ED CAMPBELL

Henry Edward Campbell, "Ed", started barbering in Bridgewater in 1907 in the building known as the Hood Barber Shop.

He was the son of Hezekiah and Clara Campbell. They had come to the Avondale vicinity from Hillsboro, Ohio. He was born March 27, 1878, and grew to manhood there.

He started his barbershop in town in 1907, and married Mrs. Doroty Brigham from Des Moines, who had come to do housekeeping for his grandfather.

She already had two sons, Granville and Samuel, by a former marriage. They lived in the old Chafa place where Edna was born. The family then moved to the rooms behind and above the barber shop. Helen and Robert were born here. All the children, except Robert, started to school in Bridgewater.

In 1919 Ed moved his family to Guthrie Center, where he barbered for two years, then to Sioux City, where he barbered two more years.

Mrs. Campbell died October 4, 1921, while in Sioux City. The family then moved back to the home of his mother and brother, John, in Bridgewater, where they stayed until the children were raised.

Ed worked for Doc Hood for a few years, then had a shop of his own on the north end of the block on the west side of the business street. He later moved to the building north of the lumber yard, and later two buildings north. That building burned in 1932. After it burned, Ed went back to work for Doc Hood and barbered until 1948, when he had a bad car accident that crippled him. He lived with his children until July 13, 1957, when he died at his daughters' home of a heart attack.

In all, Ed barbered about 41 years in and around the Bridgewater area, and also did some work taking and painting photographs. Ed also made some fiddles.

Ed's children include: Granville Campbell, deceased in 1966 with two children and grandchildren; Samuel A. Campbell and wife live in Dallas, Texas—they have two children and four grandchildren; Mrs. Edna C. Bayman, Asatin, Washington, with two children and six grandchildren; Mrs. Helen Morgan of Massena, with four children and eighteen grandchildren; and Robert L. Campbell of Santa Cruz, California, with three children and two grandchildren.

THE HISTORY OF SAM LOVE

Harry Samuel Love was born in 1888, and departed this life in 1961, at the age of 72. He was united in marriage with Ethel McDermott, and four children came to bless this home, namely: Hildreth, Betty, Jean and Larry.

"Sam", as he was known to everyone, had an interest in politics which brought renown to the place of his birth. Outside of the 15 years that he served the county, district and state, Sam Love spent the 72 years of his life in the Bridgewater community.

He served his town as a councilman, and began to attend county conventions as a Republican delegate. He became a candidate for state representative, was elected and served from 1934 to 1940. In 1940, he was elected senator from the Adair-Madison district.

He resigned as senator to accept an appointment by Governor Blue to the State Board of Social Welfare, which he served as member, vice-chairman, and then chairman.

Sam was in the produce business in Bridgewater for 37 years, but his main interest was in politics. No honest man makes money in politics. Instead, it calls for financial sacrifice.

Sam Love was not an outstanding orator. For some reason, voters are suspicious of "silver tongues". Folks voted for him because he was honest and sincere. He talked their language and was for economy in government and equity in taxes.

It is our opinion that Sam Love liked politics because it was an avenue through which he could serve his fellowmen. He never courted distinction or himself, rather remaining in the background, but always persistent in his efforts for that which he thought was right.

The community which had known him since birth, who followed his life down through the years, stood in hushed respect, as he went to his last long sleep that quiet summer afternoon amid the scenes he had known and loved. He will be missed for a long, long time.

February 16, 1919, H. S. Love received a carload of egg case material this week. Sam will make use of the building he recently purchased from Peter Scofield to manufacture his egg cases in the future.

GEORGE DORY

George Elbert Dory, youngest son of Joseph and Abigail Roth Dory, was born in Allamakee County, Iowa, March 30, 1869. When a baby, his parents moved to Adair County, purchased land, built a log cabin and established a home in pioneer life.

On August 21, 1901, he was united in marriage with Olive Elnora Timmons, daughter of Andrew Jackson Timmons and Anna McCreary. In early childhood Mr. Timmons settled in Dowagiac, Michigan. He, in company with eight young men, drove through with oxen to Sacramento, California, which journey consumed the greater part of a year. About two years were spent in California, when the return trip was made by way of the Isthmus of Panama and New York City, to Dowagiac, Michigan. After about a year he came to Delaware County, later moving to Adair County, where Olive Elnora Timmons was born.

Mr. and Mrs. Dory spent the first years of their married life on a farm near Bridgewater. He then engaged in the implement business and also served as substitute mail carrier on Route 1, Bridgewater, until appointed regular carrier. Later he was transferred to Route 2. Altogether, he gave over 25 years of faithful service to patrons before retiring in 1934. He filled his position faithfully and courteously, and despite weather and road conditions, made an earnest effort to perform his daily task. More than one-third of his life was spent in mail service. He was elected and served as mayor of Bridgewater from 1934 to 1936.

The Dorys are the parents of five sons and five daughters: Glen J., who with his wife, Jessie, farms near Cambridge; Marion E., who operates a gas station in Des Moines; Hazel Stoffel, a retired telephone operator who, with her husband, Harold, lives on an acreage near Pasadena, California; Clark, a retired farmer and heavy equipment operator, and his wife, Ann, live in Atlantic; Fred, who owns and operates a broiler farm, and with his wife, Mildred, lives near Rogers, Arkansas; Gladys and her husband, Harold Kembery, live on a farm near Carl—Gladys is employed as librarian in the Corning Community schools; Thelma and her husband, C. George Henderson, live in Corunna, Ontario, Canada, where George is superintendent of building operations; Doris and her husband, Earl Phillips, live in Roswell, New Mexico, where Earl is employed in the postoffice and Doris is employed in the Roswell State Bank; Ruth and her husband, John Oler live in Atlantic where John works for Roland Funeral Home and Ruth is employed in the Beecher Card Shop; and Paul and his wife, Evelyn, live in Bridgewater. Paul is parts man for the Schildberg Construction Company.

P. A. CHAFA

Parley and Lillie Chafa farmed near Fontanelle and Bridgewater, moving to town in March, 1912. Parley was postmaster for eight years, then operated a blacksmith shop for years. Parley, as he was known by all, was always ready to lend a helping hand.

Parley, the son of Levi and Angela (Bates) Chafa, was born in Fontanelle March 11, 1868, and passed away in December, 1943. Parley's father, in his earlier days, freighted on the Mormon Trail, later farmed near Fontanelle and retired in Fontanelle.

Lillie (McC Campbell) Chafa, daughter of James I. and Sarah (Latimer) McC Campbell, was born in June, 1871, and passed away in May, 1956.

Parley and Lillie were married in December 1888. They were the parents of four children: Bonnie, Irene, James, and Kenneth. They also raised two grandchildren, Charles LeGranda (Lee) and Marguerite Carl.

Kenneth has lived nearly all his life here, work many years in hardware and produce businesses. Later he engaged in carpentry and masonry. He served as councilman for many years. They are parents of two children: Leo and Maxine.

Leo and wife, JoAnn (Golly) are parents of three children: Donna, Michael and Scott.
