A gentleman from an Illinois town said his place of residence had the meanest man in the whole State of Illinois. When his wife died he buried her on his farm. Between the house and the spot he had selected as his burying ground was a 20 acre meadow, and he refused to allow a wagon to go over it for fear it would do some damage, and insisted that the pall-bearers should walk and carry the remains. When he signs his name he only uses five letters, when should use fourteen. He does this to save ink.

Death of Hon. D. G. McCloud.

Hon. David G. McCloud, one of the pioneers of Muscatine and among its most worthy and honored citizens, died at the home of his son-in-law, Job. W. Rankin, in this city, at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. He had been in poor health for some time but his ailment had not been considered serious till a few days before his death.

Mr. McCloud was born in Franklin county, Ohio, August 11, 1818, and died in his 71st year. When but 18 years of age he removed with his parents to Warsaw, Ill., and three years later, in 1839, they came to Muscatine. He was a plasterer by trade, which avocation he followed until 1853, when he was elected Sheriff of this county, which position he filled with credit to himself and the county for four years. Upon retiring from office he engaged in farming in Lake township, and followed this pursuit until last year, when he removed to this city. In 1872 he was elected to the Legislature, serving one term with honor and credit.

The deceased was married July 18th, 1849, to Miss P.æbe Chattaway, who survives him. Eight children were born to them, all of them now living except the eldest, a daughter, Mrs. Aramanda V. Barnard, who died several years ago at Chester, Ill. The surviving children are: Cynthia M., wife of Chas. S. Miller, of Fruitland township; Cora W., wife of J. W. Rankin, of this city; George D., of Lewiston, Idaho; Bion C., of St. Louis; Anna G., wife of Frank McBride, of Lake township; Emma E., wife of Albert McBride, of Boston; Abby P., wife of John Hitchcock, of Lake township. All of the family are now here except George, who is on his way, being expected to arrive Sunday night or Monday morning, and Mrs. Emma E. McBride, who is in Boston, and owing to illness in her family is unable to come.

The deceased was a member of the M. E. church, of Lake township, and of the I. O. O. F. He was one of the most upright and conscientious of our citizens. Truly a good man has fallen.

The funeral is appointed for Tuesday at 2 o'clock p. m.
