FRANK SOKOL PASSED AWAY AT SIBLEY, IOWA

---

Mrs. Frank Shimerda received a message Tuesday morning conveying the sad news of the death of her father, Mr. Frank Sokol, which occurred at the home of his son,
George, at Sibley, Iowa.

Mr. Sokol, whose home was at Sierre Madre, Cal., had been in poor health for some time and decided to go to the home of his son, thinking that the change would be beneficial to his health. Death occurred shortly after his arrival.

The remains will arrive in this city this morning, Thursday, and interment will be made in the Wyoming cemetery. The sympathy of all goes out to the sorrowing relatives.

LIFE HISTORY OF
HON. F. J. SOKOL.

The subject of this sketch, F. J. Sokol, had his birth in the land of Bohemian, October 22nd, 1841. Had he lived a few days longer he would have reached the ripe old age of 80 years. His early life was spent in his native country, where he attended school and began his education, which was continued in the land of his adoption. He came with his parents to this country in the spring of 1854, and first settled in Jackson county, this state, where they entered land from the government.

The first house or building whenin they dwelt for some time was like all structures erected in those days, crude and plain, and with few embellishments. The family remained there until 1870, when they moved to Monmouth, Iowa, where they resided until called to their final rest, the father passing away May 20th, 1901, while the mother died on the 8th of August, 1897.

The first 19 years of his life F. J. Sokol spent under the paternal roof and then went with a party overland to California, attracted by the discovery of gold on the Pacific coast. They traveled with ox-teams, making their westward way over the long, hot stretches of sand and through the mountain passes, and when five months had elapsed they reached the Golden state. He went first to where Lathrop now stands. It was then a ranch. Here he remained for 4 years working a part of the time in the gold fields, and remainder of time on the farm. Upon his return to Iowa in 1865 he rented his father's farm in Jackson county for a year, but in the spring of 1867 turned his attention to merchandising in Monmouth, Ia..

of W. D. Shuttleworth, of Osceola county, Iowa; Emma, who wedded Frank Shimerda, residing at Oxford Junction, Iowa; John M., a practicing physician at Spencer, Iowa; and George F., a resident of Sibley, Iowa engaged in the lumber and cement business. The wife and mother died May 16th, 1910.

After Mr Sokol's retirement from business in 1905, a goodly part of his time had been spent in California, especially the winters, returning frequently to renew the friendships and acquaintances formed in other years.

Some years after his wife's death and feeling the loneliness without her, he was again united in marriage to Alice Siope in December, 1913.

Mr. Sokol was a companionable man and enjoyed the fellowship of his fellowmen and shared their confidence and esteem as is shown in their treatment of him in a public way. He was a man who read and kept himself posted in what was going on in the world. He stood for those interests and causes which made for the welfare of the public. He was a thorough-going American and had little time or patience for disloyalty of any kind. While he was born in a foreign country, he soon espoused the cause of the land of his adoption and was ever ready to defend her institutions and good name.

His going, while sudden and somewhat unusual, was not wholly unexpected, as he had not been in the best of health for some time. He had a persistent cough which gave him trouble and presaged no good. It was with the hope of getting free from this and with the desire to see again the members of his family that he started in company with his son-in-law from California to Iowa. The trip across the mountains proved too

Jackson county for a year, but in the spring of 1967 turned his attention to merchandising in Monmouth, Ia., continuing in business at that place for ten years. He prospered in his undertaking so that during that decade he was enabled to purchase his father's farm. In the fall of 1880 he bought a farm in Jones county, adjoining Onslow and to that place removed, residing on this farm for 21 years. The residence in the meantime was taken into the corporate limits of Onslow. He did not operate the farm, however, but gave his attention to his business. In 1881 he purchased a lumberyard in Onslow and carried on business in that line an extensive patronage. During the same time he purchased a half interest in the Onslow Savings Bank, and served in the capacity of vice president for years. In 1905, however, he retired from the active management of business interests to enjoy in well earned retirement the fruits of his former toil, business enterprise and carefully managed affairs.

In politics Mr. Sokol was a republican, and in 1892 was appointed supervisor of Jones county to fill out an unexpired term, after which he twice regularly elected to the office, serving on the board for a period of seven years. He was twice elected to the state legislature, serving in the 28th and 29th general assemblies with honor to himself and credit to his constituents. He was the first mayor of Onslow, serving for four terms. His fraternal relations were with Keystone lodge A. F. & A. M. of Wyoming, of which order he became a member in 1869.

On January 3rd, 1869, he was united in marriage to Miss Anna Bezdichek. To this union were born four children, namely: Blanche, the wife in-law from California to Iowa. The trip across the mountains proved too much of a strain and he suffered a hemorrhage of the lungs on the way. They reached Sibley, Iowa, however, on September 5th, where he passed away on the following day among relatives and friends. He leaves to mourn his passing the children named above. Besides these there is a sister, Josephine Bezdichek of Ames; Joseph Sokol of Maquoketa; George Sokol of Monmouth, a number of grandchildren and a large concourse of friends and acquaintances. They will all be saddened at the news of his departure and weep that a loving friend and neighbor has been taken from among us.

We might add that Mr. Sokol served as a grand juror in California on August 29th to 31st before starting for Iowa.

The remains were brought to this and funeral services held from the Presbyterian church, Thursday afternoon, September 8th, at 2:00 o'clock conducted by Rev. E. L. Gould of Anamosa. Interment in the Wyoming cemetery, Keystone Lodge No. 206 A. F. & A. M. having charge of the service at the grave. C. C. Overly delivered the beautiful Masonic burial ceremony in a most pleasing and able manner.

Thus another pioneer member of the local Masonic lodge, and a highly respected citizen of this vicinity and Jones county, has been gathered to his Father. Mr. Sokol was a man in every sense of the word, and the world is the richer for his having lived the four-score span. Mrphis life be a benediction to us all.

Much depends upon the point of view. There are those who regard silk stockings as a necessity.

F. J. SOKOL LAID TO REST AT WYOMING

Anamosa Eureka: F. J. Sokol was born in the land of Bohemia, October 22, 1841. Had he lived a few days longer he would have reached the ripe age of 80 years. His early life was spent in his native country where he attended school and began his education, which was continued in the land of his adoption. He came with his parents to this country in the spring of 1854 and first settled in Jackson county this state, while they entered land from the government.

The first house or building where they dwelt for some time was like all structures erected in those days, crude and with few embellishments. The family remained there until 1870 when they moved to Monmouth, where the parents spent the remainder of their lives.

The first venture of F. J. Sokol away from the parental roof was in 1860, when he with some others made the trip to California drawn hither, as many were, by the discovery of gold in that state. He remained there four years returning to Iowa in 1865, renting his father's farm for one year. He then engaged in merchandising in Monmouth. So successful was he in business that in a few years he had laid up enough to purchase his father's farm.

A little later on he moved to Onslow where he engaged in business and where he came to be known for a quarter of a century as one of the substantial citizens of Jones county. He was a good business man, possessed of sound judgment, and seemed to prosper in whatever undertaking he turned his attention to. So highly was he thought of by his town people that he was elected as their mayor and when the bank was organized became its first president. His ability was soon recognized throughout the county and he was called to serve on the board of supervisors where he continued for seven years. When he had proved his fitness there for public service he was called higher. He was twice elected to the office of state representative and served in the legislature to the satisfaction of his constituents and a credit to the state.

He was united in marriage January 3, 1869, to Miss Anna Bezdichek and they lived happily together until she was called away May 18, 1910. Some 20 years after he retired from active business life, having earned as they both thought, a period of rest from a life of strenuous employment. A good part of this time had been spent in California especially the winters, returning frequently to renew the friendship and acquaintances formed in other years.

Some time after his wife's death and feeling the loneliness without her he was again united in marriage to Alice Staple December, 1913.

who survive him are Mrs. Blanche Shuttleworth, of Sibley; Mrs. Emma Shimerda, Oxford Junction; Dr. J. M. Sokol, Spencer; Geo. F. Sokol, of Sibley. Besides these there is a sister, Josephine Bezdichek, of Ames; and two brothers, Joseph Sokol of Maquoketa; and Geo. Sokol of Monmouth. These together with the grandchildren and a large concourse of friends and acquaintances will be saddened at the news of his departure and mourn that a loving father, a good brother and a trustful friend and honored citizen has gone from among us.

Funeral services were held by Rev. C. L. Gould Thursday morning and interment was at Wyoming.

CELEBRATED BIRTH-DAY ANNIVERSARIES

About thirty relatives and friends gathered at the Burwell home east of town Monday to help Mrs. Ella Burwell and her sister, Mrs. Chancy Robinson, of Oxford Mills, celebrate their birthdays. They all came with well filled baskets and all enjoyed a sumptuous dinner. The afternoon was spent in social conversation and music. The ladies, in whose honor the dinner was given, received many remembrances, which showed the esteem in which they were held by those present. All went home well pleased with the afternoon spent with old acquaintances. The following verse was written by one present, Bertha Bradley Dean:

This 19th day of September, 1921,
A few of your friends and neighbors
Have gathered to have some fun.
We've brought some well filled baskets,
And wonderful appetites too;
With hosts and hosts of good wishes
The same to bestow upon you.
We're growing old if we measure by years,
But our hearts are just as young
As they ever were, a bit slow, perhaps,
are our steps,
(But not our tongues)
You've reached another milestone—
Father Time travels so fast.
May you reach many more
Is the wish of each one,
With memories of this one now past.

Mrs. Joe Hovlik, Sr. and daughter, Eleanor, went to Chicago last week for a visit at the home of Mrs. Julius Havel. Miss Eleanor returned to this city Monday and Mrs. Hovlik remained for a longer visit.

Benedict Sherman was seventeen years old when the family arrived in Iowa and on account of his father's death he became the head of the family and much hard work devolved on him. They located in Madison township, Jones county, where he operated a farm until 1863. In 1861, he enlisted for three years in Company B, Ninth Iowa Volunteer Infantry, under Captain Donald A. Carpenter, but was taken sick and discharged for disability in February, 1862. Returning home, he continued farming until about 1889, when he located in Olin and is now practically living retired, although he is still interested in Texas farm lands. He is a member of the Methodist church, and his social connections are with the Grand Army Post at Olin.

On August 29, 1871, Mr. Sherman married Sarah McCormick, who was born at Eleson Creek, Henderson county, Illinois, May 20, 1844, came here with her parents, John and Agnes McCormick, natives of Virginia. Mrs. Sherman was killed in a railroad accident January 16, 1895. One child was born of this union, Jenetta B., January 29, 1884, and died July 25, 1876. On November 18, 1897, Mr. Sherman married Mrs. Ella Brainard, the widow of George Brainard. Her father, Riley Calkins, a native of New York, was a pioneer of Jones county and died in Wyoming, Iowa, in March, 1899. There is one daughter, Frances, by the second marriage. Mrs. Sherman had two children by her former marriage: Verva Brainard and Charles Brainard.

Mr. Sherman has always endeavored to do what he felt was his full duty, both as patriot and private citizen, and he enjoys in full measure the confidence of his fellow citizens.

HON. F. J. SOKOL.

Hon. F. J. Sokol is one of the prominent citizens of Jones county who has made for himself an enviable position in commercial and financial circles, yet without allowing personal interests or ambitions to dwarf his public spirit or activities. His is the record of a strenuous life—a record of strong individuality, sure of itself, stable in purpose, quick in perception, swift in decision, energetic and persistent in action.

Born in Bohemia on the 22d of October, 1841, Mr. Sokol is a son of Frank and Josephine (Mishka) Sokol, who were likewise natives of Bohemia. They came to the United States in the spring of 1854, settling in Jackson county, Iowa, where the father entered land. Their first home was a board shanty, in which they lived for one year, when a substantial log cabin was built, covered by a clapboard roof. In this they remained until 1870, when they removed from the township of Monmouth to Monmouth, Iowa, where they resided until called to their final rest, the father passing away May 30, 1891, while the mother died on the 8th of August, 1897. They were the parents of a large family but only four reached years of maturity and of these F. J. Sokol is the eldest. The others are: Josephine, the wife of William Bezdichek, of What Cheer, Iowa; J. H., living in Maquoketa, Iowa; and George, whose home is in Monmouth, this state.

F. J. Sokol spent the first nineteen years of his life under the paternal roof and then went with a party overland to California, attracted by the recent discoveries of gold on the Pacific coast. They traveled with ox-teams, making their westward way over the long, hot stretches of sand and through the mountain passes, and when five months had elapsed they reached the Golden state. Mr. Sokol first went to where Lathrop now stands. It was then a ranch and there he remained for four years, working a part of the time in the gold fields and the remainder of the time on the farm. Upon his return to Iowa in 1865 he rented his father's farm in Jackson county for a year but in the spring of 1867 turned his attention to merchandising in Monmouth, Iowa, continuing in business at that point for ten years. He prospered in his undertaking so that during that decade he was enabled to purchase his father's farm. In the fall of 1880 he bought another farm in Jones county adjoining Onslow and to that place removed, residing on this farm for twenty-one years. The residence having in the meantime been taken into the corporate limits of the town. He did not operate the farm, however, but gave his attention to his business. In 1881 he purchased a lumberyard in the village of Onslow and carried on business in that line for a quarter of a century, enjoying an extensive and growing patronage. During the same period he bought a half interest in the Onslow Savings Bank with which he has since been identified in the capacity of vice president. In 1905, however, he retired from the active management of business interests to enjoy in well earned retirement the fruits of his former toil, business enterprise and carefully managed affairs. He still resides in Onslow in a beautiful residence which is located on a fifty-acre tract of land lying in Madison township. He also owns a farm of three hundred and twenty acres in Osceola county, Iowa. He is numbered among the prominent and influential residents of the part of the state in which he makes his home and his life record indicates what may be accomplished by persistent, earnest and indefatigable effort.

F. J. Sokol acquired the greater part of his education in Bohemia but also attended school for a short time after coming to this country, arriving in the new world with his parents in the spring of 1854. He has always been a broad reader and thorough student and has acquired a wide general knowledge in this way and thorough experience. He is widely recognized as a forceful man who has always conserved his energies and managed his interests to the best advantage, laboring for the welfare of the community as well as for individual interest.

In politics Mr. Sokol is a republican and in 1892 was appointed supervisor of Jones county to fill out an unexpired term, after which he was twice regularly elected to the office, serving on the board for a period of seven years. He was twice elected to the state legislature, serving in the twenty-eighth and twenty-ninth general assemblies with honor to himself and credit to his constituents. He has never been an aspirant for public office and to each office to which he has been elected his nominations have been made by acclamation. He was the first mayor of the village of Onslow, serving for four terms as chief executive of the town, his administration being businesslike, progressive and public-spirited. He has filled all of the minor offices of the village and township except that of justice of the peace, and refused to serve in that capacity. His fraternal relations are with Keystone Lodge, No. 206, F. & A. M., of Wyoming, in which he was raised in 1869.

It was on the 3d of January, of the same year, that Mr. Sokol was united in marriage to Miss Anna Bezdicheck, a native of Bohemia, born January 31, 1851, and a daughter of Vencil and Anna Bezdicheck, who came to the United States in 1858, settling in Jackson county, where the parents both died. Their family numbered four children and unto Mr. and Mrs. Sokol also four children have been born, namely: Blanche, the wife of W. D. Shuttleworth, of Osceola county, Iowa; Emma, who wedded Frank Shimerda, residing at Oxford Junction, Jones county, this state; John M., a practicing physician of Spencer, Iowa; and George F., a resident of Sibley, Iowa, engaged in the lumber and cement business.

While neither Mr. nor Mrs. Sokol are affiliated with any church they are both believers in the Christian faith and Mrs. Sokol is active in both church and charitable work. Mr. Sokol has always been friendly to educational interests and has provided each of his children with advantages for college education. He stands for all that is progressive in the life of the community and for all that is essential to the welfare and upbuilding of the state. While born across the water, there is no more loyal son of America within the borders of Jones county than F. J. Sokol and the honors which have been accorded him have been worthily won and worn. His business affairs have been so capably managed that he seems to have attained at any one point of his career the possibilities for successful accomplishment at that point and he has found that success is ambition's answer.

EDWIN C. VAUGHN.

Edwin C. Vaughn, a successful farmer and stockman of Wyoming township, was born on the land which he now owns and cultivates, November 14, 1867, and is a son of Philander and Lydia L. (Baldwin) Vaughn. The former was born in New York state, while the latter was a native of Ohio, where the couple were married and whence they came to Iowa in 1856. They settled in Jones county, buying the farm where our subject now resides. They made their home upon this place for several years and then removed to Wyoming, Iowa, where the father spent the last thirteen years of his life, passing away in 1905. The mother is still living in that city at the age of seventy-four years and has the satisfaction of seeing all of her eleven children well established in life. Philander Vaughn was a very progressive man, his ideas of farming being about thirty years in advance of his time and in the cultivation of his land he met with most excellent success, transforming the wild tract into highly productive fields. The children born to Philander and Lydia L. (Baldwin) Vaughn were as follows: Rudolph, who is living in South Dakota; Mrs. Flora I. Babcock, of Des Moines;
