

481—780.3(148C) Temporary licensure.

780.3(1) A temporary license may be issued for an applicant for licensure who has not taken the NCCPA initial certification examination or successor agency examination or is waiting for the results of the examination.

780.3(2) An applicant for licensure must comply with subrule 780.2(1), with the exception of paragraphs 780.2(1) “b” and “c.”

780.3(3) A temporary license will be valid for one year from the date of issuance.

780.3(4) The temporary license will be renewed only once upon an applicant for licensure’s showing proof that, through no fault of the applicant, the applicant was unable to take the certification examination recognized by the board. Proof of inability to take the certification examination will be submitted to the board office with written request for renewal of a temporary license, accompanied by the temporary license renewal fee.

780.3(5) If the temporary licensee fails the certification examination, the temporary licensee must cease practice immediately and surrender the temporary license by the next business day.

780.3(6) There is no additional fee for converting temporary licensure to permanent licensure.

780.3(7) An applicant for licensure will ensure that certification of completion is sent to the board directly from an approved program for the education of physician associates. The certification of completion must be signed by a designee from the approved program.

[ARC 9536C, IAB 9/3/25, effective 10/8/25; Editorial change: IAC Supplement 6/10/26]