Technical Tank Review — Underground Storage Tanks

Purpose and History

The regulation of underground storage tanks is administered by the Department of Natural Resources (DNR). This includes the review of systems used for the storage of regulated substances, primarily petroleum products. All regulated tanks must be registered with the State, and DNR staff members provide technical assistance to registrants.

Funding

There is a $200,000 standing appropriation from the Underground Storage Tank Fund to the DNR for technical review of underground storage tanks. The technical review is completed by nongovernmental agencies.
