In Memoriam.

With genuine sorrow The Herald-Patriot this week chronicles the loss of one of our oldest and best known citizens, Dr. J. A. McKlveen, who passed away at his residence on the corner of Main street and Linden avenue, on Sunday morning, July 16, 1916, at 6 o'clock, at the age of 80 years, 7 months and 18 days, after an extended illness with cardiac asthma and a complication of troubles. Although it was known that his condition was serious yet he had been able to be about until a few days before the end came and the news of his demise was a great shock to his relatives and friends. Largely attended funeral services were held at the First Baptist church on Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock, conducted by Rev. Herbert J. Bryce, assisted by Rev. Theodore H. Aszman, of the First Presbyterian church. A eulogy of the deceased was read by Hon. R. A. Hasselquist, of this city, who paid a glowing and merited tribute to the life and character of the one who had come to the end of his earthly career. The floral offerings were profuse and beautiful, and were tender messages of regard and sympathy. At the close of the ceremonies the remains were laid to rest in the Chariton cemetery.

John Andrew McKlveen, son of Henry and Catherine Lohr McKlveen, was born in Westmoreland county, Pennsylvania, on November 28, 1835, and was of Scotch-Irish ancestry. He was educated in the public schools of his native county and at Sewickley Academy. In early manhood he engaged in teaching and afterward studied medicine. He took his first course of lectures in Cincinnati, Ohio, and engaged in the practice of his profession for two years in Pleasant Unity, Pa. He continued his lectures in Bennett Medical college of Chicago, receiving his degree from that institution in 1872. He was entirely self dependent from the age of fifteen, paying his own way through college. He came to Iowa in 1865 where he spent some time in the State Savings Bank and a director in the Lucas County National Bank since its organization. In connection with his other business interests Dr. McKlveen was senior member of the lumber firms of McKlveen & Eikenberry at Chariton, Russell and Cambria.

On November 10th, 1868, in Freeport, Pennsylvania, Dr. McKlveen was united in marriage to Miss Catharine M. Kennedy, whose acquaintance he formed while she was teaching in this county. To this union three children were born, Henry Bennett, Mary Elizabeth and Jessie, now Mrs. Hugh H. Craig, of Riverside, California. The two former, with the mother, passed away a number of years ago. On the 30th of October, 1899, he was united in marriage with Miss Mary Genevieve Milthorpe, who with the daughter and two granddaughters, Margaret McKlveen, of Leon, and Katharine Craig, of Riverside, California, survives him. He also leaves three brothers, Samuel McKlveen, of this city, and Rev. Wm. McKlveen and Cramer McKlveen, of Pennsylvania. To all these sorrowing ones the deepest sympathy of this community will be extended.

In the death of Dr. McKlveen Chariton has suffered a distinct loss. He was considered one of the first citizens of the county, and everything that tended to promote the welfare of the community received his approval and co-operation. His fidelity to duty and his promptness and loyalty in discharging every obligation that came to him won for him almost unlimited confidence and gained for him the respect of all with whom he was brought in contact. He will be greatly missed, not only in the home circle but in public life and in the many homes throughout the county where for years he ministered in place of

He was the oldest physician of this city in years of continuous practice. He was railway surgeon for the C., B. & Q. railroad company for twenty-four years, holding said position at the time of his death. He was president of the Board of Examining Surgeons for Pensions during Harrison's administration, and also served as president of the Iowa State Eclectic Medical society for three terms. He was appointed a member of the Iowa State Board of Health by Gov. Shaw for a period of seven years, serving as president of that body a part of the time. In 1901 he was sent as a delegate from the State Board of Health to London, England to attend the British Congress of Tuberculosis. He also served as senator from this district in the thirty-second general assembly. He was also prominent in local affairs, being vice-president of

is a Democrat. Religiously, he and his family are identified with the Roman Catholic Church and are devout members of the same. He is in every sense of the word a self-made man. He has made every dollar he has. From year to year he has saved some of his earnings, has wisely invested the same, and now has valuable property and money to loan. He owns one farm in Iowa county and has two in Guthrie county.

Thus briefly is sketched the life of a man who has through his own persevering energy and good management won an enviable position among his fellow citizens.

JOHN ALEXANDER MCKLVEEN, M. D., is one of the oldest physicians of Chariton, Iowa, in years of continuous practice, having located at this place in the spring of 1866. He was born in Westmoreland county, Pennsylvania, November 28, 1835. His parents were Henry and Catherine (Lohr) McKlveen. His great-grandfather, Henry McKlveen, was a native of Ireland, who emigrated to Pennsylvania in the eighteenth century, his death occurring in Westmoreland county, in 1839 or '40, at the very advanced age of 102 years. His son John, the grandfather of our subject, was also born in Ireland, and during his early youth accompanied his parents to America. He was married just before or soon after coming to America, to Isabella Scott, who also was a native of the Emerald Isle. He died May 13, 1856, in his seventy-fourth year, and his wife died February 28, 1852, at the age of sixty-five. He was a soldier in the war of 1812.

The Doctor's father, of Scotch-Irish ancestry, was born in Westmoreland county, Pennsylvania, November 19, 1809. He was a farmer and teacher, his death occurring in the county in which he was born, November 21, 1867. His wife, who was of German lineage, was born in Fayette county, Pennsylvania, December 13, 1814, and died in Westmoreland county, February 20, 1855.

The members of their family were John A., Jacob L., James Tisdale, William H., Mary, Robison, Isabella, Samuel, Sarah Agnes and Jesse Cramer, of whom James T., Robison and Sarah A. are now deceased, the first and last dying when about two years of age, while Robison died in the Union army during the Civil war, December 6, 1864, and was buried at Arlington National Cemetery, Virginia. He was a member of Company C, Eighty-fourth Pennsylvania Infantry. The surviving members of the family are J. L. and Samuel, who are the active members of the lumber and coal firm of McKlveen Brothers, in Chariton, Iowa; Wm. H., who served three years in the Union army, in an Indiana regiment, and is now a minister of the gospel located at Pittsburg, Pennsylvania; Mary, wife of George Kells, a resident of Youngstown, Pennsylvania; Isabella, widow of Andrew Cook, now married to a Mr. Bitner, a resident of Donegal, Pennsylvania; Jesse C., a mine inspector at Greensburg, Pennsylvania.

For his second wife the father of this family married Mrs. Elizabeth Cummings, who still survives, and now resides in Donegal, Pennsylvania. Four children were born of the second marriage, two of whom are now living, viz.: Kate, wife of Thomas Kelley, a resident of West Newton, Pennsylvania; and Sallie, wife of Isaac Henderson, of Scottdale, Pennsylvania. The other two died in childhood.

Doctor McKlveen, our subject, was educated in the public schools of his native county and at Sewickley Academy. In early manhood he engaged in teaching, following this profession for several years in Pennsylvania and Ohio. He began the study of medicine in the office and under the tutorship of Doctor James Loar, of Mount Pleasant, Pennsylvania, in 1858, and continued there until the fall of 1860, when he took his first course of lectures at the Physio-Medical College of Cincinnati, Ohio. He then engaged in the practice of his profession in Pleasant Unity, Pennsylvania, where he remained for two years. In 1863 he located in Centerville, Ohio, where he remained a few months, when he settled in La Porte county, Indiana, remaining there for one year. The winter of 1864-5 he spent in Illinois, and, not finding a location to his liking, came to Iowa, in June, 1865, where he spent some time in the search of a satisfactory location, finally choosing Chariton.

He has never had reason to regret his choice, as in the long years of his residence here he has always had an excellent practice and ranks with the leading physicians of southern Iowa. In 1872 he took a course of lectures in Bennett Medical College, of Chicago, receiving his degree from this institution. He was entirely self-dependent from the age of fifteen, paying his own way through college. He was railway surgeon for the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad Company for about four years, and was president of the Board of Examining Surgeons for Pensions during President Harrison's administration. He served as President of the Iowa State Eclectic Medical Society in 1875-6, and was re-elected to the same position in 1894 and again in 1895. He is a member of the National Association of Railway Surgeons, also of the National Eclectic Medical Association. In connection with his other business interests, the Doctor, on the organization of the State Savings Bank, of Chariton, was chosen its president and has since remained in that office.

On the 10th of November, 1868, in Freeport, Pennsylvania, Dr. McKlveen was united in marriage with Miss Kate M. Kennedy, whose acquaintance he formed while she was teaching in Lucas county. She was a daughter of Dr. John Kennedy and a native of Armstrong county, Pennsylvania, was educated in her native State and taught school for several years in Pennsylvania and Iowa. By this union three children were born. Henry Bennett, the eldest, is a practicing physician of Coin, Page county, Iowa. He was educated at the State University of Iowa and the Notre Dame University, of South Bend, Indiana. He obtained his medical education under his father's instructions and in the College of Physicians and Surgeons, of Chicago, graduating in 1890. He first engaged in practice in Chariton, and in the fall of 1894 removed to Coin. He married Miss Lillian De Kalb, of De Kalb, Decatur county, Iowa, December 26, 1894. The second child, Mary Elizabeth, is a graduate of Parsons' College, of Fairfield, Iowa, completing the classical course in 1893, since which time she has been employed as a teacher in the high school of Chariton. Jessie is now a student in Parsons' College and will finish the classical course and graduate in the class of 1896. This family was called upon to mourn the death of the wife and mother September 22, 1882. She was a most estimable lady, and her loss was most sincerely and deeply mourned by her many friends.

The life work of Dr. McKlveen has been a success, and he has accumulated a fine property, having a beautiful home and well appointed office, with a good library and all appliances necessary for the intelligent and successful practice of his profession. His time is now largely taken up with his office practice, though he attends calls under all reasonable circumstances.

Socially, the Doctor is connected with the Independent Order of Odd Fellows, in which he has served as Past Grand and is a member of the Grand Lodge of Iowa. In politics he is a Republican. In his religious views he is liberal. Prominent in his profession, he is also one of the best known and most highly esteemed of Chariton's leading citizens.

GEORGE L. RHINEHART, an honored farmer of Dallas county, Iowa, was born in Parke county, Indiana, March 17, 1847. His paternal grandparents were Andrew and Christina (Shoey) Rhinehart, the former a native of Germany and the latter of Pennsylvania. The grandfather accompanied his parents to the United States, locating in the Keystone State, but later became a resident of Virginia, where Andrew, Jr., the father of our subject, was
