Those in charge of the program feel that a dog cuddled brought up in a home with attention and love is tipped to be trained as a guide dog for the blind," Madeline said.

"I named my dog Cleo right when I brought her into the home and she sleeps at the foot of my bed. I don't know how I'm going to be able to give her up at the time comes. I guess I just have to take in another right away."

Before the program could begin, parents had to agree to allow the dogs into their homes.

"Daddy was a pushover," said Madeline. "And my four brothers and two sisters went for the idea right away. It took a little while to convince mother, but she finally went along."

"My father said that if this one works out okay, we'll get another one at the end of the nine months," she said. "All I can say is, we better."

E. W. CLARK

Ed Clark, noted city leader, dies

Edward W. Clark, 88, a long-time Mason City banking executive and former Iowa Insurance commissioner, died Sunday at Phoenix, Ariz., where he had planned to spend the winter.

Mr. Clark lived at 507 S. Shore Drive, Clear Lake, since his retirement. He had been ill for about a month immediately prior to his death.

Funeral services have been set tentatively for 2 p.m. Thursday in the sanctuary of the First Methodist Church of Mason City. Dr. George Truman Carl, pastor, will officiate, assisted by Dr. Lloyd A. Gustafson, former pastor of the church and now superintendent of the Aurora, Ill., district of the Methodist Church.

Visitation at the Patterson-James Chapel is to be from Thursday morning until noon and then at the church after 1 p.m.

The family prefers that any memorials be made for the Cerro Gordo County Chapter of the American Cancer Society.

Mr. Clark was born in Villisca, Iowa, June 12, 1876, the son of J. J. and Ida Belle Clark. His father was for many years judge of the 12th judicial district of Iowa and was one of the pioneer residents of Mason City.

Mr. Clark received his education in the Mason City public schools and in 1895 was graduated from the Mason City High School. He served six years as clerk of court for Cerro Gordo County from Jan. 1, 1907, to Jan. 1, 1913.

After giving up his position as clerk Mr. Clark became vice president of the Mason City Loan and Trust Co. The following summer he became the leading figure in the organization of the Security National Bank, which opened for business Aug. 1, 1913.

COPENHAGEN (AP) — Denmark's Communist party leader returned from Moscow Monday and said he understands Nikita Khrushchev is suffering from sclerosis.

Knud Jespersen, chairman of the Danish Communist party, added that the former Soviet premier is not receiving visitors because of his illness.

Jespersen made his remarks in a radio interview shortly before holding a news conference to announce the result of a fact-finding mission to viet capital.

The dictionary definition of sclerosis is: "induration (hardening) produced in an (increase of its interstitial connective tissue; also d (replacement of tis (the spinal cord or b (neuroglia (tissue which interstices and support-

Arabian king is dethroned

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — Saudi Arabia's King Saud was dethroned Monday and his brother, Crown Prince Faisal, was proclaimed king of the oil-rich desert state, Mecca Radio announced.

Information Minister Jamil Al Jujailan read a statement over Mecca Radio saying Cabinet ministers and religious consultative council, in joint session Monday morning, approved the dethronement of Saud, 62, and the proclamation of Faisal, 58, as the third monarch of Saudi Arabia.

The broadcast announced after the minister's statement that Faisal had accepted the decision.

The broadcast said nothing about Saud's future plans, but world the past few days said the ailing ex-monarch, who had been king since his father's death in 1952, may go to live

Reports of the impending change had swept the Arab world for several days in the wake of meetings of princes and religious leaders in Saudi Arabia.

Faisal was real ruler of the country since ailing King Saud was forced from power in late 1962.

According to reports in Beirut and Cairo, Saud's health has deteriorated gravely in the past few months, so that fears have been felt for his survival. In this situation, to avoid any new power struggle between factions in Saudi Arabia, Faisal was urged to take the throne.

Informants in Beirut, who recently returned from Saudi Arabia said ailing Saud will be free to keep his royal allowance and go to a European capital.

If he wishes to remain in Saudi Arabia, he will be permitted to do so, they added, but with

Mr. Clark was born in Villisca, Iowa, June 12, 1876, the son of J. J. and Ida Belle Clark. His father was for many years judge of the 12th judicial district of Iowa and was one of the pioneer residents of Mason City.

Mr. Clark received his education in the Mason City public schools and in 1895 was graduated from the Mason City High School. He served six years as clerk of court for Cerro Gordo County from Jan. 1, 1907, to Jan. 1, 1913.

After giving up his position as clerk Mr. Clark became vice president of the Mason City Loan and Trust Co. The following summer he became the leading figure in the organization of the Security National Bank, which opened for business Aug. 15, 1913, on the present site of Buttrey's apparel store at 6 South Federal. John Senneff was president, and Mr. Clark, cashier.

On Nov. 6, 1928, Mr. Clark was elected state senator from the 43rd Senatorial District, then made up of Cerro Gordo, Franklin and Hancock Counties. At that time the Republican nomination was tantamount to election and the real campaign for the office took place before the June primary election.

In a field of three candidates Mr. Clark was nominated with a large plurality. The Mason City vote was overwhelmingly for Mr. Clark.

Mr. Clark then became the leading figure in the organization of the United Home Bank and Trust Co., which opened its doors for business Aug. 31, 1936. He served as president and as chairman of the board until his death. The institution grew rapidly and has undergone several large expansions.

Mr. Clark also owned and operated for many years the E. W. Clark Co., which made and sold mortgages on homes.

He also was vice president of Higley Cold Storage, Inc., here.

Gov. Dan Turner appointed him insurance commissioner for a four-year term beginning July 1, 1931.

An attempt was made to disqualify him on the ground that he had been a member of the legislature which raised the insurance commissioner's pay from $4,000 to $4,500 a year.

Clark won the battle in the Iowa Supreme Court. Out of court, he said the Democratic administration of Gov. Clyde Herring was trying to get his job because he was a Republican. He held the post until July 1, 1935.

Mr. Clark was a veteran of two wars. He was sergeant of A. Company, 52nd Iowa Infantry, in the Spanish-American War. He served at Chickamauga, Ga., for 10 months in 1898 and 1899.

In World War I he was company captain, serving 21 months both at Camp Cody, N.M., and

Polls all say victory for LBJ; May be landslide

NEW YORK (AP) — The polls are unanimous. They point to victory for President Johnson Tuesday.

But Sen. Barry Goldwater says he'll win.

"I know the polls don't agree with me, but they never have," he said Friday night.

A nationwide Associated Press survey of polls showed figures indicating Johnson's percentage of the popular vote might approximate the 20th century highs.

The 20th century record is Franklin D. Roosevelt's 60.8 per cent of the vote in 1936 against Republican Alf Landon. Republican Warren G. Harding got 60.4 per cent in 1920. Dwight D. Eisenhower got 57.4 per cent in 1956.

The long election grinds to halt

WASHINGTON (AP) — The long, student election campaign comes to a close Monday with every indicator of a computerized, poll-conscious era pointing toward victory for President Johnson.

In 26 years of elapsed time, beginning at 11:01 a.m. CST Tuesday in some New England towns and winding up with the closing of polls in western Alaska, some 70 million Americans will choose a president, 25 governors, 435 House members and 35 senators.

Although he made no predictions on the extent of the victory he confidently expects, President Johnson obviously hoped STON (AP) — Seven-year-old Maria Elena Jijon of Quito, Ecuador — born with a crippling deformity and orphaned by a fire — Monday has a big smile that was a long time ago.

A doctor at Massachusetts General Hospital told Maria she will be home by Christmas and, if still, she'll be able to walk and run like other children.

Her eyes flashing, Maria looked to her guardian-uncle, Manuel del Camp, of Quito, and talked with him that "No hay que por bien no vengas" — there is no evil from which does not come.

Several doctors, headed by J. Brennan Lowell, assisted in the pediatric surgery at the hospital. They completed their services with two operations that corrected the dislocation of both hips which Maria was born with.

Three prominent Bostonians, headed by the child's deformity the loss of her parents in a fire on hotel fire, raised $12,000 for other medical costs. Insurance executive George Ritz said any money left will go to Maria's education. Her uncle said Maria Elena's father had scrimped and saved to take her to Florida for two operations four years ago. But her hips did not stay in the socket.

Her raising more money, Manuel del Campo, Fabian Jijon, and his wife, Lola, 34, bought their only daughter to London. For 10 days the three children in the Sherry Biltmore Hotel while Maria underwent surgery tests at Massachusetts General. On the 11th day, the child was admitted for surgery. That evening — March 28, 1963 — Mrs. Jijon died in the fire, which also killed two others. Dr. Schwartz said he read about the tragedy and "I immediately got on the telephone to solicit financial help."

tance thus perhaps heightened even if adoption is delayed.

Both the declaration on the Jews and the declaration on religious liberty caused trouble when the council debated them a month ago as annexes to the ecumenism schema.

The Jewish declaration, formerly a chapter within the schema on unity, had been recorded between the 1963 and 1964 council sessions. A statement exonerating Jews from blame for the Crucifixion was replaced by one saying only that Jews of today could not be linked with the events of Christ's execution.

Many bishops, including prominent American prelates, argued the council must absolve Jews from any notion of deicide. Other council fathers, especially from the Middle East, said that too strong a statement could cause trouble for Catholicism in Arab nations.

The debate on the religious liberty declaration centered on whether all men have the right to worship God according to the dictates of their conscience.

Progressive prelates argued they do. Conservatives said persons who hold erroneous religious beliefs, are worthy only of tolerance.

The Vatican's Christian Unity Secretariat is revising the two declarations on the basis of the debate.

The council has voted chapter-by-chapter approval of the ecumenism schema. It lays a groundwork for the entire range of Roman Catholic participation in the search for Christian unity, including Catholic participation in common prayer with non-Catholic Christians and inter-communion with Orthodox Catholics in special cases.

WESLEY—Mrs. Lou (Emma) Hauptman, 87, who had been a life-long resident of the Garner-Wesley area, died Saturday morning in a Britt rest home.

Funeral services were held at 10 a.m. Monday in St. Joseph's Catholic Church, with the Rev. R. W. Phillips in charge. Burial was in St. Joseph's Cemetery.

Mrs. Hauptman is survived by her husband; two sons, John, of Wesley, and Francis, Tucson, Ariz., and a daughter, Mrs. James Haverly, Wesley. Also surviving are two brothers, Lou and Henry Schleusner, Garner.

Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. Sunday in the St. Joseph's parish Hall. The Blake Funeral Home of Wesley is in charge.

Residents at Wolsburg, the first train stop in West Germany, greeted the tired but happy travelers from Leipzig. Red Cross nurses gave them refreshments.

Meanwhile, hundreds of thousands of West Berliners are going through the wall to visit relatives in the Soviet sector of divided Berlin. Nearly 100,000 with the necessary permits made the crossing Sunday.

The Communists opened the wall last Friday for the second time since it was erected in 1961. It will remain open until Nov. 12 in the first of four visiting periods during the next year.

security situation in the countryside and the Viet Cong's proven ability in swift night attacks, the Bien Hoa victory could be repeated.

The three biggest bases — Bien Hoa, Saigon, and Danang — have a number of things in common, all favoring the Viet Cong.

Each is surrounded at least in part by countryside where the guerrillas can find good cover. Large Red forces operate in the general area of all three despite repeated government operations against them.

"Air bases can't move and the Viet Cong literally can come in and survey the base from mortar position and drive marking stakes," an American artillery officer said.

The Communist raid stirred new talk in Washington of enlarging the war in South-Viet Nam.

U. S. officials said Monday that events seem to be moving toward a confrontation between the United States and Communist North Viet Nam, backed by Red China, on the issue of security and peace in Southeast Asia.

The whole situation seems certain to get urgent attention from President Johnson and his top military and diplomatic advisers in the weeks following Tuesday's presidential election.

money to seek office than they are receiving in personal contributions.

Pre-election statements filed with the House clerk, as required by law, show total contributions of $12,576 to campaigns of four Republican candidates and total expenditures of $14,884.

Democratic candidates in all seven Iowa districts reported $22,029 in contributions against $29,183 in expenditures.

These reports do not necessarily give a complete picture of campaign costs. Committees formed on behalf of candidates which operate solely within a state are not required to submit reports to Congress.

The following was reported from candidates running in the Third District.

Rep. H. R. Gross, R-Waterloo, $3,375 in contributions, including $1,700 from the National GOP Congressional Committee and $1,000 from the Iowa GOP Central Committee. Itemized expenditures of $3,375 were included. A notation reported that all other contributions (total $1,995) were turned over to the Gross for Congress Committee.

Stephen M. Peterson, D-Waterloo, $2,408 in contributions, nearly all of which came from the Committee for Peterson, for Congress. Itemized expenditures of $334 and $1,986 in the exempt category were reported.
