

633.2107 Constructive trusts.

A constructive trust arises when a person holding title to property is subject to an equitable duty to convey the property to another, on the ground that the person holding title would be unjustly enriched if the person were permitted to retain the property.

99 Acts, ch 125, §14, 109