

701—6.8(99G,123,17A) Telephone or video proceedings. The presiding officer may resolve preliminary procedural motions by telephone or videoconference in which all parties have an opportunity to participate. Other telephone or video proceedings may be held with the consent of all parties. The presiding officer will determine the location of the parties and witnesses for telephone or video hearings. The convenience of the witnesses or parties, as well as the nature of the case, will be considered when location is chosen.
