

565—1.1(455A,473) Definitions. The organization, purposes and functions of the energy bureau of the energy and geological resources division of the department of natural resources are described in 561—Chapter 1, Iowa Administrative Code. As used in this title, the following definitions apply:

“Administrator” means the administrator of the energy and geological resources division of the department.

“Commission” means the environmental protection commission. In the context of an administrative appeal, “commission” also includes the presiding hearing officer.

“Energy bureau” means the energy bureau of the energy and geological resources division of the department.

“Person” means an individual, firm, partnership, corporation, company, governmental unit, state agency, association, society or any other organization or institution.

“Supplier” means any person engaged in the business of selling, importing, storing or generating energy sources in Iowa.