QUEEN WILHELMINA IN NEUTRALITY TALK

THE HAGUE, Aug. 28 (AP)— Queen Wilhelmina will make a broadcast tonight on the international situation to her people at home and the approximately 60,- 000,000 subjects of The Netherlands in the East Indies.

The queen is expected to emphasize the strict neutrality of The Netherlands in any European conflict and her eleventh hour hopes for peace.

UNEASY DAY FOR MARKETS

NEW YORK, Aug. 28 (AP)—Wartime control was extended in the European financial markets today, while traders in Wall street spent another uneasy day, trying to adjust prices to prospects of war or peace.

Outstanding in the day's developments were:

- (1) Cessation of trading in American securities in London following the British restrictions on sale of foreign investments.
- (2) A decline of $1 to $4 a share in leading stocks in Wall street and later recovery led by steel and motor shares, leaving final prices mixed.
- (3) A further wide drop in the British pound sterling and wide swings in other foreign currencies.
- (4) Mixed commodity movements, with wheat up 1/4 to 1 1/2 cents a bushel at the finish while cotton broke $1 to $1.20 a bale.
- (5) A fall in United States and foreign government bonds, mostly eliminating the gains of late last weeks.

BOY ON FLIGHT

DENVER, Aug. 28. (AP)—Richard James, 16-year-old Denver school boy pilot, started today on another cross-country airplane jaunt, this time to Cleveland to attend the national air races.

He said he planned to stop at Des Moines tonight and at Vincennes, Ind., tomorrow night, reaching Cleveland Wednesday.
 The youth flew to Chicago to visit his grandmother in June,

HEART ATTACK CAUSES THE SUDDEN DEATH OF REYBURN L. RUTLEDGE

Reyburn L. Rutledge, 51, a lifelong resident of Webster county and for many years a prominent figure in the state legislature where he was a strong advocate of tax reduction, died suddenly late Saturday afternoon of a heart attack.

REYBURN L. RUTLEDGE

His death was unexpected and came as a great shock to the members of his family and many friends, none of whom knew that he was not in the best of health.
 He returned to the city Saturday afternoon from one of his regular inspection trips of county homes, and called his wife to tell her he was not feeling well, complaining of pains in his chest. Hearing that plans had been made for a picnic with friends that evening, he decided that a turkish bath might make him feel better, so that he could attend, and went to a local bath parlor. He had finished the treatment and was ready to leave when he told the attendant how terribly he felt and slumped to the floor, dead.

The son of well known Webster county farmers, John L. and Carrie Rutledge, of Willowledge Farm, grandson of L. S. Coffin, prominent pioneer, Mr. Rutledge was born on a farm near Fort Dodge in June, 1888. He was graduated from the Fort Dodge high school in 1908, won a scholarship to Iowa State college in the state judging contest at the Iowa state fair in 1908 and entered school at Ames in the fall of that year.
 Called home by the sickness of his father in the spring of 1912, he operated the farm, Willowledge, until elected to the state legislature from Webster county in November, 1926. He served in the legislature for three successive terms from 1926 to 1931. Just recently he was appointed by Governor Wilson state inspector of county homes.

Mr. Rutledge was a World war veteran, serving as a member of the aviation service for seven months during the year 1918. Because of his interest and knowledge of farm bureau work and agriculture he was made a member of the international committee on agriculture of Kiwanis International. He was a member of the Congregational church.

Funeral Tuesday

Funeral services will take place Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 at the Wilder funeral home with the Rev.
 H. Lee Jacobs of the Congregational church officiating. Burial will be in the family lot in Carpenter cemetery. The body will be at the funeral home until the time of the service.

PARIS, Aug. 28 (AP)—The Un-States news offices in Paris announced today that the liner battan, which arrives at Le Havre Wednesday, would be around immediately and leave
 New York via Southampton Cobh at midnight the same day.
 About 500 extra cots will be added, making a total of 1,700 ac-

HISTORY OF
FORT DODGE
AND
WEBSTER COUNTY
IOWA

VOLUME II

19567a

CHICAGO
THE PIONEER PUBLISHING COMPANY
1913

McMellan of Elmira, New York. Dr. McMellan was practicing medicine in Elmira until his death, while his wife's death had occurred many years previous. To Mr. and Mrs. Haviland one child was born, Nora E., who is an osteopathic physician in Grand Junction, Colorado, and the wife of R. D. Moore, also an osteopath. Mrs. Haviland's death occurred February 16, 1889. On the 25th of December, 1891, Mr. Haviland was again married, this union being with Amelia A. Haviland, a daughter of J. B. and Saba (LaDue) Haviland, natives of New York state. The father came to Webster county in the early '50s, and entered government land which he improved and operated until his death, in 1899. The mother passed away in 1894.

Mr. Haviland gives his political support to the republican party, to which he has always been loyal. He has served the town efficiently as township clerk, township trustee and assessor, and is at present treasurer of the Cooper township school board. He takes an active interest in religious affairs and is an ardent worker in church work. He holds membership in the Independent Order of Odd Fellows.

Although he is living practically retired at present, he still takes a deep interest in his farms. He also owns a farm near Huron, South Dakota, and one in Wisconsin. He is a stockholder in the Corn Belt Meat Producers Association, a packing company of Fort Dodge, and also a director in the Farmers Mutual Insurance Association and vice president of the Commercial National Bank of Fort Dodge. Because of the variety of his interests he is well known throughout the county, and his straightforwardness and enterprising spirit have won him the respect of the entire community.

JOHN I. RUTLEDGE.

Iowa's greatness and prosperity is in a large measure due to its agricultural resources and development. The men who have given their energy and strength to improving the soil are responsible for present prosperous conditions. Many of the state's most fertile tracts are located in Webster county and have been brought to a high state of productivity through the activities of men who have spent their entire careers in agricultural pursuits. Among these is John I. Rutledge, who owns four hundred and ninety-six acres of valuable land in Cooper township. His birth occurred in Canada, August 11, 1853.

his parents being Crozier and Isabelle (Rayburn) Rutledge. The father is of Scotch-Irish descent and the mother of Canadian birth. Crozier Rutledge came to this country with his parents and located in Canada, where he acquired his education. As soon as he became old enough to start upon an independent career he engaged in the mercantile business at Charleston, Canada, and continued there until he reached the age of forty-three years, in which year he was accidentally killed while riding to Toronto, forty miles distant, to purchase goods. The mother passed away fifty years later.

John I. Rutledge was reared and educated in Canada. He remained at home with his mother until 1873, when he was twenty years of age. At that time he came to Illinois and took charge of a farm for three years before he returned to Canada for a year's visit. In the autumn of 1877 he came to Iowa and located at Fort Dodge, where he remained until he removed to Humboldt county and purchased one quarter section of land. For two years he was engaged in improving and cultivating this property, but at the end of that time rented it and went to O'Brien county, where for three years he had charge of a five thousand acre farm for Pallin Brothers. He then returned to Fort Dodge, where he was married, and moved to his farm in Humboldt county. A year later, however, he sold that farm and came to Fort Dodge and rented his father-in-law's farm. For twenty-two years he was engaged in cultivating this property and during that time brought it under high cultivation and proved himself an agriculturist of unusual worth. His determination to succeed, his unremitting energy and persistency were the salient characteristics in bringing about his remarkable success. In 1907 he purchased four hundred and ninety-six acres of land in Cooper township, and is still engaged in operating this farm. He has improved the property to such an extent that at present he has one of the finest farms in the county, provided with all modern equipments. In addition to general farming he has engaged in dairying and stock-raising, specializing in the better grades of stock. He has at present eighty head of cattle and raises from one hundred to two hundred head of hogs per year. He keeps about thirty horses.

In April, 1884, Mr. Rutledge was married to Miss Carrie C. Coffin, a daughter of Lorenzo S. and Mary (Chase) Coffin. The father was a native of New Hampshire and the mother of New York state. The father came to Iowa in 1855 and took up a claim. From time to time he increased his holdings and he now owns seven hundred and twenty acres. He is at present eighty-nine years of age. The mother died in January, 1906. To Mr. and Mrs. Rutledge seven children have been born: Irving C., who is engaged in the dairying business; Isabelle M., who is teaching in the high school at Humboldt, Iowa; Rayburn S., who is attending Ames College; Catherine S., who is a student in the College at Grinnell; Helen Chase, attending high school at Fort Dodge; and Ruth L., and Cora Elizabeth, both in school in Fort Dodge.

In politics Mr. Rutledge affiliates with the republican party. In religious faith he and the members of his family are Congregationalists. The material welfare of the community has always been of prime importance to him. He is one of the present trustees of Cooper township, and for ten years was trustee of Douglas township. The position he now holds as one of Webster county's most prominent agriculturists, has been won by industry, perseverance and patience, and comes as a just reward for the hardships he endured in earlier life.

JAMES BASS.

Among the residents of Dayton who came to Webster county when it was a frontier district and substantially contributed toward the upbuilding and development of the community is James Bass, who owns over eight hundred acres of land in Yell and Dayton townships, much of which he bought directly from the government, in addition to some valuable Dayton property. He was born in North Carolina, April 27, 1832, and is a son of Edward and Mary (Saffley) Bass. He is of English and Irish extraction and represents the third generation of his family in America, his paternal grandfather being a veteran of the Revolutionary war and having participated in the battle of Bunker Hill. In 1835 Edward Bass removed with his family to Indiana and engaged in farming. Twenty years later he came to Iowa, purchasing two hundred and forty acres of land in Boone county, to which he subsequently added another twenty acres of timber land. There both he and the mother passed the remainder of their lives, his death occurring on the 3d of February, 1883, at the venerable age of ninety-four years, his natal day having been the 17th of January, 1789. The mother survived him for three years, passing away July 15, 1886.

State College. He continued his studies at that institution and before his graduation won honors on the football team.

His interest in farming continued through the years. He and Mrs. Rutledge were associated with the Farm Bureau in all of its activities.

He volunteered in the World War, and was assigned to aviation service in 1918. He was a member of the American Legion, and took part in all of the activities of this organization.

Mr. Rutledge was elected Representative from Webster county and served in the Forty-second, Forty-third, and Forty-fourth General Assemblies, where he proved to be one of its most diligent members. He was speaker pro tem of the Forty-fourth General Assembly. His official activities were characterized by honesty and upright business methods. He was a staunch Republican and a zealous worker for his party.

He was united in marriage to Miss Mabel Mears of Grinnell. To this union four daughters were born, Jean, Ann, Alice, and Mary. He was a member of the Congregational church of Fort Dodge and the burial service was from that church.

The news of the sudden death of Reyburn L. Rutledge shocked not only his family and the immediate community but his numerous friends throughout the state. His passing brought a sense of desolation and loss which was manifestly evident, wherever the information was received.

Mr. Rutledge was a typical product of his day and generation, representing the best characteristics of the immediate descendants of the early pioneers who made valuable contributions to Iowa history. His grandfather, the Honorable L. S. Coffin (lovingly called Father Coffin) was one of the best known pioneers of northwest Iowa. His mother, Carrie Coffin Rutledge, during her lifetime, was one of Iowa's most capable women, prominent in woman's suffrage, temperance, and religious groups; she pioneered in each.

The highest compliment that can be paid to the memory of Mr. Rutledge is to recall his faithfulness to his friends and his intimate love and devotion to his family.

He was the author of the following poem which expresses eloquently his outlook in life:

RELIGION

When the talk turns on Religion
I have notions of my own,
Have my versions of the Bible
And the things I think alone.

For Religion as I see it Is a pathway to a goal,
It is something to be settled Between each man and his soul.

Now I'm not a Roman Catholic
But I wouldn't go so far As to throw away the friendship Of the folks I know who are.

For I've lived and neighbored with them Found them loyal through and through,

I've respect and admiration
For the kindly things they do.

So I've come to the conclusion Tho some people think it odd
That it makes but little difference
How a good man worships God.

I know Methodists and Baptists, Lutherans, Scientists and Jews Whose friendship is a treasure
I wouldn't want to lose.

And I honor and respect them
And wouldn't dare condemn
The form of prayer and worship
That is comforting to them.

So when bigots talk Religion
I just settle back and see All the kindly friends and loyal Every Church has given me.
