His car crashed less than a mile outside the Fort Dodge city limits. He lost control of his 1956 model auto on the slippery highway and skidded broadside into a big tree across from Treloar's.

Lamb, who had been seen in Fort Dodge 15 minutes before the accident, had said he was leaving for Algona. However, a heavy fog made visibility bad and a light drizzle coated the highway with ice.

Investigating officers said the car, owned by the oil company, skidded several feet and turned around completely before striking the tree. The right side of the car was crushed by the impact.

Car Skidded 100 Feet.

Lamb was still alive when officers arrived and was still in the auto. He died either enroute or shortly after arrival at the hospital.

It is believed there were no other autos involved in the accident, according to officers. They said Lamb's car skidded 100 feet and then struck the tree.

His wife, Jessie, with their 6-year-old kindergarten son, Danny, were visiting relatives at Dallas, Texas, at the time of the accident. They returned Friday night.

Services for Kenneth O. Busch, 36, of Gerled, were held Sunday at the Garry funeral home in Bancroft and the Bethany Evangelical and Reformed church in Ledyard. Rev. Victor Vriesen officiated and burial was in the Highland Home cemetery.

Busch is believed to have suffocated when pinned beneath his tractor several hundred feet off highway 9 on the blacktop road leading into Ledyard.

He left his farm near Gerled about 10:45 a.m. Wednesday and had just turned onto the blacktop when the accident occurred. The right wheels of his tractor and trailer, which was loaded with feed, slipped off the road and onto the frosty shoulder.

The tractor rolled over on its side. Busch was pinned beneath the left rear wheel, lying face down. Sheriff Ralph Lindhorst and Kossuth coroner Dr. John Schutter investigated.

Busch had just finished grinding the feed and was hauling it to the farm of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert West, who live a mile north of Ledyard. He also farmed that place.

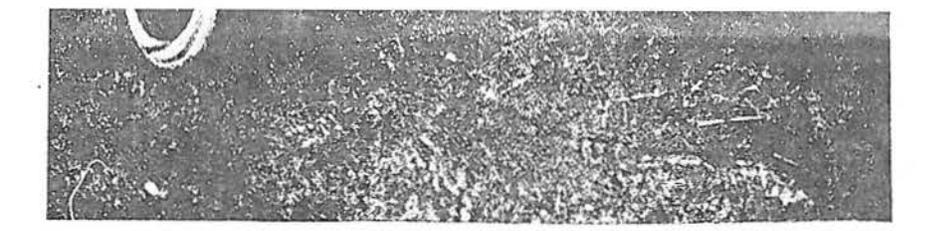

He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Busch of Ledyard and was born there on Nov. 13, 1920. He began farming for himself in 1942.

He was married to Edith Reaney of Waterloo on Nov. 29, 1942, and the couple had three children: Tommy, 12; Caroline, 11; and Robert, 8. All were at school in Ledyard at the time of the accident. His wife was teaching school at Swca City at the time.

Other survivors include his parents; four brothers, Myron, Melvin, and Leo, Ledyard; Leroy, Blue Earth; and two sisters, Wilma, Mrs. George McKinnon and Phyllis, Mrs. John Richardson, both of Ledyard.

Chris Reese, Veteran Newspaperman, Dies

Last rites for Chris Reese, well-known 75-year-old Algona printer, former editor and musician, were held Monday morning at the St. Cecilia's Catholic church in Algona with Father Dale Koster officiating.

Burial was in Calvary cemetery with Hamilton's funeral home in charge of arrangements. Serving as pallbearers were William Ludwig, M. F. Amfahr, Matt Weydert, Andrew Miller, Francis Froehlich, and Mike Elbert.

Mr. Reese died at 4 a.m. Saturday at the home of a daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Zender. He had been critically ill of cancer since last fall and had spent considerable time in Des Moines and Algona hospitals.

He had been cared for at the Zender home for the past several weeks. "Chris," as he was always known to friends, was born at Hovedgaard, Denmark on June 21, 1881 and came to this country with his parents at the age of ten.

The family settled in the Storm Lake area and he entered the newspaper field in 1906.

Chris found time for other activities besides his many newspaper activities, however. He was elected to the State Senate in 1932 and served during 1933 and 1934 and during a special session in 1935.

He was appointed to the state highway commission and later served as assistant state printer until 1939.

Professional Musician.

Chris was also a professional musician and was past president of the Iowa Federation of Musicians' Union. At one time, he had his own orchestra and played for the Marshalltown theatre during the old silent movie days.

While at Fenton and Whittetore, he directed the bands there during the summer vacation months. He was also band instructor at the Ochevedan high school while there in 1945-1947.

He was a member of the Knights of Columbus, Chalice Society, Moose Lodge, Iowa Press Columnists and Isaac Walton League.

Chris Reese, U-D-M Staff Member 12 Years, Passes

Chris Reese

Funeral services for Chris Reese, for all but two of the past 14 years associated with the Upper Des Moines Publishing Co., were held Monday morning at St. Cecilia's Catholic church here.

Mr Reese succumbed to cancer early last Saturday morning at the home of a daughter and son-in-law. Mr and Mrs Eugene Zender, where he had been taken following hospitalization at Des Moines and Algona. He was 75 years of age.

Father Dale Koster conducted the funeral Mass. Burial was in Calvary cemetery, with Hamilton Funeral Home in charge of arrangements.

Pallbearers were William Ludwig, Matt Amfahr, Matt Weydert, Andrew Miller, Francis Froehlich, and Mike Elbert.

Until last November, Chris maintained a regular schedule at the Upper Des Moines. His normal activity belied his actual age, and one of the delights of each paper was his column, "Ravings" which over the years had produced thousands of memberships in the National Association of Amalgamated Coffee Gulpers, and much good-natured banter for Chris.

Chris was born June 21, 1881, at Hovedgaard, Denmark. He came to the U.S. with his parents in 1891, and the family settled at Storm Lake. But the love of printer's ink was in his blood, and at an early age he found employment with the printing business in which he was to spend the remainder of his life.

Over the years he was associated with newspapers at Linn Grove, Remsen, Carroll, Marshalltown, Marcus, Fenton, Whittemore and Ochevedan.

While at Marshalltown he was also a radio commentator, and ran for the State Senate, being successfully elected in 1932.

In 1941 Chris was editing the Fenton Reporter. When a co-publisher of this newspaper entered military service, Chris came to Algona from Fenton to pinch-hit during the war. In late 1945 he had an opportunity to acquire the management of the Ochevedan Press, and moved there for a short time, but his years in Algona had at last found him the community which he loved and where he decided to spend his final years. He returned to the Upper Des Moines force in December of 1947.

Music was a joy to Chris, and he was himself a professional musician in his earlier days. He directed school bands at Whittemore, Fenton, Ochevedan, and a church band at Carroll, along with his newspaper work.

By nature Chris enjoyed people. Until the very latest weeks of his life he was an active participant in several organizations, among them the Knights of Columbus, Chalice Society, Moose Lodge, Izaak Walton League and Iowa Press Columnists. A Knights of Columbus delegation in full uniform attended the final services.

He is survived by his widow Margaret, and four children: Marian, Mrs Carl Seifried of Faribault, Minn.; Creston M. Reese, Columbus, Ohio; Donald M. of Tucson, Arizona; and Beverly, Mrs Gene Zender, of Algona. Four brothers, Nels, Peter and Henry of Portland, Oregon, and George of Spokane, and two sisters, Mrs Nettie Pigg and Alma Reese, Portland, Oregon, also survive.

West Of Park

The possibility of Algona as the site for a large U. S. Air Force radar station has been rumored again during the past few days.

Rumors, ranging from the exact site being already picked to the fact condemnation proceedings have begun, have been under discussion locally. The size of the rumored radar set-up has not been estimated, but many persons have it pictured like the huge metal ball station at Waverly, which at present is the only one in Iowa.

Here are the facts, to date. Surveyors, probably representing some branch of the federal government, contacted Gerald Rochleau, who lives on top of the hill west of the Call State Park, more than a year ago, and asked if they could look over his property. Permission was granted, and the men took about 15 minutes to look, mostly while in their car.

Rochleau heard nothing further on the deal, except that they would probably be back sometime in 1957. Instead, they returned last fall, this time setting up surveying equipment and taking a more thorough look at the area.

They told Mr Rochleau they had been scouting many other areas as possible sites for some sort of radar set-up, and were heading from here to Minneapolis, then Denver to look over others. According to Rochleau, the men indicated a radar installation might be set up somewhere in the southeast portion of Iowa, but that if there were further interest in a site here, Rochleau would be contacted.

Mr Rochleau was also asked if he would be willing to sell land necessary for the radar station, but no amount of land or price was mentioned.

During the time the men made their survey last fall, many persons drove by, stopped, and asked questions of them. The rumors apparently stem from the answers given by the surveyors.

Within the past several years, a strip starting in Canada and ending at the Gulf of Mexico, has been set up for close radar scrutiny in the nation's defense setup. This area's eastern edge is approximately along the western edge of Kossuth county, which may have some bearing on the study being made for additional radar sites. One such site is located at Granite Falls, Minn., north and a bit west of Algona.

There has been no definite attempt to establish such a station here, although the possibility of such an installation remains. Apparently no decision has been made.
