Four Die In Week End Accidents

Four persons died in Iowa accidents Saturday and Sunday—three in traffic mishaps and one in an industrial accident.

The Four Victims

- Arthur Baasch, 48, McIntire.
- Mrs. Gertrude Whitehead, 59, Hepburn.
- George Weisz, 63, Sioux City.
- Mrs. Estelle Wessel, 78, Earlville.

Neck Broken

Baasch died of a broken neck when a 500-gallon tank filled with fuel oil fell on him while he was working at a lime quarry 14 miles west of Osage Saturday. Authorities said a truck had been parked near the pit rolled 250 feet, hit the tank and knocked it onto Baasch.

Killed In Two Car Crash

Mrs. Whitehead was killed in a two-car collision near Clarinda Saturday.

Hit By Auto

Weisz died after he was struck by an auto as he was changing a tire on his car at Sioux City early Sunday.

Mrs. Wessel was struck by a car on highway 3, three miles west of Colesburg in Delaware county.

Seven Hurt In Collision

Seven persons were injured in a head-on auto collision at a railroad crossing about five miles north of Montrose, in Lee county, last night. Paul Bushing, 45, Burlington, and K. P. Kanaphy, 45, Fort Madison, were reported in "serious" condition at a Fort Madison hospital.

Also injured were Mrs. Bushline and Mr. and Mrs. Tom Bash, Burlington, and Mr. and Mrs. William Bash, Earlville. They were riding in a car driven by Bash when it collided with Kanaphy's car.

Pres. F. C. Stanley Of Penn Stricken

Mourning draped William Penn college today following the death of Forrester Call Stanley, 68-year-old acting president of the college, at his home Saturday.

Classes were held today but faculty and students will pay respects to the departed leader at a memorial service in the Spencer Memorial chapel at 9:20 o'clock Tuesday morning, then will attend funeral rites at the College Avenue Friends church at 10 o'clock with Rev. Lela Gordon, pastor, in charge.

Students today announced the starting of a memorial fund in compliance with the family request that no flowers be sent. Burial will be in the family lot at Ackworth.

Roy Williams of Oskaloosa, president of the Penn board of trustees, announced appointment of Dean Wendell Farr, Walter Tatum of the business office and Miss Cera Mattison of the English department as a committee to carry on scholastic activities until a successor is appointed.

Trustees of the college have been notified of Mr. Stanley's death and will meet in the near future to discuss the selection of a new president.

Professor Stanley passed away 429 north Third street, the result of a heart attack. He was found

Refuses To Hear Appeals

Washington, Nov. 7—(UP)—The supreme court today in effect upheld contempt fines of $1,420,000 imposed on the United Mine Workers and John L. Lewis after the 1948 coal strike. The court did so by refusing to hear an appeal by the union and Lewis.

The Injunction Clause

At the same time the court refused to rule on the constitutionality of the 80-day injunction clause of the Taft-Hartley law. It was under this clause that President Truman acted to stop the strike.

5 to 3 Decision

The decisions were 5 to 3. Justices Hugo L. Black, Stanley H. Reed, and William O. Douglas thought the court should have reviewed the case. Justice Tom C. Clark took no part in the decision, since he was attorney general at the time the suit started.

Strike Arose Over Pension Fund

The strike arose over the workers' pension fund. A board of inquiry appointed by President Truman under the Taft-Hartley law found that Lewis had induced the work stoppage. Thereupon Mr. Truman told government attorneys to bring suit to stay the strike for 80 days, as provided for in the law.

Refused to Rule

The supreme court today refused to rule on the authority of President Truman and the federal courts to ban railroad strikes by injunction.

Wisconsin Inheritance Tax Illegal

The supreme court today found unconstitutional Wisconsin's 1943 emergency inheritance tax insofar as it includes tangible property outside the state.

Opinion By Clark

Justice Tom C. Clark, who became a court member last month, read the 7 to 1 decision. It was Black dissented and Justice William O. Douglas took no part in a successor is appointed. Trustees of the college have been notified of Mr. Stanley's death and will meet in the near future to discuss the selection of a new president.

Professor Stanley passed away while resting in bed at his home, 429 north Third street, the result of a heart attack. He was found by Mrs. Stanley when she returned from the state teachers' conven- tion at Des Moines Saturday eve- ning. Dr. F. A. Gillett said death probably occurred Friday evening.

Mr. Stanley had been ill for about ten days, spending most of his time at home. He made occa- sional forenoon visits to Penn in connection with his official posi- tion.

President Since April 1 He had been serving as acting president of Penn since April 1, when he was named successor to Cecil Hinshaw, resigned. He shouldered the difficult task of re-organizing the school, engaging new instructors, replenishing a de- pleted college treasury, and at- tracting students for the fall term.

The greater part of the credit for the smoothness of the transi- tion of the college to the present type of institution is due to Mr. Stanley. Many of the old accept- ed Penn traditions were restored almost over night.

To Mr. Stanley belongs credit, too, for the reestablishment of former relations with the Iowa Year- ly Meeting of Friends and under his presidency the Quakers of Iowa subscribed funds to meet the deficits facing the school.

Chemistry Professor F. C. Stanley was no stranger to Penn college, for many years he was professor of chemistry at the school and among his students emerged a number of outstanding chemists to hold positions of prom- inence in the nation. He also served the school as financial sec- retary in 1916-1917.

During his association with the school he fathered many civic music events, bringing to Oskaloosa year after year some of the great- est symphony orchestras, bands, and artists in America. He was instrumental in setting up the for- mer community lyceum courses.

As a member of the Penn athle- tic committee, he had much to do with the setting up of the new Iowa intercollegiate athletic assoas it includes tangible property outside the state.

Opinion By Clark Justice Tom C. Clark, who be- came a court member last month, read the 7 to 1 decision. It was his first opinion. Justice Hugo L. Black dissented and Justice Wil- liam O. Douglas took no part in the case.

The tax was imposed for post- war public works and rehabilita- tion of veterans.

Treichler Raised Question The constitutional question was raised by Oscar F. Treichler, executor of the estate of Fred A. Miller of Milwaukee county. Miller died Dec. 19, 1943, leaving a gross estate of $6,869,775 in Wisconsin and $979,936 in Illinois and Florida.

Would Rob Estate Treichler claimed that the emergency tax was computed in such a way as to make the Illinois and Florida assets taxable by Wis- consin. This, he said, was depriv- ing the estate of property without due process of law, in violation of the 14th amendment.

Quite Some Difference Under the state's method, the total Wisconsin inheritance taxes would be $745,399. Under Treichler's method they would be $573,- 383.91.

Firemen said cause of the blaze was not determined but members of the Lundvall family said they smelled smoke all day yesterday.

In addition to the hay and the entire corn crop, two large barns, a tractor and an undetermined number of livestock were destroyed in the fire. Some livestock was saved.

No estimate on the amount of loss was available but Lundvall said it was partly covered by insurance.

Frisco Freight Wreck

Steele, Mo., Nov. 7—(UP)—A Frisco freight train was derailed several miles southwest of here early today. There were no casualties.

Roy Hawkins, radio dispatcher for the sheriff's office in Caruthersville, said most of the cars derailed caught fire.

Broken Rail Blamed

The accident occurred on a curve between Steele and Holian, Mo.

Hawkins said a broken rail was blamed for the accident. The only fire equipment to fight the flames were from booster fire trucks sent from Caruthersville. The freight train, southbound, was powered by a diesel engine.

Accident About 5:30 a. m.

The accident occurred about 5:30 this morning.

Steele is approximately 14 miles southwest of Caruthersville.

Last Rites For Stanley Here Today

Funeral services for Forrester C. Stanley, 68 year old interim president of William Penn college who was found dead at his home Saturday, were held in the College Avenue Friends church this morning at 10:00 o'clock.

Services were conducted by the Rev. Lela Gordon, pastor of the Friends church, who was assisted by the Rev. Kenneth Elchenberger and Dr. Wendell Farr.

Prior to the services, over 50 members of the Penn community attended a memorial service in the Spencer Memorial chapel during which Raymond Binford praised Mr. Stanley's contributions to the college and Dr. Farr read a message of sympathy from President J. W. Ylvisaker on behalf of Luther college at Decorah.

Over 200 members of the Penn community attended the services at the church and a quartet composed of Mary Knight, Marvin Cooper, Almon White, and Jean Biaotto, accompanied by Flora Ostrem, furnished the music.

The bearers were Dr. E. B. Wilcox, Moses Hoskins, Roy S. Williams, Paul Hickman, Grover Hawk, and Walter Tatum with the trustees of William Penn college acting as honorary bearers.

Burial was made this afternoon in the family lot at Ackworth.

Decides Against Idea

But while the steel workers were rolling along toward total victory in their fight for fourth-round post-war benefits, John L. Lewis suffered another setback in his drive for a separate agreement with soft coal mine owners in the Illinois and Indiana fields.

He invited Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois to call a meeting of prairie state operators with United Mine Workers negotiators today.

Stevenson, however, said he had discussed the situation with Gov. Henry F. Schricker of Indiana and mine operators and had decided against the idea because "I can see no purpose that would be served by a meeting."

had made to draw the Hoosier prairie state mine owners separate negotiations apart those of national groups.

Lewis talked yesterday Stevenson via telephone in C where the mine chief con with his UMW policy comm reporting on negotiations of the strike and formulating strategy in the work stop The committee meeting con today.

ness judgment brought him the competency that enabled him to spend his last years in comfort. For two years before his death he had been an influential member of the Sabula City Council. He was baptized when a child in the Danish Lutheran Church, and was also a member of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows, being buried under the auspices of that order.

He was survived by his widow, who lives at Sabula, and of their seven children two daughters died in infancy and the son Frank in 1905, at the age of sixteen. The surviving children are: Mrs. J. H. Petersen, of Sabula; Le Roy, of Sabula; John Thomsen, Jr.; and Carl, whose home is near Teeds Grove.

John A. Thomsen, Jr., is a representative of the family who has made himself a factor in the business and financial affairs of the Teeds Grove Community. He was born on the home farm near that town June 1, 1896. His education was supplied by country schools, the Sabula High School and in 1915 he graduated from the Clinton Business College. After a year on his father's farm he entered the Teeds Grove Savings Bank, in 1917, as clerk. Later another year was given to farming, and since 1919 he has been cashier of the bank at Teeds Grove. He is a member of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows and the Methodist Episcopal Church.

Mr. Thomsen married, February 22, 1922, Miss Vera Jackson, daughter of William H. and Florence Jackson. Her parents were born in Iowa and her father was a farmer. Mr. and Mrs. Thomsen have two daughters, Myrna and Velma.

WILLIAM BRADLEY SOUTHWELL was an Iowa newspaper man, prominently associated for many years with the newspaper history of Des Moines and Burlington.

He was born in Sterling, Illinois, in 1862, son of Calvin Bradley and Lydia (Uhl) Southwell, his father a native of Vermont and his mother of Maryland. The family in 1873 located at Burlington, Iowa, where William B. Southwell attended high school and Elliott's Business College.

At the age of thirteen years he became carrier boy for The Burlington Hawk-Eye and from that time on no other business or occupation ever became a rival to his newspaper work. To it he gave a degree of loyalty and business ability that made him outstanding among Iowa newspaper men and gained for him a national reputation. After serving in various capacities from carrier boy to business manager of The Hawk-Eye, in 1904 Mr. Southwell became business manager of the Des Moines Register and Leader, and was active in the management of that great paper for thirteen years. In 1917 he decided to return to Burlington and bought a controlling interest in The Hawk-Eye, the newspaper of his first affiliation. He died February 16, 1920, and Mrs. Southwell continued to hold a controlling interest in the paper until 1928.

The late Mr. Southwell was an able and public spirited citizen. During the World war he organized the Belgium relief work in his section of Iowa, and for that service he received a gold medal from the King and Queen of Belgium. He was a trustee of the Burlington library board, was a Republican, a member of the Masonic fraternity, B. P. O. Elks, Rotary Club.

He married, in 1883, Miss Hattie A. Moore, who was born at Brighton, Iowa, daughter of Lemon and Sophia Ann (Shoe) Moore. Her father came to Iowa as a pioneer of the '30s and her mother some twenty years later. Her father died in 1872 and her mother, born May 14, 1838, now more than ninety years of age, continues to reside at the Southwell home, at 108 North Woodlawn Avenue, Burlington. Both Mrs. Southwell and her daughter, Edith Glenn, who also resides at the family home, are members of the Christian Science Church.

FORRESTER C. STANLEY, head of the department of chemistry at Penn College, Oskaloosa, is a native Iowan, a man of broad experience represented in numerous contacts with the life and affairs of the world, and in addition to his duties as a college man he is now a member of the Iowa State Senate.

He was born at Ackworth, Iowa, November 26, 1861, and is of English ancestry on both sides. His father, William G. Stanley, was also an educator and for some years was principal of the Friends Academy at Ackworth and afterwards engaged in banking. William G. Stanley married Rebecca E. Farmer.

Forrester C. Stanley graduated from high school at Indianola, Iowa, in 1899. Later he was a student in Simpson College at Indianola, completing his work there in 1907. He taught several years in the Indianola High School and for one year was engaged in graduate study at the University of Wisconsin, which gave him the Master's degree in chemistry in 1910. Prior to that time Mr. Stanley had spent several years in the study of law, and also has had considerable newspaper experience and he also understands the practical side of the farmer's life.

Mr. Stanley in the fall of 1910 was made instructor in chemistry at Penn College. After three years he was given a leave of absence and spent a year abroad, specializing in chemistry at the University of Berlin and also had three months of general European travel. On returning to the United States he resumed his work at Penn College as professor and head of the department of chemistry.

Mr. Stanley was elected a member of the Iowa State Senate in 1924, and was reelected in 1928. He represents the Fourteenth District, comprising Mahaska County. He is a member of the Iowa Academy of Science, the American Chemical Society, the Kiwanis Club. He and his family have active representation in the Friends Church and they constitute a prominent group in the social life of Penn College and Oskaloosa.

Mrs. Stanley is head of the Garden Club department of the Woman's Club and is much interested in the better homes movement.

Mr. Stanley married in July, 1913, at Beaver City, Nebraska, Miss Ada C. Whitney. She was born in Nebraska, daughter of William B. and Isabel (Prime) Whitney. She graduated from Simpson College of Iowa with the class of 1912, and before her marriage was a teacher in the public schools of McCook, Nebraska. Mr. and Mrs. Stanley have four daughters, Ellen Isabel, Kathryn, Margaret and Barbara.

JOHN BODENHOFER is not lacking in a full measure of popular confidence and esteem in his native city and county, as is evidenced by the fact that he served two terms as a member of the county board of supervisors and was then, in 1921, appointed county sheriff, in which office, by successive reelections, he has been retained to the present time. He is thus an efficient and popular member of the governmental official family of Jones County and has his executive headquarters in the courthouse at Anamosa, the county seat, in which city his birth occurred April 11, 1872.

Sheriff Bodenhofer is a son of the late Jacob and Rebecca (Soisbe) Bodenhofer, with whose names is associated a distinct measure of pioneer prestige in the Hawkeye State. Jacob Bodenhofer was born in Cincinnati, Ohio, in 1832, was reared and educated in the old Buckeye State and was about seventeen years of age when, in 1848, he severed the home ties and came to Iowa, where he found employment on a pioneer farm. He later studied law and gained admission to the Iowa bar, he having thereafter been engaged in the active practice of his profession at Anamosa for many years and having been one of the venerable and honored pioneer citizens of Iowa at the time of his death, which occurred in the year 1906, his wife having died in 1897, and having been a sister of Samuel Soisbe, who served as a representative in the Twenty-eighth Iowa Legislature. Rev. George Bodenhofer, grandfather of the present sheriff of Jones County, was a clergyman of the Christian Church and after coming to Iowa was here associated in the establishing of Cornell College, which is now one of the important and well ordered educational institutions of the state.

In the Anamosa public schools John Bodenhofer continued his studies until he was graduated in the high school and thereafter he was actively engaged in farm enterprise in his native county for a period of thirty years, he being at the present time the owner of two well improved farms in Jones County and this landed estate having an aggregate area of 300 acres. While still residing on his farm Mr. Bodenhofer served two terms as representative of his township on the county board of supervisors, and this office he resigned at the time of his appointment to that of county sheriff, in 1921. As sheriff he has given a signally loyal, circumspect and effective administration, and the popular estimate placed upon the same is shown in his continued retention of the office since the year mentioned.

The political allegiance of Mr. Bodenhofer is given to the Republican party, he and his wife have membership in the Methodist Episcopal Church, he is affiliated with the Masonic fraternity and the Knights of Pythias, and the Wapsipicon Country Club claims him as one of its appreciative and popular members.

October 26, 1893, marked the marriage of Mr. Bodenhofer to Miss Emma L. Manley, daughter of the late Thomas and Alice (Hannum) Manley, who were honored citizens of Jones County at the time of their death, Mr. Manley having been here the owner of a fine farm estate of 720 acres. Mr. and Mrs. Bodenhofer have three children: Helen is the wife of Roy Simpson, of Cedar Rapids, this state; Hazel is the wife of Philip Hammond, of Lisbon, Linn County; and Hylah is the wife of Ernest Towne, their residence being maintained on the old home farm of Sheriff Bodenhofer, near Mechanicsville, and Mr. Towne being in active charge of the place.

EDWARD F. BEEH is a native Iowan who has become a distinguished surgeon, and in that field his name is held in very high respect in Fort Dodge and that section of the state.

Doctor Beeh was born at Belle Plaine, Iowa, October 15, 1888. His parents, Henry and Frances (Nowotny) Beeh, were also natives of Iowa, and both are living at Belle Plaine. There is some interesting family history regarding the Beeh and Nowotny families. Before coming to America these families lived on the border between Germany and Hungary, Doctor Beeh's grandfather, Henry C. Beeh, living about fifteen miles from the Bohemian line, while John Nowotny was a Bohemian about ten miles from the German frontier. These two men knew each other, in fact, were quite intimate, and they both decided at the same time to come to America. They made the voyage across the ocean on the same boat. It was during the 1850s that they settled in Iowa, which was then a raw and new western state. Henry C. Beeh selected as his location some land in Benton County, while John Nowotny went to Iowa County. The oldest son of the Beeh family married the oldest daughter of the Nowotny family and later the oldest son of the Nowotny household claimed as a bride the oldest daughter in the Beeh family, and thus the friendship that had started in the old country was cemented by closer family ties. In Germany and Bohemia neither family had owned a great deal of land or other possessions, and the trip across the ocean required most of the money that they had, so that they started in Iowa as poor as the poorest of the pioneers who came to this side of the Mississippi River in search of new homes and new opportunities. They were thrifty and industrious, and both families owned large and
