A. ST. CLAIR SMITH DEAD

Prominent Citizen of Cedar Rapids Passes Away Yesterday.

He Breathes His Last at 10:30 Yesterday Morning After a Long and Lingering Illness—Biographical Sketch—Funeral To Be Held Today.

After a long and lingering illness of nearly three years' duration, Hon. A. St. Clair Smith passed away yesterday morning at 10:30 o'clock at his home at 214 Fourth avenue. Mr. Smith has been in failing health for the past three years and his death has been expected for some time, his relatives and friends realizing some time ago that there was no hope of his recovery. The funeral services will be held at the First Presbyterian church at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon and in the absence of Dr. Burkhalter will be conducted by Rev. Tildon of the First Baptist church assisted by Dr. Riale. The burial will be private.

Mr. Smith has long been one of the most prominent citizens of Cedar Rapids. His career as soldier, lawyer, statesman and citizen has been such as to reflect great credit upon himself, and the city which he called his home and one to which his family can point with pride. By his death his wife has lost a noble husband, his sons a loving father and the city an upright and honorable citizen.

A. St. Clair Smith was born in Meredith, N. H., Feb. 19, 1841. Mr. Smith lived at home with his parents until 20 years of age, except a few years spent in attending school and teaching. In 1862 he enlisted in the union army after having raised what was known as Co. G, Twelfth New Hampshire volunteer infantry. He was the first orderly sergeant of the company. He was promoted to first lieutenant June 12, 1863, and captain July 20, 1864. There are few men who served through the war who saw more or severer service than Capt. Smith. He participated in the battles of Fredericksburg and Chancellorsville, being severely wounded in the latter engagement. Although a portion of the bone of his arm was removed, inside of three months he was again at the head of his company and was soon afterwards wounded in the head and shoulder at Cold Harbor. At this time he was reported for dead, being left unconscious on the battle field. However he recovered and again joined his command while it was before Petersburg.

BASE BALL NEWS.

Kid Speer Recently Drafted by Milwaukee
In the City—Pres. Hickey Visits Burlington.

Kid Speer, the little catcher who has been with Buck Ebright for so long, and who was drafted, together with Pitcher Barnes a few days ago by the Milwaukee management, is in the city, having arrived on a late train Wednesday night. He had not heard of the action of Milwaukee until he arrived here, having come to the city with the intention of remaining here until the opening of the base ball season. He is a little fellow, a perfect gentleman, and is one of the finest catchers in the country. He and Buck Ebright are great friends, and it will be with much regret that he will part company with his old manager.

Thomas J. Hickey, president of the Western association, is out on a prospecting trip and visited Burlington Wednesday. A number of the base ball enthusiasts of that city called on him and the situation was thoroughly canvassed. Burlington is very anxious to get into the association, and the Hawkeye says that Mr. Hickey was given assurances that Burlington would play the season through if admitted to membership. From Burlington Mr. Hickey went to Dubuque.

THE FUND EXHAUSTED.

The State Veterinarian Unable to Investigate Any Epidemic Among Stock.

An Iowa law provides that the presence of disease among live stock in any county shall be reported by the board of supervisors thereof to the governor, who shall direct the state veterinarian to investigate, and the cost of such investigation shall be paid out of the fund appropriated by the legislature for the work. Dr. Stalker announces that the fund for this purpose has been exhausted and that it cannot make any further investigations until another appropriation has been made by the legislature, which will be several months. The legislature of course cannot anticipate how numerous or extensive an epidemic will be and, therefore, can hardly determine in advance what fund is necessary for the purpose of investigation if the epidemic should be very severe, whether any funds remain to carry on the investigation or not.

was reported for dead, being left unconscious on the battle field. However he recovered and again joined his command while it was before Petersburg, participating in the numerous battles during the seige of that place and Grant's various advances upon Richmond. Capt. Smith probably more than any other man in his regiment, was assigned to the command of picket posts and small expeditions sent out in the hazardous undertakings of locating the positions of the enemy. After Richmond was captured he was attached to the staff of Gen. Gregg and was for several months engaged in gathering up government stores and turning them over to the state authorities.

After returning from the army, Mr.
Smith became a student of law at Manchester, N. H., and was admitted to practice by the supreme court of that state in 1867. He also graduated from the Albany law school in February of the same year. Desiring to locate in the west he came to Cedar Rapids and opened an office in this city. In 1868 he was elected justice of the peace and held the office continuously for seven terms, and from 1872 to 1874 was police judge of the city. In 1881 he became a member of the city council from the Second ward, serving continuously for twelve years. Two years ago he was nominated by the republicans as a candidate for the legislature, being elected by a large majority. In the house he was regarded as one of its strongest and ablest members. He was not aggressive, but his committee work was conscientious and effective.
He was a member of the committee on ways and means, judiciary, municipal corporations, insurance and two or three minor ones. He devoted careful attention to the important questions before the committee on municipal corporations, his long service in the city council having especially fitted him for work in that department of legislation. No doubt he would have been renominated and again elected at the late election had not the condition of his health prevented.

Mr. Smith was a prominent member of the Iowa Legion of Honor and of the A. O. U. W. In the former organization he was for a number of years a member of the finance committee. He was a member of the T. Z. Cook post of the Grand Army and had been its commander.

In 1868 Mr. Smith was united in marriage to Miss Harriet R. Baker of Portland, Maine. His wife and four children, Albert H., A. St. Clair, Percy P. and Leigh B., survive him.

of whom five only are living. The record is as follows: Johannah, now Mrs. Engwersen, is residing at Lyons; Dr. C. M., our subject; William is engaged in farming in Clinton County; Minnie, now Mrs. Wenzel, is in Crawford County, and Mollie, now Mrs. Pohlmann, resides in St. Louis.

The subject of this biography received a common-school education, and assisted his father on the farm, remaining under the parental roof until twenty-four years of age. He then started out, strong in youthful courage and hope, to seek his fortune. He first proceeded to Crawford County, and was engaged in farming. He made a purchase of 320 acres, upon which he remained three years, improving and cultivating it, and then sold a part, went to De Witt, Clinton County, and engaged in the study of medicine with Dr. Waggoner. Here he remained one year, then went to St. Louis, entered the Missouri Medical College, in which he took a full course of lectures, and after this was completed returned to his studies in De Witt. He was thus occupied through the summer, and in the following winter took another course of lectures in the medical department of the University of Iowa, graduating therefrom in 1880. He then began to look about for a location, finally selecting Cedar Rapids as an eligible field for his future operations. Here he has prospered, and has become a successful physician and a popular member of the community. One of his first steps after completing his course of study was the establishment of a home and domestic ties. Accordingly he was united in marriage with Miss Kattie Titkermeyer, of St. Louis, daughter of Henry Titkermeyer, proprietor of an extensive coal and wood yard of St. Louis. By this marriage he has become the father of one child, Matilda. By a former marriage he has two children—Rose Netta and Bernhard.

Dr. Schwartz is a man of prominence in his profession. He is a member of the Hahnemann Medical Association of Iowa, and the Central Homeopathic Medical Association of Iowa. His office is located at No. 45 First street, and his residence on the West side, 564 First street. Politically he is strongly Republican, and socially is a member of the I. O. O. F. He is a gentleman in the prime of life, and has attained a high standing in his profession. As a citizen he is highly valued, and is assisting materially to maintain the existing system of good order and progress.

J ST. CLAIR SMITH. The legal fraternity of the thriving city of Cedar Rapids is well represented, and among those who have attained no small degree of prominence is the subject of this notice, residing at No. 46 Fourth avenue. Mr. Smith was born in Meredith, N. H., Feb. 19, 1841, his parents being Joshua R. and Clarissa C. (Crockett) Smith, natives of that town and State. The father of Joshua R., Washington Smith, was the son of Eben Smith, of English ancestors, who was a surveyor by occupation, and who laid off a part of the Province of New Hampshire into townships for the English Government. He was an officer in the continental army in the war for independence, and also held the office of local Judge, and, with his son Washington, was a member of the Legislature of New Hampshire for thirty-six consecutive years.

Joshua R. Smith, when seventeen years of age, went to Boston and engaged as clerk in a store. About 1830 he embarked in mercantile pursuits on his own account, and was thus occupied until 1850. He then went to California, and, forming a company of which he was Superintendent, engaged in mining. While working in his mine he was killed by the caving-in of the bank. He was married about 1838, and had a family of three children, two of whom are living, our subject and Annie M., the latter of whom is a resident of New Hampshire; an only brother was killed at the battle of Gettysburg, Pa. The mother of our subject died in 1866, at Manchester, N. H.

Mr. Smith of this notice lived at home until twenty years of age, with the exception of about seven years spent in school and in performing the duties of pedagogue in New Hampshire. In 1862 he enlisted in the Union Army, and raised a company known as Co. G, 12th N. H. Vol. Inf. He entered the service as Orderly Sergeant; was promoted Second Lieutenant Feb. 14, 1863; First Lieutenant, June 12, 1863, and Captain, July 20, 1864. He was in the service until the close of the war, and participated in the battles of Fredericksburg and Chancellorsville, in which latter engagement he was wounded. He was shot through the left arm, which wound necessitated the removal of bone four inches in length. He, however, reported for duty in 100 days afterward, and participated in the battle of Cold Harbor, where he was again wounded in the side of the head and in the shoulder. He reported for duty in three months, after having been reported killed, as he was on both occasions of his being wounded, and lying, as he did, on the battle-field, for a time unconscious. He rejoined the army at Petersburg, and with it participated in the battles of Swift Creek and siege of Petersburg and Richmond, and all through that famous campaign, and was also at the capture of Richmond. A portion of the time he had charge of the picket, and part of the time was on staff and also on detached duty, leading a battalion of West Virginia troops into Richmond. After the capture of Richmond he went South, serving on the staff of Gen. Gregg, and gathered up Government stores and turned them over to the United States authorities.

After his return from the army, Mr. Smith became a student of law at Manchester, N. H., and was admitted to practice by the Supreme Court in 1867. He also graduated from the Albany Law School in February, 1867, and was admitted to the bar of New York State. Looking for a location, he turned his face westward, and continued on his journey until the Mississippi had been crossed. In June of that year, 1867, he was admitted to the Iowa Bar at Des Moines, and since has been in active practice of his profession at Cedar Rapids. In 1868 he was elected Justice, and held the office on and off for fourteen years. He was elected as Judge of the City Police Court in 1872, serving until 1874. In 1881 he was chosen Alderman of the Second Ward, and served with ability in the Council.

Our subject was united in marriage in 1868 with Miss Harriet R., daughter of Samuel P. and Sarah E. (McLellan) Baker, of Portland, Me. To them have been born four children, to whom they have given the following names: Albert H., A. St.

Clair, Percy P. and Leigh B.; Albert, the eldest, is a graduate of the Preparatory Department of Coe College. Politically Mr. Smith is a Republican; he is a member and Chairman of the Grand Lodge Finance Committee of the Legion of Honor, and a member of the Finance Committee of the A. O. U. W. He was also Commander of the Post of the G. A. R., of Cedar Rapids, for three years, and is a gentleman who takes an active interest in public affairs, and a soldier who desires to do all honor to the grand old veterans who saved the Union.

MARSHALL McCALLEY. Among the staunch and well-to-do old settlers of Linn County, the subject of our notice occupies a prominent position as an esteemed and worthy citizen of the community toward which he has done his part in establishing and maintaining. He is now living in retirement at his fine home, located in Cedar Rapids, surrounded by everything calculated to make his passage down the hill of life one of great comfort and satisfaction. Mr. McCalley came to Linn County in the spring of 1856, about ten years after the Hawkeye State had been admitted into the Union. The country had developed from its primitive condition, it is true, but the march of improvement has been great, and the State of to-day bears a happy comparison with the condition it was in at a period of thirty years ago.

The subject of our sketch is a native of St. Lawrence County, N. Y., where he was born May 2, 1831. His father, John McCalley, followed the honorable occupation of a farmer, was of good old Scotch ancestry, and his birthplace was in the same county and State as was that of his son. The maiden name of the mother was Sarah A. Bryant, and she was a second cousin of William C. Bryant, the poet. She was born in Shoreham, Vt., Dec. 5, 1811. Her parents prided themselves on being "Yankees." They were prosperous and well-to-do farmers, and occupied an enviable position in their community. They emigrated to New York State, and there the marriage of the daughter took place. has grown from 435 students in attendance to over 2,000 and the membership of the faculty of the school from eight to over thirty, while the expansion of the work in courses of study and in character and efficiency of instruction has made the school the equivalent of others of its order in the United States.

SHAYER, ISAAC H., one of the live business men of Cedar Rapids, is a native of New Jersey, born in Sussex county, February 25, 1825. His father, Abraham Shaver, was a farmer and his son grew up in the habits of industry upon his father's farm. His mother was Mary Carroll before she married Mr. Shaver, and she was a member of the famous Carroll family of New Jersey, which won renown in the Revolutionary war. Isaac was educated in the common schools and later received a thorough business training before he removed to Iowa, which was in 1856. He first located in Vinton, Benton county, and in 1863 removed to Cedar Rapids and entered the cracker manufacturing business in partnership with Hon. S. L. Dows, now as then, one of the leading business men of Cedar Rapids. The firm was known as Shaver & Dows for twenty-five years and had a branch factory in Des Moines. In 1890 they sold both factories to the New York Biscuit Company. They were the pioneers in the cracker business in the state and the Cedar Rapids factory was the first one established.

Mr. Shaver has always been a republican. He may be said to be a charter member of the party, for he helped to organize it in 1856 and has voted the ticket ever since. He is a member of the Christian church.

He was married in 1847 in Buffalo, New York, to Esther C. Witwer. They have four children living: John H., born February 11, 1849; Frederick H., born February 15, 1870; Ellen S., born July 10, 1852, and Bessie E., born May 9, 1857.

SMITH, A. ST. CLAIR, was born in Meredith, New Hampshire, February 19, 1841. His boyhood and youth were spent in securing a good education and in teaching school. In 1862, when only about twenty years old, he enlisted in the army after raising a company known as Company G, Twelfth New Hampshire Volunteers and was made orderly sergeant of the company. June 12, 1863, he was made first lieutenant and July 20, 1864, became captain. There are few men who served through the war who saw more or severer service than Captain Smith. After Richmond was captured he was attached to the staff of General Gregg and was for several months engaged in gathering up government stores and turning them over to the state authorities.

After returning from the army, Mr. Smith became a student of law at Manchester, N. H., and was admitted to practice by the supreme court of that state in 1867. He also graduated from the Albany law school in February of the same year. Desiring to locate in the west he came to Cedar Rapids and opened an office in that city. In 1868 he was elected justice of the peace and held the office continuously for seven terms, and from 1872 to 1874 was police judge of the city. In 1868 he was united in marriage to Miss Harriet R. Baker of Portland, Maine. They had four children: Albert H., A. St. Clair, Percy P. and Leigh B. After a lingering illness of nearly three years he died at Cedar Rapids December 19, 1895. He had long been one of the most prominent citizens of Cedar Rapids. His career as soldier, lawyer, statesman and citizen has been such as to reflect great credit upon himself and the city which he called his home, and one to which his family can point with pride.

PENN, EDWARD LIVINGSTON, a retired merchant and banker of Mt. Pleasant, who died there May 1, 1901, was one of the pioneer merchants of the state, having commenced business in Mt. Pleasant in October, 1856. He continued there in the dry goods and boot and shoe business entirely on his own account until 1887, when he retired from commercial pursuits after an active business life of forty years. He was one of the incorporators in 1864 of the First National Bank of Mt. Pleasant and was its president when he died. He was also one of the directors of the First National Bank of Creston, Iowa. For thirty-two years he made semi-annual visits to the eastern markets to purchase goods.

Mr. Penn was born August 14, 1814, in Philadelphia. He was the son of Abraham Penn, who was born in England in 1770 and came to Philadelphia in 1795. He died Resolved, That in the death of A. St. Clair Smith, the members of this House feel that they have lost the wise counsel, genial companionship and courteous treatment of a patriot and able legislator, and a gentleman.

Resolved, That in his death the people of this state have lost a brave soldier, an able lawyer and a wise and conservative legislator.

Resolved, That we hereby express our appreciation of his valuable and honorable public services, and one with whom it was ever pleasant and agreeable to meet, who was ever ready to discharge the duties entrusted to his care in a manner becoming the highest character of a pure and noble life, even sacrificing his own health and comfort for the best interests of others, unselfish to a fault, thereby exemplifying an instance of a moral and upright life before God and man.

Resolved, That we deeply sympathize with his afflicted family and herewith tender to them our sincere condolence.
