LOCAL COMMENT.

Marshalltown and Waterloo had broken even on foot ball honors, but when it came to a breach of promise suit for $10,000 damage the Blackhawk country town was too much for us. Mr. Hoy has one source of satisfaction. The jury placed a pretty good valuation on his affections.

It might be interesting to know in whose interests the free text book petition is being circulated in this city. As a usual thing a man does not spend weeks of his time in circulating petitions just for pleasure. Of course Mr. Griswold has a right to give his services to any one who wishes to employ him, but before the people vote to furnish school books free they want to be assured that they are not benefiting some outside concern.

The Tama City papers accuse the T.-R. of being unfair in its comments on the result of the glucose company trial and the contamination of the Iowa river. As far as these comments are concerned the people can judge as to whether they are fair or not. Compared with the utterances of the Tama City papers they are as oil on troubled waters. The two Tama City papers have talked, since the smell arose, a little sense and much nonsense—have threatened everything from injunction to dynamite. The Tama county papers printed in Toledo have been fair, and now one of them is being scored by the Tama City papers because it sought to continue to be fair. If in the end the journals of Tama find that the glucose company has not been responsible for the disagreeable condition of the river, both below and above the city, it is doubtful if they will be fair enough to acknowledge their mistake and that an injustice has been done.

The people of the west end of the county have been testing the temperaments of the two candidates for representative, who happen to be residents of the western portion. Last Wednesday at a public sale—candidates seem to have an especial liking for public sales and picnics—the most dignified of the legislative aspirants was picked up bodily and placed head foremost in a barrel. A correspondent writes that he extricated himself good naturedly. There was some doubt as to the barrel answering the purpose for the other candidate owing to his size, but a hoghead could not be found and the fun makers concluded to try the barrel. It proved a pretty tight fit, but the 220-pound candidate made a good showing, both of feet and good temper. The personal friends of each of the gentlemen contend that their man will land the job.

D. M. MONINGER DEAD

One of the Best Known Residents of the County Succumbs to Apoplexy.

Passes Away Sunday Night at His Home in Galvin, After a Week's Illness.

Was a Former Member of the Legislature and Widely Known as a Stock Breeder.

Hon. D. M. Moninger died at midnight Sunday at his home in Galvin after a week's illness from apoplexy, with which he was suddenly stricken on Saturday, Jan. 23. His death marks the passing of a busy career and of one of the most widely-known citizens of Marshall county.

One week ago Saturday Mr. Moninger, while en route from the station at Galvin to his home, was seized with a slight apoplectic stroke and fell to the ground. With difficulty he reached the school house near by, and was there found by his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Harry Moninger, and Miss Laura Bruner, the teacher of the school. Since that time he had been confined to his bed, and Saturday seemed brighter and better than at any time since his illness. But medical skill and loving care did not avail, and the end came suddenly at midnight Sunday, surrounded by his sorrowing family.

Demas McFarland Moninger was born in Washington county, Pennsylvania, March 11, 1833, and would have been 66 years of age next month. He came to Iowa in the latter part of the '50's, settling in Bangor township. Thirty-five years ago he moved to Marietta township, nine miles northwest of this city. When the Central branch was built a postoffice was established at his house known as Galvin. This was in 1881, and Mr. Moninger was appointed postmaster, which position he held up to the time of his death. Mr. Moninger was married Oct. 6, 1853, and as a result of this union five children were born, only two of whom are living—William R. and Harold W. Moninger, both of Galvin. A daughter died in infancy and John, a twin-brother of William, and Frank were drowned in 1887, in the Iowa river at a point north of their home while bathing.

Mr. Moninger was sent to the legislature by the people of this county, serving during 1874 and 1875. He was a lifelong republican. He gained prominence as a stock breeder, and for twenty years till his death devoted his

Candidates for offices at the coming city election, which occurs Monday, March 27—less than two months hence—are beginning to bestir themselves. The mayoralty race has not narrowed down to any particular candidate or group of candidates, and some of those talked of are still debating the practicability of coming out. Of the candidates who have fully determined to try for the place are Mayor Franklin G. Pierce and Smith M. Ward. Dr. Getz is still mentioned as a probability, as is also George Norris. Mayor Pierce's supporters are not discouraging any one from entering the race, as the more candidates there are the better his chances of re-election become. But a three-cornered fight might make things lively for all concerned.

For aldermanic honors the situation is as unsettled as the mayoralty campaign. Charley Henry, of the Reflector, is a

He was known throughout the state among the stockmen, as his services have been in demand to judge the exhibits at fine stock shows.

The funeral will take place from the home Wednesday, Rev. McMillan, pastor of the Presbyterian church of Albion, of which Mr. Moninger was a member, officiating. Interment will be in the family lot in Riverside, in this city.

Arrangements are being made with the Central to run a special train to Galvin and return Wednesday, to enable residents of this city to attend the funeral. The train will leave at 9 a. m. and return at 12 m.

OUR BOYS SAFE.

Iowa Troops Not Engaged in Battle at Manila.

Des Moines, Feb. 6--(Special)—There is great anxiety among the friends of the Iowa troops now at Manila over the question whether or not they were engaged in the battle of Saturday night and Sunday.

It is believed, however, that the Fifty-first was not in the battle. The Iowa boys disembarked at Cavite on Thursday, and probably went into camp there. They might have been ordered to the front from there, but the general success of the forces engaged would render this improbable.

The fact that the states of California, Washington, Nebraska, and Idaho report deaths enough to account for the twenty reported killed by General Otis shows that Iowa is at least not represented in the list of killed.

Gov. Shaw has had no advices from Manila, and expects none.

The adjutant general's office is also without news which is good news. The absence of private dispatches is also cheering.

DATE IS SET FOR INSTITUTE

The executive committee of the Marshall County Farmers Institute, composed of President George A. Turner, Secretary W. H. Willson, Dr. E. Lewis, and William Battin, held a meeting in the office of French & Turner Monday afternoon for the purpose of selecting a date and arranging a program for the next institute.

Thursday and Friday, March 2 and 3 were decided upon as the days for holding the sessions, and the east court room was chosen as the place. The matter of a program, however, was not definitely settled as it will be necessary to hear from one or two speakers of note, whom it is desired to invite, before the program can be perfected. But it is expected that within a few days the program

TWO MORE PIONEERS HEED THE BECKONING HAND.

Hon. D. M. Moninger and H. S. Munson Pass Away—J. E. Shaver Succumbs to Consumption.

The death of Hon. D. M. Moninger, of Galvin, which occurred Sunday night, takes from the county one of the most widely known farmers and stock raisers of central Iowa. Mr. Moninger never rallied from the sudden attack of apoplexy with which he was stricken a week before, the first account of which was given the public by the Statesman-Press.

Demas McFarland Moninger was born in Washington county, Pa., March 11, 1833. He came to Iowa in the latter part of the fifties, settling in Bangor township. Later he moved to Marietta township. Mr. Moninger was appointed postmaster of the postoffice at Galvin which was located at his home and since the institution of the office in 1881 has been continuously in charge. He was married Oct. 6, 1859, and to him and his estimable wife were born five children, of whom but two are living—W. R. and H. W. Moninger of Galvin. A daughter died in infancy, and two sons, John and Frank, were drowned in 1887, while bathing in the Iowa river.

Mr. Moninger represented Marshall county in the legislature during 1874-75, as a Republican, which has been his political faith since the birth of that party. He was well known over the state as a grower of fancy shorthorn cattle, and because of his knowledge of fine stock was in great demand as a judge of fine cattle exhibits. The funeral will take place Wednesday from the home, Rev. McMillian of the Albion Presbyterian church, officiating. Interment will be made at Riverside. A special train will run to Galvin Wednesday, leaving the city at 9 a. m. and returning at 12 m. Volunteers and staff at the State Historical Society of Iowa.

bought a farm of one hundred and thirty-four acres at eighty dollars per acre. Of this, he has sold fifty-four to his son, Frank A. Bellus, now owning eighty acres. He has added good improvements to his land from time to time and has a good home in every respect and is surrounded by plenty in his old age. He has raised considerable live stock which he has prepared for the market.

Politically, Mr. Bellus is a Republican and while he is interested in the welfare of his party, he has never aspired to public office.

Mr. Bellus was married in 1853 to Sarah Ann Cross, a native of Licking county, Ohio, and the daughter of G. and Phoebe (Howell) Cross, both natives of Pennsylvania, he having come from that state to Ohio with his father, Robert Cross, when he was a babe and in the latter state he spent his life. In those days the country was wild and Indians were plentiful.

To Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Bellus five children were born, namely: Charley Ervin, Mabel Phoebe, Frank A. and Hattie Diana. One child died in infancy.

The mother of these children died about 1871 and Mr. Bellus was married on November 8, 1873, to Mrs. Alice Brown, a native of Union county, Iowa, and this union also resulted in the birth of five children, named as follows: Jennie, Lottie, Effie, Max and E. Nye, all living. Mrs. Alice Bellus died November 9, 1906, aged fifty-nine years eight months and eleven days.

WILLIAM R. MONINGER.

The career of William R. Moninger, one of Marshall county's best known citizens, happily illustrates the fact that if a young man possesses the proper attributes of mind and heart with the ability to direct the same in proper channels, he can attain for himself not only material success but gain an honored place among the factors that shape the destinies of communities. His life proves that true success in this world depends upon personal efforts and consecutive industry in the pursuit of some specific and honorable purpose; it also demonstrates that the road to positions of influence among men, whatever the relations of life may be, is open to all who may possess the courage to tread its pathway, besides serving as an incentive to the young of the present generation, teaching by incontrovertible facts that true excellence in any worthy undertaking is ambition's legitimate answer.

Mr. Moninger was born in Bangor township, Marshall county, Iowa,

April 18, 1862, and he is the son of D. M. and Mary V. (Ringland) Moninger, both natives of Washington county, Pennsylvania, the father on March 11, 1833, and the mother on June 14, 1839. There they were reared and educated in Washington county, Pennsylvania, and married on October 6, 1859. A few days later they started to Marshall county, Iowa, whither Mrs. Moninger had come in 1856 when young, later returning to Pennsylvania where she remained until her marriage. Upon the arrival of D. M. Moninger and wife in this county they settled on eighty acres in Bangor township, and in 1864 bought a farm in Marietta township of two hundred acres, to which they added until they owned nearly eleven hundred acres of valuable land. The elder Moninger came here in pioneer times when the land was a wild prairie and settlers were few, but he was a hard worker and a good manager and he became one of the large land owners and one of the substantial citizens of the county. He was an extensive breeder of short-horn cattle, which he entered at various fat stock shows, including Chicago, winning special premiums, also a number of regular premiums. He was one of the influential men of his community and county and a man of strong characteristics, his character being above reproach. He took a great deal of interest in public affairs and was one of the leaders in the development of Marshall county in his day. He was elected as representative, on the Republican ticket, to the state Legislature in 1873 for one term and he served in the fifteenth General Assembly in a manner that reflected much credit upon himself and to the entire satisfaction of his constituents. He was a member of the local school board for a number of years. He was a member and liberal supporter of the Presbyterian church at Albion, where Mrs. Moninger also belongs. The death of D. M. Moninger occurred on February 5, 1899; his widow is still living in Marietta township, now advanced in years. She enjoys the friendship of a wide acquaintance throughout the county. They were the parents of William Ringland and John H. (twins); Anna May is deceased; Frank B. and John H. were drowned in the Iowa river in 1887; Harold W.

The paternal grandparents of the subject, John and Catherine (Dague) Moninger, were early settlers of Pennsylvania. The maternal grandparents of the subject, William and Mary (Bane) Ringland, also lived in Pennsylvania, he being a native of Ireland, emigrating to Pennsylvania when seven years of age and there was educated and married, his wife being a native of that state, and there they spent the remainder of their lives; they were the parents of four children, of whom the mother of the subject is the only one living.

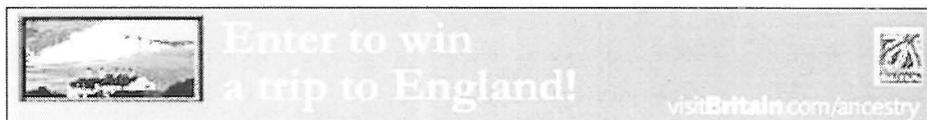

William R. Moninger, of this review, was reared on the home farm where he assisted with the general work about the place when he became of proper
