AMUSEMENTS.

It will be a bit strange if the beautiful comedy drama, "Sweet Clover," does not become another "Hazel Kirke." The generation that is now young to the theatre has no recollection of the great vogue that the earlier play enjoyed, and is, in consequence, unmoved by the notion that the pretty play bears a resemblance to it. Yet the qualities that made a million for "Hazel Kirk" are all present in "Sweet Clover," with the added advantage of better scenic surroundings, a pleasanter dialogue and more novelty in personages and locale. Otis B. Thayer as the old farmer, "Jerome Holcombe," makes a very picturesque figure, and his rendition of the role is a powerful and clear-cut impersonation, while Edna Robb as "Lois" is a splendid foil to him. The play should prove decidedly interesting, and it is a pleasure to note that the public taste in the theatre is again turning to the good wholesome plays that tell coherent stories.

"Sweet Clover" will be the attraction at the opera house next Tuesday, September 22.

"The Village Parson."

One of the most popular attractions of the present day is that beautiful and interesting drama entitled "The Village Parson." The piece has scored an immense hit wherever produced, and its success has been achieved long since. There is an attractive ring in the title, which calls the attention of all classes of amusement-goers to the theatre. The play deals with the affection of the heart, and is one wherein human emotions and pathos are strongly depicted. A very strong company has been engaged, each with reference to the part assigned, and it is confidently believed that this pretty play is rendered in much better style than is usual with traveling companies. Handsome special scenery has been painted expressly for this production by well known artists, and the effects also assist in the finished performance. "The Village Parson" opens at the opera house next Thursday.

CAPT. WOLFE DEAD

L. R. Wolfe of Oxford Dies Suddenly at Selden, Kansas.

Was a Prominent Man in Iowa and Kansas, and for Many Years a Member of the Iowa Legislature—Remains will be Brought Back to Oxford.

Captain L. R. Wolfe, one of Johnson County's pioneers, and one of Iowa's leading men, died suddenly Wednesday at Selden, Kansas. He was past 80 years of age and heart disease was the cause of his death. The news came as a shock to his many friends in this locality. He resided at Oxford and the remains will be brought back there for interment. Capt. Wolfe was for many years a member of the Iowa legislature. His career has been an honorable and a successful one and he leaves a large estate.

An aged widow and three children survive him. The sons are Mahlon Wolfe of Summit street of this city and Douglas Wolfe of Greencastle, Iowa. Mrs. William Hardy of Oxford was his daughter. Captain Wolfe served in the civil war and has been a prominent figure in the state since that time. He was also well known throughout Kansas, where his banking interests were extensive, and he was there on business at the time of his death.

The remains will be brought to Oxford for interment.

The funeral will be held tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock at Oxford.

A TOWN OF THE PAST

Fredonia No Longer a Point on the Rock Island System

The Rock Island System has abandoned the Fredonia station on the southwest division. This town came within one vote of getting the location of the state capital, at the time the seat of the state government was established at Iowa City. Fredonia is in Louisa county, Ia., and was laid out about the time the capital was removed from Burlington to Iowa City.

Fredonia was for many years a promising railroad center, one of the oldest stations on the Rock Island system, but of late years it has been outstripped by more promising rivals, and has gradually drifted backward, and during the past few months the trains of the company have not stopped there, as there was not sufficient business or traffic to warrant them doing so, and now the town no longer has a place on the map and time tables of the road. So passes a town that at one time came very close to being one of the most prominent in the history of the Hawkeye state.

Captain L. R. Wolfe Dead.

Tuesday evening about 4 o'clock
the community was shocked by the news of the sudden death of Capt. L.
R. Wolfe from heart failure. Mr.
Wolfe was at one of his farms north of town looking after the threshing
and started to drive a load to town;
when a short distance from the machine his grandson Ira noticed him getting down from the wagon and in a short time after he was seen to fall.
Ira hastened to him as soon as possible, but life was extinct when he reached his side. The body was brought to town and prepared for shipment to his home at Oxford, Iowa, on number 6 Wednesday morning, accompanied by Sam Wolfe.

Capt. Wolfe, while not a permanent resident of Selden, has large property interests in the town and in Sheridan and Decatur counties,
and spent a good share of his time
here looking after these interests.

While Capt. Wolfe was long past the meridian of life, being in his 79th year, he was a man of strong personality and ambition; he still retained his keen business abilities and his counsel and advice along these lines
were much sought after and respected. He had accumulated enough of this world's goods to have retired from active business and lived at his ease, but his great ambition spurred him on to the end.

the loss of a beloved friend and wor-

It is a strong ticket. It is a good ticket. The candidates are able and popular men whose election and administration will reflect credit and honor on the county.

It was a fitting and proper tribute to the memory of an excellent man paid by the Johnson county democratic convention on Saturday to the late Hon. L. R. Wolfe for almost fifty years a resident of the county and who had on many occasions represented his constituents and his party in positions of responsibility and honor. Throughout all his life long Captain Wolfe had been a member of the democratic party. He had been faithful and consistent in that membership. His merit and sturdy manhood were the factors that made him strong and popular with his party and with the people of the county and state far beyond party lines. He stood true to every call of duty. In honoring his memory in the resolutions adopted on Saturday and in the graceful and touching speech of congressman Wade, the convention recognized the worth and power of one who has been for half a century the champion, advocate and defender of the purest democracy, and whose life testified in works the broad foundations of his faith.

It is understood that Johnson county's delegation to the senatorial convention is unanimously for the nomination of Hon. George W. Ball for reelection to the position which he has republican ticket in 1881. He defeated the regular democratic nominee, Daniel A. Shafer, by a very handsome majority, and thereby taught the convention organizers that they might nominate a man, but could not elect unless they got votes enough.

WILLIAM WOLFE, a farmer and stock dealer in Clear Creek township, post-office, Tiffin; was born in Knox county, Ohio, March 18, 1827; settled in Johnson county, Iowa, October 10, 1853, upon the farm where he now resides. He was married September 8, 1850, to Miss Hannah Colony, of Knox county, Ohio, and they have a family of six children: Alice E., John C., Milton L., Mary A., William B. and Charlie. The family attend religious services at the M. E. Church, at Tiffin. Mr. Wolfe has been shipping stock for fourteen years. His average shipment of hogs has been about one hundred cars per year; his average shipment of cattle about twenty cars per year. Hogs and corn have been the principal products of his farm. He has some very fine horses of the Clydesdale stock; he has a farm of 490 acres, 203 acres was his original claim. He was a member of the board of supervisors in 1860 and served three years; he filled the office of township trustee several terms. He is a democrat in politics. He is a brother of the Hon. L. R. Wolfe, representing Johnson county in the Iowa legislature. His father is living in Knox county, Ohio, at the ripe old age of ninety-two years and past.

HON. LEWIS R. WOLFE, farmer and stock dealer, post-office, Oxford; was born in Knox county, Ohio, April 22, 1825, where he lived until he was about twenty-four years of age, when he went to Hardin county, Ohio, and lived there five years and cleared up a farm. In September, 1854, he came to Johnson county and settled in North Bend, where he bought 306 acres of land and has since been engaged in farming and dealing in stock, and in April, 1876, he moved to Oxford township, to the "Iowa Valley Farm," where he now resides. He now owns 1400 acres of land in this county, laying in five different townships. In 1860 he was elected by Madison township as county supervisor, and in August, 1862, he enlisted in company I, Sixth Iowa cavalry as captain, and served as captain until April, 1865, when he resigned. In 1865 he ran on the democratic ticket for sheriff, but was defeated by John Wilson, and in 1866 was elected as supervisor for Madison township and served two years, and was elected by the county as supervisor. He was representative for the district in the eighteenth general assembly, and also the nineteenth, and still holds that office, and for several years has been treasurer of Oxford township school fund. He was married April 22, 1847, to Elizabeth Lindsley, of Richland county, Ohio, and has three children living, viz: Mahlon K., Christopher D., and Pheobe A., now Mrs. William Hardy.

was a regent of the State University from the year 1872 until the year 1890, and was for many years a law lecturer therein; and who was a man of commanding ability and held in high esteem by all his associates without regard to party affiliations—a grand and noble man who lent his aid to every good work—a true patriot and a model citizen, widely known and universally respected and honored. Although when he died he had reached the allotted span of human life, we could have wished that his life might have been prolonged for the sake of those who were near and dear to him and for our own profit and pleasure. We, however, realize that our loss is his gain; therefore be it

Resolved, That in the death of Hon. John F. MR. SPEAKER—Your committee, appointed to draft resolutions commemorating the life and public services of the Hon. L. R. Wolfe of Johnson county, respectfully submit the following report:

WHEREAS, The Hon. Louis R. Wolfe, an honored member of this House in the Eighteenth and Nineteenth General Assemblies, a gallant soldier of the Civil War and a most highly respected citizen in the county in which he resided, passed from his earthly labors on the 16th day of September, 1903;

WHEREAS, The life and character of the deceased were such as to entitle him to the respect and esteem of all who knew him, and his services to the State and nation were of such a character as to command the confidence and gratitude of his fellow citizens; therefore be it

Resolved, That in the death of this patriotic citizen, soldier and legislator, this State has lost an influential and upright citizen, his family is bereft of a kind and loving father, his friends of an honest and esteemed man.

Resolved, That we extend to his children and to those nearest to him, whose sorrow is so much greater, our sincere sympathy in their sorrow and affliction; and the Clerk of the House is hereby instructed to transmit an engrossed copy of these resolutions to the bereaved family and to enter the same upon the Journal of the House.

About FamilySearch Pedigree Resource File

The Pedigree Resource File is a new lineage linked database of records available on compact disc containing family history records submitted by individuals through FamilySearch Internet Genealogy Service. Family information is organized in family groups and pedigrees and includes submitted notes and sources. Many charts and reports can be printed from this data. Each disc contains about 1.1 million names. With the publication of every five discs, a master index for those discs will be published and packaged with that set of discs. With the publication of every 25 discs, a master index for those discs will also be published and packaged with that volume of discs. Discs may be purchased as sets or volumes.
