The Conservation Reserve Program (CRP) 18th general sign-up will be during a 7-week period October 26, 1998, through December 11, 1998. The CRP offers owners annual rental payments establishing grasses, forbs, trees and other resource-conserving cover on environmentally sensitive cropland from a 10 to 15 year period.

"For landowners with CRP contracts expiring in September of 1998 and for those whose CRP bids were not accepted during the last general sign-up, and also for those landowners considering entering land in the program for the first time, this is another excellent opportunity to offer to you your most environmentally sensitive land into this cost effective, voluntary program," said Tom Grau, Executive Director of the Farm Service Agency (FSA).
