

Iowa's Notable Dead ...

ISSN 0003-4827

No known copyright restrictions.

Recommended Citation

"Iowa's Notable Dead ..." The Annals of Iowa 32 (1953), 73-80.

Available at: <http://ir.uiowa.edu/annals-of-iowa/vol32/iss1/11>

Hosted by Iowa Research Online

nell college graduate, became principal and superintendent at Knoxville, Iowa, and earned his doctor's degree from Columbia university in 1908; one of Iowa's first school men to enter upon extended professional preparation in the field of education; became head of the Alaskan division of the United States bureau of education, then held various positions in the school administration section of the bureau and became a national authority on the inter-relation of government and education; in 1923 came to Cornell from a professorship of education administration at the University of Pennsylvania, becoming the Iowa's school's sixth president; left Cornell in 1927 and then became visiting professor of educational administration at Swarthmore (Penn.) college, and later engaged as an educational consultant; wrote many articles upon educational administration and higher education in periodicals and annual reports; married Gertrude Bartholomew of Preston, Iowa, in 1901; survivors are a daughter, Dr. Ruth Updegraff, professor in the child welfare research station at the State University of Iowa; a son, Harlan, jr., Pasadena, Cal., and two grandchildren.

MILO A. MANNING, railroad official, banker and legislator, died at Ames, Iowa, April 5, 1953; born at Lanark, Carroll county, Illinois, October 16, 1860; educated in the public schools and completed a business college course at Aledo, Illinois; learned telegraphy at Clarence, Iowa, and became an extra operator and agent in 1879 for the C. & N. W. railway ultimately becoming train dispatcher at Eagle Grove and Boone, Iowa; later held like position at Rawlings, Wyoming, for the Union Pacific railway; went into the mercantile business in 1888 at Crawford, Nebraska, and later at Sheldon, Iowa; in 1903 moved to Ames, organized the Ames Savings bank and served as its cashier until 1912, when he sold his interest in that bank and organized the Commercial Savings bank, being its president for a number of years; a member of the Thirty-fifth General Assembly, city treasurer for eight years and later widely known as the assessor at Ames and retired in 1946 at the age of 85; married Clara West in Ames April 6, 1887; a republican and member of the Masonic bodies; survived by two sons, Truman of Ames and Merrill of Bayside, Long Island, New York, and a daughter, Mrs. Margaret Paustain of Ames, six grandchildren and thirteen great grandchildren.

EARL W. VINCENT, lawyer, legislator and jurist, died at Guthrie Center, Iowa, May 22, 1953; born on a farm in Wash-

Copyright of Annals of Iowa is the property of State of Iowa, by & through the State Historical Society of Iowa and its content may not be copied or emailed to multiple sites or posted to a listserv without the copyright holder's express written permission. However, users may print, download, or email articles for individual use.