

871—23.37(96) Adjustments and refunds of contributions.

23.37(1) Whenever any employer discovers that the contribution report submitted is incorrect resulting in overpayment of contributions due and owing, such employer may file an application for credit allowance or refund. If the department discovers that the contribution submitted by any employer is incorrect resulting in overpayment of contribution, it may on its own initiative refund or make a credit allowance. No refund or credit allowance will be made after three years from the date on which the overpayment was made. The employer's wage adjustment report shall be filed electronically to show corrections to the individual wage amounts, corrections of grand totals (total wages, taxable wages and contributions), and a full explanation for the adjustment. Adjustment shall be made by the department in the form of credit allowance or refund as provided in subrule 23.37(3) equal to that portion of contributions erroneously paid which exceeds the benefits paid to claimants as a direct result of the employer's erroneous report.

23.37(2) If the contribution and wage report first submitted by an employer understates the amount of wages paid for a given period, the employer will electronically submit a wage adjustment for the period and make payment covering all additional contributions, penalty and interest due.

a. If it is apparent, upon examination of any wages reported or adjusted, that a greater contribution than is required by law has been paid, the department may, within three years from the date of such overpayment, make an adjustment and issue a credit for such overpayment.

b. If it is not apparent from the examination of any wages reported or adjusted that a contribution greater than that required by law has been made, any employer or employing unit claiming a credit shall submit a request within three years from the date on which such overpayment was made. A credit shall be granted only after a review of the request which will set forth such information in the matter as may be required. If, after such review, the adjustment is found to be in order, the department shall issue a credit or refund for the overpayment.

23.37(3) The amount of the credit will be deducted from the contributions in the employer's account and credited to any outstanding account balance until the credit is used or canceled in accordance with these rules. If the employer fails to utilize the credit as provided above, the department shall, three years from the date of issuance, cancel the credit and show it as a nonrefundable credit. The department, upon request of the employer or on its own initiative, may issue a refund of the overpayment. The state comptroller is responsible for the issuance of the warrant.

23.37(4) When an employer requests a refund or credit of contributions paid due to an erroneous reporting of wages, the refund or credit shall be reduced by the amount of benefits paid and charged to the employer as a result of the erroneous wages.

23.37(5) All grounds and facts alleged in support of a claim for refunds or credit shall be clearly set forth. The employing unit shall furnish such proof in support of the claim as may be reasonably necessary at the discretion of the department to support the validity and the amount of the claim and the fact that the employing unit making the application for refund or credit is legally entitled to it.
