

Students can't be accepted if they have learning, behavioral, or psychological disorders that require special services beyond the scope of what can be met in the regular mainstream classroom. ACS doesn't offer specialized staff to meet the special needs of a student on an IEP.