

find that
in Waterloo
Census

Standard Form For Members of the Legislature

Name of Representative Logan, James H. Senator _____
Second Buena Vista, Calhoun, Pocahontas and Webster counties

1. Birthday and place March 1826 Washington, Pennsylvania

2. Marriage (s) date place
Abigail Jane Cummings Massillon, Ohio

3. Significant events for example:
A. Business _____
B. Civic responsibilities _____
C. Profession Editor; insurance business

4. Church membership _____

5. Sessions served 10th General Assembly 1864

6. Public Offices

A. Local Justice of the Peace

B. State Chief clerk of the House of Representatives - 6th General Assembly 1856
from Muscatine County, Iowa

C. National _____
FINDAGRAVE.COM.

7. Death 30 Oct 1903 Waterloo, Iowa Woodland Cemetery,
Des Moines, Polk County,
IOWA

8. Children _____

9. Names of parents _____

10. Education

11. Degrees

12. Other applicable information

- After marriage James and his wife came from Ohio to Muscatine, Iowa where they lived for 2 years when he was editor of the Muscatine Journal 1855-1857.
- In 1857 They moved to Fort Dodge, Iowa where he purchased the Fort Dodge Sentinel changing it from a Democratic paper to a Republican paper and changing its name to The Fort Dodge Republican.
- Moved to Waterloo, Iowa in 1864 when he became part owner and editor of The Waterloo Courier for ten years.

Sources Log For Legislation Entries

Applicability

Source Non Applicable Applicable Information obtained

- Obituary - The Fort Dodge Messenger, Fort Dodge, Iowa,
Thurs. Oct. 8, 1903, p. 7, col. 2

Multiple horizontal lines for data entry.

AND ONE LOW PRICE TO ALL.
GOLDEN RULE,
 Where the Pennies Count,
 Leads Our Every Day Leaders.

GROCERIES

Prices. Not Delivered Alone.

.....	6c
.....	7c
.....	7c
.....	5c
.....	8c
TS—	7c
.....	8c
AKES	9c
.....	10c
WHEAT	11c
.....	12c
AKES	12c
.....	12c
FAST FOOD	12c
.....	12c
T	12c
.....	19c
TS—	22c
.....	10c
.....	10c
.....	18c
ATURDAY AND MONDAY ONLY—NOT DELIVERED ALONE.	25c
.....	10c
ANIZED—	29c
.....	42c
ALVANIZED—	19c
.....	25c
and 16 in-ch sizes	10c
.....	10c
AY PRICES—25c WORTH DELIVERED.	5c
.....	5c
WARE—	5c
.....	5c
Jar	5c
.....	5c
for	5c
.....	10c

J. W. LOGAN PASSES AWAY

WAS PIONEER SETTLER OF FORT DODGE—EDITED FIRST REPUBLICAN PAPER.

30 YEARS RESIDENT OF WATERLOO

WAS THE ONLY SURVIVING SON OF REVOLUTIONARY SOLDIER IN IOWA.

The death of J. W. Logan at Waterloo on Saturday last, removes one of the pioneers of Fort Dodge as well as of Waterloo. Mr. Logan was born in Washington, Pa., in March, 1826, and married Abigail Jane Cummings at Massillon, Ohio. Immediately after the marriage the couple came to Muscatine, Iowa. They lived there two years, where Mr. Logan was editor of the Muscatine Journal from 1855 to 1857. He was elected chief clerk of the Iowa House of Representatives for the sessions of 1856 and '57. Mr. and Mrs. Logan came to Fort Dodge in 1857 where Mrs. Logan's father, Mr. Cummings, was then living with his other daughters. Mr. Logan purchased the plant of the Fort Dodge Sentinel, the only democratic paper in this section of the state. Mr. Logan changed the name of the paper to the Fort Dodge Republican and ably advocated the principles of the newly organized republican party and fought his share of the newspaper battles preliminary to the great struggle of 1860-65. Mr. Logan was elected from the Fort Dodge district to the legislature in 1863. The district was composed of the counties of Webster, Pocahontas, Palo Alto, O'Brien and Calhoun. His surviving son was born in Des Moines during that winter. Removing to Waterloo in 1864 he became part owner and editor of the Courier, in which position he continued for several years. In 1874 he was elected enrolling clerk of the senate. He was elected chief clerk of the House of Representatives of the Sixteenth general assembly in 1876. In 1885. He was the sole surviving son 1878 he was appointed collector of United States internal revenue, serving in of the revolution in Iowa, his own father having been a participating soldier therein. The Waterloo Courier says:

Mr. Logan was for nearly thirty years justice of the peace of Waterloo township and carried on an insurance business for many years with the late Capt. Edgar Pickett.

Shortly after Mr. Logan moved to Waterloo, he became a partner of the late W. H. Hartman in the publication of the Waterloo Courier, remaining with the firm for about ten years.

Mr. Logan was a man of fine intellect and of fine personal appearance, tall, stately, with a finely shaped head and a kindly countenance. His love of home and of friends was strong and a great sorrow which he never overcame came into his life when his wife passed away. He was an able writer, an excellent jurist and a splendid type of citizen, loyal to the highest moral principles, patriotic in the extreme and an honor to any profession which he might elect to follow.

TURKEYS ARE STILL SCARCE

PROSPECTS FOR THANKSGIVING GREAT NOT PROMISING

PASSES TO HER REWARD

DEATH OF MRS. MARY ANDREWS ON, OCTOBER 2.

Old Resident of Fort Dodge—Burial Takes Place in the Cemetery at Otho.

Mrs. Mary H. Andrews died of cancer at the home of her son, C. E. Andrews, Fort Dodge, Iowa, on October 2, 1903.

After brief services at the home, conducted by Rev. Suckow, the funeral was held at Otho Congregational church, Rev. F. Fawkes officiating, and the remains interred in Otho cemetery.

Mary Henrietta Fuller was born June 29, 1840, in Granville, Licking county, Ohio. Her father was a staunch native of New York state, being the third in a family of sixteen children. He was born January 16, 1794. Her maternal grandfather, Increase Claffin, was a soldier in the Revolutionary war. Her mother, Deborah (Claffin) Fuller, was born August 18, 1802, in Schenectady county, New York. Her parents were married November 2, 1820, in Cattaraugus county, N. Y., but made their home in Orkney county. Both were strong brave characters. True to God, their country and their home. Mary was one of eight children, three of whom survive her. One brother, Owen P. Fuller, the oldest of the family, now lives in Oberon, N. D. Two sisters, Jane M., wife of N. H. Hart, and Deborah, widow of Cornelius Claffin, live near Kalo. About the year 1834, Mr. and Mrs. Fuller with their family of five children, moved from New York to Granville, O., where they might find better facilities for educating their children and nearer church privileges than they could find in their own timbered New York home. Here they lived until 1863, when they moved to Fort Dodge, as all their living children except one married daughter, had grown up and preceded them to this goodly land, Webster county, Iowa.

Both parents are now buried in Otho cemetery. Their daughter Mary had received a liberal education in the Granville schools, and was graduated from the Episcopal academy of that place. She spent the next ten years in educational work, teaching her last term of school in district No. 1 in Otho township. On December 22, 1866, she was married to Celestus B. Andrews, an estimable young man and brave soldier of the war of the rebellion. He was a native of Ohio, but came to this state with his father in 1851. The ceremony was performed at the Otho Congregational parsonage by Rev. C. F. Boynton. Mr. and Mrs. Andrews settled on their farm in Otho township where they lived happily together until Mr. Andrews' death, Aug. 24, 1890. Four children came to bless this home, all of whom survive both parents, Clark E., who lives in Fort Dodge and owns an interest in the Granger Implement company; Howe N., who also resides in Fort Dodge; Arzella and Osman. After her husband's death the brave widow lived for her children, until one by one, all were married except the youngest.

When her oldest son was married, she welcomed him and his wife to the old home and then dropped in a measure the domestic cares and responsibilities, but not the interests of the home, of her children and grandchildren. That never waned. Brave and heroic as one might expect a daughter of such parents, Mrs. Andrews was faithful to the last, always doing the little things that so many leave undone, always saying words of cheer

PLEADS GUILTY TO EMBEZZLING $13,000

THOMAS F. WARD, FORMER VICE PRESIDENT LE MARS BANK, AWAITS SENTENCE.

LOST ON THE BOARD OF TRADE

A CASE OF UNUSUAL INTEREST COMES TO AN END AFTER TWO YEARS.

Sioux City, Oct. 7.—Thomas F. Ward pleaded guilty Tuesday afternoon in the United States court at Sioux City to embezzlement of $13,000 of the funds of the LeMars National bank. The penalty may be a fine not to exceed $5,000 or imprisonment in the penitentiary not to exceed two years, or judgment of both fine and imprisonment within the discretion of the court.

Mr. Ward's plea was entered by his attorney, J. M. Parsons of Rock Rapids, and the plea was to the first count in the indictment.

There are seven counts in all to the indictment, six of which are for fraudulent entries in the books of a bank. The first count charges the defendant with embezzlement of the bank funds amounting to $13,000. The remaining six counts will be dismissed in entering the plea of guilty. Attorney Parsons submitted a lengthy statement of the case, giving a history of Mr. Ward's connection with the bank. In part the statement said:

"It is safe to say that had the liquidation of the bank taken place at the time Mr. Ward became interested in it, there would have been at least $30,000 more loss on the real estate and bank building alone, and a very much heavier loss on the other assets of the bank."

"The history of the bank shows had been insolvent for a great many years before Mr. Ward became connected with it, and that he lost even dollar he put into it; that the party really responsible for the failure of the bank were those that had the management of it prior to Mr. Ward's connection therewith.

"There was not a dollar's worth of poor paper, real estate or worthless assets in the bank at the time of its failure (except Mr. Ward's own note) but what was in the bank a long time before Mr. Ward ever became connected with or had anything to do with the bank."

In 1901, Mr. Ward, vice president of the LeMars National Bank, departed from LeMars, and the same day the bank closed its doors. Investigation showed that Mr. Ward had been dealing heavily on the Chicago board of trade and that he had utilized a large sum of money belonging to the bank. The result was the utter collapse of the institution. Bank examiners from Washington came to LeMars and looked into the condition of the bank. In the meantime the whereabouts of Mr. Ward was unknown. Finally he returned and was indicted by the United States grand jury.

Mr. Ward has been at liberty under a heavy bond since his arrest and indictment, and for a year or more he has been engaged in the real estate business with his brother, Edward Ward.