EXPLANATION

This bill requires the state department of transportation 1 20 to adopt rules for the marking or lighting of antenna 21 structures that extend into navigable airspace but are not 22 required to be marked as aviation obstructions under federal 1 23 law. Currently, the owner of an antenna structure must apply 1 24 to the federal aviation administration for guidance on marking 25 or lighting of the structure. Radio antennas, digital 1 26 television towers, and cell phone towers are examples of 1 27 "antenna structures". The federal communications commission 28 requires many such antennas, deemed to be aviation 29 obstructions, to comply with the federal aviation 1 30 administration guidelines. Under the bill, only antenna 31 structures not subject to federal marking or lighting 32 requirements would be subject to state regulation. The bill provides that an antenna structure not marked or 34 lighted in accordance with state requirements would be 35 considered a public nuisance. The remedies for a public 1 nuisance may include criminal prosecution, judgment for 2 damages, and orders for abatement. A person convicted of 3 erecting, causing, or continuing a public nuisance is guilty 4 of an aggravated misdemeanor, punishable by confinement for no 5 more than two years and a fine of at least $625 but not more 6 than $6,250.
