Handicappers gather for fall activities at Winkelman farm

The First Fruits of Harvest 1984's theme "Let's Pull Together-Forward and Upward" was particularly appropriate this year as guests and volunteers at Winkelman Farm in Lohrville, united in a successful effort to provide meaningful outdoor activities for a larger number of people than usual.

Guests included handicappers and staff from Calhoun County Care Facility, Calhoun County Trainable Class, Greene County Care Facility, Howard Activity Center, Humboldt Workshop and Group Home, Midwest Challenge Safe House, New Hope Village, Webster County Care Facility and staff from Younker Rehabilitation Center.

The Sept. 22 event began at 11 a.m. with the wedding of Betty Bolton and Bill Winkelman. Music was provided by a New Hope Village sextet and Grace and Glory Chapel. The couple exchanged vows they had written themselves and planted a tree symbolizing their unity and their future mission together.

Following the wedding was a feast, pony driving, grain grinding, animal handling, natural food cooking, art participation and gospel sing-alongs.

Visitors, special guests and volunteers all enjoyed the rural surroundings of First Fruits of Harvest. These surroundings are a key element of Farm Environmental Therapy, the Christian renewal program developed at Winkelman Farm. In addition to First Fruits held in September, other annual events with the handicapped are Basics time in February and wagon Train camp meeting in June. Another part of the program is a guest exhibit at the FFA's Grandfather's Farm each August throughout the Iowa State Fair.

Anyone wanting further information or wishing to assist in any way may contact Bill and Betty Winkelman, Lohrville, 712-465-2123 or Renee Wilson, Special Events Coordinator, Farnhamville, 712-462-3340.

Dear Friends,

We would be pleased if you could join us at 11 a.m., September 22nd, 1984, on Winkelman Farm, west of Johnville, Iowa, as we celebrate, in Christian love, the exchange of our wedding vows.

First Fruits of Harvest is the setting of our celebration so that you, our family and friends, can share in the direction that our lives together will take. First Fruits is one of our events using Farm Environmental Therapy to help brighten others' lives.

Following the wedding will be a feast (hot-luck style) and other activities which are part of our handicapped events. As is customary with First Fruits, all activities will be outdoors, so you may wish to bring a lawn chair and/or blanket.

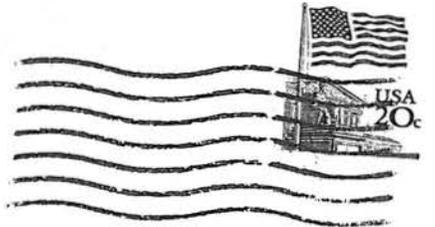

Love,

Betty Bots ^{Love,} Bill Winkelman
