

633A.6101 Subject matter jurisdiction.

The district court sitting in probate has exclusive jurisdiction of proceedings concerning the internal affairs of a trust and of actions and proceedings to determine the existence of a trust, actions and proceedings by or against creditors or debtors of a trust, and other actions and proceedings involving a trust and third persons. Such jurisdiction may be invoked by any interested party at any time.

99 Acts, ch 125, §89, 109

C2001, §633.6101

2002 Acts, ch 1107, §20; 2005 Acts, ch 38, §49, 54

CS2005, §633A.6101