the very terms of such franchise. Hall v. Cedar Rapids, 115-199.

The granting of permission to a street railway having a franchise for the laying of its tracks in the streets, to lay such tracks on a street not already occupied by it, is not the granting of a new franchise requiring statutory notice. Thurston v. Huston, 123-157.

SEC. 955-a. Repeal. The law as it appears in section nine hundred and fifty-five-a (955-a) of the supplement to the code is hereby repealed. [32 G. A., ch. 46.]

SEC. 958. Other general powers. Sections seven hundred and thirty-four to seven hundred and forty-one, inclusive, of chapter four; chapter five; and sections seven hundred and fifty-one to seven hundred and seventy-four, and seven hundred and seventy-seven to seven hundred and ninety-one, inclusive, chapter six, of this title are made applicable to cities acting under special charter. And wherever the words "board of supervisors," "county auditor or recorder of deeds," and "county treasurer," are used in any section made applicable by chapter fourteen of title V of this code, to cities acting under special charters, the words "city council," "city clerk or recorder," and "city collector or treasurer," shall be respectively substituted. [27 G. A., ch. 28, § 4.]

SEC. 965. Street improvements and sewers.

The notice required by this section is jurisdictional. Reed v. Cedar Rapids, 111 N. W. 1013.

If the plat and schedule are filed as required in this section it is unnecessary to file a duplicate after the completion of the work. Ibid.

SEC. 971. Notice and levy of special assessments. After filing the plat and schedule referred to in section eight hundred and twenty-one, chapter seven, of this title, the council shall direct the clerk or recorder to give ten days' notice, by publishing same three times in a newspaper published in said city, that such plat and schedule are on file in the office of the clerk, fixing a time within which all objections thereto or to the prior proceedings must be made in writing; and the council, having heard the objections and made necessary corrections, shall levy the special assessment as shown in such plat and schedule. [25 G. A., ch. 7, §§ 11, 18; 22 G. A., ch. 5, § 6; 22 G. A., ch. 6, § 5; 21 G. A., ch. 168, §§ 11, 19.] [27 G. A., ch. 28, § 3.]

The provision of this section is not repealed by 28 G. A., Ch. 29, making the general provisions of Code § 823 applicable to cities under special charters. Diver v. Keokuk, 126-691.

This section is not unconstitutional for not requiring the notice to fix a time certain for hearing objections. Reed v. Cedar Rapids, 111 N. W. 1013.

SEC. 975. When delinquent—lien. Such assessment, and each installment with the interest thereon, shall be paid with accrued costs, at the office of the collector or treasurer, by the owner of the property upon which it is levied, at or before the time said property is sold for taxes or interest or both, and each installment and all interest due and unpaid shall become delinquent at the time fixed by ordinance or resolution, and shall bear such interest from the time of becoming delinquent, as ordinary taxes. All special assessments shall be a lien upon the property against which the same are assessed, from the date of the resolution of the council levying the same and shall be prior and superior to all other liens except ordinary taxes, and shall not be divested by any judicial sale of the property. [25 G. A., ch. 7, § 11; 22 G. A., ch. 5, § 7; 21 G. A., ch. 168, § 12; 20 G. A., ch. 20, §§ 5, 6; 20 G. A., ch. 25; 17 G. A., ch. 162, § 3; 14 G. A., ch. 45, § 6; 13 G. A., ch. 14; 12 G. A., ch. 111; C., '73, §§ 478, 481; R., § 1068.] [31 G. A., ch. 31.]

SEC. 979. Other provisions as to special assessments. Sections eight hundred and twenty-eight, eight hundred and thirty-two, eight hundred and thirty-three, eight hundred and thirty-four, eight hundred and thirty-five, and eight hundred and forty, chapter seven, of this title, are made applicable to cities under special charter. [27 G. A., ch. 28, § 5.]

SEC. 984. Personal debt—action to enforce.

The provision of § 479 of the Code of '73 for recovery of ten per cent. interest and expenses of collection, where the assessment is collected by suit against the owner, held applicable only to a suit by the city. Des Moines Brick Mfg. Co. v. Smith, 108-307.

The statutory provisions relating to special charter cities that recovery against an abutting owner for an improvement may be assessed on the basis of quantum meruit, notwithstanding infirmities or irregularities in the proceedings for the assessment, held not applicable where for want of a valid contract as required by law the city had no jurisdiction to make any assessment for such improvement. Allen v. Davenport, 132 Fed. 209.

SEC. 989. Limitation of action.

This section is not to be given a retrospective operation. Waples v. Dubuque, 116-167.

The provision is not applicable to certificates and bonds already issued at the time the provision was adopted. Citizens' State Bank, 127-450.

Such limitation has no application to a re-assessment to pay such certificates or bonds. Ibid.

SEC. 999. Condemnation of land.

Under this section a city, acting under special charter, has power to acquire land by condemnation for a public landing.

Diamond Jo Line Steamers v. Davenport, 114,432.

SEC. 1004. Other provisions as to levying taxes. Sections eight hundred and eighty-eight, eight hundred and eighty-nine, eight hundred and ninety, eight hundred and ninety-one, eight hundred and ninety-two and eight hundred and ninety-three, of chapter eleven, of this title, section thirteen hundred and seventy (1370), section thirteen hundred and seventy-one (1371) as amended by chapter thirty-three of the acts of the twenty-seventh general assembly, section thirteen hundred and seventy-two (1372) as amended by chapter thirty of the acts of the twenty-seventh general assembly, and section thirteen hundred and seventy-three (1373), of chapter one of title seven, are made applicable to cities under special charter, except that the words "city treasurer" or "collector," and "city" shall be substituted for "county auditor" or "county," wherever the same appear in said sections. [29 G. A., ch. 52, § 1.]

SEC. 1005. Special taxes. They shall have power to levy annually the following taxes for special purposes:

1. Grading fund. A tax not exceeding three mills on the dollar for a grading fund, to be used for the purpose of opening, widening, extending or grading any street, public ground or market place; [23 G. A., ch. 5, § 1; 21 G. A., ch. 160, §§ 2, 3; 20 G. A., ch. 20, § 5.]

A statutory provision not retained in the Code, provided that property paying special assessments for street improvements might be exempted from road tax. Held that the repeal of such provision by the adoption of the Code left the property subject to taxation under the provisions of this section. Miller v. Hageman, 114-195.

2. Improvement fund. A tax not exceeding three mills on the dollar for the city improvement fund, to be used for the purpose of paying the cost of the making, reconstruction and repair of any street improvement at the intersection of streets, and spaces opposite streets intersecting but not crossing, and the spaces opposite property owned by the city or state; [25 G. A., ch. 8, § 1; 22 G. A., ch. 12, § 1; 21 G. A., ch. 160, §§ 2, 3; 19 G. A., ch. 38, §§ 1, 2.]

3. Sewer fund. A tax not exceeding three mills on the dollar on the assessed valuation of all property therein, for the city sewer fund, to be used to pay the cost of making, reconstructing or repairing any sewer at the intersection of streets, and all spaces opposite streets intersecting but not crossing, and at spaces opposite property owned by the city or state, or to pay the whole or any part of the cost of making, reconstructing or repairing any sewer within the limits of such city. When the city has been divided into sewer districts, a tax not exceeding five mills on the taxable real property in the sewer district, for the district sewer fund, to be used to pay, in whole or in part, the cost of the making, reconstruction or repair of any sewer located or laid in that particular district; provided that, on petition of the owners of two-thirds in value of all the taxable real estate within such sewer district for the construction of a sewer in such district, then the maximum percentage of taxes that can be levied in any one year shall not be limited to five mills, but shall be such percentage of the valuation of such property as will produce at least one-tenth of the whole cost of such sewer assessable upon the real property in such district; [25 G. A., ch. 7, § 11; 22 G. A., ch. 7, § 1; 21 G. A., ch. 34, § 1; 17 G. A., ch. 162, § 1; 16 G. A., ch. 107, § 1.]

4. Fire fund. A tax not exceeding three mills on the dollar for the purpose of creating a city fire fund, to be used for paying the expenses of organizing, keeping and maintaining a fire department, including the expenses of constructing, purchasing, leasing and maintaining the proper and necessary buildings, grounds and apparatus therefor; [26 G. A., ch. 27; 23 G. A., ch. 8, §§ 1, 2.]

5. Road fund. When any city is divided into road districts, a tax not exceeding two mills on the dollar on all taxable property in such road district, to be known as the district road fund, and to be used only to pay the cost of cleaning, sprinkling and repairing the streets and public places in such district;

6. Library tax. In cities which have established, or may establish, a free public library, a tax as provided in section seven hundred and thirty-two (732) and amendments thereto; [25 G. A., ch. 43, § 1; 25 G. A., ch. 99, § 2; 22 G. A., ch. 18, § 1; 14 G. A., ch. 17; 13 G. A., ch. 45; C., '73, § 461.] [29 G. A., ch. 50, § 2.]

7. Tax for water and gas works and electric plants. A tax not exceeding five mills on the dollar, which, with the rates, rents or revenues derived therefrom, shall be sufficient to pay the expenses of running, operating and repairing, water and gas works, electric light and power plants, owned and operated by such city, and the interest on or principal of any bonds issued to pay the cost of the construction of such works; but such taxes shall not be levied upon the property which lies wholly without the limits of the benefits or protection of such works or plants, which limit shall be fixed by the council each year before making the levy. [22 G. A., ch. 11, § 2; C., '73, § 475.]

8. Tax for water, gas and electric light or power. A tax, not exceeding five mills on the dollar for the purpose of paying the amount due, or to become due, to any individual or company operating water or gas works

SEC. 1010. Levy and collection of taxes.

Where a city had provided by ordinance for notice to the tax payer before the city board of equalization could add to his taxes, held that in the absence of such notice the increase of his assessment by such board was invalid. Cedar Rapids & M. C. R. Co. v. Redmond, 120-601

SEC. 1011. Assessment.

The provisions of Code § 1320 as to listing of property by an agent of a non-resident owner are applicable in special charter cities. German Trust Co. v. Board of Equalization, 121-325.

SEC. 1020. Questioning deed—refund. Sections fourteen hundred and six, fourteen hundred and seven, fourteen hundred and eight, fourteen hundred and twenty-three, fourteen hundred and thirty-four, fourteen hundred and forty-six, fourteen hundred and forty-seven and fourteen hundred and forty-eight, chapter two, title seven, of this code are hereby made applicable to cities acting under special charters except that, where the word "treasurer" is used, there shall be used the words "city collector or treasurer or deputy treasurer or deputy or officer authorized to collect city taxes." And where the word auditor is used, there shall be substituted the words, "city clerk or recorder." [27 G. A., ch. 82, § 6.]

SEC. 1026. Officers appointed—quorum.

There is nothing in the statutes prohibiting a member of the city council from being employed by the local board of health at an agreed compensation to treat cases of contagious diseases. Dewitt v. Mills County, 126-169.

SEC. 1050. Notice of unliquidated claim—limitation of action.

The limitations provided for by this section held not to be retroactive in effect. Thoeni v. Dubuque, 115-482.

A suit for injuries resulting from a defective sidewalk cannot be commenced within thirty days from the date of the service of the notice of the claim for such injuries, under the provisions of this section. Kenyon v. Cedar Rapids, 124-159.

Under the statutory provision relating to notice of claims against a special charter city before bringing suit the action must be commenced within three months after the cause thereof has accrued, and the filing of the claim must be at least thirty days before the suit is brought. Foley v. Cedar Rapids, 133-64.

SEC. 1051. Notice of claim for personal injury—limitation.

Reasonable certainty as to the place is all that is required in the notice. Rusch v. Dubuque, 116-402.

This section applies only to cities under special charters. Harvey v. Clarinda, 111-528.

For similar provisions as to other cities, see notes to Sec. 3447, Par. 1.

Recovery for the claim properly described in the notice is not defeated by the fact that the plaintiff asks in his petition to recover a larger sum than that named in the notice, and held that a verdict for the amount thus named would not be disturbed. Van Camp v. Keokuk, 130-716.

The notice required herein should advise the municipality of the nature and cause of the injury, the time and place when and where it occurred, and the particular defects or negligence which it is claimed caused or contributed to it. The claimant is not bound however to rely upon a single defect nor to confine his statement of the defendant's negligence to such defect. Bauer v. Dubuque, 122-500.

Notice of the nature and cause of an injury alleged to be due to the negligence of the city and for which recovery is sought is sufficient if it states in a general way the nature and cause of the injury, and the defect or negligence complained of. It is not necessary that the facts constituting negligence be set out in detail. Schnee v. Dubuque, 122-459.

There cannot be recovery under an amendment to the petition filed more than three months after the injury for items of damage not included within the statement of the claim. Ulbrecht v. Keokuk, 124-1.

SEC. 1056-a1. Board of water-works trustees. That the water-works now owned by such special charter cities having a population of thirty-five thousand (35,000) or more shall be managed and operated by a board of water-works trustees, which shall be composed of three resident electors, appointed by the mayor of any such city. Upon the taking effect of this act, one of such trustees shall be appointed for a term of one year, another for a term of two years, and the remaining trustee for a term of three years, and thereafter each such trustee shall be appointed for a term of three years. Said trustees shall receive no compensation whatever for their duties as such. All vacancies occurring on said board occasioned by death, resignation, removal or otherwise, shall be filled by appointment to be made by the mayor of said city for the unexpired term. Each trustee upon qualifying shall execute and furnish the city an official bond, in the sum of five thousand dollars ($5,000), for the faithful performance of his duties, which bond, if sufficient, shall be approved by the city council and filed with the city recorder and by him kept in his office and recorded in a book kept for that purpose, and the expense of such bonds shall be paid by the city treasurer, upon the order of the trustees, out of the water-works funds. Any of such trustees may be removed from office for cause under the provisions of chapter eight (8) of title six (VI) of the code, and in addition thereto, the mayor may, for like cause after hearing, remove any of such trustees. [32 G. A., ch. 47, § 1.]

SEC. 1056-a2. Superintendent—employes—duties of board. The said board of trustees shall employ an efficient superintendent, and such other employes as may be necessary and proper, for the operation and betterment of such works, for the collection of water rentals, and for the conduct of the business incident to the operation thereof. The said board of trustees shall require of the superintendent, and of the other employes as they may deem proper, good and sufficient bonds, the amount thereof to be fixed and approved by said board, for the faithful performance of their duties, which bonds shall run in the name of the city and be filed with the city recorder and by him kept in his office and recorded in a book kept for that purpose. All money collected by the board of water-works trustees shall be deposited at least daily by them with the city treasurer; and all money so deposited and all tax money received by the city treasurer from any source, levied and collected for and on account of the water-works, shall be kept by the city treasurer as a separate and distinct fund, for which funds the city treasurer shall be liable upon his official bond the same as for other funds received by him as such treasurer. Such moneys shall be paid out by the city treasurer only on the written order of the board of water-works trustees, who shall have full and absolute control of the application and disbursement thereof for the purposes prescribed by law, including the payment of all indebtedness arising in the maintenance, operation, betterment, and extension of said water-works; and said board of water-works trustees shall make no payment of any kind whatsoever, except by written order on the city treasurer. For the operation, betterment, and improvement of such works, said board of trustees may incur obligations, and to pay therefor may anticipate the revenues of such works for a period not to exceed one year, unless the city council shall by tax levy make provision for the payment thereof. The board of trustees shall fix uniform water-rates and make and enforce proper rules and regulations for the collection of water-rentals and the supplying of good water service, and shall furnish the city council a schedule of such water rates and duplicate of such rules and regulations for publication as part of the proceedings of the city council. Such board of trustees shall each three months furnish the city council an itemized statement of all receipts and expenditures during such period, including all current liabilities and outstanding accounts, and, also complete annual statements, in the form of a balance sheet, which shall include all assets and liabilities; and, at least annually, and oftener if they see fit report the general condition and needs of the water-works plant; and such quarterly and annual statements and such reports shall when so furnished, be at once published as a part of the proceedings of the city council. Said board of trustees shall keep a book wherein a record shall be entered and kept of their proceedings, and which proceedings, duly attested, shall be at once published in two of the official newspapers of any such city. All books, vouchers, and records of said trustees in anywise relating to the water-works shall be open to the inspection and examination of any resident of said city. [32 G. A., ch. 47, § 2.]

SEC. 1056-a3. Cities affected—terms of office of acting trustees. All the provisions of this act shall be held and construed as applying to cities acting under special charters having a population of thirty-five thousand (35,000) or more as shown by the last state census; and all acts or parts of acts in conflict with this act shall not be applicable to any such cities in so far as they relate to the future management of water-works; and upon the taking effect of this act and the appointment of trustees hereunder, the terms of office of any and all water-works trustees now acting in any such city shall at once cease. [32 G. A., ch. 47, § 3.]

SEC. 1056-a4. Penalty or interest on unpaid taxes. That in cities acting under special charter no penalty or interest shall be collected upon taxes or assessments remaining unpaid four years or more, from the first day of January of the year in which the tax books containing the same, were first placed in the hands of the city collector or treasurer. [31 G. A., ch. 32.]

SEC. 1056-a5. Valuation—how provided. That the assessed or taxable value of all property, and the value at which it shall be listed, and upon which the levy shall be made, in special charter cities shall be provided by the city council of such city. [31 G. A., ch. 33, § 1.]

SEC. 1056-a6. Levy upon property valued and returned by executive council. That, where all property, except such as is listed and valued by the executive council is assessed upon its full or a certain percentage of its full valuation, the levy upon all such property valued and returned by the executive council shall be on a like percentage of the valuation so returned. [31 G. A., ch. 33, § 2.]

CHAPTER 14-A.

OF UNIFORM SYSTEM OF MUNICIPAL ACCOUNTS.

SECTION 1056-a7. Annual financial report. It shall be the duty of the chief accounting and warrant issuing officer of each city and town, namely auditor or clerk as the case may be, to prepare and to publish the annual report of the financial condition and transactions of the city or town now or hereafter required by law, and all accounting officers of all boards or commission departments and offices whatsoever within the corporate area receiving or disbursing public funds shall file with the auditor or clerk, within thirty days from the expiration of their fiscal year, a report in writing of official transactions in the form and manner required by law. In case of refusal or gross neglect to comply with the law and provisions herein governing the method of accounting for and reporting municipal transactions herein referred to, the official so delinquent shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor. The auditor or clerk aforesaid is hereby authorized to institute legal proceedings to enforce the provisions herein requiring report to him. [31 G. A., ch. 34, § 1.]

SEC. 1056-a8. How published. In cities having a population of five thousand or over, the annual report aforesaid shall be printed in pamphlet form. At least five hundred copies of said report shall be printed and the expense thereof shall be provided for annually by the city council. In cities and towns having less than five thousand population, the annual report may be published in pamphlet form if authorized by the city council. [31 G. A., ch. 34, § 2.]

SEC. 1056-a9. Certified to auditor of state—auditor to publish returns. On or before the first day of July the auditor or clerk of each city or town shall forward to the auditor of state a certified copy of the annual report in the form prescribed as hereinafter provided and said auditor of state shall publish in a separate volume such returns, showing under appropriate schedules the total receipts and expenditures, assets and indebtedness and related data of all cities and towns in the state together with his comment and recommendations respecting desirable changes in the laws governing financial administration in municipalities. Three thousand copies of such auditor's report shall be annually printed on or before December first for general distribution in accordance with law. [31 G. A., ch. 34, § 3.]

SEC. 1056-a 10. Uniform system of accounts—auditor to prescribe—advisory committee. That uniformity in the methods of accounting for and reporting the financial transactions of municipalities may be secured, the auditor of state is authorized and he is hereby directed to formulate and prescribe a system of municipal accounts and method of presenting departmental and general reports which shall be adopted and compiled within the administration of all cities or towns on and after April 1st, nineteen hundred and seven (1907). To insure careful consideration of the merits and defects of existing methods in local accounting, the auditor of state shall appoint an advisory committee of not less than five nor more than seven persons familiar with municipal accounts, a majority of whom shall be city accounting officers; said committee shall serve without compensation except that their necessary traveling and hotel expenses for a period not to exceed thirty days shall be allowed them and for such expense the auditor of state is authorized to issue warrants upon the treasurer of state. In the system to be devised as herein contemplated, the officer and persons charged therewith shall adopt so far as practicable the latest and most approved methods in municipal accounting, especially the classifications and definitions of municipal finance in use in the national census office. [31 G. A., ch. 34, § 4.]

SEC. 1056-a11. Examiners of municipal accounts—compensation. The auditor of state shall appoint one or more examiners of municipal accounts whose duty it shall be at least once in two years to examine into, audit and report upon the financial condition and transactions of all cities having a population of five thousand or more. Said examiners shall have power to compel the attendance of witnesses and to administer oaths and shall have access to all books, papers or records essential in a thorough going examination. The examiner in charge of an investigation shall, on the conclusion thereof, file a written report of his findings with the mayor and council and with the auditor of state including his criticisms of any faults found and his recommendations respecting improvements desirable. Any and all reports thus made and filed shall be open to public inspection. The compensation of said examiners shall be five dollars ($5.00) for each day actually employed together with their necessary traveling expenses; the sum so due in any case shall be paid by the auditor of state upon the presentation of proper bills therefor, by warrants on the treasury of state; thereupon the auditor of state shall file a claim for the full amount so allowed with the auditor or clerk of the city or town examined, and the council thereof shall provide for its payment. [31 G. A., ch. 34, § 5.]

SEC. 1056-a12. Application for examination. Any city or town with a population of less than five thousand may secure an examination of its financial transactions and the condition of its funds and a report thereon by a state examiner upon application by either the mayor or the council to the auditor of state. Further upon petition of fifty or more tax payers of any city or town setting forth facts that in the opinion of the state auditor justify action, the auditor of state shall send an examiner to inspect and report upon the financial administration and condition of the municipality in question. [31 G. A., ch. 34, § 6.]

SEC. 1056-a13. Applicable to special charter cities. The foregoing provisions shall apply to cities under special charters. [31 G. A., ch. 34, § 7.]

SEC. 1056-a14. Repeal—acts in conflict. All acts or parts of acts inconsistent with this act are hereby repealed. [31 G. A., ch. 34, § 8.]

CHAPTER 14-B.

OF APPOINTMENTS AND REMOVALS.

SECTION 1056-a15. Preference in appointments and promotions. That in every public department and upon all public works in the state of Iowa, and of the counties, cities and towns thereof, honorably discharged soldiers, sailors, and marines from the army and navy of the United States in the late civil war, who are citizens and residents of this state, shall be entitled to preference in appointment, employment and promotion, over other persons of equal qualifications and the persons thus preferred shall not be disqualified from holding any position hereinbefore mentioned on account of his age or by reason of any physical disability, provided such age or disability does not render him incompetent to perform properly the duties of the position applied for and when such soldier, sailor or marine, shall apply for appointment or employment under this act, the officer, board or person whose duty it is or may be to appoint or employ some person to fill such position or place, shall before appointing or employing any one to fill such position or place, make an investigation as to the qualifications of said soldier, sailor or marine for such place or position, and if he is a man of good moral character and can perform the duties of said position so applied for by him, as hereinbefore provided, said officer, board or person shall appoint said soldier, sailor or marine to such position, place or employment. A refusal to allow the preference provided for in this and the next succeeding section to any honorably discharged soldier, sailor or marine, or a reduction of his compensation intended to bring about his resignation or discharge entitles such honorably discharged soldier, sailor or marine to a right of action therefor in any court of competent jurisdiction for damages, and also a remedy for mandamus for righting the wrong. [30 G. A., ch. 9, § 1.]

If the qualifications of a soldier of the civil war as applicant are not equal to those of the other persons under consideration for appointment he is not entitled to such appointment and the appointing board is authorized to determine that question. McBride v. City Council, 110 N. W. 157.

The statute providing for preference of honorably discharged soldiers and sailors of the civil war who are residents of the state to appointment, employment and promotion in the public service over others of equal qualification, violates no constitutional provision. The right of appointment to a minor municipal office is not a privilege within the constitutional guaranties. Shaw v. Marshalltown, 131-128.

SEC. 1056-a16. Removals. Any person whose rights may be in any way prejudiced contrary to any of the provisions of this section shall be entitled to a writ of mandamus to remedy the wrong. No person holding a position by appointment or employment in the state of Iowa, or in the several counties, cities, or towns, thereof, who is an honorably discharged soldier, sailor or marine having served as such in the union army or navy during the late civil war shall be removed from such position or employment except for incompetency or misconduct shown after a hearing, upon due notice, upon stated charges, and with the right of such employe or appointee to a review by a writ of certiorari. The burden of proving incompetency or misconduct shall rest upon the party alleging the same. Nothing in this act shall be construed to apply to the position of private secretary or deputy of any official or department, or to any person holding a strictly confidential relation to the appointing officer. [30 G. A., ch. 9, § 2.]

CHAPTER 14-C.

OF GOVERNMENT OF CERTAIN CITIES.

SECTION 1056-a17. Cities affected. That any city of the first class, or with special charter, now or hereafter having a population of twenty-five thousand or over, as shown by the last preceding state census, may become organized as a city under the provisions of this act by proceeding as herein-after provided. [32 G. A., ch. 48, § 1.]

SEC. 1056-a18. Petition — question submitted — result certified — election of officers. Upon petition of electors equal in number to twenty-five per centum of the votes cast for all candidates for mayor at the last preceding city election of any such city, the mayor shall by proclamation, submit the question of organizing as a city under this act at a special election to be held at a time specified therein, and within two months after said petition is filed. If said plan is not adopted at the special election called, the question of adopting said plan shall not be re-submitted to the voters of said city for adoption, within two years thereafter and then the question to adopt shall be re-submitted upon the presentation of a petition signed by electors equal in number to twenty-five per centum of the votes cast for all candidates for mayor at the last preceding general city election. At such election, the proposition to be submitted shall be, "Shall the proposition to organize the city of (name the city), under chapter (naming the chapter containing this act) of the acts of the thirty-second general assembly, be adopted?" and the election thereupon shall be conducted, the vote canvassed, and the result declared in the same manner as provided by law in respect to other city elections. If the majority of the votes cast shall be in favor thereof, the city shall thereupon proceed to the election of a mayor and four (4) councilmen, as hereinafter provided. Immediately after such proposition is adopted, the mayor shall transmit to the governor, to the secretary of state, and to the county auditor, each a certificate stating that such proposition was adopted. At the next regular city election after the adoption of such proposition, there shall be elected a mayor and four (4) councilmen. In the event however, that the next regular city election does not occur within one year after such special election, the mayor shall, within ten days after such special election, by proclamation, call a special election for the election of a mayor and four councilmen, sixty days' notice thereof being given in such call; such election in either case to be conducted as hereinafter provided. [32 G. A., ch. 48, § 2.]

SEC. 1056-a19. Statutes applicable—existing ordinances, resolutions, etc. All laws governing cities of the first class and not inconsistent with the provisions of this act, and sections 955, 956, 959, 964, 989, 1000, 1023, and 1053 of the code now applicable to special charter cities and not inconsistent with the provisions of this act, shall apply to and govern cities organized under this act. All by-laws, ordinances and resolutions lawfully passed and in force in any such city under its former organization shall remain in force until altered or repealed by the council elected under the provisions of this act. The territorial limits of such city shall remain the same as under its former organization and all rights and property of every description which were vested in any such city under its former organization, shall vest in the same under the organization herein contemplated, and no right or liability either in favor of or against it, existing at the time, and no suit or prosecution of any kind shall be affected by such change, unless otherwise provided for in this act. [32 G. A., ch. 48, § 3.]

SEC. 1056-a20. Elective officers — vacancies — terms of office. In every such city there shall be elected at the regular biennial municipal election, a mayor and four councilmen. If any vacancy occurs in any such office the remaining members of said council shall appoint a person to fill such vacancy during the balance of the unexpired term. Said officers shall be nominated and elected at large. Said officers shall qualify and their terms of office shall begin on the first Monday after their election. The terms of office of the mayor and councilmen or aldermen in such city in office at the beginning of the terms of office of the mayor and councilmen first elected under the provisions of this act shall then cease and determine, and the terms of office of all other appointive officers in force in such city, except as hereinafter provided, shall cease and determine as soon as the council shall by resolution declare. [32 G. A., ch. 48, § 4.]

SEC. 1056-a21. Candidates—how nominated—primary election—ballot—canvass of vote—result published—municipal election. Candidates to be voted for at all general municipal elections at which a mayor and four councilmen are to be elected under the provisions of this act shall be nominated by a primary election, and no other names shall be placed upon the general ballot except those selected in the manner hereinafter prescribed. The primary election for such nomination shall be held on the second Monday preceding the general municipal election. The judges of election appointed for the general municipal election shall be the judges of the primary election, and it shall be held at the same place, so far as possible, and the polls shall be opened and closed at the same hours, with the same clerks as are required for said general municipal election. Any person desiring to become a candidate for mayor or councilman shall, at least ten days prior to said primary election, file with the said clerk a statement of such candidacy, in substantially the following form:

SEC. 1056-a22. Services for hire—penalty. Any person who shall agree to perform any services in the interest of any candidate for any office provided in this act, in consideration of any money or other valuable thing for such services performed in the interest of any candidate, shall be punished by a fine not exceeding three hundred dollars ($300), or be imprisoned in the county jail not exceeding thirty (30) days. [32 G. A., ch. 48, § 5-a.]

SEC. 1056-a23. Bribery and illegal voting—penalty. Each succeeding council shall, as soon as practicable after organizing, appoint one commissioner for six years, who shall take the place of the commissioner whose term of office expires. The chairman of the commission for each biennial period shall be the member whose term first expires. No person while on the said commission shall hold or be a candidate for any office of public trust. Two of said members shall constitute a quorum to transact business. The commissioners must be citizens of Iowa, and residents of the city for more than three years next preceding their appointment. The council may remove any of said commissioners during their term of office for cause, four councilmen voting in favor of such removal, and shall fill any vacancy that may occur in said commission for the unexpired term. The city council shall provide suitable rooms in which the said civil service commission may hold its meetings. They shall have a clerk, who shall keep a record of all its meetings, such city to supply the said commission with all necessary equipment to properly attend to such business.

(b) Examinations—results certified. Said commission shall, on the first Monday of April and October of each year, or oftener if it shall be deemed necessary, under such rules and regulations as may be prescribed by the council, hold examinations for the purpose of determining the qualifications of applicants for positions, which examinations shall be practical and shall fairly test the fitness of the persons examined to discharge the duties of the position to which they seek to be appointed. Said commission shall, as soon as possible after such examination, certify to the council double the number of persons necessary to fill vacancies, who, according to its records, have the highest standing for the positions they seek to fill as a result of such examination, and all vacancies which occur, that come under the civil service, prior to the date of the next regular examination, shall be filled from said list so certified; provided, however, that should the list for any cause be reduced to less than three for any division, then the council or the head of the proper department may temporarily fill a vacancy, but not to exceed thirty days.

Such employe (or the officer discharging or suspending him) may, within five days of such ruling, appeal therefrom to the council, which shall fully hear and determine the matter.

(d) Witnesses—annual report—rules and regulations. The council shall have the power to enforce the attendance of witnesses, the production of books and papers, and power to administer oaths in the same manner and with like effect, and under the same penalties, as in the case of magistrates exercising criminal or civil jurisdiction under the statutes of Iowa. (e) Penalties. The council of such city shall have power to pass ordinances imposing suitable penalties for the punishment of persons violating any of the provisions of this act relating to the civil service commission.

(f) Officers and employes affected. The provisions of this section shall apply to all appointive officers and employees of such city, except those especially named in section 8 of this act, commissioners of any kind (laborers whose occupation requires no special skill or fitness), election officials, and mayor's secretary and assistant solicitor, where such officers are appointed; provided, however, that existing employees heretofore appointed, or employed after competitive examination, or for long service under the provisions of chapter 31, acts of the 29th general assembly, and subsequent amendments thereto, shall retain their positions without further examination unless removed for cause. All officers and employees in any such city shall be elected or appointed with reference to their qualifications and fitness, and for the good of the public service, and without reference to their political faith or party affiliations. It shall be unlawful for any candidate for office, or any officer in any such city, directly or indirectly, to give or promise any person or persons any office, position, employment, benefit, or anything of value, for the purpose of influencing or obtaining the political support, aid or vote of any person or persons. Every elective officer in any such city shall, within thirty days after qualifying, file with the city clerk, and publish at least once in a daily newspaper of general circulation, his sworn statement of all his election and campaign expenses, and by whom such funds were contributed. Any violation of the provisions of this sec-

SEC. 1056-a33. Monthly itemized statement—annual examination. The council shall each month print in pamphlet form a detailed itemized statement of all receipts and expenses of the city and a summary of its proceedings during the preceding month, and furnish printed copies thereof to the state library, the city library, the daily newspapers of the city, and to persons who shall apply therefor at the office of the city clerk. At the end of each year the council shall cause a full and complete examination of all the books and accounts of the city to be made by competent accountants, and shall publish the result of such examination in the manner above provided for publication of statements of monthly expenditures. [32 G. A., ch. 48, § 15.]

SEC. 1056-a34. Appropriations. If, at the beginning of the term of office of the first council elected in such city under the provisions of this act, the appropriations for the expenditures of the city government for the current fiscal year have been made, said council shall have power, by ordinance, to revise, repeal or change said appropriations and to make additional appropriations. [32 G. A., ch. 48, § 16.]

SEC. 1056-a35. Terms defined. In the construction of this act the following rules shall be observed, unless such construction would be inconsistent with the manifest intent, or repugnant to the context of the statute.

1. The words "councilman" or "alderman" shall be construed to mean "councilman" when applied to cities under this act.

2. When an office or officer is named in any law referred to in this act, it shall, when applied to cities under this act, be construed to mean the office or officer having the same functions or duties under the provisions of this act, or under ordinances passed under authority thereof.

3. The word "franchise" shall include every special privilege in the streets, highways and public places of the city, whether granted by the state or the city, which does not belong to citizens generally by common right.

4. The word "electors" shall be construed to mean persons qualified to vote for elective offices at regular municipal elections. [32 G. A., ch. 48, § 17.]

SEC. 1056-a36. Removal of elective officers—procedure—election of successors. The holder of any elective office may be removed at any time by the electors qualified to vote for a successor of such incumbent. The procedure to effect the removal of an incumbent of an elective office shall be as follows: A petition signed by electors entitled to vote for a successor to the incumbent sought to be removed, equal in number to at least twenty-five per centum of the entire vote for all candidates for the office of mayor cast at the last preceding general municipal election, demanding an election of a successor of the person sought to be removed, shall be filed with the city clerk, which petition shall contain a general statement of the grounds for which the removal is sought. The signatures to the petition need not all be appended to one paper, but each signer shall add to his signature his place of residence, giving the street and number. One of the signers of each such paper shall make oath before an officer competent to administer oaths that the statements therein made are true as he believes, and that each signature to the paper appended is the genuine signature of the person whose name it purports to be. Within ten days from the date of filing such petition the city clerk shall examine and from the voters' register ascertain whether or not said petition is signed by the requisite number of qualified electors, and, if necessary, the council shall allow him extra help for that purpose; and he shall attach to said petition his certificate, showing the result of said examination. If by the clerk's certificate the petition is shown to be insufficient, it may be amended within ten days from the date of said certificate. The clerk shall, within ten days after such amendment, make like examination of the amended petition, and if his certificate shall show the same to be insufficient, it shall be returned to the person filing the same; without prejudice, however, to the filing of a new petition to the same effect. If the petition shall be deemed to be sufficient, the clerk shall submit the same to the council without delay. If the petition shall be found to be sufficient, the council shall order and fix a date for holding the said election, not less than thirty days or more than forty days from the date of the clerk's certificate to the council that a sufficient petition is filed. The council shall make or cause to be made publication of notice and all arrangements for holding such election, and the same shall be conducted, returned and the result thereof declared, in all respects as are other city elections. The successor of any officer so removed shall hold office during the unexpired term of his predecessor. Any person sought to be removed may be a candidate to succeed himself, and unless he requests otherwise in writing, the clerk shall place his name on the official ballot without nomination. In any such removal election, the candidate receiving the highest number of votes shall be declared elected. At such election if some other person than the incumbent receives the highest number of votes, the incumbent shall thereupon be deemed removed from the office upon qualification of his successor. In case the party who receives the highest number of votes should fail to qualify within ten days after receiving notification of election, the office shall be deemed vacant. If the incumbent receives the highest number of votes, he shall continue in office. The said method of removal shall be cumulative and additional to the methods heretofore provided by law. [32 G. A., ch. 48, § 18.]

SEC. 1056-a37. Petitions for ordinances—adoption or submission—how repealed or amended. Any proposed ordinance may be submitted to the council by petition signed by electors of the city equal in number to the percentage hereinafter required. The signatures, verification, authentication, inspection, certification, amendment and submission of such petition shall be the same as provided for petitions under section 18 hereof. If the petition accompanying the proposed ordinance be signed by electors equal in number to twenty-five per centum of the votes cast for all candidates for mayor at the last preceding general election, and contains a request that the said ordinance be submitted to a vote of the people if not passed by the council, such council shall either (a) Pass said ordinance without alteration within twenty days after attachment of the clerk's certificate to the accompanying petition, or (b) Forthwith after the clerk shall attach to the petition accompanying such ordinance his certificate of sufficiency, the council shall call a special election, unless a general municipal election is fixed within ninety days thereafter, and at such special or general municipal election, if one is so fixed, such ordinance shall be submitted without alteration to the vote of the electors of said city. But if the petition is signed by not less than ten nor more than twenty-five per centum of the electors, as above defined, then the council shall, within twenty days, pass said ordinance without change, or submit the same at the next general city election occurring not more than thirty days after the clerk's certificate of sufficiency is attached to said petition. The ballots used when voting upon said ordinance shall contain these words: "For the ordinance" (stating the nature of the proposed ordinance), and "Against the ordinance" (stating the nature of the proposed ordinance). If a majority of the qualified electors voting on the proposed ordinance shall vote in favor thereof, such ordinance shall thereupon become a valid and binding ordinance of the city; and any ordinance proposed by petition, or which shall be adopted by a vote of the people, cannot be repealed or amended except by a vote of the people. Any number of proposed ordinances may be voted upon at the same election, in accordance with the provisions of this section; but there shall not be more than one special election in any period of six months for such purpose. The council may submit a proposition for the repeal of any such ordinance, or for amendments thereto, to be voted upon at any succeeding general city election; and should such proposition so submitted receive a majority of the votes cast thereon at such election, such ordinance shall thereby be repealed or amended accordingly. Whenever any ordinance or proposition is required by this act to be submitted to the voters of the city at any election, the city clerk shall cause such ordinance or proposition to be published once in each of the daily newspapers published in said city; such publication to be not more than twenty or less than five days before the submission of such proposition or ordinance to be voted on. [32 G. A., ch. 48, § 19.]

SEC. 1056-a38. Ordinances—when effective—petitions of protest. No ordinance passed by the council, except when otherwise required by the general laws of the state or by the provisions of this act, except an ordinance for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health or safety, which contains a statement of its urgency and is passed by a two-thirds vote of the council, shall go into effect before ten days from the time of its final passage; and if during said ten days a petition signed by electors of the city equal in number to at least twenty-five per centum of the entire vote cast for all candidates for mayor at the last preceding general municipal election at which a mayor was elected, protesting against the passage of such ordinance, be presented to the council, the same shall thereupon be suspended from going into operation, and it shall be the duty of the council to reconsider such ordinance; and if the same is not entirely repealed, the council shall submit the ordinance, as is provided by sub-section b of section 19 of this act, to the vote of the electors of the city, either at the general election or at a special municipal election to be called for that purpose; and such ordinance shall not go into effect or become operative unless a majority of the qualified electors voting on the same shall vote in favor thereof. Said petition shall be in all respects in accordance with the provisions of said section 19 except as to the percentage of signers, and be examined and certified to by the clerk in all respects as is therein provided. [32 G. A., ch. 48, § 20.]

SEC. 1056-a39. Abandonment of commission plan of government—procedure. Any city which shall have operated for more than six years under the provisions of this act may abandon such organization hereunder, and accept the provisions of the general law of the state then applicable to cities of its population, or if now organized under special charter may resume said special charter by proceeding as follows: Upon the petition of not less than twenty-five per centum of the electors of such city a special election shall be called, at which the following proposition only shall be submitted:

“Shall the city of (name of city) abandon its organization under chapter of the acts of the thirty-second general assembly, and become a city under the general law governing cities of like population or if now organized under special charter shall resume said special charter?”

If the majority of the votes cast at such special election be in favor of such proposition, the officers elected at the next succeeding biennial election shall be those then prescribed by the general law of the state for cities of like population, and upon the qualification of such officers such city shall become a city under such general law of the state; but such change shall not in any manner or degree affect the property, rights or liabilities of any nature of such city, but shall merely extend to such change in its form of government. The sufficiency of such petition shall be determined, the election ordered and conducted, and the results declared, generally as provided by section 18 of this act, in so far as the provisions thereof are applicable. [32 G. A., ch. 48, § 21.]

SEC. 1056-a40. Petitions. Petitions provided for in this act shall be signed by none but legal voters of the city. Each petition shall contain, in addition to the names of the petitioners, the street and house number in which the petitioner resides, his age and length of residence in the city. It shall also be accompanied by the affidavit of one or more legal voters of the city stating that the signers thereof were, at the time of signing, legal voters of said city and the number of signers at the time the affidavit was made. The provisions of chapters three (3) and four (4), title six (6), and chapter eight (8), title twenty-four (24), of the code, shall apply so far as applicable to all such primary elections, the same as general elections, except as hereinafter provided. The vote upon candidates for the office of senator in the congress of the United States shall be for the sole purpose of ascertaining the sentiment of the voters in the respective parties. [32 G. A., ch. 51, § 1.]

SEC. 1087-a2. Primary election defined. The term "primary election" as used in this act shall be construed to apply to an election by the members of various political parties for the purpose of placing in nomination candidates for public office, for selecting delegates to conventions, and for the selection of party committeemen. [32 G. A., ch. 51, § 2.]

SEC. 1087-a3. Political party defined. The title "political party" shall mean a party which, at the last preceding general election, cast for its candidate for governor at least two per centum of the total vote cast at said election, provided that such other political organizations as may, under sections 1098 and 1099 of the code nominate and certify candidates and have their names placed upon the ballot for the November election, shall have the right so to do in the manner and under the conditions therein prescribed. [32 G. A., ch. 51, § 3.]

SEC. 1087-a4. When held. The primary election herein provided for shall consist of an election by all political parties and shall be held at the usual voting places of the several precincts on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in June, in the year nineteen hundred eight, and biennially thereafter, for the nomination of candidates for such offices as are to be filled at the general election in November next ensuing, (except candidates for the office of judge of the supreme, district and superior courts), for senator in the congress of the United States in the next year preceding the filling of that office by the general assembly, and for the electors of the president and vice-president of the United States, in the year in which a president and vice-president are to be elected. [32 G. A., ch. 51, § 4.]

SEC. 1087-a5. Judges and clerks—how selected—oath—expenses. Vacancies shall be filled as provided for the judges and clerks of the general election, and their compensation shall be the same. The expenses of said primary election shall be paid one-half by the county in which the said primary election is held, and one-half by the state. The board of supervisors of each county shall audit the entire expense and certify the same to the executive council, which shall thereupon order a warrant for one-half the amount to be delivered to the county, which shall thereupon pay the entire amount. [32 G. A., ch. 51, § 5.]

SEC. 1087-a6. Australian ballot—polls open—ballots. The Australian ballot system as now used in this state, except as hereinafter provided, shall be used at said primary election in all precincts. The voter shall in all cases mark the ballot in the square before the name of each person for whom he desires to vote. In cities where registration is required by law, the polls shall be open from 7:00 a. m. to 8:00 p. m., and in all other precincts from 1:00 p. m. to 8:00 p. m. The elector voting at said primary election shall be allowed to vote for candidates for nomination on the ticket of only one political party, and that shall be the party with which he is registered as affiliated. The endorsement of the judges of election and the fac-simile of the auditor's signature shall appear upon the ballots as provided by law for the ballots used for the November election. The voter shall return the ballot folded to one of the judges of election who shall deposit it in the ballot box. If any primary elector write upon his ticket the name of any person who is a candidate for the same office upon some other party ticket than that upon which his name shall be so written, such ballot shall be so counted for such person only as a candidate of the party upon whose ballot his name is written, and shall in no case be counted for such person as a candidate upon any other ticket. In case the person is nominated upon more than one ticket, he shall forthwith file with the proper officer a written declaration indicating the party designation under which his name is to be printed on the official ballot for the general election following such primary election. [32 G. A., ch. 51, § 6.]

SEC. 1087-a7. First declaration of party affiliation—record. At the primary election to be held in June in the year nineteen hundred eight any person shall be entitled to participate therein who is a qualified elector in such precinct at the time of said primary election, and when the voter seeks to pass the guard-rail he shall indicate the party ballot he desires and one of the judges of the primary election board shall give him such primary ballot, (unless challenged, and if so challenged, then only in the event that the challenge is determined in favor of the voter), and such person shall thereupon be allowed to vote. The voter's selection shall constitute his declaration of party affiliation, and it shall be the duty of the primary election board to record his name and check his declaration of party affiliation on the poll books used by the clerks of the primary election board, and said list properly certified to by said primary election board shall be returned to the county auditor for preservation. Copies of the names and party entries on such list together with the changes of party affiliation as hereinafter provided, arranged alphabetically by surnames, shall be used at subsequent primaries for determining with what party the voter has been enrolled, and no voter enrolled under the provisions of this act shall be allowed to receive the ballot of any political party except that with which he is enrolled, but he may change his enrollment as hereinafter provided. The county auditor shall prepare for each voting precinct two of the above mentioned lists duly certified by him, and taken from the poll books of the last preceding primary election, which he shall deliver to the succeeding primary election boards in the year nineteen hundred ten and biennially thereafter, at least one day prior to the day of the primary election, and which lists together with the poll books of the primary election shall be returned to the said auditor in good condition within twenty-four hours after the primary election, to be preserved by him. [32 G. A., ch. 51, § 7.]

SEC. 1087-a8. Change of affiliation—first voter—removal. Any person who has thus declared his party affiliation shall thereafter be listed on the poll books as a member of that political party, and such person while a resident of the same voting precinct need not declare his party affiliation at succeeding primary elections unless he desires to change his party affiliation. Any elector, who, having declared his party affiliation, desires to change the same, may, not less than ten days prior to the date of any primary election, file a written declaration with the county auditor stating his change of party affiliation, and the auditor shall enter a record of such change on the poll books of the last preceding primary election in the proper column opposite the voter's name and on the voting list. Any elector whose party affiliation has for any reason not been registered or any elector who has changed his residence to another precinct, or a first voter or citizen of this state casting his first vote in this state shall be entitled to vote at any subsequent primary election in the same manner and upon the same terms as provided in section seven (7) of this act, and the clerks of the primary election shall record his party affiliation and the county auditor shall add his name to the alphabetical lists for use in subsequent primary elections as provided for in section seven (7) of this act. [32 G. A., ch. 51, § 8.]

SEC. 1087-a9. Challengers—affidavit. Each political party shall be entitled to have two party challengers present at each polling place, to be appointed by the respective party committeemen. Any judge or clerk of the primary election or any party challenger may challenge any voter upon the grounds mentioned in section eleven hundred fifteen (1115) of the code and such challenge shall be determined as there provided. Any elector whose party affiliation has been recorded as provided by this act and who desires to change his party affiliation on the primary election day, shall be subject to challenge. If the person challenged insists that he is entitled to vote the ticket of the political party to which he has transferred his political affiliation and the challenge is not withdrawn, one of the judges shall tender to him the following oath: "You do solemnly swear (or affirm) that you have in good faith changed your party affiliation to and desire to be a member of the party." And if he take such oath he shall thereupon be given a ticket of such political party and the clerks of the primary election shall change his enrollment of party affiliation accordingly. [32 G. [32 G. A., ch. 51, § 15.]

All necessary election supplies, including poll books as provided by law, for the general election, together with a sufficient number of official primary ballots of each party, shall be furnished for the primary election board for each precinct by the county auditor, and such poll books shall contain blank spaces for the names of the candidates of the several parties for the different offices to be written in, and blank spaces for entering by the clerks the names of the electors voting at said primary election; and upon the pages provided for entering the names of said voters there shall be ruled spaces for the listing of the names of said voters and for the designation of the party ticket voted by said elector in manner and form substantially as follows:

It shall be the duty of the clerks of the primary election when entering the name of a voter to place in the poll books a cross thus (X) in the column designating the party ticket which was given to said voter upon his application for a ticket. [32 G. A., ch. 51, § 16.]

SEC. 1087-a17. Ballots counted—returns. Upon the closing of the polls the clerks and judges shall immediately open the ballot box and proceed to take therefrom the ballots. Said officers shall count the number of ballots cast for each party, at the same time bunching the tickets cast for each party, in separate piles. As soon as the clerks and judges shall have sorted the ballots of each party, separately, they shall take the tally sheets provided in the poll books and shall count all the ballots for each party separately until the count is completed, and shall certify to the number of votes cast for each candidate for each office upon the ticket of each party. After all have been counted and certified to by the clerks and judges, they shall seal the ballots cast by each of the parties in separate envelopes, on the outside of which shall be printed or written the names of that party's candidates for the different offices, and opposite each candidate's name shall be placed the number of votes cast for such candidate in said precinct, and then seal the envelopes containing the votes of the different political parties, in one large envelope, on the outside of which, or on a paper attached thereto, shall be printed or written, in perpendicular columns, the names of the several political parties with the names of the candidates for the different offices under their respective party headings, and opposite each candidate's name shall be placed the number of votes cast for such candidate in said precinct, and at the bottom the total vote cast by each political party in said precinct, and such envelopes shall be returned to the county auditor, who shall carefully preserve the same in said condition and deliver them to the county board of canvassers. [32 G. A., ch. 51, § 17.]

SEC. 1087-a18. Recount of ballots. Any candidate, whose name appears upon the official primary ballot of any voting precinct, may require the board of supervisors of the county in which such precinct is situated to recount the ballots cast in any such precinct, at the time fixed for canvassing the returns of the judges of election, by filing with the county auditor not later than the day before such meeting, a showing, duly sworn to by any such candidate, that fraud was committed, or error or mistake was made, in counting or returning the votes cast in any such precinct. The showing must be specific and from it there must appear reasonable ground to believe that a recount of the ballots would produce a result different from the returns made by the judges. If such showing is made to the satisfaction of the board, thereupon the board shall recount the ballots cast in any such precinct, as to all candidates, including persons voted for for delegates and party committeemen, and make up a new return which in all subsequent proceedings shall be substituted for the returns of the judges of election for the precinct. The action of the board shall be final and no other contest of any kind shall be permitted. If a recount of the ballots of any precinct produces a result different from the returns of the judges with respect to delegates or party committeeman, the county auditor shall make or correct his certified list thereof to the chairmen of the respective party central committees for the county accordingly. The term "candidate" as used in this section shall include and apply to persons voted for for delegates and party committeeman. [32 G. A., ch. 51, § 18.]

SEC. 1087-a24. Tie vote—vacancies. In case of a tie vote resulting in no nomination for any office, or election of delegates or party committeeman, the tie shall forthwith be determined by lot by the board of canvassers, or judges of election, as the case may be. Vacancies occurring after the holding of any primary election occasioned by death, withdrawal or change of residence of any candidate, or from any other cause, shall be filled by the party committee for the county, district, or state, as the case may be, representing the party in which the vacancy nomination occurs. [32 G. A., ch. 51, § 24.]

SEC. 1087-a25. County convention—delegates—committeemen. In each county there shall be held in each year in which a general election in November is to take place a county convention of each political party. Said county convention shall be composed of delegates elected at the last preceding primary election, and shall be held on the third Saturday following the primary election, convening at 11:00 o'clock a. m. The number of delegates from each voting precinct shall be determined by a ratio adopted by the respective party county central committees, and shall be thus determined and a statement designating the number from each voting precinct in the county filed in the office of the county auditor at least thirty days before the primary election; if not so done, the auditor shall fix the number. The requisite number of names of candidates of his choice for delegates to the county convention to which each precinct is entitled shall be written, or pasted with uniform white pasters, on the blank lines upon the ballot by the voter while in the booth, or by some one designated by a voter unable to write, after the ballots are received and before they are deposited, and the requisite number of persons from each precinct who receive the highest number of votes shall be the delegates from the precinct to the county convention. One member of the county central committee for each political party from each precinct shall be elected in the same manner in which delegates are selected. His term of office shall begin on the day of the county convention and immediately following the adjournment thereof and shall continue for two years and until his successor is elected and qualified, unless such committeeman shall be removed by the county central committee for inattention to the duties of his position, incompetency or failure to support the ticket nominated by the party which elected him to such position. Returns shall be made by the judges of election respecting delegates and members of the county central committee in the same manner as for other offices, except that the judges of election shall canvass the returns as to delegates and members of the county central committee, and certify the result to the auditor with the returns. The auditor shall, immediately after such returns are filed, notify the delegates and members of the county central committee who have thus been elected, of their election, and of the time and place of holding the county convention, and shall on the second Thursday following the primary election, deliver a certified list thereof to the chairmen of the respective party central committees for the county. When the delegates, or a majority thereof, thus elected shall have assembled in the county convention at the time herein prescribed and at the county seat the convention shall be called to order by the chairman of the county central committee, who shall present the certified list of delegates and members of the county central committee, and a list of the offices for which no nomination was made at the primary election. If any precinct shall not be fully represented the delegates present from such precinct shall cast the full vote thereof, but there shall be no proxies. The said county convention shall make nominations of candidates for the party for any office to be filled by the voters of a county when no candidate for such office has been nominated at the preceding primary election, as shown by the canvass of the returns provided for in section 19 of this act, and shall nominate candidates for the office of judge of the district court in counties comprising one judicial district of the state, and shall select delegates to the next ensuing state and district conventions of that year upon such ratio of representation as may be determined by the party organization for the state, district or districts of the state, as the case may be, but no delegates shall be so selected to any of the district conventions referred to in section 26 of this act, except judicial conventions, unless a call therefor has been issued as therein provided. The said county convention shall also elect a member of the party central committee for the senatorial, judicial, and congressional districts composed of more than one county. [32 G. A., ch. 51, § 25.]

SEC. 1087-a26. District convention. In any senatorial, judicial, or congressional district composed of more than one county, in any year in which a senator in the general assembly, a judge of the district court, or a representative in the congress of the United States, is to be elected, a senatorial or congressional convention may be held, and a judicial convention shall be held by each political party participating in the primary election of that year. Not less than ten days and not more than sixty days before the day fixed for holding the county convention a call for such senatorial, judicial and congressional convention to be held shall be issued by the party central committee for any such district and published in at least one newspaper of general circulation of each county composing any such district and which call shall state among other things the number of delegates each county of the district shall be entitled to and the time and place of holding the convention. Any such call shall be signed by the chairman of the party central committee for any such district, and be filed by him with the county auditor not less than five days before the county convention and the county auditor shall attach a true copy thereof to the certified list of delegates required to be delivered by him to the chairmen of the respective party county central committees. In case no nomination was made in the primary election for the office of senator in the general assembly in any district composed of more than one county, or for the office of representative in congress of the United States, as shown by the certificate issued by the state board of canvassers provided for in this act, then in any such district the chairman of the party central committee therefor shall forthwith issue such call for a convention in such district and deliver the same to the county auditor of each county in the district and in such case said call need not be published. No such district convention shall be held earlier than the first Thursday or later than the fifth Thursday following the county convention. The convention when organized shall make nominations of candidates for the party for any such district office when no candidate for such office has been nominated at the preceding primary election as shown by the canvass of the votes provided for in section twenty-two hereof. The organization of and procedure in any such district convention shall be the same as in the state convention. Such district conventions may adopt party platforms and transact such other business as may properly be brought before them. [32 G. A., ch. 51, § 26.]

SEC. 1087-a27. State convention—state central committee. A state convention of each political party, composed of delegates chosen in the manner herein provided, shall be held not earlier than the third Thursday and not later than the fifth Thursday following the primary election in the year nineteen hundred eight, and biennially thereafter, convening at such time and place as may be determined upon by the party organization. The convention shall be called to order by the chairman of the state central committee, who shall thereupon present a list of delegates, as certified by the various county conventions, and effect a temporary organization. If any county shall not be fully represented, the delegates present from such county shall cast the full vote thereof, but there shall be no proxies. Such convention when permanently organized shall formulate and adopt the state platform of the party it represents, and shall make nominations of candidates for the party for any state office to be filled by the voters of the entire state when no candidate for such office has been nominated at the preceding primary election as shown by the canvass of the returns provided for in section twenty-two hereof; and shall nominate candidates for the office of judge of the supreme court. It shall also elect a state central committee consisting of not less than one member from each congressional district and transact such other business as may properly be brought before it. The state central committee elected at said state convention may organize at pleasure for political work as is usual and customary with such committees and shall continue to act until succeeded by another committee duly elected. [32 G. A., ch. 51, § 27.]

SEC. 1087-a28. Existing party committees. The regularly organized political committees of each party as at present or hereafter constituted may continue to act until supplanted by the committees elected under the provisions of this act. [32 G. A., ch. 51, § 28.]

SEC. 1087-a29. Nomination by petition. Nothing contained in this act shall be construed so as to prohibit nomination of candidates for office by petition as now authorized by law; but no person so nominated shall be permitted to use the name of any political party authorized or entitled under this act to nominate a ticket by primary vote or that has nominated a ticket by primary vote under the provisions of this act. [32 G. A., ch. 51, § 29.]

SEC. 1087-a30. Special elections. This act shall not apply to special elections to fill vacancies. [32 G. A., ch. 51, § 30.]

SEC. 1087-a31. Misconduct of election officials—penalty. Any party committeeman or any primary election or other public officer upon whom a duty is imposed by this act or by acts herein made applicable to primary elections, who shall wilfully neglect to perform any such duty, or who shall wilfully perform it in such a way as to hinder the objects thereof, or shall disclose to anyone, except as may be ordered by any court of justice, the contents of any ballot or any part thereof, as to the manner in which the same may have been voted, shall be punished by a fine of not less than one hundred dollars nor more than one thousand dollars, or by imprisonment in the penitentiary not to exceed five years, or by both such fine and imprisonment. [32 G. A., ch. 51, § 31.]

SEC. 1087-a32. Services for hire—penalty. Any person who shall agree to perform any services in the interest of any candidate in consideration of any money or other valuable thing, or who shall accept any money or other valuable thing for such services performed in the interest of any candidate, or any person paying or offering to pay or giving or offering to give money or other valuable things for such services, shall be punished by a fine of not more than three hundred dollars, or by imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding ninety days. But nothing herein shall be construed to prohibit any person from making contracts in good faith for the announcement of his candidacy in the newspapers and for securing the names of voters required to file preliminary nomination papers and the payment of any reasonable compensation for such services. [32 G. A., ch. 51, § 32.]

SEC. 1087-a33. Bribery—illegal voting—penalty. Any person offering or giving a bribe, either in money or other consideration, to any elector for the purpose of influencing his vote at a primary election, or any elector entitled to vote at such primary election receiving and accepting such bribe; any person making false answer to any of the provisions of this act relative to his qualifications and party affiliations; any person wilfully voting or offering to vote at a primary election who has not been a resident of this state for six months next preceding said primary election; or who, at the primary election is not twenty-one years of age, or is not a citizen of the United States; or knowing himself not to be a qualified elector of such precinct where he offers to vote; or any person violating any of the provisions of this act, or of any provisions of the code as may be hereto applied, and any person knowingly procuring, aiding or abetting such violation, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon conviction, shall be fined not less than one hundred dollars nor more than five hundred dollars, or be imprisoned in the county jail not less than thirty days nor more than six months. [32 G. A., ch. 51, § 33.]

SEC. 1087-a34. Primary elections in certain cities. The provisions of this act shall, so far as applicable, govern the nominations of candidates by political parties for all offices to be filled by a direct vote of the people in cities of the first class and cities acting under a special charter having a population of over fifteen thousand, except all such special charter cities and cities of the first class as have by vote of the people adopted a plan of municipal government which specifically provides for a non-partisan primary election. The duties devolving upon the county auditor, by the foregoing provisions of this act, shall, in municipal elections, devolve upon the city auditor and the duties devolving upon the board of supervisors by the foregoing provisions of this act, devolve upon the city council which shall meet to perform said duties within two days next following the primary election. The date of the municipal primary election shall be the last Monday in February of each year in which a municipal election is held in said cities, after the year 1907, and the percentage of voters signing petitions required for printing the name of a candidate upon the official primary ballot shall be the same as is required of a candidate for a county office and shall be based upon the vote cast for mayor by the respective parties in the preceding city election. The names of candidates for ward aldermen, for city precinct committeemen and for delegates to the city convention, shall not be printed upon the official primary ballot but in each case a blank line or lines shall be provided therefor. A plurality shall nominate the party candidate for alderman and a plurality shall elect the precinct committeemen and delegates to the city convention. The entire expense of conducting a primary election provided for in this section shall be audited by the city council and paid by the city. This section shall not be held to repeal any law which provides for the adoption of a plan of municipal government by vote of the people and which embraces a non-partisan primary election. [32 G. A., ch. 51, § 34.]

SEC. 1087-a35. Repeal. Chapter forty (40) of the laws of the thirtieth general assembly, relating to primary elections; and chapters forty-five (45) and forty-six (46) of the laws of the thirty-first general assembly, relating to primary elections, are hereby repealed. [32 G. A., ch. 51, § 35.]

CHAPTER 3.

OF ELECTIONS.

SECTION 1089.

The Australian ballot law as originally adopted (24 G. A., chap. 33) did not apply to special elections held for the purpose of voting taxes in aid of railroads or bridges. Pritchard v. Magoun, 109-364; Bras v. McConnell, 114-401.

SEC. 1090. Election precincts.

The vital inquiry in determining the residence of a person is as to where is his home. This is not purely a matter of intention. A person cannot live in one place and by force of imagination constitute some other his place of abode. The intent and the fact must concur. State v. Savre, 129-122.

The home of an unmarried man is where he has his rooms, in which he keeps such personal effects as he has, where he rests when not at work, and spends his evenings and Sundays, and not the boarding house at which he takes his meals. Ibid.

Evidence in a particular case as to the actual residence of a voter considered. Kelso v. Wright, 110-560.

SEC. 1093. Election boards. Election boards shall consist of three judges and two clerks. Not more than two judges and not more than one clerk shall belong to the same political party or organization, if there be one or more electors qualified and willing to act as such judge or clerk, and a member or members of opposite parties. In cities and towns, the councilmen shall be judges of election; but in case more than two councilmen belonging to the same political party or organization are residents of the same election precinct, the county board of supervisors may designate which of them shall serve as judges. In township precincts, the clerk of the township shall be a clerk of election of the precinct in which he resides, and the trustees of the township shall be judges of election, except that, in townships not divided into election precincts, if all the trustees be of the same political party, those two only whose terms shall next expire shall be judges of such precinct. The membership of such election board shall be made up or completed by the board of supervisors from the parties which cast the largest and next largest number of votes in said precinct at the last general election, or that one which is unrepresented; but, in city and town elections, the powers given in this chapter and duties herein made incumbent upon the board of supervisors shall be performed by the council. If, at the opening of the polls in any precinct, there shall be a vacancy in the office of clerk or judge of election, the same shall be filled by the members of the board present, and from the political party which is entitled to such vacant office under the provisions of this chapter. The election board at any special election shall be the same as at the last preceding general election. In case of vacancies happening therein, the county auditor may make the appointments to fill the same when the board of supervisors is not in session. [26 G. A., ch. 68, § 3; C., '73, §§ 606-8; R., §§ 481-3; C., '51, §§ 246-8.] [31 G. A., ch. 42.]

SEC. 1096. Polls open. At all elections the polls shall be opened at eight o'clock in the forenoon, except in cities where registration is required, when the polls shall be opened at seven o'clock in the forenoon, or in each case as soon thereafter as vacancies in the places of judges or clerks of election have been filled. In all cases the polls shall be closed at seven o'clock in the evening. [24 G. A., ch. 33, § 32; C., '73, § 611; R., § 486; C., '51, § 251.] [28 G. A., ch. 34, § 1.]

SEC. 1102. Vacancies filled.

When a certificate of nomination of candidates is held by the county auditor not to have been filed with him in time, the vacancies in nominations for such office may be filled in accordance with the provisions of this section. The holding of the auditor that the filing is not as required by law is a holding that the nominating certificate is insufficient and inoperative. Reese v. Hogan, 117-603.

SEC. 1106. Ballot—form—candidates for district judge—separate ballot for constitutional amendments, etc. The names of all candidates to be voted for in each election precinct shall be printed on one ballot, all nominations of any political party or group of petitioners being placed under the party name or title of such party or group, as designated by them in their certificates of nomination or petitions, or, if none be designated, then under some suitable title, and the ballot shall contain no other names, except that, in case of electors for president and vice-president of the United States, the names of the candidates for president and vice-president may be added to the party or political designation. Each list of candidates for the several parties and groups of petitioners shall be placed in a separate column on the ballot, in such order as the authorities charged with the printing of the ballots shall decide, except as otherwise provided, and be called a ticket. But the name of no candidate shall appear upon the ballot in more than one place for the same office, whether nominated by convention, primary, caucus or petition, except as hereinafter provided. Where two or more conventions, primaries or caucuses, or any two of them, may nominate the same candidate for any office, the name of such candidate shall be printed under the name of the party first filing nomination papers bearing such name, unless the candidate himself shall, in writing duly verified, request the officer with whom the nomination papers are filed to cause the name to be printed upon some other ticket, provided, that in any judicial district of the state in which the bar association, or a convention of attorneys of the district nominates or recommends candidate or candidates for the office of district judge, and such candidates are also nominated or indorsed by any political party, in preparing the ballots for the general election, the names of such candidate or candidates shall be printed as candidate or candidates for each party by whom they are nominated, whether by primary, convention or petition. Each of the columns containing the list of candidates, including the party name, shall be separated by a distinct line. Said ballot shall be substantially in the following form:

REPUBLICAN. For Governor, <input type="checkbox"/> A.....B..... of.....County. For Lieutenant Gov- ernor, <input type="checkbox"/> C.....D..... of.....County. For Judge of Supreme Court, <input type="checkbox"/> E.....F..... of.....County.	DEMOCRATIC. For Governor, <input type="checkbox"/> G.....H..... of.....County. --	--	---	---

When a constitutional amendment or other public measure is to be voted upon by the electors, it shall be printed in full upon a separate ballot, preceded by the words, "Shall the following amendment to the constitution (or public measure) be adopted?" and upon the right hand margin, opposite these words, two spaces shall be left, one for votes favoring such amendment or public measure, and the other for votes opposing the same. In one of these spaces the word "yes" or other word required by law shall be printed; in the other, the word "no" or other word required, and to the right of each space a square shall be printed to receive the voting cross, all of which shall be substantially in the following form:

"Shall the following amendment to the constitution (or public measure) be adopted?"

(Here insert in full the proposed constitutional amendment or public measure.)

Yes.
No.

The elector shall designate his vote by a cross mark, thus X, placed in the proper square. At the top of such ballots shall be printed the following words, enclosed in brackets: [Notice to voters. For an affirmative vote upon any question submitted upon this ballot make a cross (x) mark in the square after the word "Yes." For a negative vote make a similar mark in the square following the word "No."] If more than one constitutional amendment or public measure is to be voted upon, they shall be printed upon the same ballot, one below the other, with one inch space between each constitutional amendment or public measure that is to be submitted. All of such ballots for the same polling-place shall be of the same size, similarly printed, upon yellow colored paper. On the back of each such ballot shall be printed appropriate words, showing that such ballot relates to a constitutional or other question to be submitted to the electors, so as to distinguish the said ballots from the official ballot for candidates for office, and a fac-simile of the signature of the auditor or other officer who has caused the ballot to be printed. Such ballots shall be endorsed and given to each voter by the judges of election, as provided in section eleven hundred and sixteen (1116), and shall be subject to all other laws governing ballots for candidates, so far as the same shall be applicable. [26 G. A., ch. 68, §§ 14, 16; 24 G. A., ch. 33, §§ 11-13.] [28 G. A., ch. 35, § 1.] [31 G. A., chs. 43-44.]

SEC. 1109. Method of printing. The ballot shall be on plain white paper, through which the printing or writing cannot be read. The party name or title shall be printed in capital letters, not less than one-fourth of an inch in height. The names of candidates shall be printed in capital letters not less than one-eighth nor more than one-fourth of an inch in height, and, at the beginning of each line in which the name of a candidate is printed, a square shall be printed, the sides of which shall not be less than one-fourth of an inch in length. On the back or outside of the ballot, so as to appear when folded, shall be printed the words "official ballot," followed by the designation of the polling place for which the ballot is prepared, the date of the election, and a fac-simile of the signature of the auditor or other officer who has caused the ballot to be printed. [26 G. A., ch. 68, § 14.] [31 G. A., ch. 44, § 2.]

SEC. 1117. Depositing ballots.

A ballot not bearing the endorsement of the judge should not be counted. Kelso v. Wright, 110-560.

SEC. 1119. Marking the ballot. Upon retiring to the voting booth, the voter shall prepare his ballot by placing a cross in the square opposite the name of each candidate for whom he desires to vote. The voter may also insert in writing, in the proper place, the name of any person for whom he desires to vote, making a cross opposite thereto. The writing of such name without making a cross opposite thereto, or the making a cross opposite such blank without writing a name therein shall not affect the validity of his vote. [24 G. A., ch. 33, § 22.] [28 G. A., ch. 36, § 1.] [31 G. A., ch. 44, § 3.]

The law does not recognize the writing proper place, with a cross in the square opposite the name as written. Voorhees v. Arnold, 108-77.

SEC. 1120. How counted. Ballots marked as provided in the preceding section shall be counted for the candidates designated by the marks in the squares. When only one candidate for any office is to be elected, if the voter marks in squares opposite the names of more than one candidate therefor, such vote shall not be counted for such office. When two or more officers of the same kind are to be elected, if more squares opposite the names of candidates for such office are marked than there are officers to be elected to such office, the ballot shall not be counted for any such candidates. If for any reason it is impossible to determine the voter's choice for any office to be filled, his ballot shall not be counted for such office. Any ballot marked by the voter in any other manner than as authorized in this chapter, and so that such mark may be used for the purpose of identifying such ballot, shall be rejected. [24 G. A., ch. 33, §§ 22, 27.] [31 G. A., ch. 44, § 4.]

The law by implication prohibits any person, including the voter, from so marking the ballot that the mark may be used for the purpose of identification, and a ballot so marked should be rejected. The unauthorized marks, to be objectionable as identification marks, must be deliberately made, and not merely accidentally, or as the result of inexperience. Whether the marks in particular cases are identification marks is for the jury. The question is whether there has been a deliberate departure in the marking, and in a way that might enable the marks to be used to identify the ballot. Voorhees v. Arnold, 108-77.

What constitutes an identifying mark upon a ballot is generally a question of fact for the trial court, and its finding, or the finding of the jury, if the case is submitted to the jury, is conclusive upon appeal. The unnecessary marking of a cross in the square below the marked circle does not affect the validity of the ballot. Kelso v. Wright, 110-560.

The amendment of this section, made by 28 G. A., chap. 36, held not applicable in a case tried and appealed before the amendment went into effect. Morrison v. Pepperman, 112-471.

Where a ballot had crosses in squares opposite all the names on the republican ticket, except that of the candidate for township trustee, and as to that office had a cross on another ticket in front of a blank space, held that it was properly rejected. Ibid.

This section makes the cross in the circle effective as a vote for all names printed upon the ticket below it, and if as in front of the name of the candidate to any office there is a blank in such ticket, then a cross on another ticket for such office will authorize the counting of the ballot for the candidate thus designated. Spurrier v. McLennan, 115-461.

Whether unnecessary crosses in places where no provision for marking with a cross is made, as for instance in front of the names of the candidates for president and vice-president constitute identifying marks such as to vitiate the ballot is a question of fact for the trial court. Ibid.

Where there is a cross in the circle marked at the head of one ticket, the marking of a cross in the square before the name on another ticket has no effect other than to nullify the vote for the officer thus doubly voted for. This rule is in nowise altered by the marking of the squares below the marked circle. Ibid.

SEC. 1121. Voting mark—spoiled ballots. The voting mark shall be a cross in the square opposite to the name of the candidate for whom the voter desires to vote. Any voter who shall spoil his ballot may, on returning the same to the judges, receive another in place thereof, but no voter shall receive more than three ballots, including the one first delivered to him. None but ballots provided in accordance with the provisions of this chapter shall be counted. [24 G. A., ch. 33, §§ 22, 25.] [31 G. A., ch. 44, § 5.]

SEC. 1122. Defects in printed ballot.

The election law was enacted to aid the elector in expressing his free choice and not by technical obstructions to make the right of voting difficult and insecure. When the elector receives a ballot from the proper officials he may rely upon it as genuine and, when properly marked by him, have it counted for all candidates for whom he had the right to vote and did vote. There is a distinction between errors of officers which would have the effect to deprive voters of the franchise and a disregard of the law by the electors themselves. State v. Bernholtz, 106-157.

SEC. 1125. Special policemen.

Special policemen, appointed by the city council on the nomination of political parties are not entitled to compensation either from the city or the county as the statute makes no provision for such compensation. Mousseau v. Sioux City, 113-246.

SEC. 1129. Expenses—special policemen—compensation. The special policemen appointed under the provisions of this chapter shall be entitled to receive two dollars ($2) a day as compensation for their services, which with the expense of providing booths, guard rails, and other things required in this chapter shall be paid in the same manner as other election expenses. The printing and distributing of ballots and cards of instruction to the voters, described in this chapter, for any general election, shall be at the expense of the county, and shall be provided for in the same manner as other county election expenses. The printing and distribution of ballots for use in city elections shall be at the expense of the city or town in which the election shall be held. [24 G. A., ch. 33, §§ 2, 20.] [30 G. A., ch. 39.]

The provisions of this section do not cover compensation to special policemen appointed under Code § 1125. Mousseau v. Sioux City, 113-246.

SEC. 1130. Ballot boxes. The board of supervisors shall provide for each precinct in the county, for the purpose of elections, one box, with lock and key. When any township precinct includes a town or part thereof, together with territory outside the limits of such town, the township trustees shall prepare a separate ballot box to receive the votes for township assessor, which shall be on separate ballots, and only the ballots of persons living outside of the limits of such town shall be placed in said ballot box. The judges of election shall place each ballot in its proper ballot box. The judges of election shall have the right to administer an oath to any voter, and to examine him under oath as to the assessor for whom such elector is entitled to vote. [17 G. A., ch. 71, §§ 2, 3; C., '73, § 614; R., § 489; C., '51, § 254.] [29 G. A., ch. 53, § 2.]

SEC. 1132. Registry and poll books.

It is not required that the poll lists resides. Porter v. Butterfield, 116-725. show in what town in the county the voter SEC. 1137-a1. Candidates to make sworn statement of election expenses—where filed. Every candidate for any office to be voted for at any primary, municipal or general election shall, within ten days after the holding of such primary, municipal or general election, file a true, correct, detailed, sworn statement showing each and all sums of money or other things of value disbursed, expended or promised directly or indirectly by him, and to the best of his knowledge and belief by any other person or persons in his behalf for the purpose of aiding or securing his nomination or election. If the person be a candidate for a municipal or a county office, such statement shall be filed with the county auditor; if for a state office, or any other office to be voted for by the electors of more than one county, such statement shall be filed with the secretary of state. Such statement shall show the dates, amounts, and from whom such sums of money or other things of value were received; and the dates, amounts, purposes and to whom paid or disbursed, and shall include the assessment of any person, committee, or organization in charge of the campaign of such candidate. [32 G. A., ch. 50, § 2.]

SEC. 1137-a2. Testimony—immunity from prosecution. In prosecutions under this act, no witness shall be excused from giving testimony on the ground that his testimony would tend to render him criminally liable or expose him to public ignominy, but any matter so elicited shall not be used against him, and said witness shall not be prosecuted for any crime connected with or growing out of the act on which the prosecution is based in the cause in which his evidence is used for the state, under the provisions of this section. [32 G. A., ch. 50, § 3.]

SEC. 1137-a3. Statements by committee chairmen. The chairman of each party central committee for the state, district or county, shall file a statement of receipts and expenditures within ten days after the general election. The chairmen of state and district central committees shall file said statements with the secretary of state; and the chairmen of county central committees, with the county auditor. Such statements shall contain all the information required to be filed by candidates as set forth in section two (2) of this act, and in addition thereto shall state the amounts or balances remaining on hand. The person filing the same shall make oath that it is a full, true and correct statement. [32 G. A., ch. 50, § 4.]

SEC. 1137-a4. Statements open to public inspection. The statements provided for in this act shall be open at all times to the inspection of the public, and remain on file and become a part of the permanent records in the office where filed. [32 G. A., ch. 50, § 5.]

SEC. 1137-a5. Treating near the polls. It shall be the duty of the judges and clerks of all municipal, general and primary elections to prohibit the placing, keeping, and giving to the voters, by any person of any cigars, food or other refreshments or treats, in or about the polling place. [32 G. A., ch. 50, § 6.]

SEC. 1137-a6. Penalty. Any person violating any of the provisions of the last five preceding sections shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not less than fifty dollars ($50) nor more than three hundred dollars ($300), or by imprisonment in the county jail not less than thirty (30) days nor more than six (6) months. [32 G. A., ch. 50, § 7.]

CHAPTER 3-A.

OF ELECTIONS—VOTING MACHINES.

SECTION 1137-a7. Use of voting machines authorized. That at all state, county, city, town, and township elections, hereafter held in the state of Iowa, ballots or votes may be cast, registered, recorded, and counted by means of voting machines, as hereinafter provided. [28 G. A., ch. 37, § 1.]

Voting by a machine is voting by ballot within the constitutional provisions, and a court of equity has no authority to enjoin the use of a voting machine at an election, the right to vote being only a political and not a civil right. United States Standard Voting Mch. Co. v. Hobson, 132-38.

A tax payer cannot invoke the jurisdiction of a court of equity to restrain the performance of a contract by the board of supervisors for the purchase of voting machines on the ground that they are inefficient. Shoemaker v. Des Moines, 129-244.

A voter has no right which a court of equity will intervene to protect, with reference to the right to cast his ballot. Ibid.

SEC. 1137-a8. Board of supervisors to purchase, etc. Hereafter the board of county supervisors of any county, or the council of any incorporated city or town, in the state of Iowa may, by a two-thirds vote, authorize, purchase, and order the use of voting machines in any one or more voting precincts within said county, city, or town, until otherwise ordered by said board of county supervisors or city or town council. [28 G. A., ch. 37, § 2.]

SEC. 1137-a9. Commissioners—term—removal. Within thirty days after this act goes into effect, the governor shall appoint three commissioners and not more than two of whom shall be from the same political party. The said commissioners shall hold office for the term of five years, subject to removal at the pleasure of the governor. [28 G. A., ch. 37, § 3.]

SEC. 1137-a10. Examination of machine—report of commissioners—compensation. Any person or corporation owning or being interested in any voting machine may call upon the said commissioners to examine the said machine, and make report to the secretary of state upon the capacity of the said machine to register the will of voters, its accuracy and efficiency, and with respect to its mechanical perfections and imperfections. Their report shall be filed in the office of the secretary of state and shall state whether in their opinion the kind of machine so examined can be safely used by such voters at elections under the conditions prescribed in this act. If the report states that the machine can be so used, it shall be deemed approved by the commissioners, and machines of its kind may be adopted for use at elections as herein provided. Any form of voting machine not so approved cannot be used at any election. Each commissioner is entitled to one hundred and fifty dollars for his compensation and expenses in making such examination and report, to be paid by the person or corporation applying for such examination. No commissioner shall have any interest whatever in any machine reported upon. Provided, that said commissioner shall not receive to exceed fifteen hundred dollars and reasonable expenses in any one year; and all sums collected for such examinations over and above said maximum salaries and expenses shall be turned into the state treasury. [28 G. A., ch. 37, § 4.]

SEC. 1137-a11. Provisions as to the construction of machine approved. A voting machine approved by the state board of voting machine commissioners must be so constructed as to provide facilities for voting for the candidates of at least seven different parties or organizations, must permit a voter to vote for any person for any office although not nominated as a candidate by any party or organization, and must permit voting in absolute secrecy. It must also be so constructed as to prevent voting for more than one person for the same office, except where the voter is lawfully entitled to vote for more than one person for that office; and it must afford him an opportunity to vote for any or all persons for that office as he is by law entitled to vote for and no more, at the same time preventing his voting for the same person twice. It may also be provided with one ballot in each party column or row containing only the words "presidential electors" preceded by the party name, and a vote for such ballot shall operate as a vote for all the candidates of such party for presidential electors. Such machine shall be so constructed as to accurately account for every vote cast upon it. [28 G. A., ch. 37, § 5.]

SEC. 1137-a12. Experimental use. The board of supervisors of any county, the council of any city or town, may provide for the experimental use at an election in one or more districts, of a machine which it might lawfully adopt, without a formal adoption thereof; and its use at such election shall be as valid for all purposes as if it had been lawfully adopted. [28 G. A., ch. 37, § 6.]

SEC. 1137-a13. Duties of local authorities. The local authorities adopting a voting machine shall, as soon as practical thereafter, provide for each polling place one or more voting machines in complete working order, and shall thereafter keep them in repair, and shall have the custody thereof and of the furniture and equipment of the polling place when not in use at an election. If it shall be impracticable to supply each and every election district with a voting machine or voting machines at any election following such adoption, as many may be supplied as it is practicable to procure, and the same may be used in such election district or districts within the county, city, or town as the officers adopting the same may direct. [28 G. A., ch. 37, § 7.]

SEC. 1137-a14. Bonds, certificates of indebtedness, etc. The local authorities, on the adoption and purchase of a voting machine, may provide for the payment therefor in such manner as they may deem for the best interest of the locality, and may for that purpose issue bonds, certificates of indebtedness, or other obligations which shall be a charge on the county, city, or town. Such bonds, certificates, or other obligations may be issued with or without interest, payable at such time or times as the authorities may determine, but shall not be issued or sold at less than par. [28 G. A., ch. 37, § 8.]

SEC. 1137-a15. Ballots—form. All ballots shall be printed in black ink on clear, white material, of such size as will fit the ballot frame, and in plain, clear type as the space will reasonably permit. The party name for each political party represented on the machine shall be prefixed to the list of candidates of such party. The order of the list of candidates of the several parties or organizations shall be arranged as provided in section eleven hundred and six (1106) of the code, except that the lists may be arranged in horizontal rows or vertical columns. [28 G. A., ch. 37, § 9.]

SEC. 1137-a16. Sample ballots. The officers or board charged with the duty of providing ballots for any polling-place shall provide therefor two sample ballots, which shall be arranged in the form of a diagram showing the entire front of the voting machine as it will appear after the official ballots are arranged for voting on election day. Such sample ballots shall be open to public inspection at such polling-place during the day of election and the day next preceding election day. [28 G. A., ch. 37, § 10.]

SEC. 1137-a17. Two sets of ballots. Two sets of ballots shall be provided for each polling-place for each election for use in the voting machine. [28 G. A., ch. 37, § 11.]

SEC. 1137-a18. Delivery of ballots. The ballots and stationery shall be delivered to the election board of each election district before ten o'clock in the forenoon of the day next preceding the election. [28 G. A., ch. 37, § 12.]

SEC. 1137-a19. Duties of election officers — independent ballots. The judges of election and clerks of each district shall meet at the polling-place therein, at least three-quarters of an hour before the time set for the opening of the polls at each election, and shall proceed to arrange within the guard-rail the furniture, stationery, and voting machines for the conduct of the election. The judges of election shall then and there have the voting machine, ballots, and stationery required to be delivered to them for such election; and, if it be an election at which registered voters only can vote, the registry of such electors required to be made and kept therefor. The judges shall thereupon cause at least two instruction cards to be posted conspicuously within the polling-place. If not previously done, they shall arrange in their proper place on the voting machine, the ballots containing the names of the offices to be filled at such election, and the names of the candidates nominated therefor. If not previously done, the machine shall be so arranged as to show that no vote has been cast, and the same shall not be thereafter operated, except by electors in voting. Before the polls are open for election, each judge shall carefully examine every machine and see that no vote has been cast, and the same shall be subject to inspection of the election officers. Ballots voted for any person, whose name does not appear on the machine as a nominated candidate for office, are herein referred to as independent ballots. When two or more persons are to be elected to the same office, and the machine requires that all independent ballots voted for that office be deposited in a single receptacle or device, an elector may vote in or by such receptacle or device for one or more persons whose names do not appear upon the machine with or without the names of one or more persons whose names do so appear. With that exception, and except for presidential electors, no independent ballot shall be voted for any person for any office whose name appears on the machine as a nominated candidate for that office; any independent ballot so voted shall not be counted. An independent ballot must be cast in its appropriate place on the machine, or it shall be void and not counted. [28 G. A., ch. 37, § 13.]

SEC. 1137-a20. Voting machine in plain view—guard-rail. The exterior of the voting machine and every part of the polling-place shall be in plain view of the election officers. The voting machine shall be placed at least three feet from every wall and partition of the polling-place, and at least three feet from the guard-rail, and at least four feet from the clerk's table. A guard-rail shall be constructed at least three feet from the machine, with openings to admit electors to and from the machine. [28 G. A., ch. 37, § 14.]

SEC. 1137-a21. Method of voting. After the openings of the polls, the judges shall not allow any voter to pass within the guard-rail until they ascertain that he is duly entitled to vote. Only one voter at a time shall be permitted to pass within the guard-rail to vote. The operating of the voting machine by the elector while voting shall be secret and obscured from all other persons except as provided by this chapter in cases of voting by assisted electors. No voter shall remain within the voting machine booth longer than one minute, and if he shall refuse to leave it after the lapse of one minute, he shall be removed by the judges. [28 G. A., ch. 37, § 15.]

SEC. 1137-a22. Additional instructions. In case any elector after entering the voting machine booth shall ask for further instructions concerning the manner of voting, two judges of opposite political parties shall give such instructions to him; but no judge or other election officer or person assisting an elector shall in any manner request, suggest, or seek to persuade or induce any such elector to vote any particular ticket, or for any particular candidate, or for or against any particular amendment, question, or proposition. After receiving such instructions, such elector shall vote as in the case of an unassisted voter. [28 G. A., ch. 37, § 16.]

SEC. 1137-a23. Injury to the machine. No voter, or other person, shall deface or injure the voting machine or the ballot thereon. It shall be the duty of the judges to enforce the provisions of this section. During the entire period of an election, at least one of their number, designated by them from time to time, shall be stationed beside the entrance to the booth and shall see that it is properly closed after a voter has entered it to vote. He shall also, at such intervals as he may deem proper or necessary, examine the face of the machine to ascertain whether it has been defaced, or injured, to detect the wrong-doer and to repair any injury. [28 G. A., ch. 37, § 17.]

SEC. 1137-a24. Canvass of vote. As soon as the polls of the election are closed, the judges of the election thereat shall immediately lock the voting machine against voting and open the counting compartments in the presence of all persons who may be lawfully within the polling-place, and proceed to canvass the vote. [28 G. A., ch. 37, § 18.]

SEC. 1137-a25. Judges to lock machine. The judges of election shall, as soon as the count is completed and fully ascertained as in this act required, lock the machine against voting, and it shall so remain for the period of thirty days. Whenever independent ballots have been voted, the judges shall return all of such ballots properly secured in a sealed package as prescribed by section eleven hundred and forty-two (1142) of the code. [28 G. A., ch. 37, § 19.]

SEC. 1137-a26. Written statements of election. After the total vote for each candidate has been ascertained, and before leaving the room or voting place, the judges shall make and sign written statements of election, as required by the election laws now in force, except that such statements of the canvass need not contain any ballots except the independent ballots as herein provided. [28 G. A., ch. 37, § 20.]

SEC. 1137-a27. What statutes apply. All of the provisions of the election law now in force and not inconsistent with the provisions of this act shall apply with full force to all counties, cities, and towns adopting the use of voting machines. Nothing in this act shall be construed as prohibiting the use of a separate ballot for constitutional amendments and other public measures. [28 G. A., ch. 37, § 21.]

CHAPTER 4.

OF THE CANVASS OF VOTES.

SECTION 1142. Proclamation of result—preservation of votes.

The poll books and the registration lists prepared as provided by law furnish the best evidence as to who cast ballots at the election. So held where the question was as to the sufficiency of the petition of consent under the mulct tax law. State v. Pressman, 103-449.

The law provides for the strictest vigilance in the care and preservation of the ballots, and where it appears that these precautions have not been observed and there has been opportunity to tamper with them they will not be considered in an election contest for the purpose of overthrowing the result of the canvass by the proper officers. Davenport v. Olerich, 104-194.

The duty of preserving the ballots is not a negative one of non-interference, but a positive requirement to do whatever may be necessary in order to accomplish the purposes of the law in keeping them inviolate. Ibid.

The ballots when properly authenticated afford the very best evidence of who has been chosen by the electors to an office, but in order that the result of the canvass shall be overturned by the evidence of such ballots it must appear that they have been preserved with the care which precludes the suspicion of having been tampered with and the opportunity of alteration or change, and in a particular case, held, that it appeared that there had been such opportunity for tampering with the ballots that they should not be considered for the purpose of overturning the result as announced by the canvassing board. Ibid.

The ballots should be preserved in such

SEC. 1145. Poll books returned and preserved.

Previous to the time when the poll books are directed to be destroyed they may be used by the board of supervisors in determining whether the number of signers to a petition of consent for the sale of intoxicating liquors is sufficient. Cameron v. Fellows, 109-534.

Where the poll books have not been de-

SEC. 1149. Canvass by board of supervisors.

The judges of election who have made defective returns may correct such returns so as to authorize the board of supervisors way as not to afford a reasonable possibility of their having been changed or tampered with by unauthorized persons. Mentzer v. Davis, 109-528.

As the manner and mode of preservation of ballots has been enjoined by statute, a substantial compliance therewith must be shown preliminary to the introduction of the ballots in evidence. This preliminary proof, unless waived, is essential to the competency of the ballots as evidence for any purpose as against the official count, and no averment in the pleading is required as a basis for an objection to their competency. DeLong v. Brown, 113-370.

The question of the competency of the ballots as evidence is one of fact to be determined by the trial court. Ibid.

Where it appeared that the ballots had been so kept that they might have been tampered with, held that they were not admissible. Ibid.

The fact that the ballots are in the custody of one acting as deputy auditor de facto, but not de jure, will not prevent their being received in evidence in an election contest. Murphy v. Lentz, 131-328.

The provisions as to the folding, wiring and sealing of the ballots by the election officers are directory in character, and mere irregularities will not prevent such ballots from being admissible in evidence in an election contest. Ibid.

The provisions of the statute with reference to the conduct of election officers upon whom duties are enjoined, are mandatory; but as to the particular methods of preserving the ballots they are directory only. Ibid.

stroyed, by reason of the commencement of some legal proceeding, involving their use in evidence, they are admissible in evidence after the expiration of the time when, in the usual course, they would have been destroyed. Reed v. Jugenheimer, 118-610.

to canvass the same. Rummel v. Dealy, 112-503.

SEC. 1164. Repeal—state election book. That section eleven hundred and sixty-four (1164) of the code is hereby repealed and the following enacted in lieu thereof:

“The secretary of state shall file the abstracts when received and shall have the same bound in book form to be kept by him as a record of the result of said state election, to be known as the state election book.” [32 G. A., ch. 52.]

CHAPTER 5.

OF PRESIDENTIAL ELECTORS.

SECTION 1173. Election of. At the general election in the years of the presidential election, or at such other times as the congress of the United States may direct, there shall be elected by the electors of the state, one person from each congressional district into which the state is divided, as elector of president and vice-president, and two from the state at large, no one of whom shall be a person holding the office of senator or representative in congress, or any office of trust or profit under the United States. Such election shall be conducted, and the canvass of the votes and the returns thereof made, in the same manner as for state officers and representatives in congress. [16 G. A., ch. 23; C., '73, §§ 659, 660; R., §§ 535-6; C., '51, §§ 301-2.] [28 G. A., ch. 38, § 1.]

See U. S. Const., Art II, § 1.

CHAPTER 6.

OF QUALIFICATION FOR OFFICE.

SECTION 1177. Oath and bond.

One who is elected to an office, but does facto. Herkimer v. Keeler, 109-680. not qualify nor act, is not an officer de

SEC. 1177-a. Bond. When a bond is required by law to be given by or for any public officer, deputy or employe of such public officer, or by any person holding a fiduciary office or trust, administrator, executor, guardian, trustee, officer or employe of any public or private corporation or association, when not otherwise specifically provided, shall be conditioned as provided in section eleven hundred eighty-three (1183) of the code. [29 G. A., ch. 54, § 1.]

SEC. 1177-b. Sureties relieved—how. If any surety on said bond shall so elect his liability thereon may be canceled at any time by giving thirty days' notice in writing to the person or persons authorized to approve said bond, and to the officer or person with whom the same is required to be filed or deposited by law, and refunding the premium paid, if any, less a pro rata part thereof for the time said bond shall have been in force. The liability and indemnity created by said bond shall extend to the date of cancellation as provided by chapter eleven (11), title six (VI) of the code. [29 G. A., ch. 54, § 2.]

SEC. 1177-c. Contract or stipulation. No contract, stipulation, or condition limiting the liability created by said bond shall be of any force or validity. [29 G. A., ch. 54, § 3.]

SEC. 1177-d. Other bonds. All other bonds, public or private, required to be given by law, when not otherwise specifically provided, shall be substantially conditioned as required in this act and subject to the limitations thereof. [29 G. A., ch. 54, § 4.]

SEC. 1183. Bond required.

The sureties of a county treasurer are liable for money in his hands at the expiration of his term which is subsequently converted by him before his successor comes into office, and not paid over to such successor. Plymouth County v. Kerseboom, 108-304.

Where the clerk of the courts in his official capacity receives a fund to hold for a claimant thereof and deposits it at interest with a bank, the claimant having established his right to the fund may recover against the clerk and his bondsmen the interest accrued on the fund. Rhea v. Brewster, 130-729.

SEC. 1193. Accounting before approval.

Where an officer has accounted, as required by law, and produced the funds and property with which he is chargeable, the settlement with him, in the absence of fraud or mistake, is conclusive, not only as against him, but also as against his sureties, and the burden is cast on the sureties to show his failure to produce funds, and that such funds were misappropriated prior to the taking effect of the bond on which they are sureties. But the sureties are not estopped from showing that the defalcation for which they are sought to be charged in fact occurred prior to the making of such settlement, if at the time of settlement the funds were not in fact produced. Independent School Dist. v. Hubbard, 110-58.

CHAPTER 7.OF CONTESTING ELECTIONS.*SECTION 1198. Grounds of contest.

The provisions of this section are cumulative, and not exclusive of those authorized by Code § 4313 to test the right of an incumbent of a county office to hold the same. Haverstock v. Aylesworth, 113-378.

Voters at an election in a township for which defective returns are made may by action of mandamus compel the board of supervisors to canvass corrected returns. Rummel v. Dealy, 112-503.

SEC. 1203. Statement of contest.

The provisions of this section as to what the statement of contest must show have reference to the paper filed by the contestant as the basis for his proceedings, and it is doubtful whether they apply to the answer filed by the incumbent. Kelso v. Wright, 110-560.

SEC. 1208. Procedure—powers of court.

The proceedings in contest cases should be assimilated to those in an action so far as practicable, and the defendant, that is, the incumbent in such a contest, is not required, as a general rule, to give bond. Kelso v. Wright, 110-560.

The incumbent may meet the case made by the contestant by showing that the illegal votes counted for him were without prejudice because of the illegal votes cast for the contestant. Ibid.

SEC. 1217. Costs.

The payment of costs in an election contest in which the contestant is unsuccessful is to be determined by the rules applicable in criminal cases where the prosecution has failed. See Code § 4318. Hull v. Eby, 123-257.

SEC. 1222. Appeal. The party against whom judgment is rendered may appeal within twenty days to the district court, but, if he be in possession of the office, such appeal will not supersede the execution of the judgment of the court as provided in the preceding section, unless he gives a bond, with security to be approved by the district judge, in a sum to be fixed by him, and which shall be at least double the probable compensation of such officer for six months, which bond shall be conditioned that he will prosecute his appeal without delay, and that, if the judgment appealed from be affirmed, he will pay over to the successful party all compensation received by him while in possession of said office after the judgment appealed from was rendered. The court shall hear the appeal in equity and determine anew all questions arising in the case. [C., '73, § 716.] [28 G. A., ch. 39, § 1.]

After the judges of contest have in fact announced their decision, the notice of appeal may be served although the decision has not yet been formally reduced to writing and filed with the proper authorities. Mentzer v. Davis, 109-528.

The statute does not require the giving of bond where no stay of proceedings is sought. Ibid.

Ballots should not be received in evidence unless they have been so kept as not to be exposed to the reach of unauthorized persons in such a way as to afford a reasonable possibility of their having been changed or tampered with. Ibid. And see notes to § 1142.

The fact that contestant claims that the returns for a certain township or precinct were not such as to entitle the votes from that precinct to be counted will not prevent a determination of the contest by a recounting of votes of which proper returns were made. Brown v. Crosson, 115-256.

The proceedings before the board are not binding on the court hearing the appeal. Ibid.

The supreme court does not on appeal in an election contest try the case de novo, but only upon errors assigned. Spurrier v. McLennan, 115-461.

The appeal in an election contest is triable in the court in equity, and is therefore triable de novo; and an appeal to the supreme court from the decision of the district court is also to be heard de novo. Murphy v. Lentz, 131-328.

The officer obtaining possession of an office by judgment of a court in a contest cannot recover from the county the salary or compensation of which he has been deprived by the incumbency of the de facto officer who is ousted by the contest. Brown v. Tama County, 122-745.

CHAPTER 8.

OF REMOVAL FROM OFFICE.

SECTION 1251. Causes.

Misconduct during a preceding term of office may be ground for the removal of a sheriff. State v. Welsh, 109-19.

The neglect of duty must be habitual or wilful to require removal. Ibid.

Voluntary intoxication while engaged in the performance of an official duty is such wilful misconduct as to be a ground for removal. Ibid.

SEC. 1258-a. Made applicable to special charter cities. The provisions of chapter eight (8) of title six (6) of the code are also made applicable to cities acting under special charters. [32 G. A., ch. 53.]

CHAPTER 10.

OF VACANCIES IN OFFICE.

SECTION 1205. Holding over.

Where the council of a city met at the time fixed by ordinance to elect a street commissioner and without doing so adjourned without date, held that the incumbent who thereafter gave bond as a holdover officer was entitled to the office as against a person elected at a subsequent meeting of the council. State v. Alexander, 107-177.

SEC. 1266. What constitutes vacancy.

The office of justice of the peace becomes vacant if the incumbent becomes a resident of another state. State v. Hemsworth, 112-1.

But mere temporary residence for a short time in another township does not operate to create a vacancy. Ibid.

SEC. 1272. Filling vacancies. Vacancies in the offices of clerk and reporter of the supreme court shall be filled by the supreme court; in all other state offices, judges of courts of record, officers elected in districts larger than a county, except state senators and representatives, officers, trustees, inspectors, and members of all boards or commissions, officers chosen by the general assembly if the legislature is not in session, and all persons filling any position of trust or profit in the state, by the governor, except when some other method is specially provided, and he shall issue the proper commission to the appointee; in county offices, including those of justices of the peace and constables, by the board of supervisors; and in the membership of such board, by the clerk of the district court, auditor and recorder; and when by death, or otherwise, a vacancy occurs in the office of the clerk of the district court, said court, or judge thereof, may, by order entered of record in the court journal, appoint a suitable and proper person to act as clerk until the vacancy shall be filled in the manner provided by law; in all other township offices, including trustees, by the trustees, but where the offices of the three trustees are all vacant, the county auditor shall appoint; in the office of councilman or mayor of any city, and all other elective city offices, the council may appoint any qualified elector to fill such vacancy, who shall qualify in the same manner as persons regularly elected to fill such office, and shall hold such office until the qualification of the officer elected to fill such vacancy, who shall be elected at the next regular municipal election; in all city appointive offices, unless otherwise provided by law, in the same manner as the original appointment was made; in all town offices, by the council at its first regular meeting after such vacancy occurs, or as soon thereafter as practicable. [24 G. A., ch. 1, § 1; 23 G. A., ch. 3, § 2; 22 G. A., ch. 1, § 1; 19 G. A., ch. 124, § 1; C., '73, §§ 390, 530, 783, 794-5; R., §§ 664, 1101; C., '51, § 436.] [30 G. A., ch. 41.]

See Const., Art. IV, § 10.

SEC. 1275. Qualification.

Where there is an election of a person disqualified to hold the office, who therefore is unable to qualify, the vacancy is for failure to qualify and not for failure to elect, and the preceding officer is entitled to qualify within ten days after the failure of the newly elected officer to qualify. State v. Cahill, 131-155.

The failure to elect within the statutory provision as to the vacancy refers to a failure to hold an election or a failure to make a choice as provided by law. Ibid.

CHAPTER 11.OF ADDITIONAL SECURITY AND THE DISCHARGE OF SURETIES.*SECTIONS 1280-1288.

[For provisions relating to the release of sureties from an obligation, and manner of procedure, as enacted by the 29 G. A., chapter 54, §§ 1, 2, 3 and 4, and made amendatory of this chapter, see sections 1177-a, 1177-b, 1177-c and 1177-d, supra.]

CHAPTER 12.

OF GENERAL PROVISIONS AS TO COMPENSATION.

SECTION 1290-a. Appraisers—compensation of generally. [The 31 G. A., chapter 9, section 32, enacted identically the same section as the one shown above, but it was not deemed best to insert both.]

SEC. 1297. Taking higher fees.

While the compensation of a public officer cannot be affected by contract, yet, if a city provides for a police matron without regard to the statutory provisions as to such office, it may fix the compensation by contract. Daniels v. Des Moines, 108-484.

SEC. 1298. Fees paid in advance.

right to collect any portion of such costs, except such as have been advanced by him. Hidy v. Hanson, 116-8.

SEC. 1300. Fees payable by state or county.

Where, by providing a salary for police judge and marshal the city becomes entitled to their fees in criminal cases, it

For ordinary county revenue, not more than six mills on a dollar in counties having a population of less than twenty thousand, and in counties having a population of twenty thousand or more, four mills, with a poll tax in either case of fifty cents on each male resident over twenty-one years of age. But in any county in which the levy is limited to four mills the board of supervisors may, at any general election, submit the question of increasing such levy to six mills or less to a vote of the electors, and if such proposition is adopted the board of supervisors may make the next general levy at the proposed rate;

3. For support of schools, not less than one nor more than three mills on a dollar;

For making and repairing bridges, not more than four mills on a dollar; but such tax shall not be levied upon any property assessable within the limits of any city of the first class, and none of such bridge tax shall be used in the construction or repair of bridges within the limits of such city. [25 G. A., ch. 114; 22 G. A., ch. 43; 20 G. A., ch. 182; 18 G. A., ch. 13; 15 G. A., ch. 28; C., '73, § 796; R., § 710; C., '51, § 454.] [30 G. A., ch. 42.]

There can be no taxation except as authorized by statute or constitutional provision, and the taxing power can be exercised only in accordance with the forms of law. Chicago, M. & St. P. R. Co. v. Phillips, 111-377.

Provisions for levying a mullet tax on sellers of intoxicating liquor at the September session of the board of supervisors, held directory only and that a levy in December was valid. Hubbell v. Polk County, 106-618.

SEC. 1304. Exemptions. The following classes of property are not to be taxed:

1. The property of the United States and this state, including university, agricultural college and school lands, and all property leased to the state; the property of a county, township, city, town or school district or militia company, when devoted entirely to public use and not held for pecuniary profit; public grounds, including all places for the burial of the dead, crematoriums, the land on which they are built and appurtenant thereto not exceeding one acre, so long as no dividends or profits are derived therefrom; fire engines and all implements for extinguishing fires, with the grounds used exclusively for their buildings and meetings of the fire companies;

2. All grounds and buildings used for public libraries, including libraries owned and kept up by private individuals, associations or corporations for public use and not for private profit, and for literary, scientific, charitable, benevolent, agricultural and religious institutions, and societies devoted solely to the appropriate objects of these institutions, not exceeding one hundred and sixty acres in extent, and not leased or otherwise used with a view to pecuniary profit, but all deeds or leases by which such property is held shall be filed for record before the property above described shall be omitted from the assessment; the books, papers and apparatus belonging to the above institutions, used solely for the purposes above contemplated, and the like property of students in any such institution used for their education; moneys and credits belonging exclusively to such institutions, and devoted solely to sustaining them, but not exceeding in amount or income the amount prescribed by their charters or articles of incorporation; provided, however, that real estate owned by an educational institution of this state, as part of its endowment fund, shall not be taxed;

3. The farm produce of the person assessed, harvested by him, and all wool shorn from his sheep, within one year previous to the listing; all poultry, ten stands of bees, all swine and sheep under six months of age; and all other domestic animals under one year of age not hereinbefore exempt; obligations for rent not yet due, in the hands of the original payees, private libraries, professional libraries to the actual value of three hundred dollars; family pictures; household furniture to the actual value of three hundred dollars and kitchen furniture; beds and bedding requisite for each family; all wearing apparel in actual use; and all food provided for the family; but the exemptions allowed in this subdivision shall not be held to apply to hotels and boarding houses except so far as said exempted classes of property shall be for the actual use of the family managing the same;

4. 5. The farming utensils of any person who makes his livelihood by farming, the team, wagon and harness of the teamster or drayman who makes his living by their use in hauling for others, and the tools of any mechanic, not in any case to exceed three hundred dollars in actual value;

6. Government lands entered and located, or lands purchased from this state, for the year in which the entry, location or purchase is made;

7. The property not to exceed eight hundred dollars in actual value, of any honorably discharged union soldier or sailor of the Mexican war or of the war of the Rebellion or of the widow remaining unmarried of such soldier or sailor. It shall be the duty of every assessor annually to make a list of all such soldiers, sailors and widows, and to return such list to the county auditor, upon forms to be furnished by such auditor for that purpose; but the failure on the part of any assessor so to do shall not affect the validity of any exemption. All soldiers, sailors or widows thereof referred to herein shall receive a reduction of eight hundred dollars at the time said assessment is made by the assessor unless waiver thereof is voluntarily made of said exemption at said time; but this exemption shall not apply in the case of any soldier or sailor or the widow of such soldier or sailor, owning property of the actual value of five thousand dollars ($5,000.00) or where the wife of such soldier or sailor owns property to the actual value of five thousand dollars ($5,000.00).

8. The accumulations and funds held or possessed by fraternal beneficiary associations for the purposes of paying the benefits contemplated by section eighteen hundred and twenty-two (1822) of the code, or for the payment of the expenses of such association. [26 G. A., ch. 29; 21 G. A., ch. 97; C., '73, § 797; R., § 711; C., '51, § 455.] [29 G. A., ch. 56, § 1.] [31 G. A., ch. 48.] [32 G. A., ch. 54.]

[The amendments enacted by the 31 and 32 G. A. referred to the original code section and ignored the same as it appeared in the code supplement. The amendment by the 31 G. A. added the following to paragraph 2: "Provided, however, that real estate owned by educational institutions of this state as part of its endowment fund shall not be taxed," and the 32 G. A. added paragraph 8.]

In general: A general exemption from taxation, not embodied in a contract, is not irrevocable, even though property has been acquired or expenses incurred in reliance thereon. Miller v. Hageman, 114-195.

Pension money which has been paid to the guardian of an insane pensioner still remains subject to the jurisdiction and control of the federal government, and is therefore exempt from taxation under the provisions of § 4747 of the Revised Statutes of the United States. Manning v. Spry, 121-191.

Par. 1: The fact that the property of a county is exempt from general taxation does not exempt it from liability for a special assessment for street improvements in a city. Edwards & Walsh Const. Co. v. Jasper County, 117-365.

Land which has been acquired by condemnation by a school district for a school-house site cannot be sold at tax sale for taxes already due thereon at the time of condemnation. Independent School Dist. v. Hewitt, 105-663.

Par. 2: To be entitled to an exemption as a charitable, benevolent or religious institution it must appear that the body is such institution, and that the property is devoted solely to the appropriate objects of such institution. The presumption is in favor of taxation and against exemption. Lacy v. Davis, 112-106.

The exemption as to grounds and buildings used for literary and scientific institutions and societies devoted solely to the appropriate objects of these institutions, and not leased or otherwise used with a view to pecuniary profit, does not cover the case of buildings and apparatus employed in conducting an educational institution for private profit. In re Dille, 119-575.

The exemption of the property of religious, charitable and educational institutions from taxation does not create an exemption from a business or license tax. Iowa Mut. Tornado Assn. v. Gilbertson, 129-658.

Par. 6: While it is true that when the full equitable title to public land has passed from the government, even prior to the issue of a patent conveying the legal title, the land is subject to taxation; yet until such equitable title has passed and while the land is still subject to the control of the government, it is beyond the reach of the state's power to tax. Hussman v. Durham, 165 U. S., 144.

Lands claimed under a railroad grant may by statute be made taxable from the time such lands are earned and selected. Chicago, M. & St. P. R. Co. v. Hemenway, 117-598.

Land which is part of the public domain at the time of assessment is not subject to taxation. Davis v. Magoun, 109-308.

But where a homestead entry was canceled only because in supposed conflict with a railway grant, and was subsequently established, held that such cancellation did not prevent the land from being taxable to the claimant. Ibid.

Par. 7: The provision of section 876 of the Code of 1873, that where the homestead is listed separately, it shall be liable only for the taxes thereon, is not retained in the present Code. Bitzer v. Becke, 120-66.

SEC. 1304-a. What property exempt. That the following named property is exempt from taxation until January 1st, 1917, viz.: All mills, buildings, machinery, tools, apparatus and appliances for the manufacture of sugar, the land upon which said mill is situated not to exceed ten acres, the capital invested in the business of the manufacture of sugar from beets raised in the state of Iowa, all personal property used in connection with said business, also the stock, shares, and certificates of any company or corporation actually engaged in said business. [28 G. A., ch. 40, § 1.] [32 G. A., ch. 55.]

SEC. 1305. Valuation. All property subject to taxation shall be valued at its actual value, which shall be entered opposite each item, and shall be assessed at twenty-five per cent. of such actual value. Such assessed value shall be taken and considered as the taxable value of such property, upon which the levy shall be made. Actual value of property as used in this chapter shall mean its value in the market in the ordinary course of trade. This section shall not apply to special charter cities. [Code, '97.] [27 G. A., ch. 30, § 1.] [31 G. A., ch. 33, § 3.]

As to whether the provision that property shall be valued for purposes of taxation at its actual value and assessed at 25 per cent. of such value is applicable to railroad property in special charter cities, the court was equally divided. Chicago & N. W. R. Co. v. Cedar Rapids, 127-678; Chicago, M. & St. P. R. Co. v. Davenport, 127-677.

The constitutional limitation as to municipal indebtedness to five per cent. of the actual value of property subject to taxation is not affected by the provision that property is to be assessed at twenty-five per cent. of the actual value at which it is listed. Halsey v. Belle Plaine, 128-467.

This provision held not applicable where the holder of bonds issued prior to the adoption of such provision sought by mandamus to compel the levy of a tax in the payment of such bonds in accordance with the provisions in force when the bonds were issued. Ft. Madison v. Ft. Madison Water Co., 134 Fed. 214.

SEC. 1306-a. Repeal. That section thirteen hundred and six (1306) of the code be and is hereby repealed, and the following enacted in lieu thereof: [28 G. A., ch. 41, § 1.]

SEC. 1306-b. Repeal—amount of indebtedness limited. That section thirteen hundred and six-b (1306-b) of the supplement to the code and chapter forty-three (43) of the acts of the thirtieth general assembly be and the same are hereby repealed, and the following enacted in lieu thereof:

“No county or other political or municipal corporation, shall be allowed to become indebted in any manner or for any purpose, to an amount exceeding in the aggregate the amount of one and one-fourth per centum of the actual value of the taxable property within such county or corporation, except that cities and incorporated towns, may, for the purpose of purchasing, erecting or maintaining and operating waterworks, electric light and power plants, gas works and heating plants or of building and constructing sewers, incur an indebtedness, not exceeding in the aggregate, added to all other indebtedness, five per centum of the actual value of the taxable property within such city or incorporated town. The amount of such taxable property shall be ascertained by the last state and county tax list previous to the incurring of such indebtedness.” [31 G. A., ch. 49, § 1.]

The debt limit provision of the constitution has relation only to the actual value of property as the same may be found and returned by the assessor for taxation purposes, and an indebtedness which does not exceed five per cent. of the value of the property subject to taxation valued at its actual value is not unconstitutional. The constitutional limitation refers to the actual value, and not to the taxable value as prescribed by Code § 1305, providing that property is to be assessed at twenty-five per cent. of the actual value at which it is listed. Halsey v. Belle Plaine, 128-467.

SEC. 1306-c. Procedure to exceed limitation in cities and towns. Provided; that before such indebtedness can be contracted in excess of one and one-quarter per centum of the actual value of the taxable property ascertained as above provided in this act, a petition signed by a majority of the qualified electors of such city or town shall be filed with the council of such city or town, asking that an election shall be called, stating the purposes for which the money is to be used and that the necessary water works, electric light and power plants, gas works, heating plants, or sewers, cannot be purchased, erected, built or furnished within the limit of one and one-quarter per centum of the valuation. And provided that in cities having a population of more than ten thousand, the petition need not be signed by more than two hundred qualified electors. [31 G. A., ch. 49, § 2.]

SEC. 1306-d. Election called—notice—ballot. The council of such city or town on the receipt of such petition shall at the next regular meeting call such election, fixing the time and place thereof, and give four weeks' notice thereof, by publication once each week, in some newspaper published in the said town or city, or if none be published there, then in the next nearest town or city in the county. At such election the ballots shall be prepared, and used in substantially the following form:

For the issuance of bonds in the sum of $_____
for water works, electric light and power plants,
gas works, heating plants, or sewer purposes,

Against the issuance of bonds in the sum of $_____
for water works, electric light and power plants,
gas works, heating plants, or sewer purposes,

[31 G. A., ch. 9, § 31.] [31 G. A., ch. 49, § 3.]

[Section 3, chapter 43, acts of the 30 G. A., was amended by section 31, chapter 9, 31 G. A., but chapter 43, acts of the 30 G. A., was repealed by chapter 49, 31 G. A., but as section 3 of chapter 43, 30 G. A., was the same as the above section the amendment is shown here. The amendment was by adding the words, "by publication once each week," after the word "thereof," in line 4.]

SEC. 1306-e. Issuance of bonds. If a majority, in cities having more than ten thousand population; or, if, in cities and towns having a population of ten thousand or less, two-thirds or more, of all the electors, voting at such election, vote in favor of the issuance of such bonds, the council of such city or town shall issue the same and make provision for the payment of the same and the interest thereon as provided in chapter eight (8) title five (V) of the code. [31 G. A., ch. 49, § 4.]

SEC. 1306-f. Construction. Nothing in this act contained shall be construed to repeal the provisions of chapter one hundred and fourteen (114) of the acts of the thirtieth general assembly nor shall anything in this act contained be construed as being applicable to bonds issued under section 745 of the supplement to the code. [31 G. A., ch. 49, § 5.]

SEC. 1308. What taxable—lands of other counties.

Animals held with a view of traffic therein, as in merchandise, are assessable under the provisions of Code § 1318, providing for the taxation of merchants; otherwise, although bought with the intention of owning them for a limited time only, they should be taxed to the owner as other personal property. Jewell v. Board of Trustees, 113-47.

Money in the hands of an executor or administrator is not exempt from taxation simply for the reason it is not being loaned or invested, and even though the administration is ancillary, the money and property of the estate located in this state is subject to taxation, unless at least taxes thereon have been paid in the state of principal administration. Dorris v. Miller, 105-564.

SEC. 1310. Moneys—credits—annuities—banknotes—stock.

A contract for the conveyance of land creating an absolute indebtedness, gives rise to a credit in favor of the grantor which is subject to taxation. Clark v. Horn, 122-375.

Deferred payments due on a mutually obligatory contract for the sale of land are taxable as credits. Cross v. Snakenberg, 126-636.

The owner of land who has given to a tenant the option to purchase at a specified price, which option has not been exercised so as to bind the prospective purchaser for the payment of the balance of the price, cannot be taxed on such option as moneys and credits. Schoonover v. Petcina, 126-261.

One having a contract for the purchase of real property which gives him no more than the right to exercise an option does not have a taxable credit nor such interest in the land as subjects him to taxation on account thereof. In re Shield, 111 N. W. 963.

SEC. 1311. Deducting debts.

The fact that in returning moneys and credits for assessments the taxpayer specifies liabilities which he claims the right to have deducted does not estop him, in a subsequent proceeding by the treasurer, to enforce an assessment for moneys and credits omitted from taxation, from showing other debts than those previously returned. Schoonover v. Petcina, 126-261.

The taxpayer may waive the right to have his indebtedness offset against his moneys and credits for taxation, and although he does so for the purpose of concealing such indebtedness and to avoid a showing of insolvency, his assignee, for the benefit of creditors, cannot complain of the tax thus assessed. Carpenter v. Jones County, 130-494.

The valuation of corporate stock cannot be offset by indebtedness. In re Kauffman's Est., 104-639.

If a bank pays the taxes for its stockholders on their shares in the bank it should as to those stockholders who are entitled to offset indebtedness as against the assessment of their shares as moneys and credits pay over by way of dividends

The owner is required to list his personal property, including moneys and credits, although it may be in the hands of an agent in another taxing district of the state. German Trust Co. v. Board of Equalization, 121-325.

If the owner is a resident the listing of moneys and credits is to be made by him and not by his agent in whose possession such moneys and credits are, in another taxing district. German Trust Co. v. Board of Equalization, 121-325.

Property which has been wrongfully taxed in a county in which it is not subject to taxation may be taxed as omitted property in the county where it should have been taxed, but the county cannot recover taxes on property omitted from taxation in the property district if it has been in fact taxed in another district of the same county. *Snakenburg v. the amount of such assessments. The bank has no right except by way of declaration of a dividend to appropriate its assets to the payment of the interest on the shares of the stock of its stockholders. Redhead v. Iowa National Bank, 127-572.

An endorser on promissory notes transferred by him with mortgage security is not entitled to deduct such contingent liability as a debt from his moneys and credits. Schoonover v. Petcina, 126-261.

The debts which may be deducted from moneys and credits due do not include delinquent taxes of a previous year. In re Appeal of Bailies, 127-124.

A note given on a valid consideration to a college for the benefit of its endowment fund, constitutes a debt which may properly be deducted from moneys and credits for the purposes of taxation. Such a note does not constitute a subscription "to any institution, society, corporation or company" under the exception in this section. Such exception relates to subscriptions with reference to the organization of such institution or association. King v. Carroll, 129-364.

placed in the hands of an agent for investment, as contemplated by Code § 1320. In re Miller's Est., 116-446.

The fact that local or ancillary administration was delayed by the acts of the agent will not be taken into consideration in determining whether the funds remained subject to taxation. Ibid.

Choses in action are taxable to the owner at his domicile, and not elsewhere, unless the owner has himself given to the property a different situs. Gilbertson v. Oliver, 129-568.

It is doubtful whether by "assessment districts" in the section relating to the place of taxation of personal property is meant any subdivision less than one having an assessor and a local board of review. Within a school township personal property may well be assessed to the owner in the school district where he resides. Independent School Dist. v. Board of Review, 131-195.

SEC. 1316. Listing property of another.

Property may be listed to one as agent without giving the name of the person for whom he holds it. Security Savings Bank v. Carroll, 131-605.

SEC. 1317. Business in different states—partners.

Notes taken by a branch bank in the ordinary course of business, and held as a part of its assets are taxable in the district where such bank is located. Farmers' Loan & Trust Co. v. Fonda, 114-728.

Transfer of such notes to another branch of the same parent institution, and giving credit to the branch from which they are taken for the amount thereof, will not affect the question of taxation. Ibid.

Taxes levied against a firm become an individual debt of the partner, and must be paid from his estate in bankruptcy as a preferred claim. In re Green, 116 Fed. 118.

SEC. 1318. Merchants.

The assessable value of merchandise is not its value on January 1st, but its average value during the year. Larson v. Hamilton County, 123-485.

One who purchases stock with a view of fattening and reselling is not a merchant and should be assessed on the stock owned by him on the first of January. Jewell v. Board of Trustees, 113-47.

One to whom property has been assigned and transferred by a non-resident owner for the purpose of being held subject to disposal at the order of the owner, is taxable for such property. Merchants' Transfer Co. v. Board of Review, 128-732.

SEC. 1320. Agent personally liable.

Where funds are sent into this state and placed in the hands of an agent for investment so as to subject them to taxation, the death of the principal does not terminate the right to impose such tax. Such funds continue subject to taxation until removed from the state under the process of administration. In re Miller's Bank v. Carroll, 131-605. Est., 116-446.

One in possession of money, notes and credits of a non-resident may be assessed as agent, although the name of his principal is not disclosed. Security Savings

To justify the assessor in requiring one person to list the property of another, it must appear first that there is an agency of the party required to list, and second that he has possession or control of the moneys, notes, or other credits of his principal, and third, that such possession or control is held by the agent with a view to investing or loaning or in some other manner holding or using the money for the pecuniary profit of himself or his principal. No agent is liable to taxation for the property of another in his possession or under his control unless he holds that possession or is vested with that control for the particular purposes named in the statute. German Trust Co. v. Board of Equalization, 121-325; Heinz v. Board of Equalization, 121-445.

But where the principal puts his money into the purchase of securities through an agent who reserves the right to an interest in the proceeds, the agent is bound to list the securities for his principal. Ibid.

The statutory provision does not, however, contemplate the listing by an agent of money or securities of a principal who is a resident of the state, and subject to taxation where he resides. Ibid.

The fact that the non-resident owner of property which is required to be listed by his agent in this state having possession and control thereof may also be taxed therefor in the state of his residence does not render the statutory provisions requiring listing by the agent unconstitutional. Heinz v. Board of Equalization, 121-445.

SEC. 1321. Private bankers. Private banks or bankers, or any persons other than corporations hereinafter specified, a part of whose business is the receiving of deposits subject to check, on certificates, receipts, or otherwise, or the selling of exchange, shall prepare and furnish to the assessor a sworn statement, showing the assets, aside from real estate, and liabilities of such bank or banker on January first of the current year, as follows:

1. The amount of moneys, specifying separately the amount of moneys on hand or in transit, the funds in the hands of other banks, bankers, brokers or other persons or corporations, and the amount of checks or other cash items not included in either of the preceding items;

2. The actual value of credits, consisting of bills receivable owned by them, and other credits due or to become due;

3. The amount of all deposits made with them by others, and also the amount of bills payable;

4. The actual value of bonds and stocks of every kind and shares of capital stock or joint stock of other corporations or companies held as an investment, or in any way representing assets, and the specific kinds and description thereof exempt from taxation;

5. All other property pertaining to said business, including real estate, which shall be specially listed and valued by the usual description thereof;

The aggregate actual value of moneys and credits, after deducting therefrom the amount of deposits and of debts owing by such bank as provided in this chapter, and the aggregate actual value of bonds and stocks, after deducting the portion thereof exempt, or otherwise taxed in this state, and also the other property pertaining to the business, shall be assessed as provided by section thirteen hundred and five (1305) of this chapter, not including real estate, which shall be listed and assessed as other real estate. [15 G. A., ch. 63; C., '73, § 812; R., §§ 719, 720; C., '51, §§ 460, 465.] [27 G. A., ch. 30, § 2.]

Where a branch bank had just prior to the first day of January as a part of its assets notes taken in the usual course of business, and the parent bank then transferred such notes to another branch, giving credit to the first branch therefor on the books of the parent institution, held that such transfer did not relieve the branch from which the notes had been transferred of liability for assessment thereon. Farmers' Loan & Trust Co. v. Fonda, 114-728.

On the transfer of the assets of a private bank to a national bank the assets of the private bank cease to be taxable as moneys and credits. Schoonover v. Petrina, 126-261.

SEC. 1322. National, state and savings banks. Shares of stock of national banks shall be assessed to the individual stockholders at the place where the bank is located. Shares of stock of state and savings banks and loan and trust companies shall be assessed to such banks and loan and trust companies and not to the individual stockholders. At the time the assessment is made, the officers of national banks shall furnish the assessor with a list of all the stockholders and the number of shares owned by each, and he shall list to each stockholder under the head of corporation stock the total value of such shares. To aid the assessor in fixing the value of such shares, the corporations shall furnish him a verified statement of all the matters provided in the preceding section, which shall also show, separately, the amount of capital stock, and the surplus and undivided earnings, and the assessor, from such statement and other information he can obtain, including any statement furnished to and information obtained by the auditor of state, which shall be furnished him on request, shall fix the value of such stock, taking into account the capital, surplus and undivided earnings. In arriving at the total value of the shares of stock of such corporations, the amount of their capital actually invested in real estate owned by them and in the shares of stock of corporations owning only the real estate (inclusive of leasehold interests, if any) on or in which the bank or trust company is located, shall be deducted from the real value of such shares, and such real estate shall be assessed as other real estate, and the property of such corporations shall not be otherwise assessed. [23 G. A., ch. 39; 15 G. A., ch. 60, § 28; 15 G. A., ch. 63; C., '73, §§ 812, 818-20; R., §§ 719, 720; C., '51, §§ 460, 465.] [31 G. A., ch. 50, § 1.]

The assessor is not bound by the showing of the books of a national bank in arriving at the valuation of its stock for the purposes of assessment. In making such valuation the assessor is to determine the value of the stock on the market without regard to whether such value is based upon assets that are tangible or intangible. First Nat. Bank v. City Council, 112 N. W. 829.

Although stock of a national bank is assessed to the shareholders, the bank is itself a party in interest as representing the shareholders and may appear before the board of review and prosecute an appeal from its findings. First Nat. Bank of Independence v. Independence, 123-482.

Where by mutual agreement stockholders deposit a fund which becomes a part of the capital of the bank it should be taxed by taxing the shares of stock, and not as the individual deposit of the stockholders. State Exchange Bank v. Parkersburg, 112-104.

The bank has no right to pay out of its assets the taxes on the shares of stock held by the stockholders. And if it does so the actions amount practically to the declaration of a dividend. Redhead v. Iowa National Bank, 127-572.

United States Bonds: The tax on the shares of stock of a bank is not a tax on its capital, and as against a tax on the shares of stock held by individuals, the bank has no right to deduct the amount of its capital invested in United States bonds. German-American Sav. Bank v. Council, etc., 118-84.

In estimating the value of shares of stock in a national bank for the purpose of taxation, the value of United States bonds owned by the bank may be taken into account. National State Bank v. Mayor, 119-696.

The fact that private banks and bankers are assessed on a valuation determined by finding the aggregate amount of moneys and credits of the bank, after deducting deposits and debts, and also the aggregate value of bonds and stocks, excluding United States bonds, while in the possession of corporate banks, including national, state and savings banks, the taxation is on the basis of the stock, in estimating which the property of the bank, including United States bonds, is taken into account, does not constitute a discrimination between national and state banks such as to render the statute void under the provisions of the federal law relating to the taxation of national banks. Ibid.

In determining the value of national bank stock for the purpose of taxation, the value of government bonds held by the bank should be considered. First Nat. Bank of Independence v. Independence, 123-482.

As United States bonds belonging to the bank are to be taken into account in fixing the valuation of the shares on which taxes are to be paid by the holders, the treasurer is not authorized to tax such bonds to the bank or the stockholders as omitted property where the stock has in fact been assessed for taxation to such stockholders. Security Savings Bank v. Carroll, 128-230.

The treasurer and auditor have no right to assess against the stockholders of a bank as an element in determining the value of their stock the amount of United States bonds held by the bank where the assessor to whom a full report of the facts has been made has excluded such element of value in determining the taxable value of the shares. Judy v. National State Bank, 133-252.

The statutory provision for taxation of bank stock does not authorize the assessment of such stock on a valuation which includes the United States bonds held by the bank. (In effect overruling People's Savings Bank v. Layman, 134 Fed. 635). Home Savings Bank v. Des Moines, 205 U. S., 503.

SEC. 1322-a. Applicable to 1906 tax. This act shall apply to the assessment for the tax of 1906. [31 G. A., ch. 50, § 2.]

SEC. 1323. Shares of corporation stock.

The fact that the statutory provisions as to methods of ascertaining the value of personal property and fixing the situs thereof are different as to corporate property than as to property of private individuals does not render the provisions as to assessment of the corporate property invalid. Layman v. Iowa Telephone Co., 123-591.

As the statute provides a method for the assessment of the property of loan and trust companies that method is exclusive. Wahkonsa Inv. Co. v. Fort Dodge, 125-148.

The shares of stock in a corporation organized under the laws of this state, except as otherwise provided, are to be assessed to the owners thereof at the place where the principal business is transacted. Layman v. Iowa Telephone Co., 123-591.

SEC. 1324. Valuation of corporate stock.

Where the capital stock of a savings bank has been listed and an assessment made by the proper assessor, the county treasurer has no authority to enter an assessment based on the difference between the assessed value and the real value of the stock as found by him. German Sav. Bank v. Trowbridge, 124-514.

SEC. 1325. Corporation liable.

The bank having paid the taxes on its capital stock for the holders thereof is entitled to retain the amount from any dividends becoming due to such stockholders, and such claims for repayment are assets of the bank, an individual stockholder cannot maintain an action against the bank for his own benefit or against the other stockholders for whom such taxes have been paid, to recover his share of such payments. Kennedy v. Citizens' Nat. Bank, 128-561.

SEC. 1328. Telegraph and telephone companies. Every telegraph and telephone company operating a line in this state shall, on or before the first day of May in each year, furnish to the executive council of Iowa a statement verified by its president or secretary showing:

1. The total number of miles owned, operated or leased within the state, with a separate showing of the number leased;
2. The average number of poles per mile, and the whole number of poles on their lines in this state;
3. The total number of miles in each separate line or division thereof, also the average number of separate wires thereon;
4. The whole number of stations on each line, and the value of the same, including furniture;
5. The whole number of instruments on each separate line, and the gross rental charges per instrument, where the same are rented to patrons of the company making the return, together with the number of stations maintained, other than railroad stations;
6. The gross receipts and operating expenses of said company for the year ending December thirty-first next preceding on business originating and terminating in this state;
7. The gross receipts and operating expenses of said company for the year ending December thirty-first next preceding, and not included in the statement made under subsection six hereof;
8. The total capital stock of said company;
9. The number of shares of capital stock issued and outstanding, and the par or face value of each share;
10. The market value of such shares of stock on the first day of January next preceding, and if such shares have no market value, the actual value thereof;
11. All real estate and other property owned by such company and subject to local taxation within this state;
12. The specific real estate, together with the permanent improvements thereon, owned by such company and situated outside this state and taxed as other real estate in the state where located, with a specific description of each piece, where located and the purpose for which the same is used, and the actual value thereof in the locality where situated;
13. All mortgages upon the whole or any part of its property, together with the dates and amounts thereof;
14. a. The total length of the lines of said company;
b. The total length of the lines of said company outside this state.

[17 G. A., ch. 59, §§ 1, 2.] [30 G. A., ch. 44, § 1.]

SEC. 1329. Failure to make statement. Upon the receipt of said statements from the several companies, the executive council shall examine said statements and if it shall deem the same sufficient and that further information is requisite, it shall require the officer making same to make such other or further statement as it may desire. In case of failure or refusal of any company to make out or deliver to the auditor of state the statements required in this chapter, such company shall forfeit and pay to the state of Iowa one hundred dollars for each day such report is delayed beyond the first day of May, to be sued and recovered in any proper form of action in the name of the state, and on the relation of the executive council of Iowa, and such penalty, when collected, shall be paid into the general fund of the state. [17 G. A., ch. 59, § 3.] [30 G. A., ch. 44, § 2.]

SEC. 1330. Assessment by executive council. The executive council shall, at its meeting on the second Monday in July in each year, proceed to find the actual value of the property of such companies in this state, taking into consideration the information obtained from the statements above required, and any further information they can obtain, using the same as a means for determining the actual cash value of the property of such companies within this state; also taking into consideration the valuation of all property of such companies, including franchises and the use of the property in connection with lines outside the state, and making such deductions as may be necessary on account of extra value of property outside the state as compared with the value of property in the state, in order that the actual cash value of the property of the company within this state may be ascertained. Said assessment shall include all property of every kind and character whatsoever, real, personal, or mixed, used by said companies in the transaction of telegraph and telephone business; and the property so included in said assessment shall not be taxed in any other manner than as provided in this act. [C., '97.] [28 G. A., ch. 42, § 1.]

SEC. 1330-a. Actual value per mile—taxable value. The executive council shall ascertain the value per mile of the property of each of said companies within this state by dividing the total value, as above ascertained, by the number of miles of line of such company within the state, and the result shall be deemed and held to be the actual value per mile of line of the property of such company within this state. The taxable value shall be determined by taking the percentage of the actual value so ascertained, as provided by section one thousand three hundred and five (1305) of the code, and the ratio between the actual value and the assessed or taxable value of the property of each of said companies shall be the same as in the case of property of private individuals. At such meeting in July any company interested shall have the right to appear, by its officers or agents, before the executive council and be heard on the question of the valuation of its property for taxation. [28 G. A., ch. 42, § 2.]

SEC. 1330-b. Assessment in each county—how certified. The executive council shall, for the purpose of determining what amount shall be assessed to any one of said companies in each county of the state into which the line of the said company extends, multiply the assessed or taxable value per mile of line of said company, as above ascertained, by the number of miles in each of said counties, and the result thereof shall be by said council certified to the several county auditors of the respective counties into, over or through which said line extends. [28 G. A., ch. 42, § 3.] [30 G. A., ch. 45.]

SEC. 1330-c. Levy and collection of tax. At the first meeting of the board of supervisors held after such statement is received by the county auditor it shall cause such statement to be entered in its minute book, and make and enter therein an order stating the length of the lines and the assessed value of the property of each of said companies situated in each city, town, township, or lesser taxing district in its county, as fixed by the executive council, which shall constitute the taxable value of said property for taxing purposes, and the taxes on said property when collected by the county treasurer shall be disposed of as other taxes on real estate. The county auditor shall transmit a copy of said order to the council or trustees of each city, town, or township in which the lines of said company extend. [28 G. A., ch. 42, § 4.]

SEC. 1330-d. Rates and purposes. All telegraph and telephone property shall be taxable upon said assessment at the same rates, by the same officers, and for the same purposes as the property of individuals within such counties, cities, towns, townships, or lesser taxing districts, and the county treasurer shall collect such taxes at the same time and in the same manner as other taxes, and the same penalties for the nonpayment shall be due and collectible as for the nonpayment of individual taxes. [28 G. A., ch. 42, § 5.]

Prior to the repeal of Code, § 1331, it was held that all the sections of the Code relating to the taxation of telegraph companies were void because the result was that corporations engaged in conducting the telegraph or telephone business were not thereby taxed on the same basis as individuals. Layman v. Iowa Telephone Co., 123-591.

SEC. 1330-e. Other real and personal property. Land, lots, and other real estate and personal property belonging to any telegraph company or telephone company not used exclusively in its telegraph or telephone business shall be subject to assessment and taxation on the same basis as other property of individuals in the several counties where situated. [28 G. A., ch. 42, § 6.]

SEC. 1330-f. "Company" defined. The word "company" as used in this act shall be deemed and construed to mean and include any person, co-partnership, association, corporation, or syndicate that shall own or operate, or be engaged in operating, any telegraph or telephone line whether formed or organized under the laws of this state or elsewhere. [28 G. A., ch. 42, § 7.]

SEC. 1330-g. Owners of capital stock exempt. The owner of the capital stock in any telegraph or telephone company operating any line or lines in this state shall not be assessed for taxation upon said capital stock. [28 G. A., ch. 42, § 8.]

SEC. 1330-h. Power to reassess and relevy taxes. When by reason of non-conformity to any law, or by any omission, informality, or irregularity, or for any other cause, any tax heretofore or hereafter levied and assessed against any person, company, association, or corporation by the executive council is invalid or is adjudged illegal, the executive council may assess and levy a tax against such person, company, association, or corporation for the year or years for which such tax is invalid or illegal, or when necessary may assess and certify the same to the proper county officers, who shall levy such tax as by law in such cases made and provided, with the same force and effect as though done at the proper time and under any valid law, whether in force at the time of said levy and assessment or thereafter enacted. [28 G. A., ch. 49, § 1.]

SEC. 1330-i. Voluntary payments. When any person, company, association, or corporation, against whom any tax has been assessed and levied by the executive council and held invalid or illegal, shall have paid the same voluntarily or shall otherwise waive such invalidity and illegality, the executive council shall accept such tax in lieu of the tax to be raised by the reassessment and relevy provided for in section one hereof. [28 G. A., ch. 49, § 2.]

SEC. 1331-a. Repeal. Section one thousand three hundred and thirty-one (1331) of the code, and all laws and parts of laws in conflict herewith are hereby repealed. [28 G. A., ch. 42, § 9.]

SEC. 1332. Line operated by railroad.

A telegraph line owned by a railroad company and not used exclusively for the transaction of railroad business is taxable under Code, § 1328, notwithstanding the provisions of Code, § 1336, by which telegraph lines exclusively used in railroad business are to be taken into account in the valuation of railroad property for taxation; and it is immaterial that the line has been in fact valued as a portion of the property of the railroad and that the taxes of the railroad have been paid in accordance with such valuation. Chicago, B. & Q. R. Co. v. Rhein, 112 N. W. 823.

SEC. 1333. Insurance companies. Every insurance company or association organized or incorporated under the laws of any state or nation other than the United States, and every other insurance company whose charter may be owned or a majority of whose stock may be controlled or whose business shall be carried on in the interest or for the benefit of any insurance company or association incorporated under the laws of any state or nation other than the United States, shall, at the time of making the annual statements as required by law, pay into the state treasury as taxes two and one-half per cent. of the gross amount of premiums received by it for business done in this state, including all insurance upon property situated in this state and upon the lives of persons resident in this state during the preceding year. Every insurance company incorporated under the laws of any state of the United States other than the state of Iowa, not including associations operating under the provisions of chapter seven, title nine of this code, or fraternal beneficiary associations doing business in the United States, shall, at the time of making the annual statements as required by law, pay into the state treasury as taxes two and one-half per cent. of the gross amount of premiums received by it for business done in this state, including all insurance upon property situated in this state and upon the lives of persons resident in this state during the preceding year. At the time of paying said taxes, said companies and associations shall take duplicate receipts therefor, one of which shall be filed with the auditor of state, and upon filing of said receipt, and not till then, the auditor shall issue the annual certificate as provided by law. No deduction or exemption from the taxes herein provided shall be allowed for or on account of any indebtedness owing by any such insurance company or association. Provided, however, that companies doing a fire insurance business may deduct from the gross amount of premiums received, the amount of premiums returned upon cancelled policies issued upon property situated in this state. [C., '73, § 807; R., § 718; C., '51, § 464.] [28 G. A., ch. 43, § 1.] [29 G. A., ch. 57, § 1.] [32 G. A., ch. 56.]

This section which requires insurance companies to pay a tax on gross earnings within the state, and exempts them from payment of all other taxes, state or local, except taxes on real property and special assessments is unconstitutional under Constitution, Art. 8, § 2, which subjects property of all corporations for pecuniary profit to taxation the same as that of individuals. Hawkeye Ins. Co. v. French, 109-585.

The tax here provided for is not unconstitutional on account of lack of uniformity. There is no requirement that taxes on business or on privileges shall be uniform. Scottish U. & N. Ins. Co. v. Herriott, 109-606.

The officers of the state are not authorized to collect this tax by suit or distraint of property. The only effect of the non-payment is that the auditor will not issue a certificate authorizing the delinquent company to do business in the state during the ensuing year. Manchester Ins. Co. v. Herriott, 91 Fed. 711.

This section is not unconstitutional on account of lack of uniformity. Ibid.

SEC. 1333-a. Domestic companies. The shares of stock of every insurance corporation or association having capital stock, organized under the laws of this state, shall be assessed for taxation in the manner provided for the assessment of the shares of corporate stock in sections thirteen hundred and twenty-three (1323), thirteen hundred and twenty-four (1324) and thirteen hundred and twenty-five (1325) of the code, and as in this act provided, and said shares of stock shall not be otherwise assessed. In addition to the statement required in section thirteen hundred and twenty-three (1323) of the code, the corporation shall furnish to the assessor a copy of its annual report made to the auditor of state. [28 G. A., ch. 43, § 2.]

SEC. 1333-b. Statement furnished local assessor—what to contain—duty of assessor. Every insurance corporation or association organized under the laws of this state, not including corporations with capital stock, county mutuals, and fraternal beneficiary associations, which county mutuals and fraternal beneficiary associations are not organized for pecuniary profit, shall on or before the 26th day of January in each year, for the purpose of assessment of its property, furnish to the assessor of the assessment district in which its principal place of business is located, a statement verified by its president, showing specifically with reference to the year next preceding the first day of January, then last past: (1), a duplicate of the statement required by law to be made to the auditor of state for the said year last past; (2), a detailed statement of all its property and assets of every kind and nature whatsoever, and the value of each item thereof, including surplus, guaranty and reserve fund, and the amount of each. It shall be the duty of the assessor, upon the receipt of said statements, and from other information acquired by him, to assess against every corporation or association referred to in this section, the value of all personal property owned by such corporation or association, together with the actual value of each parcel of real estate situated in the assessment district of such assessor, and all the said property shall be assessed at the same rate, and for the same purposes as the property of private individuals, as provided in section thirteen hundred and five (1305) of the code. [28 G. A., ch. 43, § 3.]

SEC. 1333-c. Assessment of moneys and credits. In assessing for taxation the moneys and credits of every insurance corporation, company or association, organized under the laws of this state, except county mutuals and fraternal beneficiary associations, which county mutuals and fraternal beneficiary associations are not organized for pecuniary profit, the assessor shall ascertain the debts or liabilities, if any, of such corporation, company or association to its shareholders or other persons, which debts and liabilities shall be deducted, as provided in section thirteen hundred and eleven (1311) of the code, but in ascertaining the indebtedness or liability of such corporation, company or association, a debt shall be deemed to exist on account of its liability on the policies, certificates or other contracts of insurance issued by it equal to the amount of the surplus or other funds accumulated by any such corporation, or association, pursuant to law, its contracts of insurance or its articles of incorporation for the purpose of fulfilling its policies, certificates or other contracts of insurance, and which can be used for no other purpose. [28 G. A., ch. 43, § 4.]

The purpose of the legislature as indicated by statutory provisions with reference to the taxation of insurance companies is to make the moneys and credits of such companies taxable, subject only to certain definite exceptions, and these exceptions are limited to funds which may be accumulated pursuant to law or the contract of insurance or the articles of the company for the purpose of fulfilling its policies, certificates or other contracts of insurance. Therefore held that an unassigned or surplus fund was not within the exception. Chicago Life Ins. Co. v. Board of Review, 121-254.

SEC. 1333-d. State tax—date payable. Every insurance corporation or association of whatever kind or character, organized under the laws of the state of Iowa, not including county mutuals or fraternal beneficiary associations, which county mutuals and fraternal beneficiary associations are not organized for pecuniary profit, shall, on or before the first day of March of each year, pay to the treasurer of state a sum equivalent to one per centum of the gross receipts from premiums, assessments, fees and promissory obligations required by insurance contracts which are received during the next year preceding the first day of January last past, after deducting the amounts actually paid for losses, matured endowments, dividends to policy holders and the increase in the amount of the reserve as certified by the department actuary in his official statement to the auditor of state on the 31st day of December previous, based on the actuaries' table of mortality and four per cent., and the amounts returned to members upon cancelled policies, certificates and rejected applications, during said year, and not until such payment shall the auditor of state issue the annual certificate, as provided by law. Provided that fire insurance companies organized under the provisions of chapter four (4) of title nine (IX) of the code shall only be required to pay to the treasurer of state a sum equivalent to one per centum upon the gross receipts from premiums, assessments, fees and promissory obligations for business done within this state, including all insurance upon property situated in the state, after deducting the amount actually paid for losses on property located within the state and the amount returned upon cancelled policies and rejected applications covering property situated within this state. [28 G. A., ch. 43, § 5.] [32 G. A., ch. 57.]

The statute requiring every insurance corporation or association to pay to the state treasurer by way of tax one per cent of its gross receipts, and which is expressly declared not to be applicable to county mutual or fraternal beneficiary associations, which are not organized for pecuniary profit, is not unconstitutional on account of this discrimination, the classification being one which the legislature has authority to make. Iowa Mut. Tornado Ass'n v. Gilbertson, 129-658.

SEC. 1333-e. Supervisors to correct assessments—when and how. In the event that any insurance corporation or association, affected by this act, shall pay to the treasurer of state prior to May first, 1900, a sum so that the amount of its payment to said treasurer of state for the year 1900 shall equal what said corporation or association would be compelled to pay to said treasurer of state had this act been in force prior to the granting of the annual certificate by the auditor of state for the year 1900, then such corporation or association shall, for the levy made in the year 1900, be subject to the provisions of this act, respecting the levy and assessment of taxes by local and municipal authorities, and upon presentation of the receipt from the said treasurer of state showing a compliance with this section by such insurance corporation or association, it is hereby made the duty of the board of supervisors of the proper county to alter and correct the assessment of such corporation, association or shareholder made in the year 1900, so that said assessment shall be the same in amount as though it had been made under the provisions of this act, and the tax levied by the local or municipal authorities against every such corporation or association or its shareholders entitled to the benefit of this section, is corrected accordingly. Any corporation or association entitled to, but failing to take advantage of, the provisions of this section, shall not be relieved from any local or municipal tax heretofore levied by any of the provisions of this act. [28 G. A., ch. 43, § 6.]

SEC. 1334. Railway companies—when made—verified statement—when furnished. On the second Monday in July in each year, the executive council shall assess all the property of each railway corporation in the state, excepting the lands, lots and other real estate belonging thereto not used in the operation of any railway, and excepting railway bridges across the Mississippi and Missouri rivers, and excepting grain elevators; and for the purpose of making such assessment its president, vice-president, general manager, general superintendent, receiver or such other officer as the council may designate, shall on or before the first day of April in each year, furnish it a verified statement, showing in detail, for the year ended December thirty-first next preceding:

1. The whole number of miles of railway owned, operated or leased by such corporation or company within and without the state;

2. The whole number of miles of railway owned, operated or leased within the state, including double tracks and side tracks, the mileage of the main line and branch lines to be stated separately, and showing the number of miles of track in each county;

3. A full and complete statement of the cost and actual present value of all buildings of every description owned by said railway company within the state not otherwise assessed;

4. The total number of ties per mile used on all its tracks within the state;

5. The weight of rails per yard in main line, double tracks and side tracks;

6. The number of miles of telegraph lines owned and used within the state;

7. The total number of engines, and passenger, chair, dining, official, express, mail, baggage, freight and other cars, including hand cars and boarding cars used in constructing and repairing such railway, in use on its whole line, and the sleeping cars owned by it, and the number of each class on its line within the state, each class to be valued separately;

8. Any and all other movable property owned by said railway within the state, classified and scheduled in such manner as may be required by said council;

9. The gross earnings of the entire road, and the gross earnings in this state;

10. The operating expenses of the entire road, and the operating expenses within this state;

11. The net earnings of the entire road, and the net earnings within this state. [C., '73, §§ 810, 1317, 1318.] [29 G. A., ch. 58, § 1.] [30 G. A., ch. 46, § 3.]

A street railway, although engaged to some extent in transporting goods and express matter for hire is not subject to assessment under the provisions of this section. So held as to a street railway which had been extended along the public highway beyond the city limits to a neighboring town. Cedar Rapids & M. C. R. Co. v. Cedar Rapids, 106-476.

Interurban railways are to be assessed by the executive council of the state in the same manner in which steam railways are assessed. Cedar Rapids & M. C. R. Co. v. Cummins, 125-430.

Where an interurban railway system includes a street railway system in a city, it may be taxed by the executive council as a unit. Waterloo & C. F. R. T. Co. v. Board of Supervisors, 131-237.

SEC. 1334-a. Detailed statements—what to include. Each railway or other corporation required by law to report to the executive council under the provisions of the law as it appears in section thirteen hundred thirty-four (1334) of the supplement to the code shall, on or before the first day of April, 1905, make to the executive council a detailed statement showing the amount of real estate owned or used by it on December 31, 1904, for railway purposes, in each county in the state in which said real estate is situated, including the right of way, roadbed, bridges, culverts, depot grounds, station buildings, yards, section and tool houses, round houses, machine and repair shops, water tanks, turn-tables, gravel beds and stone quarries, and for all other purposes, with the estimated actual value thereof, in such manner as may be required by the executive council. Only one such detailed statement by any corporation shall be necessary, and when received by the council it shall become the record of railway lands of such corporation, and be deemed as annually thereafter reported for valuation and assessment by the executive council. On or before the first day of April of each subsequent year such corporation shall in like manner report all real estate acquired for any of the railway purposes above named during the preceding calendar year; and also a list of any real estate, previously reported, disposed of during the same period, which disposition shall be noted by the council in an appropriate column opposite to the description of said tract in the original report of the same in the record of railway land. [30 G. A., ch. 46, § 1.]

SEC. 1334-b. Record of railway lands. The executive council shall, by some convenient method of binding, arrange the statements required to be made under the provision of the preceding section so as to form a consolidated list of all real estate reported to it as being owned or used for railway purposes within the state of Iowa, which list shall be known as the record of railway lands. [30 G. A., ch. 46, § 2.]

SEC. 1334-c. Repeal—acts in conflict. Sub-section three (3) of the law as it appears in section thirteen hundred thirty-four (1334) of the supplement to the code and all other statutes or parts of statutes in conflict herewith are hereby repealed. [30 G. A., ch. 46, § 3.]

SEC. 1336. Valuation.

The tax here provided for is on real and personal property without discrimination, and therefore a sewer district tax which can only be enforced against real property within the sewer district is not enforceable against the real property of a railroad company which is included in its general assessment for taxation. Chicago, M. & St. P. R. Co. v. Phillips, 111-377.

If a railroad company owns and operates a telegraph line which is not exclusively used in the operation of its road, such line is taxable under Code, § 1328, relating to the taxation of telegraph lines. Chicago, B. & Q. R. Co. v. Rhein, 112 N. W. 823.

SEC. 1337. Statement sent county auditors. On or before the first Monday in August of each year, the council shall transmit to the county auditor of each county, through and into which any railway may extend, a statement showing the length of the main track within the county, and the assessed value per mile of the same, as fixed by a ratable distribution per mile of the assessed valuation of the whole property. [16 G. A., ch. 153; C., '73, § 1320.] [29 G. A., ch. 58, § 2.]

SEC. 1337-a. Plats—when filed. That every railroad company owning or operating a line of railroad within this state, shall on or before the first day of August, A. D. 1902, place on file in the office of the county auditor of each county in the state, into which any part of the lines of any said company lies, a plat of the lines of said companies within said county, showing the length of their said lines and the area of the land owned or occupied, by said companies in each government sub-division of land, not included within the platted portion of any town or city, within each of said counties, and the length of the said lines within the platted portion of cities and towns. Companies having on file such plats of part or all of their lines, in any of said counties, shall be required to file plats only of that part of their lines not fully shown as above required on the plats now on file. On the first day of January of each year hereafter, like plats shall be filed of all new lines or extensions of existing lines built or completed within the calendar year preceding. [29 G. A., ch. 60, § 1.]

SEC. 1337-b. Refusal to file. In the event of the failure or refusal of any railroad company to file the plats required under the provisions of section one of this act, at the time or according to the conditions named, then the county auditor may cause the same to be prepared by the county surveyor and the cost thereof shall, in the first place, be audited and paid by the board of supervisors out of the county fund, and the amount thereof shall be by said board levied as a special tax against said company and the property of said company which shall be collected as county taxes and when collected be paid into the county fund. [29 G. A., ch. 60, § 2.]

SEC. 1339. Rate.

As to whether in taxing railway property in special charter cities the provisions of Code, § 1305, as to assessment of property at twenty-five per cent. of its actual value are applicable, the court was equally divided. Chicago, M. & St. P. R. Co. v. Davenport, 127-677; Chicago & N. W. R. Co. v. Cedar Rapids, 127-678.

SEC. 1340. Number of sleeping and dining cars. In addition to the matters required to be contained in the statement made by the company for the purposes of taxation, such statement shall show the number of sleeping and dining cars not owned by such corporation, but used by it in operating its railway in this state during each month of the year for which the return is made, the value of each car so used, and also the number of miles each month said cars have been run or operated on such railway within the state, and the total number of miles said cars have been run or operated each month within and without the state. Such statement shall show the average daily sleeping car and dining car service or wheelage operated on each part or division of the line or system within the state, designating the points on the line where variations occur, with the mileage of that part having the same daily service or wheelage. [17 G. A., ch. 114, § 1.] [28 G. A., ch. 44, § 1.]

SEC. 1340-a. Gross earnings—proportion. That for the purpose of making reports to the executive council, the gross earnings of railway companies, owning or operating a line or lines of railway partly within this state, and partly within another state, or other states, or territory, or territories, upon their line or lines within this state, shall be ascertained and reported by said railway companies as follows, to wit: The aggregate of the earnings upon business originating and terminating within this state, upon business originating in this state and terminating elsewhere, upon business originating elsewhere and terminating in this state, and upon business neither originating or terminating in this state but carried on or done over the line or lines in this state or over some part thereof, shall be reported; and with respect to all such interstate business the earnings in this state for the purpose of report shall be actually computed upon the basis of the length of haul or carriage in this state as compared with the length of haul or carriage elsewhere. It being hereby declared that for the purpose of making reports looking to the assessment of railway property for taxation the gross earnings or business done or carried partly within this state and partly in another state, or other states, or territories, shall be that proportion of the entire earnings of such business that the haul or carriage in this state bears to the entire haul or carriage. [29 G. A., ch. 61, § 1.]

SEC. 1340-b. Rules and regulations—power of executive council. The executive council shall have the power to prescribe such rules and regulations with respect to the keeping of accounts by the railway companies doing business in this state as will insure the accurate division of earnings as aforesaid, and uniformity in reporting the same to the executive council. [29 G. A., ch. 61, § 2.]

SEC. 1340-c. Net earnings. The executive council shall have the power to prescribe a method for all railway companies doing business in this state, together with the rules and regulations for the ascertainment of the net earnings of the railway lines in this state, to the end that all such railway companies, in ascertaining and making report of net earnings, shall proceed upon the same basis and in a uniform manner. [29 G. A., ch. 61, § 3.]

SEC. 1340-d. Reports—when made. The reports herein provided for are not in lieu of, but in addition to, the reports provided for by law, and they shall be made at the time and as a part of the reports already required. [29 G. A., ch. 61, § 4.]

SEC. 1340-e. Additional rules and regulations. The rules, regulations, method, and requirements herein provided to be made by the executive council shall be made and communicated in writing or print to the said several railway companies within thirty days from and after the passage and taking effect of this act, and shall be and become binding upon said railway companies from the time they are so communicated; provided, however, that the said executive council shall have the power to prescribe supplemental or additional rules, regulations, and requirements at any time, and communicate them to the several railway companies in the manner aforesaid, and with respect to such additional or supplemental rules, regulations, and requirements, they shall be and become binding upon the said railway companies within thirty days after they are so communicated. [29 G. A., ch. 61, § 5.]

SEC. 1340-f. Refusal to conform to rules—penalty. If any railway company shall fail or refuse to obey or conform to the rules, regulations, method, and requirements so made or prescribed by the executive council under the provisions of this act, or to make the reports as herein provided for, the executive council shall proceed and assess the property of such railway company so failing or refusing, according to the best information obtainable, and shall then add to the taxable valuation of such railway company twenty-five per centum thereof, which valuation and penalty shall be separately shown, and together shall constitute the assessment for that year. [29 G. A., ch. 61, § 6.]

SEC. 1342. Real property of railways.

In determining whether real property claimed by a railroad company is included in its property as assessed by the executive council and is therefore exempt from taxation in any other form, the return of the railroad company to the executive council is not conclusive, and the council may reject property so returned as not coming within the statutory provisions as to such taxation; therefore to defeat the collection of taxes levied on lots claimed by the railroad company on assessments made by local authorities, not simply the return of the railroad company of such property to the executive council, but the inclusion of such property in the assessment of the railroad by the executive council must be shown. Chicago, B. & Q. R. Co. v. Kelley, 105-106.

A railroad company is not taxable under this section for the value of elevators owned by it and situated on its right of way, though leased by tenants for a nominal rent, if exclusively used in storing or taking in grain for shipment over the road; otherwise if the elevators are used by the tenants for general purposes of storage for hire. Herter v. Chicago, M. & St. P. R. Co., 114-330.

Every company engaged in the business of furnishing or leasing cars of whatsoever kind or description, to be used in the operation of any railway line or lines, wholly or partially within this state, such line or lines not being owned, leased or operated by such company, and such cars not being otherwise listed for taxation in Iowa shall be deemed to be an equipment company. [29 G. A., ch. 62, § 1.]

Ninth.—The real estate, personal property, structure, machinery, fixtures and appliances, owned by said company, subject to local taxation within the state, and the location and the actual value thereof in the county, township or district where the same is assessed for local taxation. [29 G. A., ch. 62, § 2.] [30 G. A., ch. 47, §§ 1, 2.]

SEC. 1342-c. Additional statements—refusal to furnish—penalty. Upon the filing of such statements the executive council shall examine each of them, and if he [they] shall deem the same insufficient, or if they fail to fully set out the matters required to be reported, it shall require such officer or agent to make such other and further statements as to such matters as he

[they] may deem proper. In case of the failure or refusal of any company to make and deliver to the executive council any statement or statements required by this act, such company shall forfeit and pay to the state of Iowa, one hundred dollars each day such report is delayed beyond the first Monday of June, to be sued and recovered in any proper form of action, in the name of the state of Iowa, and such penalty when collected shall be paid into the general fund of the state. [29 G. A., ch. 62, § 3.]

For that purpose the executive council may require such company by its agents or officers, to appear before said council with such books, papers, or additional statements as the council may require, and may compel the attendance of witnesses in case said council shall deem it necessary to enable it to ascertain the actual value of such property. From the entire actual value of the property within the state so ascertained, there shall be deducted by the said council the actual value of all cars locally assessed, and one-fourth of the residue of such actual value so ascertained, shall be by the executive council assessed to said company. [29 G. A., ch. 62, § 4.] [30 G. A., ch. 47, § 3.]

SEC. 1342-e. Tax—when due. The council shall also at said meeting determine the rate of tax to be levied and collected upon said assessments, which shall be equal, as nearly as may be, to the average rate of taxes, state, county, municipal and local, levied throughout the state during the previous year, which rate shall be ascertained from the records and files in the auditor's office, and said tax shall be in full of all taxes except on real estate, personal property locally assessed, and special assessments, and shall become due and payable at the state treasury on the first day of February following the levy thereof, and if not so paid, the state treasurer shall collect the same by distress and sale of any property belonging to such company in the state in the same manner as is required of county treasurers in like cases; and the order of the executive council in such cases shall be sufficient authority therefor. SEC. 1342-g. Stockholders. The individual stockholders or owners of interests of said companies shall not be required to list their shares or interests in such companies so long as the companies pay the taxes on their property as herein provided. [29 G. A., ch. 62, § 8.]

SEC. 1343. Water and gas works—electric plants—street railways.

The provisions of this section exclude the idea of making the franchise a distinct item of valuation in the assessment of such property for taxation. But on the other hand, the entire physical property of such plant, as, for instance, an electric railway, or some specific portion thereof, located within a taxing district, is to be subject to taxation, and not merely the material of which it has been constructed. City Council v. Cedar Rapids & M. C. R. Co., 120-259.

In the taxation of an electric light company, the franchise should not be valued as distinct from the plant; but in valuing the plant, the franchise may be taken into consideration. Lake City Elec. Light Co. v. McCrary, 132-624.

The portion of an interurban railway which is within the limits of a city is to be included with the other property of the interurban railway in the taxation of the system under the provisions of Code, § 1334. Cedar Rapids & M. C. R. Co. v. Cummins, 125-430.

SEC. 1344. Roadbeds and highways.

SEC. 1346-b. Additional statement—delay—penalty. That section two (2), chapter forty-five (45) acts of the twenty-eighth (28) general assembly be and the same is hereby repealed, and the following enacted in lieu thereof:

SEC. 2. “Upon the filing of such statements, the executive council shall examine each of them, and if it shall deem the same insufficient, or in case it shall deem that other information is requisite, it shall require such officer or agent to make such other and further statements as the executive council may call for. In the case of the failure or refusal of any company to make out and deliver to the executive council any statement or statements required by this act, such company shall forfeit and pay to the state of Iowa one hundred dollars for each day such report is delayed beyond the first Monday in March of that year, to be sued and recovered in any proper form of action in the name of the state of Iowa, on the relation of the executive council, and such penalty when collected shall be paid into the general fund of the state.” [29 G. A., ch. 164, § 2.]

SEC. 1346-c. Assessment by executive council. That section three (3), chapter forty-five (45), acts of the twenty-eighth (28) general assembly be and the same is hereby repealed, and the following enacted in lieu thereof:

SEC. 3. The executive council shall meet on the second Monday in July in each year, and it shall thereupon value and assess the property of such company, in the manner hereinafter set forth, after examining such statements, and after ascertaining the actual value of the property of such company therefrom, and from such other information as it may have or obtain. For that purpose the executive council may require such company, by its agents or officers, to appear before said council with such books, papers, or statements as the council may require, or it may require additional statements to be made by such company, and may compel the attendance of witnesses, in case said council shall deem it necessary, to enable it to ascertain the actual value of such property; any such company interested may, upon written application, appear before the executive council at such meeting, and be heard in the matter of the valuation of the property of such company for taxation. [29 G. A., ch. 164, § 3.]

SEC. 1346-d. Repeal—actual value—how ascertained. That section 1346-d of the supplement to the code be repealed and the following enacted in lieu thereof:

“The executive council shall first ascertain the actual value of the entire property owned by said company, from said statements or otherwise, for that purpose taking the aggregate market value of all shares of capital stock, in case said shares have a market value, and in case they have none taking the actual value thereof or of the capital of said company, in whatever manner the same is divided, in case no shares of capital stock have been issued; provided, however, that in case the whole or any portion of the property of said company shall be encumbered by a mortgage or mortgages, such council shall ascertain the actual value of such property by adding to the market value or the aggregate shares of stock or to the value of the capital, in case there shall be no such shares, the aggregate amount of the market or cash value of such mortgage or mortgages, and the result shall be deemed and treated as the actual value of the property of such company. The executive council shall, for the purpose of ascertaining the actual value of the property within the state of Iowa, next ascertain from such statements or otherwise the actual value of the property, both real and personal, owned by the company, and which is used exclusively outside the general business of the company, and also the actual value of that part of its property, if any, without the state which cannot lawfully be considered in determining the mileage value of its routes; and the aggregate of such values shall be deducted from the entire actual value of the property as above ascertained. The executive council shall next ascertain and deduct the actual value of the sea or ocean routes of any such company, and in ascertaining the same may take into consideration the earnings, both gross and net per mile, of such sea or ocean routes, as compared with the earnings, gross and net, of the land routes of such company or may ascertain their value in any other practicable manner, and may require that the reports heretofore provided for shall show such earnings. Thereupon the executive council shall ascertain the actual value of the property of such company within the state of Iowa, and for that purpose may take into consideration the proportional value of the company's property without and within the state, and shall take as a basis of valuation of the company's property in this state the proportion of the whole aggregate value of the property of said company, as above ascertained, after making the deductions above provided for which the length of the routes within the state of Iowa bears to the whole length of the routes of such company other than sea or ocean routes, and such amount so ascertained shall be considered and taken to be the entire actual value of the property of such company within the state of Iowa. From the entire actual value of the property within the state so ascertained, there shall be deducted by the said council the actual value of all the real estate, buildings, machinery, appliances, and personal property not used exclusively in the conduct of the business within the state that are subject to local taxation within the counties, townships, and other assessment districts as hereinbefore described in the sixth item of section one of this act." [32 G. A., ch. 58.]

SEC. 1346-e. Actual value per mile—taxable value. The executive council shall thereupon ascertain the value per mile of the property within the state, by dividing the total value as above ascertained, after deducting the specific properties locally assessed within the state, by the number of miles within the state, and the result shall be deemed and held to be the actual value per mile of the property of such company within the state of Iowa. The assessed or taxable value shall be determined by taking that percentage of the actual value so ascertained, as is provided by section thirteen hundred and five of the code, and such valuation and assessment shall be in the same ratio as that of the property of individuals. [28 G. A., ch. 45, § 5.]

SEC. 1346-f. Repeal—assessment in each county—how certified. That section six (6), chapter forty-five (45), acts of the twenty-eighth (28) general assembly be and the same is hereby repealed and the following enacted in lieu thereof:

“Said executive council shall thereupon, for the purpose of determining what amount shall be assessed by it to said company, in each county of the state, through, across, into, or over which the route of said company extends, multiply the value per mile, as above ascertained, by the number of miles in each of said counties, as reported in said statements, or as otherwise ascertained, and the result thereof, with the mileage and the rate of assessment per mile, shall be by said council certified to the auditors respectively of the several counties through, into, over and across which the routes of said company extend." [29 G. A., ch. 164, § 4.]

SEC. 1346-g. Repeal—levy and collection of tax—rates. That section seven (7), chapter forty-five (45), acts of the twenty-eighth (28) general assembly be and the same is hereby repealed, and the following enacted in lieu thereof:

"At the first meeting of the board of supervisors held after such certificate is received by the county auditor, it shall cause the same to be entered in its minute book and make and enter therein an order stating the length of the routes and the assessed value of each in each city, town, township, or other taxing district in its county, through or into which said routes extend, which shall constitute the taxable value of said property for taxing purposes, and the taxes on said property, when collected by the county treasurer, shall be disposed of as other taxes. The county auditor shall immediately thereafter transmit a copy of said order to the councils of cities, or towns, and to the trustees of each township, in the county. The county auditor shall also add to the value so apportioned the assessed value of the real estate, buildings, machinery, fixtures, appliances, and personal property not used exclusively in the conduct of the business situated in any township or taxing district as returned by the assessor thereof, and extend the taxes thereon upon the tax list as in other cases. All such property shall be taxable upon said assessment at the same rates, by the same officers, and for the same purposes as the property of individuals within such counties, townships, or taxing districts. The property so included in said assessment and the shares of stock in such companies so assessed shall not be taxed in this state, except as provided in this act." [29 G. A., ch. 164, § 5.]

SEC. 1346-h. Penalty. In case any such company shall fail or refuse to pay any taxes assessed against it in any county, township, or assessment district in the state, in addition to other remedies provided by law for the collection of taxes, an action may be prosecuted in the name of the state of Iowa by the county attorneys of the different counties of the state, on the relation of the auditors of the different counties of the state, and judgment in such action shall include a penalty of fifty per cent. of the amount of the taxes so assessed and unpaid, together with reasonable attorney's fees for the prosecution of such action, which action may be prosecuted in any county into, through, over, or across which the routes of any such company shall extend, or in any county where such company shall have an officer or agent for the transaction of business. [28 G. A., ch. 45, § 8.]

[28 G. A., ch. 45, § 9.]

SEC. 1346-j. Acts in conflict repealed. The provisions of this act are intended to take the place of sections thirteen hundred and forty-five, and thirteen hundred and forty-six of the code, and such sections and each of them, and all other laws and parts of laws in conflict with this act are hereby repealed; provided, that all moneys now due the state on account of any assessment or charge made against any of such persons, co-partnerships, associations, corporations, or syndicates, and all penalties and charges therein growing out of any of said repealed section[s], shall be paid and collected under the provisions of said repealed sections, the same as if said sections were not repealed, and it is hereby expressly provided that all rights of the state now accrued under said sections are hereby saved from the operation of the aforesaid repealing clauses. [28 G. A., ch. 45, § 10.]

Bristow*, 131-664.

This section is unconstitutional on account of the exception as to persons who have served in the Union army or navy. The classification attempted is based on no apparent necessity or difference in conditions or circumstances. State v. Garbroski, 111-496.

The word “peddlers” under the provisions of this act, and wherever found in the code, shall be held to include and apply to all transient merchants and itinerant vendors selling by sample or by taking orders, whether for immediate or future delivery. SEC. 1348. License. Any person peddling outside the limits of a city or town without such license or after the expiration thereof, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, whether he be the owner of the goods sold or carried by him or not, and, on conviction thereof, shall forfeit and pay into the county treasury, in addition to the penalty imposed therefor, double the amount of the tax for one year as fixed in the preceding section. The license shall be good only in the county in which issued, and shall not authorize peddling in cities and towns. [C., '73, § 907; R., § 792; C., '51, §§ 511, 512.] [28 G. A., ch. 46, § 1.]

SEC. 1350. Personal property—real estate—buildings.

Assessments of personal property relate back to the first of January previous. Peters v. Davenport, 104-625; In re Kauffman's Estate, 104-639.

Assessments may properly be made in the name of the owner of the personal property on the first of January, although at the time of the assessment the owner is deceased. Peters v. Davenport, 104-625.

SEC. 1352. Listing property—valuation.

An assessment in the absence of evidence to the contrary will be presumed to have been properly made. In re Kauffman's Estate, 104-639.

The description is sufficiently definite if it enables a competent person to identify the property. Abbreviations may be used if generally understood. Watkins v. Couch, 111 N. W. 315.

SEC. 1354. Duty of assessor—owner to assist.

Cattle brought into the state for feeding purposes, and kept in the state until after the first of January, are subject to taxation, although the owner is a non-resident. The case is different where the property is taken through the state merely in the course of transportation. Fennell v. Pauley, 112-94.

Where, through clerical mistake, the amount of the valuation fixed by the assessor is erroneously entered on the list, the taxpayer is not precluded from questioning the amount of the assessment by failure to go before the board of equalization for relief. Smith v. McQuiston, 108-363.

SEC. 1356. Notice of valuation.

The omission of the assessor to give written notice to the person assessed of the valuation placed upon his property will not render the assessment invalid. In re Kauffman's Estate, 104-639.

SEC. 1357. Refusal to furnish statement.

The penalty for failure to make return as required cannot be avoided by subsequently making a return after the assessor's books have been placed before the board of review. Farmers' Loan & Trust Co. v. Fonda, 114-728.

SEC. 1360. Assessment rolls and books. The auditor shall procure and furnish to each assessor a supply of blank assessment rolls, on which to enter, separately, the names of all persons, partnerships, corporations or associations assessed, which rolls shall be made in duplicate, except that the oath form in the original may be omitted and the following inserted in lieu thereof: "If you are not satisfied that the foregoing assessment is correct, you can appear before the board of review, which meets at on the first Monday of April next. Dated day of 19 Assessor." Said duplicate shall be signed by the assessor, detached from the original, and delivered to the person assessed. He shall also furnish to each assessor a supply of blanks in this chapter described as "Assessment Roll, Form No. 2," which shall be in duplicate, and subject to the same conditions as the roll above provided for. The auditor shall also furnish to the assessor two assessment books, each page of which shall be headed "Assessor's book for township, county, Iowa, independent district of," and shall contain columns ruled and headed for the information required by this act, which rolls and books shall be substantially in the following form:

Assessor

SEC. 1361. Schedules returned. The assessor shall furnish to each person, partnership, corporation or association, except those otherwise assessed as provided by law, a blank known as "Assessment Roll—Form No. 2," as provided in the preceding section, upon which such person, partnership, corporation or association shall enter and set out all moneys and credits of whatsoever kind or nature belonging to such person, partnership, corporation or association, and such liabilities as they claim should be deducted from the total of their moneys and credits. The assessor shall carry the aggregate moneys and credits of such persons, partnerships, corporation or associations to the regular schedule. The assessor shall return all schedules with the assessment books to the county auditor as is provided in this chapter, and the county auditor shall carefully keep all schedules known and described in this chapter as "Assessment Roll—Form No. 2," for the period of five years from the time of filing of the same in his office. [27 G. A., ch. 30, § 4.]

SEC. 1365. Completion of assessment.

Failure of the assessor to attach to the assessment rolls his oath, as required by statute, renders the taxes based on such assessment void. Warfield-P.-H. Co. v. Averill Groc. Co, 119-75.

SEC. 1370. Local board of review.

The statutory provisions as to the local board of review do not confer authority upon such tribunal to transfer property for assessment purposes from one school district to another. The determination of a question as to the locality within the township at which personal property shall be entered on the assessment rolls is left entirely to the assessor Independent School District v. Board of Review, 131-195.

SEC. 1371. Clerk—correction of assessments. The clerk or recorder of the township, city or town, as the case may be, shall be clerk of the board of review, and keep a record of its proceedings, and the assessor shall be present at its meeting and make upon the assessment rolls all corrections or additions directed by the board. At such meetings it shall be the duty of the assessor to read each and every taxpayer's name and assessment on the assessment rolls, and, if the assessment is approved, pass to the next name. After checking the same, the board shall then take up the unchecked names in alphabetical order, and raise or lower the same as in their opinion will be just; checking off each taxpayer as the same is adjusted. [18 G. A., ch. 109, § 1; C., '73, § 831; R., § 740.] [27 G. A., ch. 33, § 1.]

The board of review in fixing the value of bank stock has the right to avail itself of any information within reach for the purpose of determining the real or market value of such stock. First Nat. Bank v. City Council, 112 N. W. 829.

SEC. 1372. Notice of assessment raised. In case the value of any specific property or the entire assessment of any person, partnership, corporation or association is raised, or new property is added by the board, the clerk shall give immediate notice thereof by mail to each at the postoffice address shown on the assessment rolls, and at the conclusion of the action of the board therein the clerk shall post an alphabetical list of those whose assessments are thus raised and added, in a conspicuous place in the office or place of meeting of the board, and enter upon the records a statement that such posting has been made, which entry shall be conclusive evidence of the giving of the notice required. The board shall hold an adjourned meeting, with at least five days intervening after the posting of said notices, before final action with reference to the raising of assessments or the adding of property to the rolls is taken, and the posted notices shall state the time and place of holding such adjourned meeting, which time and place shall also be stated in the proceedings of the board. [18 G. A., ch. 109, § 3.] [27 G. A., ch. 30, § 5.]

Where the board of equalization increases the assessed value of a taxpayer's property without posting notice of its intention to do so, such increase will be invalid. Cedar Rapids & M. C. R. Co. v. Redmond, 120-601.

SEC. 1373. Complaint to board of review—appeal. Any person aggrieved by the action of the assessor in assessing his property may make oral or written complaint thereof to the board of review, which shall consist simply of a statement of the errors complained of, with such facts as may lead to their correction, and any person whose assessment has been raised or whose property has been added to the assessment rolls, as provided in the preceding section, shall make such complaint before the meeting of the board for final action with reference thereto, as provided in said section, and appeals may be taken from the action of the board with reference to such complaints to the district court of the county in which such board holds its sessions, within twenty days after its adjournment. Appeals shall be taken by a written notice to that effect to the chairman or presiding officer of the reviewing board, and served as an original notice. The court shall hear the appeal in equity and determine anew all questions arising before the board which relate to the liability of the property to assessment or the amount thereof, and its decision shall be certified by the clerk of the court to the county auditor, who shall correct the assessment books in his office accordingly. Any officer of a county, city, town, township or school district interested or a taxpayer thereof may in like manner make complaint before said board of review in respect to the assessment of any property in the township, city or town and an appeal from the action of the board of review in fixing the amount of assessment on any property concerning which such complaint is made, may be taken by any of such aforementioned officers. Such appeal is in addition to the appeal allowed to the person whose property is assessed and shall be taken in the name of the county, city, town, township or school district interested and tried in the same manner, except that the notice of appeal shall also be served upon the owner of the property concerning which the complaint is made and affected thereby or person required to return said property for assessment. Upon trial of any appeal from the action of the board of review fixing the amount of assessment upon any property concerning which complaint is made, the court may increase, decrease or affirm the amount of the assessment appealed from. [18 G. A., ch. 109, § 1; C., '73, § 831; R., § 740.] [32 G. A., ch. 60, § 1.]

Appeal—what questions: No appeal can be taken from the action of the assessing tribunal refusing to make an assessment. In re Assessment of Farmers' L. & T. Co., 129-588.

On all appeals from the action of the treasurer in assessing omitted property the matter stands before the district court in the same situation as before the treasurer and the court should determine whether or not the property owner was liable to assessment on the property with which the treasurer has assessed him. Schoonover v. Petcina, 126-261.

If the treasurer has attempted to assess the person complaining with moneys and credits as omitted from assessment, it is for the court to fix the amount of moneys and credits for which the complainant should have been assessed. Ibid.

If the court on appeal finds that no assessment should have been made the assessment by the treasurer should be set aside in toto, and if it appears that as to any items included in the treasurer's assessment the complainant was not liable to assessment then the court should reduce the assessment accordingly. Ibid.

The district court must have something before it to show what complaint was made to the board of review and what action was taken thereon, and the burden of proof is on the appellant to show that the decision of the board was erroneous. The taking of an appeal does not make an assessing tribunal out of the district court. Frost v. Board of Review, 114-103.

The court will presume that the board of review acted properly and upon sufficient evidence as to values, and the burden is upon the appealing taxpayer to overcome this presumption by evidence of injustice or inequity of the assessment as raised by the board of review. First Nat. Bank v. City Council, 112 N. W. 829.

It is the questions arising before the board which the district court is required to try on appeals from the board of equalization. Such objections may be raised in the most informal way, and may be quite indefinite and general in statement, and need not be reduced to writing, yet they must be in some manner brought to the attention of the tax tribunal. Gibson v. Cooley, 129-529.

The court on appeal may correct the assessment of property in accordance with the application made in the first instance to the board of equalization, but it cannot include property for assessment as to which no assessment has been made, and no question raised before the board of equalization. Cedar Rapids & M. C. R. Co. v. Cedar Rapids, 106-476.

The district court on appeal is authorized to determine only the correctness of the assessment with reference to the complaints made, and cannot increase the assessment of appellant. Farmers' Loan & Trust Co. v. Fonda, 114-728.

Courts have no authority either to make or correct assessments. Judy v. National State Bank, 133-252.

Until by final adjournment the board has placed it beyond its power to further review the assessment complained of, no right of appeal exists. Barz v. Board of Equalization, 133-563.

Effect of judgment: An adjudication of the court on an appeal from an assessment of land contracts for one year, it was decided that they were not assessable, held binding as an adjudication with reference to the assessment of the same contracts to the same person for a subsequent year. Defries v. McMeans, 121-540.

Procedure: The notice here contemplated must be served on the mayor, who is by law the presiding officer of the city council, unless another presiding officer has been appointed of record. Frost v. Board of Review, 113-547.

While jurisdiction is conferred by the service and filing of a proper appeal, a transcript of the proceedings of the board of review should be required not only that the proceedings upon which the appeal is passed may be clearly and fairly brought to the attention of the court, but that the court record may furnish a proper basis upon which to rest a decree. City Council v. National Loan & Inv. Co., 122-629.

The notice need not recite the fact of the complaint by the appealing party to the board of review, but such facts should appear in the transcript. A mere allegation of that fact in a petition filed by the appellant and not denied by responsive pleading is not sufficient to show the jurisdiction of the court. Ibid.

While pleadings may properly be filed, the rules governing the making up of issues in equity actions in general, do not apply. Ibid.

Jurisdiction of an appeal to the district court is obtained by service of a notice. When a notice has been served, if the board of review neglects to send up the transcript, such neglect may result in a dismissal of the appeal if the appellant does not obtain the proper order or rule requiring the performance of that duty by the board. But the appellant may be allowed by the court to introduce a transcript during the progress of the trial. City Council of Marion v. Cedar Rapids & M. C. R. Co., 120-259.

There is nowhere any direction or suggestion requiring a bond on such appeal, and the court has no power to impose any such condition. Ibid.

The notice of appeal gives the district court jurisdiction, and whether or not after acquiring jurisdiction it has sufficient evidence before it upon which to act intelligently, must be determined from the proceedings, and a judgment entered as the result of such proceedings will not be void. German-American Sav. Bank v. Council, etc., 118-84.

If the appellant neglects to present a transcript of the proceedings and to docket the appeal, the appellee may cause the appeal to be docketed and dismissed under the provisions of Code § 3660. Stephens v. City Council, 132-490.

Other remedies—when allowable: After reversal in the supreme court of the finding of the district court relieving a taxpayer from taxes assessed against him, the reversal being on the ground that no sufficient complaint of the assessment was made before the board of review, the taxpayer cannot in the lower court interpose objections not thus made. City Council v. National Loan & Inv. Co., 130-511.

A national bank representing its stockholders is a party in interest as to the taxation of its stock and may appear before the board of review and make complaint of the assessment of such stock and prosecute an appeal from adverse decision. First National Bank of Independence v. Independence, 123-482.

Where a loan and trust company objects before the board of review to an assessment on its moneys and credits, it is not required to point out the manner in which its property should be assessed, and it may object on appeal from the action of the board of review to such assessment on moneys and credits although it might have been assessed on its corporate stock. Wahkonsa Inv. Co. v. Ft. Dodge, 125-148.

A prior contention with reference to assessments for other years that the company was assessable only as a savings bank did not estop it from objecting as to the year in question to an assessment on moneys and credits. Ibid.

Where the value fixed by the assessor is by mistake erroneously entered on the tax list, the property owner is not precluded from seeking other relief by failing to apply to the board of review for correction. Smith v. McQuiston, 108-363.

Irregularities and inequalities in assessment are to be complained of only by appeal to the board of review and from it to the district court. Carpenter v. Jones County, 130-494.

Where the board of review or the treasurer, in assessing property omitted from taxation, acts within the scope of the judicial or quasi-judicial power involved, such action is to be reviewed on appeal, and not in a proceeding for injunction, nor in an action to recover damages for an illegal act. Stevens v. Carroll, 130-463.

Injunction: The provision as to complaints to the board of review is broad enough to permit the correction of excessive assessments fraudulently made, and therefore one who complains that his property has been assessed too high on account of discriminations against him as a non-resident should ask relief by application to the board of review, and not by action in equity. The jurisdiction conferred upon the board is exclusive, unless otherwise expressed or clearly manifested. Crawford v. Polk County, 112-118.

If the tax is illegal, and not merely irregular, its enforcement may be restrained by injunction. Montis v. McQuiston, 107-651.

An excessive valuation can be corrected only on appeal, and not by an action to enjoin the collection of the tax. Lake City Elec. Light Co. v. McCrary, 132-624.

Equity will interfere by injunction to restrain the enforcement of a tax not supported by an assessment, but injunction will not lie to correct the error or wrong of an excessive assessment. Collins v. Keokuk, 118-30.

The fact that no appeal is authorized from an equalization board does not justify the interposition of the court by injunction to restrain the enforcement and levy of a tax based upon an assessment. Ibid.

Certiorari: The board of review having properly acquired jurisdiction to determine the correctness of the assessment, its subsequent action in raising the assessment cannot be questioned by certiorari, on the ground that there was not sufficient evidence before it on which to base such increase. The remedy in such case is by appeal. Ferguson v. Board of Review, 119-338.

The board acts with reference to the assessment returned by the assessor, and is authorized to act on the same sources of information. Ibid.

SEC. 1373-a. Pending litigation. The provisions of this act shall not apply to pending litigation. [32 G. A., ch. 60, § 2.]

SEC. 1374. Withholding property from assessment—penalty.

In general: Although the language of this section does not expressly make it retroactive, yet as it refers to an existing condition it may be applied to the collection of taxes on property omitted from taxation before the Code took effect. Galusha v. Wendt, 114-597; Beresheim v. Arnd, 117-83.

The act of the treasurer in determining that property has been omitted, and ascertaining the tax due on account thereof is a substitute for the assessment by the duly constituted authorities. Ibid.

The act of the assessor for previous years in assessing only a portion of the moneys and credits of a taxpayer does not constitute such an adjudication as to preclude assessments for moneys and credits omitted where such omission resulted from the fraud of the officer or the failure of the taxpayer to return the full amount of his moneys and credits for taxation. Galusha v. Wendt, 114-597.

But the mere fact that it appears that subsequently the taxpayer had a larger amount of moneys and credits than had been returned for assessment for previous years will not in itself show liability for taxes on omitted property. Ibid.

No penalty can be enforced with reference to taxes which should have been assessed prior to the taking effect of the Code, nor can interest on such taxes be collected from the time when they should have been assessed. Ibid.

The fact that the penalty provided cannot be imposed in such case does not defeat the effect of the entire provision as to property previously omitted from taxation. Beresheim v. Arnd, 117-83.

The fact that the treasurer is authorized to determine the amount for which suit shall be brought in such case and that by Code, § 490, a commission on the money collected is allowed to the treasurer does not render the section unconstitutional as making the treasurer a judge in a matter in which he is interested. Under the provision as to treasurer's compensation he is only collaterally and not directly interested in the result of the action. Ibid.

This section is not repealed by the enactment of chap. 50, acts of 28 G. A., (see Supp., §§ 1407-a.—e.). Lambe v. McCormick, 116-169.

Discovery of omitted property by agents: A county may contract with agents to discover property omitted or concealed from taxation. Shinn v. Cunningham, 120-383.

The provisions of 28 G. A., chap. 50, limiting the percentage which may be allowed to an agent under such contract, do not affect the compensation for services previously rendered under a valid contract. Ibid.

The board of supervisors has the authority to employ persons to discover property which has been omitted from taxation, for the purpose of enabling the treasurer to bring action for the taxes due thereon. Disbrow v. Board of Supervisors, 119-538.

The property owner cannot in a suit by the county for taxes on omitted property raise the question as to the validity of the contract between the county and attorneys employed for the purpose of discovering omitted property. Galusha v. Wendt, 114-597.

Demand: While the notice of the action in which the treasurer seeks to recover taxes on omitted property is not the demand contemplated by this section, nevertheless an original notice in another action, indicating that payment of such taxes is demanded, which action is dismissed or otherwise disposed of, may constitute the demand contemplated. Beil v. Stevens, 116-451.

If such original notice is signed by the treasurer with words indicating that he acts in his official capacity, the court will take judicial notice that he was the treasurer of the county at the date when such notice was served. Ibid.

Further as to notice, listing and appeal, see Supp. § 1407-a., and notes.

Action: Aside from the provisions of this section, an action cannot be maintained to recover taxes upon omitted property. Judy v. National State Bank, 133-252.

If the petition follows the language of the statute with reference to the treasurer's knowledge as to omitted taxes, it is not vulnerable to attack on the ground that the allegation is by way of information and belief. Robinson v. Ferguson, 119-325.

Limitation: The fact that a time limit is fixed within which corrections by the treasurer may be made, while under Code § 1385, with reference to entry on tax lists of omitted property by the auditor no limit is fixed, indicates that the authority of the auditor is limited to the current tax lists. Mead's Estate v. Story County, 119-69.

The treasurer alone has power to demand taxes on omitted property within five years from the date at which the assessment should have been made. The power of the auditor, under Code, § 1385, is limited to the current tax list. Jewett v. Foote, 119-359; Mead's Estate v. Story County, 119-69.

The five-year limitation begins to run from the date when the assessment should by law be completed, and not from the date when the tax lists are by law to be transmitted from the auditor to the treasurer. Thornburg v. Cardell, 123-313.

SEC. 1375. County board of review.

The power of county boards of equalization is plainly limited to equalizing by adding to, or taking from, the aggregate valuation of townships, cities and towns as a whole, and not as to parts thereof. Such board has no authority to equalize among

The provisions of 28 G. A., chap. 50, are to be construed with reference to the language of this section, and therefore the five-year limitation of this section is applicable. Siberling v. Cropper, 119-420.

The limitation of such an action is to be found in the language of that section, and not in the general statute of limitations. Ibid.

The action of the treasurer must be brought within five years after the expiration of the thirty days given by his notice within which to appear and make objection. But the treasurer cannot delay the running of the statute by failing to make demand and give notice. Shearer v. Citizens' Bank, 129-564.

The five year limitation against an assessment of property omitted from taxation commences to run from the time when the assessment of such property should have been made. Schoonover v. Petcina, 126-261.

The five year limitation on the treasurer's right to recover taxes on property omitted from assessment is to be computed from the completion of the work of the assessor. Thornburg v. Cardell, 123-313.

assessment districts which are embraced in the same city. The city board has ample power to remedy inequality as among assessment districts by raising or lowering the assessments throughout the city. Montis v. McQuiston, 107-651.

SEC. 1378. State board of review. The executive council shall constitute the state board of review, and shall meet at the seat of government on the second Monday of July in each year. The auditor of state shall lay before it the abstracts transmitted to him by the auditor, as required by the preceding section. [C., '73, § 834; R., § 742; C., '51, §§ 481-2.] [32 G. A., ch. 5, § 3.]

SEC. 1380-a. Repeal. Section thirteen hundred and eighty (1380) of the code is hereby repealed. [27 G. A., ch. 34, § 4.]

SEC. 1380-b. State levy. The executive council shall, in the year 1898, fix the rate per centum to be levied upon the valuation of the taxable property of the state necessary to yield for general state purposes approximately the sum of sixteen hundred thousand dollars ($1,600,000) and in the year 1899 shall fix the rate necessary to yield approximately fifteen hundred thousand dollars ($1,500,000). [27 G. A., ch. 34, § 1.]

SEC. 1380-c. Same. In the year 1900 and each subsequent year the executive council shall fix the rate per centum to be levied upon the valuation of the taxable property of the state necessary to raise such amount for general state purposes as shall be designated by the general assembly, either by statute or joint resolution. [27 G. A., ch. 34, § 2.]

SEC. 1380-d. Council to certify to county auditor. The executive council shall certify the rate so fixed to the auditor of each county. [27 G. A., ch. 34, § 3.]

SEC. 1382. Certifying results to county auditor. The board shall keep a record of its proceedings, and finish its review and adjustment on or before the first Monday of August. The county auditor shall thereupon add to or deduct from the valuation of each kind or class of property in his county the required percentage, rejecting all fractions of fifty cents or less in the result, and counting all over fifty cents as one dollar. [C., '73, § 836; R., § 743; C., '51, § 183.] [32 G. A., ch. 5, § 3.]

SEC. 1382-a. Repeal—acts in conflict. That all statutes in conflict with any of the provisions of this act be, and are, hereby amended so as not to be in conflict with the provisions of this act. [32 G. A., ch. 5, § 3.]

SEC. 1383. Tax list. All taxes, except road-tax, [taxes] which are uniform throughout any township or school district shall be formed into a single tax, and entered upon the tax list in a single column, to be known as a consolidated tax, and each receipt shall show the percentage levied for each separate fund. Before the first day of January in each year, the county auditor shall transcribe the assessments of the several townships, towns or cities into a book, to be provided at the expense of the county for that purpose, to be known as the tax list, properly ruled and headed, with distinct columns in which shall be entered the names of taxpayers, descriptions of lands, number of acres and value, number of town lots and value, value of personal property and each description of tax, with a column for polls and one for payments, and shall complete the same by carrying out the totals and footings of columns. At the end of the list for each township, town or city he shall make an abstract thereof, and apportion the consolidated tax among the respective funds to which it belongs, according to the number of mills levied for each. [C., '73, §§ 837-9; R., §§ 745-6; C., '51, §§ 485-6.] [30 G. A., ch. 50, & 1.]

SEC. 1385. Errors corrected.

The auditor has authority to determine when a mistake on the tax list, not due to error of judgment on the part of the assessor, has been made, but when the determination of whether there is a mistake depends upon facts outside of the record, it is wise for the auditor to decline to act. Smith v. McQuiston, 108-363.

The extension of the application of this section by 28 G. A., chap 47, (Supp. §§ 1385-a—c), and the enactment of 28 G. A., chap. 50, (Supp. §§ 1407-a—e), which may be construed as relating to Code § 1398, do not amount to an implied repeal of Code § 1374. Lambe v. McCormick, 116-169.

The auditor can act with reference to omitted property only for the purpose of adding such property to the tax list for the current year. Thornburg v. Cardell, 123-313.

The county auditor has no duty or authority with respect to the collection of taxes on property withheld from assessment save of adding such omitted property to the tax list for the current year. Heath v. Albrook, 123-559.

The auditor's power to list omitted property under this section as amended by 28 G. A., chap. 47, (Supp. §§ 1385-a—c), is limited to the current tax list, and cannot be exercised without limitation as to the time. Mead's Estate v. Story County, 119-69; Jewett v. Foot, 119-359; Thornburg v. Cardell, 123-313.

SEC. 1385-a. Repeal. That section one thousand three hundred and eighty-five (1385) of the code be and the same is hereby repealed and the following enacted in lieu thereof. [28 G. A., ch. 47, § 1.]

SEC. 1385-b. Errors—omitted property—how corrected. The auditor may correct any error in the assessment or tax list, and may assess and list for taxation any omitted property; but before assessing and listing for taxation any omitted property he shall notify by registered letter the person, firm, corporation, or administrator, or other person in whose name the property is taxed, to appear before him at his office within ten days from the time of said notice and show cause, if any there be, why such correction or assessment should not be made, and should such party feel aggrieved at the action of said auditor he shall have the right of appeal therefrom to the district court. And if such correction or assessment is made after the books have passed into the hands of the treasurer he shall be charged or credited therefor as the case may be. All expense incurred in the making of said correction or assessment shall be borne pro rata by the funds which are affected by said correction and the proceedings to be reported to the board of supervisors. [28 G. A., ch. 47, § 2.]

A mere notice by the auditor to the taxpayer with reference to omitted property is not such assessment as is contemplated by law. Judy v. National State Bank, 133-252.

The statutory provision authorizing the auditor to assess omitted property for taxation is not unconstitutional. Clark v. Horn, Auditor, 122-375.

SEC. 1385-c. Appeal. The appeal herein provided for shall be taken within ten days from the time of the final action of the auditor, by a written notice to that effect to the auditor, and served as an original notice. The court on appeal shall hear and determine the rights of the parties in the same manner as appeals from the board of review, as prescribed in section thirteen hundred and seventy-three (1373) of the code. [28 G. A., ch. 47, § 3.]

SEC. 1389. Treasurer to enter delinquent taxes.

Where the taxes have not been brought forward as required by statute a sale therefor is invalid and the owner should be permitted to redeem. Smith v. Callanan, 103-218.

tor by a city for collection if not brought forward on the treasurer's books as required with reference to general taxes, cease to be a lien upon the property. Fitzgerald v. Sioux City, 125-396.

SEC. 1389-a. Repeal—treasurer to keep record. Section thirteen hundred and eighty-nine (1389) of the code is hereby repealed, and the following enacted in lieu thereof:

The treasurer shall, after October 1st, and before December 31st, of each year, enter in a book to be kept in his office as a part of the records thereof, to be known as the delinquent personal tax list, all delinquent personal taxes of any preceding year. [28 G. A., ch. 48, § 1.]

SEC. 1389-b. What to contain. Such entry of tax on delinquent personal tax list shall give the names of delinquents alphabetically arranged, with amounts of tax and for what year or years, and where property was located when assessed. [28 G. A., ch. 48, § 2.]

Abbreviations in describing the location of the property will not render the entry void. Watkins v. Couch, 111 N. W. 315.

SEC. 1389-c. Lien on real estate. Personal tax entered on delinquent personal tax list, as provided in sections one and two of this act, shall constitute a lien on any real estate owned or acquired by any such delinquent, and so remain until the same has been paid or legally cancelled, and taxes not so entered for each year shall cease to be a lien. [28 G. A., ch. 49, § 3.]

SEC. 1389-d. Entry of delinquent real estate taxes. The treasurer shall each year, upon receiving the tax list, enter upon the same in separate columns opposite each parcel of real estate on which the tax remains unpaid for any previous year, the amount of such unpaid tax, and unless such delinquent real estate tax is so brought forward and entered it shall cease to be a lien upon the real estate upon which the same was levied, and upon any other real estate of the owner. But to preserve such lien it shall only be necessary to enter such tax, as aforesaid, opposite any tract upon which it was a lien. Any sale for the whole or any part of such delinquent tax not so entered shall be invalid. [28 G. A., ch. 48, § 4.]

SEC. 1391. Repeal—delinquent taxes. That section thirteen hundred and ninety-one (1391) of the code be and the same is hereby repealed and the following enacted in lieu thereof:

“No penalty or interest shall be collected upon taxes remaining unpaid four years or more from the thirty-first day of December of the year in which the tax books containing the same were first placed in the hands of the county treasurer, and the board of supervisors at the January meeting may declare such tax unavailable, and when so declared by the board, the amount shall be credited to the treasurer by the auditor as unavailable and he shall apportion such tax among the funds to which it belongs. Any portion of such tax belonging to the state shall be reported by him in his semi-annual settlement sheets to the auditor of state as unavailable, whereupon the auditor of state shall credit the county with the amount so reported, but nothing in this act shall be construed to in any way release the county treasurer from any duty required of him in the collection of delinquent taxes, nor to release the tax payer from his liability for the same. Should any of such tax afterward be collected, the county treasurer shall distribute the net amount collected among the several funds the same as though it had never been declared unavailable, and the portion belonging to the state shall be credited back to the state and included in the treasurer’s remittance of other state taxes to the treasurer of state and shall be reported by the county auditor in his semi-annual settlement sheets to the auditor of state, who shall recharge the same to the county.” [31 G. A., ch. 51.]

SEC. 1398. Assessment of omitted property.

Although the provisions of 28 G. A., chap. 50, (Supp. §§ 1407-a—e), may be construed as relating to this section, and those of 28 G. A., chap. 47, (Supp. §§ 1385-a—c), as amplifying the provisions of Code § 1385, nevertheless these acts are not to be regarded as repealing Code, § 1374. Lambe v. McCormick, 116-169.

SEC. 1400. Lien of taxes. Taxes upon real estate shall be a lien thereon against all persons except the state. Taxes due from any person upon personal property shall be a lien upon any and all real estate owned by such person or to which he may acquire title. As against a purchaser, such liens shall attach to real estate on and after the thirty-first day of December in each year. Taxes upon stocks of goods or merchandise shall be a lien thereon and shall continue a lien thereon when sold in bulk, and may be collected from the owner, purchaser or vendee. In all cases where buildings are assessed as personal property, the taxes shall be and remain a lien on said buildings from the date of levy until paid. [21 G. A., ch. 133; 20 G. A., ch. 194, § 1; C., '73, §§ 853, 865; R., § 759; C., '51, § 495.] [29 G. A., ch. 59, § 1.]

The lien provided for by this section attached, as to taxes already due on stocks of goods, on the day when the Code went into effect. Plymouth County v. Moore, 114-700.

The lien of a general tax has priority over a special tax not chargeable on the property at the time the lien for the general tax attaches and sale thereunder is made. Harrington v. Valley Sav. Bank, 119-312.

The particular time at which taxes attach as a lien against a stock of goods is not specifically designated by statute but inferentially it is when they become due. But a sale of the stock in bulk after assessment and before the levying of the tax will not pass the title free from the lien of such tax when duly levied. Larson v. Hamilton County, 123-485.

The purchaser of a stock of goods taken subject to the taxes assessed thereon, does not become personally liable for the payment of such taxes. Larson v. Hamilton County, 123-485.

Sale of goods at retail divests the lien of the taxes upon the stock and a subsequent payment of the tax by the purchaser of the stock to save other property from distraint is a voluntary payment which cannot be recovered from the vendor. The tax on a stock of goods is not a charge against the purchaser of such stock. Iowa Mercantile Co. v. Blair, 123-290.

As between vendor and vendee, the liability for taxes depends on the intent of the parties as to passing of title. The mere use of language indicating the passing of title at the time of execution of the contract is not controlling, but the usual test is the transfer of possession. Nunn-gesser v. Hart, 122-647.

The provision as to the date when the tax lien attaches between the seller and buyer does not affect the question as to which of the parties to a contract to convey shall pay the taxes accruing between the date of the contract and when the conveyance is to be made. In the absence of any controlling stipulation the vendor retaining possession, rents and profits, until the conveyance is due is under obligation to pay the accruing taxes until the conveyance is made. Clinton v. Shugart, 126-179.

SEC. 1400-a. Plats—when filed. That on or before the first day of August, A. D. 1904, each telephone or telegraph company owning or operating a telephone or telegraph line, any part of which lies within the state of Iowa, shall file with the several county auditors of the counties within which any part of its line is located, a map of all its lines within said county, except its line within any platted city or town, drawn to a scale of not less than one (1) inch to four (4) miles, on which the location of the line or lines of said company is correctly shown. The map of any line situated upon any highway or street which is the dividing line between taxing districts, shall show on which side of said street or highway said line is situated and shall locate all points at which said line may cross said street or highway. A statement showing the length of pole line in each taxing district, of each company shall be filed when no map of the pole lines of such company is required under the terms of this act. A telephone or telegraph company whose line is situated upon the right of way of a railway may file, in lieu of the map required to be filed by the provisions of this section, a certificate setting forth along what lines of railway said company's telephone or telegraph line extends. On or before the first day of March, A. D. 1905, and annually thereafter, like maps, statements or certificates shall be filed with the several county auditors of counties in which any part of said lines may have been extended, constructed, relocated or taken down entirely, during the preceding calendar year, showing the correct location of all such new or relocated lines, and the location of any part abandoned or taken down, as the same existed on the thirty-first day of December preceding. Provided, county auditors of the several counties shall, upon application of any company, owning or operating a telephone or telegraph line in their respective counties, furnish a map or maps accurately showing the boundaries of all taxing districts in said county, and the public highways located within such taxing districts. [30 G. A., ch. 49, § 1.]

SEC. 1400-b. Failure or refusal to file. In the event of the failure or refusal of any telephone or telegraph company, owning or operating any telephone or telegraph line not situated upon the right of way of a railway, to file the map required under the provisions of section one (1) of this act, at the time and according to the conditions named, then the county auditor may cause the same to be prepared by the county surveyor and the cost thereof shall, in the first place, be audited and paid by the board of supervisors of the county, out of the county fund, and the amount thereof shall be by said board levied as a special tax against said company and the property of said company, which shall be collected in the same manner as county taxes and become a part of the county fund. [30 G. A., ch. 49, § 2.]

SEC. 1400-c. Forest and fruit tree reservations. That on any tract of land in the state of Iowa the owner or owners may select a permanent forest reservation not less than two acres in continuous area, or a fruit tree reservation not less than one nor more than five acres in area, or both, and that upon compliance with the provisions of this act, such owner or owners shall be entitled to the benefits hereinafter set forth. [31 G. A., ch. 52, § 1.]

SEC. 1400-d. Forest reservation. A forest reservation shall contain not less than two hundred growing forest trees on each acre. If the area selected is an original forest containing the required number of growing forest trees, it shall be accepted as a forest reservation under the provisions of this act. If the area selected is an original forest containing less than two hundred forest trees to the acre, or if it is an artificial grove, the owner or owners thereof shall have planted, cultivated and otherwise properly cared for the number of forest trees necessary to bring the total number of growing trees to not less than two hundred on each acre, during a period of not less than two years, before it can be accepted as a forest reservation within the meaning of this act, provided that no ground upon which any farm buildings stand shall be recognized as part of any such reservation. [31 G. A., ch. 52, § 2.]

SEC. 1400-e. Annual removal of trees. Not more than one-fifth of the total number of trees in any forest reservation may be removed in any one year, excepting in cases where the trees die naturally. [31 G. A., ch. 52, § 3.]

SEC. 1400-f. What considered forest trees. The ash, black cherry, black walnut, butternut, catalpa, coffee tree, the elms, hackberry, the hickories, honey locust, mulberry, the oaks, sugar maple, European larch and other coniferous trees, and all other forest trees introduced into the state for experimental purposes, shall be considered forest trees within the meaning of this act. In forest reservations which are artificial groves, the willows, box-elder, soft maple, cotton-wood, and other poplars, shall be included among forest trees for the purposes of this act when they are used as protecting borders not exceeding two rows in width around a forest reservation, or when they are used as nurse-trees for forest trees in such forest reservation, the number of such nurse-trees not to exceed one hundred on each acre; provided that only box-elder and soft maple shall be used as nurse-trees. [31 G. A., ch. 52, § 4.]

SEC. 1400-g. Groves. The trees of a forest reservation shall be in groves not less than four rods wide. [31 G. A., ch. 52, § 5.]

SEC. 1400-h. Fruit-tree reservation. A fruit-tree reservation shall contain not less than seventy fruit trees on each acre, growing under proper care, and may be claimed as such for a period of eight years after planting. [31 G. A., ch. 52, § 6.]

SEC. 1400-i. What considered fruit-trees. The cultivated varieties of apples, crabs, plums, cherries, peaches and pears shall be considered fruit-trees within the meaning of this act. [31 G. A., ch. 52, § 7.]

SEC. 1400-j. Replacing dead or removed trees. Whenever any tree or trees on a fruit-tree or forest reservation shall be removed or die, the owner or owners of such reservation shall, within one year, plant and care for other fruit or forest trees, in order that the number of such trees may not fall below that required by this act. [31 G. A., ch. 52, & 8.]

SEC. 1400-k. Restraint of live stock. Cattle, horses, mules, sheep, goats and hogs shall not be permitted upon a fruit-tree or forest reservation. [31 G. A., ch. 52, § 9.]

SEC. 1400-l. Taxable valuation. Forest reservations fulfilling the conditions of this act shall be assessed on a taxable valuation of one dollar per acre. Fruit-tree reservations shall be assessed on a taxable valuation of one dollar per acre for a period of eight years from the time of planting. In all other cases where trees are planted upon any tract of land, without regard to area, for forest, fruit, shade or ornamental purposes, or for wind-breaks, the assessor shall not increase the valuation of such property because of such improvements. [31 G. A., ch. 52, § 10.]

SEC. 1400-m. Penalty for violations. If the owner or owners of a fruit or forest reservation violate any provision of this act within the two years preceding the making of an assessment, the assessor shall not list any tract belonging to such owner or owners, as a reservation within the meaning of this act, for the ensuing two years. [31 G. A., ch. 52, § 11.]

SEC. 1400-n. Duties of assessor. It shall be the duty of the assessor to secure the facts relative to fruit and forest reservations by taking the sworn statement, or affirmation, of the owner or owners making application under this act; and to make special report to the county auditor of all reservations made in the county under the provisions of this act. [31 G. A., ch. 52, § 12.]

SEC. 1400-o. Duties of county auditor. It shall be the duty of the county auditor in every county to keep a record of all forest and fruit-tree reservations within his county; and to make report of the same to the secretary of the state horticultural society on or before November 15th of each year. [31 G. A., ch. 52, § 13.]

SEC. 1400-p. State forestry commissioner. The secretary of the Iowa state horticultural society shall be state forestry commissioner, without salary. It shall be his duty to promote the objects of this act, and he shall have power to appoint deputies without salary for each county, or group of counties, who shall assist him, and who shall make an annual report to him of forestry matters and of the operations of this act, within their respective territories, for the use of the state horticultural society. [31 G. A., ch. 52, § 14.]

CHAPTER 2.

OF THE COLLECTION OF TAXES.

SECTION 1403. Payment—installments.

Where the land is taxed as one parcel, and the mortgage covers a portion only, the mortgagee cannot purchase the entire parcel at tax sale and acquire title so as to divest the owner of the balance of the tract of his title. Cone v. Wood, 108-260, and see notes to Sec. 1440.

The weight of authority is that the particular remedy provided by statute for the collection of taxes is exclusive, and held that an action in equity for the enforcement of the lien of the mulct tax against the premises on which a liquor nuisance was situated could not be maintained. Crawford County v. Laub, 110-355. So held also as to enforcement of personal property tax under § 1406. Plymouth County v. Moore, 114-700.

The payment and acceptance of a tax as assessed by the assessor does not operate as an estoppel to enforce against such taxpayer an additional assessment made by the board of review. City Council v. National Loan & Inv. Co., 130-511.

One who makes voluntary payment of taxes cannot recover them back on the ground that they were not legal. Oden-dahl v. Rich, 112-182.

One whose title rests on forged instruments and is therefore invalid may recover of the true owner taxes paid by him under the mistaken belief as to his ownership, if such belief is not the result of his own carelessness or want of knowledge of the law, and such property may be had in an action at law. Govern v. Russ, 125-188.

SEC. 1406. Sale of personal property.

The provisions of this section as to the collection of personal property tax are exclusive of any other remedy, except as provided by statute, and a personal action cannot be maintained for such tax. Plymouth County v. Moore, 114-700.

The method of enforcing the lien of a tax being provided by statute an action at law cannot be maintained against the owner of property to recover the amount thereof. Carroll County v. Ley, 127-230.

SEC. 1407. Collectors—sheriff. Immediately after the taxes become delinquent, each county treasurer shall proceed to collect the same by distress and sale of the personal property of the delinquent taxpayers, and for this purpose he may appoint one or more collectors to assist him in collecting the same. Each collector appointed shall receive for his services and expenses the sum of five per cent. on the amount of all taxes collected and paid over by him, which percentage he shall collect from the delinquent, together with the whole amount of delinquent taxes and interest; and pay the same to the treasurer at the end of each month, and in the discharge of his duties as collector, should it become necessary to make the delinquent taxes by distress and sale, or should no collector be appointed, or should the collector fail to institute proceedings to collect said delinquent taxes, the treasurer shall place the same in the hands of the sheriff, or a constable, who shall proceed to collect the same, and either shall be entitled to receive the same compensation, in addition to the five per cent., as constables are entitled to receive for the sale of property on execution. [C., '73, § 859.] [31 G. A., ch. 53.]

The county cannot contract with the collector that he is to receive a larger sum than that specified, nor can he recover his statutory compensation after receiving under contract a larger percentage than authorized by law. Any amount paid under such contract in excess of the statutory compensation may be recovered back. Massie v. Harrison County, 129-277.

To support such a contract it is not competent to show that the collector agreed to compile a delinquent tax list, as the compilation of such list pertained to the duties of the treasurer's office. Ibid.

SEC. 1407-a. Discovery of property withheld from taxation—contract—notice—appeal. The board of supervisors of any county may contract in writing with any person to assist the proper officers in the discovery of property not listed and assessed as required by law. Before listing the property discovered, the treasurer shall give the person in whose name it is proposed to assess the same, or his agent, ten days' notice thereof by registered letter addressed to him at his usual place of residence, fixing the time and place where objection to such proposed listing and assessment may be made. An appeal may be taken to the district court from final action of the treasurer by serving written notice upon him and otherwise proceeding as provided in section thirteen hundred and seventy-three (1373) of the code. [28 G. A., ch. 50, § 1.]

In general: This act is not unconstitutional as embracing more than one subject-matter or subject-matter not embraced in the title. Beresheim v. Arnd, 117-83.

The provisions of this act are not to be construed as impliedly repealing Code § 1374. Lambe v. McCormick, 116-169.

What property: Before the county treasurer may act with reference to the enforcement of taxes for property wrongfully withheld from assessment, it must appear that the property withheld was subject to taxation in the county. Layman v. Iowa Telephone Co., 123-591.

Where a savings bank has been in fact assessed, the treasurer has no authority to make an additional assessment for the difference between the value of the stock as assessed and its real value. The statutory provision for assessment of omitted property by the assessor has no application to those cases where property, the subject of taxation, has been in fact entered on the assessment books and has not been withheld, overlooked, or for any other cause, not listed. German Sav. Bank v. Trowbridge, 124-514.

It is no defense to a proceeding to collect taxes on property omitted from taxation in the proper taxing district that it has been in fact taxed for the year in question in another county, but if it has been taxed in the same county, though in another district than that in which it should have been taxed, the county is estopped by receiving the tax actually imposed from insisting on further taxation. Snakenberger v. Stein, 126-650.

If the item of property charged to have been omitted has in fact been listed and the value fixed thereon by the proper officers, no recovery of taxes therefor can be had. Security Savings Bank v. Carroll, 128-230.

An assessment by the treasurer cannot be sustained except upon proof of the ownership of taxable property, and that it was withheld from taxation. Gibson v. Clark, 131-325.

Proof of ownership at a subsequent date is not proof of ownership as of the date when it is alleged the property was withheld from taxation. Ibid.

Where the assessor has made an assessment without fraud on his part, or concealment on the part of the property owner, and no steps have been taken to review such assessment in the manner provided by statute through the board of equalization, it becomes a finality, and the property thus assessed cannot be reassessed as omitted property for the same year, though the valuation by the assessor through mistake of law is inadequate. People's Savings Bank v. Layman, 134 Fed. 635.

Contracts: Prior to the enactment of this chapter the board of supervisors could make a valid agreement for services rendered or to be rendered in the discovery of omitted property, for a reasonable compensation. Reed v. Cunningham, 121-555.

Further as to contracts, see § 1374 and notes to that section in supplement.

While the board of supervisors may contract with an attorney to prosecute action against the owners of property omitted from assessment, it cannot contract with an attorney to render services in collecting such taxes for a percentage of the amount collected in addition to the amount which the county may pay under the provisions of this section. Heath v. Albrook, 123-559.

Any amount paid to an attorney under such illegal contract may be recovered back. Ibid.

Notice: The treasurer must give notice to the owner of the proceeding by him to enforce payment of taxes on property omitted from assessment. Thornburg v. Cardell, 123-313.

Notice by the treasurer to the taxpayer to appear and show cause why he should not be assessed for omitted property is neither an assessment of such property nor a demand for payment of the taxes such as to render a subsequent voluntary payment of the taxes in pursuance of such notice and claim recoverable as having been illegally exacted. Kehe v. Blackhawk County, 125-549.

The agent of the county, sending out a notice as to the assessment by the treasurer of omitted property, is not liable in damages as for libel, although the property owner has not in fact been guilty of any fraud or perjury. O'Connell v. Shontz, 126-709.

Listing: A notice by the treasurer to the taxpayer is not an assessment of taxes against him on property claimed to have been omitted from taxation. Kehe v. Blackhawk County, 125-549.

Nor is the demand made by the treasurer for payment of taxes on omitted property such an assessment as is contemplated. Judy v. National State Bank, 133-252.

The county treasurer need not list omitted property for taxation on the day specified in the notice to the taxpayer, but may do so within a reasonable time thereafter. Snakenberg v. Stein, 126-650.

The listing of the property and assessment of the tax by the treasurer is not a judgment, nor does it in any way affect the bar of the statute as to actions for the collection of taxes upon omitted property. It is simply a condition precedent to the right of action. Shearer v. Citizens' Bank, 129-564.

Where the person in possession of the personal property of a non-resident is notified to appear and show cause why the property in his possession should not be assessed, and he appears and denies that he has in possession or under his control as agent the property in question, the treasurer may assess the property to him as agent without specifying the name of the principal. Security Savings Bank v. Carroll, 131-605.

Procedure in assessment: The determination by the county treasurer that property has been omitted, and ascertainment of the amount of tax due thereon, is a substitute for the assessment required by general provisions of the statute, and the treasurer should make the fact of such determination appear of record in his office. But the entry may be made by another under his direction. In re Estate of Morgan, 125-247.

Appeal: No formal pleadings are necessary before the treasurer on objection to the assessment of omitted property nor on the appeal to the district court from such assessment, and the general allegation that items of moneys and credits scheduled and proposed to be listed and assessed are not items for which the complaining party is liable to assessment for the years specified is sufficient. Upon appeal the complaining party is entitled to have determined every question which the treasurer was called upon to determine with reference to liability of complainant to assessment on moneys and credits for years specified. Schoonover v. Petcina, 126-261.

The requirement for notice implies the right of the property owner to appear and make known his objections, and the duty of the treasurer to consider and pass upon the same. But it was not intended that the procedure be invested with all the formalities which pertain to an action in court. Gibson v. Cooley, 129-529.

On the appeal, however, the district court is called upon to determine only such objections as have been in some manner raised before the treasurer. Ibid.

The burden of proof is upon the person seeking to reverse or set aside the treasurer's assessment. Ibid.

The treasurer cannot appeal from his own action in refusing to make an assessment on omitted property on the application of persons acting under contract with the county to discover omitted property. In re Assessment of Farmers' L. & T. Co., 129-588.

Other remedy: An attempt at assessment by the treasurer of property not subject to assessment in the county is void and the owner is not required to resort to an appeal from the assessment, but may attack it collaterally. Layman v. Iowa Telephone Co., 123-591.

The threatened action of the treasurer in proceeding to assess omitted property is not to be enjoined before he has proceeded to act. The findings of the treasurer are not conclusive, but any error therein may be corrected on appeal. Security Savings Bank v. Carroll, 128-230.

Where the treasurer is acting within the scope of his statutory power in taxing property as omitted, the correctness of his action is to be determined on appeal and not by injunction, nor is he liable in an action for damages for an erroneous exercise of power within the scope of his judicial or quasi-judicial capacity. Stevens v. Carroll, 130-463.

An appeal being provided for an action in equity to restrain the treasurer from acting will not lie unless it be made clearly to appear that an assessment by him would be absolutely illegal and void. Security Savings Bank v. Carroll, 131-605.

The treasurer having authority to assess omitted personal property to an agent in possession and control thereof for a non-resident, his assessment thereon is not illegal and void, and the sufficiency of the evidence on which the assessment is made can be called in question only by an appeal. Ibid.

If the treasurer makes an assessment within his jurisdiction the taxpayer can only be heard to complain of error in his finding by an appeal. He cannot set up such error by way of defense in an action by the treasurer to recover the taxes so assessed. Judy v. National State Bank, 133-252.

If the taxpayer fraudulently conceals his property he cannot rely by way of adjudication upon the assessment made by the assessor. Ibid.

Voluntary payment: One who, being charged by the treasurer or his agents for the collection of taxes on omitted property, with taxes on account of such property, voluntarily pays the same, cannot afterwards recover back the taxes so paid on proof that he was not liable therefor. Kehe v. Blackhawk County, 125-549; in re Estate of Morgan, 125-247.

SEC. 1407-b. Compensation. The total charges, fees, and expenses authorized under section one (1) of this act shall not exceed fifteen per cent. of the taxes paid into the county treasury. [28 G. A., ch. 50, § 2.]

SEC. 1407-c. Bond—approval. The person employed under the provisions of section one hereof shall give a bond in the penal sum of not less than three thousand dollars, with sureties to be approved by the board of supervisors, conditioned for the faithful performance of the contract and observance of the provisions of law applicable to such employment. [28 G. A., ch. 50, § 3.]

SEC. 1407-d. Disposition of taxes recovered. After the deduction of the compensation hereinbefore provided for, the taxes recovered under this act shall be distributed among the several funds for that year in the same proportion as other taxes. [28 G. A., ch. 50, § 4.]

SEC. 1407-e. Existing contracts. All contracts heretofore made for the purpose specified in section one of this act are hereby declared to be valid and binding, in case the parties interested therein shall, within thirty days from the taking effect of this act, consent in writing to accept the said fifteen per cent. in lieu of all compensation, expenses, and other charges whatsoever provided for in said contracts, and give the bond above required. Unless such consent and bond are given, said contracts are hereby declared null and void. [28 G. A., ch. 50, § 5.]

SEC. 1409. Taxes certified to another county.

It is only when a taxpayer has removed from the county, leaving no property therein out of which the taxes can be made, that certification of his taxes to another county is authorized. Union Cent. L. Ins. Co. v. Chapin, 113-411.

SEC. 1417. Refunding erroneous tax.

This section has reference to the county officers, and not to the recovery against a city of taxes collected by a county officer on certification from the city. Hawkeye L. & B. Co. v. Marion, 110-468.

Taxes voluntarily paid under a mistake of law cannot be recovered back. Ahlers v. Estherville, 130-272.

The taxpayer who voluntarily appears and without protest pays taxes on property which he is charged with having omitted or concealed in returning his property for taxation, cannot recover back the taxes thus paid on proof that he was not properly chargeable with reference thereto. Kehe v. Blackhawk County, 125-549.

After payment of taxes a portion of which are due and collectible, the taxpayer cannot maintain an action to recover back another portion erroneously assessed. Kehe v. Blackhawk County, 125-549.

One who, being a purchaser of goods, in order to prevent their seizure for alleged taxes, pays such taxes assessed to the seller, which are invalid, cannot recover the same from the seller. Warfield-P.-H. Co. v. Averill Groc. Co., 119-75.

The right of action for taxes subsequently paid by a tax purchaser on property as to which it is found that the sale is invalid is barred in five years from the time of payment of such taxes, and is not extended by the provisions of Code § 3448, with reference to an action based on fraud or mistake. Lonsdale v. Carroll County, 105-452.

The right to demand repayment of taxes illegally exacted arises at once, and the statute of limitations runs from the time of payment. The party making such payment cannot insist that the running of the statute be postponed until the legal character of the tax has been judicially determined. Sioux City & St. P. R. Co. v. O'Brien County, 118-582.

SEC. 1418. Tax sale—when and how made.

Irregularity, such as over assessment, will not render a tax void, nor authorize the interposition of a court of equity to restrain its enforcement. Collins v. Keokuk, 118-30.

Where there is an ambiguity on the face of the record as to whether taxes have been paid on the property sold, parol evidence is admissible with reference to the fact. McCash v. Penrod, 131-631.

SEC. 1419. Notice. Notice of the time and place of such sale shall be given by the treasurer, and shall contain a description of each separate tract to be sold as taken from the tax list, the amount of taxes for which it is liable delinquent for each year, and the amount of penalty, interest and costs thereon, the name of the owner, if known, or the person, if any, to whom it is taxed, by publication in some newspaper in the county, once each week, for three consecutive weeks, the last of which shall be at least one week before the day of sale, and by immediately posting a copy of the first publication thereof at the door of the court house, if there be one, if not, at the door of the place where the last term of district court was held. The compensation for such publication shall not exceed twenty cents for each description, and shall be paid by the county. The amount paid therefor shall be collected as a part of the costs of sale and paid into the county treasury. If the treasurer cannot procure the publication of the notice for the sum herein fixed, then the notice may be given by posting the same in four of the most public places in the county, to be selected by him, for four weeks, and filing a copy thereof with the auditor before the day of sale, with his verified statement thereon that it had been posted as and for the time herein required, and that he could not obtain a publication thereof at the legal rate. [20 G. A., ch. 194, § 3; C., '73, §§ 872-4, 3833; R., § 764; C., '51, § 498.] [30 G. A., ch. 2, § 2.]

The provision for posting notices of a tax sale "on the door of the county court house" held to be satisfied by a posting thereof on a bulletin board provided for such purposes at the courthouse door. Hoskins v. Iowa Land Co., 121-299.

Publication of notice in a particular case held sufficient. Davis v. Magoun, 109-308.

SEC. 1421. Advertisement.

The term "advertisement" here used is meant to include both publication and posting, and irregularity in the posting will not affect the validity of the sale. Davis v. Magoun, 109-308.

The provision that no irregularity or infirmity in the advertisement shall affect the legality of the sale is applicable to any irregularity as to the place or manner of posting the notice at the courthouse door. Hoskins v. Iowa Land Co., 121-299.

SEC. 1422. Offer for sale.

The sale of two lots in a lump is void.

Hintrager v. McElhinny, 112-325.

SEC. 1423. Bid—purchaser.

It is of the highest importance to the owners that the bidders know from the description what is being offered for sale. In a particular case held that a description was not sufficient which described the property as eighteen acres "part of section," etc., with no specification as to the exact boundaries or designation by which the particular part of the section could be identified. Armour v. Officer, 116-675.

SEC. 1425. Sale of property remaining unsold.

Under the provisions of this section, land which is subject to a lien for taxes and remains unsold for want of bidders, the treasurer may sell such land for a portion of the tax, but redemption from such sale can only be made by the payment of the full amount of the tax which is a lien on such property. (See Code § 1437.) Everson v. Woodbury County, 118-99.

The purchaser at a tax sale for taxes including special assessment for street improvements certified to the county auditor by the officers of the city, acquires title free from the lien of any installments of special assessments not certified or which have not been brought forward so as to continue to be a lien on the property. Fitzgerald v. Sioux City, 125-396.

SEC. 1426. Resale.

The intention is that payment for each parcel or portion sold shall be made immediately upon the completion of the sale, and held that a third person paying the amount bid by the purchaser could not recover from the purchaser the amount of his bid. Sheldon v. Steele, 114-616.

It will not render the sale illegal that the treasurer allows the bidder to postpone payment of the bid until after the conclusion of the sale. Farmers' L. & T. Co. v. Wall, 129-651.

SEC. 1432. Certificate of purchase. The treasurer shall prepare, sign, and deliver to the purchaser of any real estate sold for the non-payment of taxes a certificate of purchase, describing it as shown in the record of sales, giving the part of each tract or lot sold, the amount of each kind of tax, interest and costs for each tract or lot as described in such record, and that payment has been made therefor. If any person is the purchaser of more than one parcel, he may have the whole included in one certificate, but each parcel shall be separately described. And in case of loss of said certificate of purchase, the owner thereof, as appears on record, may, by filing an affidavit of such loss or destruction with the county treasurer, receive a duplicate thereof, which shall take the place of the original certificate and have the same force and effect in law and be subject to the same rules and regulations. [C., '73, § 887; R., § 777; C., '51, § 503.] [32 G. A., ch. 61, § 1.]

The certificates are intended to be delivered when the sale is completed, and if the money bid is not then paid, a new sale should be made, under the provisions of Code § 1426. Sheldon v. Steele, 114-616.

SEC. 1433. Repeal—assignment. Section one thousand four hundred thirty-three (1433) of the code is hereby repealed and the following is enacted in lieu thereof:

"The certificate of purchase shall be assignable by endorsement and entry in the register of tax sales in the office of county treasurer of the county from which said certificate issued, and when such assignment is so entered in the register of tax sales in the treasurer's office, it shall vest, in the assignee or his legal representatives, all the right and title of the assignor. The statement in the treasurer's deed of the fact of the assignment shall be presumptive evidence thereof." [32 G. A., ch. 61, § 2.]

No notation of the assignment of the certificate is necessary provided the person to whom the deed is made is in fact the holder of the certificate. McCash v. Penrod, 131-631.

The statutory presumption is that the grantee in the deed bought the land at the sale or succeeded to the rights of the bidder. Farmers' L. & T. Co. v. Wall, 129-651.

One who takes the certificate by assignment is subject to notice of all infirmities existing therein. Young v. Iowa Toilers' Protective Association, 106-447.

One who by reason of his interest in the property is bound to pay the taxes, cannot take an assignment of the certificate of sale of the property. Such assignment amounts to a redemption. Blumenthal v. Culver, 116-326.

SEC. 1436. Redemption—how effected. Real estate sold under the provisions of this chapter may be redeemed at any time before the right of redemption is cut off, by the payment to the auditor, to be held by him subject to the order of the purchaser, of the amount for which the same was sold and eight per cent. of such amount added as a penalty, with eight per cent. interest per annum on the whole amount thus made from the day of sale, and the amount of all taxes, interest and costs paid by the purchaser or his assignee for any subsequent year or years, with a similar penalty added as before on the amount of the payment for each subsequent year, and eight per cent. per annum on the whole of such amount or amounts from the day or days of payment; but the penalty for non-payment of taxes of any subsequent year or years shall not attach, unless the same shall have remained unpaid until the first day of April after they become due and have become delinquent, nor shall said penalties apply to taxes voted in aid of the construction of any railroad. In redeeming from a sale of a leasehold interest in agricultural college land, the amount to be paid shall include any amount paid by the holder of the certificate as interest or principal due by the terms of the lease or otherwise to prevent a forfeiture thereof, as provided by law, and for which proper voucher shall have been filed with the auditor, with interest thereon at eight per cent. per annum from date of payment, which amount shall be paid by the auditor to the holder of the certificate, and the certificate of redemption shall show the amount so paid by the party redeeming. [19 G. A., ch. 45; C., '73, § 890; R., § 779; C., '51, § 505.] [27 G. A., ch. 35, § 1.]

The term owner as used in determining who may redeem from a tax sale is construed to include mortgagees, judgment creditors, and holders of contingent interests; and a lien holder thus having a right to redeem cannot by a purchase or taking an assignment of a certificate of purchase acquire title as against a senior lien holder. Lane v. Wright, 121-376.

A judgment creditor may redeem from tax sale the land on which his judgment is a lien. Swan v. Harvey, 117-58.

A mortgagee has the right to redeem the mortgaged property from tax sale. Busch v. Hall, 119-279.

Where one of several lien holders upon land sold at tax sale takes an assignment of the certificate of purchase, he is to be treated as having redeemed from such sale for the benefit of all the lien holders. Equity will not permit one lien holder to absorb the common security by purchase at a tax sale. Lane v. Wright, 121-376.

Where a person, entitled by decree to redeem from tax sale, deposited the money with the clerk, and moved to compel a conveyance, and was unsuccessful, and thereupon withdrew his money, and the tax title claimant by himself and grantee remained in possession for fifteen years, held that the right to redeem was thereby abandoned. Cooper v. Cook, 108-301.

The issuing of a deed before the expiration of the statutory period cannot affect the owner's rights, nor entitle him to redeem in equity from the tax sale, where he had not attempted to make statutory redemption within the time allowed him for doing so. It is not the execution or non-execution of the deed which fixes the time within which redemption must be made, but the completed service according to law, and the filing of the notice of the expiration of the right to redeem. Wood v. Coad, 120-111.

One who has voluntarily paid a tax, although under protest, cannot recover the amount thereof from one who has redeemed the property from tax sale. Anderson v. Cameron, 122-183.

One who by reason of his interest in the property is under obligation to pay the taxes cannot acquire title thereto by tax deed, nor take an assignment of the certificate of sale. Such a transaction amounts to a redemption. Blumenthal v. Culver, 116-326.

SEC. 1437. Redemption from sale for part of tax.

Terms of redemption: When land has been sold as provided in Code § 1425, for a portion only of the tax which is a lien thereof, the owner in making redemption must pay the full amount of the taxes legally due. Everson v. Woodbury County, 118-99.

The board of supervisors has no authority to allow redemption in such case for less than the full amount of the taxes due. Ibid.

SEC. 1439. Minors and lunatics.

Under this section, providing that real property of any minor or lunatic sold at tax sale may be redeemed within one year after disability is removed in the manner provided by Code § 1440, that is, by equitable action, held that the action by the heirs of an insane person whose real estate had been sold for taxes before his death, and who continued insane from the time of such sale until his death, might be commenced within one year after the death of such insane person, but that the commencement of the action was to be determined by the actual service of notice, as provided by Code § 3514, and not by the placing of the notice in the hands of the sheriff, with intent that it be immediately served, as provided by Code § 3450, relating to the sufficiency of the commencement of action for the purpose of avoiding the general bar of the statute of limitations. The one year provision in the section of the Code relating to redemption is not a limitation upon the action, but a condition of the exercise of the right. Hawley v. Griffin, 121-667.

Evidence in a particular case held sufficient to show that one whose lands had been sold for taxes was at the time insane, and that his heirs were therefore entitled to redeem the lands from such tax sale. Ibid.

SEC. 1440. Equitable action.

In general: Where proper notice of expiration of period for redemption has not been served, the property owner may have relief under this section, although the deed has in fact been issued. Hintrager v. McWhinny, 112-325; Swan v. Harvey, 117-58.

The action is deemed commenced when the notice is placed in the hands of the sheriff for service, the same rule being applicable as under the general statute of limitations. (See Code § 3450.) Smith v. Callanan, 103-218.

Ordinarily the owner whose land has been sold for taxes must make redemption within three years from the date of sale, and cannot insist on that right after the period has expired, even though no deed has been issued. Bitzer v. Becke, 120-66.

But where, by reason of mistake of law, the owner supposed that he was entitled to redeem his homestead from tax sale on payment of the taxes on the homestead alone, although it had been sold for the entire taxes due by him on his property, and he had commenced an equitable action to secure such redemption, offering to pay the amount of taxes which should be found to be due on his homestead, held that he might be allowed, by order of court, to make redemption after the expiration of the statutory period, although the court found that such redemption could be made only on payment of the entire amount of taxes for which the property had been sold. Ibid.

One who seeks to make equitable redemption must show that he was the owner of or had an interest in the property. Petersborough Sav. Bank v. Des Moines Sav. Bank, 110-519.

Where right to redeem from a tax deed has been decreed the time within which redemption may be made is a mere incident to the enforcement of the decree, and though the district court loses jurisdiction on appeal from such decree, it still has authority to extend the period of redemption. Swan v. Harvey, 123-192.

One who seeks to redeem in an equitable action on the ground that no proper notice of the expiration of the period of redemption has been given is not required to show payment of taxes. Iowa Loan & Trust Co. v. Pond, 128-600.

Under the provision that when the real estate of a minor or lunatic is sold for taxes the same may be redeemed at any time within one year after removal of the disability in an action in equity brought for that purpose, the right to relief is a right granted to be exercised by bringing action within one year from the removal of the disability, and the action must be in fact commenced within the period prescribed. It is not enough that notice of such action be placed in the hands of the sheriff for service as provided by Code § 3450, which prescribes what shall be deemed the commencement of an action with reference to the general statute of limitations. Hawley v. Griffin, 121-667.

Amount to be paid: In an equitable action by a minor to redeem from a tax deed, if there is no showing as to the amount of taxes paid or of any other of the material items necessary to a computation of the sum to which the defendant is entitled, the case will be remanded to the trial court in order that these matters may be shown. Bemis v. Plato, 119-127.

In an action to redeem from the deed on the ground that the redemption notice was defective, the plaintiff should be required to pay the amount paid by the purchaser with penalty and interest on the total amount at 8 per cent. and may be allowed a reasonable time within which to make such payment. Bancroft v. Mann, 125-530.

Rents and profits: Where a property owner was found entitled to redeem in equity, held that the defendant should be charged with the rents received, and with interest on the amount received each year, and credited with the amount paid at the tax sale with interest and penalty, and with the amounts paid for subsequent taxes with interest, and also for amounts paid for repairs and care of the property with interest. Hintrager v. McElhinny, 112-325.

Where it appears that the rents and profits received by the person in possession are at least equal to the amount which should be paid in making redemption, a decree may be entered without compelling plaintiff to pay anything, and in a particular case held that as the case must be reversed it would be remanded with permission to the person in possession to present his claim for improvements to the lower court for allowance. Hall v. Cardell, 111-206.

Who may acquire title: Where the agent for the owner of land is not chargeable with the payment of taxes, he may, after his discharge as agent, acquire title to such land from one who has secured a tax title thereon. Bemis v. Plato, 119-127.

A person having such interest in land as entitles him to redeem from a tax sale cannot by taking a tax title eliminate the rights of others jointly interested with him in the property, as persons thus jointly interested may in equity redeem from a tax title thus acquired. First Congregational Church v. Terry, 130-513.

One who is under obligation to pay taxes upon the property or who has money of another in his possession for the purpose of paying such taxes cannot acquire a tax title as against other interested parties. Young v. Iowa Toilers' Protective Association, 106-447.

A mortgagee has the right to pay taxes and cannot by purchase at a tax sale defeat a senior mortgage nor acquire title against mortgagor. Cone v. Wood, 108-260.

A mortgagee alleging that a tax deed was fraudulently obtained through a transaction which amounted to a payment of the taxes by those under obligation to discharge the tax lien, may have the title acquired under such tax sale declared invalid as against him. Busch v. Hall, 119-279.

Concurrent owners: A tenant in common cannot acquire a valid tax title to property owned in common as against his co-tenant. Funson v. Bradt, 105-471.

A tenant in common cannot allow the property to go to tax sale and cut off his interest of his co-tenant by taking a tax deed, as between him and his co-tenant such acquisition of title constitutes a redemption. Crawford v. Meis, 123-610.

But this rule has no application to the acquisition of such title by a remainderman. Ibid.

A life tenant is charged with the duty of paying taxes on the property, and can not by collusively permitting the same to be sold and thereby acquiring a tax title either in his own name or in the name of another, cut off the rights of the remainder man. As against a tax title thus acquired the remainder-man is entitled to have a redemption in equity. First Congregational Church v. Terry, 130-513.

SEC. 1441. Notice of expiration of right of redemption. After two years and nine months from the date of sale, the holder of the certificate of purchase may cause to be served upon the person in possession of such real estate, and also upon the person in whose name the same is taxed, if such person resides in the county where the land is situated, in the manner provided for the service of original notices, a notice signed by him, his agent or attorney, stating the date of sale, the description of the property sold, the name of the purchaser, and that the right of redemption will expire and a deed for the land be made unless redemption is made within ninety days from the completed service thereof. Service may be made upon nonresidents of the county by publishing the same, once each week, for three consecutive weeks in some newspaper of said county, or by personal service thereof elsewhere in the same manner original notices may be served; but any such nonresident may in writing appoint a resident of the county in which said land is situated an agent, and file said appointment with the treasurer of said county, who shall forthwith record the same in a record kept in his office therefor, and index the same, after which personal service of said notice shall be made upon said agent. Service shall be complete only after an affidavit has been filed with the treasurer, showing the making of the service, the manner thereof, the time when and place where made, and under whose direction the same was made; such affidavit to be made by the holder of the certificate or by his agent or attorney, and in either of the latter cases stating that such affiant is the agent or attorney, as the case may be, of the holder of such certificate; which affidavit shall be filed by the treasurer and entered upon the sale book opposite the entry of the sale, and said record or affidavit shall be presumptive evidence of the completed service of said notice, and the right of redemption shall not expire until ninety days after service is complete. Any person knowingly and wilfully swearing falsely to any fact or statement contained in said affidavit shall be guilty of perjury. The cost of serving the notice and affidavit of publication shall be added to the amount necessary to redeem. The fee for serving the notice shall be the same as for service of an original notice, including copy fee and mileage. The treasurer shall, upon the filing of proof of service and statement of costs, forthwith report the same in writing to the auditor, who shall enter it in the sale book against the proper tract of real estate. The holder of the certificate of sale or his agent may report in writing to the county auditor the amount of costs incurred in giving such notice, and the auditor shall enter the same in the sale book as aforesaid, and no redemption shall be complete until such costs are paid. [25 G. A., ch. 81; C., '73, § 894; R., § 781.] [30 G. A., ch. 2, § 3.]

Notice necessary: The title holder is entitled to have a tax deed set aside which had been issued without notice of the expiration of the period for redemption. Grimes v. Ellyson, 130-286.

The provision as to notice to the owner is not applicable where the person owning the property at the time of the tax sale is deceased. In such case service of notice is to be made as though the property had been assessed and taxed to an unknown owner. Ibid.

The requirement for notice is limited to the person in possession of the premises, in whose name the property is assessed, or taxed, and proof of service upon the real owner is not sufficient. Ibid.

Unless the right of redemption be terminated by proper notice the issuance of a treasurer's deed is no obstacle to the exercise of the right, but it must be asserted by an action as provided in the preceding section. Swan v. Harvey, 117-58.

The authority of the treasurer to issue the deed is dependent on the service of redemption notice upon the person to whom the land is taxed and the person in possession, and in the absence of such notice the deed is void and the statutory limitation does not run in his favor. Chicago, B. & Q. R. Co. v. Kelley, 105-106.

A notice of expiration of the time for redemption directed to a railway by the initials of its name, such railway being in possession of the property, held, not to be sufficient in the absence of evidence showing that the railway was commonly known and customarily referred to by such abbreviation. Ibid.

By publication: Where the land was taxed to M. K. G., and there was no such person in the county at the time for serving notice of expiration of the period of redemption, service by publication was held sufficient, although the premises were in the possession of K. G., who was a resident of the county. Hawkeye v. Loan & Brokerage Co. v. Gordon, 115-561.

Notice by publication to an owner who is a non-resident is sufficient where no one is in actual possession of the land at the time notice is given. McCash v. Penrod, 131-631.

The fact that the person in whose name the notice was given was stated as "Karney," an affidavit as to publication was in the name of "Carney," held not to be a fatal defect, it appearing that the names referred to the same person. Ibid.

By whom given: Notice of the expiration of the redemption period may properly be given by the lawful holder of the certificate without regard to who is the beneficial owner. Nugent v. Cook, 129-381.

Where it appears that the person to whom the property is taxed is dead, the proceedings are to be the same as though the owner was "unknown" and no notice is necessary. It is not necessary that the notice be given to the heirs or legal representatives of such person. Ibid.

SEC. 1442. Deed executed.

Where the description does not furnish the means for determining the boundary line of the tract covered, the deed is not valid. Tucker v. Carlson, 113-449.

The description must contain in itself sufficient facts when applied to identify the particular tract intended to be conveyed. Armour v. Officer, 116-675.

A deed issued to one who is in fact the owner of the certificate is valid, although such owner holds by assignment not recorded. McCash v. Penrod, 131-631.

Notice cannot be given by a purchaser who has assigned the certificate. Sickles v. Union Investment Co., 109-450.

To whom given: The notice must be served upon the person in possession. Hintrager v. McElhinney, 112-325.

In a particular case held that the return of service of notice was not sufficient. Ibid.

The notice of the expiration of the period for redemption is to be given to the person in whose name the land is assessed and taxed at the time the notice is given rather than at the expiration of two years and nine months from the sale, where the giving of the notice is postponed to a later date than that at which it might first have been given. Smith v. Callahan, 103-218.

One who is not the owner is not entitled to notice of redemption in the absence of a showing that he is in the actual occupancy of the property. Barcroft v. Mann, 125-530.

In order for the owner of vacant lots to be in the possession thereof within the meaning of the statutory provision, he is not required to show any other acts of possession or control than such as are usually exercised by resident owners having title to property of that kind. Foy v. Houstman, 128-220.

Proof of notice: Reference in the affidavit of the purchaser to the printed notice, a copy of which is attached to the affidavit is sufficient. Hoskins v. Iowa Land Co., 121-299.

The place of service of notice must be stated in the proof required by statute of the making of such service. Barcroft v. Mann, 125-530.

While an affidavit of a proprietor of a newspaper in which the notice was published is not competent to prove such publication, yet if such affidavit is made a part of the agent's affidavit of notice, the proof is sufficient. Funson v. Bradt, 105-471.

An affidavit of notice which does not show that the person making it was the agent or attorney of the holder of the tax certificate is not competent evidence of the facts recited. Ibid.

Where the description of the property in the redemption notice is such as to call the attention of the person upon whom it is served to the sale intended and the property sold, it is sufficient. Ibid.

SEC. 1444. Effect of deed—vests title.

What vests in purchaser: There is no privity between the holder of the fee and one who claims a tax title upon the land. The latter title is not derived from, but is antagonistic to the former. The holder of the tax title is not a privy in estate with the holder of the fee. Neither owes any duty to the other, nor is estopped from making any claim against the other. Hussman v. Durham, 165 U. S., 144.

A tax title is not derivative, but a new title in the nature of an independent grant from the sovereign, and the one who claims under a tax deed does not therefore claim title from the same source as the person attacking the deed whose title is derived from a foreclosure proceeding, and who does not show title in the person who executed the mortgage. Petersborough Sav. Bank v. Des Moines Sav. Bank, 110-519.

The effect of a tax deed is to be determined by the statute in force at the time it is executed. Fitzgerald v. Sioux City, 125-396.

Where the city certifies special assessments to the county auditor for collection, a purchaser at a sale for taxes including such special assessments by his deed acquires title free from the remaining installments of such special assessments which have not been brought forward so as to preserve the lien thereof on the property. Fitzgerald v. Sioux City, 125-396.

Deed as evidence: It is presumed in favor of the tax deed that service of notice of redemption was not required to be made on a person in possession if the contrary does not appear. Funson v. Bradt, 105-471.

The fact that a deed is issued is prima facie evidence of the giving of notice of expiration of the period of redemption. Young v. Iowa Toilers' Protective Association, 106-447.

The holder of a tax deed regular upon its fact, makes out a prima facie case in an action to quiet title and the burden is upon the defendant to establish its invalidity. Even if the invalidity of the deed is shown, it may be sufficient basis for establishing title by adverse possession. McCash v. Penrod, 131-631.

A tax deed is at least prima facie evidence of the fact that the grantee named therein was the purchaser at the sale, or one who succeeded to his rights. Farmers' L. & T. Co., v. Wall, 129-651.

Where lands covered by a railroad grant were sold for taxes, not having been patented to the railroad at the time of the assessment of the tax, held that the presumption of regularity in favor of the tax sale would warrant the assumption that such lands had been earned and selected prior to the assessment of the tax. Chicago, M. & St. P. R. Co. v. Hemenway, 117-598.

Irregularity in posting of notice of tax sale will not affect the validity of the deed. Davis v. Magoun, 109-308.

SEC. 1445. Who may question.

One who attacks a tax deed does not make sufficient showing of title by the introduction of the record of foreclosure proceedings and the acquisition of title by him under such proceedings. The title required to be shown is such an one as that the party claiming thereunder might, if plaintiff, recover thereon. Petersborough Sav. Bank v. Des Moines Sav. Bank, 110-519.

Whether or not the plaintiff in an action attacking a tax deed must show that a subsequent sale of the land for taxes has been redeemed from, when the land was purchased at such sale by a stranger, quaere. Ibid.

Where the landowner seeks by equitable action to redeem under the provisions of § 1440, he is not required to show title or any payment of taxes as required by this section. A judgment creditor entitled to redeem may maintain such action. Swan v. Harvey, 117-58; Roth v. Munzenmaier, 118-326; Busch v. Hall, 119-279.

The plaintiff in such a case must show some title, but title by adverse possession is sufficient. Roth v. Munzenmaier, 118-326.

Any one having a right to redeem may maintain such equitable action. Busch v. Hall, 119-279.

One who attacks a tax deed on the ground that he has not had notice of the expiration of the right of redemption is not required to show payment of taxes. Iowa Loan & Trust Co. v. Pond, 128-600.

SEC. 1446. Sales wrongfully made—purchaser indemnified.

The provisions of this section entitle the purchaser to recover only where the mistake or error is that of the treasurer, and not where it is due to the auditor, although the land may by reason of such mistake of the auditor not be subject to sale. Lonsdale v. Carroll County, 105-452.

Such provisions do not entitle the tax purchaser to recover from the county, in case the sale is invalid by reason of mistake or error, the taxes subsequently paid by him on the property. Ibid.

Taxes voluntarily paid cannot, in the absence of statute, be recovered, and where the county treasurer collects certified by a city, this section does not authorize recovery from the city of the taxes improperly claimed and paid. To warrant an action against the city to recover back money on the ground of illegality of taxes or assessments collected by it, it must appear that the city had no authority to collect the tax, that the money sued for has been actually received by the city, and that the payment by the plaintiff was upon compulsion to prevent the immediate enforcement of the tax against his property. Hawkeye L. & B. Co. v. Marion, 110-468.

The wrongful act or mistake of the treasurer which will subject the county to an action for the recovery of taxes under this section is one which the person seeking recovery had no agency in bringing about. And where the bondsmen of one selling intoxicating liquor under the mulct law bought in the real property used for that purpose at a tax sale for the mulct tax, for which his bondsmen were liable, the sale being made at his request, held that he could not recover from the county the amount paid by him at such tax sale, which was afterwards set aside. Guedert v. Emmet County, 116-40.

Evidence in a particular case, showing but little competition at a tax sale, although quite a number of bidders were present, held not sufficient to prove fraud on the part of the purchaser. Gallaher v. Head, 108-588.

SEC. 1448. Limitation of actions.

The statute begins to run from the time the purchaser is entitled to a deed, but if the holder of the fee title makes a surrender to the holder of the tax title, by payment or rent before the five-year limit has expired, this will constitute such surrender of possession as to stop the running of the statute. Gallaher v. Head, 108-588.

The statute of limitations against the tax deed does not begin to run when the deed is issued without redemption notice being served on the person in whose name the land is taxed, and the same rule applies where the deed is invalid by reason of the failure to notify the person in possession. Chicago, B. & Q. R. Co. v. Kelley, 105-106.

The five-years' limitation is only available to one who was the owner of the title at the time of the sale, and if such owner, attacking the tax deed, introduces no evidence of title whatever, he cannot recover. Gill v. Candler, 114-332.

The statute begins to run at the time when the tax sale purchaser might have obtained his deed, that is, three years from the date of sale. If no action is brought by such purchaser within five years thereafter, the tax title is extinguished. Roth v. Munzenmaier, 118-326.

As against an action to defeat a tax title in the hands of the agent of the owner of the property, the five year limitation is applicable. Bemis v. Plato, 119-127.

The provisions of this section limiting the action attacking a tax title to five years after the tax deed is executed and recorded, constitute a condition as to the right to maintain such action, and therefore the question whether the action is commenced in proper time is not to be determined by Code § 3450, which provides that with reference to the general statute of limitations an action is to be deemed commenced when the notice is placed in the hands of the sheriff for service, but by the provisions of Code § 3514, declaring that an action is commenced by service on the defendant. Hawley v. Griffin, 121-667.

Possession of land by the owner in order to bar an action under a tax title, need not be such as is required to make it adverse, hostile and exclusive, under the general statute of limitations. It is sufficient if it is such as would entitle the tax title owner to an action against the fee owner. Clark v. Sexton, 122-310.

If the tax deed is simply irregular, and not void, the tax title holder relying thereon in an action to quiet title is not subject to have his title attacked after five years. McCash v. Penrod, 131-631.

SEC. 1452-a. Actions authorized. In addition to all other remedies and proceedings now provided by law for the collection of taxes on personal property, the county treasurer is hereby authorized to bring or cause an ordinary suit at law to be commenced and prosecuted in his name for the use and benefit of the county for the collection of taxes from any person, persons, firm or corporation as shown by the tax list in his office, and the same shall be in all respects commenced, tried and prosecuted to final judgment the same as provided by the code for ordinary actions. [32 G. A., ch. 62, § 1.]

SEC. 1452-b. Statutes applicable—writ of attachment—damages. All the provisions of chapters one (1) and two (2) of title nineteen (19) of the code and acts amendatory thereto, are hereby made applicable to any proceedings instituted by a county treasurer under the provisions of section one (1) hereof, and a writ of attachment shall be issued upon the county treasurer complying with the provisions of said chapter, for taxes, whether due or not due, except that no bond shall be required from the treasurer or county in such cases, but the county shall be liable for damages, only, as provided by section thirty-eight hundred eighty-seven (3887) of the code. [32 G. A., ch. 62, § 2.]

CHAPTER 3.

OF THE SECURITY OF THE REVENUE.

SECTION 1457. Loaning or depositing public funds. A county treasurer shall be liable to a like fine for loaning out, or in any manner using for private purposes, state, county or other funds in his hands, except that, when permitted by the board of supervisors by resolution entered of record, he may deposit such funds in any bank or banks in the state, to any amount fixed by such resolution; and the county may receive such rate of interest on the money so deposited as may be agreed upon by the treasurer, board of supervisors, and the bank; but before such deposit is made such bank shall file a bond with sureties, to be approved by the treasurer and the board of supervisors, in double the maximum amount permitted to be deposited, conditioned to hold the treasurer harmless from all loss by reason of such deposit or deposits. Said bond shall be filed with the county auditor, and action may be brought thereon either by the treasurer or the county, as the board of supervisors may elect. And the state treasurer shall be liable to a fine of not more than ten thousand dollars for a like misdemeanor. But nothing done under the provisions of this section shall alter or affect the liability of the treasurer or the sureties of his official bonds. [17 G. A., ch. 155; C., '73, § 912; R., § 797.] [27 G. A., ch. 36, § 1.]

The treasurer has no authority to collect taxes through a bank, and is primarily liable for loss of taxes thus collected by failure of the bank. Under such circumstances, the bank holds the taxes thus collected as a trust fund for the county. Page County v. Rose, 130-296.

SEC. 1460. Repeal—statement of account. That section fourteen hundred and sixty (1460) of the code, relating to the statement by the auditor of state of the county treasurer's account with the treasurer of state, be and the same is hereby repealed. [32 G. A., ch. 63.]

SEC. 1461. Settlement with county treasurer.

When a county treasurer is indicted upon the charge of receiving public money and failing to account therefor under the last provision found in Code § 4840, it must be alleged and proved that demand was made upon him by the person or officer entitled to receive the funds so demanded. State v. McKinney, 130-370.

Where the balance in the hands of an outgoing county treasurer has been ascertained on the final settlement with the board of supervisors, his successor in office becomes the person entitled to receive the balance on hand, and is the only person who can make demand therefor, refusal of which will charge the outgoing officer with criminal liability for failure to account. Ibid.

CHAPTER 4.

OF ASSESSMENT AND COLLECTION OF COLLATERAL INHERITANCE TAX.

SECTION 1467. Rate. All property within the jurisdiction of this state, and any interest therein, whether belonging to the inhabitants of this state or not, and whether tangible or intangible, which shall pass by will or by the statutes of inheritance of this or any other state, or by deed, grant, sale or gift made or intended to take effect in possession or in enjoyment after the death of the grantor or donor, to any person in trust or otherwise, other than to or for the use of the father, mother, husband, wife, lineal descendant, adopted child, the lineal descendant of an adopted child of a decedent, step-child, or the lineal descendant of a step-child of a decedent, or to or for charitable, educational or religious societies or institutions, including hospitals, public libraries and public art galleries kept open to the free use of the public not less than three days of each week; within this state, shall be subject to a tax of five per centum of its value, above the sum of one thousand dollars, after the payment of all debts, for the use of the state; and all administrators, executors and trustees, and any such grantee under a conveyance, and any such donee under a gift, made during the grantor's or donor's life, shall be respectively liable for all such taxes to be paid by them, respectively, except as herein otherwise provided, with lawful interest as hereinafter set forth, until the same shall have been paid. The tax aforesaid shall be and remain a lien on such estate from the death of the decedent until paid. Whenever property, or any interest therein, shall pass to heirs, devisees, or other beneficiaries, as contemplated in the foregoing provisions, who are aliens, non-residents of the United States, the same shall be subject to a tax of twenty per centum (20%) of its true value, except where such foreign beneficiaries are brothers or sisters of the decedent owner, when the rate of tax to be assessed and collected therefrom shall be ten per centum (10%) of the value of the property or interest so passing. [26 G. A., ch. 28, § 1.] [30 G. A., ch. 51.] 31 G. A., chs. 54, 55.]

A tax upon succession with an exemption of one thousand dollars is not unconstitutional. In re McGhee's Est., 105-9.

The statute exempts from taxation one thousand dollars of the entire estate and not one thousand dollars of the share coming to each distributee. Ibid.

The valuation of the property is to be made by appraisal and not determined by the regular assessment. Such value is the price which the property will command in the market. Ibid.

The expression, "within the sum of $1,000," is descriptive of an estate which is to be exempt from taxation, and not of a portion of the estate which is to be exempt. Herriott v. Bacon, 110-342; Gilbertson v. McAuley, 117-522.

The situs of the property, and not the testator's domicile, determines the liability of the property for the inheritance tax, and where a resident of Iowa died possessed of cattle in an adjoining state which passed under his will to collateral heirs, held that such cattle, or the proceeds thereof, were not liable to the tax. In re Weaver's Est., 110-328.

Where a son devised property to his mother, who died before the testator's death leaving as heirs a brother and sister of testator, held that the devised property passed directly from testator to his brother and sister as collateral heirs, and thus became subject to the collateral inheritance tax. In re Hulett's Est., 121-423.

Property which passed to collateral heirs on the death of a testator, prior to the passage of the collateral inheritance tax law, is not subject to such a tax. Gilbertson v. Ballard, 125-420.

Choses in action held by a non-resident against residents of the state are not subject to collateral inheritance tax on the death of the former. Gilbertson v. Oliver, 129-568.

An order made in a probate proceeding on application of the state treasurer that the executor file an inventory of real property for the purpose of having a collateral inheritance tax assessed against it, held to be such intermediate order substantially affecting the merits or determining a right that the executor might appeal therefrom. In re Estate of Stone, 132-136.

The devisee of an interest in real property taking collaterally, and therefore subject to an inheritance tax may renounce the devise in favor of the direct heirs, and thus prevent the attaching of the obligation to pay such tax. Ibid.

Property of an estate not distributed prior to the taking effect of 27 G. A., chap. 37, held to be subject to the collateral inheritance tax. Montgomery v. Gilbertson, 111 N. W. 964.

SEC. 1467-a. Debts deducted. The term "debts" in the eleventh line of section fourteen hundred and sixty-seven (1467) of the code shall include, in addition to debts owing by decedent at the time of his death, the local or state taxes due from the estate prior to his death, and a reasonable sum for funeral expenses, court costs, including the costs of appraisement made for the purpose of assessing the collateral inheritance tax, the statutory fees of executors, administrators, or trustees, and no other sum; but said debts shall not be deducted unless the same are approved and allowed, within fifteen months from the death of decedent, as established claims against the estate, unless otherwise ordered by the judge or court of the proper county. [28 G. A., ch. 51, § 1.]

SEC. 1467-b. Property subject to tax. Except as to property passing to the persons, corporations, and societies exempted by section fourteen hundred and sixty-seven (1467) of the code from the collateral inheritance tax, and real property located outside of the state passing in fee from the decedent owner, the tax imposed under chapter four (4) of title seven (7) of the code shall hereafter be assessed against, and be collected from, property of every kind, which, at the death of the decedent owner, is subject to, or thereafter, for the purpose of distribution, is brought into this state and becomes subject to the jurisdiction of the courts of this state for distribution purposes, or which was owned by any decedent domiciled within the state at the time of the death of such decedent, even though the property of said decedent so domiciled was situated outside of the state. [28 G. A., ch. 51, § 2.]

SEC. 1467-c. Construction. In the construction of this statute, the words "collateral heirs" shall be held to mean all persons who are not excepted from the provisions of the collateral inheritance tax by section fourteen hundred and sixty-seven (1467) of the code, and this act, except section two (2) thereof, shall apply to all pending estates which are not closed, and the property subjected by this act to the said tax is liable to the provisions incorporated in chapter four (4) of title seven (7) of the code, as to the amount and lien thereof, and the manner of enforcement and collection thereof, except as herein specifically provided otherwise. [28 G. A., ch. 51, § 12.]

SEC. 1467-d. Foreign estates and deduction of debts. Whenever any property belonging to a foreign estate, which estate, in whole or in part, is liable to pay a collateral inheritance tax in this state, the said tax shall be assessed upon the market value of said property remaining after the payment of such debts and expenses as are chargeable to the property under the laws of this state; in the event that the executor, administrator, or trustee of such foreign estate files with the clerk of the court having ancillary jurisdiction, and with the treasurer of state, duly certified statements exhibiting the true market value of the entire estate of the decedent owner, and the indebtedness for which the said estate has been adjudged liable, which statement shall be duly attested by the judge of the court having original jurisdiction, the beneficiaries of said estate shall then be entitled to have deducted such proportion of the said indebtedness of the decedent from the value of the property as the value of the property within this state bears to the value of the entire estate. [28 G. A., ch. 51, § 3.]

SEC. 1467-e. Foreign estates and direct and collateral beneficiaries. Whenever any property, real or personal, within this state belongs to a foreign estate, and said foreign estate passes in part exempt from the collateral inheritance tax, and in part subject to said collateral inheritance tax, and it is within the authority or discretion of the foreign executor, administrator, or trustee administering the estate to dispose of the property, not specifically devised to direct heirs or devisees in the payment of the debts owing by decedent at the time of his death, or in the satisfaction of legacies, devise[e]s, or trusts given to direct and collateral legatees or devisees, or in payment of the distributive shares of any direct and collateral heirs, then the property within the jurisdiction of this state, belonging to such foreign estate, shall be subject to the collateral inheritance tax imposed by chapter four (4) of title seven (7) of the code, and the tax due thereon shall be assessed as provided in the next preceding section of this act, and with the same proviso respecting the deduction of the proportionate share of the indebtedness, as therein provided. [28 G. A., ch. 51, § 4.]

SEC. 1469. Appraisal.

The appraisal made of the personal property by the regularly appointed appraisers seems to be made the basis for the limitation of the tax on that kind of property. No notice to the heirs, legatees or devisees is provided for or required, and therefore this section as it originally stood was unconstitutional. The tax is a property tax, and not a tax on succession. But the provision for notice contained in 27 G. A., chap. 37, which is made retroactive, cures the defect as to estates not settled at the time the act was passed and a tax previously levied is rendered valid by said act. Ferry v. Campbell, 110-290.

Where title to the real property belonging to deceased had vested absolutely in heirs prior to the enactment of 27 G. A., chap. 37, held that the legalizing act did not cure the defect in the law existing at the time inheritance was cast, and therefore did not render the tax valid as against the inheritance by the heirs. Herriott v. Potter, 115-648.

SEC. 1471-a. Valuation of life, term and deferred estates. The value of any estate and property described in sections fourteen hundred and seventy (1470) and fourteen hundred and seventy-one (1471) of the code subject to the collateral inheritance tax shall be determined for the purpose of computing said tax by the rule or standards of mortality and of value commonly used in actuaries' combined experience tables. The treasurer of state is directed to obtain and publish for the use of the courts and appraisers throughout the state tables showing the average expectancy of life, and the value of annuities or life and term estates, and the present worth or value of remainders and reversions. The taxable value of life or term, deferred or future, estates shall be computed at the rate of four per cent. interest. Whenever it is desired to remove the lien of the collateral inheritance tax on remainders, reversions, or deferred estates, parties owning the beneficial interest may pay at any time the said tax on the present worth of such interest determined according to the rules herein fixed. [28 G. A., ch. 51, § 7.]

In an action for permanent personal injury, mortality tables, published in pursuance of this section, are admissible in evidence. Clark v. Van Vleck, 112 N. W. 648.

SEC. 1475-a. Surplus tax—how and when refunded. That when a court of competent jurisdiction has or may hereafter determine that property, upon which a collateral inheritance tax has been paid, is not subject to or liable for the payment of such tax, so much of such tax which has been overpaid to the treasurer of state, shall be returned or refunded to the executor or administrator of such estate, or to those entitled thereto, when a certified copy of the record of such court showing the fact of non-liability of such property to the payment of such tax has been filed with the executive council of the state, the executive council shall issue an order to the auditor of the state directing him to issue a warrant upon the treasurer of the state to refund such tax. [29 G. A., ch. 63, § 1.]

SEC. 1475-b. Notice of hearing. Such order of court shall not be given until fifteen days' notice of the application therefor shall be given to the treasurer of state of the time and place of the hearing of such application, which notice shall be served in the same manner as provided for original notices. [29 G. A., ch. 63, § 2.]

SEC. 1476. Method of appraisal—notice—hearing—appeal. All appraisements of real estate subject to such tax shall be made and filed in the manner provided for appraisal of personal property. When such real estate is situated in another county, the same appraisers may serve, or others may be appointed. It shall be the duty of all appraisers appointed under the provisions of this chapter to forthwith give notice to the treasurer of state and other persons known to be interested in the property to be appraised, of the time and place at which they will appraise such property, which time shall not be less than ten days from the date of such notice. The notice shall be served in the same manner as is prescribed for the commencement of civil actions unless a different one is ordered by the court or judge, and the notice, with the proof of service thereof, shall be returned to the court with the appraisal. The treasurer of state, or any person interested in the estate appraised, may file exceptions to the appraisal, on the hearing of which, as an action in equity, either party may produce evidence competent or material to the matters therein involved. If, upon such hearing, the court finds the amount at which the property is appraised is its value on the market in the ordinary course of trade, and the appraisal was fairly and in good faith made, it shall approve such appraisal; but if it finds that the appraisal was made at a greater or less sum than the value of the property in the ordinary course of trade, or that the same was not fairly or in good faith made, it shall set aside the appraisal, appoint new appraisers and so proceed until a fair and good appraisal of the property is made at its value in the market in the ordinary course of trade. The treasurer of state, or any one interested in the property appraised may appeal to the supreme court from the order of the district court approving or setting aside any appraisal to which exceptions have been filed. Notice of appeal shall be served within thirty days from the date of the order appealed from, and the appeal shall be perfected in the time now provided for appeals in equitable actions. In case of appeal the appellant, if he is not the treasurer of state, shall give bond to be approved by the clerk of the court, to pay the tax, which bond shall provide that the said appellant and sureties shall pay the tax for which the property may be liable, with costs of the appeal. [26 G. A., ch. 28, § 10.] [27 G. A., ch. 37, § 1.]

SEC. 1476-a. Appraisements and relief therefrom. All estates, subject in whole or in part to the tax imposed upon collateral inheritances, shall be appraised for the purpose of computing said tax by the regular collateral inheritance tax appraisers, under the rules and regulations authorized to be made by section six (6) of chapter thirty-seven (37) of the laws of the twenty-seventh general assembly governing the district courts in the assessment of said tax; provided, that estates in some part liable for the payment of the inheritance tax need not be entirely appraised by the collateral inheritance appraisers where an appraisal of such part will be sufficient to determine the tax due the state, and estates liable for the collateral inheritance tax, which consist of money, book accounts, bank deposits, notes, mortgages, and bonds, need not be appraised by the collateral tax appraisers if the administrator, executor, or trustee, or the beneficiaries claiming such property, are willing to charge themselves and to pay the collateral inheritance tax upon the full face value of such properties, as may be shown in their inventories, together with the interest or earnings which may be due on said properties, but in all cases the relief of such personal property from appraisal for the collateral inheritance tax is dependent upon the consent of the treasurer of state, and the subsequent approval thereof by the judge of the proper court. In the event that the estate has been duly appraised under the ordinary statutes of inheritance, and such appraisement is accepted by the treasurer of state as satisfactory for the collateral inheritance tax, the district court or judge of the proper court may, upon proper application relieve the estate from the appraisement by the collateral inheritance tax appraisers; but, in order to obtain such relief, the administrator, executor, trustee, or other party interested must file an application in the office of the clerk of the court for such relief before said clerk issues a commission to the collateral inheritance tax appraisers. The district court or judge of the proper court may, upon application of the representatives of the estate or parties interested, relieve the estate of the appraisement for collateral tax purposes if it be shown to said court that the market value of the entire estate subject to tax will not exceed one thousand dollars, provided, that, prior to the application to said court or judge, the written consent of the treasurer of state to such relief is procured. In all cases where an estate is relieved from an appraisement for collateral inheritance tax purposes, the fact of such relief and the reasons therefor shall be duly noted in the decree or order of final settlement made by the court. [28 G. A., ch. 51, § 5.]

SEC. 1476-b. Rules and regulations. The chief justice of the supreme court shall, prior to July first, 1898, appoint five of the district judges of the state to meet with him at Des Moines on a date to be by him fixed for the purpose of framing uniform rules and regulations, relative to the assessment and collection of the collateral inheritance tax, for the guidance of the district judges, officers of the court, executors and administrators. Said rules and regulations shall aim to give more publicity to the provisions of this chapter, and to secure the strict enforcement of the same, and when made shall form a part of and be published with the rules of the district courts of the state. [27 G. A., ch. 37, § 6.]

[See end of this chapter for rules and regulations adopted.]

SEC. 1477-a. Real estate. In all cases where real estate has been subject to or liable for the payment of the tax provided in this chapter, or where any real estate has heretofore been appraised and the tax not yet paid and the notice required in section one of this act was not given, it shall be the duty of the proper court, immediately upon the taking effect of this act, to enforce such tax, or to set aside any appraisement heretofore made, and order a re-appraisement of the same to be made as in this act provided, anything in the law to the contrary notwithstanding. [27 G. A., ch. 37, § 2.]

SEC. 1477-b. Corporate stock. If a foreign executor, administrator or trustee shall assign or transfer any corporate stock or obligations in this state standing in the name of a decedent, or in trust for a decedent, liable to such tax, the tax shall be paid to the treasurer of state on or before the transfer thereof; otherwise the corporation permitting its stock to be so transferred shall be liable to pay such tax and it is the duty of the treasurer of state to enforce the payment thereof. [27 G. A., ch. 37, § 3.]

SEC. 1477-c. Securities and assets. No safe deposit company, trust company, bank or other institution, person or persons holding securities or assets of the decedent shall deliver or transfer the same to the executor or administrator or legal representative of said decedent unless notice of the time and place of such intended transfer be served upon the state treasurer at least five days prior to the transfer thereof, or unless the tax for which such securities or assets are liable under chapter four (4), title seven (7) of the code shall be first paid. It shall be lawful for, and the duty, of the treasurer of state to personally, or by any person by him duly authorized, to examine such securities or assets at the time of such delivery or transfer. Failure to serve such notice upon the treasurer of state or to allow such examination on the delivery of such securities or assets to such executor, administrator or legal representative before said tax is paid shall render such safe deposit company, trust company, bank or other institution, person or persons liable for the payment of the taxes due upon such securities or assets as provided in said chapter four (4). [27 G. A., ch. 37, § 4.]

SEC. 1477-d. County attorney—compensation. It shall be the duty of the county attorney of each county to report to the treasurer of state the death of all persons whose estates are liable to payment of the collateral inheritance tax, and the description of any property located in the county liable to such tax, and to perform such further legal services in the enforcement of said tax as he may be directed to do by the treasurer of state, but such attorney shall have no authority to receipt for or receive any of such tax. For reporting such estates or property the county attorney shall receive a compensation of ten (10) per cent. of the tax payable to the state, but not to exceed the sum of twenty ($20) dollars in any one estate; and for additional legal services performed under the direction of the treasurer of state he shall be paid a compensation of three (3) per cent. on the amount of all taxes collected from estates so reported by him, but in no event shall the amount thereof exceed the sum of one hundred and fifty ($150) dollars from any one estate. When the treasurer of state is satisfied that an estate reported by the county attorney is liable to the tax he shall so certify to the auditor of state, who shall issue his warrant on the treasurer of state in favor of said county attorney for the sum due for reporting said estate as herein provided, and all other compensation shall be paid said county attorney in like manner when the tax is collected and paid into the state treasury. [27 G. A., ch. 37, § 7.]

SEC. 1477-e. Regulations as to fees of county attorneys. In the event of uncertainty or of conflicting claims as to fees due county attorneys, under section seven (7) of chapter thirty-seven (37) of the laws of the twenty-seventh general assembly, the treasurer of state is empowered to determine the amount of fees, under the limitations of said section, to whom payable, and when the same are due, and as far as possible such determination shall be in accord with fixed rules made by the state treasurer. [28 G. A., ch. 51, § 11.]

SEC. 1478-a. Reports to be filed with treasurer of state. Administrators, executors, and trustees of the estates subject to the collateral inheritance tax shall, when demanded by the treasurer of state, send to such treasurer certified copies of such parts of their reports as may be deemed [demanded] by the treasurer of state, and upon the refusal of said parties to comply with the demand of the treasurer of state, it is the duty of the clerk of the court to comply with such demand, and the expenses of making such copies and transcripts shall be charged against the estate, as are other costs in probate. [28 G. A., ch. 51, § 9.]

SEC. 1478-b. Compromise settlements. Whenever an estate charged, or sought to be charged, with the collateral inheritance tax is of such a nature, or is so disposed, that the liability of the estate is doubtful, or the value thereof cannot, with reasonable certainty, be ascertained under the provisions of law, the treasurer of state may, with the written approval of the attorney-general, which approval shall set forth the reasons therefor, compromise with the beneficiaries or representatives of such estates, and compound the tax thereon; but said settlement must be approved by the district court or judge of the proper court, and after such approval the payment of the amount of the taxes so agreed upon shall discharge the lien against the property of the estate. [28 G. A., ch. 51, § 8.]

SEC. 1478-c. Payment of costs. In any action where the state has been a party in enforcing the collection of the collateral inheritance tax, and a decision adverse to the state has been rendered, with an order that the state pay the costs it is the duty of the clerk of the court in which such action was pending to certify the amount of such costs to the treasurer of state, who shall, if said costs be correctly certified, and the case has been finally terminated, present the claim to the executive council to audit, and, said claim being allowed by said council, the auditor of state is directed to issue a warrant on the state treasurer in payment of such costs. [28 G. A., ch. 51, § 10.]

SEC. 1479-a. List of heirs. In all of the estates subject to the payment of the collateral inheritance tax it shall be the duty of the executor, administrator or trustee to furnish the clerk of the court a list of the heirs as required in section thirty-four hundred and twelve (3412) of the code and to state therein in a separate column the relationship which each heir, devisee or legatee bears to the decedent. The clerk of the court shall immediately forward a true copy of such list to the treasurer of state, and no final settlement of the account of any executor, administrator or trustee shall be accepted or allowed unless a strict compliance with the provisions of this section has been had by such person. [27 G. A., ch. 37, § 5.]

The duty imposed on the executor or administrator by the collateral inheritance tax law to file an inventory of real and personal property arises only when there is some property or interest passing under the will or by law which is subject to the payment of such tax. In re Estate of Stone, 132-136.

SEC. 1479-b. Date of filing inventories of personalty. Whenever, by reason of the complicated nature of an estate, or by reason of the confused condition of the decedent's affairs, it is impracticable for the executor, administrator, or trustee or beneficiary of said estate to file with the clerk of the court a full, complete, and itemized inventory of the personal assets belonging to the estate, within the time required by statute for filing inventories of the estates, the court may, upon the application of such representatives or parties in interest, extend the time for the filing of the collateral inheritance appraisalment for a period not to exceed three months beyond the time fixed by law. [28 G. A., ch. 51, § 6.]

TABLES FOR DETERMINING THE VALUATION OR PRESENT WORTH OF LIFE AND TERM ESTATES OR ANNUITIES AND REMAINDERS OR REVERSIONARY INTERESTS COMPUTED AT FOUR PER CENT. PER ANNUM FOR THE USE OF THE COURTS OF IOWA IN THE ASSESSMENT OF THE COLLATERAL INHERITANCE TAX.

STATE OF IOWA,
TREASURY DEPARTMENT,
DES MOINES, July 15, 1900.

Section seven (7) of chapter fifty-one (51) of the acts of the twenty-eighth (28) general assembly provides:

"The treasurer of state is directed to obtain and publish for the use of the courts and appraisers throughout the state tables showing the average expectancy of life and the values of annuities of life and term estates, and the present worth or value of remainders and reversions. The taxable value of life or term, deferred or future estates shall be computed at the rate of 4 per cent. interest."

Pursuant to the foregoing provisions, the following tables for determining the taxable value, namely, the present worth, of life estates or annuities and remainders or reversionary interests are hereby published and promulgated for the use of the courts and appraisers of the state.

Table I gives the basis for valuing "Life Estates" or annuities, the proceeds of which the beneficiary enjoys during his or her life.

Table II relates to "Term Estates" or annuities terminable at a certain period, definitely stated in the provisions of the instrument creating the estate.

The tables printed herein are those used by the United States government in the assessment of the inheritance tax under the war revenue act of June 13, 1898, prepared for the internal revenue service under the direction of the government actuary, Mr. J. S. McCoy. They are based upon the "Actuaries or Combined Experience Tables," money being considered worth four (4) per cent. per annum. Both the tables and notes are reproduced from circulars No. 527, March, 1899, and No. 21,231, December, 1899, issued by the commissioner of internal revenue.

The treasurer of state is indebted to Honorable G. W. Wilson, commissioner of internal revenue at Washington, D. C., for permission to reprint and use the tables employed by the national government, and he desires here to acknowledge the courtesy and the very valuable favor rendered by him.

JOHN HERRIOTT,
Treasurer of State of Iowa.

EXPLANATORY NOTES AND EXAMPLES.

The first column shows the age of the person under consideration.

The second column shows the corresponding "mean redemption period" and represents the time in years in which the present values of annuities and reversions certain will become equal, respectively, to the present value of annuities and reversions contingent on the duration of life. The "mean redemption period" is a mean between the last payment of the annuity and the payment of the reversion, averaging six months later than the former payment and six months earlier than the latter payment. (This period is ordinarily designated the expectancy of life during which a beneficiary will enjoy the life estate.)

The third column shows the present value of an annuity for life of one dollar per annum, the last payment being made at the end of the year prior to the one in which death occurs. The fourth column shows the present worth of one dollar payable at the end of the year in which death occurs.

EXAMPLE 1.

A person dying bequeaths to his nephew, aged forty years, an annuity of one thousand dollars during life. What is the present value of the annuity?

Reference to the foregoing table shows that the present value of one dollar a year, payable at the end of each year during the life of a person aged forty years, is fifteen dollars nine cents two mills and ninety-five one-hundredths of a mill ($15.09295); therefore, the present value of one thousand dollars is one thousand times as much, or fifteen thousand and ninety-two dollars and ninety-five cents, the amount upon which tax accrues.

EXAMPLE 2.

A person dying bequeaths to his sister, aged thirty-five years, a life interest in personal property amounting to fifty thousand dollars ($50,000.00), the estate to revert absolutely at her death to other collateral parties. Required the present value, at the date of death of the testator, of the life interest of the sister in the estate; also, required at the same date, the present value of the reversionary interest of said other parties in the estate.

At a net interest of four per cent. per annum, the assumed rate, the estate of $50,000.00 will realize an income or annuity of $2,000.00 per annum. The present value of the sum of $1.00, payable at the end of each year during the life of a person aged thirty-five years, is found by the table to be $16, 14437, and the present value of an annuity of $2,000.00 for the same time would be two thousand times as much, or $32,288.74, the amount upon which tax accrues.

The reversion or present value of $1.00, due at the end of the year of death of a person aged thirty-five years, is found by the table to be $0.34060, and such value of $50,000.00 would be fifty thousand times as much, or $17,030.00, the amount upon which tax accrues.

EXAMPLE.

A man dies leaving personal property to the amount of $50,000.00. His niece is to have the income from it for 20 years, it then to revert to his youngest brother. What is the present worth of these legacies?

The income of $50,000.00 would be $2,000.00 per annum, assuming money at 4 per cent.

The present worth of an annuity of $2,000.00 for 20 years will be 2,000 times an annuity of $1.00 for 20 years. In the table opposite 20 we find the value of an annuity of $1.00 to be $13.59032, therefore the present worth of an annuity of $2,000.00 will be $27,180.64.

A reversion of $1.00 at the end of 20 years is shown by the table to be $0.456387, and a reversion of $50,000.00 will be 50,000 times as much, or $22,819.35.

STATE OF IOWA,
TREASURY DEPARTMENT,

If it appears from the inventory or report so filed, that the real estate, or any part of it, is subject to an inheritance tax it shall be the duty of the executor or administrator to cause the lien of the same to be entered upon the lien book in the office of the clerk of the court in each county where each particular tract of said real estate is situated.

RULE 3.

Duties of the clerk. The clerk shall from time to time enter upon the collateral inheritance tax and lien book, the title of all estates subject to the inheritance tax, as shown by the inventories or lists of heirs filed in his office, or as reported to him by the county attorney or the treasurer of state, and shall enter in said book as against each estate or title at the appropriate place, all such information relating to the situation and condition of the estate as he may be able to obtain from the papers filed in his office, or from the county attorney or the treasurer of state, as may be necessary to the collection and enforcement of the tax. He shall also immediately index all liens entered upon the collateral inheritance tax and lien book in the book kept in his office for that purpose.

Should any estate, or the name of any grantee or grantees, be placed upon the book at the suggestion of the county attorney or the treasurer of state, in which the papers already on file in the clerk's office do not disclose that an inheritance tax is due or payable, the county attorney shall forthwith give to all parties in interest, such notice as the court or judge may prescribe, requiring them to appear on a day to be fixed by the said court or judge, and show cause why the property should not be appraised and subjected to said tax. If upon hearing at the time so fixed, the court is satisfied that any property of the decedent, or any property devised, granted or donated by him, is subject to the tax, the same proceedings shall be had as in other cases, so far as applicable.

RULE 4.

Appointment of appraisers. At the first term of court in each county, after the publication of these rules, and annually thereafter, the court shall appoint three competent residents and freeholders of said county, to act as appraisers of all property within its jurisdiction, which is charged or sought to be charged with a collateral inheritance tax. Said appraisers shall serve for one year, and until their successors are appointed and qualified. They shall each take an oath to faithfully and impartially perform the duties of the office, but shall not be required to give bond. They shall be subject to removal at any time at the discretion of the court, and the court, or a judge thereof in vacation, may also, in its discretion, either before or after the appointment of the regular appraisers, appoint other appraisers.

to act in any given case. Vacancies occurring otherwise than by expiration of term, shall be filled by the appointment of the court, or by a judge in vacation.

RULE 5.

Duties of appraisers. When an estate is opened in which there is property which may be subject to the inheritance tax, the clerk shall forthwith issue a commission to the appraisers, who shall fix a time and place for appraisal, and if not practicable to serve the notice provided for by statute, they shall apply to the court or judge for an order as to notice, and upon service of such notice and the making of such appraisal, the said notice, return thereon and appraisal shall be filed with the clerk, and a copy of such appraisal shall be filed by the clerk with the treasurer of state.

Any person interested may, within twenty days thereafter, file objections to said appraisal or taxation, and the same shall then stand for trial and further proceedings as provided by statute. If upon such hearing the court finds that the property is not subject to the tax, the court shall upon expiration of time for appeal, when no appeal has been taken, order the clerk to enter upon the lien book a cancellation of any claim or lien for taxes.

Duty of county attorney. It shall be the duty of each county attorney to make examination from time to time of all reports filed with the clerk by administrators, executors, and trustees, pursuant to law or the provisions of these rules; also to make examination of all foreign wills offered for probate or recorded within his county, as well as of the records of deeds and conveyances in the recorder's office of said county, and if from such examination, or from information or knowledge coming to him from any other source, he finds or believes that any property within his county, or within the jurisdiction of the district court of said county, has since July 4, 1896, passed by will or by the intestate laws of this or any other state, or by deed, grant, sale, or gift made or intended to take effect, in possession or enjoyment after the death of the testator, donor or grantor, to any person other than to or for the use of the father, mother, husband, wife, lineal descendant, adopted child, the lineal descendant of an adopted child of a decedent, or to or for charitable, educational or religious societies, or institutions within this state, he shall make report thereof in writing to the clerk of the district court, embodying in such report, so far as he is able, all the facts mentioned in rule 2 of these rules, and cause the notice required by rule 3 hereof to be properly given and returned.

Any citizen of the state having knowledge of property liable to such tax, against which no proceeding for enforcing collection thereof is pending, may report the same to the county attorney, and it shall be the duty of such officer to investigate the case, and if he has reason to believe the information to be true, he shall forthwith institute such proceedings substantially as above indicated. He shall also advise and assist the clerk and appraisers in the discharge of their duties in cases of this nature, and see that notices required by law and these rules are properly made, served and returned.

RULE 7.

Duty of court. On the first or second day of each regular term, the court shall require the clerk to present for its inspection, the inheritance tax and lien book hereinbefore provided for, together with all reports of administrators, executors and trustees which have been filed pursuant to these rules, since the last preceding term. The county attorney shall also attend and make report to the court concerning the progress of all cases pending for the collection of such taxes, together with any other facts, which, in his judgment, may aid the court in enforcing the general observance of the collateral inheritance tax law. If from information obtained from the records or reports, or from any other source, the court has reason to believe that there is property within its jurisdiction liable to the payment of an inheritance tax, against which proceedings for collection are not already pending, it shall enter an order of record, directing the county attorney to institute such proceedings forthwith.

RULE 8.

Record. In all cases entered upon the inheritance tax and lien book, the clerk shall make a complete record in the proper probate record, of all the proceedings, orders, reports, inventory, appraisements and all other matters and proceedings therein.

RULE 9.

Costs. In all cases where property is found to be liable to taxation under the inheritance tax law, all costs of the proceedings had for the assessment of such tax shall be chargeable to such property, and to discharge the lien upon such property all costs, as well as the taxes, must be paid. In all other cases the costs are to be paid as ordered by the court.

RULE 10.

Books and blanks. The book herein provided for, and all blanks to be used in carrying out the provisions of the law and of these rules, shall be in form to be approved by the chief justice of the supreme court, which form shall be furnished to the clerk of each county by the treasurer of state.

It shall be the duty of the state treasurer to give such publicity to these rules, and the provision of the statute regarding the collection of such tax, as may by him be deemed advisable and practicable.

RULE 11.

Construction. These rules are not to be construed as in any manner superseding any of the requirements of the statute governing the levy and collection of collateral inheritance taxes, or as relieving executors, administrators, trustees or officers of court, or any of them, from a strict observance of all the duties which such statute imposes upon them.

These rules shall be in full force and effect from and after the 4th day of July, 1898.

BE IT REMEMBERED, that the above and foregoing rules were adopted this 11th day of June, 1898, by the following: H. E. Deemer, chief justice of the supreme court of Iowa; S. M. Weaver, judge of the eleventh judicial district of Iowa; L. E. Fellows, judge of the thirteenth judicial district of Iowa; H. M. Towner, judge of the third judicial district of Iowa; Z. A. Church, judge of the sixteenth judicial district of Iowa; M. J. Wade, judge of the eighth judicial district of Iowa. Said district judges having been appointed by the said chief justice of the supreme court, pursuant to section six, chapter thirty-seven of the acts of the twenty-seventh general assembly of the state of Iowa.

Witness my hand the 11th day of June, 1898.

Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Iowa.

Attest: M. J. WADE, Secretary.

TITLE VIII.

OF ROADS, BRIDGES AND FERRIES, AND THE DESTRUCTION OF THISTLES.

CHAPTER 1.

OF THE ESTABLISHMENT, ALTERATION AND VACATION OF ROADS.

SECTION 1482. Jurisdiction over.

Jurisdiction: The board of supervisors is without jurisdiction to establish a highway within the limits of an incorporated town. Philbrick v. University Place, 106-352.

The action of the board of supervisors in vacating a portion of a highway cannot be questioned by mandamus against a road supervisor to compel him to remove obstructions from the portion of the highway vacated. Sullivan v. Robbins, 109-235.

The fact that the board vacates a portion of the highway, so as to leave the remainder less than forty feet in width is not such an irregularity as can be taken advantage of in a collateral proceeding. Ibid.

The right to the highway vests in the public generally, and but for statutory provisions, giving the board of supervisors power to establish, maintain and discontinue highways, such power would be in the state, which is the representative of the general public. Dickinson County v. Fouse, 112-21.

Dedication: The execution and filing with the county judge of an instrument giving or offering to give a right of way for a highway which was thereafter abandoned, held sufficient to show a dedication. Agne v. Seitsinger, 104-482.

No particular form is necessary for the dedication of land for a highway, the vital question as against the owner being whether the animus dedicandi may be inferred from the facts proven; and held that the signature of the owner to a petition to the board of supervisors to lay out a highway was admissible as tending to show an intent to dedicate, although the board of supervisors were without jurisdiction in the matter. Philbrick v. University Place, 106-352.

While it is well settled that the dedication of a highway or street must be accepted to be effectual, nevertheless the public or a city or town may be estopped by its conduct to open a street or highway which has been closed or occupied for many years by a private person under a claim of right. Uptagraff v. Smith, 106-385.

To establish a highway by prescription there must be a general uninterrupted public use under a claim of right, continued for the statutory period. The mere fact that neighbors and those owning adjoining lands were permitted to use the way for hauling wood and otherwise, is not sufficient to show a dedication to public use. Fairchild v. Stewart, 117-734.

Evidence in a particular case held not sufficient to show dedication of a highway. Fountain v. Keen, 116-406.

Adverse possession: Mere non-user will not operate to discontinue a legally established highway unless there has been such long-continued adverse possession or transfer of the land by purchase and sale as that justice demands the public should be estopped from asserting the right to open it up. Bradley v. Appanoose County, 106-105.

Where an adjacent owner fenced up the highway, claiming that it had been discontinued by reason of proceedings to relocate, and had exclusive possession by virtue of such acts, continued for ten years, held that the public was barred from asserting any rights thereto. Rector v. Christy, 114-471.

SEC. 1483. Repeal—width of roads. That section fourteen hundred and eighty-three (1483) of the code, be and the same is hereby repealed, and the following enacted in lieu thereof:

“Roads hereafter established, unless otherwise fixed by the board, shall be at least sixty-six feet wide, and in no case less than forty; within these limits they may be increased or diminished in width, altered in direction, or vacated, by pursuing the course prescribed in this chapter; provided, however, that said board may locate and establish consent roads, at its discretion, at a minimum width of not less than thirty feet. [32 G. A., ch. 64.]

Where there is no record as to the width of the highway established, it will be presumed that it is sixty-six feet in width. Biglow v. Ritter, 131-213.

less width than sixty-six feet, if the evidence shows the use to have been restricted to a less width. Haan v. Meester, 132-709.

A highway by prescription may be of

SEC. 1487. Expediency.

Where the opening of a road will require the removal of buildings, the property owner having due notice may waive objection to the opening of the highway on that ground and claim compensation by way of damages. Stronsky v. Hickman, 116-651.

SEC. 1489. Survey made—commissioner sworn.

It is only when the precise location cannot be given otherwise in his report that the commissioner is bound to cause the line thereof to be surveyed and plainly marked. Palmer v. Clark, 114-558.

SEC. 1495. Notice served. Within twenty days after the day is fixed by the auditor as above provided, a notice shall be served on each owner of land lying in the proposed road, or abutting thereon, as shown by the transfer books in the auditor's office, who resides in the county, in the manner provided for the service of original notices. If the owner of the land as thus shown does not reside in the county, similar notice shall be served upon any person who is in the actual occupancy of such land. In any case, notice shall be published, once each week, for four weeks in some newspaper printed in the county. The notice may be in the following form:

To all whom it may concern: The commissioner appointed to locate, vacate, or alter (as the case may be) a road commencing at.....in..... county, running thence (describe in general terms all the points as in the commissioner's report, giving the names of the owners of the land through which the proposed road passes as they appear upon the transfer books of the auditor's office) and terminating at....., has reported in favor of the establishment, vacation, or alteration thereof, and all objections thereto, or claims for damages, must be filed in the auditor's office on or before noon of the.....day of....., A. D....., or such road will be established, vacated, or altered without reference thereto.

County Auditor.

[19 G. A., ch. 109; C., '73, § 936.]

[30 G. A., ch. 2, § 4.]

The notice required by this section is for the purpose of giving the owners of land living or abutting on the road an opportunity to object to the establishment or vacation thereof, or to present their claims for damages. One who has signed a petition asking that action be taken cannot object for want of notice to him. Sullivan v. Robbins, 109-235.

Where the property owner has due notice he may interpose the objection that the opening of the highway will necessitate the removal of buildings, or he may waive that objection and demand compensation by way of damages. Stronsky v. Hickman, 116-651.

A notice to non-residents of the establishment of a highway which is such as might have been authorized by the legislature may be made sufficient by a legalizing act, although not sufficient under the statute in force when it was given. Fair v. Buss, 117-164.

A general order of the board of supervisors for the opening of highways along all section lines in the county with notice simply, "to whom it may concern" is insufficient and the subsequent abandonment of one of the highways claimed to have been thus established may be shown. Hatch v. Barnes, 124-251.

SEC. 1501. Final action.

The board of supervisors has discretion in determining whether a highway shall be established, even where its establishment is asked by consent. Perry v. Board of Supervisors, 133-281.

The board having acquired jurisdiction to establish a highway, every presumption thereafter is in favor of the legality of its proceedings. Biglow v. Ritter, 131-213.

Where the establishment of a highway is ordered by the board of supervisors on condition that the costs and damages be paid by the petitioner, it does not become a legal highway until such conditions are complied with. Kirkhart v. Roberts, 123-137.

A highway established by an unauthorized general order for the establishment of highways along all county section lines and without proper notice may be subsequently abandoned so that a legalizing act will not render the original establishment valid. Hatch v. Barnes, 124-251.

While an alteration of the road may involve the discontinuance of that part which is altered, it will not result in discontinuance of a portion of the old road which is not rendered unnecessary by reason of the change. Rector v. Christy, 114-471.

The right to vacate a public highway is different from that of a city to vacate a street which it has accepted by dedication. Long v. Wilson, 119-267.

A highway outside of the limits of a city or town can only be vacated by the order of the county board of supervisors. Chrisman v. Omaha & Council Bluffs R. & B. Co., 125-133.

SEC. 1508. In cities or towns.

The statutory provisions as to highways relate to the streets of cities and towns so far as they are applicable. Newton v. Board of Supervisors, 112 N. W. 167.

The streets of a city or town plat are county highways and on the termination of the corporate capacity of the city or town pass completely under the control of the board of supervisors. Chrisman v. Brandes, 112 N. W. 833.

SEC. 1510. County line roads.

A highway cannot be considered as established by joint action of two boards of supervisors where the action of each board is independent in character and in fact separated from that of the other board by a considerable interval of time. Lamansky v. Williams, 125-578.

While the statute does not expressly mention bridges in connection with the provisions for county line roads to be established by the joint action of the boards of supervisors of two adjoining counties, the provisions of such statute are equally applicable to the proceedings under Code § 424, to construct a bridge across an unnavigable stream which is the boundary line of the counties. Bremer County v. Walstead, 130-164.

SEC. 1511. General control—concurrent action.

The fact that the boards of supervisors of adjoining counties have each, by independent action, established highways in their respective counties which are continuous with each other, does not necessitate joint action of the two boards in the vacation of that portion of the continuous highway located in one county. Lamansky v. Williams, 125-578.

The fact that the same petition for vacation was presented to the two boards does not preclude final action being taken by one board with reference to the portion of the highway located in its county, in case the independent action of such board would in itself be proper. Ibid.

SEC. 1513. Appeals—from what taken.

The appeal in a proceeding for the establishment of a highway is from the final decision of the board. While the damages are assessed in the first instance by the appraisers, the finding may be reviewed by the board, and the damages be increased or diminished. Henderson v. Calhoun County, 129-119.

Appeal does not lie from the order establishing a highway, but only from the award of damages. In re Application of Dugan, 129-241.

A notice of appeal will be liberally construed, and if it is sufficiently definite for a reasonably certain identification of the judgment, order or decision appealed from, it is good. Ibid.

SEC. 1516. Proceedings in court.

It is only upon a matter of damages in road cases. In re Bradley, 108-476. that a claimant is entitled to a jury trial

SEC. 1520. Proceedings—record.

The record of a second survey is not sufficient to establish a relocation of the highway where the surveyor does not make use of the field notes of the highway as originally established and the field notes attached to his survey do not purport to be those of a resurvey. Caulkins v. Ward, 127-609.

SEC. 1527-a. Purchase or condemnation of land. The board of supervisors at any regular meeting shall have the power to purchase or provide for the condemnation of, pay for out of the county bridge fund, enter upon and take any land necessary for the purpose of preventing the encroachment of a navigable or non-navigable stream on a public highway, and for the purpose of straightening or altering a public highway when any such stream has encroached thereon, or some other condition in the highway exists that would, in the judgment of the board, render it necessary or advisable to straighten or alter the same, and the proceedings for condemnation of land as contemplated in this act shall be in accordance with the provisions relating to taking private property for works of internal improvement. [32 G. A., ch. 65.]

SEC. 1527-b. Supervisors may grant use of highway—damages. Upon application to the board of supervisors of any county by any municipality for permission to construct its water mains and lay its pipes in the public highway from such municipality to its reservoir, the said board may grant the same upon condition that it shall not in any manner interfere with the public travel. The applicant shall be responsible for all damages that may arise from such construction, or from the same not being kept in repair. [32 G. A., ch. 66.]

CHAPTER 2.
OF WORKING ROADS.

SECTION 1528. Powers and duties of trustees. The township trustees of each township shall meet on the first Monday in April, or as soon thereafter as the assessment book is received by the township clerk, and on the first Monday in November, in each year. At the April meeting, said trustees shall determine:

1. The rate of property tax to be levied for the succeeding year for roads, bridges, guideboards, plows, scrapers, tools, and machinery adapted to the construction and repair of roads, and for the payment of any indebtedness previously incurred for road purposes, and levy the same, which shall not be less than one nor more than four mills on the dollar on the amount of the township assessment for that year, which, when collected, shall be expended under the direction and order of the township trustees;

2. The amount that will be allowed for a day's labor done by a man, and by a man and team, on the road. To certify to the board of supervisors the desire for an additional road tax, of not to exceed one mill, to be levied in whole or in part by the board of supervisors as hereinafter provided. At the November meeting, they shall settle with the township clerk and supervisors of roads. [26 G. A., ch. 43; 25 G. A., ch. 22; C., '73, §§ 969, 971; R., §§ 880, 891, 895; C., '51, § 568.] [29 G. A., ch. 53, § 3.] [29 G. A., ch. 64, § 1.]

There is no obligation on the part of the county to keep the highways in repair. Wilson v. Wapello County, 129-77.

The board of supervisors has no authority to purchase machinery out of the road tax with which to work the roads. Harrison County v. Ogden, 133-9.

The board cannot incur obligations payable in the future out of the road fund. Ibid.

The county is not estopped by the unauthorized acts of its officers incurring indebtedness payable out of such fund, nor in attempting to ratify unlawful obligations already entered into. Ibid.

SEC. 1530. County road fund—how levied and paid out. The board of supervisors of each county shall, at the time of levying taxes for other purposes, levy a tax of not more than one mill on the dollar of the assessed value of the taxable property in its county, including all taxable property in cities and incorporated towns, which shall be collected at the same time and in the same manner as other taxes, and be known as the county road fund, and paid out only on the order of the board for the purchase of road tools or machinery or for work done on the roads of the county in such places as it shall determine. Provided that on written petition of a majority of the electors who are freeholders of any township in any county, the board of supervisors may levy an additional mill in said township, to be expended by said board of supervisors on roads in township where same is levied; but so much of the county road fund as arises from property within any city or incorporated town, except such pro rata share as may have been expended by the board for the purchase or road tools or machinery, shall be expended on the roads or streets within such city or town, or on the roads adjacent thereto, under the direction of the city or town council; and the county treasurer shall receive the same compensation for collecting this tax as he does for collecting corporation taxes. Moneys so collected shall not be transferable to any other fund nor used for any other purpose. The board of supervisors shall levy such an additional sum for the benefit of such townships as shall have certified a desire for such additional levy, as provided for in section fifteen hundred and twenty-eight of this chapter; but the amount for the general township fund and the county road fund shall not exceed in any year five mills on the dollar. [25 G. A., ch. 22; 20 G. A., ch. 200, § 1.] [29 G. A., ch. 65, § 1.] [31 G. A., ch. 56.] [32 G. A., ch. 67.]

This section contemplates the levying of such tax upon the property within city limits, as well as upon other property in the county, although the tax is not to be expended within the city limits. Chicago, R. I. & P. Co. v. Murphy, 106-43.

The part of the road fund collected within a city must be expended on the roads in and about the city as directed by the city council. Newton v. Board of Supervisors, 112 N. W. 167.

SEC. 1532-a. Repeal—consolidation of township into one road district. That section one thousand five hundred and thirty-two (1532) of the code be, and the same is, hereby repealed, and the following enacted as a substitute therefor: The board of township trustees of each civil township in this state, at its regular meeting in April, 1903, shall consolidate said township into one road district, and all road funds belonging to the road districts of said township shall at once become a general township road fund, out of which all claims for work done or material furnished for road purposes prior to the change, and unsettled, shall be paid. [20 G. A., ch. 200 §§ 4, 11.] [29 G. A., ch. 53, § 4.]

SEC. 1533. Duty of trustees—road superintendents. Where the one road district plan is adopted, the board of township trustees shall order and direct the expenditure of the road funds and labor belonging or owing to the township; may let, by contract, to the lowest responsible, competent bidder, any part or all of the work on the roads for the current year, or may appoint not to exceed four superintendents of roads, to oversee, subject to the direction of the board, all or any part of the work, but it shall not incur an indebtedness for such purposes unless the same has been or shall at the time be provided for by an authorized levy; and shall order the township road tax for the succeeding year paid in money and collected by the county treasurer. It shall cause both the property and poll road tax to be equitably and judiciously expended for road purposes in the entire road district; shall cause at least seventy-five per cent. of the township road tax locally assessed to be thus expended by the fifteenth day of July in each year; shall cause the noxious weeds growing in the roads to be cut twice a year, when necessary, and at such times as to prevent their seeding, and it may allow any land owner a reasonable compensation for the destruction thereof, when growing in the roads abutting upon his land. If a superintendent, or superintendents of roads be employed, it shall fix the term of office, which shall not exceed one year, and compensation, which shall not exceed three dollars a day; and no contract shall be made without reserving the right of the board to dispense with his services at its pleasure. [20 G. A., ch. 200, §§ 5-10, 17.] [29 G. A., ch. 53, § 5.] [29 G. A., ch. 64, § 2.] [30 G. A., ch. 50, § 2.] [31 G. A., ch. 57.] [31 G. A., ch. 50, § 1.]

[The amendment by the 30 G. A., chapter 50, and the amendment by 31 G. A., chapter 58, struck out the words "as other taxes" in line 10, except the amendment by 30 G. A. ignored code supplement where the section appeared.]

The trustees are vested with authority to appoint the road superintendent and fix his compensation, and are prohibited by Code Supp., § 468-a from making contracts with him as individuals to furnish labor or material for the township. State v. York, 131-635.

Where the township trustees had executed a note for road machinery intended only to bind the township, but so executed as to make them individually liable, held that they might by way of equitable defense ask a reformation of that instrument so as to make it correspond to the intention of the parties. Western Wheel-er & Scraper Co. v. Stickleman, 122-396.

SEC. 1538. Compensation of trustees, treasurer and clerk. The trustees shall receive the same compensation per day for time necessarily spent in looking after the roads as they do for other township business; the county treasurer shall receive the same per cent. for collecting the road taxes here contemplated that he does for collecting corporation taxes. [20 G. A., ch. 200, § 13.] [31 G. A., ch. 59.]

SEC. 1540-a. Repeal—tax list. That section one thousand five hundred and forty (1540) of the code, is hereby repealed, and the following enacted as a substitute therefor:

"He shall, within four weeks after the trustees have levied the property road tax for the succeeding year, certify said levy to the county auditor, who shall enter it upon the tax books for collection by the county treasurer who shall collect in one installment and pay the same over to the clerk of the township entitled thereto. And he shall, not later than the fifteenth day of April, make out and deliver to the superintendent of roads a list of all persons required to pay road poll tax under the provisions of this act. To enable him to make out such list, the assessor shall furnish the clerk of said township, before the first day of April of each year, a complete copy of the assessment lists of said township for that year, which shall be the basis of such poll tax list. Provided, that the property road tax for the year 1903, shall be levied as heretofore, that it shall be paid in cash and shall be collected by the superintendent of roads appointed by the trustees or the township clerk, as the board of trustees shall determine and direct. Provided, further, that all delinquent road tax for the year 1903, shall be certified to the county auditor by the clerk of each township, for collection as provided by section one thousand five hundred and forty-two (1542) of the code, as amended by this act." [C., '73, § 973; R., § 892.] [29 G. A., ch. 53, § 6.] [31 G. A., ch. 58, § 2.]

SEC. 1541-a. Repeal. That section one thousand five hundred and forty-one (1541) of the code be, and the same is hereby repealed. [29 G. A., ch. 53, § 7.]

SEC. 1542-a. Repeal—delinquent tax certified. That section fifteen hundred and forty-two (1542) of the code be repealed and the following enacted in lieu of the same:

Section 1542. He shall, on or before the second Monday of November of each year, make out a certified list of all property, including lands, town lots, personal property and property otherwise assessed, including assessments by the executive council on which the road tax has not been paid in full, and the amount of the tax charged on each separate assessment or parcel of said property, designating the district in which the same is situated and transmit the same to the county auditor, who shall enter the amount of tax on the lists the same as other taxes, and deliver the same to the county treasurer, charging him therewith which shall be collected in the same manner as county taxes are collected. In case the township clerk shall fail or neglect to make such return, he shall forfeit and pay to the township for road purposes a sum equal to the amount of tax on said property, which may be collected by an action on his bond. [29 G. A., ch. 64, § 3.]

[Section 1542 was first repealed by 29 G. A., chapter 64, section 3, which act was approved March 25, 1902, and took effect by publication March 27, 1902, while section 8 of chapter 53, acts of the 29 G. A., which took effect July 4, 1902, attempts to amend the original section 1542.]

SEC. 1545. Superintendent—qualification. Each road superintendent or contractor shall give bond in such sum and with such security as the township clerk may require (but in no case shall a township trustee sign such bond as surety), conditioned that he will faithfully and impartially perform all the duties required of him, and devote all moneys that may come into his hands by virtue of his office, according to law. Provided that when there is more than one occupant the superintendent may decide to which the preference shall be given. Reasonable compensation shall be allowed for such work, but in no case shall it exceed fifty cents per mile for each time same is dragged; and there shall not be expended therefor more than five dollars ($5) per mile for any mile on which said work is done during any one year. [31 G. A., ch. 63, § 1.]

In crossing any bridge or culvert in the public road, or plank street-crossing in any city or town, four sound strong planks not less than twelve feet long, each one foot wide and two inches thick, shall be used, by placing and keeping continuously two of them under the wheels. The violation of the statutory provision requiring that planks be placed under a steam engine crossing a bridge will not defeat recovery by the owner for injuries resulting from defects in the bridge for which the county is liable, if the failure to comply with the statute has not directly constituted to the injury. Tackett v. Taylor County, 123-149.

[30 G. A., ch. 53, § 7.]

SEC. 1571-h. Regulations. No person shall operate a motor vehicle on a public highway at a rate of speed greater than is reasonable and proper, having regard to the traffic and use of the highway, or so as to endanger the life or limb of any person, or in any event in the closely built up portions of a city, town or village, at a greater rate than one (1) mile in six (6) minutes, or elsewhere in a city, town or village at a greater rate than one (1) mile in four (4) minutes, or elsewhere outside of a city town or village at a greater average rate than twenty (20) miles per hour; subject, however, to the other provisions of this section. [30 G. A., ch. 53, § 8.]

The statute expressly authorizes the use of automobiles on the highways, and confers on the operators of such vehicles the same rights in the roads and streets as are accorded to the drivers of other vehicles. House v. Cramer, 112 N. W. 3.

But the operator of an automobile is liable for damages resulting from his negligence in not exercising care to avoid frightening horses. Ibid.

SEC. 1571-i. Caution—signals. Any person operating a motor vehicle shall, at request or on signal by putting up the hand, from a person riding

SEC. 1571-k. Powers of cities and towns. Cities and towns shall have no power to pass, enforce or maintain any ordinance, rule or regulation requiring of any owner or operator of a motor vehicle any license or permit to use the public highways or excluding or prohibiting any motor vehicle whose owner has complied with section two (2) or section four (4) of this act from the free use of such highway, and all such ordinances, rules or regulations now in force are hereby declared to be of no validity or effect; provided that nothing in this act shall be construed as limiting the power of local authorities to make, enforce and maintain ordinances, rules or regulations, in addition to the provisions of this act, affecting motor vehicles which are offered to the public for hire. [30 G. A., ch. 53, § 11.]

SEC. 1571-l. Penalties. [30 G. A., ch. 53, § 12.]

TITLE IX.

OF CORPORATIONS.

CHAPTER 1.

OF CORPORATIONS FOR PECUNIARY PROFIT.

SECTION 1609. Powers.

Par. 2. Name: To make notice to a corporation which is named only by the initials of its corporate name sufficient it must appear that at the time such notice was given the corporation was commonly known and customarily referred to by such abbreviations. Chicago, B. & Q. R. Co. v. Kelley, 105-106.

Par. 5. Exemption of property: The provisions of the articles in a particular case held sufficient to exempt private property of the stockholders in a mutual insurance company from liability for debts of the corporation, although there was a provision by which such property should be liable for money advanced to creating a guaranty fund. Smith v. Sherman, 113-601.

Corporations may be legally organized whose articles do not exempt private property of its stockholders from liability for corporate debts. Berkson v. Anderson, 115-674.

Par. 6. Powers: The powers given by statute to corporations are not required to be enumerated in its articles, and an omission to claim any such powers in the articles would not leave the corporation without such powers. Sioux City Terminal R. & W. Co. v. Trust Co., 82 Fed. 124.

When the state courts have determined the extent of the powers and liabilities of corporations created under the state law, their decision is conclusive in the federal courts in cases involving no question of general or commercial law and no federal question. Ibid.

A corporation is itself a franchise, and the different powers which may be exercised by the corporation are also franchises. Thus, the right given to a corporation to supply a city with water and of occupying the streets for that purpose, may be spoken of as a franchise. But such a privilege is not in the strict sense of the word a corporate franchise. Cedar Rapids Water Co. v. Cedar Rapids, 118-234.

One who becomes shareholder in a corporation thereby assents to the transaction of business expressly or impliedly authorized by its charter. Traer v. Lucas Prospecting Co., 124-107.

The corporation does not necessarily have all the powers which by statute are within the scope of corporate powers, but only such powers within the statutory scope as are given by the articles of incorporation. Ibid.

While as a general rule a corporation may not sell any part or all of its property for other than a cash consideration unless authorized by charter, yet where the company was authorized by its articles to purchase, sell and deal in corporate stocks of corporations authorized to conduct mining operations, but had not power to carry on business of mining, the power to exchange its property or sell it for stock in a corporation which should engage in the business of mining was clearly implied. Ibid.

A trading corporation unless prohibited by its charter may buy and sell the stock of another corporation. Ibid.

The articles contain the terms of agreement between the company and its stockholders and are to be construed in accordance with the general laws relating to charter grants and legislative power. By accepting stock in the corporation, the stockholder assents to the terms and conditions found in the articles. Dempster Mfg. Co. v. Downs, 126-80.

A corporation may hold real or personal property in trust for any purpose that is not foreign to the business for which it was created, and a court of equity will enforce such trust. State v. Higby Co., 130-69.

Par. 7. By-laws: By-laws may be binding on a corporation, although informally adopted, if recognized and acted upon by it. Smith v. Sherman, 113-601.

SEC. 1610. Articles adopted and recorded—fees to state. Before commencing any business except their own organization, they must adopt articles of incorporation, which must be signed and acknowledged by the incorporators, recorded in the office of the recorder of deeds of the county where the principal place of business is to be, in a book kept therefor, and the recorder must, within five days thereafter, indorse thereon the time when the same were filed, and the book and page where the record will be found. Said articles thus indorsed shall then be forwarded to the secretary of state, and be by him recorded in a book kept for that purpose. Such corporation shall pay to the secretary of state, before a certificate of incorporation is issued, a fee of twenty-five dollars, and, for all authorized stock in excess of ten thousand dollars, an additional fee of one dollar per thousand. Should any corporation increase its capital stock, it shall pay a fee to the secretary of state of one dollar for each one thousand dollars of such increase. The recording fee shall be paid in all cases. Farmers' mutual co-operative creamery associations and corporations organized for the manufacture of sugar from beets grown in the state of Iowa, shall be exempt from the payment of the incorporation fee provided herein. When articles of incorporation are presented to the secretary of state for the purpose of being filed, if he is satisfied that they are in proper form to meet the requirements of law, that their object is a lawful one and not against public policy, that their plan for doing business, if any be provided for, is honest and lawful, he shall file them; but if he is of the opinion that they are not in proper form to meet the requirements of law, or that their object is an unlawful one, or against public policy, or that their plan for doing business is dishonest or unlawful, he shall refuse to file them. Should a question of doubt arise as to the legality of the articles, he shall submit them to the attorney general whose duty it shall be to forthwith examine and return them with an opinion in writing touching the point or points concerning which inquiry has been made of him. If such opinion is in favor of the legality of the articles, and no other objections are apparent, they shall then, upon payment of the proper fee, be filed and otherwise dealt with as the law provides. If, however, such opinion be against their legality they shall not be filed. Upon the rejection of any articles of incorporation by the secretary of state, except for the reason that they have been held by the attorney general to be illegal they shall, if the person or persons presenting them so requested, be submitted to the executive council, which shall, as soon as practicable, consider the said articles and if the council determines that the articles are in proper form, of honest purpose, not against public policy, nor otherwise objectionable, it shall so advise the secretary of state in writing, whereupon he shall, upon the payment of the proper fees, file the same and proceed otherwise as the law directs; but if the council sustains the previous action of the secretary of state in rejecting said articles, such decision by the council shall be reported to the secretary of state in writing, and he shall then return said articles to the person or persons presenting them with such explanation as shall be proper in the case. Nothing in this act shall be construed as repealing or modifying any statute now in force in respect to the approval of articles of incorporation relating to insurance companies, building and loan associations or investment companies. [26 G. A., ch. 98; 17 G. A., ch. 23; C., '73, § 1060; R., 1152; C., '51, § 675.] 27 G. A., ch. 40, §§ 1, 2.] [27 G. A., ch. 41, § 1.] [29 G. A., ch. 66, § 1.] [32 G. A., ch. 70.]

It is not specifically required that the acknowledgment shall be in the same form as that required for conveyances of real property, and therefore, if the venue is given at the beginning of the certificate, and the officer taking the acknowledgment subscribes as "notary public," without reciting that he is a notary public in and for the county named, the acknowledgment is sufficient, it being presumed that the officer acts only within the scope of his authority. Smith v. Sherman, 113-601.

The object of requiring the filing and recording of articles of incorporation is to give them the same publicity as nearly as may be as statutory charters, and their provisions are binding on all who deal with the stock of the corporation. Dempster Mfg. Co. v. Downs, 126-80.

SEC. 1611. Limit of indebtedness.

It is doubtful whether an insurance company is required to recite the limit of indebtedness which it may incur by its policies of insurance. At any rate, if the amount of indebtedness is reasonably ascertainable the requirements of the statute have been complied with. Smith v. Sherman, 113-601.

A debt contracted in excess of the maximum limitation stated in the charter is not void, but is enforceable against it, corporation and parties holding under it, and gives rise only to a right of action on the part of the state because of the violation of statute, and perhaps also a liability on the officers of the corporation for the excessive debt so contracted. Sioux City Terminal R. & W. Co. v. Trust Co., 173 U. S., 109; S. C. 82 Fed. 124.

A mortgage given by a debtor corporation on its own property is not intended to be governed by the last sentence of this section (embodying a proviso added to § 1061 of the Code of '73 by chap. 22 of 20 G. A.). This sentence applies to the class and not the condition. It singles out this particular kind of corporation, and it is not meant to point out such a state of affairs which it was thought might exist with any corporation. Beach v. Wakefield, 107-567.

The corporation having received the full benefit of the consideration for indebtedness contracted in excess of the limitation of its indebtedness, it cannot question the validity of indebtedness thus incurred. And it is immaterial that money borrowed in excess of the limitation of indebtedness is used for an ultra vires purpose. Traer v. Lucas Prospecting Co., 124-107.

SEC. 1612. Place of business—list of officers—notice or process—upon whom and how served. If the corporation transacts business in this state, the articles shall fix its principal place of business, which must be in this state, and in charge of an agent of the corporation, at which place it shall keep its stock and transfer books and hold its meetings. The corporation shall annually, in January, file with the secretary of state a list of its officers and directors, and any change in the location of its place of business made by a vote of the stockholders. Provided that any corporation organized under the laws of this state that does not maintain an office in the county of its organization, or transact business in this state, shall file with the secretary of state a written instrument duly signed and sealed, authorizing the secretary of state to acknowledge service or [of] notice or process for and in behalf of such corporation in this state, and consenting that service of notice or process may be made upon the secretary of state, and when so made shall be taken and held as valid as if served according to the laws of this state, and waiving all claim or right or error by reason of such acknowledgment of service. Such notice or process, with a copy thereof, may be mailed to the secretary of state at Des Moines, Iowa, in a registered letter addressed to him by his official title, and he shall immediately upon its receipt acknowledge service thereon in behalf of the defendant corporation by writing thereon, giving the date thereof, and shall immediately return such notice or process in a registered letter to the clerk of the court in which the suit is pending, addressed by his official title, and shall also forthwith mail such copy, with a copy of his acknowledgment of service written thereon, in a registered letter addressed to the corporation or person who shall be named or designated by the corporation in such written instrument. If any such corporation shall fail to file with the secretary of state the power and authority to acknowledge service as herein provided on or before July 1st, 1906, it shall be the duty of the secretary of state to notify such corporation to file such power and authority within thirty days thereafter, and in case of failure to comply with such notice it shall be the duty of the attorney general of the state to proceed against such corporation to forfeit its charter and wind up its affairs. [31 G. A., ch. 64.]

SEC. 1613. Notice published—how—what to contain. A notice must be published once each week for four weeks in succession in some newspaper as convenient as practicable to the principal place of business, which must contain:

1. The name of the corporation and its principal place of business;
2. The general nature of the business to be transacted;
3. The amount of capital stock authorized, and the times and conditions on which it is to be paid in;
4. The time of the commencement and termination of the corporation;
5. By what officers or persons its affairs are to be conducted, and the times when and manner in which they will be elected;
6. The highest amount of indebtedness to which it is at any time to subject itself;
7. Whether private property is to be exempt from corporate debts.

Proof of such publication, by affidavit of the publisher of the newspaper in which it is made, shall be filed with the secretary of state, and shall be evidence of the fact. [C., '73, §§ 1062-3; R., §§ 1154-5; C., '51, §§ 677-8.] [29 G. A., ch. 67, § 1.]

As corporations may be legally organized in whose articles there is no limitation which exempts the individual property of its stockholders, the requirements that the notice make disclosure on this question is important, and where the publication is in an obscure newspaper, published at a place remote from that of the principal place remote from that of the principal son v. Anderson, 115-674.

The publication of notice in a newspaper published at a place remote from the principal place of business is not sufficient compliance with the statute. Clinton Novelty Iron Works v. Neiting, 111 N. W. 974.

SEC. 1613-a. Legalizing—defective publication. That each corporation heretofore incorporated under the laws of the state of Iowa which have [has] caused notice of their [its] incorporation to be published once each week for four consecutive weeks in some daily, semi-weekly or tri-weekly newspaper, instead of causing the same to be published in each issue of such newspaper for four consecutive weeks are hereby legalized and are declared legal incorporations the same as though the law had been complied with in all respects in regard to the publication of notice. [29 G. A., ch. 226, § 1.]

SEC. 1615. Change of articles.

Where a renewal of the corporate franchise is authorized it may be effected by amendment of the articles as provided in this section. Lamb v. Dobson, 117-124

SEC. 1616. Individual property liable.

Aside from statute, stockholders of a de facto corporation cannot be held liable as partners on account of irregularities, omissions or mistakes in incorporating or organizing the corporation. The statute does not create a contract liability. Therefore, those dealing with a corporation having actual notice of the articles, and after publication of the notice required by statute, cannot hold the stockholders individually liable because of irregularity in the organization and publication. Seaton v. Grimm, 110-145.

Stockholders who participated in the organization of the company and became responsible to the same extent as other stockholders for failure to have notice published, cannot hold such other stockholders liable individually on the ground that there was not a proper publication of notice. Ibid.

"Organization and publicity" should be construed "organization or publicity." Ibid.

A subscriber to stock may disaffirm his contract on account of defects in the organization of the company, where it has been represented to him that the organization was legal and complete, and is not bound to go to the records or other sources of information before relying upon such representation. Maine v. Midland Inv. Co., 132-272.

Whether one who buys stock in a defectively organized corporation incurs liability, in virtue of the statutory provision, for debts of the corporation incurred prior to the date of the purchase, is an open question in this state. Houts v. Sioux City Brass Works, 110 N. W. 166.

One who becomes a stockholder within the three months allowed for the publication of notice is liable for the debts incurred after he became a stockholder, if he has had knowledge of the facts connected with the organization of the corporation at the time he became a member or when the indebtedness was contracted. It is immaterial that he was not in any way responsible for the failure of the corporation to give proper notice of its organization. Clinton Novelty Iron Works v. Neiting, 111 N. W. 974.

SEC. 1618. Duration—renewal—certificate and articles to be recorded—fees—notice—proof filed. Corporations for the construction of any work of internal improvement, or for the transaction of the business of life insurance, may be formed to endure fifty years; those for other purposes, not to exceed twenty years; but in either case they may be renewed from time to time for the same or shorter periods, within three months before or after the time for the termination thereof, if a majority of the votes cast at any regular election, or special election called for that purpose, be in favor of such renewal, and if those wishing such renewal will purchase the stock of those opposed thereto at its real value. Within five days after the said action of the stockholders for the renewal of any corporation, a certificate, showing the proceedings resulting in such renewal, sworn to by the president and secretary of the corporation, or by such other officers as may be designated by the stockholders, together with the articles of incorporation, shall be filed for record in the office of the recorder of the county in which the principal place of business of said corporation is situated, and the same shall be recorded. Upon filing with the secretary of state the said certificate and articles of incorporation, within ten days after they are filed with the recorder, and upon the payment to the secretary of state of a fee of twenty-five ($25) dollars, and an additional fee of one ($1) dollar per thousand for all authorized stock in excess of ten thousand ($10,000) dollars, the secretary of state shall record the said certificate and the said articles of incorporation in a book to be kept by him for that purpose, and shall issue a proper certificate for the renewal of the corporation. Within three months after the filing of the certificate and articles of incorporation with the secretary of state, the corporation so renewed shall publish a notice of renewal. Said notice shall be published, once each week, for four weeks in succession in a newspaper as convenient as practicable to the principal place of business of the corporation, and proof of publication filed in the office of the secretary of state, and shall contain the matters and things required to be published by section sixteen hundred and thirteen (1613) of the code, relating to original incorporations. [C., '73, § 1069; R., § 1158; C., '51, § 681.] [28 G. A., ch. 56, § 1.] [29 G. A., ch. 66, § 2.] [30 G. A., ch. 2, § 13.]

Where a corporation has re-incorporated with the same membership and for the purpose of carrying on the same business, and assuming the obligations of the old company, the new company is liable on the contracts of the old. Benesh v. Mill Owners' Mut. F. Ins. Co., 103-465.

A corporation which took proper steps for renewal and tendered to the secretary of state the fees required at the time, held not subject to the provisions of the amending statute requiring higher fees in cases of renewal. Lamb v. Dobson, 117-124.

The renewal of a corporation may be made by an amendment of its articles as provided in Code § 1615. Ibid.

SEC. 1618-a. Renewal of corporate existence. The corporate existence of any state or savings bank may be renewed or extended, from time to time, for a period not longer than the time for which such banks may organize, by an affirmative vote of two-thirds (2-3) of the shareholders thereof, at a stockholders' meeting held for that purpose, within three months before or after the time of the expiration of its charter as shown by its certificate of incorporation issued by the secretary of state. Such meeting shall be called upon a notice signed by at least two (2) of the officers of the bank and by a majority of its directors, specifying the object of the meeting, and the time and place thereof, published once a week for four (4) consecutive weeks before the time at which the same is to be held, in some newspaper in the county wherein the bank is located. If at such meeting the required vote is given, a certificate of the proceedings showing compliance with the foregoing provisions and the time to which the corporate period is to be continued, shall be signed and verified by the affidavit of the chairman and secretary of the meeting, certified to by a majority of the board of directors, and together with the articles of incorporation, as they exist at the date of the meeting, shall be recorded in the office of the recorder of deeds of the proper county and filed, recorded and fees paid, as provided in section sixteen hundred eighteen (1618) of the code and shall be by the secretary of state certified to the auditor of state. When the meeting is held previous to the expiration of the charter of the bank, such amendments may be made to the articles of incorporation, subject to the provisions thereof, as may be deemed necessary and whether held before or after the extension of the corporate period, such changes may be made in the articles as are necessary to show the time to which the corporate period is extended and the names of the officers and directors at the time of the renewal or extension. When the above has been complied with, the auditor of state shall issue to such bank a certificate as provided in section eighteen hundred forty-three (1843) of the code, notice of which shall be published as required by the provisions of said section. [31 G. A., ch. 65.]

SEC. 1618-b. Fees—since when due. The fees herein provided shall be due from all corporations applying for a renewal since the first day of January, 1898. [28 G. A., ch. 56, § 2.]

SEC. 1619. Legislative control.

By express provision of the statute, building and loan associations are subject to legislative control. Wood v. Iowa Bldg. & Loan Assn., 126-464.

A franchise granted to a street railway company is subject to subsequent modification. Marshalltown Light, P. & R. Co. v. Marshalltown, 127-637.

SEC. 1621. Diversion of funds.

It is only persons injured by the diversion of funds who are deemed to be defrauded thereby. One who is not a creditor at the time of the diversion is not injured thereby. Benge v. Eppard, 110-86.

As to one who is a creditor at the time of the diversion there is no liability if, notwithstanding the diversion, the corporation had sufficient property remaining to pay all debts. Ibid.

SEC. 1624. By-laws posted.

The statutory requirements that the corporation shall keep posted a copy of its by-laws and a statement of the amount of capital stock subscribed and the amount of indebtedness, is primarily for the benefit of the public, to be enforced by mandamus at the suit of a party injured. Board- man v. Marshalltown Grocery Co., 105-445.

By-laws not posted as required by statute are not binding on a stranger without actual notice, but failure to post as required does not constitute a failure to adopt such by-laws. Fee v. National Masonic Acc. Assn., 110-271.

SEC. 1626. Transfer of shares.

A transfer of stock not made upon the books of the company as required by statute will not be effectual as against an attachment of such stock for debts of the person who appears from the books to be the owner. Knowledge on the part of the attaching creditor or the officer of the transfer of the stock will not defeat the lien of the attachment. Ottumwa Screen Co. v. Stodghill, 103-437; Perkins v. Lyons, 111-192.

A stipulation for an assignment of shares of stock, actually in the custody of the transferee, implies an obligation to have a formal and effectual transfer thereof made on the books of the corporation. First Nat. Bank v. Park, 117-552.

The holder of stock as collateral has authority to have proper entry of transfer of such stock made upon the company's books. Ibid.

A person who is entitled to have shares of stock issued to him, or to have stock owned by him transferred on the books of the company, may maintain an action of mandamus to compel the proper issuance or transfer. Hair v. Burnell, 160 Fed. 280.

So long as the stock stands on the books in the name of the judgment debtor it can be levied on and sold, although the creditor has actual notice of a transfer thereof by the debtor. Ibid.

One who has purchased stock which is subject to assessment to the corporation, is not liable for the payment of such assessment until the stock has been transferred to him, and any person who has without right paid for such stock and had it transferred to himself on the books of the company, and has made payment of such assessment, has no claim on the stock except for the repayment of the assessment. Loetscher v. Dillon, 119-202.

The transferee of shares of stock takes subject to any lien thereon created by the articles in favor of the corporation as against a prior holder and such lien attaches also to dividends declared during its existence. Dempster Mfg. Co., 126-80.

These provisions relate to corporations organized under the laws of the state and doing business in the state, and the books referred to are required to be kept within the state where they can be inspected. Perkins v. Lyons, 111-192.

In a particular case held that a pencil notation on the stub of the stock book, made long prior to a levy on the stock, although not dated, was sufficient to constitute a transfer. Ibid.

The provisions of this section relating to transfer of stock as collateral security held not to be retroactive. Ibid.

A private individual cannot require that the books of the company be at all times kept open for public inspection. His right to inspect, if any, is personal. Neither can he have an order with reference to future inspection. Boardman v. Marshalltown Grocery Co., 105-445.

SEC. 1627. Amount paid in. No certificate or shares of stock shall be issued, delivered or transferred by any corporation, officer or agent thereof, or by the owner of such certificate or shares, without having indorsed on the face thereof what amount or portion of the par value has been paid to the corporation issuing the same, and whether such payment has been in money or property. Any person violating the provisions of this section, or knowingly making a false statement on such certificate, shall be fined not less than one hundred dollars nor more than five hundred dollars, and shall stand committed to the county jail until such fine and costs are paid. This section shall not apply to railway or quasi public corporations organized before the first day of October, 1897. [28 G. A., ch. 57, § 1.]

Failure to endorse on a certificate of stock the amount and manner of payment therefor will not render a contract in relation to such stock void, especially where it appears that full value in property was paid for the stock, and that such endorsement would not have altered the situation of the parties. French v. Northwestern Laundry, 132-81.

SEC. 1629. Expiration.

The fact that the charter of the corporation has expired will not show that it cannot be the owner of property. After the expiration of the term of the charter the corporation continues to live for the purpose of discharging its obligations and disposing of its property. State v. Fогerty, 105-32.

The corporate existence may continue after the period limited in the charter for the purpose of winding up the corporate affairs. Rogers v. Western Mut. Life Assn., 123-722.

The statute contemplates the continuance of the liability of stockholders until the business of the corporation is wound up at least so far as valid indebtedness has been contracted while the corporation has a legal existence. The liability of stockholders does not become that of partners after the expiration of the period fixed by the charter. Elson v. Wright, 112 N. W. 105.

It is only corporations whose charters expire by limitation, or the voluntary act of the stockholders, which continue for the purpose of winding up their affairs. Corporations dissolved by action of court have no further legal existence, and cannot be represented by officers or agents. State v. Fidelity L. & T. Co., 113-439.

A court of equity may wind up the affairs of a corporation whose charter has expired, if internal dissensions in the corporation make it necessary. This section only authorizes continuance of the business by the corporation managers for the amicable settlement of its affairs. But a corporation whose charter has not expired will not be dissolved at the suit of a stockholder, and it is error to direct a sale of its property in such suit. Stewart v. Pierce, 116-733.

SEC. 1631. Liability of stockholders.

Although a certificate of stock recites that it is fully paid, yet if it expressly declares that it is subject to assessment for purposes named such an assessment will be valid and can be enforced against the holder of the stock. Western Imp. Co. v. Des Moines Nat. Bank, 103-455.

Such stock is not fully paid up stock and the holder thereof is individually liable under statutory provisions, even if the articles of incorporation provide otherwise. Ibid.

The corporation may maintain an action against the stockholder for an assessment lawfully made and it is not necessary that it shall appear that the corporation is insolvent. Ibid.

Where a call for an assessment on stock does not specify the time, place or person to whom payment is to be made it will be presumed that the assessment is payable on demand at the place of business of the corporation and to the officer authorized to receive money due to it. Ibid.

When property is received by the corporation in payment of stock at an excessive valuation it is to be considered as constituting payment only to the extent of its real value and the owners of such stock are liable to creditors for the difference between the actual value of the property and the face value of the stock. Stout v. Hubbell, 104-499.

It is immaterial that the articles of incorporation show that certain shares of stock have been issued as fully paid up in exchange for property. Creditors have a right to presume in such case that the property received is of the actual value of the face of the stock, and if it is of less value the holder of such stock is liable to the creditors for the difference. Ibid.

The stockholder after the transfer of his stock remains liable for indebtedness of the corporation existing at the time of such transfer. White v. Green, 105-176; White v. Marquardt, 105-145.

One who in fact becomes a holder of stock incurs the liability of a stockholder for unpaid installments, although the transfer of the stock to him is not recorded in the books of the company; and upon a subsequent transfer of the stock by him effected by means of a transfer at his instance directly from the original holder to the last purchaser, he nevertheless remains liable in the same way that other holders of stock remain liable after transfer for liabilities of the corporation existing at the time of such transfer. White v. Marquardt, 105-145.

Indebtedness of the corporation not matured at the time of the transfer of stock is nevertheless a liability for which the stockholder remains liable to the extent of the unpaid installments of his stock. White v. Greene, 105-176.

Property may be accepted in exchange for stock, providing it is taken at its true value. The parties have the right in good faith to agree on the value of the property taken, but this should not be speculative or fictitious. State Trust Co. v. Turner et al., 111-664.

But a creditor of the corporation, who has become such with knowledge that stock, although issued as fully paid, has not in fact been paid for, cannot enforce his claim against the holders of such stock, nor can his assignee do so. Ibid.

In an action against a stockholder for an unpaid subscription, the burden is on the creditor seeking to enforce payment by the stockholder to prove that payment by the stockholder has not been made. Merrill v. Timbrell, 123-375.

In a proceeding by the auditor of state to wind up a bank and distribute its assets among the creditors, the receiver may have an order for the assessment of stockholders based on an estimate of the amount for which they will be liable under the statutory provision for double liability, and the stockholders may be compelled to pay such assessment before the assets of the bank are distributed, subject to the right to a return of any assets left undisposed of after the debts are all paid. State ex rel. v. Union Stock Yards State Bank, 103-549; and see Elson v. Wright, 112 N. W. 105.

SEC. 1633. Indemnity—contribution.

A stockholder who has been compelled to pay more than his just proportion of unpaid subscriptions to the capital stock may enforce contribution from the other stockholders who have not paid their just proportion, and this rule is applicable to a case where a stockholder has voluntarily paid more than his just proportion, but liability in this respect may be determined by the contract between the parties, and if the stockholders pays creditors, knowing that the other stockholders have an agreement by which their stock is to be treated as fully paid up, he cannot recover against them for contribution. Esgen v. Smith, 113-25.

SEC. 1636. Estoppel.

In an action brought by a corporation to protect its property from wrongful acts the defendant cannot set up want of legal organization as a defense. State Security Bank v. Hoskins, 130-339.

SEC. 1637. Foreign corporation—filing articles—process.

It is within the power of the state to prescribe the method by which corporations doing business within its jurisdiction may be brought into court and to designate the officer or agent of such corporation upon whom the process necessary to commence an action may be served. Green v. Equitable Mut. L. & End. Assn., 105-628.

The permit here required is not necessary to enable a foreign corporation to purchase property in this state and transport the same through the state. Ware Cattle Co. v. Anderson, 107-231.

The fact that statutory requirements as to foreign corporations have not been complied with by the corporation cannot be taken advantage of by one who has received the benefits of a contract with such corporation. Spinney v. Miller, 114-210.

The exception as to the doing business in the state by foreign corporations covers the transaction of receiving and accepting a note and mortgage for a valid consideration when such transaction is independent of and not connected with any form of business which the company is prohibited from transacting without a permit. Prudential Ins. Co. v. Cushman, 130-378.

A mortgagor who has received and retained the benefits of the transaction in which the mortgage is given cannot be heard to assert its invalidity on the ground that the mortgagee is a foreign corporation which has failed to comply with the statutes prescribing the terms upon which such corporations may do business in the state, the state alone being entitled to take advantage of the failure of the corporation to comply with the statute. Ibid.

It is no defense to a contract entered into by a foreign corporation that when the contract was made it did not have a permit to do business in the state. Iowa Lilloet Gold Mining Co. v. United States F. & G. Co., 146 Fed. 437.

In a direct action by the state to oust a foreign corporation from doing business therein without a permit, a judgment of ouster will not be awarded if the corporation complies with the law within a reasonable time. Ibid.

SEC. 1640. Dissolution—receiver.

From the time of entry of dissolution by the court in a proper case the corporation is dead, and cannot be represented by officers or agents. Therefore held that where the decree contained an order or dissolution, the corporation, without appealing from that portion of the decree, could not ask relief with reference to other orders in the same decree. State v. Fidelity L. & T. Co., 113-439.

SEC. 1641. Repeal—ownership of property. That section sixteen hundred and forty-one (1641) of the code be repealed and the following enacted in lieu thereof:

“Corporations organized in any foreign country or corporations organized in this country, the stock of which is owned in whole or in part by non-resident aliens, shall have the same rights, powers and privileges with regard to the purchase and ownership of real estate in this state as are granted to non-resident aliens in section twenty-eight hundred and ninety (2890) of the code.” [30 G. A., ch. 54.]

SEC. 1641-a. Right to vote stock. Every executor, administrator, guardian or trustee, shall represent the stock in his hands at all corporate meetings, and may vote the same as a stockholder; and every person who shall pledge his stock, in the absence of a written agreement to the contrary, may represent the same at all such meetings and vote accordingly. The owner of corporate stock levied upon by attachment or other proceeding, shall have the right to vote the same at all corporate meetings, until such time as that he shall have been divested of his title thereto by execution sale. But nothing contained in this section shall in any manner conflict with any provision in the articles of incorporation, or the by-laws of the corporation issuing the stock. [30 G. A., ch. 55.]

SEC. 1641-b. Capital stock—how issued—executive council to fix value. That from and after the passage of this act no corporation organized under the laws of the state of Iowa, except building and loan associations as defined and provided for in chapter thirteen (13), title (9) of the code, shall issue any capital stock or any certificate or certificates of shares of capital stock, or any substitute therefor, until the corporation has received the par value thereof. If it is proposed to pay for said capital stock in property or in any other thing than money, the corporation proposing the same must, before issuing capital stock in any form, apply to the executive council of the state of Iowa for leave so to do. Such application shall state the amount of capital stock proposed to be issued for a consideration other than money, and set forth specifically the property or other thing to be received in payment for such stock. Thereupon, it shall be the duty of the executive council to make investigation, under such rules as it may prescribe, and to ascertain the real value of the property or other thing which the corporation is to receive for the stock; and shall enter its finding, fixing the value at which the corporation may receive the same in payment for capital stock; and no corporation shall issue capital stock for the said property or thing in a greater amount than the value so fixed and determined by the executive council. [32 G. A., ch. 71, § 1.]

SEC. 1641-c. Certificate filed with secretary of state. It shall be the duty of every corporation to file a certificate under oath with the secretary of state, within ten (10) days after the issuance of any capital stock, stating the date of issue, the amount issued, the sum received therefor, if payment be made in money, or the property or thing taken, if such be the method of payment. [32 G. A., ch. 71, § 2.]

SEC. 1641-d. Cancellation of stock. The capital stock of any corporation issued in violation of the terms and provisions hereof shall be void, and in a suit brought by the attorney general on behalf of the state of Iowa, in any court having jurisdiction, a decree of cancellation shall be entered; and if the corporation has received any money or thing of value for the said stock, it shall remain the property of the corporation for the benefit of the remaining stockholders. [32 G. A., ch. 71, § 3.]

SEC. 1641-e. Dissolution of corporation. Any corporation violating the provisions hereof shall, upon the application of the attorney general, in behalf of the state, made to any court of competent jurisdiction, be dissolved, its affairs wound up, and its assets distributed among the stockholders other than those who have received the stock so unlawfully issued. [32 G. A., ch. 71, § 4.]

SEC. 1641-f. Penalty. CHAPTER 2.

OF CORPORATIONS NOT FOR PECUNIARY PROFIT.

SECTION 1642. Organization—purpose—name.

The secular acts of religious corporations are to be governed by the same principles of law as those applied to civil corporations. Moore v. First etc. Methodist Church, 117-33.

The law presumes that meetings of trustees of a religious corporation are regular and upon proper notice and that contracts made by them and under which they have accepted benefits are binding. Ibid.

Corporations for religious purposes have no stock, and being without authority to levy assessments upon or enforce contributions from their members, the membership of an insolvent religious corporation may organize as a new corporation without becoming liable for the debts of the old in the absence of fraud and if no property of the old corporation is taken by the new. Allen v. North Des Moines M. E. Church, 127-96.

A religious society seeking to effectuate its ideals of religious life through the common ownership and management of the property of its members may acquire and hold real property and establish and conduct industrial enterprises so long as its property is owned and managed and its enterprises are conducted and extended, simply to meet the needs of its members, and maintain them in a manner consistent with their religious faith, to which its total income and accumulation of property is devoted; and such a corporation will not be dissolved and its privileges forfeited on the ground that it has exceeded its corporate powers. State v. Amana Society, 132-304.

The management of the property of such a corporation so that it shall yield a profit to be used in promoting its business is not prohibited, the power to acquire and make use of property being incidental to and in aid of the power conferred to accomplish the business appropriate to the execution of the purposes of the organization. Ibid.

A mutual insurance company or association is a corporation for pecuniary profit, but under the provisions of Code Supplement § 1333-d it seems that there may be county mutual associations which are not corporations for pecuniary profit; the tax thus imposed is not a property tax, but a business or license tax. Iowa Mut. Tornado Assn. v. Gilbertson, 129-658.

SEC. 1642-a. Change of name or amendments—how effected by corporations heretofore organized. Any corporation heretofore organized under chapter 2 of title IX of the code, for the maintenance of a hospital or home for destitute or unfortunate women or orphaned or abandoned children, and whose membership is made to depend on the payment of dues and is indefinite or uncertain for any reason, and which has not issued certificates of membership, may at any time change the name of such corporation or amend its articles of incorporation by a vote of at least three-fourths of its governing board of directors or trustees at a meeting called and held for that purpose, after giving four weeks' notice thereof by publication, made in the same manner as original notices, of the time, place and purpose of such meeting. [32 G. A., ch. 250, § 1.]

SEC. 1642-b. Change of name and amendments legalized. Any corporation so organized under chapter 2 of title IX of the code which shall have heretofore adopted articles of incorporation, or changed its name or amended its articles and some question has arisen as to whether such articles, change in name or amendment was adopted by a majority of the members of such corporation as required by section 1651 of the code, and such corporation shall have been engaged in the exercise of its corporate functions for the period of at least three years, such articles, change in name or amendment, shall be held and considered to have been duly adopted by a majority of all the members of such corporation, and are hereby legalized and made valid. [32 G. A., ch. 250, § 2.]

SEC. 1642-c. Saving clause. Nothing in this act contained shall affect any pending litigation. [32 G. A., ch. 250, § 3.]

When any society fails to report, according to law, on or before the first day of November, that society shall not receive a [24 G. A., ch. 63, § 1.] [28 G. A., ch. 58, § 19.]

CHAPTER 4.

OF INSURANCE OTHER THAN LIFE.

SECTION 1687. Name.

An insurance company, although authorized to do business by the auditor of state may be enjoined from using a name which is so similar to the name of a foreign insurance company authorized to do business in the state that it is calculated to deceive the public. Atlas Assurance Co. v. Atlas Insurance Co., 112 N. W. 232.

SEC. 1689. Kind of company. Every insurance company organized as provided in this chapter shall, if it be a mutual company, embody the word "mutual" in its title, which must appear upon the first page of every policy and renewal receipt; and every company doing business as a stock company shall, upon the face of its policies, express in some suitable manner that such policies are issued by a stock company. Provided that from and after July 4, 1906, no company shall be organized upon the mutual plan, under the provisions of this chapter, for the purpose of transacting the business specified in subdivisions one (1) and four (4) of section seventeen hundred and nine (1709) of the supplement to the code. [C., '73, § 1140.] [31 G. A., ch. 68.]

The provisions as to mutual benefit associations are distinct from those for the incorporation of mutual companies, and the statutory requirement that the word "mutual" shall be included in the name of the company organized under the later provisions has no application to such a society. Moore v. Union Fraternal Acc. Assn., 103-424.

SEC. 1690. Stock or mutual.

A mutual company cannot issue policies upon the stock plan, and such policies, if issued, are illegal and void. Smith v. Sherman, 113-601.

A company issuing a policy on the stock plan will be presumed to have authority to issue such a policy until the contrary appears. One contracting with the company is not bound to know at his peril whether the company has complied with the condition authorizing it to do a stock insurance business. Harris-Emery Co. v. Pitcairn, 122-595.

SEC. 1698. Secretary and other officers—by-laws—records.

By-laws duly adopted, but not posted as required by law, are valid and controlling as to all persons informed of their existence, the posting being required for the sole purpose of imparting constructive notice, and if the existence of the by-laws is expressly recognized, the person who receives such certificate is bound thereby. Fee v. National Masonic Acc. Assn., 110-271.

While members of a mutual company may be bound by by-laws adopted after they become members, nevertheless the terms of a policy of insurance will be presumed to be governed by the by-laws in force when it is issued, and not to be affected by those subsequently adopted. Farmers' Mut. Hail Ins. Assn. v. Slattery, 115-410.

SEC. 1699. Funds invested.

While as between the state and the company the investment of its surplus in bank stock may be unauthorized, such a transaction entered into by the officers for the purpose of avoiding loss to the company may be so ratified by the directors in taking advantage of the benefits thereof as to estop the corporation from treating the transaction as ultra vires. Fidelity Ins. Co. v. German Sav. Bank, 127-591.

SEC. 1706. Settlement of losses.

The authority of making assessments conferred on the directors is exclusive and cannot be exercised by other officers under the direction of such directors. Farmers' Milling Co. v. Mill Owners' Mut. Fire Ins. Co., 127-314.

SEC. 1709. Kinds of insurance—limitation of risk. Any company organized under this chapter or authorized to do business in this state may:

1. Insure houses, buildings, and all other kinds of property against loss or damage by fire or other casualty, and make all kinds of insurance on goods, merchandise, moneys and securities or other property in the course of transportation, whether on land or water, or any vessel or boat wherever the same may be; [31 G. A., ch. 72, § 2.]

A policy of insurance against loss by burglary, although issued prior to 28 G. A., ch. 60, is valid. Bankers' Mut. Cas. Co. v. First National Bank, 131-456.

The statutory provision authorizing insurance against "loss or damage by fire or other casualty" is sufficiently broad to cover such casualty as burglary. Ibid.

In ordinary usage, "casualty" is commonly applied to losses and injuries which happen suddenly and unexpectedly, not in the usual course of events, and without any design on the part of the person suffering the injury, although the result is brought about by the conscious or intended act of another. Ibid.

2. Insure the fidelity of persons holding places of private or public trust, or execute as surety any bond or other obligation required or permitted by law to be made, given or filed, except bonds required in criminal causes. None but stock companies shall engage in fidelity and surety business;

3. Insure the safe keeping of books, papers, moneys, stocks, bonds and all kinds of personal property, and receive them on deposit;

4. Insure horses, cattle and other live stock against loss or damage by accident, theft or any unknown or contingent event which may be the subject of legal insurance, and stock companies may insure horses and registered cattle against loss by death from disease or accident; [31 G. A., ch. 69.]

5. Insure the health of persons and against personal injuries, disablement or death resulting from traveling or general accidents by land or water, insure against loss or damage to property caused by the accidental discharge or leakage of water from automatic sprinkling systems, and insure employers against loss in consequence of accidents or casualties of any kind to employes or other persons, or to property resulting from any act of an employe, or any accident or casualty to persons or property, or both, occurring in or connected with the transaction of their business, or from the operation of any machinery connected therewith; [31 G. A., ch. 70, § 1.] [31 G. A., ch. 71, § 1.]

6. Insure against loss or injury to person or property, or both, growing out of explosion or rupture of steam boilers;

7. Any insurance company organized and incorporated on the stock or mutual plan may insure against loss or damage resulting from burglary or robbery, or attempt thereat. A mutual company organized under this subdivision shall not issue any policy to any person, firm, or corporation other than banks, bankers, loan companies, trust companies, and county treasurers. Provided, also, that companies organized to transact business as provided by this subdivision seven (7) may hold their annual meetings in the month of July, instead of January; [31 G. A., ch. 72, § 1.]

8. Insure or guarantee and indemnify merchants, traders and those engaged in business and giving credit from loss and damage by reason of giving and extending credit to their customers and those dealing with them, which business shall be known as credit insurance. [25 G. A., ch. 32; 24 G. A., ch. 29; C., '73, § 1132.] [28 G. A., ch. 60, § 1.] [29 G. A., ch. 70, § 1.] [29 G. A., ch. 71, § 1.] [31 G. A., chs. 69-70-71-72.]

SEC. 1710. Repeal — kinds of risks — limitations. That the law which appears as section seventeen hundred and ten (1710) of the supplement to the code be and the same is hereby repealed and the following enacted in lieu thereof:

No company organized by either of the methods provided in this chapter, or authorized to do business in this state, shall issue policies of insurance for more than one (1) of the eight (8) purposes mentioned in the preceding section, or expose itself to loss on any one risk, or hazard, to an amount exceeding ten per cent. of its paid up capital, unless the excess shall be re-insured in some other good and reliable company except as in this section provided as follows: Any stock company organized under the laws of this state for the purpose of transacting the business specified in subdivision five (5) of the preceding section with one hundred and fifty thousand ($150,000) dollars capital stock, seventy-five thousand ($75,000) dollars of which is paid up in cash, may in addition to insuring against the casualties specified in subdivision five (5), also insure against injury or loss to persons, or property, or both, growing out of explosion, or rupture, of steam boilers and insure plate glass against breakage from accident; and any stock company organized under the laws of any other state, or nation, and authorized under the laws of this state to transact the business specified in subdivision five (5) of the preceding section, may if it has a paid up capital of two hundred and fifty thousand ($250,000) dollars, in addition to insuring against the casualties specified in subdivision five (5) of the preceding section, also insure against the casualties specified in subdivision six (6), or insure plate glass against breakage from accident, or if such company is possessed of a paid up capital of three hundred thousand ($300,000) dollars, it may, in addition to insuring against the casualties specified in subdivision five (5), insure against the casualties specified in subdivision six (6) and also insure plate glass against breakage from accident, provided further, however, that any stock company now or hereafter authorized under the laws of this state to transact the business described in division two (2) or subdivision five (5) of the preceding section shall, in addition to such insurance, also be authorized to insure against loss, or damage, resulting from theft, larceny, burglary, robbery, or attempt thereat. The restrictions as to the amount of risk a company may assume, shall not apply to companies organized to guarantee the fidelity of persons in places of public or private trust, nor to companies that receive on deposit and guarantee the safe keeping of books, papers, moneys and other personal property. [31 G. A., ch. 70, § 2.] [31 G. A., ch. 71, § 2.]

SEC. 1714. Annual statement.

The statement required as to the financial condition of an insurance company is intended not alone for the information of the auditor, to enable him to determine whether he should issue a certificate, but also by way of information to the public. The fact that such statement is required to be published indicates such legislative intention. Therefore not only one who contracts for insurance, but also one who becomes a purchaser of stock of the company, is entitled to rely upon such statements, and a purchaser of stock may recover damages against an officer of a company for an intentional false statement which has operated to his prejudice. Warfield v. Clark, 118-69.

The provision that the statement shall show expenditures for the preceding year, and also the amount of losses paid during that time, how much subsequent to the date of the preceding statement, and the amount at which such losses were estimated in such statement, implies that some of the matters to be included in the statement are to be given by way of estimate. Ibid.

SEC. 1720-a. Repeal—auditor's report. That section seventeen hundred twenty (1720) of the code be repealed, and the following enacted in lieu thereof:

"He shall cause the information contained in the statements required of the companies organized or doing business in the state to be arranged in detail, and prepare the same for printing, which report shall be made to the governor on or before the first day of May of each year." [28 G. A., ch. 62, § 1.]

SEC. 1722. Service of process.

It is the written consent of the corporation, and not the statute itself, which confers on the auditor power to acknowledge service. Greaves v. Posner, 111-651.

SEC. 1724. Certificate.

The power to exclude foreign corporations includes the right to preclude such corporations from continuing in business without complying with the provisions imposed by statute. Manchester Ins. Co. v. Herriott, 91 Fed. 711.

It is only upon compliance with statutory requirements that foreign companies become entitled to do business within the state. Hartman v. Hollowell, 126-643.

SEC. 1725. Agent to have certificate of authority.

An agent procuring insurance for his principal in a company not authorized to do business in the state becomes liable to the principal for any loss resulting from the failure to procure valid insurance. Hartman v. Hollowell, 126-643.

SEC. 1727. Forfeiture of policies.

This section was designed to give to the assured at least thirty days from the mailing of the notice in which to make the payment to which the notice refers, and the time cannot be shortened by a direction on the envelope containing the notice that it shall be returned if not delivered within fifteen days. Smith v. Continental Ins. Co., 108-382.

Where such notice treats two policies as one, although they are separate and distinct, it should specify the amount required to cancel each policy, and also the amount of the premium about to become due on account thereof. Ibid. Born v. Home Ins. Co., 110-379.

Forfeitures are not favored and the provisions of this section are mandatory and must be strictly followed. McDonald v. Anchor Mut. Ins. Co., 116-371.

Error in stating the amount of the short rate, as fixed by the auditor under the provisions of Code § 1729, will defeat the forfeiture. Ibid.

The provisions of 18 G. A., chap. 210, as to notice of forfeiture for non-payment of premium note, had no application to a forfeiture of membership in a mutual association for failure to pay assessments. Beeman v. Farmers' Pioneer Mut. Ins. Assn., 104-83.

SEC. 1728. Cancellation of policy.

An association purporting to be organized under the provisions of § 1160 of the Code of 1873, but in fact exacting premium notes instead of assessments from its members, thereby subjected itself to the requirements of 18 G. A., chap. 210 (Code § 1727), as to giving notice of forfeiture on account of non-payment of such notes. Bradford v. Mut. Ins. Co., 112-495.

SEC. 1731. Examination—dissolution.

An insurance company may enforce assessments for the purpose of making good a depletion of its capital, without a requisition from the auditor of state directing such assessment. Iowa National Bank v. Cooper, 131-556.

SEC. 1737. Repeal—certificates of compliance—how published. That section seventeen hundred and thirty-seven (1737) of the code, be and the same is hereby repealed and the following enacted in lieu thereof:

"The auditor of state shall annually, as soon as practicable after the first of March, publish in two newspapers of general circulation, a statement made up from the annual report of every insurance company of the character provided for in this chapter and doing business in this state whether organized under the laws of this or any other state, which statements shall contain a synopsis of the company's annual report and shall show that the company has in all respects complied with the laws of the state relating to insurance and is authorized to transact business in the state. One publication as above contemplated, shall be made at the seat of government, and in case of companies organized in this state and located elsewhere than in the city of Des Moines, the other shall be made in the county in which the home office of the company is located. The fee for each publication shall be six ($6.00) dollars, which shall be paid to the auditor of state at the time and in the manner provided for in section seventeen hundred and fifty-two (1752) supplement to the code and shall be by him paid to the papers making the publication upon receipt of a bill for same, together with an affidavit by the publisher or foreman showing that such publication has been properly made, the same to be filed within thirty days from the date of such publication." [31 G. A., ch. 73.]

SEC. 1741. Copy of application.

The fact that the application is not embodied in or attached to the policy does not preclude proof of the terms of the application in a suit by the insured against members and officers of a mutual benefit association to compel the payment of the assessment, where such evidence is sought to be introduced for the purpose of showing that the assured knew that the company was conducted on the assessment plan. Moore v. Union Fraternal Acc. Assn. 103-424.

The purpose of the statutory provisions under which it is necessary to set the application out in or attach it to the policy is, that when the application is made a part of the contract a true copy must be attached to the policy, so that the writings composing the contract may all appear together and that the insured may be in possession of the evidence of what his contract is. Therefore, held, that the statute contemplates more than a mere substantial copy of the application and yet not a true likeness or fac-simile. The copy must be so exact and accurate as that upon comparison it can be said to be a true copy without resorting to construction. Johnson v. Des Moines L. Assn., 105-273.

Where a copy of an application attached to or incorporated in the policy is defective and incomplete, the company is precluded from proving the falsity of the representations in the application as a defense to an action on the policy. Corson v. Anchor Mut. F. Ins. Co., 113-841.

Where the copy of an application attached to the policy is totally defective and insufficient, the company cannot show misrepresentations or breach of conditions contained in such application. Corson v. Iowa Mut. Fire Ins. Assn., 115-485.

The provisions of this section are applicable to mutual companies, notwithstanding the provisions of Code § 1759. Ibid.

A premium note, non-payment of which will by the terms of the application render the policy void, must be set out as a part of the application under the provisions of this section. (Following Lewis v. Burlington Ins. Co., 71-97; s. c. 80-259.) Summers v. Des Moines Ins. Co., 116-593.

The examiners' report on an application for life insurance is not a part of the application or representation of the assured, and is not required to be included in the copy of the application. The same is true as to notes of instructions given for making the application and answers and notes and indorsements upon the back of the application made for mere convenience. Johnson v. Des Moines L. Assn., 105-273.

Where the copy of the application attached to the policy indicated that it had been signed, but did not show a copy of the signature, held, that it was not such copy as required by the statute, and the terms of the application could not be considered in an action on the policy. Seiler v. Economic L. Assn., 105-87.

It is the application or representations of the assured only that is required to be attached to or indorsed upon the policy. It is not necessary to indorse thereon provisions found in the by-laws of a mutual company by which the policy is issued. Fitzgerald v. Metropolitan Acc. Assn., 106-457.

Endorsement of a copy of the application upon the policy, or its attachment thereto, is a necessary foundation for pleading the falsity of statements made therein. Parker v. Des Moines L. Assn., 108-117.

The provisions of chap. 211, acts of 18 G. A., embodied in this section, held applicable to fraternal societies issuing certificates on lives of members. Stork v. Supreme Lodge K. of P., 113-724.

The statutory provision requiring insurance companies to attach a copy of the application to each policy of insurance is applicable to fidelity insurance companies. United States F. & G. Co. v. Egg Shippers' Strawboard & F. Co., 148 Fed. 353.

SEC. 1742. Evidence of value—proofs—action.

Evidence of value: The statute does not attempt to fix, as the measure of recovery in case of the destruction of buildings, any other than the actual value of the building at the time of loss. If, after the prima facie showing made by proof of the amount of insurance, the company shall offer evidence to show the actual value to be less, then the amount of recovery becomes a question for the jury, and the actual value is as the jury shall find it. The parties may, by contract, stipulate for the ascertainment of this actual value by appraisers as a condition precedent to the right of action. Zalesky v. Home Ins. Co., 108-341.

Whether the latter part of this section is applicable in case of loss of personal property covered by the policy, quaere, Westenhaver v. German-American Ins. Co., 113-726.

Where a policy for $4000 was issued under an arrangement with the soliciting agent that total insurance to the extent of $7000 should be procured on the property, held that in an action on the $4000 policy the total amount of insurance contemplated was prima facie the value of the property insured. Wensel v. Property Mutual Ins. Assn., 129-295.

Proofs of loss furnished to the company are only admissible in evidence in the first instance to establish the fact that they were so furnished. If a schedule attached to such proofs is referred to by a witness as furnishing a correct statement of the items of property destroyed and the value thereof, it may be introduced in evidence in connection with such testimony, but the two purposes should be kept distinct. Names v. Union Ins. Co., 104-612.

Under previous statutory provisions held that proofs of death in a particular case were not sufficient. Stephenson v. Bankers' Life Assn., 108-637.

SEC. 1742-a. Proofs of loss. In furnishing proofs of loss under any contract of insurance for damages or loss of personal property it shall only be necessary for the assured, within sixty days from the time the loss occurs, to give notice in writing to the company issuing such contract of insurance accompanied by an affidavit, stating the facts as to how the loss occurred, so far as same are within his knowledge, and the extent of the loss, any agreement or contract to the contrary notwithstanding. [29 G. A., ch. 73, § 1.]

The provisions of the policy relating to proofs of loss are superseded by the statutory provisions so far as they are inconsistent. American Cereal Co. v. Western Assur. Co., 148 Fed. 77.

SEC. 1743. Conditions. Any condition or stipulation in an application policy or contract of insurance, making the policy void before the loss occurs, shall not prevent recovery thereon by the insured, if it shall be shown by the plaintiff that the failure to observe such provision or the violation thereof did not contribute to the loss: provided, however, that any condition or stipulation referring to any other insurance, valid or invalid, or to vacancy of the insured premises or the title or ownership of the property insured, or to lien, or incumbrances thereon created by voluntary act of the insured and within his control, or to the suspension or forfeiture of the policy during default or failure to pay any written obligation given to the insurance company for the premium, or to the assignment or transfer of such policy of insurance before loss without the consent of the insurance company, or to the removal of the property insured, or to a change in the occupancy or use of the property insured, if such change or use makes the risk more hazardous, or to the fraud of the insured in the procurement of the contract of insurance, shall not be changed or affected by this provision. No recovery on a policy or contract of insurance shall be defeated for failure of the insured to comply, after a loss occurs, with any arbitration or appraisal stipulation as to fixing value of property. No arbitration shall take place except where the property was situated at the time of loss. Any agreement, stipulation or condition in any policy or contract of insurance by which any insurance company reserves or has the right to rebuild shall be void and of no effect in case of total loss, or where the amount of loss, upon the request of the insurance company, has been submitted to arbitration. Nothing herein shall be construed to change the limitations or restrictions respecting the pleading or proving of any defense by any insurance company to which it is subject by law. The provisions of this section shall apply to all contracts of insurance on real and personal property. [28 G. A., ch. 63, § 1.] [28 G. A., ch. 64, § 1.] [32 G. A., ch. 75.]

This provision has no application to the failure of the insured to comply with a condition precedent to the taking effect of the policy. Banco De Sonora v. Bankers' Mut. Casualty Co., 124-576.

A breach of warranty or condition constitutes, generally speaking, no defense, if it appears that such breach did not occasion or contribute to the loss; but the defense based on change in use or occupancy is good if such change makes the risk in fact more hazardous. Krell v. Chickasaw Farmers' Mut. Fire Ins. Co., 127-748.

The burden is on the insured suing on the policy to show that change in use or occupancy in violation of the provisions of the policy did not contribute to the loss. Ibid.

The question whether a change in occupancy without consent increases the risk is for the jury. Nicholas v. Iowa Merch. Mut. Ins. Co., 125-262.

The fact that the furniture in a dwelling house is insured after taking a policy on the house itself, does not in the absence of fraud or over-insurance constitute an increase of hazard as to the building. Ibid.

Breach of an agreement to keep a set of books in an iron safe will not defeat recovery for a loss under the policy unless it is pleaded and proven that such breach contributed to the loss. Johnson v. Farmers' Ins. Co., 126-565.

A provision in the policy that the removal of the property shall be deemed an increase of the risk as a matter of law is void in view of the statutory provision that the breach of the condition as to removal shall not affect the validity of the policy unless it increases the risk. The burden is on the insured to show that the removal, in violation of the terms of the policy, did not cause or contribute to the loss, but the burden is on the company to show, as a matter of defense, that it increased the risk. Adams v. Atlas Mut. Ins. Co., 112 N. W. 651.

This section does not apply to forfeitures accrued under policies previously issued. Elliott v. Farmers' Ins. Co., 114-153.

SEC. 1744. Notice and proof of loss—time of bringing action—provisions not affected by contract. The notice of loss and proof thereof required in section seventeen hundred and forty-two hereof, and the notice and proof of loss under oath in case of insurance on personal property, shall be given within sixty days from the time loss occurred, and no action for such loss shall be begun within forty days after such notice and proofs have been given to the company, nor shall the time within which action shall be brought be limited to less than one year from the time when a cause of action for the loss accrues. No provisions of any policy or contract to the contrary shall affect the provisions of this and the three preceding sections. [18 G. A., ch. 211, § 3.] [27 G. A., ch. 44, § 1.]

Proofs of loss: The statutory requirement as to notice and proofs of loss is all that can be made essential by the contract. A notice and affidavit are sufficient to constitute the proof required. The sufficiency of the document is not dependent on the intent, but on the contents. Parks v. Anchor Mut. F. Ins. Co., 106-402.

This statute concerning proofs of loss supersedes the provisions of a policy of insurance with relation to the same matter. Washburn-Halligan Coffee Co. v. Merchants' Fire Ins. Co., 110-423.

Stipulations in a policy that no officer or agent shall have power to waive any provision or condition of the policy, except such as by the terms of the policy may be subject of agreement endorsed thereon or added thereto, do not prevent waiver of proofs of loss by an officer or agent having general authority to do so. Such a stipulation relates to the conditions and provisions of the policy and not to their performance. Ibid., and Lake v. Farmers' Ins. Co., 110-473.

The provisions of 18 G. A., Chap. 211, Sec. 3, relating to proofs of loss, as originally enacted, held applicable to mutual benefit associations as well as fire insurance companies. Parsons v. A. O. U. W., 108-6.

Waiver: Good faith requires that upon receipt of proofs of loss, if the company is not satisfied therewith, it should specify its objections thereto, to the end that the proofs may be perfected if possible, and if the company fails to specify the objections at a time when they might be remedied it should not afterwards be heard to urge them. Dyer v. Des Moines Ins. Co., 103-524.

The action of the company in asking for an arbitration to determine the amount to be paid is a waiver of defects in the proofs or notice of loss known to the company before the arbitration took place. Dee & Sons Co. v. Key City F. Ins. Co., 104-167.

Notwithstanding a provision in the policy that none of its terms or conditions can be waived by any person except in writing by the secretary of the company, and that no agent has any authority to waive or modify any printed conditions of the policy, an adjusting agent having power to determine what proofs are satisfactory may waive those proofs which are regarded unimportant, although certain specified proofs are required by the policy. Bröck v. Des Moines Ins. Co., 106-30.

Failure to object to the proofs of loss because not accompanied with affidavit, as required, amounts to a waiver of objection on this ground. Pringle v. Des Moines Ins. Co., 107-742.

Where the company refuses payment on the ground that the policy has been suspended in consequence of failure to pay an installment of premium, waiver of proofs of loss may be inferred. Pray v. Life Indemnity & Security Co., 104-114; Smith v. Continental Ins. Co., 108-382.

Unqualified refusal to pay constitutes a waiver on the part of the insurance company of proofs of death, where something purporting to be proofs of death has been received by the company and not objected to. Stephenson v. Bankers' Life Assn., 108-637.

The promise to the company to pay is as effective as the waiver of proofs, as a denial of liability and the promise of settlement is inconsistent with insistence on strict compliance with the conditions of the contract. Lake v. Farmers' Ins. Co., 110-473.

Telegrams from insured advising the company of the loss and giving it all information which the insured could be supposed to have may constitute sufficient proof of the loss and by failing to object for want of an affidavit to such proofs, the company waives the requirement. Nicholas v. Iowa Merch. Mut. Ins. Co., 125-262.

An agent having power to adjust a loss has authority to waive formal proofs of loss. Lake v. Farmers' Ins. Co., 110-473.

Where the adjuster requires the procurement of duplicate invoices, which are prepared at considerable expense, the company cannot afterwards object that the proofs of loss are not sufficient. If the conduct of the company is such as to induce the insured to rest, in good faith, under the well founded belief of strict compliance, and that the conditions will not be insisted on, it cannot afterwards set up non-performance of such conditions as a bar to recovery. Ibid. Corson v. Anchor Mut. F. Ins. Co., 113-641.

Time for bringing action: Where action is prematurely brought because of failure of insured to demand an appraisal he cannot cure the defect in his proceeding by subsequently demanding such appraisal and setting out the fact in the supplemental petition. Zalesky v. Home Ins. Co., 102-613.

The statutory provision cannot be waived and an action brought in less than ninety days after notice of loss or a waiver of notice and proof is premature. Blood v. Hawkeye Ins. Co., 103-728.

Although in the second action it is claimed that the first action was not prematurely brought, this will not sustain the second action brought after the period of limitation under the policy has expired. Wilhelmi v. Des Moines Ins. Co., 103-532.

Where the first action for a loss under a policy was prematurely brought and subsequently another action was brought after the time limited in the policy for bringing action, held, that the second action was not to be deemed a continuation of the first action under the provisions of Code § 3455. Harrison v. Hartford F. Ins. Co., 67 Fed. 298.

The provisions of 18 G. A., chap. 211, as to time of bringing action, were not applicable to associations organized under § 1160 of the Code of '73, but associations collecting premiums instead of assessments from members were not properly organized under that section, and therefore were subject to the provisions of said act of 18 G. A. Bradford v. Mutual Ins. Co., 112-495.

Where the policy limited the time of bringing action to six months next after the fire, held, that the six months commenced to run not from the time of the fire, but from the time when the loss became payable, that is, sixty days after the notice and proof of loss were furnished. Read v. State Ins. Co., 103-307.

The provision of this section as to time of bringing suit held applicable to a loss occurring prior to the taking effect of the Code, when the statute provided that suit should not be brought within ninety days. Such a statutory provision relates to the remedy, and is no part of the contract.

two or more companies to enter into any agreement as to the amount of commissions to be allowed agents, they are invalid as depriving the companies of the liberty of contract, secured by the federal constitution. Greenwich Ins. Co. v. Carroll, 125 Fed. 121. (As to the second point this case is reversed. Carroll v. Greenwich Ins. Co., 199 U. S., 401.)

One who has accepted such a policy which by statute the company is not allowed to issue cannot recover therein. Ibid.

Members of the company are not individually liable under such a policy. Ibid.

An association organized under the provision of § 1160 of the Code of '73 could not collect money from a member by way of premium. Bradford v. Mutual F. Ins. Co., 112-495.

The provisions of this section as to "any contract of insurance agreement other than as plainly expressed in the policy issued" is to be limited in its application by the title of the act in which it was first enacted, and by the general provisions of the section, and is therefore applicable only to cases of discrimination. Kelley v. Mutual L. Ins. Co., 109 Fed. 56.

The provision as to contracts "plainly expressed in the policy issued" includes in the term "policy" the provision of the application endorsed thereon, in accordance with Code § 1819. Mutual L. Ins. Co. v. Kelly, 114 Fed. 268.

The amendment of this section made by 27 G. A., chap. 46, held not applicable where the policy had been issued and the death had occurred prior to the taking effect of the amendment. Beverly v. Northern L. Assn., 112-730.

SEC. 1771. Stock or premium notes. No note shall be accepted as part of the capital of a stock company, nor as a premium note for the purpose of organizing a mutual company, unless accompanied by a certificate of the clerk of the district court or other court of record, of the county in which the person executing it resides, to the effect that the person making it is in his opinion pecuniarily good and responsible therefor in property not exempt from execution. All notes heretofore or hereafter given as a part of the capital stock of a stock company, shall be deposited with the auditor of state, and in the event any stockholder shall dispose of his or her stock in such company, he or she may withdraw the note or notes so given, upon depositing with the auditor of state the note of the purchaser of such stock, accompanied by a certificate as provided for in this section. [29 G. A., ch. 75, § 1.]

SEC. 1782. Discriminations. No life insurance company or association[s] shall make or permit any distinction or discrimination between persons insured of the same class and equal expectancy of life in the amount or payment of premiums or rates charged for policies of life or endowment insurance, or in the dividends or other benefits payable thereon, or in any other of the terms or conditions of the contract it makes; nor shall any such company or association[s] or agent thereof make any contract of insurance agreement, other than as plainly expressed in the policy issued; nor shall any such company or association[s] or agent pay or allow, directly or indirectly, as an inducement to insurance, any rebate of premium payable on the policy, or any special favor or advantage in the dividends or other benefits to accrue thereon, or any valuable consideration or inducement whatever, not specified in the policy or contract of insurance. [23 G. A., ch. 33, § 1.] [27 G. A., ch. 46, § 1.]

SEC. 1783-a. Policy forms filed with auditor of state. It shall be unlawful for any insurance company transacting business within this state, under the provisions of chapter six (6) of title nine (9) of the code, to write or use any form of policy or contract of insurance, on the life of any individual in this state, until a copy of such form of policy or contract has been filed with the auditor of state subject to approval or disapproval by the governor, auditor of state and attorney-general, or by any two of them. Any form of policy or contract which has been disapproved by said officials shall not be written or used in this state. [30 G. A., ch. 59, § 1.]

SEC. 1783-b. Medical examination. Said officials shall decline to approve any such policy or contract of insurance unless the same shall, in all respects, conform to the laws of this state applicable thereto, and unless the issuance of the same is based upon a satisfactory medical examination of the applicant by a physician duly authorized to practice medicine in the state of Iowa, or the state where examined and no policy or contract of insurance shall be issued by any insurance company to any individual in this state until such examination shall have been passed and duly approved by the medical examiner or medical board of such company. [30 G. A., ch. 59, § 2.]

SEC. 1783-c. Penalty. Any company violating any of the provisions of this act shall, upon conviction thereof, be fined in a sum not less than one hundred nor more than one thousand dollars for each such offense, and the court may also revoke its authority to do business within this state. Should any company decline to file a copy of its form of policies or contracts, as provided in this act, the auditor of state shall suspend its authority to transact business within the state until such form of policies or contracts have been so filed and approved. [30 G. A., ch. 59, § 3.]

SEC. 1783-d. Life insurance companies may write other insurance. Any life insurance company organized on the stock or mutual plan and authorized by its charter or articles of incorporation so to do, may in addition to such life insurance, insure the health of persons and against personal injuries, disablement or death, resulting from traveling or general accidents by land or water, and insure employers against loss in consequence of accidents or casualties of any kind to employes or other persons, or to property resulting from any act of the employe or any accident or casualty to persons or property, or both, occurring in or connected with the transaction of their business, or from the operation of any machinery connected therewith, but nothing herein contained shall be construed to authorize any life insurance company to insure against loss or injury to person, or property, or both, growing out of explosion or rupture of steam boilers. [31 G. A., ch. 74.]

SEC. 1783-e. Capital stock—minimum amount. From and after the taking effect of this act, no insurance company shall be incorporated to transact business upon the stock plan, whether life insurance or insurance other than life, with less than one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000) capital, the entire amount of which shall be fully paid up in cash and invested as provided by law. No part of the capital referred to, shall be loaned to any officer or stockholder of the company. [32 G. A., ch. 79, § 1.]

SEC. 1783-f. Companies heretofore organized. The certificate of authority of any company heretofore organized and transacting business on the stock plan shall not be renewed after January 1st, 1910, unless said company shall have, at said time, at least one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000) of capital stock; at least fifty thousand dollars ($50,000) of which shall be paid up in cash and invested according to law. The remainder of said capital may be represented by stock notes payable to the company on demand of its board of directors and said notes shall be deposited with the auditor of state subject to his approval. But no increase of the capital stock of any company shall hereafter be made unless the amount of said increase is paid up in cash. [32 G. A., ch. 79, § 2.]

SEC. 1783-g. May not advertise authorized capital. No insurance company shall, after the taking effect of this act, be permitted to advertise or publish an authorized capital, or to represent in any manner itself as possessed of any greater capital than that actually paid up and invested as above provided. [32 G. A., ch. 79, § 3.]

SEC. 1783-h. Penalty. Any person, firm or corporation violating any of the provisions of this act, or failing to comply with any of its provisions, shall be subjected to the penalties provided in section four of chapter fifty-six, acts of the thirtieth general assembly. [32 G. A., ch. 79, § 4.]

CHAPTER 7.

OF STIPULATED PREMIUM AND ASSESSMENT LIFE INSURANCE ASSOCIATIONS.

SECTION 1784. Repeal—defined. That the law as it appears in section seventeen hundred and eighty-four (1784) of the supplement to the code be and the same is hereby repealed, and the following enacted in lieu thereof:

“Every corporation organized upon the assessment plan, for the purpose of insuring the lives of individuals or furnishing benefits to the widows, heirs, orphans or legatees of deceased members, or insuring the health of persons or furnishing accident indemnity, shall be styled an association, and any corporation doing business under this chapter which provides for the payment of policy claims, accumulation of a reserve or emergency fund, the expense of management and prosecution of the business, by payment of assessments as provided in its contracts, and wherein the liability of the insured to contribute to the payment of policy claims is not limited to a fixed amount, shall be deemed to be engaged in the business of life insurance upon the assessment plan, and shall be subject to the provisions of this chapter, and chapter eight, of title nine of the code.” [31 G. A., ch. 75.]

The statutory provisions with reference to mutual benefit associations, held to be applicable to an association organized under such provisions, although it had not fully complied therewith. Crocker v. Hogin, 103-243.

Life insurance companies, except as otherwise specially provided, are incorporated under the general provision as to the formation of corporations. Krause v. Modern Woodmen, 133-199.

Members of a mutual benefit association are bound to take notice of and be governed by its by-laws. Fitzgerald v. Metropolitan Acc. Assn., 106-457.

SEC. 1784-a. Repeal. That the law as it appears in sections seventeen hundred eighty-four-a (1784-a) to seventeen hundred eighty-four-o (1784-o) inclusive, supplement to the code be and the same are hereby repealed. [31 G. A., ch. 76.]

SEC. 1786. Name.

The provisions of Code § 1689 as to including the word “mutual” in the name of a mutual company has no application to associations organized under this chapter. Moore v. Union Frat. Acc. Assn., 103-424.

SEC. 1787. Conditions for commencing business.

Under the bond given by the president of an assessment life insurance company, the sureties are not liable to a receiver of the company for moneys wrongfully paid by him to one member which were collected for the benefit of another who has in turn been satisfied from funds subsequently collected or for money misappropriated after the expiration of the bond. Sherman v. Harbin, 124-643.

Any act of the president of the association contrary to his duty under its articles of incorporation, even though directed or acquiesced in by the board of directors, constitutes a breach of duty involving liability of the surety on his official bond if it results in loss to the association. Sherman v. Harbin, 125-174.

A new bond executed on re-election for another year is a new and independent undertaking and not a continuance of the bond for the previous year. Ibid.

Auditing the books of the company being no part of the duty of the president, he is not liable under his official bond for not discovering errors overlooked by the auditing committee. Ibid.

The act of the president in diverting the beneficiary fund to the payment of expenses in resisting claims renders him liable on his bond. Ibid.

SEC. 1788. Assessments. The articles and by-laws of each such association and its notices of assessment shall state the objects to which the money to be collected is to be devoted, and no part of the proceeds thereof shall be applied to any other purpose than as stated, and the excess, if any, beyond payment of the benefit, shall be set aside and applied only to like purposes, except that all sums collected for expenses and not used for that purpose may be transferred to the benefit, emergency or reserve fund. [21 G. A., ch. 65, § 6.] [30 G. A., ch. 60.]

While in the enforcement of a claim for a death loss against a mutual benefit association resort must be had in the first place to an action in mandamus to compel a levy of an assessment, yet, where the corporation fails to make the levy at a time when it would be effectual in furnishing the fund for the payment of the claim, and postpones it until long after, when by reason of decrease in the membership in the association it becomes ineffectual, the association may be held liable in damages. Christie v. Iowa L. Ins. Co., 111-177.

In such case interest from the time the money should have been collected and paid over under the terms of the contract may be added. Ibid.

The beneficiaries being entitled to the amount realized on particular assessments under their certificates, the misappropriation of an assessment made for a loss under one certificate to the payment of a loss under a different certificate, does not give rise to an action on the bond of the officer making such appropriation at the suit of the receiver of the company. Sherman v. Harbin, 124-643.

SEC. 1789. Insurable age—beneficiary—assignment of policy.

Age: An association is not precluded by the provisions of this section from assuming by consolidation the liability of another association to a member, although at the time of such consolidation the member is over the age when a valid certificate could have been issued. Cathcart v. Equitable Mut. L. Assn., 111-471.

A company whose articles do not prohibit the insurance of persons over the age specified by Code § 1789 cannot by its by-laws render a contract of insurance with a person within the statutory age ultra vires and void. Krause v. Modern Woodmen, 133-199.

Change of beneficiary: The provision as to change of beneficiaries relates to the certificate and not to the fund, and the word "assignment" as here used is equivalent to the word "endorsement." A beneficiary who is substituted by the act of the person on whose life the certificate is issued is not an assignee of the certificate. Shuman v. Supreme K. of H., 110-480.

Where the right to change the beneficiary is specifically provided for in the certificate, and the manner of doing so is pointed out, the method indicated must be adopted and if that method involves the issuance of a new certificate, the endorsement of a certificate without the observance of the formalities required will not give the endorsee a right to the proceeds as against the beneficiaries designated by the certificate itself. Shuman v. A. O. U. W., 110-642.

Where the benefit was made payable to the wife of the deceased, who was disqualified to collect it on account of having feloniously caused the death of her husband, held that her heirs had no interest in the benefit fund, but that the amount payable was held in trust by the association for the estate of the deceased. Schmidt v. Northern Life Assn., 112-41.

The beneficiary named in such a certificate has no property right therein, but only an expectancy. If a beneficiary is designated who does not belong to the class of persons enumerated by statute, the insurance becomes payable to those who would have been entitled to it in the absence of any designation. Ibid.

Where the parties have agreed upon a mode by which a change of beneficiary may be effected, the change can be made in that mode only, unless by subsequent agreement, assented to by the association, a different mode is substituted. Modern Woodmen v. Little, 114-109.

The beneficiary in a fraternal or mutual benefit association has no vested interest, but is subject to provisions as to changing beneficiaries and when the member has done all in his power to effect the change and entitle him to a new certificate in favor of the proposed beneficiary equity will carry out his purpose, although the actual issuance and acceptance of the new certificate were prevented by the death of the member. Wandell v. Mystic Toilers, 130-639.

And it seems that if by action of the local officer the member is misled as to the steps necessary to be taken, the association will be estopped to question the sufficiency of the change. Ibid.

This section applies to foreign as well as domestic companies. Belknap v. Johnston, 114-265.

Where the certificate is a contract of insurance, made in another state, and change of beneficiary is made and completed in that state, according to its laws, it will be valid. Ibid.

The right to change beneficiary existing in such other state at the time the contract was made cannot be affected by subsequent legislation of such state. Ibid.

Assignment: Where it was provided that the certificate should not be assignable in payment of or security for any debt, held, that the assignment thereof as a security was invalid and the creditor acquired no rights thereunder. Crocker v. Hogin, 103-243.

Rights of beneficiary: Until the beneficiary is changed by law, he has an actual, subsisting interest in the policy which will pass to his administrator in case of his death, and as against such beneficiary, or his administrator, suicide on the part of the insured is not a defense in the absence of a provision to that effect in the policy. But fraud, in procuring a policy with the intent to commit suicide, will vitiate the entire contract, and defeat recovery. Parker v. Des Moines Life Assn., 108-117.

Under an ordinary life policy the beneficiary has a vested right which cannot be impaired without his consent. Haerter v. Mohr, 114-636.

SEC. 1794. Foreign companies. Any association organized under the laws of any other state to carry on the business of insuring the lives of persons, or of furnishing benefits to the widows, orphans, heirs or legatees of deceased members, or of paying accident indemnity, or surrender value of certificates of insurance, upon the stipulated premium plan or assessment plan, may be permitted to do business in the state by complying with the requirements hereinafter made, but not otherwise. It shall file with the auditor of state a copy of its charter or articles of incorporation, duly certified by the proper officers of the state wherein it was organized, together with a copy of its by-laws, application and policy or certificate of membership. It shall also file with the auditor a statement, signed and verified by its president and secretary, which shall show the name and location of the association, its principal place of business, the names of its president, secretary and other principal officers, the number of certificates or policies in force, the aggregate amount insured thereby, the amount paid to beneficiaries in the event of death or accident, the amount paid on the last death loss and the date thereof, the amount of cash or other assets owned by the association and how invested, and any other information which the auditor may require. The statement, papers and proofs thus filed shall show that the death loss or surrender value of the certificate of insurance or accident indemnity is in the main provided for by assessments upon or contributions by surviving members of such association, and that it is legally organized, honestly managed, and that an ordinary assessment upon its members or other regular contributions to its mortuary fund are sufficient to pay its maximum certificate to the full limit named therein. Upon its complying with the provisions of this section, and of section eighteen hundred and eight, chapter eight, of this title, and the payment of twenty-five dollars, the auditor shall issue to it a certificate of authority to do business in this state, provided the same right is extended by the state in which said association is organized to associations of the same class in this state. When the auditor doubts the solvency of any foreign association, and the failure to pay the full limit named in its certificate or policy shall be such evidence of its insolvency as to require the auditor to investigate it, he shall for this or other good cause, at the expense of such association, cause an examination of its books, papers and business to be made, and if upon such examination he finds that the association is not financially sound, or is not paying its policies or certificates in full, or is conducting its business fraudulently, or if it shall fail to make the statement required by law, he may revoke its authority and prohibit it from doing business until it shall again comply with the provisions of this chapter. If the auditor appoints some one not receiving a regular salary in his office to make this examination, such examiner shall receive five dollars per day for his services in addition to his actual traveling and hotel expenses, to be paid by the association examined, or by the state on the approval of the executive council, if the association fails to pay the same.

The provisions of this section shall apply to fraternal beneficiary associations doing exclusively an accident insurance business, and upon compliance with the provisions of this chapter, and the provisions of chapter eight of title nine of the code, so far as the same are applicable, such associations may be authorized to transact business within this state. [21 G. A., ch. 65, § 13.] [32 G. A., ch. 82.]

SEC. 1798-a. Future organization or authorization prohibited—valuation of policies of existing associations. No life insurance company or association, other than fraternal beneficiary associations, which issues contracts, the performance of which is contingent upon the payment of assessments of call made upon its members, shall do business within this state except such companies or associations as are now authorized to do business within this state and which shall value their assessment policies or certificates of membership as yearly renewable term policies according to the standard of valuation of life insurance policies prescribed by the laws of this state. [32 G. A., ch. 83, § 1.]

SEC. 1798-b. Reincorporation as legal reserve company. Any existing domestic assessment company or association may, with the written consent of the auditor of state, upon a majority vote of its trustees or directors, amend its articles of incorporation and by-laws in such manner as to transform itself into a legal reserve or level premium company, and upon so doing and upon procuring from the auditor of state a certificate of authority, as prescribed by law, to transact business in this state as a legal reserve or level premium company, shall incur the obligations and enjoy the benefits thereof, the same as though originally thus incorporated, and such corporation, under its charter as thus amended, shall be a continuation of such original corporation, and the officers thereof shall serve through their respective terms as provided in the original charter, but their successors shall be elected and serve as in such amended articles provided; but such amendment or re-incorporation shall not affect existing suits, rights or contracts. Any assessment company re-incorporated to transact life insurance business, shall value its assessment policies or certificates as yearly renewable term policies according to the standard of valuation of life insurance policies prescribed by the laws of this state. [32 G. A., ch. 83, § 2.]

CHAPTER 8.

OF PROVISIONS APPLYING TO LIFE INSURANCE COMPANIES AND ASSOCIATIONS.

SECTION 1805. Policy exempt from execution.

The execution of an ordinary life policy confers immediately a vested right upon and raises an irrevocable trust in favor of the party named as beneficiary, a right which cannot be impaired without the beneficiary's consent. Haerther v. Mohr, 114-636.

The purpose of this section being to provide that the money derived from life or accident insurance shall enure to the benefit of the widow, exempt from her antecedent debts, it follows that she may invest a part or the whole thereof in property which shall be necessary for the comfort and support of her family, without impairing this right of exemption. The exemption is not limited to the money itself. Cook v. Allee, 119-226.

In the absence of any contract or arrangement, the proceeds of life insurance are not exempt in the hands of the heir from the debts of such heir. O'Melia v. Hoffmeyer, 119-444.

Where a bankrupt holds a policy payable to himself, his heirs or legal representatives, the surrender value thereof will be a part of the assets of his estate in bankruptcy, under the provisions of the federal bankrupt law. In re Lange, 91 Fed. 361; in re Steele, 98 Fed. 78.

The provisions of the bankrupt law as to exemption of policies of life insurance are only applicable to cases where there is no exemption by the state law, but so far as such policies are exempt by the state law such exemption is recognized under the general provisions as to exempt property. Steele v. Buel, 104 Fed. 968.

SEC. 1806. Repeal—investment of funds. That the law which appears as section eighteen hundred and six (1806), supplement to the code, be and the same is hereby repealed and the following enacted in lieu thereof:

“The funds required by law to be deposited with the auditor of state by any company or association contemplated in the two chapters preceding, and the funds or accumulations of any such company or association organized under the laws of this state held in trust for the purpose of fulfilling any contract in its policies or certificates, shall be invested in the following described securities and no other:

1. The bonds of the United States;
2. The bonds of this state or of any other state when such bonds are at or above par;
3. Bonds or other evidences of indebtedness of any county, city, town or school district within the state or any other state, drainage district bonds of this state, improvement certificates issued by any municipal corporation of this state such certificates being a first lien upon real estate within the corporate limits of the municipality issuing the same, where such bonds or other evidences of indebtedness are issued by authority of and according to law and bearing interest, and are approved by the executive council;
4. Bonds and mortgages and other interest bearing securities being first liens upon real estate within this state or any other state worth at least double the amount loaned thereon and secured thereby exclusive of improvements, or two and one-half times such amount including the improvements thereon, if such improvements are constructed of brick or stone; but no such improvements shall be considered in estimating the value unless the owner shall contract to keep the same insured in some reliable fire insurance company or companies authorized to do business in the state, during the life of the loan, in a sum at least double the excess of the loan above one-half the value of the ground exclusive of the improvements, the insurance to be made payable in case of loss to the company or association investing its funds, as its interests may appear at the time of loss; provided that before a company or association may invest any of its funds in such securities as are specified in this subdivision of this section in any state other than the state of Iowa it shall first obtain consent of the executive council so to do;
5. Loans upon its own policies, where the same have been in force at least two full years, in an amount not exceeding the net terminal reserve. If such loan is made, the company must describe in the note or contract taken, the amount of the loan, the name of the borrower, the number of the policy, and the terms of such note or contract shall make the amount loaned a lien against such policy and such note or contract shall be numbered, dated and signed, giving the postoffice address of the insured.
6. Any such real estate in this state as is necessary for its accommodation as a home office and in the erection of any building for such purposes, it may add thereto rooms for rent; provided that before any company or association shall invest any of its funds, in accordance with the provisions of this subdivision it shall first obtain the consent of the executive council, and provide[d] further that not to exceed ten per cent.

of the lawful reserve of such company or association shall be so invested. Any company or association so investing its funds may use the value of any such home office as a part of the deposit of legal reserve in which case it shall convey the same to the auditor of state by deed, such property to be held by him in trust for the benefit of the policy-holders or members of the company or association. The value thereof to be determined from time to time by the auditor of state.

All such securities shall be deposited with the auditor of state, subject to his approval, and shall remain with him until withdrawn in accordance with law. Any company or association receiving payments or partial payments on any securities deposited with the auditor of state shall notify him of such fact, giving the amount and date of payment, within thirty (30) days after such payment shall have been made. The officers of any company or association which fails to report the receipt of payments or partial payments as above provided, shall be liable to a fine in double the amount collected and not reported within the time and in the manner above specified. It shall be the duty of the company or association and of the officers thereof to withdraw from deposit any loans made in accordance with the provisions of subdivision five (5) of this section within fifteen (15) days after the date of the lapsing or termination of any policy of insurance upon which any such loan is made. Any association making deposit with the auditor of state as herein contemplated, shall at the time of making request for the withdrawal of any securities designate for what purpose the same are desired to be withdrawn. The auditor of state shall have authority to suspend or revoke the certificate of authority of any company or association failing to comply with any of the provisions of this section or for violating the same." [31 G. A., ch. 77.]

SEC. 1811. Defenses to actions on policies—intoxication.

This provision has no application to mutual benefit associations. Knapp v. Brotherhood, 128-566.

SEC. 1812. Physician's certificate.

To defeat recovery on account of false statements as to the health of the applicant, the defendant must show, not only that the statements of the applicant were false and fraudulent, but that the examiner was deceived thereby. But the defendant is not estopped by the certificate of the medical examiner from setting up fraud on the part of the applicant in procuring such certificate on which the policy was issued. Welch v. Union Central L. Ins. Co., 108-224.

The purpose of this statutory provision, estopping the company from setting up misrepresentations as to the health of deceased where a medical examiner has passed on the fitness of the applicant, is to prevent recovery being defeated on any policy where the company has, by its agent, examined and passed upon the fitness of the applicant for insurance, and it is quite immaterial what representations have been made, or warranties given. The fraud or deceit referred to in the statute is that of procuring the report or certificate of the physician and not the policy. Weimer v. Economic L. Assn., 108-451.

Unless the examiner is deceived by answers in the application, or in some other way, the company is not entitled to have the condition of health of the insured at the time of the issuance of the policy investigated. In the absence of fraud or deceit practiced on the medical examiner the company is estopped from questioning the truthfulness of the answers made by the insured in the application. Stewart v. Equitable Mut. L. Ins. Assn., 110-528.

Under this section the company is estopped from inquiring into the correctness of answers in the application, in the absence of an allegation that the medical examiner's report was procured through fraud or deceit. The fact that the statements in such application amount to warranties is immaterial. Nelson v. Netherland L. Ins. Co., 110-600.

The provisions of this section evidently relate to procedure, and not to the validity of the contract, and therefore control in an action on a policy issued in another state by a foreign insurance company. Ibid.

Where a physician reports in favor of the application, and it is not proven that such report was secured by fraud practiced upon the physician, the defendant is estopped from denying the truthfulness of the applicant's representations. Brown v. Modern Woodmen, 115-450.

The medical examiner or physician referred to in this section is the person who examines the applicant and determines his condition of health and reports whether he is a proper risk. Peterson v. Des Moines L. Assn., 115-668.

The provisions of this section apply to the person who represents the company in making an examination of applicants as to their physical condition, and not to the action of the medical director of the company in determining whether the risk shall be accepted. Wood v. Farmers' Life Assn., 121-44.

Proof of the falsity of the representations made in an application for life insurance is not alone sufficient to establish that such representations were fraudulently made. Ley v. Metropolitan L. Ins. Co., 120-208.

The provisions with reference to the conclusiveness of a health certificate given by a medical examiner have no application to mutual benefit associations. Smith v. Supreme Lodge, 123-676.

In an action on a fraternal benefit certificate evidence of fraud in the application consisting in false answers as to the conditions of the applicant's health is admissible to defeat recovery. Ibid.

Section applied. Metzradt v. Modern Brotherhood of America, 112-522.

SEC. 1813. Misrepresentation of age.

This provision held applicable to a contract of insurance in the Modern Woodmen, it not appearing that such organization was a fraternal beneficiary society as defined in Code § 1822, and therefore specially exempted from the general statutory provisions relating to life insurance. Krause v. Modern Woodmen, 133-199.

SEC. 1819. Copy of application.

Whether the provision that a copy of the application must be attached to or endorsed upon the policy pertains solely to matters of remedy and procedure, and is therefore applicable in an action in this state upon a policy regardless of the place of contract, quaere; but held that the statute of Minnesota under which the policy was executed, though different in terms from the statutory provision in this state, should receive the same construction, and that evidence of fraudulent statements in the application not thus attached or endorsed was inadmissible. Rauen v. Prudential Ins. Co., 129-725.

The provisions of 18 G. A., chap. 211, G. A., as to attaching copy of application to policy (now embodied in Code § 1741) held applicable to fraternal societies. Stork v. Supreme Lodge K. of P., 113-724.

Section applied. Mutual L. Ins. Co. v. Kelly, 114 Fed. 268.

As applicable to this section, see notes to Code § 1741.

SEC. 1820. Limitation of action.

The provisions of 18 G. A., chap. 211, § 3, relating to proofs of loss, held applicable to mutual benefit associations, as well as fire insurance companies. Parsons v. A. O. U. W., 108-6.

SEC. 1820-a. Disbursements—vouchers—affidavit. No domestic life insurance company shall make any disbursement of one hundred dollars or more unless the same be evidenced by a voucher signed by or on behalf of the person, firm, or corporation receiving the money and correctly describing the consideration for the payment. If the expenditure be for both services and disbursements the voucher shall set forth the services rendered and an itemized statement of the disbursements made. When such voucher cannot be obtained the expenditure shall be evidenced by an affidavit of some officer or agent of said company describing the character and object of the expenditure and stating the reason for not obtaining such voucher. [32 G. A., ch. 84.]

SEC. 1820-b. Misrepresentations prohibited. No life insurance corporation doing business in this state and no officer, director or agent thereof shall issue, circulate, or use, or cause or permit to be issued, circulated, or used, any estimate, illustration, circular or statement of any sort

The results of any examination shall be published in one or more newspapers of the state or in pamphlet form, when in the opinion of the auditor of state the interests of the public require it. But if the commission shall deem it necessary in order to conserve the interests of the policy-holders that notice shall be given, it shall require the company or companies to notify, by mail, all of the members or policy-holders of the said company or companies of the pendency of such petition, and the time and place at which the same will be heard, the length of time of such notice to be determined by the commission. Such consolidation or re-insurance shall only be approved by the consent of all of the members of said commission, and it shall be the duty of said commission to guard the interests of the policy-holders of any such company or companies proposing consolidation or re-insurance. In case of companies organized on the assessment plan, the commission may require the plan of consolidation or re-insurance to be submitted to the membership of such company or companies to be voted upon. When submitted, it shall be at a meeting called for that purpose, thirty days' notice being given, and a two-thirds vote of all the members present and voting shall be necessary to an approval of any plan of consolidation or re-insurance, and no proxies shall, in any case, be voted. SEC. 1821-t. Expenses, how paid. All expenses and costs incident to proceedings under the provisions of this chapter, shall be paid by the company or companies bringing the petition. [30 G. A., ch. 58, § 8.]

SEC. 1821-u. Penalty. [30 G. A., ch. 58, § 9.]

SEC. 1821-v. Proportionate representation. From and after the taking effect of this act, the holder or holders, jointly or severally, of not less than one-fifth but less than a majority of the shares of the capital stock of corporations organized on the stock plan under the laws of this state for transacting the business of life or fire insurance, shall be entitled to nominate to be elected or appointed, as the case may be, directors or other persons performing the functions of directors by whom, according to the articles of incorporation of such corporations its affairs are to be conducted. In the event such nomination shall be made, there shall be elected or appointed to the extent that the total number to be elected or appointed is divisible, such proportionate number from the persons so nominated as the shares of stock held by persons making such nominations bear to the whole number of shares issued; provided the holder or holders of the minority shares of stock shall only be entitled to one-fifth (1-5) (disregarding fractions) of the total number of directors to be elected for each one-fifth (1-5) of the entire capital stock of such corporation so held by them; and provided further that this act shall not be construed to prevent the holders of a majority of the stock of any such corporation from electing the majority of its directors. CHAPTER 9.

OF FRATERNAL BENEFICIARY SOCIETIES, ORDERS OR ASSOCIATIONS.

SECTION 1822. Defined.

Unless it appears that an association engaged in the business of insurance is within the definition of fraternal beneficiary societies, it will be presumed to be within the general provisions relating to life insurance companies and associations. Krause v. Modern Woodmen, 133-199.

SEC. 1824. Insurable age—beneficiary.

The designation of a beneficiary in a certificate of fraternal insurance is not affected by the fact that such beneficiary has subsequently ceased to bear the relationship to the member required by the articles of the association with reference to the designation of such beneficiary. White v. Brotherhood of Am. Yeomen, 124-293; Schmidt v. Hauer, 111 N. W. 966.

Relationship by affinity is not created between the blood relatives on either side of the parties to the marriage relation, and a beneficiary is not a relative of the member within the statutory language as to who may be beneficiaries where their relationship is only by affinity through one who is deceased. Smith v. Supreme Tent, 127-115.

Where a beneficiary named is not capable of taking the proceeds under the limitations of the statute as to who may be made beneficiaries, the administrator of the deceased member can recover such proceeds as though no beneficiary had been named. Smith v. Supreme Tent, 127-115.

In an action against a mutual benefit company by one claiming under a certificate as wife of the insured, the company defending on the ground that insured had a prior wife living, and that plaintiff was not, therefore, entitled to the benefit, has the burden of showing that a prior marriage existed, and had not been dissolved. Parsons v. A. O. U. W., 108-6.

As to changing beneficiary see notes to § 1789.

SEC. 1825. Statutes applicable.

The statutes relating to life insurance companies are not applicable to mutual benefit associations except as specifically provided, and therefore held that the provisions of Code, § 1812, making the certificate of a medical examiner conclusive on the company as against all statements in the application, are not applicable to such associations. Smith v. Supreme Lodge, 123-676.

The provisions of the general chapter relating to life insurance are not applicable to mutual benefit associations unless incorporated into the chapter relating to such associations. Knapp v. Brotherhood, 128-566.

SEC. 1832. Repeal — annual certificate — amount of insurance required. That the law which appears as section eighteen hundred and thirty-two (1832) of the supplement to the code be and the same is hereby repealed and the following enacted in lieu thereof:

“Before any beneficiary society, order or association shall be authorized to commence business within this state, it shall submit to the auditor of state its by-laws or rules by which it is to be governed, and also its articles of incorporation which shall include its plan of business. The auditor of state shall thereupon submit its articles of incorporation to the attorney-general for examination, and if found by him to be in harmony with this title, chapter and with law, he shall so certify upon said articles and return them to the auditor of state. If the auditor of state shall approve the articles and also the by-laws or rules, he shall issue to the society, order or association a permit in writing, authorizing it to transact business within this state for a period of one year from the first day of April of the year of its issue, for which certificate and all proceedings in connection therewith, there shall be paid to the auditor of state a fee of twenty-five dollars, and for each annual renewal thereof a like fee shall be paid; provided, however, that before such certificate shall be issued, the fraternal society, order or association shall have actual bona fide applications upon the lives of at least five hundred (500) persons, residents of this state, for at least one thousand dollars of insurance each, and the auditor of state may require the presentation of such applications, signed by the applicants themselves. No renewal of certificate of authority shall be made to any society, order, or association whose membership, in good standing, or the amount of whose insurance in force shall be reduced below the above requirements. Societies, orders or associations not organized under the laws of this state, in addition to the requirements of the provisions of section eighteen hundred twenty-nine (1829) of the code, must also comply with all of the provisions of this chapter, except as to the residence of membership; provided, that no such society, order or association shall be authorized to transact business within this state unless it shall be shown to have actual members, in good standing, of at least one thousand, and at least one million dollars of insurance in force." [30 G. A., ch. 62.]

SEC. 1833. Agents.

Mutual benefit associations are prohibited from employing paid agents, and therefore such an organization cannot after it is formed, ratify the act of a promoter in agreeing that an agent shall have a commission for procuring members for the organization. First National Bank v. Church Federation, 129-268.

Such a contract being expressly forbidden, the association is not estopped by taking advantage of the services of such agent from defending against his claim for compensation. Ibid.

The statute does not, however, prohibit others than the association from employing and paying an agent to procure members, and held that the promoter pretending to act as general superintendent of the organization was liable to the agent employed by him in the name of the association for compensation under the contract. Ibid.

SEC. 1839-a. "Association" defined. The term "association" when used in this act shall mean any society, order or association organized or authorized under the provisions of chapter nine of title nine of the code. [30 G. A., ch. 61, § 1.]

SEC. 1839-b. Examination—assistants—compensation. The auditor of state may, at any time he may deem it advisable, either in person or by his legally appointed representative, make an examination of or inquire into the affairs of any fraternal beneficiary association authorized or seeking to be authorized to transact business within this state, provided the examination of associations organized under the laws of this state shall not be less frequent than once during each biennial period. To aid in making such examination, the auditor of state may appoint such assistants as may be necessary, each of whom shall receive as compensation for his services not to exceed five dollars per day. [30 G. A., ch. 61, § 2.]

SEC. 1839-c. Officers to assist—examiner may administer oaths. When an association is being examined, the officers, agents or employes thereof shall produce for inspection all books, papers, documents or other information concerning the affairs of the association and shall otherwise assist in the examination. The auditor of state or examiner shall have authority to administer oaths, and may summon and may examine under oath any officer, employe, representative or agent of any association concerning its affairs or condition. [30 G. A., ch. 61, § 3.]

SEC. 1839-d. Revocation or suspension of authority. If upon investigation or examination, it shall appear to the satisfaction of the auditor of state that any association is doing an illegal or unauthorized business, or is failing to fulfill its contracts with its members, or is conducting its business fraudulently, or if its membership or the amount of its insurance in force has been reduced below the legal requirement, or should any association decline or refuse to submit to an examination, the auditor of state may suspend or revoke its certificate of authority to transact business within this state, and having revoked the certificate of authority of any association organized under the laws of this state, he shall at once report the same to the attorney-general who shall apply to the district court or any judge thereof for the appointment of a receiver to wind up the affairs of such association. [30 G. A., ch. 61, § 4.]

SEC. 1839-e. Expenses—how paid. In addition to the compensation of the assistants provided for in section two of this act, the auditor or examiner and assistants shall be entitled to actual and necessary traveling, hotel and other expenses while conducting examinations away from their respective places of residence, the same to be paid by the treasurer of state upon warrants drawn by the auditor of state, bills therefor having been filed under oath and approved by the executive council. Such expense and compensation shall, by the auditor of state, be charged to and collected from the associations examined and should any association neglect or refuse to pay the same, the auditor of state shall at once revoke its certificate of authority to transact business within this state. [30 G. A., ch. 61, § 5.]

SEC. 1839-f. Soliciting new business—penalty. Any officer, manager, agent or representative of any association who with knowledge that its certificates [certificate] of authority has been suspended or revoked or that it is doing an illegal, unauthorized or fraudulent business solicits insurance for said association or receives applications therefor, or does any other act or thing toward receiving or procuring any new business for said association, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and for every such act, on conviction thereof, shall pay a fine of not less than one hundred nor more than one thousand dollars, or be imprisoned in the county jail not more than one year, or be punished by both such fine and imprisonment. [30 G. A., ch. 61, § 6.]

SEC. 1839-g. Plan of consolidation or re-insurance — approval. When any fraternal beneficiary association shall propose to consolidate or enter into any re-insurance contract with any other association or organization, it shall present its proposed plan of consolidation or re-insurance, together with a statement of the condition of its affairs to the auditor of state for his approval. Should he approve the plan, the same shall be submitted by any association proposing to re-insure its risks or transfer its business, to its local lodges or organizations or to a regular or special meeting of its supreme lodge or governing body to be voted upon, such notice being given as the auditor of state may direct. If, in the judgment of the auditor of state, it is deemed advisable he may also require the plan to be in like manner submitted to the association proposing to accept or re-insure the risks of any other association. In case two or more associations propose to consolidate, the proposed plan of consolidation shall be submitted, as above provided, to all of the associations interested in such consolidation. In any of the above cases, a two-thirds vote of all of the members of each association present and voting shall be necessary to an approval of any plan of consolidation or re-insurance, and in no case shall proxies be voted. On presenting to the auditor of state satisfactory proof that the foregoing provisions have been complied with and that the required number of votes have been cast in favor of the proposed plan, he shall issue to the associations an order to the effect that the plan has been approved, and the same shall be in force and effect from and after the date of such order, and the auditor of state shall direct such distribution of the assets of any such association or associations as shall be just and equitable. [30 G. A., ch. 63, § 1.]

SEC. 1839-h. Expenses, how paid. All expenses or costs incident to proceedings under the provisions of this act shall be paid by the associations interested. [30 G. A., ch. 63, § 2.]

SEC. 1839-i. Penalty. Any officer, director or manager of any association violating or consenting to the violation of any of the provisions of this act, shall be punished by a fine of not less than one thousand dollars, or by imprisonment in the county jail not less than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment in the discretion of the court. [30 G. A., ch. 63, § 3.]

SEC. 1839-j. Mortuary assessment rates. No fraternal beneficiary society not admitted to transact business within this state prior to the passage of this act, shall be incorporated or given a permit or certificate of authority to transact business within this state, unless it shall first show that the mortuary assessment rates provided for in whatever plan of business it has adopted, are not lower than is indicated as necessary by the following mortality table:

Provided, however, that nothing in this act shall be construed to apply to any association organized solely for benevolent purposes and composed wholly of members of any one occupation or guild. [32 G. A., ch. 86.]

SEC. 1839-k. Acquisition of real estate—erection of building—conditions. Any fraternal beneficiary society, order or association organized under the laws of this state, accumulating money to be held in trust for the purpose of the fulfillment of its certificates or contracts, shall be permitted to invest not to exceed ten per cent. (10%) of the aggregate amount of such accumulation in such real estate in this state as is necessary for its accommodation as a home office, and in the purchase or erection of any building for such purpose it may add thereto rooms for rent; provided that before any association shall invest any of its funds in accordance with the provisions of this sub-division it shall first obtain the consent of the executive council. Any company or association so investing its funds shall convey the real estate thus acquired to the auditor of state by deed, such property to be held by him in trust for the benefit of the members of such association, the value thereof to be determined from time to time by the auditor of state. Provided, that nothing in this act shall be construed to permit the officials or board of directors of such society, order or association to make such investment without authority specifically granted by the said society, order or association through its grand or supreme lodge or convention. [32 G. A., ch. 87.]

SEC. 1839-l. Investment of funds—securities deposited. Any fraternal beneficiary society, order or association organized under the laws of this state, accumulating money to be held in trust for the purpose of the fulfillment of its certificates or contracts, shall invest such accumulations in the following securities and no other:

1. Bonds of the United States.
2. Bonds of this or of any other state, when such bonds are at or above par.
3. Bonds or other evidences of indebtedness of any county, city, town or school district within the state or any other state, or drainage bonds of any drainage district in the state of Iowa where such bonds or other evidences of indebtedness are issued by authority of and according to law and bearing interest, and are approved by the executive council.
4. Bonds, mortgages and other interest bearing securities being first liens upon real estate within this state or any other state, worth at least double the amount loaned thereon and secured thereby exclusive of improvements, or two and one-half times such amount including the improvements thereon, if such improvements are constructed of brick or stone; but no such improvements shall be considered in estimating the value unless the owner shall contract to keep the same insured in some reliable fire insurance company or companies authorized to do business in the state, during the life of the loan, in a sum at least double the excess of the loan above one-half the value of the ground exclusive of the improvements, the insurance to be made payable in case of loss to the company or association investing its funds, as its interest may appear at the time of loss.

All such securities shall be deposited with the auditor of state subject to his approval, and shall remain with him until withdrawn in accordance with the provisions of this act. Any fraternal beneficiary society, order or association receiving payments, or partial payments on any securities deposited with the auditor of state, shall notify him of such fact giving the amount and date of payment within fifteen (15) days after such payment shall have been made. The officers of any society, order or association which fails to report the receipt of payments or partial payments as above provided shall be liable to a fine in double the amount collected and not reported within the time and in the manner above specified. Any society, order or association required to make a deposit with the auditor of state as herein contemplated, shall at the time of making such deposit, designate by what provisions of its articles of incorporation or laws such fund is accumulated and upon making request for withdrawal of any funds shall designate for what purpose such withdrawal is desired. Any society, order or association, may at any time change its securities on deposit by depositing a like amount in other securities of the same character and the auditor of state shall permit a withdrawal of the same upon satisfactory proof in writing filed with him that they are to be used for the purpose for which they were originally deposited. The auditor of state shall have authority to suspend or revoke the certificate of authority of any society, order or association failing to comply with any of the provisions of this act or for violating the same.

Nothing in this act shall be construed to apply to any association organized solely for benevolent purposes and composed wholly of members of any one occupation, guild, profession or religious denomination. [32 G. A., chs. 88-89.]

CHAPTER 10.

OF SAVINGS BANKS.

SECTION 1841. Business.

A savings bank has authority to receive securities of its depositors for safe keep- ing. Sherwood v. Home Savings Bank, 131-528.

SEC. 1842. Articles of incorporation. The articles of incorporation of a savings bank shall be signed and acknowledged by the incorporators before some officer authorized to take acknowledgment of deeds, and give the corporate name, the object for which it is formed, the amount of capital, the time of its existence, which shall not exceed fifty years, the number of its directors, the name and postoffice address of each person or officer who shall manage its affairs until the first election, and the name of the city, town or village, and the county, in which the principal place of business is to be located. Such articles shall be filed and recorded in the office of the recorder of deeds of the county of the principal place of business, and in the office of the secretary of state. Notice of its incorporation shall be given by publication in some newspaper published in the county wherein the bank is located, once each week, for four consecutive weeks, which notice shall state, in substance, the matters required to be given in the articles of incorporation. [15 G. A., ch. 60, § 3.] [30 G. A., ch. 2, § 5.]

SEC. 1843. Capital. The paid up capital of any savings bank shall not be less than ten thousand dollars in cities, towns or villages having a population of ten thousand or less, nor less than fifty thousand dollars in cities having a greater population. The corporation may commence business when its first directors or officers named in its recorded articles of incorporation shall have furnished the auditor of state proof, under oath, that the required capital has been paid in and is held in good faith by said bank, and he has satisfied himself of such fact, for which purpose he may make a personal examination, or cause it to be made, at the expense of such bank, and he is also satisfied that the preceding sections of this chapter have been complied with, and has issued a certificate to that effect, naming therein its first board of directors, notice of which certificate shall be given by the publication thereof once each week for four consecutive weeks in some newspaper printed in the county where its articles are recorded, at the expense of such bank, and proof of such publication by the oath of the publisher or his foreman filed with such auditor. [15 G. A., ch. 60, §§ 2, 3.] [30 G. A., ch. 2, § 6.]

SEC. 1844. Powers.

Under a previous statutory provision that a savings bank should not make a loan of money to any person in excess of a certain per cent. of its capital, held that such provision did not render loans in excess void, the prohibition being intended as a rule for the government of the bank. Benton County Sav. Bank v. Boddicker, 105-548.

A savings bank is not liable for the negligence of a clerk furnished by it to keep account of the sales at a public auction and take notes with good security for such sales. Willett v. Farmers' Sav. Bank, 107-69.

SEC. 1845. Management—officers—meetings.

While the board of directors of a savings bank may elect a cashier to hold office during the pleasure of the board, it may also adopt the plan of electing or appointing the cashier annually, and if it does so, the surety on the cashier's bond is not liable for defalcation after the annual period for which the bond was given. Ida County Sav. Bank v. Seidensticker, 128-54.

The provision that the cashier may be dismissed at the pleasure of the board does not negative his appointment for a fixed term. Ibid.

Although the board has appointed a cashier to hold office at pleasure, it may make a new appointment of the same person as cashier for a definite period, which appointment will limit the liability of the sureties on his original bond, although as a matter of fact he continues without interruption to occupy the position under the new arrangement and subsequent arrangements of the same character. Wapello State Bank v. Colton, 133-147.

The existence of a vacancy is not essential to the authority of the governing board to change the terms and conditions of the service of an officer already holding office which the board has authority to fill at pleasure. Ibid.

SEC. 1848. Deposits. Any savings bank organized under this chapter may receive on deposit money equal to twenty times the aggregate amount of its paid up capital and surplus, and no greater amount of deposits shall be received without a corresponding increase of the aggregate paid up capital and surplus, which capital and surplus shall be a guaranty fund for the better security of depositors, and invested in safe and available securities. The deposits so received shall be paid to such depositor or his representative, when requested, with such interest and under such regulations as the board of directors shall, from time to time, prescribe, not inconsistent with the provisions of this chapter, which shall be printed and conspicuously exposed in the business office of the bank, in some place accessible and visible to all; and no alteration which may at any time be made in such rules and regulations shall affect the rights of depositors acquired previously thereto in respect to deposits or interest thereon. Savings banks may require sixty days' written notice of the withdrawal of savings deposits, but when there are sufficient funds on hand the officers thereof may, in their discretion, waive this requirement. They may close any account, upon such written notice as may be provided for in the by-laws, directing a depositor to withdraw his deposits, after which it shall cease to draw interest. But nothing in this chapter shall prevent such banks, in their discretion, issuing certificates of deposit payable upon demand. [15 G. A., ch. 60, § 7.] [28 G. A., ch. 67, §§ 2, 4.] [29 G. A., ch. 167, § 1.]

SEC. 1850. Investment of funds. Each savings bank shall invest its funds or capital, all moneys deposited therein and all its gains and profits, only as follows:

1. In bonds or interest bearing notes or certificates of the United States;
2. In bonds or evidences of debt of this state, bearing interest;

3. In bonds or warrants of any city, town, county, school district, or drainage district of this state, issued pursuant to the authority of law; but not exceeding twenty-five per cent. of the assets of the bank shall consist of such bonds or warrants;

4. In notes or bonds secured by mortgage or deed of trust upon unincumbered real estate in this state, worth at least twice the amount loaned thereon;

5. It may discount, purchase, sell and make loans upon commercial paper, notes, bills of exchange, drafts, or any other personal or public security, but shall not purchase, hold or make loans upon the shares of its capital stock;

6. In all cases of loans upon real estate, all the expenses of searches, examination and certificates of title, or the inspection of property, appraisals of value, and of drawing, perfecting and recording papers, shall be paid by such borrowers; if buildings are included in the valuation of real estate upon which a loan shall be made, they shall be insured by the mortgagor for at least two-thirds of their value, in some solvent company, and the loss, if any, under the policy of insurance shall be made payable to the bank or its assigns, as its interests may appear. When the mortgagor neglects to procure the insurance as above provided, the mortgagee may procure the same in the mortgagor's name for its benefit, and the premium so paid therefor shall be added to the mortgage debt. [15 G. A., ch. 60, § 9.] [31 G. A., ch. 78.]

The authority to sell, discount, purchase, and make loans on commercial paper, notes, etc., authorizes a savings bank to make a contract for the purchase of notes, notwithstanding the inhibition on contracting debt. Ubbinga v. Farmers' Sav. Bank, 108-221.

SEC. 1850-a. Surplus fund—how invested. The directors of any savings bank may set apart from its earnings, over and above expenses, any desired sum as a surplus fund, to be maintained as such, separate and apart from earnings usually carried and designated as undivided profits, and which surplus fund shall not be drawn upon for the payment of expenses or dividends, except that it may be made use of as a stock dividend for increasing the capital of the bank. Such surplus shall be invested in the same manner as the capital of the bank, as provided in section eighteen hundred and forty-eight (1848) of this chapter. The directors may transfer said surplus fund, or any part of the same, back to the undivided profits account, and make use of the same, when so transferred, for the payment of expenses and dividends when the deposits of the bank shall be less than ten times the capital, or capital and remaining surplus, and not otherwise. [28 G. A., ch. 67, § 1.]

SEC. 1852. Interest—dividends. No dividend shall be declared or paid to stockholders, save out of the undivided profits on hand after paying or setting apart sums sufficient for the payment of all expenses in operating the bank, and of interest to depositors according to the rate fixed therefor by the board of directors from time to time. The bank shall pay interest to the depositors, when due, upon presentation of deposit book or certificate. [15 G. A., ch. 60, § 11.] [28 G. A., ch. 67, § 3.]

SEC. 1855. Repeal—indebtedness. Section eighteen hundred and fifty-five (1855) of the code, be, and the same is hereby repealed. [32 G. A., ch. 90, § 1.]

SEC. 1855-a. Indebtedness. State and savings banks may contract indebtedness or liability for the following purposes only; for necessary expenses in managing and transacting their business, for deposits, and to pay depositors; provided, that in pursuance to an order of the board of directors previously adopted, other liabilities not in excess of amount equal to the capital stock may be incurred. [32 G. A., ch. 90, § 2.]

SEC. 1855-b. Repeal—acts in conflict. All acts or parts of acts in conflict with this act, are hereby repealed. [32 G. A., ch. 90, § 3.]

CHAPTER 11.

OF STATE BANKS.

SECTION 1864. Capital—certificate. No state bank shall be organized under the provisions of this chapter with a less amount of paid up capital than fifty thousand dollars, except in cities or towns having a population not exceeding three thousand, where such association may be organized with a paid up capital of not less than twenty-five thousand dollars. But no such association shall have the right to commence business until its officers or its stockholders shall have furnished to the auditor of state a sworn statement of the paid up capital, and, when the auditor of state is satisfied as to that fact, he shall issue to such association a certificate authorizing it to commence business, and it shall cause said certificate to be published in some newspaper printed in the city or town where the association is located, once each week, for at least four weeks, or, if no newspaper is published in such city or town, then in a newspaper published nearest thereto in the county. [31 G. A., ch. 9, § 6.]

SEC. 1866. Directors.

Acquiescence by a bank in a course of action by its president who is its managing officer, or any facts constituting a holding out of the president by the bank as having a right to act for it, lay a foundation for authority actual or inferred. Griffin v. Erskine, 131-444.

A remittance to the president of a bank in his name with an abbreviation of his official title, is a payment to the bank. Ibid.

CHAPTER 12.

OF BANKS.

SECTION 1869. Repeal—pay of and loan to officers. That section eighteen hundred sixty-nine of the code be, and the same is, hereby repealed, and the following enacted in lieu thereof:

“Officers of savings and state banks may receive for their services a reasonable compensation, to be fixed from time to time in the by-laws, or by vote of the board of directors, but no director, as such, shall be paid for his services. No officer or employe of the bank shall in any manner, directly or indirectly, use its funds or deposits, or any part thereof, except for the regular business transactions of the bank, and no loan shall be made by it to any of them except upon the express order of the board of directors, made in the absence of the applicant, duly entered in the records of the board proceedings, and only upon the same security as required of others. But the board of directors may, by resolution, duly entered in the records of the board proceedings, authorize loans to directors not holding any other office nor being an employe, not exceeding a maximum sum at any one time, which resolution shall be voted upon in the absence of such director and any such loan shall be upon the same security as required of others. Any such officer or employe of the bank violating any of the provisions of this section shall be guilty of embezzlement and shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary not exceeding ten years, or fined in a sum not less than the amount embezzled, or by both fine and imprisonment, but nothing in this act shall prevent or defeat the right to recover upon any note or notes given in violation of its provisions." [32 G. A., ch. 91.]

[The 31 G. A., by chapter 79, amended the above section by adding thereto the following, "and shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary not exceeding ten years, or fined in a sum not less than the amount embezzled, or by both fine and imprisonment." The 32 G. A., by chapter 91, repealed the above section of the code and enacted a substitute without referring to the amendment by the 31 G. A., but incorporated the same in the above.]

This provision is intended to prohibit any loan to an officer unless that particular loan has been passed upon by the board of directors as provided. A blanket resolution of the directors will not render valid such subsequent loans. German Sav. Bank v. Des Moines National Bank, 122-737.

But the bank may be bound by the subsequent ratification of approval of such loans and estopped from afterwards questioning the validity of the notes given therefor by the officers and transferred to a purchaser without notice. Ibid.

SEC. 1870. Limit of liabilities. The total liabilities to any savings or state bank of any person, corporation, company or firm, for money borrowed, including in the liabilities of a company or firm the liabilities of the several members thereof, shall at no time exceed twenty per cent. of the actually paid up capital of such bank; provided that they may loan not to exceed one-half of their capital stock to any person, corporation, company or firm on notes or bonds secured by mortgage or deed of trust upon unencumbered farm land in this state, worth at least twice the amount loaned thereon; but the discount of bona fide bills of exchange drawn against actually existing value, and the discount of commercial or business paper actually owned by the person or persons, corporation, company or firm negotiating the same, shall not be considered money so borrowed. [25 G. A., ch. 30, § 2; 15 G. A., ch. 60, § 18.] [29 G. A., ch. 76, § 1.]

SEC. 1871. Examinations. The board of directors of each savings and state bank shall, at its annual meeting, appoint from its members an examining committee of not less than two, which shall examine the condition of the bank, at least every quarter, and report the same in writing duly signed to the board, who shall cause said report to be recorded in the directors' minute book of the bank. One of these examinations shall be made during the month of June, and another one during the month of December, in each year, and these two examinations, besides being recorded in the minute book of the bank, shall be reported to the state auditor on blanks to be supplied by him. And in case any bank refuses or neglects to so forward such report, the auditor shall be authorized to have such examination made by one of his regular examiners, and the bank shall be charged with and required to pay the reasonable expense of such examination. Members of such examining committee shall receive for their services a reasonable compensation, to be fixed by the board at its annual meeting, but in no case shall such compensation exceed five dollars per day for each day's actual service to each member. [25 G. A., ch. 30, § 4.] [31 G. A., ch. 80.]

SEC. 1872. Quarterly statements.

What is said in this section relating to deposits and exchange does not indicate that the section applies to corporations like investment companies not engaged in a general banking business. Williams v. Lewis Investment Co., 110-635.

SEC. 1873. Examination by auditor. The auditor of state may, at any time he may see proper, make or cause to be made an examination of any savings or state bank, or he shall call upon it for a report of its condition upon any given day which has passed, as often as four times each year, which report shall contain the information under the preceding section, and the auditor shall cause it to be published in one regular issue in some daily, semi-weekly, tri-weekly or weekly newspaper in the city or town where such bank is located, or, if there be none in such city or town, then, in one regular issue of some daily, semi-weekly, tri-weekly or weekly newspaper printed in said county, and the expense of such publication shall be paid by the bank. [15 G. A., ch. 60, § 23; C., '73, § 1571.] [32 G. A., ch. 92.]

SEC. 1875. Repeal—examiners—fees. That the law as it appears in sections eighteen hundred and seventy-five (1875) and eighteen hundred and seventy-six (1876) of the code, be and the same is hereby repealed and the following enacted in lieu thereof:

"The auditor of state may appoint not to exceed five bank examiners, to hold office at his pleasure, who shall give bond to the state, conditioned for the faithful discharge of their duties, in the sum of four thousand dollars ($4,000), which shall be filed with and the sureties therein approved by said auditor. Said examiners shall receive as compensation for their services, a salary of eighteen hundred dollars each, per annum. The auditor of state and examiners shall be entitled to actual and necessary expenses incurred in the examination of banks, and loan and trust companies, which shall be audited by the executive council and paid by the treasurer of state upon warrants drawn by the auditor of state, but the total amount of such expenses and the salaries of examiners shall not in any one year, exceed the amount of fees collected from such banks and loan and trust companies. Each of such banks and loan and trust companies shall pay to the auditor of state annually before the first day of March, the following fees: which shall be by him turned into the state treasury as other fees of his office: those having a paid up capital of fifty thousand dollars or under, the sum of fifteen dollars; those possessing a paid up capital of more than fifty thousand and under one hundred thousand dollars, twenty dollars; those possessing a paid up capital of one hundred thousand and under two hundred thousand dollars, twenty-five dollars; and those possessing a paid up capital of two hundred thousand dollars or over, thirty dollars: provided, that, banks which have been examined between the first day of January, 1904, and the taking effect of this act, shall not be required to pay such fee for the year 1904, and banks which have not been so examined, shall pay such fee on or before the first day of September, nineteen hundred and four, provided that no bank examiner shall be assigned by the auditor of state to examine a bank or loan and trust company in a county in which he is interested in the business of banking or of a loan and trust company." [30 G. A., ch. 64.] [31 G. A., ch. 81.]

SEC. 1876. Repealed. [30 G. A., ch. 64.]

SEC. 1877. Proceedings against by state—receivers.

The receiver of an insolvent bank appointed under a proceeding brought by the auditor of state under statutory provisions may have an order on the stockholders for the payment of an assessment in such amount as appears to be necessary to meet the liabilities of the bank (under provisions as to double liability of stockholders) and the stockholder is bound to pay the amount of such assessment without waiting for the final distribution of the assets of the bank. In such case the time for collection of such assessment and the amount to be collected can best be left to the sound discretion of the court, the proceeding being one where the estate of the bank is in process of liquidation by direction of the auditor of state. State ex rel. v. Union Stock Yards State Bank, 103-549.

SEC. 1878. Assessments.

The proceeds of an assessment on stockholders should be applied ratably to the payment of the general creditors and of the depositors were not satisfied out of the assets of the bank as to which they are given preference. State v. Corning State Sav. Bank, 127-198.

On the appointment of a receiver for an insolvent bank depositors are preferred creditors and entitled to be paid in full as after deducting costs and expenses from the general assets of the bank. And they are also entitled to share ratably with all creditors in the distribution of the proceeds of a statutory assessment of the stockholders. State v. Corning State Sav. Bank, 127-198.

SEC. 1882. Liability of shareholders.

The statutory provision rendering stockholders liable to the extent of double the value of their stock for the debts of the bank is not an act authorizing the creation of corporations with banking powers, etc., without submission to the people within the constitutional prohibition. State ex rel. v. Union Stock Yards State Bank, 103-549.

Under the provisions of 18 G. A., chap. 208, incorporated into this section, but which as originally passed related to corporations in general, held that the liability provided for in case of buying and selling exchange, etc., applied to the banking business only, and not to an investment business, although the corporation carrying on the business had authority to receive deposits of money. Williams v. Lewis Investment Co., 110-635.

An assessment in a receivership proceeding is the proper method of enforcing the stockholder's liability, and to render such assessment valid and binding he must be made a party to the proceedings before the assessment. Elson v. Wright, 112 N. W. 105.

SEC. 1885. Penalty.

This section contemplates time deposits as well as deposits subject to check and therefore the issuance of a certificate of deposit for money paid in when the bank is insolvent is a criminal act. State v. Boomer, 103-106.

The insolvency of the bank may be proven by the testimony of experts familiar with the banking business. Ibid.

To authorize a conviction for receiving deposits for an insolvent bank, actual knowledge of the insolvency of the bank on the part of the officer receiving such deposits must be proven, and it is error to instruct that the defendant will be criminally liable if as a reasonable prudent man he ought to have known of the insolvency of the bank. State v. Dunning, 130-678.

These provisions are not applicable to an officer of a national bank. Easton v. Iowa, 188 U. S., 220, (reversing State v. Easton, 113-516).

SEC. 1889. Statement—doing business—loan and trust companies.

The president and cashier of every savings and state bank shall cause to be kept at all times a full and correct list of the names and residences of the officers, directors, examining committee, and of all the stockholders in the bank, and the number of shares held by each, in the office where its business is transacted. Said list shall be subject to the inspection of all the stockholders and creditors of the bank during business hours of each day in which business may be legally transacted. A copy of such list, verified by the oath of the president or cashier, shall be transmitted to the auditor of state within ten days after each annual meeting. No corporation shall engage in the banking business, receive deposits, and transact the business generally done by banks, unless it is subject to and organized under the provisions of this title, or of the banking laws of the state heretofore existing, except that loan and trust companies may receive time deposits subject to the same limitations as are now or may hereafter be prescribed for the receiving of deposits by state banks and issue drafts on their depositaries.

All such companies and all corporations now existing or hereafter organized under the provisions of chapter 1, title 9 of the code whose articles of incorporation authorize the acceptance and execution of trusts, and all corporations in whose name the word "trust" is incorporated and forms a part, shall have a full paid capital of not less than the amount of capital of saving [savings] banks, as provided in section 1843 of chapter 10 and shall be subject to examination, regulation and control by the auditor of state, like savings and state banks, and their stockholders shall be liable to the creditors of such companies as provided in section eighteen hundred and eighty-two of this chapter for stockholders in savings and state banks. Any corporation violating this section shall forfeit its charter at the suit of the attorney-general, and said corporation, its officers, directors and agents, shall be punished by a fine of not less than five hundred dollars, or imprisonment of not less than two years in the penitentiary, or by both such fine and imprisonment, at the discretion of the court; provided that loan and trust companies organized under the general incorporation laws of the state, which were engaged in the banking business prior to the first day of January, 1886, and have continued therein since said date, may, by the proper additions to their articles of incorporation, become state banks within the provisions of this title, without incorporating the word "state" in the names of such corporations. [28 G. A., ch. 68, § 1.] [30 G. A., ch. 65.]

[The amendment by 30 G. A. refers to the code section, while the same section appeared in the supplement to the code. The words stricken, and for which other matter was inserted, appear in line 14 of the code, and line 17 of the supplement to the code.]

CHAPTER 13.

OF BUILDING AND LOAN ASSOCIATIONS.

SECTION 1890. Defined.

The fundamental purpose of these associations is to assist members by small periodical payments to acquire homes. Home Sav. & Trust Co. v. Fidelity & Dep. Co., 115-394.

Comity between states does not require the courts of this state to enforce a contract or apply a remedy with reference to a foreign building and loan association which contravenes or nullifies the settled policy of this state with reference to such associations. Field v. Eastern Bldg. & L. Assn., 117-185.

Where the contract issued by a building and loan association was evidently intended to be construed by the stockholder to whom it was issued as providing for full payment of the par value of the stock after the payment of specific sums by way of dues for a fixed time, held that the contract would be so construed as against the association. Ibid.

Such a contract is not affected by subsequent amendments to the by-laws, which are made parts of the contract, in the absence of any provision authorizing a change of the terms of the contract by such amendments. Ibid.

Such an association although mutual in name may in the absence of statutory restrictions bind itself to make payment of the par value of its stock after fixed payment of dues have continued for a specified time. Ibid.

Under the articles of plaintiff association, held that a limitation in the number of payments which could be exacted was not a guarantee that such payments would mature the stock, and the member whose stock had then matured was held bound to pay interest and premiums thereafter on his loan. Le Mars Bldg. & Loan Assn. v. Burgess, 129-422.

The retroactive provisions of 26 G. A., chap. 85, and 27 G. A., chap 48, were not unconstitutional. Iowa Sav. & Loan Assn. v. Selby, 111-402.

SEC. 1893-a. Articles amended—maximum rate—appointment of receiver. The provisions of this act shall apply to all building and loan and savings and loan associations hereafter incorporated as well as those now incorporated under the laws of this state or doing business herein, and all such associations shall amend their articles of incorporation so as to conform to the provisions of this act. No such associations shall be authorized or empowered to collect or receive premiums and interest from a borrower at a greater rate than eight per cent. and in case of an amendment to the articles of incorporation so that a lower rate of interest or charge for the use of money loaned to the borrowing member is authorized than the rate of interest charged upon loans, to members who have theretofore borrowed, shall in like manner be reduced to the same rate as that permitted to borrowers after such amendments to the articles of incorporation, so that the interest charged under whatever name, whether charged as premium or interest to all members of the same association, shall be the same, all reductions of the rate of interest or premium charged to new borrowers shall be made and apply equally to those who have theretofore borrowed. In case any such association doing business in the state shall fail to amend its articles of incorporation in conformity herewith prior to July 15th, 1900, its authority to do business in this state shall be revoked by the executive council, and under the direction of the executive council application by the attorney-general shall be made to the proper court for the appointment of a receiver to wind up the affairs of the association, and in such proceedings the amount due from the borrowing member on mortgages shall be ascertained in the manner provided in section 7 of this act, and the balance due on such mortgages shall be treated and considered as due within a reasonable time to be fixed by the court after the appointment of a receiver. [28 G. A., ch. 69, § 10.]

SEC. 1894-a. Revocation of certificates. The executive council shall have the power, and it shall be its duty, to revoke any certificate of authority given to any building and loan or savings and loan association whenever it appears to said council that said association is transacting business illegally, or is unjust and oppressive to its members or the public. [28 G. A., ch. 69, § 11.]
