ness of several months. He had been operating a lumber yard there the past three years.

He was educated in the public schools of Davis county and was a graduate of the State Normal School at Cedar Falls.

He taught in the rural schools and was superintendent of schools at Tracy, Battle Creek and Defiance.

After spending several years in the lumber business he was elected County Superintendent of schools in Van Buren county.

During the next five years he conducted a hardware and implement business at Pulaski and Bloomfield associated with his cousin Wilbur. He served two terms as state senator from Davis and Appanoose counties. After

Rigel McKnight, of near Houston, Texas; ten grandchildren, and seven great-grandchildren.
