Closing Hours of the Session A Tragic Termination.

Yesterday afternoon the Reunion Assembly met at 2 o'clock, and soon after the members were in their places the Senate and House and the Twenty-first Assembly were announced: Governor Larrabee, Governor Gear, Lieutenant-Governor, Hull and Speaker Head were conducted to the platform and the members scattered themselves about the room. Addresses were made by ex-Senators Clarkson, Hawkins Taylor, and others and finally by Speaker Head, who closed by presenting to Mr. Taylor, in behalf of the House the sitting Assembly a handsome gold-headed cane. Other addresses followed until the grand pleasure of the reunion was broken by the sudden DEATH OF JUDGE MITCHELL.

He was in the midst of a recital of the doings of the Ninth General Assembly, of which he was a member, and had just entered upon an eulogy of the Iowa soldiery, among whom he had been enrolled, and with whom he had battled, when his voice suddenly dropped to a low tone and remarking, "I fear I have been talking too long," and fell to the floor. After one or two moans he was a corpse. When this fact was made known the Assembly instantly adjourned, Speaker Duncombe appointing Judge George G. Wright, Judge Noble and Hon. L. L. Resolved, That in the death of Judge Mitchell this assembly recognizes a sad and sudden close of a most useful, valuable and active life. He was a legislator commanding universal respect for his probity, his industry, and for his fine legal ability. As a soldier, ever true to his high trust, loyal to the flag—his last words as death fixed its grasp upon him, "I love the Union, I love Iowa, and I love Iowa soldiers," fully reflecting his devotion and his love for his former loved comrades. As a jurist, commanding the respect of the people, the confidence of the bar, able pure and upright, and in his death Iowa mourns a true man—Nebraska an honored and loyal citizen; and this assembly one whom we were all glad to greet, and his untimely death serves most solemnly to impress upon us the uncertainty of life, the nobility of his nature and his love for us and the country which he so well served and battled to save.

Resolved, That this resolution be spread upon the records of this reunion, and copies furnished the papers for publication, and that a duly and properly engrossed copy thereof, signed by the President and attested by the Secretary, be forwarded to his family with our sincere condolence to them in their sad and irreparable loss.

Addresses eulogistic of the life and character of the deceased were delivered by Judge Reed, Col. J. W. Lake, Chancellor Ross, Col. W. W. Wilson and Mr. F. W. Lehman,

The resolutions were adopted by a rising vote and in silence.

A committee of six members of the Reunion Assembly were appointed to accompany the remains to Nebraska City for interment, and the Assembly adjourned to meet again in four years, the next reunion to include the Twelfth and Thirteenth General Assemblies and all prior to them.

DROPPED DEAD.

Had Termination of the Session of Iowa Lawmakers at Des Moines— Judge Mitchell, of Nebraska Drops Dead while Delivering the Closing Address.

DES MOINES, IA., Feb. 25.—The reunion of the pioneer legislators of Iowa, which convened here yesterday, terminated to-day under most sad circumstances.

Toward the close of the afternoon session Judge Mitchell, of Nebraska, a former citizen of Iowa and distinguished Iowa soldier, was delivering one of the most beautiful and touching addresses made during the session. He was about concluding his remarks, when in the middle of a sentence of which his last words were "I love Iowa people and Iowa soldiers," when he suddenly sank into his seat. It was first supposed he had only been seized by a momentary faintness. Physicians who were in the room immediately hastened to his side, and when they made the announcement that he had expired the audience were almost panic stricken. His death is attributed to heart disease. Memorial services were held this evening, addressed by his former law partner, Fred Lehman, of this city and by several prominent citizens of the state.

Judge Mitonell was 50 years of age. He represented Fremont county in the ninth general assembly of Iowa. He removed to Nebraska eleven years ago, and at the time of his death was Judge of the second judicial district of that state.

THE LAST REUNION.

THE OLD LAWMAKERS CLOSE THEIR REUNION WITH MEMORIAL EXERCISES.

The Resolutions of Respect Over the Death of Judge Mitchell—The Meeting at the Grand Opera House Last Night—Several Fine Speeches.

The Pioneer Lawmakers.

Yesterday afternoon the senate and house visited the old lawmakers reunion at Foster's opera house in a body. A message was read from ex-Governor Gear. The message is too long for reproduction, so only a few closing sentences are subjoined.

Pioneer councilors, senators and representatives: Your pleasant reunion will soon be among the things of the past; and you will have returned to your homes in different portions of the state and beyond its borders to distant parts of the country. As you go, I doubt not you will take with you pleasant recollections of this gathering. You laid the foundations of the commonwealth broad and deep, and the structure grows commensurate with those foundations. Around you everywhere are evidences bewildering beyond the vagaries of the dreamer of the magnificence of that structure. May you in the providence of God be spared for many years to come to witness the development the future has in store for us, grander let us hope, than even that of the brilliant past. And in all this continued development the people of Iowa will cherish with increasing pleasure and pride the memory of your efforts in her foundation and growth.

Mr. C. F. Clarkson was then introduced, and addressed the meeting for 20 minutes. Mr. John Russell, Senator Hibbard, Ex-Senator Boardman and Lieutenant Governor Hull each delivered short addresses. Speaker Head was called for. He closed his address by saying:

This great growth and development, happiness and prosperity, is due in a great measure to the wise, just and equitable legislation of the pioneer legislators, who are here assembled, and as distinguished services merit the approval and commendation of any people, I, in behalf of and for the house of representatives of the Twenty-first general assembly, tender to you, pioneer legislators, grateful thanks for the noble part you have performed in the development of this great state. As a slight testimonial of our appreciation and a token of respect to one of the oldest legislators here to-day, the house of representatives have requested me to present to the Hon. Hawkins Taylor, one of the territorial members of the council, this cane, and with it their kind regard and highest esteem, trusting it may, in some measure, express their regard and be by you esteemed as a souvenir of this memorable occasion, and a sustaining comfort in your declining years. Accept, venerable sir, this token of our esteem, and may many years of happiness be in store for you; and may you, sir, live to see Iowa, now one of the brightest jewels in the diadem of states, wear a still brighter crown of prosperity.

As he closed his tribute, Speaker Head presented Mr. Taylor with an elegant gold headed cane, the entire audience greeting this with round after round of applause. Mr. Taylor responded in a most feeling manner, calling forth an appreciative response from his hearers. Judge Mitchell of Nebraska was next called for. He arose in his seat and said:

We have heard much about the wonderful growth of Iowa, but God had put here the fruitful seeds of promise and all that was needed was the American character to In the great American desert everywhere are springing up sister states, born from the wilderness, but destined to future great-

The resolutions were adopted by a rising vote.

Judge Mitchell of Des Moines, and Judge Reed delivered short address upon the life and works of their departed brother. Mr. F. W. Lehman paid a beautiful tribute to the memory of his friend. On motion a committee consisting of W. W. Wilson, Alfred Hebard, B. D. Kellogg, W. S. Dungan, Charles Aldrich, Justus Clark, was appointed to accompany the remains home. The meeting then adjourned after singing "The Sweet By and By."

Captain J. L. Mitchell, who died so suddenly yesterday afternoon, was well known to the oldest men of the state, especially to those of western Iowa. He was born in Henry county, Indiana, in 1834, and came to Iowa in 1857, settling at Sidney, in Fremont county. He held for one term the office of clerk of courts, and was elected to the legislature as a war democrat in 1861. In 1862 he entered the army, joining the 29th regiment of Iowa infantry, being chosen first lieutenant of company E. While his regiment was in camp at Council Bluffs he served in the extra session of the ninth general assembly and left the legislative halls to join his regiment in the field. He was soon promoted to the captaincy, in which position he served until seriously wounded at the battle of Saline river, where a minnie ball passed clear through his leg. Here he barely escaped capture but succeeded in reaching the union lines. He was subsequently appointed on detached duty and was placed in command of the post at Jackson, Michigan, and afterwards at Louisville, Kentucky. Resigning his commission and returning to Sidney he studied law with his brother-in-law, Hon. J. A. Harvey, has grown to be very great. Judging from the present outlook this grand total will be largely increased during the coming year.

The Black Diamonds of the South Side will probably be in the field this summer, at least we hope so. A club which has made such a fine showing should have the support of all lovers of base ball. The club have excellent grounds, and now talk of fencing them in, thus making the finest ball grounds in the state.

The English cutter Galetea, which is to contest for the America's cup, is still in the docks at Southampton, Eng. Her owner (Lieut. Henn. R. N.,) has lately been on board several times, as also her designer. (Mr. Beaver Webb,) and the report is that she will soon commence to receive extensive alterations with regard to her ballast plan.

At least four colleges have professional coaches this winter. Jim O'Rourke is mentor for Yale's ball tossers; Lynch of the "Mets," has the Princeton candidates in charge; Boyle of St. Louis is telling the boys of the University of Pennsylvania how to play ball, and Jim Mutrie is running the national game at Columbia College about as he pleases.

The Philadelphia Record says that Jack Fogarty was not hurt so badly in his fight with Jack Dempsey as most accounts reported him to be. He was badly cut about the mouth and bled quite freely, which made him appear hurt worse than he was. Dempsey's injuries are far more serious than Fogarty's. Dempsey could hardly stand straight the day after the fight for pains in his body where Fogarty pounded him.

We may say that we are disgusted with the prospects of a ball club being organized in this city. We have used every means and tried our utmost to induce some one to take hold of the project but without success. A great many say "If some one will organize a good club we will help support it." Oh, yes, talk is cheap but it takes something more to start a ball club. It is our opinion that if some one would call a meeting and lay plans before it for a base ball club, something might be accomplished, otherwise nothing will be done.

We have heard much about the wonder-ful growth of Iowa, but God had put here the fruitful seeds of promise and all that was needed was the American character to bring about this phenomenal development. In the great American desert everywhere are springing up sister states, born from the wilderness, but destined to future greatness. In one of them, just across your border, I now have the honor to reside; but that residence and the love it brings have not detracted from the affection which I have for the state of my birth. I never forget that I am a citizen of the great Republic, and I have always been proud of my patriotism and heroic devotion to my country. But, gentlemen, I have already spoken too long.

The fact that 2,745 races were run over the various race tracks in the Union during the year 1885 shows plainly that the interest in running races in this country has grown to be very great. Judging from the present outlook this grand total will be largely increased during the coming year.

Dr. Caldwell, who was near the stricken man, realized the full extent of the calamity, and announced that "Judge Mitchell is dead." Word was sent to Mr. J. B. Harvey, a brother-in-law. Mr. Grinnell kindly offered the use of the Grand Opera House for a memorial service. In the evening there was a large audience at the opera house. The exercises were opened with prayer by Rev. Thomas Merrill, and Judge Noble then repeated the following resolutions.

Resolved, That in the death of Judge Mitchell this assembly recognizes a sad and sudden close of most useful, valuable and active life. He was a legislator, command-universal respect for his probity, his in-dustry, and for his fine legal ability. As a soldier, ever true to his high trust, loyal to the flag—his last words as death fixed its grasp upon him, "I love the Union, I love Iowa, and I love Iowa soldiers," fully re-flecting his devotion and his love for his former loved comrades. As a jurist, com-manding the respect of the people, the confidence of the bar, able, pure and up-right, and in his death Iowa mourns a true man—Nebraska an honored and loyal citizen; and this assembly one whom we were all glad to greet, and his untimely death serves most solemnly to impress up-on us the uncertainty of life, the nobility of his nature and his love for us and the country which he so well served and bat-tled to save.

We may say that we are disgusted with the prospects of a ball club being organized in this city. We have used every means and tried our utmost to induce some one to take hold of the project but without success. A great many say "If some one will organize a good club we will help support it." Oh, yes, talk is cheap but it takes something more to start a ball club. It is our opinion that if some one would call a meeting and lay plans before it for a base ball club, something might be accom-plished, otherwise nothing will be done.

Captain J. L. Mitchell, who died so sud-denly yesterday afternoon, was well known to the oldest and most prominent people of those of western Iowa. He was born in Henry county, Indiana, in 1834, and came to Iowa in 1857, settling at Sidney, in Fremont county. He held for one term the ofdered half-breed. The Indian came into the court singing the death song. The judge ordered him to desist and seated him by his counsel with an Indian girl for interpreter. Wilson made the point that the defendant was an Indian and not amenable to the federal criminal laws, which view Judge Dunn upheld and the red man was acquitted, and the poor fellow declared he needed to live with his lawyer. The judge poured out a flood of other interesting recollections, saying among other things he had a right to be a Baptist or Campbellite, for he had been baptized in every stream in northern Iowa. In closing the judge said there was something sweet even in the recollections of disappointed hopes, for the friendship of the old pioneers each for each was indissoluble.

A vocal selection was rendered and Hon. S. M. Weaver, of the present house, was called out and made a brief speech full of filial respect for the pioneer law-makers. Senator Scott bore testimony to the worth of the late Senator Woolson, and asked for his son, then present Senator from Henry, James L. Mitchell, now a Nebraska judge, said he was the youngest member of the ninth. That body could be proud of its work for the Iowa volunteers in the field. That body also passed and repealed a dog law. He had been detailed from his regiment to attend the extra session. Iowa is a magnificent state, evolved by God's creative hand and by the American character. But states grow anywhere, grain, cheap land and American enterprise. "I love Iowa soldiers." The speaker dropped to the floor and instant confusion arose out of friendly curiosity. Senator Caldwell, a physician, was near by and went to his assistance. Hon. A. C. Fulton, of Davenport, undertook to speak, with the intention of helping to preserve order, but could make no headway against the confusion. Motion was made that a recess be taken. Dr. Caldwell opposed, and Hon. J. B. Grinnell said Judge Mitchell was probably dead. The natural confusion incident to this shocking announcement could not be controlled longer, and Judge Noble proposed to adjourn till evening to take action regarding the deceased, Dr. Caldwell having said the judge was undoubtedly dead. Mr. Grinnell said he had been announced to speak at the Grand in the evening, and would take the responsibility of inviting the old legislators to meet them, which was agreed to, and the audience filed out slowly, leaving those who had known Judge Mitchell best to care for his remains.

Inquiry among those remaining developed that Judge Mitchell was captain of company E, Twenty-ninth Iowa volunteers, and was a brother of Mrs. J. A. Harvey, of this city. At one time he resided in Des Moines and was law partner of F. W. Lehman, of this city. He was in the house in the Ninth general assembly, and took a furlough to attend the extra session of that body. He was badly wounded at Jenkins' ferry, Ark. He settled at Nebraska City after the war, and his death creates a vacancy in the judgeship second judicial district of Nebraska. He was twice married, and leaves two daughters by his first wife, and one by his second. He was 50 years old and of stalwart frame and imposing mien.

EVENING SESSION.

The meeting adjourned from Foster's era house to the Grand opera house and was called to order by the president of the assembly of Pioneer Legislators. On the stage were Gov. Larrabee, Judge Reed, Judge Noble and several other members of the assembly. The president announced that owing to the sad occasion on which the assembly met the usual rules would be suspended with prayer.

The committee appointed to prepare resolutions expressing of the feelings of the JUDGE J. E. MITCHELL.

A Brief Sketch of the Distinguished Citizen--A Brave Soldier and a Devoted Husband and Father.

Captain J. L. Mitchell who died so suddenly yesterday afternoon at the session of the legislative reunion, was well known to the oldest men of the state, especially those of western Iowa. He was born in Henry county, Indiana, in 1834, and came to Iowa in 1857, settling at Sidney in Fremont county. He held for one term the office of clerk of courts, and was elected to the legislature as a war democrat, 1861. In 1862 he entered the army, joining the 20th regiment of Iowa infantry, being chosen first lieutenant of company E. While his regiment was in camp at Council Bluffs he served in the extra session of the ninth general assembly and left the legislative halls to join his regiment in the field. He was soon promoted to the captaincy, in which position he served until seriously wounded at the battle of Saline river, where a minnie ball passed clear through his leg. Here he barely escaped capture but succeeded in reaching the union lines. He was subsequently appointed on detached duty and was placed in command of the post at Jackson, Michigan, and afterwards at Louisville, Kentucky. Resigning his commission and returning to Sidney he studied law with his brother-in-law, Hon. J. A. Harvey, removing to Nebraska City in 1875. In 1879 he was in the Nebraska legislature and was one of the leading spirits of that body, holding the position of chairman of the railroad committee. He was a delegate to the national republican convention in 1880. In 1885 he was appointed district judge and at the general election of that year the appointment was ratified by the voters of the district. Judge Reed, who knew him well for many years, said at the memorial services last evening that as an advocate he was without a peer in the Thirteenth judicial district. All who knew him bore testimony that he was a man of the highest character, kind, considerate and honest, and of great abilities. Never asserting himself, the honors that life brought, the high positions to which he was called were the voluntary tributes to his merit bestowed by those that knew his worth. His death made most impressive this reunion of Iowa's pioneer law makers and the meeting of last evening in his honor showed the deep feeling his death created.

Mr. Mitchell married a daughter of Col. E. S. Hedges, county judge of Fremont county, just before entering the war. His wife died in 1876 leaving him two grown daughters. He married again a couple of years ago to an estimable and accomplished lady of his native state, who now mourns the loss of a most devoted husband and a loving father to her infant son. Deceased was conscious of his near approaching call and often spoke of it to his intimate friends. Yesterday he told his sister, Mrs. J. A. Harvey, that he regretted that his wife would not permit him to talk to her on the subject, as he felt it was near at hand. He gave her briefly his wishes in regard to his children, and asked her to see that they were followed in case he should be summoned suddenly. While at the Adjutant-General's office last evening, he remarked to his friend, Mr. W. W. Wilson, of Lincoln, Nebraska, that he would not be present at the reunion.

Thirteen special warrants were placed in the hands of officers this morning, to search places on both sides of the river. The keeper of a drug store on East Thirteenth and Walnut, claims that the officers searched his place and took all his liquors, although he had a board of supervisors' permit, and also a druggist's license.

Samuel C. Mott, representing the Jeffreys-Lewis Co., which appears next Thursday, is in the city to-day. This is the first appearance of that talented and brilliant lady in Des Moines, who has been trained in the histrionic art by three years as leading lady in Wallack's theater and two years as leading lady at Daly's theater. The eastern papers are full of her successes and the St. Louis Post-Dispatch says that she has more passion than Modjeska and more magnetism than Clara Morris.

The Des Moines Blue Ribbon club will hold its first anniversary to-morrow evening at 7:30 in the Presbyterian church, corner Eighth and High streets. Governor Larrabee, Lieut. Gov. Hull, Senators Donnan, Clark, Glass, Representative Finn, Dr. E. R. Hutchins, Rev. Dr. A. L. Frisbie and others will make short addresses. The singing will be led by the Presbyterian church choir and Drake University double male quartette. There will be a union service of the city churches and all are cordially invited.

An Iowa prophet predicts a great storm period, commencing about the 25th inst., (yesterday) and continuing with intermissions for nearly a month. The heaviest of these storms, he says, would occur about February 15th and March 3d, 4th and 15th, and will be the heaviest over the lakes and eastern states. These storms probably will be accompanied by very heavy rains, and by melting the snow in the mountains may produce a great flood in the Mississippi Valley. The southern and southeastern storms will be very dangerous to all kinds of business.

Appropriate services were held last evening at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Harvey over the remains of Judge James D. Mitchell. Rev. Stewart and Rev. Miller, conducted the ceremony which was of the most solemn and impressive character. Shortly after nine o'clock the remains were conveyed to the C. & O. depot to be transferred to their final resting place at Sidney Ia. The cortege consisted of ten carriages of friends and relatives of the deceased. A special coach was tendered to the friends and relatives who accompany the remains to Sidney. The following committees from the Senate and House were also in attendance: Senators Carson,

POLLS CLOSE AT SIX.

IF YOU WAIT TILL THAT HOUR YOUR VOTE WILL BE LOST.

Go to the Polls Monday Morning if Possible But be Sure Not to Wait Too Long.

The polls will close Monday evening at 6 o'clock. This is the law on city elections and the judges cannot receive votes after that hour. The people who want to see Fullerton elected and the low tax policy inaugurated should bear this in mind. It is every citizen's duty to vote. It is a safe rule to vote in the morning if possible. The polls open at 9 o'clock. Try and be there then, and be sure you don't lose your vote by going too late.

The Register this morning shows that it has a sour stomach and being obliged to relieve itself of some bile, strikes aimlessly at somebody, presumably the News, and berates us soundly and in its old time fashion for abusing Mr. Felton, the candidate for city engineer. If the sore and disgruntled organ, which is so very, very mad, will step across the street we will furnish it a nail to bite, and also furnish it back numbers of the News to read by which it can see that this paper has never had a word against Mr. Felton, whom it respects as a gentleman and knows as a competent engineer. The Register has done a good many fool things in the days of its recent defeat, but we fail to see why it should intimate that the News is unjustly slandering Mr. Felton, when we have not breathed a word against that gentleman.

A series of lectures has been arranged by the United Brethren church on the East Side for the purpose of building a church. On Saturday evening, March 13, J. P. Doherty of Ft. Dodge will deliver his oration on "Public Virtue as a Political Question." On Monday evening, the 15th, Bishop E. B. Kephart of Toledo will deliver an address on the "Wisdom of the Ancients." Rev. J. W. Geiger, on Tuesday, the 16th, will speak on "The Bright Side," and on the evening of Thursday, the 18th of March, Rev. A. L. Frisbie will give his noted lecture on a "Trip to Alaska." Tickets for the course will be $1. The dedication services of the new church will be held on Sunday, March 14, conducted by Bishop Kephart and Dr. W. M. Beardshear of Toledo and Presiding Elder Rev. Geo. Miller.

The enemies of Mr. Fullerton who circulate the rumor that Mr. Littleton is to be appointed marshal, in case he is elected should remember that the city council must confirm the mayor nomination of marshal before he can serve. And it is hardly reasonable to suppose Mr. Fullerton will present the name of any man who would surely be rejected by the council. The opposition to Mr. Fullerton on the Littleton rumor is to force him to commit himself through the newspapers as bitterly opposed to Littleton and his following hoping thereby to alienate the temperance people. But Mr. Fullerton is too sensible to be caught in such a trap.

AMUSEMENTS.

'COMEDY OF ERRORS' AT THE GRAND.
The above play was presented at the Grand Opera house last night by Robson and Crane. The audience was one of the largest of the season, and the favorites were greeted with considerable enthusiasm. The special scenery and mountings are elegant, and every thing was in perfect keeping with the age in which the play is represented. Of course Robson and Crane were the life of the play, yet they were ably supported by several clever artists. The play will be represented again to-night.

A VERY EXCITING PARLIAMENTARY CIRCUS WILL BE SEEN TUESDAY.

Gladstone's Silence Begins to Grow Theatrical—Bismarck's Prusso-Polish Theory Reviewed by an American—Other Old World Notes.

LONDON, Feb. 28.—Londoners are regretting that next Tuesday night's session of the house of commons cannot be held at the Royal opera house or in some hall where a reasonable fraction of the great number who wish to witness the proceedings could gain admission. Sexton's motion of censure upon Lord Churchill for advising the Orangemen of Ulster to be ready for war if home rule were granted, is expected to come up and will certainly arouse an exciting interchange of hostilities between the fiery young tory and the cool headed, sharp tongued member for Sligo. People are looking forward to it very much as to a circus or prize fight, and envying the few who have been able to get tickets to the strangers gallery. There will of course be a mere exhibition of the fireworks of debate which can have no bearing upon the final outcome of the Irish problem. We are as much in the dark as we were a week or a month ago as to what the outcome will be.

Gladstone's silence is beginning to have something theatrical in it. It is beginning to be said that the plan which requires so much time and thought and caution ought to prove preternaturally brilliant when at last announced to a waiting people. On the other hand, there is an unpleasant rumor that the premier's ingenuity is being less ingeniously employed and that he is formulating a measure keeping the word of promise to the home rulers' ears, but breaking it to their hopes. The believers in the report surmise that the government's bill will be so involved, so intricate, and so full of provisions of doubtful construction than in its practical operation it will amount to a long postponement of the result hoped for by the Parnellites, and which Gladstone would, it is believed, gladly seek to bring about at once if he thought his party strong enough to force it through parliament. If there is any foundation for this report it simply means a long debate upon a complicated measure, its final rejection, and its adroit use in the next popular canvass to catch votes for a stronger liberal majority in the next house of commons. One construction is being put upon it in Ireland and a somewhat different one in England. If, as some assert, Salisbury's leaving England for the south at this time implies a prolonged voluntary retirement from public life, there can be no doubt as to the result of such an election. Gladstone would have almost a walkover.

A member of the American legation in London was asked to-day what he thought of Bismarck's theory that by offering the Germans land in the Prusso-Polish provinces he will check the emigration of his discontented fellow countrymen to America. The attache replied that he considered the chancellor over confident, and not apparently familiar with the real reason for German emigration. "Nearly all the German immigrants with whom I have con-board was keeper Sisson. The schooner Cactus started out in a fruitless search for the missing vessel. Parties in Noang afterward saw the Annie D in a sinking condition. Sisson could be seen on board and the waves were dashing over the vessel. She was level with the water. Later she rolled over and Sisson took to a small boat and headed for Fishers island. There was a fearful sea, an ebb tide and high wind. Those who watched with their glasses saw the frail boat battle with the wind and sea, and finally land on the east side of Fishers island, where Sisson landed after one of the most perilous trips on record. He was in the small boat five hours.

JUDGE MITCHELL'S FUNERAL.

The Services Held at Sidney Over the Remains of the Late Judge Mitchell. SIDNEY, Feb. 28.—The funeral of Judge Mitchell to-day was a fitting sequel to the memorial services at Des Moines. The remains were taken from the train last evening to the residence of his brother, S. T. Mitchell, where the family of the deceased were in waiting. Capt. W. C. Mitchell, the oldest of the brothers, arrived from Britain last night. All three brothers and the only sister, as well as the wife and children of Judge Mitchell, were present. The funeral was set for 2 p. m., to give time for friends to come from Lincoln and Nebraska city. The procession to the church and thence to the grave was preceded by a company of old soldiers, some of his old company bearing a flag draped in mourning. An immense concourse of people attended notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather. The services were impressive and interesting. The entire bar of Lincoln and Nebraska City designed to attend, but the impassable condition of the river and roads prevented. Each bar, however, sent a delegation, who at the peril of life crossed the Missouri river and reached here just as the procession arrived at the church. A meeting of the Lincoln bar was held this morning and appreciative resolutions were passed. The floral tributes sent over by the court officers and bar of Lincoln and Nebraska City are in design and richness marvels of beauty. The delegates from the Lincoln bar were Hon. A. P. Mason, H. A. Sawyer, A. J. Cornish, Robert Ryan and J. W. Deverz; from Nebraska City, Judge Cole, Hon. M. L. Hayward and William McClelland. Rev. H. B. Dye, pastor of the Presbyterian, of which the deceased was an active and consistent member, preached an interesting and instructive sermon. Short and appropriate addresses were made by Mr. Sawyer of Lincoln, and Judge Cole and Hon. M. L. Hayward of Nebraska City. The music was appropriate to the sad occasion.
