252K.703 Relationship of child support recovery unit to United States central authority.

The child support recovery unit of this state is recognized as the agency designated by the United States central authority to perform specific functions under the convention.

2015 Acts, ch 110, §59