IN MEMORIAM.

HON. SMILEY H. BONHAM.

The death of Mr. Bonham at his home in Clarke county, has been already announced. He was born in Knox county, Ohio, May 29th, 1814, and came to Iowa with the pioneers, settling in Washington township, Johnson county. He was a man of mark in those early times, for he was a man of culture. He made his home on a farm and occasionally filled acceptably the pulpit of the Christian Church, in which he was a minister. His talent for affairs, eloquence of speech, uprightness of life marked him for public favor and he was elected to the legislature, serving for a long time and taking the lead of his party in the House. His far-sighted intelligence early foresaw the great future of the commonwealth and he was foremost in laying its foundations. When the Federal government granted lands in the Western States for State Universities he drew the act of acceptance for Iowa and procured its passage. In that act was the germ of our present great University. The passage of power from his party left Mr. Bonham in private life which he adorned by the same virtues that illustrated his public career. The growth of his family made desirable the possession of a more roomy estate, and about ten years ago he sold out and removed to new lands in Clarke county. In 1873 he was elected by that constituency to the House, and served during the celebrated "tied session" with good judgment and discretion. Those who saw him again in his old age and when hard work had made serious inroads upon his vitality, busied with public duties and bearing official responsibilities, could form a conception of the power and facility and intelligence which he brought to bear upon that field in his younger and stronger days. A historical tablet should be one day placed in the solid walls of our University and high amongst the eminent men of Iowa whose strength went into its growth should be inscribed the name of Smiley H. Bonham.

HON. RUSH CLARK.

The announcement of the death of

The long expected Inter State or rical contest will be held in the O House Wednesday May 7th. When association met in St. Louis Mr. Al N. Fellows was was requested by home organization to tender the pitalities of the University and I city to the association, and to req that the Fifth Annual contest in tory be held here. Although previo the contests had been held in cities as Chicago, Indianapolis an Louis, such were the assurance support that the association acce the offer and decided to meet in I City.

To convince the people of Iowa of the merit of, this contest, it is necessary to state the degree of a bation in which it is held by promi educators and political men throug the West. Judge Taft of Ohio, Harrison of Indiana, B. Gratz Br of St. Louis, Newton N. Bates of have by addresses and influence much to put the association upon a footing. This year's judges are all of note, Gen. Wm. Gibson of T Ohio, is a well known political or Wm. T. Harris, Superintendent o schools of St. Louis, editor of the nal of Speculative Philosophy, a regarded as a leading educator i United States, Ex-Gov. Will Cum of Greensburg, Indiana, is a prom lecturer and political speaker, Mr J. Boal, the referee judge, is one best lawyers in the State, and of c in Iowa city, we need not speak praise. Four States have already their state contests and chosen r sentative orators, Missouri and consin, have probably held thei this time. The eyes of the stude all colleges in the West and tho the friends and admirers of the or are turned to this contest. The w of the gold medal will not only do upon himself, but the whole instit will boast of it.

The music, the programmes a arrangements will eclipse, any Iowa city has been favored with. egations from Grinnell and Mt. V will number near one hundred. Corry, of Cornell college repre
