years. Men and women must be taught rational ways of living, wholesome ways of spending their time. Children must be taught cleanliness. Above all things, hope must be put into the hearts of all. These are themes worth considering and we shall speak of the subject again.

OSAGE NEWSPAPER CHANGE.

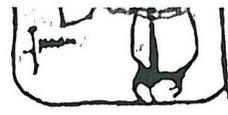

There is a new order of things in the office of the Osage News. C. H. Addington, long editor and proprietor, has taken H. C. Austin as a partner in the concern. Mr. Addington will look after the business end and Mr. Austin the editorial part of the work.

Mr. Austin is an Osage boy, educated in the local high school and State university, and according to Mr. Addington "has chosen newspaper work as his life work, and has all the vigor and enthusiasm of youth, coupled with natural ability and love for the work, which insures success."

The Osage News has long been one of the able and influential papers of north-eastern Iowa. Apparently it is headed for a new lease of life and a successful one.

DEATH OF SENATOR JULIAN PHELPS.

Ex-State Senator Julian Phelps of Cass county died at his home in California some time in February. Many of his friends did not know of his death until recently. He was a pioneer of Cass, was a native of Vermont, served in the Union army and a man worthy of the highest respect of his countrymen. Rev. E. S. Hill writes to them from the impending havoc.

Evidently the quiet of the staid English household was disturbed by the irruption of the two West Indians, for the returning mail steamer carried a message to Mr. X., brief but emphatic. "Take back your boys; send me the earthquake."—Everybody's Magazine.

The senator from Kentucky, weighs close to 300 pounds, and in a political sense he tips the scales at 1,500 tons. His last achievement was to give Luther Burbank, the plant wizard, a new and difficult job.

Last summer James toured California, and one day he lunched with Burbank, who seemed intensely interested in the vast amount of food the big Kentuckian stowed away and his manner of doing the stowing. Immediately after the lunch the scientist made a quick dash back to his experimental station.

"Why are you in such a hurry, Luther?" asked one of the party.

"I want to rush back," he responded seriously, "and see if I can't propagate a square-shaped pea that won't roll off Ollie's knife."—The Popular Magazine.

"People as keep 'ens," observed the lady at 17 Acacia Terrace, "should keep 'em at 'ome. One o' these odd days, when your fowls, come scrap-pin' in our garden you'll be missin' some."

The lady of No. 19 sniffed the air in defiance. "If you was to feed your cat prop'ly, p'raps it wouldn't go 'untin' round for bulbs," she observed. "Then you wouldn't lay the blame on 'ens what

A JACOBITE'S EPITAPH.

To my true king I offer'd free from stain
 Courage and faith; vain faith, and courage vain.
 For him I threw lands, honors, wealth away,
 And one dear hope, that was more prized than they.
 For him I languish'd in a foreign clime,
 Gray-hair'd with sorrow in my manhood's prime;
 Heard on Lavernia Scargill's whispering trees,
 And pined by Arno for my lovelier Tees;
 Beheld each night my home in fever'd sleep,
 Each morning started from the dream to weep;
 Till God, who saw me tried too sorely, gave
 The resting place I ask'd, an early grave.
 Hence, whom chance leads to this nameless stone,
 Adieu to that proud country which was once my own,

Mr. Phelps served as consul at Crefeldt, Germany, and was popular in that position. A few days ago Senator Thos. H. Smith of Shelby county paid a just tribute in the state senate to the memory of his predecessor.

CLEAN-UP DES MOINES.

An hour's time and a little elbow grease devoted by 15,000 Des Moines citizens on their front and back yards for several evenings this month will work wonders toward making Des Moines a more beautiful city.

It is probable the mayor may issue, as in former years, a formal "clean-up notice." The Capital hopes this notice will not go in one ear and out the other.

Help make Des Moines a city of beautiful, well-kept lawns.

JULIAN PHELPS IS DEAD

FORMER CASS COUNTY MAN DIES AT HIS HOME IN CALIFORNIA. WELL KNOWN HERE.

ATLANTIC, Iowa, March 1st.—Julian Phelps is dead.

This is the word which came to G. W. B. Fletcher of Lewis day before yesterday from Frank O. Mills, who is in California, and which conveyed the sad news many of the friends here have been expecting for some time, for Mr. Phelps had been very low and death was the expected thing. Some time ago he had suffered a stroke of paralysis and since then had been in poor health. For the week or ten days previous to his death his condition had been most grave and the friends and relatives knew death was but the matter of time.

Mr. Phelps was born in Chittenden county, Vermont, April 4th, 1838, being a son of William E. and Ursula (Phelps) Phelps, both of them also natives of the Green Mountain state, and belonging to families who had lived in that section since colonial times. Mr. Phelps was reared in Vermont and educated in the schools there, being graduated from the state university of the state in 1864. In 1865 he entered the Albany, N. Y., law school and received his degree from that school in 1867. In the fall of that year he came to Lewis, this county, and formed a partnership with the late Judge Henry Temple under the name of Temple & Phelps. Some time afterwards the late Frank O. Temple joined the firm and the firm was changed to Temple, Phelps & Temple. The partnership lasted until the death of Judge Temple and then continued as Phelps & Temple till the death of F. O. Temple.

When the county seat was removed from Lewis to this city, Mr. Phelps came here and lived here continuously with the exception of the time passed abroad until he left here a number of years ago to locate in Holywood, Calif., where he died. He served in the state senate from this district two terms, his last term ending in 1897, at the end of which he was appointed by President McKinley as consul at Crefeld, Germany. This position he held for four years, and retired from it with an excellent record of duty well done. Since that time he has not been actively engaged in anything and a few years after his return he left for California.

Mr. Phelps was married in this city in 1871 to Persis M. Case, who was born in Ohio. She survives him. There were two adopted children, William P. Phelps and she who was Mrs. Frank O. Temple. Mr. Phelps was a life long republican. In 1863 he enlisted in Company K, Eleventh Vermont Infantry and served in the Civil war with that regiment until a wound necessitated his withdrawal from the services. He returned to his home and arrived there in time to complete his course in the university of Vermont.

During his service in the state legislature Mr. Phelps was the author of the anti-cigarette law in this state. He was a life long member of the ent Christian always. In all things which make for better manhood and womanhood Julian Phelps was a strong man. He lived his life so that the world is better for his having been in it and he goes to his reward with the memory of a well spent life.

To Launch a New Business Here.

Joe S. Niles, son of L. W. Niles and wife, who for some weeks has been employed by this paper, has resigned his position here to take effect the first of March, and on that date will launch a new business venture here, in the shape of a bureau for the adjustment of freight overcharges and damage claims, which concern he will call the Merchants Adjustment Bureau. Joe has had a lot of experience in the claim departments of various railroads and has a thorough knowledge which will stand him in good stead in the new venture. He is conversant with freight tariffs and has a complete set of the tariffs of the various roads for reference.

The establishment of a concern such as he will launch will fill a long felt want here. There is no doubt but that much money is lost every year in overcharges on freight and these can all be adjusted if some one is available to adjust them. In Des Moines the commercial club employs a man constantly to do this work, and there has been some talk of that here, but the launching of the business here will eliminate the necessity of the commercial club taking it up.

Joe has secured an office at the commercial club where it will be convenient to everyone. It looks at this distance as if he could do well in the venture and this paper hopes that he may.—News-Telegraph.

PHELPS, HON. JULIAN, who represented the Cass and Shelby senatorial district in the general assembly, and author of the anti-cigarette law enacted by the legislature, in 1896 and 1897, resides at Atlantic in his beautiful suburban home known as "The Oaks." He was born at South Hero, Grand Island county, Vt., April 4, 1838. His father, William Phelps, was a farmer and the owner of a large tract of valuable land near Milton, Vt. He was one of the prominent men of his town and county, and was especially active in all educational affairs. He died some years ago. The mother was born on Grand Island, in Lake Champlain, and is still living at Milton, Vt., at the age of 82. Her mother's name was Stark, a near relative of General Stark, of revolutionary fame.

Julian Phelps was fitted for college in an academy at South Hero, under the instruction of Rev. O. G. Wheeler, a man of great intellectual attainments and remarkable force of character. He exerted a wonderful influence over his pupils, moral and intellectual. In the fall of 1860 he entered the University of Vermont, and there pursued his studies until early in the spring of 1864, when he enlisted in the union army. The university, like most of the colleges, permitted those students who enlisted during their senior year to graduate with their class. Mr. Phelps was wounded in the battle of Cold Harbor, and was sent to the hospital at Burlington, Vt., where, through skillful treatment, his wound healed rapidly, and he was able to graduate with his class in June, 1864, delivering his oration in uniform and supporting himself on the platform with a cane. He then returned to the front, and served with his regiment to the close of the war, after which he commenced the study of law in the office of Hon. Daniel Roberts, of Burlington, who was associated with Senator Edmunds in much of his law business. He had enlisted in the Eleventh Vermont infantry at Washington, D. C., and was in the battles of Spottsylvania, Cold Harbor, Petersburg, and all others under Grant and Sheridan until Lee's surrender at Appomattox. He is a member of Sam Rice Post, G. A. R., at Atlantic.

In October, 1866, he entered the Albany Law school, and graduated in the summer of the following year. William McKinley, of Ohio, was in the senior class of that institution at the time Mr. Phelps matriculated. After graduation he came to Iowa, and located at Lewis, in Cass county, where he formed a partnership with Judge Henry Temple. Lewis was then a small town and the county seat, but on the completion of the Rock Island railroad the capital was removed to Atlantic, and the firm of Temple & Phelps followed shortly. The relation existed until the fall of 1887, when Frank O. Temple, son of the senior member, was admitted to partnership, and the style became Temple, Phelps & Temple, and so remained until the death of Judge Temple, a few months thereafter since which the firm has continued as Phelps & Temple. They were employed with Hon.

Thomas F. Withrow, for B. F. Allen and other plaintiffs, in the noted Atlantic town-site case, involving the title to nearly all of the town of Atlantic, which terminated in their favor at the end of a stubbornly fought legal battle.

He cast his first vote for Lincoln, and has voted the republican ticket since. He was elected to the state senate in November, 1893, from the Eighteenth senatorial district, and at the session of the Twenty-sixth General Assembly introduced and procured the passage of the bill known as the "Bill for an act to prohibit the manufacture and sale of cigarettes." He was among the foremost senators in influence and ability, and was prominent in the more important work of the senate, both in the committee room and on the floor. In 1897 Senator Phelps was appointed by the president to be United States consul at Creffield, Germany, and is now serving his country abroad.

He is a member of the Congregational church. He was married to Miss Mary A. Case in 1869, and she died the following year, leaving an infant son, who died soon after. Mr. Phelps later married a sister of his first wife, Percis M. Case. Two children, a son and a daughter, are now living. The daughter, Anna, is now the wife of F. O. Temple, and the son, Will P. Phelps, is in the law department of the Iowa State university.

MARKLEY, HENRY H., ex-postmaster of Cedar Falls, was born in Knox county, Ohio, January 7, 1841. His father, James Markley, was one of the pioneers of Ohio. Born in Bedford, Pa., in 1802, he came with his parents to Knox county, Ohio, in 1807, and in 1866 to Cedar Falls, where he died in 1871. His father was Henry Markley, and when he came to Ohio he bought 1,000 acres of timber land and opened up a farm, where he built and operated a distillery. He died in 1832. His wife was Jane Morrison. Jas. Markley's wife was Catherine Ankeny, to whom he was married in Knox county, Ohio, in 1838. She died March 20, 1899, in Cedar Falls, at the age of 81 years. Henry H. Markley went to school in the log schoolhouse in Ohio and afterward attended the Union Graded school in Fredericktown, and one term in Antioch college. In September, 1861, he entered the law department of the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor, graduating in March, 1863. He was elected and commissioned captain of Company B, Second Regiment Ohio militia, in Knox county, July 4, 1863, and was promoted to lieutenant-colonel of the same regiment September 7, 1863. In October he assisted in raising a company of volunteers for an Ohio regiment, but on account of political influence he did not receive the commission which had been promised him. He then went to California, and April 28, 1864, he enlisted in Company I, Second California Veteran volunteers, of San Francisco. He served as clerk at General Mason's office in San Francisco for a month, then as clerk to the assistant commissioner of musters of the Northern district of California, with headquarters at Fort Humboldt, for three months, then as company clerk, and finally as commissary sergeant of the regiment, until he was discharged at Fort Yuma, Cal., March 31, 1866. A company had been organized and plans made at this time for laying an overland telegraph line through Siberia and Alaska, and Mr. Markley engaged to assist in the construction of this line. Just as the party was about to start news was received of the successful construction of the Atlantic cable, which rendered the overland telegraph line useless. Mr. Markley then went to British Columbia and engaged in mining and prospecting. He settled in Walla Walla in 1868 but came to Iowa the next year, arriving in Cedar Falls December 31, 1869.

The next year he went to New York, where he was married, October 11, 1870, in Fulton, to Mary A. Schenck. In March, 1871, they moved to a farm in Butler county, near Parkersburg, where they lived until 1880, when they moved to Cedar Falls and have lived there since. In 1878 Mr. Markley built the first modern creamery and cheese factory in Butler county, and later, in partnership with Thomas Dads-well, erected and operated eight creameries in Butler, Grundy and Hardin counties. This partnership ended in 1893. Since 1884 Mr. Markley has been interested in
