nazi controlled Budapest said a Czechoslovakian brigade, equipped and trained by the British in the middle east, had landed in Yugoslavia to cooperate with partisan forces. If the report is true, the brigade constitutes the first allied force in the Balkans since ~~the first in April, 1941~~.

Czechs Go Ashore

The Czechs were said to have gone ashore on the coast of Montenegro, either at Budva or Ulcinj, under the leadership of Brig. Rizicka, a former lieutenant colonel in the Czech army.

Taking official notice for the first time of the differences between Gen. Mihailovic and his Chetniks, and Tito and his partisan followers, King Peter, in his message broadcast from Cairo, declared:

"I am sure the majority of my people have been deeply concerned and saddened by the insufficient harmony among Yugoslavs, both in that country and abroad, in their efforts to defeat the enemy and restore Yugoslavia.

All of One Family

"We are all one family and we know our disagreements have roots deep in history and we know equally well that family quarrels always happen to be most acute ones."

The king said he had no doubt that the goal of "a strong, united and stable Yugoslavia" could be achieved. He said the present government was acting only until the people could express their own views. In the meantime, he urged that all obey Gen. Mihailovic "and other national leaders of your resistance to the enemy and refrain from internal struggles."

Heavy Fighting Reported

A report reaching Stockholm through German sources and quoted by Reuter's said Tito's partisan forces are now only a mile from Zagreb, that supply lines to that city have been cut, and that heavy fighting is in progress.

A partisan broadcast reported in London said the guerrilla fighters had thrown tanks into the battle for the Istrian peninsula between Trieste and Fiume and had destroyed 10 German tanks and a German plane. A Yugoslav communique said the first Croatian brigade, in capturing Lussino island, had seized a German tanker bearing nearly 24,000 gallons of oil.

Istanbul dispatches to London morning papers said fresh German tank and motorized units have arrived in Athens and the German command apparently has completed its occupation of key points in southern Greece, after taking over from the Italians.

The lowest recorded death rate for any country was that for New Zealand in 1932 and 1933, with 8 per 1,000 population.

on the shores of Lake Constance across from Switzerland, was last bombed by the R. A. F. during a shuttle raid to Africa on June 21.

Munich, bottleneck of rail transport to the Brenner pass and birthplace of the Nazi party, suffered new destruction in a visit from light Mosquito-bombers. It had been bombed by British and American heavy bombers twice before during October.

Other Mosquitoes ranged into northwestern Germany to attack additional war targets during the night, the announcement said.

Fifth Raid This Month

The night's farflung operations constituted the R. A. F.'s fifth major assault on German cities since the start of the month when the current heavy offensive roared on for four nights without stop and then was resumed after a lull of two nights.

A Swiss communique said foreign planes had violated Swiss neutrality during the night and material damage resulted to that neutral country from German antiaircraft shells.

Round Trip Flight

Later, the Berlin radio said that British bombers had attacked localities on the Bay of Helgoland, suggesting the possibility that the targets of the Mosquitoes ranging into northwest Germany might have been Wilhelmshafen or Bremerhaven.

It was stated authoritatively that Thursday night's deep penetration into southwest Germany in the attack on Friedrichshafen was made in a roundtrip operation from Britain and that the lengthening nights provided sufficient cover for the return home.
