

307.13 Reassignment of personnel.

The director may reassign personnel within the department among the various divisions of the department in order to properly co-ordinate the work of the divisions and perform the duties and responsibilities of the department efficiently and economically.

However, any employee so transferred or transferred from one employment system to another either administratively or legislatively, shall not be considered to be a probationary employee simply because of this action.

[C75, 77, 79, 81, § 307.13]