HON. JOHN VAN STADEN .

BORN Nov. 6th, 1828

DIED March 5th, 1915

For several months the close friends of Mr. John Van Staden have been aware of the gradual decline in his physical condition. Although possessing a remarkably strong constitution strengthened by the best of care, his advancing years began to tell on his general health, and one by one the faculties gave away under the call—first his eyesight, then his strength and vital forces, until at last his own strong mind admitted the situation. Time after time in his last days he notified his friends that his end was near. After his vital forces had been exhausted he relaxed into the utmost composure and passed peacefully away.

Mr. VanStaden was of German parentage, having been born in Bedakasa, State of Hanover, Germany. At the age of 19 he came to America and found employment in New York City, where he remained until 1857, when he came west and made Gut-the wishes of the other. Sweet indeed, are such friendships and the more marked are they because they appear so infrequently.

Mr. VanStaden was a man who forgot self—his regard for others less fortunate seemed his paramount concern. It was his nature and desire to be generous, the climax of his happiness consisted in this—to put his shoulder under the other man's burden and help him lift. And if all the people whom he has befriended could tell of the assistance, their names would be legion. It is a remarkable fact that this man has given away most of his accumulations. He had the one desire to do all the good he could do without positive injustice to himself—and to those who knew him best the fear was often entertained that in his beneficence he would weigh his cold business judgment.

Implement Dealers' M

Representative dealers from Clinton, Allamakee and Wapello Counties met at the Ziegler Hotel in McGregor on Friday, March 5th. An organization was perfected which will be known as the North East Iowa District No. 1, of the Iowa Implementers Association, with the following officers:—President, J. I. Jones, Vice Pres. W. H. Reed, Secy. and Treas. W. J. Knapp, McGregor; Chairman Program Committee, W. H. Collins, Harpers. The object of this organization is that the dealers may become better acquainted, and together discuss the most approved methods of business. It is not in any way a combination to fix prices, but to pursue any other illegal policy in all other lines of business. The members of the association are farmers, their organizations for mutual benefit. The implement dealers are to realize that their own interest is best served by the best service to their customers as well as to themselves. J. I. Jones, Secy. of the Iowa Implementers Association was present and assisted in the organization of the club. A number of very valuable suggestions were received from the dealers who were unable to attend here on account of snow. Further meetings will be held by the executive committee. Present were:—Louis Bentler & Co. of Elkader; Shepard, McGregor; J. I. Waukon; Adolph Asleson, W. H. Collins, Harpers; B. Reed, Decorah; T. Pra. du Chien and W. J. McGregor.

The District Debate Contest.

The debating team, Harold Doyle, Clayton Nelson and Leo Cassidy, accompanied by Supt. Roberts, acceded Saturday morning from Iowa Falls, where the final district contest was held last Thursday night.
 Doyle was the best and closest contending series, the result being in doubt until the decision of the two to vote for the affirmative was given.
 McGregor again had the negative side of the state question. Everyone our boys did well, and they deserve much credit as a team. All the main speeches had been strengthened since the Guttenberg debate and they were delivered especially well.
 The rebuttal was also a battle royal.
 Iowa Falls had a very strong rebuttal in its last speech which made an impression on the judges. Their team of three boys was well trained and very uniform in ability.
 When we consider that this was the very same team that went to the final district for Iowa Falls last year, we can be justly proud of the showing we made against them.
 We have no regrets to make or apologies to offer over our first year's entrance into the League. In fact we are very much pleased with our showing and determined to take up our work with renewed energy in the future.

—In his address "Sub-surface Tendencies in American Society," Prof.
 Edward A. Ross, sweeps rapidly over the factors of our present social development and in a terse and often humorous way shows unsuspected tendencies and discloses factors at work which few observers have discerned. His lecture at Mc-Gregor will be worth the while of anyone desiring the best in the line of information along the line of social development.

Citizens Association Meeting.

The meeting of the McGregor Citizens Association at Odd Fellows Hall last Thursday evening was the most interesting and most enthusiastic ever held.
 It was a regular booster meeting, the farmers tributary to McGregor of care, his advancing years began to tell on his general health, and one by one the faculties gave away under the call—first his eyesight, then his strength and vital forces, until at last his own strong mind admitted the situation. Time after time in his last days he notified his friends that his end was near. After his vital forces had been exhausted he relaxed into the utmost composure and passed peacefully away.

Mr. VanStaden was of German parentage, having been born in Bedakasa, State of Hanover, Germany.
 At the age of 19 he came to America and found employment in New York City, where he remained until 1857, when he came west and made Guttenberg, Iowa, his home for two years, coming on to McGregor in 1859. Upon arrival here he formed a partnership with Michael Klein, and the two conducted an extensive brewing business over a period of twenty years. Since concluding the business association mentioned above, Mr. VanStaden has led a combined life of farming and pleasure, making his home on a beautiful farm in Clayton Township, where he carried on successfully his farming operations.

Mr. VanStaden was elected on the Democratic ticket in '79-81 as a member of the state legislature, to represent Clayton County, and to all accounts he filled this office creditably.
 In private life he was always the same consistent and conservative thinker and exponent of the square deal for everyone, and practicing in his own dealings with men the utmost consideration. As a business man he was successful, and his property holdings and investments have resulted in an accumulation which had made him independent as far as the requirements of his modest living methods were concerned, and from his wealth he has liberally donated and assisted friends in whom he has from time to time taken into his intimacy.

Mr. VanStaden was not a man of creed—he was a gentleman the elements so mixed in him that all the world might stand and say, here indeed was a man. And after all has been said, his regard for those to whom he was indebted stood out as prominent as any one thing in his generous nature. His attachment to Michael Klein, his associate in business in years past, was something bordering on the pathetic. It seems that in the days past when they were associated in a business way, the utmost harmony existed between them.
 In later years when they ceased to be partners the same loyalty to each other always prevailed, and what either of them may have wished became law to the other—it always seemed a matter of honor to prefer the wishes of the other.

—Prof. Edward Ross, professor of Sociology in the Madison, Wis., Uni-forgot self—his regard for others less fortunate seemed his paramount concern. It was his nature and desire to be generous, the climax of his happiness consisted in this—to put his shoulder under the other man's burden and help him lift. And if all the people whom he has befriended could tell of the assistance, their names would be legion. It is a remarkable fact that this man has given away most of his accumulations. He had the one desire to do all the good he could do without positive injustice to himself—and to those who knew him best the fear was often entertained that in his benefactions his generous impulses outweighed his cold business judgment.

Of Mr. VanStaden's family connection and relationships we know but little. We understand he has a nephew, a Mr. John Kahrs, of Mederville, Iowa, father of Mrs. Lorenz Christ of this city; a niece, Mrs.
 Rose, of Toronto, Canada; and three nieces and a nephew residing in the east. Mr. VanStaden was always an earnest worker and supporter of the Masonic Order, his membership dating back to June 20th, 1870, when he joined Bezer Lodge No. 135, A.
 F. & A. M., continuing on to the membership of Clayton Chapter R.
 A. M. in Nov. 25th, 1870, and, was made a Sir Knight in Honorius Commandry on Jan. 20th, 1871, and exemplified in his own life the teachings of the order. His attachments to the fraternity culminated in a desire for a burial of strictly a Masonic character, hence upon his death the members of the various branches of the order took charge of the remains, removing them from the Clark Hospital Saturday to the home of Mr. M.
 Klein, where they remained until Tuesday afternoon when they were conveyed under an escort composed of members of Bezer Lodge and uniformed Sir Knights of Honorius Commandry. The services were held at the Sullivan Opera House, and were conducted by officers of the orders, the burial taking place in Pleasant Grove Cemetery. The floral offerings of the friends and of the Masonic fraternity were numerous and beautiful.

The relatives and friends from abroad in attendance at the funeral services included a Mrs. Rose, of Toronto, Canada; Mrs. John Klein, of St. Louis, Geo. Keisel, Chas. Falkenhainer and Peter Karberg, of Dubuque. The following out-of-town Masons attended: R. E. and V. T.
 Price, Anton and L. J. Kramer, H.
 D. Brown, J. G. Hempel, J. C. Stemmer, J. J. Kaufman, Wm. E. Witt and E. Bergemeyer, of Elkader; John Luther and son Cal., and Geo.
 Jacobs, of Guttenberg; Lou Saucke, Arno Oelke and Otto Fuelling, of Farmersburg, and E. E. Benton, who came up from Dubuque.

"... in the year 1843 he came with his parents to the United States, settling at first in New York City. He was engaged for five years as clerk in a mercantile business in New York City, after which he was engaged in business for himself for several years in that city. In 1857 he came to Guttenberg, Iowa, where he was engaged in business for some time and later he went to McGregor to make his home and was also engaged in business there. Being eminently fitted to hold public positions of trust and an active politician, in the fall of 1879 he was elected Representative to the Iowa State Legislature. He was a member of the Masonic fraternity. He was at one time commissioned as Captain of a company of militia. When at Guttenberg deceased was successfully engaged in the brewery and wholesale mercantile business, and was also engaged in the brewery business at McGregor. He also made his home on a farm in Clayton township for a time.

He was never married. His death is deeply mourned by a large number of relatives and friends by whom he will be sadly missed, as he was a kind and true man in every respect, always ready to do kind acts for others which won him many friends during his life. Of late years his eyesight failed him," per his obituary

Mabel Kahrs was married at his home in 1900 to Waldein Reinhardt. Also, Louise Kahrs (b. July 1879), was living in his household as a servant in 1900, along with the Lawrence and Julia (Kahrs) Christ family.
