DOINGS OF THE LEGISLATURE

REP RAWLINGS AND SEN. BENNETT TO BE ALERT TO THE JOB

Many Bills up That Should Interest Monona County Citizens—Some are Bad While Others Contain Much Merit.

(By N. C. Gray, Blencoe Ia)
With the legislature in session in Des Moines and a multitude of bills being introduced to further increase taxes or make new laws which will create more jobs, the writer feels that Monona County should be advised as to what legislation affects our county in particular.

The bovie tuberculosis eradication bill has passed the senate. This bill will make Iowa one of the accredited states as far as eradication of Tuberculosis is concerned.

Rep Ed Rawlings is home and he informs us that already he is getting acquainted with some of the sharp-shooting tactics that proponents of legislation attempt. Some of you have perhaps read of the bill which was proposed to cut down the assessment on anybody's land which was limed to $1.00 an acre. As proposed the bill would practically exempt anybody who used lime. The bill from the beginning as proposed was to help the farmer who limed his land and he would not have to pay taxes for 3 years.

The bill was sent to a subcommittee on which Mr. Rawlings was a member and when he commenced to investigate and find out who was back of the bill he discovered that it was a lime trust who wanted to sell lime to the farmers and not the farmers themselves who wanted the bill. The bill was turned down by Mr. Rawlings, sub-committee when he saw how the sharpers were working the bill. The report by Mr. Rawlings and his other 2 associates which was turned down as follows: "We return this bill 'without' recommendation," which meant that the committee was opposed to the bill and therefore it would be list in the shuffle, but wren the stenographer brought the report to Mr. Rawlings for his signature it read, "we return this bill 'withour' recommendations."

While Ed has not been a member of the House very long he was quick enough to see the trick and promptly called the attention of the other members of the committee to this error. The matter was quite nicely explained as typographical error, but we are glad that Ed still retains some of his leuthing ability which he demonstrated when he was sheriff.

Another bill which concerns the small towns in Monona County is the cigarette bill. There will be a big deficiency in the treasury soon and the sponsors desire to raise the cigarette tax another cent. At the

F. Kaupp, head of the poultry department of the North Carolina State college.

Doctor Kaupp states that it will cost nearly 25 cents a dozen, if all feed costs and overhead costs are added to the totals. He bases his statement on some experiments that he has been conducting with a flock of 750 White Leghorn hens at one of the branch station farms of the North Carolina experiment station.

"Some of the data that I have seen says that it costs the southern farmer only about 13 to 15 cents a dozen to produce eggs," says Doctor Kaupp. "We know that when hens have been bred for high egg production, the cost per dozen eggs is lower, and for that reason it will certainly cost the average farmer more to produce eggs than it will the commercial poultry farmer where the hens are bred for highest production. This commercial man also gives closer attention to his management and feeding than will the average farmer. We have many farmers who are making money with poultry but they are not considering their eggs to cost only 15 cents a dozen to produce."

Doctor Kaupp used the regular North Carolina ration in feeding his test flock of 750 hens. He kept a careful and accurate record of each cent spent for feed, the cost of litter, grit, depreciation of the flock, interest on the investment, the labor, taxes and other charges. Then there were some miscellaneous charges such as for medicines, egg cases, leg bands and the like. He credited the hens for all eggs, for all manure, and for the poultry sold. Each hen returned net profit above all costs of $2.40 for the year and the eggs were produced at a cost just a fraction under 25 cents. He found, too, that it took six pounds of feed to produce each dozen eggs.

Early-Hatched Pullets Are Most Profitable

The early-hatched pullets that start to lay in October or November are the ones to keep for profitable egg production. The fall and winter months are the season of high-egg prices and birds that do not come into production until the season has passed will not pay as well as they ought to. It is the early-hatcher and well-matured pullet, with plenty of body weight to give her endurance, that will produce the eggs during this high-priced period.

The early-hatched pullets should be distinguished from the early-maturing pullets. One was hatched early, grew normally, obtaining normal body weight and coming into production at a time when her system was ready for sustained production. The rapidly maturing bird probably was hatched later, but made such rapid sexual development that she is ready to start laying before her body is equipped for sustained production.

ch birds, in direct contrast with former, are light in weight, are very often poor feeders, and will very likely go into a partial or complete molt before they have produced very many eggs.

TESTS FOR HON. C. G. OLIVER HELD

HESED AWAY AT METHODIST HOSPITAL IN DES MOINES FEB. 15, 1929

Following an Operation—He was truly one of Monona Counties Doctors—Had Represented Monona County in the Legislature.

In last Sunday, State, County and town citizen paid their last respects to a worthy man and citizen, Cyrus Goldsmith Oliver, whose funeral was held from the Congregational church, and attended by several hundred.

The editor of the Democrat knew and liked "Cy" Oliver. He was a man of firm conviction, high ideals and steadfast courage. He had his peculiar characteristics, but who has not. He was honest and never would give up the battle those things that he deemed were right. His friends at home and over State were many, they admired and held faith in his ability as an advisor. His counsel was often sought. He was kind and very considerate of others.

His faith was steadfast, and friends whom he loved. He revered his father. In his papers which were filed in the State was found this wonderful message which he offered as a prayer: "Our Father and our God, who dwellest in supernal light. And yet with him who is of humble and contrite heart—show who has been so often dishonored in the anarchic thoughts of men and yet dost bear the same with ineffable patience, Behold us! Fain we would with all our hearts bow before thee in wonder and adoration.

"We give thee hearty thanks for the creation 'When The Morning Stars Sang Together' and for that redemption heralded by a multitude of Heavenly Hosts—'Glory to God in the Highest, and on Earth Peace, Good-will to Men.'"

"We thank thee for the mighty train of human generations. We thank thee for the capacities of the human race opening out toward the future forever more. We thank thee for the great Nations that have run their course and for the great Nations that are still enacting their parts in this wondrous field of time.

"We thank thee for the vigor of intelligence and the grandeur of enterprise that have discovered so many great things for man. We thank thee for the many toilers on every side who are unraveling—the secrets of nature and building up of a possibility for the still more noble triumphs of the immortal soul. And we thank thee for him whose memory, so fragrant, has been made to bloom so freshly. God be praised for the evolution and exaltation to which a higher than material philosophy will surely summon all the ignorant and erring families of men. By the brink of the grave, as on earth, we read, O God, Our Father, that Mighty Anoth-

For the folks of your kind are too few,
There is something to hearten, to gladden and bless—
In a bunch of good fellows—
Like you.

So I pledge you again, and can only say this—
Yet it springs from a sentiment true—
I shall always regret—every hour that I miss,
From a bunch of good fellows—
Like you.

The entire address of Mr. Oliver can be found in House Journal published on Monday, February 4th.

Te Molting Hens Take Short Time to Idle

Some hens take fully four times as long as others to regrow feathers and prepare for another season of egg-laying. A recent study of the Missouri agricultural experiment station showed that hens ceased to lay in July took 182 days' vacation and laid 109 eggs during the year. Those quitting in August took 151 days off to grow new feathers, laying 143 eggs. September quitters lost 143 days and laid 137 eggs. October molters were idle 94 days and laid 153 eggs. Birds laying up to November 69 days for molting and laid 171 eggs while December molters lost 45 days and laid 174 eggs during the year.

Poultry Notes

Exhibitions and demonstrations show that it is easier to educate hens. . . . Repairs on the poultry houses usually prove expensive. . . . Floor should not be tolerated. . . . Well ventilated poultry houses are best. . . . Space for all hens at all times is the rule that should be kept in mind in building a poultry feed house. . . . Mites may be controlled by thoroughly painting the house with kerosene. Spraying with coal tar is also effective. . . . Hens should feed comparatively little grain feed in the morning. . . . 8 pounds for 100 hens will be sufficient. There should be kept before the hens all the time a dry mash.

Nautical Measurements

A knot is a measure of speed the equivalent of one nautical mile an hour. One nautical mile is 6,080.7 feet. It is about 15 per cent longer than a statute mile. This makes ten knots an hour the equivalent of 11 1/4 miles an hour.

A GIANT TREE NORTH OF BLENCOE

While at the Mahlon Davis farm sale last week 1 1/2 miles north of Blencoe, J. R. Bedford and some friends got curious to know the size of the cottonwood tree, which stand in the road near the house. It took five men to span around the tree, and then a tape line was put around the tree two feet from the ground and it measured just 28 feet in circumference. We were informed by Mahlon Davis that this tree was planted by his father Isaac Davis 70 years ago. When driving by the beautiful Davis farm home just stop your car, step out and look this giant tree over. You'll be amazed. Wonder if Monona County has other trees that will measure this size.
