

189—11.2(533) Factors considered. In determining whether a credit union is insolvent, the superintendent shall, among other things, consider the following:

1. Amount and length of delinquent loans;
2. Available reserves;
3. Source of operating funds;
4. Book and market value of assets; and
5. Current and expected operating expenses.