MADE A GREAT HIT.

High School Pupils Gave a Comedy and Other Choice Numbers.

Last night the East Side high school room was crowded to the utmost on the occasion of the entertainment for the benefit of the athletic association at this progressive school. First came the choice comedy "Lend Me Five Billings" which was presented with marked ability. The character of Mr. Slightly was taken in decided taste and with artistic effects by Currie Chase, and the supporting company was good. Miss Sara Blotky was Mrs. Major Phobbs, Max Stouder was Capt. Phobbs, Marcus Buck took the part of Capt. Spruce, Loyd Gobble was Dr. Morland, Nellie Jay was Mrs. Capt. Phobbs, Hal Heaton a waiter and Chas. Maktern another knight of the dining hall. Following the drama, which was applauded to the echo, came a song by a quartet composed of Essie Haven, Mabel Garton, James Tub and George Alden, which was enjoyed. Shadowgraphs were presented in a first class style and Miss Garton gave a reading, and then the audience was given a series of statuary of Traeco-Roman fashioning, by six young men. Their posings were artistic, and reflected great credit on themselves as well as upon Mrs. Nellie Chester Hopkins, director, and Prof. Seuernberger, the physical instructor of the East Side schools. The show

The city election in Des Moines resulted in the re-election of Mayor McVicar, though his majority was not so large as his friends anticipated. It is a sufficient vindication, but it does not give him the political boom which some supporters predicted.

The King-Kerkhoff company, which is playing at Breed's opera house this week, is drawing fair crowds, and is giving excellent satisfaction. There are a number of clever artists in the company, and they do clean work on the stage. It continues all this week.

The death of Elwood Lindley occurred at his late home in Des Moines last Friday. His body was taken to Perry for the funeral services and interment, two daughters and one son of the deceased residing in that city. of Fort Dodge, recently returned from her art studies abroad. The fiction department leads off with a thrilling wolf story by that prince of adventure story tellers, Frank W. Calkins. The number is further enriched by late portraits of the wives of several senators, also a fine picture of the wife of Speaker Reed. All the features of this number are admirably well sustained.

Question about Registration

The legislature seems to have succeeded in bungling the registration laws so effectually in the adoption of the new code that it is hard to get two lawyers to agree as to their meaning. In this city, the construction given the law under the opinion of County Attorney Cardell was that this year's registry list should be copied from last fall's poll book, so that only those who voted last fall could vote this spring without registering anew. In consequence, in all the wards several voters who voted in 1896 and supposed that entitled them to vote, appeared at the polls but were not permitted to cast a ballot.

In Des Moines, the city solicitor at first gave the same opinion but afterward reconsidered it, and in that city all those who voted at the presidential election were permitted to vote in the city election, whether they voted last fall or not. The law, section 1084 of the code, appears to be lately contradictory, and it will probably take a decision of the supreme court to settle the point.

The Glee Club Coming.

Seats for the college glee club and orchestra, which is booked for Breed's April 6th, were put on sale last Saturday morning, and inside of two hours over three hundred seats were reserved. Since then many (more) have been sold, and the entire success of the enterprise is assured, notwithstanding the large guarantee which was necessary to secure this great attraction. There are still some good seats left, but those who want to hear this splendid entertainment should lose no time in securing tickets.

Dave Daugherty Abroad.

A gentleman named Daugherty, of Perry, Iowa has been among us for some time in the interest of land located in different states. We do not know the above named party but he tells us he is here now for the purpose of installing an electric light plant. His proposition to make a stock company of it seems fair and all right and the fact of himself owning an interest would naturally inspire a confidence which ought to secure the plant. The time is near us when this lighting question for our town will be settled. Some one will have the courage of his convictions and begin to erect poles. There may not be any great money in the venture, but someone will put in the plant just same, with the hope that it will grow and in time pay out. No greater injury could have been done to an enterprise of any kind than was done by the Porter-Pardee affair of a few years since. The way things came about then, still lives in the minds of our people. The sight of the wiring in many of our buildings brings a smile to the faces of those who know, and revives the thoughts of other days, when "Porter, Pardee, their heirs, executors, or assigns," were working our people for all they were worth. There seems to be a settled conviction among us that whoever talks light, is talking "light." Yet smaller towns than ours have an electric system. However, the time aint long when these things shall come to pass among us and the Porter and Pardee wires shall get a twist on themselves and be made to do duty for our people.—Madrid Register.

A Pioneer Gone.

Elwood Lindley died yesterday at 2 a.
m. at his home in Des Moines, after a long illness. He was the father of Mrs.
Elza Stotts and Mrs. W. H. Shroyer of this city.

The deceased was an old resident of this county, living at Redfield. He was a member of the House from Dallas county in the Tenth General Assembly which convened in Des Moines in 1864.
Uncle Harvey Willis recalls the county convention that met in Adel in 1863, and says that his name was presented by Cole Noel, of Adel, which meant in those days a nomination for Uncle Cole had everything about as he wanted it.
Mr. Noel himself filled this same position in the session of the 13th General Assembly and it was at this time that he served with the Hon. John A. Kar-son in the House and became his great and steadfast friend.

The remains will be brought to Perry today for interment. Rev. Brown will conduct the funeral service at the home of Mrs Stotts on First Avenue at 10:30 this morning. The funeral will be private on account of Mrs. Stotts' illness.
