REMARKS BY THE MAJORITY LEADER

Rants of Woodbury addressed the House as follows:

Thank you Mr. Speaker. Mr. Speaker, ladies and gentlemen of the House, guests and visitors, welcome back.

Traditionally on the opening day of the legislative session one of my duties is to lay out the path the majority party intends to follow. This year I would like to part with that tradition. Most everyone in this room knows what to expect, although there will undoubtedly be a few surprises. You've all given pre-session interviews, and our friends on press row have already written story after story.

Rather than discuss what we intend to do, I would prefer to take a few minutes of your time to talk about how we go about doing it.

It has only been a couple of months since last we gathered here, but much has changed, or, unfortunately stayed the same since that meeting.

We return to a capitol building where much work has gone into restoring the grandure of Iowa's beginnings. Yet at the same time changes have been made to adapt to the sad new realities of our world. It was relatively easy to adapt our desks and chamber to the wonders of all the new technology our world has to offer. If only it were as easy for our state and her people to adapt to the challenges the economy of that same world has laid before us. But adapt, we shall. Not only shall we adapt but we shall also persevere, plan, and prepare for a better tomorrow. I think that is in our nature as Iowans. It has never been easy, but from the time this land between two rivers was settled. Our people worked hard to create a state that places a high value on the education of its young people, can lead the world in agricultural production, and is a land of opportunity for the person with the good idea and the work ethic to turn that idea into reality. It is upon those principals that we can continually rely as we face a challenging world economy.

So how do we advance those principals that we surely all agree on?

Mr. Speaker, last year it seemed that even before the first gavel fell, the session was labeled as the most partisan ever. Right after a hotly contested election expectations were that it would carry over into the session. Too often in politics prophecies become self-fulfilling. With an election looming many critics, and not just those in the press, are already predicting partisan bickering. I say we can prove them wrong, and I ask that those who would write our epitath to wait until the session is over. We shall set higher expectations for ourselves. As Representative Myers has said many times, we can "govern" with out all the politics. We know from the actions we took during two special sessions that bi-partisan accords can be reached.

Mr. Speaker, I have often said that one of the difficulties the two parties have is in identifying the problem. After all if you can't agree on what the problem is, it makes it very tough to reach a consensus on the solution.

Representative Myers, I will pledge to you today, that I will work with you to first reach a consensus on what we consider to be the scope of our budget difficulties. Rather than start this week with budget hearings, where we set ourselves up for a session long debate over the budget, Republicans propose that we wait a few weeks before hearings start. That will give us more revenue data that we can use in making a decision as to how much funding is available for the 2003 fiscal year. The last thing anyone wants is to start the budget process and have to hit the reset button on March 1st should the REC lower our estimate. Again, let us find agreement first on defining the problem, and then we can work together for a solution.

If budget hearings are to wait, let us use this time productively to accomplish our policy work. This year we will have policy committee meetings in the afternoon as well as in the morning. I strongly urge our committee chairs to devote more time to the subcommittee process, and to begin the work early on with your colleagues across the rotunda. To meet the goal of adjournment in 90 days, we will need to accomplish many of our key pieces of legislation before the first funnel. Given the economic challenges

Iowa faces, it would be fitting if the committees chaired by Representatives Cormack and Van Fossen would lead the way.

Mr. Speaker, as I look around the room, I see a few new faces. A special welcome to Representatives Jones and Wilderdyke. Next week we'll add another freshmen to the class of '02. But I see many more faces of friends for whom this will be their last session as a member of the Iowa House. I say the House, because a few are operating under the delusion that the Senate is the place to serve. Others are choosing to retire to spend more time with family or work. For others this isn't so willing. Reapportionment dealt you a bad hand. As former Representative Mona Martin once said on this floor, "it's always a free vote in the Iowa House." Well, for you it may be freer than for most. This year will be one in which you may feel free from the shackles of partisan politics, or even from the will of the voters. But I'm sure you'll never be free of your love for this great state. But please, use that new found freedom wisely.

I would like to take this opportunity to introduce Allison Kleis, the new Administrative Assistant in the Majority Leaders Office. She is replacing Mary Earnhardt who has accepted a position on the caucus staff.

Mr. Speaker, we have a long way to go, and a short time to get there. Let's get started.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE TO NOTIFY THE SENATE

Eddie of Buena Vista, Chair of the committee to notify the Senate that the House was duly organized and ready to receive any communication that the Senate might desire to transmit, reported that the committee had performed its duty.

The report was accepted and the committee discharged.

COMMITTEE FROM THE SENATE

Senator Gaskill from Hancock appeared and notified the House that the Senate was duly organized and ready to receive any communication that the House might desire to transmit.

REMARKS BY THE MINORITY LEADER

Myers of Johnson addressed the House as follows:

Thank you Mr. Speaker. Mr. Speaker, ladies and gentlemen of the House:

Iowans enter 2002 uncertain about their economic future. The nation's recession, made worse by the events of September 11, has made us uneasy about today and dampened optimism about tomorrow.

Workers worry about earning enough to make ends meet and losing their jobs. Parents fear that they cannot afford adequate health care if their children are sick. Seniors struggle to heat their homes and buy high-cost prescription drugs on retirement incomes shrunken by low interest rates.

But Iowa's problems extend beyond the short-term. Our state is being left behind with an economy that cannot compete and win in the 21st century. No child should have to leave his or her hometown and family to find a good job, but it happens in our state every day. Iowa has the highest percentage of two-income families in the nation simply because there are not enough good jobs here to sustain a family. That's why our best and brightest children leave the state after graduation for better opportunities in other states.

So we face two challenges. In the immediate future, we must ensure economic security for Iowa families and businesses by addressing rising health care costs, energy costs, and stagnating wages. For the years ahead, we must modernize Iowa's economy to bring development and good jobs to Iowa communities that are losing population, and in some cases losing hope.

That's why Democrats are offering an ambitious plan to provide economic security now and growth for Iowa's future. It is a plan that will make Iowa America's 21st century state.

We will help Iowans weather the current economic downturn by making prescription drugs more affordable for seniors; expanding health insurance coverage to protect all Iowans; raising the state's minimum wage; and helping consumers make informed and money-smart choices about the services they buy.

We will modernize Iowa for a competitive future by strengthening the economy and providing opportunities for children who want to stay and work in Iowa; improving and reforming schools, demanding accountability and holding them safe from budget cuts; streamlining government by eliminating redundant services and putting more services on-line; and investing in clean, renewable and profitable energy sources like ethanol.

Our plan will promote innovation and entrepreneurship and will clear away barriers to economic progress, including high utility costs, insufficient and out-dated high-tech infrastructure, and low wage jobs. It will invest in our children and workers through better, more accountable education and worker re-training, incentives that promote the growth of high wage jobs, and small and high-tech enterprises – particularly in communities with declining populations. It will put our economy, schools, workers, companies and farms on the cutting edge of new technology, so they are more productive and profitable. It will make government more efficient and more consumer-friendly. It will assure that Iowa children receive the best education in the world.

Our proposal is fiscally responsible. The slowing of Iowa's economy and the resulting dramatic fall in state revenues have forced state government to tighten its belt as Iowans are having to do. But because of the forethought of Democratic legislators ten years ago, Iowa has both an emergency rainy day fund to tide us over in tough times and a mandate to enact only fiscally responsible, balanced budgets. Our plan adheres to that philosophy of fiscal responsibility that Democrats put into law a decade ago.

We have only a limited opportunity to make Iowa a 21st century state. If we do not act boldly soon, we will be left behind as the rest of the nation springs forward.

We challenge the Republican majority to put aside partisanship and the issues that divide us, and work with us on the challenges that unite us – like the need for greater economic security now and a more prosperous future for all Iowans.

Democrats will be introducing legislation that implements our agenda and modernizes Iowa's economy, and in doing so gives hope to the hardworking, deserving families across our state. Iowans, young and old alike, will benefit when every child receives a quality education and healthcare, when parents have a paycheck and job security to support their families, and when older Iowans can afford prescription drugs and have a sizable retirement nest egg.

On September 11, we witnessed a devastating attack on our country. It was an attack, not just on New York City and Washington, D.C., but on our American way of life.

Every American felt the shock and the pain of our collective loss. As a veteran, I was extremely proud of the surge of patriotism that swept over our country in the aftermath of the attack.

I have always believed in patriotism. It is important for Americans to be patriotic and to show it.

Patriotism can be demonstrated in many ways. Patriotism is supporting our firefighters, police and rescue workers. Patriotism is standing behind our President as he directs our counterattack on terrorism.

But there are other forms of patriotism. Patriotism is taking care of our people. Patriotism is guaranteeing that the poor and the mentally ill have health care coverage. Patriotism is ensuring that children have first-rate schools and good jobs after graduation. Patriotism is allowing seniors to live their retirement with dignity and security. Patriotism is making certain that no Iowan, no American, is denied the right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. It is patriotic to support civil rights and economic justice.

Let's put our patriotism on display here for the next ninety days by showing compassion for those Iowans who most need our help.

Thank you Mr. Speaker.

REMARKS BY THE SPEAKER

Speaker Siegrist addressed the House as follows:

Ladies and Gentlemen of the House: Welcome back!

Welcome back to your other family. Our family welcomes two new members to the opening day – Representatives Jones and Wilderdyke. They saw this family briefly during the special sessions. But now they will see it in its prime. It is a family that resembles most families we are familiar with. We work, we fight, we achieve, and we respect one another. As I watched my son, Evan, and daughter, Harriet, over the weekend, I thought about this place and this family. I watched them play together and help each other and laugh together. Then ten minutes later, I would hear the screaming and arguing when one of them would push the other one and start a dispute. And then a few minutes later, they would be playing peacefully again. It really did remind me of this body of people. We by and large work well together, but we certainly have our differences and disputes throughout the year. This session will be no different.

As we begin our work here today, we are looking at a very challenging year. The state and national economy has yet to rebound. State revenues continue to lag. As the band, Styx, sings in Paradise Theater, "To tell you the truth, we've all seen better days." Indeed we have. And yet, the outlook for the state is much better than it was in previous economic downturns. Iowa is not in debt and we have money in the bank so that we can pay our bills on time. In reality, if we make the proper and sometimes difficult decisions this session, the outlook by next year should be very much improved.

Therein lies the challenge for all of us. We must fashion a budget that recognizes the needs of Iowa's citizens without mortgaging our future budget. Raising taxes isn't the answer. Spending a substantial amount of one-time money for ongoing programs only pushes the problem into the next budget year and continues to cause budget problems. The fact of the matter is that there are no easy answers to this budget we are facing. It will be a process that will test each and every one of us. It is a budget that will force us to be innovative, fiscally prudent, and flexible. One thing I am sure of is that at various times this year, we will all be unhappy with decisions that are made. We will be like many other families in Iowa that are balancing their family budget. We have to live within our means. That means making the tough decisions and not just running up the credit card. I know that we will sometimes hear that we must spend more money to help some Iowans. In many cases, the reality will be that for most Iowa citizens, it will be better if we do not spend more money. After all, like all Iowans, we have to balance the budget.

I don't know about you, but I remain upbeat about our state. I couldn't agree with the Governor more than when he says the budget difficulties present a tremendous opportunity. It is an opportunity that is being forced on us by the budget, but if we meet it head-on, we can make significant systemic changes in how our state government operates. We are being forced to look at and evaluate the services that government offers. That will certainly lead to the elimination of some services that the state currently provides. Done properly, we can streamline government and make it more efficient. You may recall that last May, the Republican majority passed a bill to restructure the Department of Human Services. That bill was vetoed, but during the special session, we passed a plan by Governor Vilsack that was put together with the major components of the bill this House passed. The Republican majority stands ready to work with the Governor and the Minority party on any and all proposals to consolidate, streamline, and make state government smaller. We look forward to the Governor's government streamlining plans in his State of the State address. Reducing the size of state government is a positive thing to do.

We all know that the major focus of this legislative session will be the budget. It has to be. However, we will be looking at many other issues that are important to Iowans. We will finally pass a venture capital plan. We need to establish Renaissance Zones so that communities have another tool in their economic development toolbox. We must examine the best way to redesign the Department of Economic Development to provide a better public-private working relationship. We must listen to Iowans and pass a bill that will help limit the growth of property taxes. And because Iowans value the competitive bidding law and the Right to Work law, we will pass legislation to not allow Project Labor Agreements in Iowa. So, while the budget is the primary focus, there are many other things to accomplish. And by the way, Representative Dotzler, the doves will be safe this year.

So, here we sit. We have left our families and friends back home. For at least thirty members, this will be our last opening day. That will certainly make this session special to us. We all come here to do our very best job. We all have our individual feelings as to what is the best way to vote. It is our job to listen to everyone, and then collectively solve the challenges in front of us. Though I know it will be a difficult session, I am excited to get to work. The excitement comes from the knowledge that in my many years in the Iowa House, we have been at our best when the times are toughest. That has been when the members of this great body have risen to the challenge. That's what the challenge is before us. Working together to get the job done. In the song, Peaceful World, on John Mellencamp's new CD, he sings "If you're not part of the solution, then get out of the way."

Ladies and gentlemen, that sums it up. If there are members who want to spend the session trying to achieve political gain, get out of the way. We don't have time for political posturing or game-playing. We have real and significant challenges facing us. We have real and significant opportunities before us. We have to find and craft solutions and we must take advantage of the opportunities presented. I'm hopeful and confident that we can all be part of the solution. Let's get to work.

Thank you, Madame President. Thank you, Mr. Speaker, members of the General Assembly and our Supreme Court, and distinguished guests and ladies and gentlemen.

We are assembled on this crisp winter morning in our great state just 126 days after terrorists attacked our country, our freedom, and our way of life.

Today, we start together another legislative session—a reaffirmation of our democratic process and a celebration of the blessings of our liberty.

In September of 1787, our founding fathers signed a document that began with these words: “We the people of the United States, in order to form a more perfect union, establish justice, insure domestic tranquility, provide for the common defense, promote the general welfare, and secure the blessings of liberty to ourselves and our posterity, do ordain and establish this Constitution for the United States of America.”

With this simple phrase, to “secure the Blessings of Liberty,” they assured that all the generations of Americans to follow would have certain inalienable rights. They believed that no matter what circumstances the nation and its people would face, these “Blessings of Liberty” would stand tall and remain strong.

Last September 11th, terrorists filled with hatred believed they could destroy the blessings of our liberty. But though their heinous acts shook us, they could not break our spirit. Indeed, those terrorists have made us again one nation under God, stronger and more determined.

The terrorists tried to destroy the blessings of our liberties. Instead, they re-ignited our sense of unity and purpose...powerful weapons we can wield in protecting our values and our way of life.

Nowhere is that spirit—the spirit of unity and community—stronger than in Iowa. And never have I been prouder to call myself an Iowan. Citizens across this great state have demonstrated heartfelt generosity and extraordinary sacrifice in the aftermath of the attacks.

Iowans are well represented among those making sacrifices for Operation Enduring Freedom. This morning, I am honored to introduce to you Brandi Aspengren from Boone. Her husband, Sergeant Tony Aspengren, is one of the more than 300 Iowa National Guard members called to federal active duty by President Bush. With Company D, 109th Aviation Company, Sergeant Aspengren has been deployed to join the war against terrorism. Brandi is here with her two daughters, Grier, who is 4, and Greta, just seven months old. Sergeant Aspengren’s entire family is proud of him and his service to our country. We are all proud of him, and of all the Iowans serving in Operation Enduring Freedom—and we are proud of their families who sacrifice here at home.

I also want to introduce you to Peggy Peterson, a wife, a mother of 3 young children, and a veteran of the Persian Gulf War. She works for the Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA), and is a state employee. Peggy went to Ground Zero on November 24, and helped train rescue workers to properly use their personal protective equipment. “I wanted to do my part,” Peggy says. “I’ll never forget the experience. The helplessness and vulnerability we all felt as we entered or left the site—it’s an innocence that’s been ripped away from America.”

Peggy and Brandi, will you please stand?

Please join me in saluting these folks and the thousands of other Iowa heroes, now and in the past, who have sacrificed and continue to sacrifice so much to protect the blessings of our liberty.

The events of September 11th caused all Americans to reassess our own safety and security. Here in Iowa, we responded immediately by sending members of our National Guard to protect our airports and research labs. And we have undertaken a longer-term response, as well, by surveying our state's critical assets so we can provide the security Iowans require.

There is nothing more important than protecting the security of our families and our future – making sure that every Iowan has an opportunity to enjoy the blessings of liberty promised in our Constitution.

But those blessings of liberty can be threatened by more than acts of violence; they can be destroyed by ignorance, illness, and the inability to earn a decent living.

Providing hope—protecting family security, building a brighter future for Iowa's families—was a mission we embarked on well before September 11th. And with the help and cooperation of the legislature, we have made important progress.

More than at any time in history, a world-class education is essential to both the economic security of individual Iowans and the future economy of our state. For the past three years, we have worked very hard to make education Iowa's number one priority.

For the first time, the State of Iowa has partnered with local school districts, to invest in modernization, new construction, and other critical needs so that schools are up to date and a safe place for kids to learn.

We have invested in recruiting and retaining quality teachers. We worked to pass an important program to boost teacher pay in Iowa, while providing training and mentoring to support our teachers.

We have invested in the smaller classes that are essential to ensure that children get the attention they need to learn and excel. We are committed to reducing class sizes. And as a result of that commitment, we have begun to see results. Last year, after ten years of decline, Iowa's elementary students' reading comprehension test scores showed improvement. Those same students were among the nation's leaders in progress in math and science. These numbers, though just a beginning, reflect the wisdom of our investment, and point to a brighter future for our children and our state.

I want to congratulate the schoolchildren of Iowa, and their parents and teachers, for this heartening improvement in performance. And I want to thank the members of this legislature for making support for smaller class sizes a priority in Iowa. Your actions have made a difference for our children – and for our state.

Yet, we know that children cannot learn or reach their full potential when their health is threatened. Access to quality, affordable health care ought to be the right of every Iowa child.

The HAWK-I, or Healthy and Well Kids in Iowa, program ensures that children of working families who are struggling to make ends meet have health coverage. Over the past three years, we have expanded HAWK-I and other healthcare coverage for children. As a result, more than 30,000 previously uninsured Iowa children have access to quality health care today.

That is far more than a mere statistic. Through insurance from standard Medicaid, expanded Medicaid, and HAWK-I, 30,000 individual children in Iowa today have a brighter future and better chance to fulfill their God-given potential. It means thousands of parents across our state are free from the terrible fear that they may not be able to help when their children are suffering – or that one illness or accident will mean financial ruin for their family.

Expanding HAWK-I to those children has been a signal achievement of the past three years. Again, I congratulate the members of the state legislature for making this important investment in Iowa's future.

We are also wholly committed to ensuring that every Iowa senior is secure in the knowledge that he or she can live in good health and dignity. Those Iowans lived through the Great Depression, won a World War, and built the United States into the great country it is today. They should not have to choose between buying the prescription drugs they need and eating – or heating their homes.

That is why Senator Harkin and I started the "Iowa Priority Prescription Savings Program," which will help make prescription drugs more affordable and provide greater health security for seniors.

Already, 15,000 Iowa seniors have signed up, in hopes of cutting their punishing prescription costs. But even as we get this program up and running, we must continue to add to its roster every Iowa senior who is eligible and interested in participating.

Independence and dignity are also the ideals behind the Senior Living Trust that we established together two years ago. The Senior Living Trust provides more comprehensive long term care to Iowa seniors and people with disabilities. Some funds in this trust have been used to expand assisted living opportunities, develop home-delivered meal programs, adult day centers and respite care sites, and create greater access to needed care.

Today, nearly 12,000 Iowa seniors get the help they need while maintaining their independence. We will continue working to provide this option to more seniors and their families so that, eventually, every Iowan can live independently as long as they are able. This will not only save tax dollars; it will lift spirits and improve lives.

While we ensure the dignity and independence of those whose hard work built today's Iowa, we must ensure opportunity for those who will build tomorrow's Iowa. For the sake of Iowa's future, we must continue to promote good paying jobs and business opportunities for Iowans.

I am proud of the work we have done together to build quality job opportunities in Iowa. When I came into office three years ago, businesses that received state grants to create new, high-skilled jobs paid their employees an average wage of $13.53 an hour. Today, the businesses awarded these state grants pay their employees an average wage of more than $18 an hour. Last year, 33 projects were funded with state grants, helping to create nearly 3,000 new, good-paying jobs for Iowa workers. Today in Iowa, there are 7,000 more Iowans working—in the depth of a recession—than there were in January, 1999—at the height of prosperity.

More is on the way: With the passage of landmark electric generation legislation, utilities are poised to invest $3 billion in new construction and generation capacity, helping to create hundreds more quality jobs.

This is real progress. Lasting progress. Rather than squandering the rare opportunity good times afforded us, we made investments that will yield dividends to our state for years to come. And we did it while delivering an unprecedented $800 million in annual tax relief to Iowa citizens and businesses – and holding general fund growth to little more than two-percent a year.

And that two percent-a-year represents the lowest rate of growth in spending by Iowa state government in thirty years. That's why the Wall Street credit agencies recently awarded Iowa another superior financial rating, which means we continue to enjoy lower borrowing costs than most other states. That's why Governing Magazine gave Iowa an A-minus grade for our fiscal stewardship – the second highest ranking out of all the states. I take great pride in that grade, and so should you. Our standing as a fiscal leader among the states reflects a fundamental Iowa value.

Today, we face a new challenge – the challenge of governing in hard times, when our dilemma is not how to apportion great bounty, but how to manage scarce resources.

The national economic winds that propelled us to great heights for much of the last decade have shifted. Across America, at least forty-four states are currently facing sudden, deep, and unpredicted drops in revenues.

In neighboring Illinois, the state budget faces a $500 million shortfall. Wisconsin faces a deficit of $300 million, with estimates climbing to $1.3 billion by the year 2004. Lawmakers in Missouri have already cut $600 million in their budget, and may have to cut another $500 million in Fiscal Year 2003. The governor of South Dakota has recommended that his state use nearly $12 million in reserve funds this year, and another $36 million next year. And our neighbor to the north, Minnesota, is short $2 billion.

A decade ago, two decades ago, when faced with similar challenges, past Iowa governors and legislatures responded by raising taxes. We did not. Instead, we cut taxes. We reorganized. We sacrificed – and we asked for sacrifice.

The prudent action that we took together in last November's special session pared $186 million from the budget and stabilized our state's fiscal condition. We have also undertaken important reforms in how Iowa government does business, to increase efficiency and better serve families and communities across our state.

Improvements in the Department of Transportation and Department of Natural Resources will push decision-making closer to people and communities – reducing management and putting workers in the places they are most needed. And our reform of the Department of Human Services will eliminate layers of bureaucracy while preserving nearly all of the front-line workers dealing directly with those Iowans who need their services and support.

These improvements were begun so that Iowans receive the best service at the best possible price. Now that our resources are stretched, these changes are even more essential.

I want to thank the business and community leaders who have worked with us on the "Improving Government Initiative." With us today are: Dwayne McAninch, Chairman and CEO of McAninch Corporation, and Joe Pierce, president of Mid-America Group. They worked with Dave Vellinga, President and CEO of Mercy Hospital; Dr. Willard Boyd, former President of the University of Iowa; Barbara Lukavsky, owner of Merle Norman Cosmetics; and Martha Willits, President of United Way of Central Iowa. They were joined in their efforts by state department directors. Dwayne and Joe, will you please stand? Please join me in thanking all of these folks for their efforts to improve state government.

I also want to extend a special thank you to Iowa's state employees, who serve the people of our state with dedication and distinction. Not only are they participating and cooperating in implementing these needed changes in the way state government does business, but they even voted to postpone a scheduled pay raise to help us through this challenging time.

That unprecedented show of support and selflessness should earn every Iowan's gratitude and respect.

Thanks to the difficult but necessary decisions we made in response to the economic downturn, Iowa has fared better than many of our neighbors. But the revenue picture for next year is no brighter, and we will be called upon in the coming months to make decisions even more challenging than the ones we faced last fall.

Our challenge this year is to do more with less, while protecting the progress we have made. Even within the constraints of a recession-year budget, I believe we can and we will meet the challenges.

Before I outline what we must do, let me tell you what we cannot—and what we will not—do.

We cannot forget our commitment to make education Iowa priority number one—starting with our effort to reduce class sizes and support our teachers. To do so would break faith with our children and our future.

We cannot reverse our determination to provide quality health care to the children of working Iowans who have no health insurance.

We cannot retreat from our pledge to assist senior citizens in the state of Iowa, by helping them afford the prescription drugs they need and providing alternatives to nursing homes for those who want to preserve their independence and dignity.

And we cannot back off our efforts to provide better economic opportunity for all Iowans.

The actions we have taken these past three years have made Iowa a better, stronger, and fairer place.

To abandon those commitments now will compromise our efforts to provide hope, protect family security, and ensure a brighter future. This is too high a price to pay.

To continue making education priority number one in Iowa, we must maintain levels of support for our class size reduction and teacher support programs, we must add additional state support for our kindergarten through twelve system and our community colleges, and we must add to the private college tuition grant programs, and at the same time, fully fund regent salaries and bring back the work study programs. This will not be easy, but it is necessary.

A recent debate has centered on the state's reserve account, commonly referred to as the surplus or Rainy Day Fund—both in terms of when and for what purpose we should use the fund.

After listening to Iowans in all 99 counties, I know what most of them think it should be used for—to protect the priorities of Iowa families during challenging times—starting with education.

First, let me be clear:

The budget I submit to you will be balanced. At the end of the year our surplus will exceed $400 million—or close to 8% of our general fund budget. This exceeds the national average for states.

I do not propose that at the end of the year we reduce the fund from its present level, but when we are faced with a steep national recession that threatens our ability to fund our children's education, I see no reason to significantly add to the fund at the expense of our children.

Today, I propose this year we dedicate an amount equal to the year's deposit contributed to the surplus account to help keep education Iowa priority number one. This fund would help pay for the additional support required at all levels to preserve our progress in providing a world-class education for all of our children. If we fail to do so, children in Iowa today will forever lose an opportunity they will be unable to reclaim when prosperity returns.

A better future for Iowa also depends on our commitment to early childhood learning and literacy. Research shows that children begin learning at birth. We need to do an even better job than we have in early childhood learning and literacy. We need to build upon the progress made to empower parents, teachers, and childcare providers.

I am proud that our First Lady already is leading this fight for early literacy in Iowa. Christie and her "Iowa Stories" communities and sponsors have raised enough money to provide every child of kindergarten age in Iowa with a special gift this Spring—a book of their very own. "I is for Iowa," written by an Iowan about Iowa, is an alphabet book that will not only reinforce early learning but will also teach youngsters about their state. Accompanying the book will be a map prepared by the Department of Cultural Affairs for parents so they can plan long weekends or summer vacation trips in Iowa to the places highlighted in the book. Christie deserves our thanks for her volunteer efforts on behalf of literacy in our state.

Early childhood efforts require better coordination and advocacy within state government. For that reason, I will be signing an executive order establishing a “Children’s Cabinet” to better coordinate and advocate on behalf of our youngest children.

But these private efforts and advocacy need matching support from the state, to insure that our young people start school ready to learn and excel. It’s an investment that will pay off many times in the future—and one that will greatly enhance the impact of all our investments in K through 12 and beyond.

To that end, I propose the establishment of a permanent endowment for early childhood education. Any funds remaining after fully funding the Rainy Day Fund over the next five years will be transferred into the endowment when the books are closed, where it will be invested. Income will be appropriated annually by the legislature to promote early childhood learning and literacy.

All of these steps will build on the progress that has been made on our number one priority.

Although we have made great progress in expanding access to quality healthcare, we must remember that there is another group of Iowans that we cannot afford to leave behind – those affected by mental illness. Mental illness directly affects one out of every four Iowa families. It is a disease that can tear families apart, damage the bonds of friendship and cause Iowa businesses lost time, and with it, productivity and profit.

Mental illness is a disease. It can be treated. It should be fully covered by health insurance policies – the same as any other disease. The sad truth is that many mentally ill people do not get help simply because their health insurance doesn’t cover their illness. Without adequate coverage, they cannot afford the care they need. These people need insurance parity.

Many studies have shown that the benefits of parity far outweigh the costs. Mental health and substance abuse parity will provide more Iowans with the healthcare they need to live healthy and productive lives.

I want to thank Lieutenant Governor Sally Pederson for leading the fight for parity in Iowa. Her lifelong advocacy has done much to secure the blessings of liberty for our children, for people with special needs, and other vulnerable Iowans.

She is working now in partnership with counties, providers, adults with disabilities, and families to create a consumer-driven system of services for Iowans with mental illness, mental retardation, and developmental disabilities.

With Lieutenant Governor Pederson’s leadership, and support from members of the legislature, let us make this the year we achieve mental health and substance abuse parity in Iowa. I know there are powerful interests who will work hard to block this progress, as they have in the past. But let us make this the year that we take a giant step that could help thousands of Iowans to be healthy participants in the growth of our state.

Despite the progress that we have made in adding thousands of new jobs to the workforce and increasing the wages of jobs created through state assistance, we must do more.

Let me introduce you to two young people who represent Iowa's future. I first met Clint Holtz from Walnut on my walk across the state last year. Clint is an entrepreneur. He owns and operates "Clint's Crawlers"—a night crawler business. He's owned his business since 1995, and it has expanded every year.

And Megan Wettach is from my hometown. She is a senior at Mount Pleasant High School. In addition to taking college courses at Iowa Wesleyan College, writing for the Burlington Hawkeye, and fulfilling her duties as Miss Teen Iowa, Megan owns Premier Prom & Pageantry, a formal dress shop that offers a wide array of prom dresses and other formal wear. Clint and Megan, will you please stand?

We must recognize that we are in competition with other states for the talents of Clint and Megan, and all the other Iowans of their generation. In order to make sure entrepreneurs like them are part of Iowa's future, we must be as aggressive as they are, starting with the moment they graduate from college by offering a tax credit against their income that will help offset all or part of their college tuition. A tax credit sends a strong message of our interest in retaining these bright young people. It will help to build a more promising future for Iowa by investing in those who commit their futures to our state.

We must work to ensure the kinds of jobs that will keep college graduates in Iowa — or provide those graduates with the means to create their own jobs and businesses right here at home.

Today, businesses and entrepreneurs in Iowa struggle to find start-up funds.

In our universities and in our businesses and industries, Iowans are on the cutting edge in new development in the life sciences, advanced manufacturing, and information solutions. Iowa State University and the University of Iowa have not only established research parks and programs to promote partnering with private sector businesses, but their faculty members are also among the nation's leaders in receiving new patents for their innovative work.

But the availability of capital to aid new business ventures in Iowa is far too limited. Too often, investors overlook our state's promising ideas and entrepreneurs. We must encourage greater private sector investment in Iowa.

There must be real business opportunity for those who want to live the American dream of owning their own business. Despite being second in the nation in business retention, and having the fifth lowest cost of doing business among states, more needs to be done.

Iowa ranks at the bottom of states for venture capital. During this legislative session, let us take Iowa to a leadership position in venture capital by creating a set of incentives that helps fuel national Venture Capital investment in Iowa, that encourages Iowa's angel investors to make substantial investments in Iowa startups, and that enables those who can invest only a small amount to do so for a brighter Iowa future. These funds will help to create the next biotech business, converting our corn and beans into cures for illnesses, like Kemin; the next high-tech manufacturing firm like Rockwell-Collins; and the next information solutions business—which could develop into the next Principal.

This year we celebrate the five-year anniversary of Iowa's welfare reform program — one of the models for national reform. Over 98% of families who signed up for Family Investment Plan benefits five years ago have moved off the welfare rolls within the five-year limit. We're proud of their success. And we're proud of Iowa's success in making work a priority, breaking the cycle of dependency, and helping families become independent and self-sufficient.

While we take steps to encourage the development of new economy opportunities, let us not forget those who have made the successful journey from welfare to work and other hard-working Iowans currently working at minimum wage. Today, over 100,000 Iowans, many of them women, many of them raising families, earn at or near the minimum wage. These Iowans work a full productive week but still struggle to meet even the most basic of needs. As we consider millions of dollars of help for Iowan entrepreneurs and well-educated Iowans, can we not also find the political will to raise the minimum wage? Hard work's reward should be the dignity of self-sufficiency.

We face another great challenge that we must address this year. It is a challenge that threatens the quality-of-life in communities across our state.

During the last 12 months, I've traveled to all 99 counties, walked over 100 miles, and talked with thousands of Iowans. I know Iowans care about their natural resources—particularly the quality of our water and air. They appreciate our efforts with the Clean Water Initiative, begun two years ago, to encourage private land conservation.

However, I can tell you that no issue generates more discussion about the environment than hog confinements. For three years, I've asked for your help to reunite Iowans to solve this issue. I am heartened by early indication of the legislature's willingness to do so.

Today, I renew my commitment to work with you to find a solution, whatever it may be—local control or tougher enforcement authority. We must work cooperatively to balance the rights and liberties of livestock producers and their neighbors in order to preserve Iowa's quality of life.

Of course solving the confinement issue alone won't assure the future of rural Iowa. I am concerned about debates that seem to pit rural Iowa vs. urban Iowa. We cannot afford to be two Iowa's. We are—and we must be—one Iowa. Our work should ensure economic opportunity in every one of our 99 counties. I stand ready and willing to work with the legislature to make sure that, no matter where you live or work in Iowa, you can dream big dreams—and make them real.

Our vision for Iowa's future is expansive, but not expensive:

We can make Iowa government work better and smarter. We can ask the private sector to do its fair share through a decent minimum wage and mental health and substance abuse parity.

We can make wise investments in early childhood education and community development that will pay off many times down the line.

We can work within the realities of the budget challenges before us while protecting Iowans' priorities: a world-class education, quality health care, and good-paying jobs.

Our choice is clear: We can use the budget as an excuse to retreat, reversing our progress and jeopardizing our future.

Or we can meet the challenge by making responsible decisions to cut where we can, and to invest where we must.

In the end, Iowa's future will be determined by the opportunity we provide for Iowa's families. Especially now, when times are tough, we must provide hope, protect family security, and build a brighter future. This will secure the blessings of liberty for us and for generations of Iowans yet to come.

That is our mission as a state – and my mission as your governor. And I pledge to give everything I have, and to do everything that I can, until we have accomplished this mission.

Thank you. God bless you. And God bless Iowa.

PETITION FILED

The following petition was received and placed on file:

By Murphy of Dubuque, from one hundred six constituents from the eighty-fifth district petitioning the State Legislature and the Governor to consider the judicious use of 5% of the state's "Rainy Day Funds" for the purpose of providing a short term "fix" to cover services to those children, families and seniors whose lives are most devastated by the necessary and drastic cuts in state funding. We want this directed to those services where there is a federal match, in effect, doubling our money. We believe implicitly in the importance of sound fiscal policy. We also believe in justice. We believe the economy is in a short downturn and is already rebounding.

Leave of absence was granted as follows:

Mr. Speaker, Madam President, Members of the General Assembly, Governor Vilsack, distinguished guests, and friends.

Thank you for the kind invitation to appear before you today. It is an honor for the Iowa Judicial Branch, as well as a personal privilege for me, to report to you on the condition of Iowa's court system. This address is our opportunity to share with you and the people of Iowa our current assessment of the administration of justice in this state. We have enjoyed a strong relationship with you based upon candor, cooperation, and mutual respect. Today, I wish to address you in that spirit.

First, permit me to digress for a moment so that I may recognize some special guests. I would like to acknowledge Justice Michael Streit, the newest member of the Iowa Supreme Court, and Judge Larry Eisenhower, the newest member of the Iowa Court of Appeals.

This brings to me why we are here: the condition of Iowa's judicial branch. This year I must report that the state of the judiciary reflects the times in which we live; events beyond our control have thrown us into a state of uncertainty about the future. Access to justice is a paramount concern for us as we try to manage in the wake of the recent budget cut.

I intend to begin with a review of the steps we took to balance our operating budget and explain how we're coping. Then I will proceed to discuss some recommendations for streamlining the court system. I will conclude with our goals for the future.

BUDGET REDUCTIONS: FOCUSING ON OUR MISSION

Although the judicial branch is a separate branch of government, we do not work in a vacuum. It is up to you to provide us with the tools and resources we need to do the job. To any extent you choose not to fund the system, court services will not be available. We recognize that we are accountable to the taxpayers and must manage our resources wisely. This principle was foremost in our minds when we considered how to absorb the cut you imposed this fiscal year.

Although our budget cut was not imposed until the special session, the Court began planning as soon as it became apparent that reductions were inevitable. The Court began by settling upon three basic principles to guide our decisions.

The first principle was to reduce the budget in a manner that would allow the judicial branch to continue to fulfill its mission, which is to provide independent and accessible courts for the fair and prompt resolution of disputes. Maintaining consistency with our mission required that we impose differential cuts rather than across-the-board cuts in all components of our operation.

The second principle was based upon our understanding that the state's financial troubles would continue for more than a year. To that end we focused on cost-cutting measures that were long-term solutions. From the start of the process, we viewed furloughs as an impractical measure that would undermine court operations in the long run.

The third principle was to reach a consensus among the judicial districts on cuts that affected the operation of the trial courts.

With these three principles as our guide, we scrutinized all aspects of our operation from top to bottom. In doing so, we had the help of the chief judges, district court administrators, and state court administration.

We cut as much as we could from non-personnel items such as travel, supplies, communications, furniture, and equipment. We also cut technology projects. In addition, we imposed a hiring freeze, stopped using contractual court reporter services, and eliminated funds for part-time judicial officers such as hospitalization referees and alternate district associate judges.

But we had to cut more.

So we eliminated programs that were not constitutionally and statutorily mandated. One was our highly regarded CASA program that recruits and trains volunteers to serve as advocates for abused and neglected children in 30 counties. We're very proud of the CASA program. Unfortunately, we were forced to make difficult choices: keep CASA or keep cases moving through the courts. This was an unpopular decision — one subject to easy attack — but it was necessary under the circumstances. We're grateful, however, that you stepped in and saved CASA by finding it a new home.

Even after making this difficult decision, we needed to reduce our expenses more to balance the budget. At this point, we were forced to take the unprecedented step of reducing our workforce.

Over 250 employees were adversely affected. We laid-off 107 employees; we cut the hours of 67 other employees; and we downgraded the positions of 79 supervisory employees. In addition, we eliminated more than 20 vacant positions around the state. The cuts in personnel affected every component of our operation.

Deciding to eliminate jobs was the most difficult decision that we have ever had to make. The difficulty of making the decision, however, pales in comparison to the difficulties faced by those employees who are now struggling to pay bills and support families.

BUDGET CUTS: FACTS AND MISCONCEPTIONS

Now let me make a few points about the budget cuts that I feel have been overlooked.

Probably the most common misconception about the budget cuts is the notion that we somehow arbitrarily singled out and treated rural communities unfairly. This is not true. In making the cuts to our clerk of court component, we focused on workloads, not geography or politics. The Court used a weighted caseload formula in making those cuts. We applied the formula uniformly to all 99 counties.

There's a simple reason why most of the cuts in clerks' offices occurred in small counties. The formula was developed in the mid-1990s through the use of time studies conducted in 32 counties. At the time of the study, most clerks' offices were not computerized; they were still operating with papers and clumsy docket books, which took more time. To account for this, the formula gave rural counties — all of which were not computerized — an advantage that resulted in a higher staffing ratio.

We continued to use this differential even after we computerized all of our clerks' offices in 1997. We did so because we wanted to provide the rural offices with a transition period. But the reductions required by the present financial crisis forced us to take immediate action. Knowing that any reduction would be unpopular, we felt it was imperative to treat all offices equally. Consequently, we decided to apply the automated workload standard to all clerks' offices. Any office that exceeded the formula was cut back. The budget cuts in the clerks' component affected primarily rural offices because it was primarily those offices that exceeded the formula.

Nevertheless, the cuts leave clerks' offices in some rural counties with a larger staff than the formula justifies. This is because we decided to deviate from the formula and maintain a minimum of two employees per office.

Critics contend that the formula is not perfect. Well, because the formula is the work of humans, it definitely is not perfect. However, it is the best objective measure that we have for making an equitable allocation of our clerk of court resources. Let me add that we have relied on this formula for years to justify our requests to you for more clerk of court staff.

I want to point out that nearly ten percent of our clerks' offices have less staff than is called for by the formula. These offices are located in some of our busy urban areas. For example, for some time now, the Pottawattamie Clerk of Court office has operated 30% under the formula. Black Hawk has managed while 20% under, and Johnson gets by even though it is 17% understaffed. Despite being chronically short-handed, these offices have been able to cope, which is a big credit to their staff. My reason for mentioning these offices is not to suggest that we should operate all offices understaffed, but to point out that some offices were, and still are, worse off than those that were cut.

Some people have complained that we cut the clerks as a group more than their fair share. This also is not true. While it's true that the cut in the clerks' component contributed the most dollars, in terms of percentage of budget, state court administration and district court administration each contributed more. We reduced the budget of district court administration by 10.7%; state court administration by 10%; and the clerks by 8%. The reduction in the clerks' component was the largest dollar amount because that group consumes the most money — it takes up more than 30% of our operating budget.

Let me address another budget decision: the decision to eliminate eleven satellite magistrate offices, which caused a loud outcry from the affected communities. These offices were not budget busters, but they were an exception to our general practice. In the majority of counties, court services are located in the county seat only. The Court felt it would be unfair to cut basic services in many counties while operating extra services in a few.

ACCESS TO THE COURTS: MANAGING WITH LESS

Our most immediate challenge is managing the same amount of work with fewer resources. How do we meet that challenge? We meet it one day at a time.

Our districts are working with their staffs to develop new strategies for providing court services. Clerk of court offices are rethinking their priorities and dropping unnecessary tasks. It won't be the level of service that some communities are accustomed to, but by taking these steps clerks' offices will continue to fulfill their statutory responsibilities.

As you know, the judicial council raised the issue of merging clerks' offices. To say that the idea was short-lived is an understatement. The gist of the plan was to explore options for delivering court services in the wake of the budget cuts. Because of these cuts, many clerk of court offices have now reduced their hours. By merging the staff of several clerk of court offices into one location, we would have been able to provide full-time hours — perhaps even expanded hours — to the public. But the merger idea is a moot issue now. As far as the Court is concerned, consolidation of the clerks' offices is dead.

Although the Court dropped the plan, I want to recognize and commend our dedicated and talented chief judges, district court administrators, and state administrative team for their creativity and willingness to pursue the public interest with vision and courage.

SOLUTIONS: STREAMLINING THE COURTS AND REDUCING OPERATING COSTS

No doubt your attention will be consumed during the next few months by the serious condition of the state budget. We recognize the condition of the state budget is still uncertain. I must advise you, however, that any more cuts to the judicial branch budget may threaten our ability to provide adequate court services. Although we are aware of the other important demands being made upon you, we trust you will respond to the needs of the judicial branch.

In the same spirit, I ask that when you are debating new laws, you carefully consider the impact your actions have on the court system. Though well intentioned, legislation nearly always adds to our workload. Adding responsibilities without corresponding resources creates poor results.

Certainly, we understand that we need to be part of the overall solution for reducing the cost of state government. We have several recommendations for streamlining the court system that would help reduce costs and improve court services. All require legislative approval.

First, we recommend that you eliminate unnecessary tasks. I'm not suggesting that we stop hearing cases or drop important services, not at all. I'm suggesting we streamline some procedures, eliminate obsolete or unnecessary practices, and, where appropriate, shift some procedures to other agencies. We have a list of suggestions along this line for your review.

For instance, why are the courts involved in cemetery management or required to have a 24-hour probate court? Perhaps this made sense in the early years of the last century, but it does not make sense today. Someone once said: "There is nothing more useless than doing efficiently that which should not be done at all." This is sound advice. Let's follow it and get rid of the needless work.

We also recommend a statutory change that would give the Court authority to determine the structure of the judicial districts. The configuration of the judicial districts has not been changed in thirty years. Although the judicial council's plan proposed reducing the number of districts from eight to five, we have not adopted that plan or any other. Further, there would be an opportunity for public participation before we would act on proposals for change.

By reorganizing the judicial districts, we could gain a significant improvement: a better allocation of our existing judicial resources. Preliminary results of a recent study by the National Center for State Courts indicate that Iowa has enough judges statewide; however, some districts have more judges than they need, and some have less than they need. By redrawing the districts, we can correct that imbalance.

We also believe that we can reduce some of our administrative costs by reducing the number of districts. If we had fewer districts, we would need fewer managers.

Finally, we recommend a statutory change that would eliminate the mandate that there be a clerk of court official in every county. If this were done, we could use one clerk of court to manage several small offices. The Court does not have a specific plan in mind for reducing the number of clerks; however, we ask for authority to determine our staffing levels — including our management staffing levels. Let me make clear that this would not affect the presence of a clerk of court office in each county, which we will continue to maintain.

Our request to eliminate the mandate is based simply on our desire for more flexible management. Good management does not require that we have 99 managers.

The executive branch is reducing the number of managers it has. We should do the same. We could use the savings to add line staff to understaffed offices.

I want to emphasize that this request should not be taken as any reflection on the abilities of the present occupants of these offices. Our clerks are hardworking, dedicated public servants. We have great respect for their abilities.

All the recommendations that we are suggesting would not only make the court system more efficient, but would enable us to do more with our existing resources. We realize, however, that change will not occur overnight. It will come with time. And realization of all the benefits from the change will likewise come with time. Nevertheless, the recommendations we are proposing are steps in the right direction.

FUTURE GOALS: BETTER ACCESS WITH THE AID OF TECHNOLOGY

Clearly, Iowans want and deserve the greatest access to justice that we can afford. The old and comfortable definition of access revolves around 100 county courthouses. But access to court services need not be limited to the brick and mortar of a courthouse. Access can come through other means.

We're all aware of the electronic revolution. The 2000 Census found that more than one-half of U.S. households own at least one computer, and most of these homes are connected to the Internet. According to Nielsen/NetRatings, the number of Web users in the United States soared to an all-time high of 115 million last October. The electronic revolution is transforming every sector of our society including the courts.

As I said to you last year at this time: "With the aid of information technology, we can provide a host of court services where they are needed, when they are needed, any time and any place." This is still true today. On-line services would provide busy Iowans more convenient public access to the courts — without taking time away from one's job or family, driving to the county seat courthouse, searching for a parking space, and waiting in line for help.

We will soon take the first step in that direction with our electronic public access program. This program will put the trial court dockets from all 99 counties and the appellate courts on-line, 24 hours a day, 7 days a week. The bulk of the information will be free. Iowans will be able to conduct routine searches of court information such as child support records, criminal records, and traffic fines through the Internet. Later this year, we'll provide a feature that will enable the public to pay court fines and child support obligations on-line.

In addition to the obvious benefits to the public, this service will help us operate more efficiently. Because the court information is on-line there will be fewer telephone calls for court staff to answer, and fewer people waiting at the counter in the clerk's office. Court staff will be able to focus their time on other important duties such as processing child support cases, assisting litigants who are representing themselves in court, and collecting fines.

But this is only the first step. We can and must do more.

As I reported to you last year, we were poised to test a new system, known as EDMS, which would offer a broad spectrum of benefits. For example, it would:

- Enable on-line electronic filing and document retrieval — 24 hours a day, 7 days a week,
- Provide access to court documents, which would allow a person to inspect or copy a record from a personal computer at their home, office or local library.
- Eventually reduce the need for file cabinets, file systems, and storage space that is provided at county expense.

Regrettably, the budget situation has delayed our progress, but we will not abandon our goal to implement EDMS. We plan to implement EDMS as soon as funding permits.

CONCLUSION: FINDING COMMON GROUND

The state's financial problems present great challenges for all of us — challenges that are not susceptible to a quick fix. If we are to meet those and other challenges in the next ten, twenty, or even fifty years, all of us — elected officials, appointed officials, and citizens — must be willing to consider new ideas that, at first blush, may seem too radical for many Iowans. We cannot expect everyone to agree on every issue, but let's at least rise above our different opinions so that Iowa can move forward.

Perhaps the greatest challenge for Iowans is to work together to find solutions to problems that we share instead of belaboring parochial differences. Let's stop defining ourselves by where we live in this great state. Let's define ourselves by who we are: Iowans — who share the same values and the same hopes for a bright future. I am confident that if we join together on common ground and explore new ideas, we can forge a judicial system that will serve the best interests of all Iowans.

Thank you.

O'BRIEN of Boone

GOVERNOR'S ITEM VETO MESSAGE

A copy of the following communication was received and placed on file:

February 8, 2002

The Honorable Brent Siegrist
Speaker of the House
State Capitol Building

Dear Speaker Siegrist:

I hereby transmit House File 2245, an Act relating to the medical assistance program, making appropriations and transfers of funds, and providing an effective date.

The medical assistance supplemental bill is vitally important for hundreds of thousands of Iowans. This bill makes significant strides toward addressing the increased demand for medical services by families in need.

However, the bill has several provisions, which I cannot support. I oppose attempts to raise prescription costs on Iowans in need and add an unnecessary, burdensome layer of bureaucracy and cost to the delivery of medical assistance. In addition, the anticipated cost savings for some provisions are overstated. The burdens created for some families and health care providers are also unacceptable.

House File 2245 is, therefore, signed on this date with the following exceptions, which I hereby disapprove.

I am unable to approve the item designated as Section 4, subsection 2 in its entirety. This language directs any remaining funds in the hospital trust fund after the first $7 million is appropriated to replace the $2.5 million in the tobacco endowment. By vetoing this provision, any funds remaining in the hospital trust fund would be transferred to the senior living trust in accordance with Section 4, subsection 3 of the bill. This veto will improve the balance between resources used by the senior living trust and tobacco settlement endowment. It will also preserve the priority of long-term care transitions over the endowment.

I am unable to approve the item designated as Section 5, subsection 2 in its entirety. This language directs that if certain federal funds are not received during the present fiscal year, the Department of Human Services appropriations will be reduced by up to $7 million—funds used to protect children and provide health care coverage for uninsured Iowans. The provision punishes children and Iowans in need because of action on the part of the federal government.

I am unable to approve the item designated as Section 7, subsection 1 in its entirety. The Legislature's bill would require additional bureaucracy and associated costs by calling for monthly reporting requirements for those who experience a change in income, mailing address, household composition, or health insurance. In doing so, the legislature would be creating an additional layer of bureaucracy, and an additional layer of cost to process the monthly reports. This new bureaucratic requirement is particularly unnecessary, considering the Department of Human Services already requires Iowans in need who receive medical assistance to report changes in such factors. This is an example of an area where the projected savings are overstated.

While I am not recommending a veto of the section relating to restrictions on dental services that would be available to medical assistance recipients, as now passed, most of the projected savings have been eliminated. Savings under this proposal are much less than the amount indicated by the Legislature of $1.6 million for four months.

I am unable to approve the item designated as Section 7, subsection 3 in its entirety. The provision would increase the cost of prescription drugs for Iowans most in need. This, in effect, is a tax on a group—aged, blind, disabled, children, caretakers with very little or no income. Additionally, if the individuals do not have the funds, the pharmacist is required to dispense the drug anyway. This requires pharmacists to subsidize the costs and creates an additional reluctance on the part of pharmacists to handle Medicaid patients.

I am unable to approve the item designated as Section 9 in its entirety. The provision would require nursing facilities to be certified for medicaid and medicare—even if the nursing facility does not take medicare patients. Therefore, I have directed the Department of Human Services to immediately prepare administrative rules to address dual certification for all applicable nursing facilities, thus requiring certification of a nursing facility for both medicare and medicaid when they are, in fact, providing services for clients of each program. The directive avoids unnecessary additional administrative cost for dual certification that would be borne by the state, over 62 nursing facilities (which do not need the dual certification, nor will they in the future serve medicare clients), and Iowans who receive nursing home services.

For the above reasons, I respectfully disapprove these items in accordance with Amendment IV of the Amendments of 1968 to the Constitution of the State of Iowa. All other items in House File 2245 are hereby approved as of this date.

Sincerely,
Thomas J. Vilsack
Governor

GOVERNOR'S VETO MESSAGE

A copy of the following communication was received and placed on file:

March 1, 2002

The Honorable Mary Kramer
President of the Senate
State Capitol Building

Dear President Kramer:

I hereby disapprove and transfer Senate File 2121, an Act relating to permitted and prohibited occupations for certain child laborers involving motor vehicle cleaning, washing, and polishing, and providing an effective date.

As it is drafted, Senate File 2121 would exempt businesses engaged in automobile cleaning from the current child labor laws that prohibit youth from working with dangerous or poisonous dyes or chemicals [Iowa Code 92.8(19)]. As written, this bill would allow workers under 18 years old to come into contact with any chemical used in the automobile cleaning, washing, and polishing processes—including those that are corrosive, toxic, and even potentially fatal.

Our child labor laws were created to provide safeguards for young people in the workplace. While I realize the important role that summer and after-school jobs play to instill the value of hard work to our young people, we must strike a balance that will afford our youth this opportunity for rewarding experience while also maintaining their health and safety. Although this bill would require youth to use protective equipment, I am not convinced that this requirement will always provide adequate protections from toxic, corrosive, or potentially fatal chemicals.

Senate File 2121 was originally designed to provide businesses a vehicle through which they could continue to employ teenagers in car washing jobs. No one disagrees with the goal of continued employment for our young people in cleaning automobiles. Unfortunately, the bill's language goes too far and could allow child laborers to be put into dangerous work settings.

Realizing that the solution to this issue must be a two-prong approach that ensures both employment access and worker safety, I have instructed the Iowa Division of Labor to issued an official interpretation of "dangerous or poisonous dyes or chemicals" as it relates to our child labor laws. This interpretation will clarify the chemicals that child laborers may come into contact with while maintaining the safety that they need in the workplace. Earlier today, the Labor Commissioner issued this official interpretation of the definition of "dangerous or poisonous dyes or chemicals" as reference in Iowa Code 92.8(19). Further, I have directed the Division of Labor to continue to work with the automobile dealers in our state to ensure that we strike the right balance to maintain both safety and employment opportunities for young Iowans.

Given the new interpretation of the child labor provisions and the continued commitment of all parties to find a workable, real world solution to this issue, Senate File 2121 no longer appears necessary.

For the above reasons, I hereby respectfully disapprove Senate File 2121.

Sincerely,
Thomas J. Vilsack
Governor

1 Sec.____. Section 282.18, subsections 4 and 5,
 2 Code 2001, are amended by striking the subsections and
 3 inserting in lieu thereof the following:

4 4. a. After January 1 of the preceding school
 5 year and until the third Friday in September of that 6 calendar year, the parent or guardian shall send 7 notification to the district of residence and the 8 receiving district, on forms prescribed by the 9 department of education, that good cause, as defined
 10 in paragraph "b", exists for failure to meet the 11 January 1 deadline. The board of the receiving 12 district shall take action to approve the request if 13 good cause exists. If the request is granted, the 14 board shall transmit a copy of the form to the parent
 15 or guardian and the school district of residence
 16 within five days after board action. A denial of a 17 request by the board of a receiving district is not 18 subject to appeal.

19 b. For purposes of this section, "good cause"
 20 means a change in a child's residence due to a change
 21 in family residence, a change in the state in which 22 the family residence is located, a change in a child's 23 parents' marital status, a guardianship or custody
 24 proceeding, placement in foster care, adoption,
 25 participation in a foreign exchange program, or 26 participation in a substance abuse or mental health
 27 treatment program, a change in the status of a child's 28 resident district such as removal of accreditation by

29 the state board, surrender of accreditation, or 30 permanent closure of a nonpublic school, the failure
31 of negotiations for a whole-grade sharing,
32 reorganization, dissolution agreement or the rejection
33 of a current whole-grade sharing agreement, or 34 reorganization plan. If the good cause relates to a 35 change in status of a child's school district of 36 residence, however, action by a parent or guardian
37 must be taken to file the notification within forty-38 five days of the last board action or within thirty
39 days of the certification of the election, whichever
40 is applicable to the circumstances.

41 c. If a resident district believes that a
42 receiving district is unreasonable in approving 43 applications submitted in accordance with this 44 subsection, the resident district may request that the 45 department review and take appropriate action.

46 5. Open enrollment applications filed after 47 January 1 of the preceding school year that do not
48 qualify for good cause as provided in subsection 4
49 shall be subject to the approval of the board of the 50 resident district and the board of the receiving

Page 4

1 district. The parent or guardian shall send
2 notification to the district of residence and the 3 receiving district that the parent or guardian seeks 4 to enroll the parent's or guardian's child in the 5 receiving district. A decision of either board to 6 deny an application filed under this subsection
7 involving repeated acts of harassment of the student
8 or serious health condition of the student that the 9 resident district cannot adequately address is subject
10 to appeal under section 290.1. The state board shall 11 exercise broad discretion to achieve just and 12 equitable results that are in the best interest of the 13 affected child or children.

14 Sec. ___. Section 282.18, subsection 6, Code 2001,
15 is amended to read as follows:

16 6. A request under this section is for a period of 17 not less than one year. If the request is for more 18 than one year and the parent or guardian desires to 19 have the pupil enroll in a different district, the 20 parent or guardian may petition the current receiving 21 district by January 1 of the previous school year for 22 permission to enroll the pupil in a different district
23 for a period of not less than one year. Upon receipt
24 of such a request, the current receiving district
25 board may act on the request to transfer to the other
26 school district at the next regularly scheduled board
27 meeting after the receipt of the request. The new

28 receiving district shall enroll the pupil in a school
 29 in the district unless there is insufficient classroom
 30 space in the district or unless enrollment of the 31 pupil would adversely affect the court-ordered or 32 voluntary desegregation plan of the district. A
 33 denial of a request to change district enrollment
 34 within the approved period is not subject to appeal
 35 under section 290.1. However, a pupil who has been in 36 attendance in another district under this section may 37 return to the district of residence and enroll at any 38 time, once the parent or guardian has notified the 39 district of residence and the receiving district in 40 writing of the decision to enroll the pupil in the 41 district of residence.

42 Sec. __. Section 282.18, subsection 14, Code
 43 2001, is amended to read as follows:

44 14. If a pupil, for whom a request to transfer has 45 been filed with a district, has been suspended or 46 expelled in the district, the pupil shall not be 47 permitted to transfer until the pupil has been 48 reinstated in the sending district. Once the pupil
 49 has been reinstated, however, the pupil shall be 50 permitted to transfer in the same manner as if the

Page 5

1 pupil had not been suspended or expelled by the 2 sending district. If a pupil, for whom a request to 3 transfer has been filed with a district, is expelled
 4 in the district, the pupil shall be permitted to 5 transfer to a receiving district under this section if 6 the pupil applies for and is reinstated in the sending 7 district. However, if the pupil applies for 8 reinstatement but is not reinstated in the sending 9 district, the receiving district may deny the request
 10 to transfer. ~~The parent or guardian of the pupil~~
 11 ~~shall be permitted to appeal the decision of the~~ 12 ~~receiving district to the director of the department~~
 13 ~~of education. If the director rules in favor of~~ 14 ~~permitting the transfer, the pupil shall be permitted~~
 15 ~~to transfer, but the transfer shall be conditioned~~
 16 ~~upon the expiration of the expulsion period without~~ 17 ~~the pupil incurring a new violation is not subject to~~ 18 ~~appeal.~~

19 Sec. __. Section 282.18, subsection 16, Code
 20 2001, is amended by striking the subsection and
 21 inserting in lieu thereof the following:

22 16. An application for open enrollment may be 23 granted at any time with approval of the resident and

H-8210

1 Amend Senate File 429, as amended, passed, and
 2 reprinted by the Senate, as follows:
 3 1. By striking everything after the enacting
 4 clause and inserting the following:
 5 "Section 1. Section 476.97, subsection 11,
 6 paragraph e, subparagraph (1), Code 2001, is amended
 7 by striking the subparagraph and inserting in lieu
 8 thereof the following:
 9 (1) A price-regulated local exchange carrier shall
 10 not increase its rates for basic communications
 11 services, for a period of twelve months after electing 12 to become price regulated. To the extent necessary,
 13 rates for basic services may be increased to carry out
 14 the purpose of any rules that may be adopted by the 15 board relating to the terms and conditions of 16 unbundled services and interconnection. A price-
 17 regulated local exchange carrier may increase its 18 rates for basic communications services following the 19 initial twelve-month period, to the extent that the 20 change in its aggregate revenue weighted prices does

21 not exceed the most recent annual change in the gross
22 domestic produce price index, as published by the 23 federal government. If application of that formula
24 achieves a negative result, prices shall be reduced so
25 that the cumulative price change for basic services,
26 including prior price reductions in these services,
27 achieves the negative result. The board by rule may 28 adopt different measures of inflation if they are 29 found to be more reflective of the individual price-
30 regulated carriers.

31 Sec. 2. Section 476.97, subsection 11, paragraph
32 g, subparagraph (4), Code 2001, is amended by striking 33 the subparagraph and inserting in lieu thereof the

36 any changes in revenues, expenses, and investment due 37 to exogenous factors beyond the control of the local 38 exchange carrier, including, but not limited to, the 39 effects of local competition. The board shall have 40 ninety days to consider rate changes proposed under 41 this subparagraph, but for good cause may grant one or 42 more extensions in thirty-day increments, not to 43 exceed a total of one hundred eighty days.

44 Sec. 3. Section 476.97, subsection 11, paragraph
45 h, Code 2001, is amended to read as follows:

46 h. The board may review a local exchange carrier's
47 operation under this subsection, with notice and an 48 opportunity for hearing, after four years of the 49 carrier's election to be price-regulated. The local 50 exchange carrier, consumer advocate, or any person may

Page 2

1 propose, and the board may approve, any reasonable
2 modifications to the price-regulation requirements in 3 this subsection as a result of the specific carrier
4 review, ~~except that such~~ with the following
5 limitations:

6 (1) Such modifications shall not require a
7 reduction in the rates for any basic communications
8 service or a return to rate-base, rate-of-return
9 regulation.

10 (2) Such proposals for modifications under this 11 paragraph "h" are limited to no more than one every 12 three years.

13 The board shall approve, or approve subject to 14 modification, a proposal for modification within 15 ninety days of filing, but for good cause may grant
16 one or more extensions in thirty-day increments, not 17 to exceed a total of one hundred eighty days.
18 Reasonable modifications may include increases without 19 offsetting decreases in any rate for basic and 20 nonbasic communications service of the carrier. In 21 reviewing the carrier's proposal, the board shall 22 consider, but not be limited to, potential rate

 23 consolidations, the impact of competition or other
 24 external factors since election of price regulation, 25 the impact of the proposal on the carrier's ability to 26 attract capital, and the impact of the proposal on the 27 ability of the carrier to deploy advanced
 28 telecommunications services.

 30 immediate importance, takes effect upon enactment."

24 by striking the section and inserting in lieu thereof
25 the following:
26 490.832 DIRECTOR CONFLICT OF INTEREST.
27 1. A conflict of interest transaction is a
28 transaction with the corporation in which a director
29 of the corporation has a direct or indirect interest.
30 A conflict of interest transaction is not voidable by 31 the corporation solely because of the director's
32 interest in the transaction if any one of the 33 following is true:
34 a. The material facts of the transaction and the 35 director's interest were disclosed or known to the 36 board of directors or a committee of the board of 37 directors and the board of directors or committee
38 authorized, approved, or ratified the transaction.
39 b. The material facts of the transaction and the 40 director's interest were disclosed or known to the 41 shareholders entitled to vote and the shareholders
42 authorized, approved, or ratified the transaction.
43 c. The transaction was fair to the corporation.
44 2. For purposes of this section, a director of the 45 corporation has an indirect interest in a transaction
46 if either of the following is true:
47 a. Another entity in which the director has a
48 material financial interest or in which the director
49 is a general partner is a party to the transaction.
50 b. Another entity of which the director is a

1 director, officer, or trustee is a party to the 2 transaction and the transaction is or should be 3 considered by the board of directors of the 4 corporation.
5 3. For purposes of subsection 1, paragraph "a", a
6 conflict of interest transaction is authorized,
7 approved, or ratified if it receives the affirmative
8 vote of a majority of the directors on the board of 9 directors or on the committee, who have no direct or 10 indirect interest in the transaction, but a 11 transaction may not be authorized, approved, or 12 ratified under this section by a single director. If 13 a majority of the directors who have no direct or 14 indirect interest in the transaction vote to 15 authorize, approve, or ratify the transaction, a
16 quorum is present for the purpose of taking action
17 under this section. The presence of, or a vote cast
18 by, a director with a direct or indirect interest in 19 the transaction does not affect the validity of any 20 action taken under subsection 1, paragraph "a", if the 21 transaction is otherwise authorized, approved, or 22 ratified as provided in that subsection.

- 23 4. For purposes of subsection 1, paragraph "b", a
 24 conflict of interest transaction is authorized,
 25 approved, or ratified if it receives the vote of a 26 majority of the shares entitled to be counted under 27 this subsection. Shares owned by or voted under the 28 control of a director who has a direct or indirect
 29 interest in the transaction, and shares owned by or 30 voted under the control of an entity described in 31 subsection 2, paragraph "a", shall not be counted in a 32 vote of shareholders to determine whether to 33 authorize, approve, or ratify a conflict of interest
 34 transaction under subsection 1, paragraph "b". The 35 vote of those shares, however, is counted in 36 determining whether the transaction is approved under 37 other sections of this chapter. A majority of the 38 shares, whether or not present, that are entitled to 39 be counted in a vote on the transaction under this 40 subsection constitutes a quorum for the purpose of 41 taking action under this section."

 50 to dissenters' appraisal rights. If the proposed

GOVERNOR'S VETO MESSAGE

A copy of the following communication was received and placed on file:

March 21, 2002

The Honorable Mary Kramer
President of the Senate
State Capitol Building

Dear President Kramer:

I hereby transmit Senate File 2048, an Act prohibiting disbursements of moneys from the Vision Iowa fund to entities entering into certain labor-related agreements, and providing an effective date.

I am unable to approve Senate File 2048. This bill would deny public entities that receive funding from the Vision Iowa program the same tool private entities use regularly to ensure quality work and timely completion on a project. Denying this tool may result in taxpayers paying more for a project due to poor workmanship, incurring cost overruns and repairs following the completion of a project. Poor workmanship can also increase the likelihood of accidents and expose the public to additional liability. Public entities should have the ability to use project labor agreements as a tool if officials deem it to be in the citizens' best interest.

Furthermore, local governments are granted home rule power and authority under the Iowa Constitution to determine local affairs. Senate File 2048 restricts local governments' ability to enter into agreements even if such involvement benefits the public's interests. If project labor agreements were to be banned, public entities would need a legal framework that ensures minimum qualifications for workers guaranteeing the quality and timeliness of work performed on publicly funded projects.

Ensuring quality and timeliness is a function of the experience and training of workers involved. Experience and training are reflected in the wages paid to workers. I acknowledged early on in the debate that a level playing field must exist for bidding, and I worked to develop a framework with lawmakers that would provide for competitive bids while maintaining quality and timeliness of work. My plan would replace the current project labor agreement structure with a prevailing wage and minimum qualifications for workers on publicly funded projects. With such a plan, quality, timeliness, competitive bidding, and wage concerns are all addressed. Unfortunately, the legislature declined to address these concerns.

Iowa needs a system that focuses on the lowest qualified competitive bid to ensure that work is done properly, on-time, without increased maintenance and repair expenses, and without increased exposure to liability. Senate File 2048 does not accomplish this goal and, in fact, restricts it in some instances.

For the above reasons, I hereby respectfully disapprove Senate File 2048. Public entities will still have the ability to decide whether to use project labor agreements as a tool or not, depending on what is in the best public interest.

Sincerely,
Thomas J. Vilsack
Governor

Such child care provider shall be subject to a period during which receipt of public funding for provision of child care is conditioned upon no further violations and to one or more of the following sanctions as determined by the department and imposed in an administrative proceeding:

(1) Ineligibility to receive public funding for provision of child care.

(2) Suspension from receipt of public funding for provision of child care.

(3) Special review of the child care provider's claims for providing publicly funded child care.

3. a. If a child care provider is subject to sanctions under subsection 2, the provider shall submit to the department the names and addresses of children receiving child care from the provider. The department shall send information to the parents of the children regarding the provider's actions leading to the imposition of the sanctions and the nature of the sanctions imposed. If the provider fails to submit the names and addresses within five business days of the department notifying the provider, the department shall suspend the provider's registration or license under this chapter until the names and addresses are provided.

b. In addition to applying the suspension, the department may request that the attorney general file a petition with the district court of the county in which the provider is located for issuance of a temporary injunction enjoining the provider from providing child care until the names and addresses are submitted to the department. The attorney general may file the petition upon receiving the request from the department. Any temporary injunction may be granted without a bond being required from the department.

c. If the sanctions imposed under subsection 2 involve the provider's suspension or ineligibility for receiving public funding for provision of child care, the department shall not impose those sanctions before the parents of the affected children are informed, and upon request, shall provide assistance to the parents in locating replacement child care."

GOVERNOR'S VETO MESSAGE

A copy of the following communication was received and placed on file:

March 29, 2002

Brent Siegrist
Speaker of the House
State Capitol Building

Dear Speaker Siegrist:

I hereby transmit House File 2264, an Act relating to informed consent provisions relating to an abortion and providing criminal penalties, and providing an effective date.

House File 2264 provides that an abortion shall be prohibited without the "voluntary and informed consent" of the woman seeking the procedure. There has been an ongoing discussion in this state about the level of communication that takes place between medical professionals and women seeking abortion services. A number of Iowans believe that women who seek abortion services in this state do not receive sufficient information to make an informed decision about whether to terminate their pregnancies. Given this concern, I have directed the Iowa Department of Public Health to take all appropriate steps to ensure that Iowans confronted with this difficult choice are given access, at their option, to a full range of medically-accurate and comprehensive information. Furthermore, I have directed the Department to take appropriate steps to ensure that Iowans have access to information that also promotes quality pre-natal and neo-natal care, and encourages the use of family support services at every stage of pregnancy and family development. I believe my directive will make available more medically-accurate and comprehensive information than House File 2264 would have required without criminalizing the actions of doctors.

Given the current laws in Iowa and the now heightened level of information that will be made available to women pursuant to my directive to the Iowa Department of Public Health, I conclude that House File 2264 is unnecessary. For these reasons, I hereby respectfully disapprove this bill.

Sincerely,
Thomas J. Vilsack
Governor
