NORTH STAR.

Ora Penick and Flossie Marquis visited at Myrtle Carson's last Sunday.

Hazel and Fay Rodgers spent Saturday night with their friends Ruth and Bernice Marquis going from there to church at Pleasant View on Sunday.

Guy Funck and wife spent last Sunday at Frank Carson's.

Rob Carson went to Chariton last week and bought a nice new carriage. The whole family can go now, Rob says.

Mary Smith and daughter Sylvia are spending this week at Claud Smith's on the old home place.

Revival meeting every night this week at Pleasant View.

Harley Martin was trying his new auto Monday on the rough roads.

Perry and Dewey Martin who live north of Osceola, visited their friend, Rollin Sweemey, last Saturday and Sunday. They expect to move to Brush, Colorado, Monday or Tuesday of this week with their parents who have traded their farm north of Osceola for a farm near Brush where W. G. Hindes lives.

Starling Holt and wife went to Norwood last Saturday expecting to return Sunday but owing to the stormy weather they stayed until Monday.

Ben Cochran and wife were visiting at Seymour McComas' last Monday. They expect to move north of Osceola about the first of January.

Clyde and John Shinn have sold out their interest on the Adler farm to Mr. Adler and have moved back on the old Shinn farm south of North Star school house. We understand that a son of Dan Davis who has just moved here from So. Dakota will move on Mr. Adler's farm and feed cattle for him this winter. Here's hoping they can use a lot of the cheap corn in this neighborhood.

James W. Walters.

Died at the county home Thursday, December 4, 1912, James W. Walters, aged 91 years, 8 months, 6 days. Funeral services were held at the home on Friday, conducted by Elder J. W. Miller. Mr. Walters was born in Ohio in 1820; came to Lee county, Iowa, in 1835, thence to Marion county and from there to Clarke county about twenty-five years ago. At one time he was worth $60,000; was representative in the legislature from Marion county; also sheriff of that county, residing at Knoxville for a number of years. He was a member of the Methodist Episcopal church.

Death of a Child.

Edith Ellen Gibson was born April 14, 1910, and died December 4, 1912, aged 2 years, 7 months and 20 days. She was the seventh child of Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Gibson and in a family of eight children hers was the first death in the home.

Edith was just at the most interesting age of childhood and by her many bright and winsome ways she became the family favorite.

She had hardly been sick a day in her life until Saturday evening when she was taken with the croup and a severe cold settled on her lungs and brought on an acute attack of pneumonia which, together with the croupy condition from which she had failed to recover, proved too much for her strength and death came after a patient but losing battle for life, about 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. Everything was done that loving thought and the best care that nurse and physician could give but all to no avail and so we bow in submission to the inevitable and with faith in a loving Father who can make all things turn out for our good and for His glory and can make even the ruin wrought by death itself become a blessing, and with an abiding trust in our Savior who said "Suffer the children to come unto me and forbid them not, for of such is the kingdom of heaven." Let us look forward with "living hope" toward the reunion with our loved ones who have gone before throughout the endless ages of eternity where suffering or parting or crying is no more.

The sympathy of neighbors and relatives goes out to the entire family in their sad bereavement and the many beautiful flowers are but mute tokens of that love and sympathy.

The funeral services were conducted at the home Friday morning by Rev. S. A. Soxe and interment made in Maple Hill cemetery. ***

PLEASANT RIDGE.

Miss Mabel Wilson came home from Des Moines Saturday evening.

Mrs. Eva McComas visited over Sunday at Woodburn.

Rev. R. S. Tague will preach at Frame Sunday at 11 a. m. and 8 p. m.

Mr. and Mrs. Cook of Harrison, Idaho, visited last week with the latter's brother, J. J. McDaniel and family.

C. E. at 7 p. m. Sunday evening. Leader, Miss Dale Cellman.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hedrick visited Sunday at the Benbow home.

Mrs. E. E. Howe went to Indiana the last of the week to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Ellis.

Levi Oaks.

Levi Oaks, the subject of this sketch, was born in Meigs county, Ohio, September 26, 1844, and died in West Osceola, Iowa, December 3, 1912, his age being 68 years, 2 months and 7 days.

He was united in marriage to Elvira M. Sylvester September 16th, 1865. To this union were born four daughters, Mrs. Eva Smith of Osceola, Iowa; Mrs. Leilis Luce of Leon, Iowa; Mrs. Clara Oliver of Reed Point, Montana, and Mrs. Edith Ashby of Weldon, Iowa, all of whom with his aged wife survive him. He came to Clarke county, Iowa with his family in 1878.

The deceased was converted during a meeting held by the Rev. M. J. Sigler in February 1887, and was baptized into the fellowship of the Vernal Baptist church at Laclelle, Iowa. There were two verses in the third chapter of St. John's gospel that made a deep impression on his mind, the 16th and 17th verses. He very frequently spoke of God's great love to a lost and perishing world.

The funeral services were held at the late residence Friday morning, being in charge of Rev. F. Edwards of Osceola. A quartette gave forth beautiful strains of music well suited to the occasion. The attendance was large including relatives and close friends. Among the number were comrades of the Post of which the deceased was a worthy member. Many of the Relief Corps were also present. After services at the home the remains were taken to Maple Hill cemetery and were laid to rest by the use of the ritualistic service of the Post. Truly a good man has fallen. The bereaved family have and need the sympathy of a large circle of ardent and close friends.

F. EDWARDS.

Tullis-Hicks Nuptials.

Miss Winnie Pearle Hicks of this city and Mr. "Jack" Tullis of Decatur City, were married Saturday evening, December 7th. The ceremony took place at the home of Mrs. B. E. Rushing, the bride's sister, at Humeston, in the presence of a few relatives. Mr. and Mrs. Tullis will live at Decatur where the groom is interested with his brother in farming and stock raising. The worthy young couple have the congratulations and wishes of many friends for a long and happy life-journey.

Clarke County

Poor Farm

Previous to 1874 Clarke County's indigent poor were kept by individuals, at the expense of the county. In that year a tract of 200 acres of land was purchased on section 4, Osceola Township. The year following a large house was erected, capable of accommodating twenty to twenty-five persons. The whole cost was not far from $7,000. The farm is located three miles north of Osceola. The average number of inmates does not exceed eight, a remarkably good showing. It should be said, however, that the county still pursues, to some extent, the policy of having paupers kept by individuals--relatives, when possible.

Clarke County Farm.

Through the courtesy of the Board of supervisors and the kindness of superintendent Miller, of the Clarke county poor farm, the editor of the Democrat spent an interesting and profitable day at the County Poor Farm Thursday of last week. It was on the occasion of the inspection of the premises and property by the Board of Supervisors.

The county farm consists of a square tract of 160 acres of beautiful land about 3 miles north east of Osceola, in Osceola township adjoining the Fremont line. The county purchased the farm about thirty four years ago and have used it ever since as a home for the poor of the county who become county charges and are eligible for that institution. For the past fourteen years it has been under the management of superintendent Miller and his wife who live on the premises. Aside from the use of the farm, which is thoroughly worked each year, the increase in value of the property has been such as to make it a very advantageous investment for the county, as it is now well worth $100 an acre and would readily sell for that.

The first thing that strikes a visitor to the farm is the extreme neatness of appearance of every thing about the lawns, yards, orchard, and barns. Fences and gates were in perfect repair and order, and scrupulous neatness marked all the surroundings. The spacious barn, cribs and granaries were stored with a goodly supply of feed for stock and spoke well of the productiveness of the farm and its good management. The party spent most of the forenoon inspecting the stock on the place. There were over a hundred head of fine thrifty hogs of the Poland China breed, a large number of which were being fed for market. The cattle, about thirty or forty head, were mostly cows and heifers of the Short Horn variety, among them were some splendid specimens. All showed marks of good care and were thrifty. A number of horses and colts were in the same thrifty condition and were apparently well contented with the treatment they were receiving. The premises fairly swarmed with poultry, nearly always an indication of thrift and prosperity.

The noon hour having arrived the party was summoned to the dining room where Mrs. Miller had provided an elaborate and sumptuous dinner, to which all the company did ample justice.

After dinner the party was escorted over the house. In one wing Mr. and Mrs. Miller have their living apartment. There are accommodations in the pauper wards for 18 or 20 persons, but at present there are but 8 inmates, 4 women and 4 men. The men's quarters are in a frame building slightly removed from the main house.

It has a sitting room well warmed, with as sleeping rooms opening off. The utmost cleanliness prevailed in every nook and corner. The beds were clean and comfortable looking and provided with ample covering. Two of the inmates were aged men, and every appointment was such as to insure their comfort. the ward for women was on the second floor of the main house, and was especially home like and comfortable. A well warmed sitting room with sleeping rooms opening off constituted the ward. Opening from the hall was a large and well equipped bath room which under the regulations of the place is in frequent use. There seemed to be good ventilation throughout the house and scrupulous neatness and cleanliness were the conspicuous features. Such of the inmates as are able assist in the work about the house and premises but of those who are now there it was plain to be seen but little could be expected. There are no children at present in the Poor House.

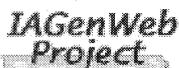

After going through the house the party walked over the farm. Fences were found in repair, the fields clean and clear of noxious weeds, all bearing evidence of careful cultivation. At least one hundred and thirty acres of the farm is smooth land well adapted for any kind of crops, while fifty acres is rolling and just the thing for pasture. On the whole condition of the farm stock and house was such as to please and gratify any citizen of the county, and makes it evident that whoever should succeed Mr. and Mrs. Miller in the management of the Poor Farm will have a high standard to maintain and will find it no easy job.

Probably the most interesting character among the inmates at the Poor Farm is the venerable James Madison Walters, who has made his home there for the past 5 years. Mr. Walters is now 88 years old, is tall, erect, and vigorous in body and intellect. His history is an interesting one ... [unfortunately the next 2 lines were completely illegible]... of fortune. In portions of his life he has had wealth, friends, political influence and official rank and prestige, yet he is spending his declining years in the poor house, waiting for the grim reaper.

Sixty-five years ago Mr. Walters settled on land in Marion county, Iowa, which he secured from the government. The early settlers of that time and vicinity selected him for his intelligence and enterprise as their first Justice of the Peace, and he exercised jurisdiction over a vast territory. When Marion county was organized, he was elected the first Sheriff of that county and served two terms. Afterward he was made postmaster at Knoxville, in which office he served several years. Subsequently he was sent for two terms as representative in the legislature from Marion county. Afterward he pursued a varied business life, at one time having considerable wealth. In later years he came to Clarke county living near Murray. One evening about five years ago he came walking to the poor house and asked for admission. He was an old man, then 83 years old, and he announced that he was through, was destitute, and must make that his home. From that time he has remained an inmate of the place. He keeps neatly dressed, is a ready and willing conversationalist, of intelligence and culture. With various old time acquaintances and with his few relatives he maintains regular correspondence. The success of no man's life can be accurately measured until its close.

Marion County Cemeteries

County Farm Cemetery

The Marion County Care Facility is located in Section 14, Township 75N, Range 20W about a mile southwest of the Knoxville city limits.

Burials were made on the grounds up until the early 1920's. There are no grave markers, and the exact location of the cemetery is not known. My mother-in-law worked there when she was a girl and she says the cemetery was "a little way southeast of the summer kitchen." The original home has been replaced with a nice modern facility and it could possibly be situated on top of the cemetery.

The list of burials below is the result of my research. There are probably many more buried there. The information was taken from the following resources:

Funeral Home Records
 Obituaries
 Marion County Death Records
 Family records

For some of the burials, I do not have absolute proof they are buried here. I have tried to site my sources in the notes.

Walters Cemetery

Walters Cemetery
(town of Pershing in background)

The Walters Cemetery is located in Section 34, Township 75, Range 19 near the present town of Pershing in Marion County, Iowa. The original size of this family burying ground was about 66' X 165'. However, it is now about 40 feet square. There was once a 16' lane leading from a county road G 62 to the cemetery. The cemetery is now land-locked by surrounding farmland.

Conrad Walters and wife Sarah deeded the cemetery to the trustees of the Methodist Church of Knoxville Circuit on August 27, 1855. Possibly there was once a church at this site.

During the fall of 2004, my husband Ronald and I restored this cemetery. We probed the entire area trying to locate missing stones and reset all the stones that were available. The cemetery has not been maintained for many decades and has been over run by cattle and farm machinery. Many of the stones were in several pieces and hard to read. Some stones that were there when the cemetery was read in 1976 are now missing. Hopefully, what is left of the cemetery will be maintained in the future.

This list is the result of reading the stones and some research. Also, descendants of the Walters family provided some information. Anyone having additions or corrections to this list is encouraged to contact me.
