We have sent Valentines to our friends and relatives in the service. Two were sent to Clarence Voigts in Italy and Hugh Ziert in Iran.

Steven Wilkins of Gainsville, Texas, sent a letter thanking us for the Valentines he received. His father is Private First Class Clarence Wilkins, who is stationed at Camp Howze, Texas.

The students wrote a Valentine book of poems which was sent to the county superintendent, Mattie Harms, who sent a "thank-you" poem and a box of treats in return.

We also received a letter from Clarence Voigts in Italy after sending him a Christmas box in October which he received December 28. Edith Green, teacher.

But the things they dream of coming back to are the little simple pleasures that mean home to all of us—like a home-cooked meal, a glass of beer with friends, a game of horseshoes in the backyard.

From where I sit, one of our most sacred obligations here at home is to keep these little things exactly as they remember them—to keep intact the world they're fighting for.

He passed away at 4:30 p. m., February 23, 1944, of cerebral apoplexy and complications of bronchial pneumonia, having been ill only seven hours. He was christened in the Presbyterian church in Clarksville by Rev. George Grabam.

Besides his life's work in the Star office another interest near and dear to his heart was his political career which began for him when he was elected township clerk at 19 years of age, to be followed by appointment as assessor. Following this he was elected town recorder of Clarksville and for 10 years was assessor of Clarksville, and was elected for 5

Schaefer's first addition, at Lombard and Gaines streets.

Mr. Schaefer came into national prominence during the World war, when he was serving as president of three organizations, the Davenport, Iowa State and National Retail Grocers Associations. He was also a member of Mr. Hoover's personal staff and spent a great deal of time at Washington in connection with the work of the National Retail Grocers Association. He served three years as president of that association, three years as president of the Iowa State and twelve years as president of the Davenport Association.

Mr. Schaefer has been for twenty-five years a member of the Davenport Chamber of Commerce and formerly accepted assignments to many of its important committees. He had much to do with securing the splendid new building for the Elks Club, and is a member of the Kiwanis Club. He has lived the life of a practical Christian without membership in any church.

Mr. Schaefer married, in 1891, Miss Emma Goos, who died in 1925. There are five children. The son, Jack, associated with his father's grocery business, married Jane Kuehl, a daughter of Louis Kuehl, a pioneer grocer of Davenport. The daughter Elsie is the wife of R. A. Fitz-Simonds and Gertrude is the wife of N. A. Flick. Della M., the third daughter, is the wife of W. H. Romine, a civil engineer and assistant superintendent of parks at Davenport and member of one of the old families of that city. The youngest daughter, Jannette, is the wife of Harms Peters.

JOHN C. SCHRICKER enjoys an enviable place in the business circles of Davenport, where he is owner and operator of the Schricker Marble & Granite Company. This business, whose present location is at the corner of Fourth and Scott streets, was started in 1884, by Mr. Schricker. He and one other man did all the work in the modest shop. In forty-five years it has developed into the largest firm of memorial art manufacturers and dealers in the extensive trade territory around Davenport. The company has handled, manufactured and erected thousands of memorials over this district. Most of the people of Iowa are familiar with one outstanding work put out by the firm, the Iowa State Soldiers Monument at Des Moines, built in 1894, an imposing shaft of stone that rises many feet above the broad base, sixty by sixty feet, and 136 feet high, constituting one of the patriotic shrines of the state.

Mr. Schricker was born in Saint Louis, Missouri, in 1863, son of Adam and Anna (Paus-tian) Schricker, who two years later moved to Davenport. John C. Schricker grew up and received his literary education and his training in his trade at Davenport. He is a skilled worker in marble and granite, and out of his skill and his business management has developed the Schricker Marble & Granite Company.

He married, in 1884, Clara Scheel, a native of Davenport, daughter of Hans Scheel. They have three children: Lillian, wife of Fred C. Strohhahn; Freda; and J. Raymond, associated with his father in business. The company has membership in the Iowa State Memorial Association.

J. CORNELL JOHNSON, superintendent of schools at Ringsted, was born at Kanawha, Wright County, Iowa, February 7, 1904. He was reared and educated in Minnesota, graduating from the high school at Red Wing in 1923 and in 1927 completed the work leading up to the Bachelor's degree in St. Olaf's College at Northfield. Mr. Johnson came to the Emmet County community of Ringsted as principal of schools in 1928 and has also had charge of the athletics. In 1930 he was elected superintendent of schools.

On July 6, 1930, Mr. Johnson married Miss Margaret Hatlestad, of Curtiss, Wisconsin, daughter of Otto Hatlestad, a farmer at Curtiss. Mrs. Johnson is also a graduate of St. Olaf's in the same class as Mr. Johnson. She is likewise a teacher, having taught three years at Westby, Wisconsin.

Mr. Johnson is a member of the social fraternity of Kappa Sigma Phi and was a member of the school debating team and graduated with cum laude honors. He is also a member of the Iowa State Teachers Association and the National Education Association. He is working on his thesis for his Master's degree at the University of Minnesota.

HON. JOHN McDONALD RAMSEY is an Iowa newspaper man with a continuous record of forty years' association with one paper, the Clarksville Star. These years have been rich in other service to his community and state, especially noteworthy having been the eight years he spent in the Legislature at Des Moines.

Mr. Ramsey was born on a farm a mile north of Clarksville in Butler County, February 25, 1870. He is of Scotch ancestry and through his mother is classified with that stock known as Scotch-Irish, due to the fact that a family long seated in Scotland moved across the channel to Northern Ireland, whence representatives came to America. Mr. Ramsey is a son of Charles and Margaret Jane (Gabby) Ramsey. His grandfather, Adam Ramsey, came from Edinburgh, Scotland. He was a cabinet maker by trade and was a young man when he sought home and fortune in the new world. Charles Ramsey was born at Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, in 1836, and as a young man located at West Union, Ohio, where in 1861 he married Margaret Jane Gabby. Her father, Alexander Gabby, was born in Londonderry, Ireland, was also a cabinet maker, and on coming from Ireland to America settled in Washington County in Southwestern Pennsylvania. Adam Ramsey and Alexander Gabby were both members of the Masonic fraternity and very devout United Presbyterians, maintaining their religious activities strictly according to the rites of that substantial old church. Both served as superintendents of their Sunday School. Charles Ramsey after his marriage tried to get accepted for service in the Union army, but for some reason was rejected. However, he was with the Ohio Home Guard and was called out for active duty at the time of the Morgan raid through the southern part of the state. Morgan made one of his camps on the Gabby farm.

In 1865 Charles Ramsey brought his family to Iowa, acquiring a tract of land a short distance northeast of Clarksville. Later he moved to the property of M. B. Wamsley, one mile northwest of Clarksville, and two years later he bought a farm four miles southeast of Greene. He had acquired the skill of a cabinet maker from his father and was always an adept with tools and machinery. The furniture and other equipment for his Iowa home were made by his own hands during his hours of leisure. He developed a fine farm and in later years was a representative of the International Harvester Company. He died in 1906, at Sioux City, Iowa. His wife was born in 1840 and died in 1887. Charles Ramsey took an active part in local affairs, serving as trustee, treasurer and clerk of his township and as a school director. He was a member of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows at Greene and voted as a Democrat, though two of his sons became very staunch Republicans. There were eight children in all, only two of whom are now living. Arthur died in infancy. George passed away in 1878, when a small boy. Ida Ellen died in early girlhood. Agnes Euphemia became the wife of W. W. Moss and died at Osage, Minnesota. William M., a farmer and carpenter, died at Clarksville in 1905. Charles met an accidental death at Sioux City in 1921. The only surviving child besides John M. is Mrs. J. L. Caskey, of Akron, Iowa.

Farm life during the years when John McDonald Ramsey was a boy was not a series of prosperous years. There were crop failures, and with a large household to provide for Charles Ramsey had need to economize and there was little money to provide the children with advantages outside of those of the community church and school. Consequently John M. from early boyhood buckled down to a routine of hard work, and his earnings paid for all his education beyond the limited advantages of the neighborhood school. Part of the time he carried water for a gang of section hands at fifty cents a day. It was more or less of a struggle for him to complete the work of the Greene High School. Borrowing money, he enrolled as a student in the Cedar Rapids Business College. His training there made him a good penman and a capable accountant, and for several years he was employed in the clerical department of the Chicago Great Western and Rock Island Railroads.

His political career began before he reached his majority, when he was elected township clerk. Following that he was made recorder of Clarksville, for ten years was township assessor and five years township trustee, and for five years was assistant state game warden.

In 1920 Mr. Ramsey went to the Legislature. He represented Butler County four years in the Lower House and for four years was in the Senate from the district comprising Butler and Bremer counties. He proved himself one of the most valuable members of both Houses, being hard working, taking an intelligent attitude toward all public questions and was given important committee assignments, being a member of the judiciary, ways and means, text books, cities and towns, and was chairman of the committee on education. He was in the Legislature during the code session, and he read proof on the revised laws. His legislative experience gave him a wide acquaintance with prominent men all over the state.

His first lessons in the printing trade were acquired in the office of a Waterloo newspaper. For twenty years he was an employee of Edward Madigan, owner of the Clarksville Star, and in 1909 he bought the paper, so that for fully forty years he has been associated with that live publication. His newspaper files are mines of historic interest for this section of the state. Mr. Ramsey is a master of a forcible newspaper style and his editorials and comments on public questions have been widely quoted in the press of the state. He has for twenty-five years been attending state Republican conventions and twenty-two years of that time has been a delegate. He is a member of the Iowa Press Association and National Editorial Association, is a past chancellor commander of the Knights of Pythias Lodge at Clarksville, and has taken all the degrees of Odd Fellowship.

The record of his life shows that he has been a very busy man, but he has hobbies, one in particular being geology. He has gone about with an observing eye examining the rocks and soils of Iowa, and in collecting specimens illustrating geologic history he has been naturally drawn to the kindred investigations in local archaeology and has gathered up many interesting specimens and curios.

Mr. Ramsey married Miss Della Shafer on September 30, 1893, daughter of the late W. W. R. Shafer, who passed away in 1929. Mrs. Ramsey was born in Butler County. They have two daughters, Georgia Edna and Alice Lavon. Georgia is the wife of Gay Jackson, and they have three children: Robert G., Barbara A. and Billy Joe. Both daughters graduated from the local high school and attended the State Teachers College at Cedar Falls, and Alice Lavon is also a graduate of the Ingram School of Expression.

HARRY E. RANSOM, M. D., has been engaged in the practice of his profession in Iowa since 1915, save for the interval of his overseas service in the World war, and he is now one of the representative physicians and surgeons in the City of Des Moines, with office headquarters in the Iowa Building.

Doctor Ransom was born on the parental home farm near Avalon, Rock County, Wisconsin, October 16, 1884, and is a son of Ensign H. and

Mr. Pritchard was active in Masonic lodge work; a Past Master of the Belmond Lodge, where he served in 1896, and was a member of the Garner Lions Club.
