Columbus City.

Sept. 5.—Mr. Ben Jennings whose sickness was mentioned last week died Monday the 4th. Funeral services today at 1:30 p. m. The remains will be interred at the Spring Run cemetery.
 John Hartman's barn containing a quantity of hay and farm implements was burned early Monday morning. It was with difficulty that the house was saved owing to everything being so dry. The fire is supposed to have started in the hay mow. We understand there was $900 insurance, loss considerably more.

The primary has come and gone leaving considerable wreckage. The results seem to be accepted with a good grace, and all will come up to the general election determined to stand by the choice of the primary.

Mrs. McKay has purchased the Chas. Arningdale property in town and expects to move in in a few days.

We understand there are other families coming to town on account of the school and church privileges. In this respect it would be hard to find a better location.

The County Fair.

An hour spent this (Wednesday) morning on the fair ground revealed a busy scene. Many new exhibits were being added to those already in place and the officers were as busy as bees looking after the interests of exhibitors.

not trusty man, liked by his employers s well as by those under his charge. Much sympathy is felt for his family in their affliction.

Benjamin Jennings died at his home in Columbus City, Iowa, September 4, 1893. He was born in Fayette county, Pennsylvania, August 1, 1819, consequently he was only about a month over seventy-four years old at the time of his death. In 1840 he was united in marriage to Miss Ann Jeffries. Fourteen years later, in 1854, he moved with her from Ohio and settled in Elm Grove township. Here Mrs. Jennings died ten years later. He was subsequently married to Mrs. Nancy Harris, who with one daughter, Miss Ginevra A., survive to mourn a husband's and a father's loss.

To Mr. Jennings by his first wife were born eleven children, seven of whom still survive. These are Mifflin and D. F. of Enterprise, Kansas; W. H., of Davenport, Nebraska; Taylor, Enoch and Mrs. Ellen Trindle of Van Meter, Iowa, and Alvin, who lives at the old home farm in Elm Grove township. All these children were home to minister to his wants in his last sickness except D. F., who was kept at home by poor health.

Mr. Jennings was an upright Christian gentleman and had been a consistent member of the baptist church since the age of twenty-seven. In 1877 he was elected to the state legislature and performed the duties pertaining to that office with fidelity to his constituents and credit to himself.

He was buried from the baptist church, services being conducted by Elder Knapp of Ainsworth.

Mr. Jennings was afflicted with blindness during the last ten years of his life, but he bore his infirmities with Christian fortitude. He leaves many warm friends to mourn his loss.
