Governorship

The supreme executive power of the state is vested in the Governor, whose term of office is four years.

A person is eligible for the governorship who is a citizen of the United States and a resident of Iowa for two years preceding the next election, and has attained the age of 30 years at the time of said election.

The Governor appoints all principal officers of the state not elected by the people and certain other officers connected with the state government, subject to confirmation by a two-thirds vote of the members of the Senate. When any office, from any cause, becomes vacant, and no mode is provided by the Constitution and laws for filling such vacancy, the Governor has the power to fill such vacancy.

The chief executive is also responsible for taking final action on all laws enacted by the General Assembly. The Governor may approve, by signing, or disapprove, by veto, a bill passed by both houses of the Legislature or the Governor may allow a bill received before the last three days of a legislative session to become law without signing it. A bill received during or after the last three days of a legislative session must be signed by the Governor in order to become law.

The Governor may also call a special session of the General Assembly when there is necessity of action and may order adjournment of the Legislature if the members cannot reach agreement when to adjourn. The Governor must report to the Legislature the financial condition of the state and a recommendation for any appropriate action concerning the financial status.

The Governor has the task of granting or denying executive clemency in the form of restoration of voting rights, commutation of sentences, pardons, remissions of fines and forfeitures, and gun license privileges.

The specific statutory duties of the Governor include serving as commander-in-chief of the military forces of Iowa, acting as chairperson of the Executive Council, and granting or denying extradition whenever there is a request for a fugitive from justice.

The Governor, as chief executive, has many obligations to the people of Iowa. These include meeting different groups or individuals to discuss problems which in some way involve government; conferring with Iowa's congressional delegation to discuss national issues which affect Iowa; promoting Iowa and its manufactured and agricultural products; answering correspondence from the electorate; and endeavoring to meet visitors who wish to visit the Capitol and the Governor's Office.

Primarily, the Governor is the chief executive of the state government and is held responsible by the citizenry for the effective and efficient administration of the various state departments and agencies in Iowa.

Governor Branstad

Governor Branstad's actions have returned Iowa to firm financial footing by spending less than the state takes in, enacting two-year budgets, and ending the use of one-time moneys for ongoing expenses. The Branstad-Reynolds administration continues to focus on long-term growth for the state's economy, tax and regulatory reform, creation of new jobs for Iowans, increasing family incomes, reducing the cost of government, making Iowa's schools the best in the country, and making Iowa the healthiest state in the nation.

Governor Branstad has traveled the state, country, and world, promoting Iowa's promise as a place to start, grow, or expand a business. Governor Branstad, believing the state needs a jobs and careers focus that is driven by the realities of a 21st century economy, established a public-private partnership that utilizes existing companies and talent, while reaching out across the country and world, in order to attract new business and industry. As a result of this work, Iowa has secured multiple record-breaking capital investments worth billions of dollars.

Understanding comprehensive property tax reform was needed for the state's economic development efforts, Governor Branstad engineered the largest tax cut in Iowa history in 2013 by committing to property tax relief for Iowa's four classes of property: commercial, industrial, agricultural, and residential.

Also in 2013, the Legislature passed Governor Branstad's plan for world-class schools focusing on student achievement, ushering in historic school choice provisions, and making the teaching profession more attractive with leadership roles and higher pay. Governor Branstad believes this new educational system will restore Iowa's schools as the country's best.

The Iowa Secretary of Agriculture is elected by the people of Iowa every four years to lead the Iowa Department of Agriculture and Land Stewardship. Iowa is a national leader in agriculture, leading the nation in production of corn, soybeans, pork, and eggs, and the Secretary of Agriculture is a spokesman for this vital industry.

In addition, the Secretary leads the department, which is responsible for a wide range of programs that affect the daily quality of life of every Iowan, both those living on the farm as well as everyone in our towns and cities.

As part of that responsibility, the department works with Iowa farmers who provide Iowa and the world with safe, abundant food grown in an environmentally responsible way. The Division of Soil Conservation and Water Quality provides farmers with expertise and funds to help them install practices that preserve our highly productive soil, prevent erosion, and protect our critical waterways. These efforts make sure future Iowans can experience the same high quality of life that past generations have enjoyed in our state. Under Northey's leadership, the department has established a Water Quality Initiative to assist all Iowans in using voluntary, science-based practices to improve water quality in the state. More information about the initiative can be found at www.CleanWaterIowa.org.

The department assists farmers by monitoring and reporting cash grain prices and livestock auction market prices. The State Veterinarian within the department also runs screening programs and provides safeguards to protect the health of Iowa's livestock. Surveillance and eradication of animal diseases is vital to keeping the state's livestock healthy.

The department also plays a vital role in consumer protection and in protecting public health. It tests animal feeds, fertilizers, seeds, pesticides, meat, poultry, and dairy products to ensure public health and safety. It inspects dairy farms and plants, meat and poultry processing facilities, weight and measuring devices, and grain warehouses to ensure compliance with state regulations. The department strives for consumer safety and confidence in Iowa products.

To support the continued growth in diversified agricultural production, the department publishes a variety of directories, including a list of farmers markets and commercial fertilizer licensees. A statewide organic certification program within the department also assists Iowa organic producers in marketing their organically grown crops and livestock.

The Secretary of Agriculture also participates in trade missions throughout the world to support expanding markets for Iowa agricultural products.

PAUL D. PATE

*Secretary of State
Cedar Rapids (R)*

Term: Expires January 2019. Profession: Elected to a second term as Secretary of State in November of 2014, 20 years after his first successful bid. Upon returning to the Office, Secretary Pate immediately led efforts to institute the Safe at Home Act, an address confidentiality program that protects survivors of sexual assault, domestic abuse, trafficking, and stalking. The measure passed both chambers of the Legislature unanimously. Pate is the president and owner of Pate Asphalt Systems, based in Marion. Paul Pate served two terms as mayor of Cedar Rapids, Iowa's second largest city, from 2002 – 2006. While mayor, Pate was elected President of the Iowa League of Cities and named co-chairman of the U.S. Conference of Mayors' Committee on Homelessness and Hunger. Paul Pate served his first term as Iowa Secretary of State from 1995 – 1999. During his tenure, Pate initiated registry system reforms, including Biennial Corporate Report filing. Secretary Pate also developed the educational outreach program "Kids Caucus," reaching over 100,000 Iowa youth. Paul Pate became the youngest Republican state senator in Iowa when he was elected to represent parts of Linn, Buchanan, and Delaware Counties in 1988. He served in the Iowa Senate from 1989 – 1994. During his tenure in the State Senate, Pate co-chaired the Interim Committee for Juvenile Crime and Prevention and sponsored anti-stalking legislation that was enacted. Education: Associate Arts Degree from Kirkwood Community College in Cedar Rapids; High School Diploma from Cedar Rapids Kennedy High School. Memberships and Activities: Secretary Pate serves as a Squadron Commander for the Iowa Civil Air Patrol, an auxiliary of the United States Air Force. He is the past Chairman of the Hiawatha Chamber of Commerce, the Kirkwood College Alumni Association, and the Hawkeye Area Council Eagle Scout Association. Pate is a member of the National Association of Secretaries of State and the First United Methodist Church in Marion. He is a past member of the U.S. Small Business Administration District Advisory Board. He is also an Alumni Hall of Fame inductee for Cedar Rapids Kennedy High School and Kirkwood Community College. Paul Pate also achieved the rank of Eagle Scout, the highest ranking attainable in the Boy Scouts of America program. Birth and Residence: Born in 1958 in Ottumwa. Resides in Cedar Rapids. Family Members: Wife, Jane Pate; three adult children and five grandchildren.

The Secretary of State is a constitutional officer elected every four years. Paul Pate is the 32nd Iowa Secretary of State. The secretary's responsibilities have grown dramatically since the position was first established in 1846. The Office of the Secretary of State oversees elections in Iowa and is a service center for businesses in the state.

Paul Pate manages the Secretary of State's Office utilizing three guiding principles: service, participation, and integrity. As a successful small businessman, Paul Pate knows first-hand the challenges that small businesses in Iowa face. The Secretary of State's Business Services Division serves as a portal for Iowa's business community. The Office helps nearly 150,000 companies annually with start-ups, corporate filings, and assisting with biennial reports. It also administers more than 138,000 Uniform Commercial Code (UCC) filings each year and maintains a registry of the commissions for more than 38,000 notaries public. More than 350,000 business filings are handled by the Secretary of State's Office annually.

Secretary Pate is the Chief Elections Officer for Iowa. Candidates for all statewide offices, federal offices, legislative offices, and certain judicial offices file their nomination papers with the Secretary of State. The Secretary of State's Office coordinates with the auditors of all 99 Iowa counties to ensure elections run in a smooth, fair, and transparent manner. When Paul Pate returned to the Secretary of State's Office in January 2015, he established the bipartisan Auditors' Advisory Group. The eight-member panel provides advice and counsel on key election issues and serves as a liaison between the Secretary of State and elections officials across Iowa. Secretary Pate is also the chairman of the bipartisan Voters Registration Commission. That board oversees policies and procedures related to Iowa's voter registration system.

One of Paul Pate's top legislative priorities, the Safe at Home program, is administered by the Secretary of State's Office. Safe at Home is an address confidentiality program for survivors of sexual abuse and domestic violence. Pate travelled across the state conducting roundtable discussions with victims' advocates, law enforcement, and county officials to advocate for and receive input on implementing the Safe at Home program. The Iowa Legislature unanimously approved the Safe at Home Act during the 2015 session. Secretary Pate and his staff facilitate and oversee the program.

Bringing online voter registration to Iowa is another priority for Secretary Pate. Working with the Department of Transportation (DOT), the goal is to develop a system that will allow eligible voters who possess a valid driver's license or state-issued ID to register to vote online.

Other initiatives championed by Paul Pate during his second term as Secretary of State include Caucus 101, an updated version of the Kids Caucus program that Pate successfully organized during his first term. Secretary Pate has also maintained and expanded the Honor a Veteran with Your Vote program.

The historic and beautifully designed Secretary of State's Office is one of the main attractions for visitors touring the Capitol. The original draft of the Iowa Constitution is encased in the office. Visitors from across the state, the country, and even from the other side of the world drop in during the Capitol tours. All Iowans who are eligible to register to vote are encouraged to do so when they visit the Capitol Office, often atop the encased Iowa Constitution. This is one way Secretary Pate encourages increased voter participation. Along with the Iowa Constitution, the Office of the Secretary of State maintains many original official documents, some dating back to the early 1800s.

See chapter 4 for information regarding the Office of the Secretary of State.
