Job Summary:

The Iowa Ombudsman's office oversees most state and local governmental agencies, helping thousands of Iowans each year to cut through bureaucracy and red tape to resolve their problems. We receive approximately 6,000 complaints each year on a wide variety of issues. This position will play a role in improving the public's interactions with the government, from small town officials to the state's largest agencies. Approximately 50% of all cases opened in 2022 were corrections-related cases.

In this assistant ombudsman position, you will be the first contact for people who call or write the Ombudsman's office with their complaints. You will triage and analyze complaints to clearly identify issues and determine how to resolve them or when to escalate them. An assistant ombudsman manages a caseload of files while identifying complaint patterns and potential systemic issues. In addition to receiving complaints by email and letter, assistants use their active listening and interviewing skills to take complaints over the phone and in-person, at times dealing with complainants who may require special accommodation or who may be frustrated and distressed by their experience with different state and local government agencies.

This opportunity will appeal to people who are keen to develop innovative solutions within a structured framework while respecting existing processes and procedures. Successful candidates are both analytical and empathetic, and enjoy working independently as well as collaboratively. Legal, corrections, law enforcement, medical, or public administration backgrounds are helpful but not required.
