~~Dictionary - The Council Bluffs Nonpartisan Council Bluffs Iowa
Times May 14, 1912, p. 7, col. 6 and Hel. May 15, 1912,
p. 7, col. 3~~

eral was one of the largest ever held in Council Bluffs, over 5,000 people attending the services at the house and paying their last respects at the grave.

The rooms were filled with flowers, sent by florists from all over the country, as well as by friends here, and the casket lay in state against a bank of American beauty roses and palms that reached from floor to ceiling.

In the cemetery the grave was lined with roses and the space around it was carpeted with the same blossom. The mound of earth at the side was completely hidden beneath a wealth of flowers among which were many large set pieces.

The funeral services were simple and impressive. Rev. J. M. Williams of the Broadway Methodist church read the selections from the scriptures, following which Rev. James O'May of Chicago, a former pastor of the church and a personal friend of Mr. Wilcox, offered a prayer.

The vocal selections were rendered by the Elks' quartet and consisted of three numbers especially requested by the family. They were "Nearer, My God, to Thee," "Abide With Me," and "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere." The funeral sermon was preached by Rev. J. M. Williams. In it he paid a glowing tribute to the life and character of the deceased. Mr. Williams said:

Tribute to His Character.

It was a trait of Mr. Wilcox's character to be sincere. A friendship once formed lasted until its object was unworthy and that ending was most rare, for Mr. Wilcox was a just judge of men. A tribute that will be most cherished by his friends will be these lasting and worthy friendships.

He was all more or less affected by his environments, and the great business Mr. Wilcox created refined and elevated his nature. He loved flowers, and there was something in the growing plant, the bursting bud, that led his thoughts to things higher than the commercialism of his business. I have talked with him often and know of his abiding faith, the confident conviction that filled his soul with something more than hope for the hereafter.

Mr. Williams told of spending some time with Mr. Wilcox during his last hours, and of the faith and Christian fortitude displayed by the man who was so near death.

Almost at this hour last Sunday, said Mr. Williams, I sat by his bedside and talked with him. Together we prayed that his life might be spared, but he repeatedly said "God's will be done." Bravely as he struggled for life, keenly as he desired to live, yet there was implicit faith and submission in the fervent "Amen" that closed our prayers.

Many traits there were in the character of John Franklin Wilcox that may well be emulated, but I will mention one in particular. This was his beautiful devotion to his home and family that made an ideal and beautiful home life. His constant thought seemed to be the happiness of his family and the welfare of his boys, whom he loved dearer than his life.

A week ago at this hour, when his knew

Greenfields, George W. Lape, J. W. Mitchell, Judge O. D. Wheeler and H. G. McGee. Both the active and honorary pallbearers, with one or two exceptions, were Masons.

Bluff City lodge No. 71 of the Masons, of which Mr. Wilcox was a member, had charge of the services at the grave and the beautiful ritual was given in full. C. H. Parks, past master of the lodge, acted as worshipful master at the ceremonies.

Rev. O'May gave the benediction at the grave. Speaking as a loving friend of the deceased, his remarks were most appropriate and impressive.

The death of Mr. Wilcox comes not only as a blow to his relatives and friends, but as a keen loss to the entire community. Actively identified in all public affairs, his death is mourned by business men and citizens in general, the universal esteem in which he was held being shown by the tremendous attendance at the funeral. Through the courtesy of the street car company all cars on the Pierce street line were stopped during the services, and in spite of the size of the crowds nothing occurred to mar the services.

OBITUARY.

Dr. Daniel Jackson.

Dr. Daniel Jackson, aged 67 years, died early Monday morning at his home, 158 Glen avenue, from complications arising from asthmatic trouble, after an illness of four and a half years. His wife, Mrs. Alta Jackson, survives him. The funeral will be held at the residence Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock and the body will be taken to Pleasantville, Ia., for burial. Dr. George A. Ray of the Second Presbyterian church will conduct the services.

Robert H. Beecroft.

Henry Beecroft, Jr. has returned from Des Moines, where he was called by the sudden death of his oldest son, Robert H. Beecroft, who was killed at Carroll. He was struck on the head with a heavy timber while trying to unload heavy tiles. The funeral was held Sunday from his home at Des Moines. He was 32 years of age, and was a native of Council Bluffs. He is survived by his wife and seven children; also by his father, six sisters and three brothers.

Joe G. Price.

Joe E. Price, aged 41 years, assistant superintendent for the Chicago Great Western road, died at 618 Sunday evening, after a four weeks' illness. Mr. Price has been a resident of this city for eight years, being temporarily located at Clarion at the time of his death. The body was brought to Cutler's undertaking rooms, and will be taken Tuesday to the home of J. H. Hughes, 231 West Broad-and released, their future good behavior to decide whether they should receive thirty days in the county jail or not. They were brought in as the result of a campaign inaugurated by Chief Froom against petty gambling and only because of their tender age were allowed to go without a sentence. The chief states that he will see that every game of the kind is stopped in the city.

Home Treatment for Tuberculosis

Consumptive patients need no longer dread either the fate that formerly overtook all sufferers from lung trouble, or costly and inconvenient journeys far from home to other climates or to some expensive sanatorium. Hundreds are now staying quietly at home, restoring themselves to health at the cost of a few bottles of medicine. Here is one who speaks from experience:

220 S. 4th St., Colwyn, (Darby), Pa.
"Gentlemen: For four years I was troubled with cough, which gradually became worse. A physician pronounced my case Consumption, and I was ordered to a Consumptive hospital. My nephew would not allow me to go until I had tried Eckman's Alternative. Before I had taken the medicine three weeks I commenced getting well. I am in excellent health now and have been completely cured for ten years. I strongly recommend it."

(Signed) (MRS.) MARY WASSON.
Eckman's Alternative is effective in Bronchitis, Asthma, Hay Fever, Throat and Lung Troubles, and in upbuilding the system. Does not contain poisons, opiates or habit-forming drugs. For sale by Clark Drug Co., J. W. Camp, Geo. S. Davis, Wesner & Cowles, and other leading druggists. Ask for booklet telling of recoveries and write to Eckman Laboratory, Philadelphia, Pa., for additional evidence.

POLITICAL ANNOUNCEMENT.

Frank Peterson, candidate for county treasurer upon the republican ticket, has always been a republican and has been a resident of Council Bluffs for thirty-two years. He has been a member of the park board during the past twelve years. He has taken pleasure in serving the people as a park board member and will be pleased to serve as treasurer and will appreciate the vote of the republicans of the county for the treasurership.

POLITICAL ADVERTISEMENT.

Col. George W. Adams of Wainor, the well known originator and promoter of the Iowa Short Line, announces his candidacy on the republican ticket for representative in the state legislature. He is thoroughly progressive in his ideas and plans, and is one of the best known Woodmen in the county.

FUNERALS.

The funeral of the late Joe G. Price, assistant superintendent of the Chicago Great Western railway, who died in this city Sunday evening, was held Tuesday afternoon, and was attended by an especially large concourse of sorrowing friends. The Great Western ran a special train from Clarion, where his headquarters were located, and about 125 railroad men came to the city, acting as an escort for the remains from the residence to the cemetery. The services were held at 2:30 o'clock at the home of his brother-in-law, J. E. Hughes, 2421 West Broadway, with Rev. J. M. Williams of the Broadway Methodist church in charge. The pallbearers were the nephews of the deceased. Interment was in Walnut Hill cemetery. The floral tributes were especially beautiful, including some particularly handsome set pieces from the railroad men and from the lodges of which Mr. Price was a member.

The funeral of the late Dr. D. Jackson, who died Monday morning, was held Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the family home at 148 Glen avenue. Dr. George A. Ray, pastor of the Second Presbyterian church, was in charge. The remains were sent to Pleasantville, Ia., for interment. Dr. Jackson had been a resident of Council Bluffs for many years, formerly residing on South First street. He had suffered for many years before his death, however, from asthma, and had not been in active practice.

Much Interest In Orchard Lands.

The Day & Hess Co., say that the advertising of Orchard Heights is bringing results. Charles D. Campbell has bought a fine tract and has put out about 500 young apple trees. He will build next year. Stephen C. Jacobson bought about twenty acres and will commence improvements at once. Mr. Murphy is going to buy some of this land and plant O'Keef pears. Next week the big power sprayer will be used in spraying the apple trees. If you are interested in apples it might pay you to see this work.

Stops Rheumatism in a Single Week

Mr. James Simpson, of Cordova, Ill., Tells of Remarkable Results of New Juice Treatment.

The new Root Juice medicine which for the past few months has been creating intense interest among the sick all over the country is certainly keeping up its record in this locality.

A most astonishing case that has just been brought to light is that of Mr. James Simpson, who gives his address as Box 32, Cordova, Ill. Mr. Simpson had been a victim of rheumatism for some time and suffered intensely from this stubborn disease.

In a statement describing his case, he says: "I have just about finished my first bottle of the Root Juice treatment and I don't believe I will have to take any more, for I now feel all right again. I felt the effects of the medicine quickly. All symptoms of the disease have left me and I can truthfully say it is the best medicine for rheumatism I ever used."

Such reports as this are coming from everywhere. Persons who have had indigestion for years, others who were troubled with weak kidneys, backaches and urinary disorders, and, in fact, sufferers from nearly all complaints arising from disorders of the stomach, liver and kidneys say the effect of the new medicine is simply wonderful. It can be had at Dell G. Morgan's.
