M. L. BOWMAN, 57, ONCE LEADER IN WATERLOO, DIES

Former State Senator, Farm Crops Expert, Commercial Club Officer Here.

Melville L. Bowman, 57, unsuccessful candidate for Democratic nomination for Iowa secretary of agriculture in the primary election this month and former state senator from the Black Hawk-Grundy district from 1922 to 1926, died Friday night after being stricken by a heart attack in his automobile in Des Moines.

Formerly a farmer and purebred Holstein breeder near Waterloo, he was first secretary of the Greater Waterloo association, and had served as secretary of the Iowa Corn Growers association.

As an Iowa State college faculty member, he originated the "seed oats special" trains that toured the state in promotion of better seed oats.

Since serving as state senator he had resided most of the time in Des Moines.

M. L. BOWMAN.

became a college faculty member for five years, and was in charge of the farm crops experimental work.

He was elected to his state senatorship as a Republican, and in 1926 he was beaten by John Hammill for the Republican governorship nomination.

Bowman was widely known in Iowa and Nebraska.

In the latter state, he was a public relations representative for the central Nebraska public power and irrigation district at Hastings from 1936 to 1941, returning to Des Moines to become office manager at the Des Moines ordnance plant.

Ran for Congress.

He also was a candidate for congress in 1932 on the Republican ticket, losing to the late Cassius C. Dowell, veteran representative of the old Sixth district.

He probably was best known in Iowa for his work from 1933 to 1936 as state supervisor of the farm debt adjustment program.

Bowman moved from Galesburg to Corning, Ia., where he attended an academy.

From 1910 to 1914, he headed the agriculture department of the William Galloway company in Waterloo. He edited "The Corn Magazine" for two years and also was a real estate dealer and secretary of the Waterloo Commercial club.

Funeral at Corning.

Later he did organizational work for the Iowa Farm Bureau federation, was a supervisor for the Farmers Union Insurance company, was a wholesale lumber dealer, and worked for the Federal Land bank at Omaha before taking the farm debt post.

In addition to his widow, he is survived by two daughters, Mrs. William Meade, Tacoma, Wash., and Marjorie Bowman, Los Angeles, Cal.

The body was taken to Corning, where funeral will be, probably Monday.

Four Delegates to Go to Rotary Meet in Toronto

Four Waterloo Rotary club members are delegates to the Rotary International convention, which will begin next Sunday in Toronto, Ont., and continue thru June 25.

They are John W. Rath, president; B. F. Swisher, president-elect; Frank R. Ballantyne, and G. R. Spensley.

Spensley, president of the Model Laundry company here, will leave Wednesday by automobile with Mrs. Spensley.

At the convention Spensley will preside for a fifth year as general chairman of the laundry, dry cleaning, dyeing and linen supply, and national crafts assemblies.

quarters, now occupied by Frost Truck Sales company and Davis Radio shop, from Clarence Schukel, automobile dealer, Dahlin said.

Floor space is 80 by 100 feet.

Also to be moved to the new location will be the NYA offices. The sewing rooms will remain in Washington school, Dahlin said.

Being moved will be the welding school, garage and sheet metal training shops. Also to be established whenever equipment is released to the NYA will be a complete machine shop, with eight lathes, two milling machines and two shapers.

The new building, with floor suitable for heavy machines, was selected in anticipation of eventually getting the machine shop equipment, Dahlin said.

Seventy-five students now are receiving the shop training, and 98 girls are in the sewing classes, Dahlin said.

OFFERS BLACK CAT TO HELP ARMY WIN WAR

A Waterloo woman who telephoned the Chamber of Commerce recently wanted to do all she could to help the boys in Uncle Sam's army, navy and marine corps.

She said she had heard a radio report that persons having articles they wished to give to the armed services should call the Chamber of Commerce office with their offers.

She said she had a black cat and two kittens and would like to give them to a branch of the armed forces if they could be used.

She was told kindly that the C. of C. is not such a clearing house and was given the name of a proper agency.

WILLIAM BERNARD, 17, IS "GETTING AROUND"

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bernard, Route 2, Waterloo, reported Saturday they had been advised in a long distance telephone call from their son, William, 17, now at San Diego, Cal., that he has just ended an extended trip thru the Canal Zone, to Ireland, Australia and thru the Coral sea. He is a seaman, second class, with the navy.
