

State Parks, Forests, and Recreation Area Visits — CY 2017

Numerous outdoor opportunities exist in Iowa. The Department of Natural Resources' Guide to Iowa State Parks includes information on the following outdoor attractions:

- State parks and recreation areas, which offer camping, hiking, hunting, fishing, and other outdoor activities.
- State forests, which offer hiking, hunting, and camping.
- State preserves, which have fewer recreational activities but feature unique biological natural resources, geological sites, archaeological finds, historical areas, or scenic views.
- Distinctive facilities such as the Springbrook Education Center* and Honey Creek Resort, which provide educational and recreational outdoor activities for groups and classrooms.

*Due to current budget reductions, the Springbrook Conservation Education Center has discontinued educational programming at this time, but educational programs are still offered at Springbrook State Park.
